Governor Kean gives approval

Independence for New Jersey state colleges

By Tom Boud

An autonomy proposal, which allows the state's nine colleges to conduct a greater part of their operations independently, became effective July 9 when Gov. Thomas Kean signed the legislation. The autonomy bill, enabling MSC and other N.J. state colleges to disburse its own checks, handle its own cash, transfer funds from one account to another, collect and keep its own revenues, and manage its own purchasing and contracting affairs.

However, some activities such as collective bargaining, the civil service structure for college employees, academic programming, and fiscal year appropriation requests are still subject to state control.

The installation of autonomy entails three phases over a period of three years. The first phase includes purchasing and contracting, travel policies, payment authorization, and internal auditing. It is expected to be completed by late November of this year.

The second phase encompasses general accounting, cash management, revenue management, disbursing operations, external auditing, equipment planning and construction, and institutional borrowing. This phase is slated for completion by July 1, 1987.

The college will gain the bulk of its autonomy powers during phase two. The last phase, involving the payroll system and risk management (insurance), should be finished by July 1, 1989.

A clause in the autonomy law immediately permits MSC and all other state colleges to grant tuition waivers, determine student fees, to be exempt from the Vacancy Review Board, and to appoint a college president without seeking board of Higher Education approval.

An autonomy planning commission has been organized by MSC President Donald Walters. The commission reports to Vice President for Administration and Finance William Griffith and is headed by Assistant Vice President for Administration and Finance Barry Cohen.

A $5.7 million Governor's Challenge Grant was awarded to the MSC fine and performing arts program over the summer.

According to Donald A. Mattran, dean of MSC's School of Fine and Performing Arts, "The program is designed to bridge the gap between academic preparation in the arts and career entry."

Described as potentially "one of the most exciting programs of its kind in the nation" by the panel of educators which recommended its funding, MSC's plan provides a unique program of professional training and career entry for students seeking careers in the arts.

The plan establishes on-going relationships with professional artists and arts organizations working closely with students in masterclasses, coaching sessions and professional perfor-

Dorms are left “Bohn” dry

At 12 midnight on Sept. 1, approximately 2000 MSC dorm residents were informed that they were not to use the bathrooms due to a water main break on campus. Residents of Bohn Hall are left to use the lower floor bathrooms. Floors one and two have been designated for men and the third floor for women. The average bathroom has about four stalls and three showers. Bohn Hall has 600 residents in its 16 floors.

Matthew Coyle, a Bohn Hall resident, said, “They’ve kept us in the dark about what’s going on. No temporary facilities have been provided for us. These are really unsanitary conditions.”

According to Gale Raucher, also a Bohn Hall resident, “I spoke with Lucy Nikovics, secretary to Dr. Raymond Stover, director of residence life. Nikovics said that the water is expected to be on by Thurs. afternoon. Work crews attempted to repair the break by welding it but this attempt failed. They are now waiting for an ordered part from Texas.”

The bathrooms will be unlocked when the water break main is repaired and when the dorms have acceptable water pressure conditions. In the meantime the residents will be forced to use the designated dorm bathrooms or the public bathrooms in the school buildings. These public bathrooms do not have shower facilities. If there are any questions concerning this matter you can contact the dorm directors.

The following Bohn Hall bathrooms are functioning and have been designated to be used by all Bohn Hall residents (subject to change):

- Floor 3 - Female
- Floors 1 & 2 - Male

Moreover, Bohn residents may use the public bathrooms on the main floor of Blanton Hall or any of the classrooms on campus. These bathrooms do not contain public shower facilities. Note that all Bohn bathrooms will be unlocked when the water break main is repaired and when Bohn has acceptable water pressure conditions. Should you have any questions concerning this information, please contact the director of Bohn Hall at 893-5266.

Theft wave hits MSC at summer’s end

By Tom Boud

A string of thefts plagued the campus a few days prior to the fall semester, according to campus police. On Aug. 25, a staff member of the Student Center reported that someone entered a locked closet and stole a VCR worth $800. The actual time of the theft is unknown.

A female student reported that the outside rear mirror of her car parked in lot 18 was bent during the night of Aug. 25-26. In Blanton Hall lobby at 3 p.m., a roll bag was stolen after a male student left it unattended for several minutes. Total loss was $30.

An entire assortment of tools belonging to the Connecticut Lamination contract company was lifted sometime between 12 a.m. and 6 p.m. the same day.

On Aug. 27 at 12:30 a.m., Sgt. Paul Cell arrested a disorderly drunk male by the Clove Rd. apartments after responding to a call of a man “acting crazy.” Officers Rose Vacca and Debra Poole assisted Cell in the arrest.

9:30 p.m., that same day a female student’s purse was left unguarded in the McEachern Music Building. The purse was later recovered intact in the men’s room shortly after. Total value was $20 dollars.

During the night of Aug. 27-28, someone entered a 1973 AMC Jeep in lot 17 and stole an overnight parking decal worth $20.

A female student resident of the Clove Rd. apartments told police that sometime between 7 a.m. Aug. 26 and 5 p.m. Aug. 28, 20 slips (clothing) amounting to $400.00 were taken from her room.

A male resident in the same area alerted campus police that his wallet containing $150.00 in cash was stolen from his room.

"Image building" for SGA

By Kathy McDonough

At the first SGA meeting of the fall semester President Mark Brancato stressed the importance of "image building" for the SGA.

SGA NEWS

SGA representatives will be available at the Student Center information desk which will make the SGA more visible to the student body.

Plans for Homecoming '86 were discussed. There are a lot of exciting things planned for the week of Oct. 13, including a comedy show, lip sync contest, parade, and the big game.

It was announced that the Rathskeller will be open this semester. Due to high operating costs, alcohol will be served only on Thurs. nights and during special promotions. An advisory committee has been formed in order to improve programming and decor, and to promote a better social atmosphere.

In other news, the following cabinet appointments were approved: Judy Rosenbush, vice president of academic affairs; Robert Acerra, director of programming; Perry Schwart, vice president of internal affairs; June Harmon, director of services; Dren Zeve, assistant to the president, and Juliane Coyne, deputy attorney general.

Autonomy bills

"President Walters has created this commission as a means to develop plans for implementing autonomy," Cohen said. Cohen added that the commission has just begun to meet in order to work on the phase 1 autonomy.

Besides Cohen, the commission is staffed by Marshall Butler of the registrar's office, Dr. Betsy Clark, health professions; Richard Davis, director of personnel; Dr. Suresh Desai, dean of the school of business administration; Dr. Nicholas Michelli, dean of the school of professional studies, Charles Moore, director of budget and fiscal planning, Dr. Joseph Moore, history department; Dr. Wendy Oxman, chairperson of the fine arts department, Lee Primiano, chairman of the law and taxation department; Jerome Quinn, director of institutional planning, and Lynn Truesdell, director of the computer center. Vice President for Administration and Finance William Griffith is also serving on the commission as an ex-officio member.

SGA Board of Trustees Representative Mike Rodak expressed his support for autonomy. "Autonomy gives more bargaining power to students who are concerned about important issues such as tuition and housing."

Rodak added, "This new law will spare the administration a lot of red tape when it comes to finishing projects and ordering equipment."

Rodak referred to past problems with the proposal. "In 1985, the autonomy bills were vetoed by Kean after the legislature weakened them by making amendments that the governor didn't like. Thanks to bipartisan support and Kean's interest in autonomy, the bills were passed."

Autonomy: no losers

A thousand kudos for the New Jersey State Legislature and Governor Kean. When Kean signed two bills granting autonomy to the New Jersey state colleges, he ushered in a new era of MSC, a “new beginning,” of sorts.

The passage of these bills allows the state colleges a financial freedom they have never had before. They now have the power to keep and manage their own revenues, handle their own affairs.

For MSC administrators, the days of bureaucratic red tape and the ever present threat that things out of their hands are one step closer to becoming a memory. The autonomy bills could not have been passed a moment too soon for MSC. Last year, some of you may remember, the dishwasher system at the Freemall cafeteria broke down. Under the pre-autonomy rules, the college had to obtain three competitive bids for a new dishwasher before being allowed to purchase a replacement. As a result, the cafeteria went almost the entire semester without the services of a dishwasher.

With the new independence the colleges have just received, problems like this could no longer occur. Instead of having to wait, the colleges now have the “permission” to go out and act on their own behalf. For their own good.

Yes, there are a lot of faculty members and college officials who are very happy at this point in time. But what does autonomy mean to the students?

Actually, autonomy means as much to the people who frequent Partridge Hall and the Student Center as it does those in the offices of College Hall.

With the shift in control from Trenton to MSC, the MSC students now have more bargaining power than ever to influence and affect the campus community. Whereas previously the voice of the MSC college student had to be transported by means somewhat along the lines of carrier pigeon, to Trenton, now the students have the “source” right on campus.

Instead of dealing with the state, which is detached from the college atmosphere, MSC students with ideas can offer them straight to the people who make the decisions. In the past, the students could speak but Trenton was under no obligation to listen. Now, with the administration in direct contact with the students and solely responsible for the campus’ success, student input is not only more readily accepted, but also essential to the growth and development of the college.

Through the administration, we can have a voice in the decision-making process—but only if we bother to speak up. Autonomy is not only for campus officials to use to their advantage. It is also a chance for the students, those people for whom this campus was created, to help make MSC the best state college in New Jersey.

Baby M and the mess it made

BOSTON: Her parents can not agree on anything these days, even on her name. Her biological mother, Mary Beth Whitehead, calls the five month old girl Sara. Her biological father, William Stern, calls her Melissa. In court in Bergen County, N.J., just calls her Baby M.

The case that will come up on Sept. 10 is no ordinary custody fight between estranged partners. These two parents never had a relationship; they had a deal. The intimacy was not one of man and woman, but of sperm and ovum. Mary Beth Whitehead was hired to be a surrogate mother.

When Stern, a biochemist, and his wife Elizabeth, a pediatrician, discovered they clave children, they went to an infertility clinic. There they met Whitehead, a 29-year old mother of two, the wife of a sanitation worker. There they drew up a contract.

Whitehead agreed to be artificially inseminated with Stern's sperm, to conceive and carry a baby for the couple in return for $10,000. She signed on the dotted line, a promise that she would not “form or attempt to form a parent-child relationship” with the baby she carried. But when the baby was born, Whitehead welched on the deal.

After turning her over to the Sterns, refusing their money, she "borrowed" her back. When the Sterns tried to reclaim the baby, the Whiteheads ran off with her. Finally on July 31, Baby M was tracked down in Florida and returned to the Sterns in New Jersey.

People treat this like we’re fighting over a car," says Whitehead now. "But she’s not a possession, she’s a part of me." Is she also a part of William Stern?

What is notable about this custody wrangle is its utter predictability. This was, everyone in the field will agree, a case waiting to happen. When the first stories written about surrogate motherhood made their way into the media, it sounded as if the biological mother suffered nothing more damaging than stretch marks. It sounded as if surrogate mothers were just an easy handmaiden for the infertile. But there was always that question hanging in the air: "What if she changes her mind?"

Could the biological mother be held forcibly to a contract for the sale of her egg and use of her womb? If she reneged, could the biological father demand back his money, or his genes? If she changed her mind, what would happen to the baby?

The sad human part of this drama is that neither the Whiteheads nor the Sterns predicted her emotions. "I was completely devastated having the child taken from my arms," Whitehead wrote after the fact. "I felt like I was used for one purpose and was no longer needed or wanted."

This was exactly what she had been promised: to be no longer needed or wanted. But is it something a person can promise?

I don’t know how the courts will deal with this question. There is very little law governing surrogacy so far. The technology of parenthood has run far ahead of the courts. It is possible, assuming blood tests confirm Stern’s fatherhood, that they deal with it as a contract case; testing whether it is legal to make such a deal and illegal to break it. They may deal with it as a straight custody dispute. I do not believe that anyone should be able to sign away parental rights before they have even born the child. A baby is not a piece of goods and human emotions do not make for good contracts. But at the very least, a mother should have a matter of days after delivery to change her mind. If she does, she should have an equal right to custody.

Does that muddy any agreement for surrogate motherhood? Does that increase the risks for the couples who want a child this way? Absolutely. A biological father could end up with no even visitation rights!

But the opposite scenario is more unsettling. If a mother can legally turn over the rights to her womb, then the ethic of the marketplace has won. Pregnancy becomes a service industry and babies are a product for sale.

I do not know what the end of the story will be for Baby M. I suspect that the M stands for Messy. The Sterns, the Whiteheads and the baby have formed an emotional triangle. But they have also become the stars of a cautionary tale about the surrogate motherhood industry itself. Be wary of people with contracts in their hands who promise a real easy deal on a brand new baby.

From the president’s desk

To those of you returning to the campus, I am delighted to be able to share with you another challenging year at MSC. To the new freshman class, more than 1,200 strong, formally welcome you back for another home away from home.

I have awaited your arrival this year for two primary reasons. The first and most obvious is that you are ready to assume the campus to administrative management duties. The second reason is for anticipating your return. It is the desperate hope to fulfill that desire. The second reason for anticipating your return is the urge to fill you in on some significant developments in the growth of the College which occurred during your time away in May. Those of you who stayed behind spent an unusually busy summer laying the foundations for a new, bold thrust toward excellence: the MSC campus is understandably not the same.

The second reason for anticipating your return is a new Bamberger's Fall collection, the best in entertainment and the finest meal. It's time to think about the future, the College which occurred after you left in May. Those of you who stayed behind spent an unusually busy summer laying the foundations for a new, bold thrust toward excellence; the MSC campus is understandably not the same.

 Bharani, the SGA, through its organization, its activities and sports events throughout the year. Be sure to take advantage of as many of these as you can. I assure you they will enhance your college experience immeasurably.

Don't relax now. As a result of the award, the College will receive $5.7 million over the next three years to implement an ongoing program of training in dance, theater, music, broadcasting, the visual arts, and arts management.

While you were away, the State Legislature passed, and the Governor signed, an important piece of legislation which is of particular importance to MSC because it allows the College more flexibility in fiscal management. It is that MSC and the other state colleges can go on scholarships to colleges and universities throughout the country which control a greater measure of their destinies and chart their own visions of the future. Before this legislation, MSC was the same as any other state agency, such as public safety, health, commerce and other departments of state government. Yet, because of the unique nature of education, the bureaucratic systems stifle the flexibility and vitality of the state colleges.

Another noteworthy accomplishment which took place during the summer will yield tremendous benefits for the entire campus community. In keeping with its official designation as a “center of excellence” in the fine and performing arts, "MSC" came away the big winner in the Governor's Challenge Grant Program this year, taking the lion’s share of a specially-funded grant which challenged the state colleges to submit competitive proposals geared toward establishing innovative programs of excellence.

As a result of the award, the College will receive $5.7 million over the next three years to implement an ongoing program of training in dance, theater, music, broadcasting, the visual arts, and arts management. By placing the College at the center of excellence, the College will be able to attract more students, including those who are interested in the performing arts.

The SGA is working hard to ensure that the college provides a student body in the best possible way, to provide top-of-the-line services and to provide top-of-the-line services. This is really the student's perspective. The SGA office, Boom 103 of the Student Center Information Desk.

A note from the SGA president

It's here. I know we want to deny it, but the Fall Semester is back! We have to hand in our buy-ins, purchase our beach chairs, wipe the sand off our feet, and cap the Cornette. It's time to think about the new Bamberger's Fall collection, the best in entertainment and the finest meal. It's time to think about the future, the College which occurred after you left in May. Those of you who stayed behind spent an unusually busy summer laying the foundations for a new, bold thrust toward excellence; the MSC campus is understandably not the same.

This year, more than ever, the Student Government Association is dedicated to ensuring us that you are the best in entertainment and the finest meal. Look for your favorite summer movies, including "Back to the Future," "Juno," and "The Da Vinci Code." Recognizing MSC's unquenchable desire to dance, the SGA, through its organizations, is seeking to fulfill that desire by sponsoring various "Club Nites." Watch for rafting trips, Caribbean getaways, ski weekends, the Winter Ball, first-rate comic books, interesting speakers, and any other exciting events that SGA organizations plan.

Homecoming '86 is going to be bigger and better than last year, with a week-long list of events and programs that are guaranteed to stimulate fun and excitement throughout the year. For those of you who missed the last Lpp Synch contest, be the first on line for tickets, because it's back! The New York City Swing Band will be coming to rock MSC that week, so be prepared for an invigorating evening of old and new music, blended together to provide a musical event only the Swing Band can deliver.

The best is yet to come when, on Saturday, October 18, we watch the reenactment of the Alamo - the defeat of the William Paterson Pioneers by the MSC Indians! Come out to support the team in what will prove to be the best football game of the season. There will be many other exciting events that week, so watch for details. Homecoming '86 begins Monday, October 13. Mentioned earlier was service, and you will get it! The SGA's reason for being there is to help new students come in and stand tall to comfort crying seniors as they leave.

Again, take advantage of all that MSC and your SGA have to offer. I think you will be pleasantly surprised at what you'll find.

The arts thrive in downtown Montclair

A rewarding college experience must include more than lectures, textbooks, and brain-killing beer parties. This is the time to pursue your higher interests, to expand your aesthetic experience, and Montclair is the place to be. While MSC offers a variety of cultural programming, your search for artistic diversion need not be confined to campus. Montclair is renowned for its active cultural life, which includes theater, film, music, and art—great places to explore, see, experience, and learn.

One of Montclair's most important cultural institutions is the Whole Theater on Bloomfield Avenue, distinguished by its fine professional casts and quality programming. Some of the greatest names in theatre have graced the stage at the Whole Theater. This season includes "Pops" by John Driver. The 1966-67 season opens with "The Lion in Winter" by James Goldman. Montclair is a shopper's paradise. There is a wealth of interesting little shops, featuring antiques, books, clothing, gifts, and practically everything else. Bloomfield Avenue is a major town center: Church Street, off Bloomfield, offers unusual boutiques and restaurants in a quaint, "village-type" atmosphere. Other centers of business include Washington Plaza and Upper Montclair Center on Valley Road.

For history buffs, the Israel Crane House provides an interesting diversion. Tours are offered by hostesses in authentic 18th century gowns. Early American cooking can be sampled here amid a period setting. Craft shows and sales also take place; lessons in weaving and other period crafts are offered. If shopping and browsing are more your style, Montclair is a shopper's paradise. Student safety tips from campus police

It's a popular myth that college campuses are exempt from the crime phenomenon that afflicts today's society. As much as we try to make campus life a haven for your students, we can't completely prevent crime. Here are some tips that we hope will help you.

1. Always try to be alert and aware of your surroundings. Stay in well-lit areas and avoid walking alone at night.
2. If you notice any suspicious activity, report it to the campus police immediately.
3. Lock your doors and windows when you are in your dorm or apartment.
4. Don't leave your belongings unattended.
5. Keep your cell phone charged and with you at all times.

On-campus parking regulations

Towing

The campus police will tow all cars that are parked on the roadway or parked illegally in a space for the physically challenged. In a crosswalk, near a fire hydrant, in a fire zone, or blocking parking aisles. Cars not parked in a properly designated space for the physically challenged, in a crosswalk, near a fire hydrant, or blocking parking aisles are also subject to towing. This is not a comprehensive list.

Towing is reported as soon as possible. Call the campus police at extension 5222 to obtain a temporary permit for the time during which you will be arranging repair for your vehicle.

Disabled Vehicles

Disabled vehicles which impede the flow of traffic must be removed as soon as possible. Call the campus police at extension 5222 to arrange for a temporary permit for the time during which you will be repairing your vehicle.

NOTE: Abandoned vehicles will be towed and the owner will receive a summons for abandonment. With this summons, you will receive a $100 fine.

Ticketing

Anyone not adhering to parking regulations is subject to a summons. A copy of the complete parking regulations can be obtained from the campus police headquarters in Chapin Hall.

General Note

There is enough parking space on campus to accommodate everyone. If all the upper lots are occupied, proceed directly to the lower lots (near the Quarry). It means you will have to walk a little farther, but you will save a lot of time. Stay within your vehicle, and make sure it is locked and secure.

Pick up a temporary parking permit at either the information booth or the campus police office in Chapin Hall. Any vehicle parked on campus without a parking permit is subject to ticketing.

When you are on foot

Proper defensive walking is important to your personal safety. Always be aware of your surroundings and keep an eye on your belongings.

In the Dorms:

1. Keep your door locked at all times, regardless of how friendly you believe your friends may be.
2. Don't leave any electronics or valuable items unattended.
3. Always try to deter any vandalism by your roommates.

Excitement reigns in MSC sports

By Jim Nicolas

Success is not something new to the world of MSC sports. Nor is the least sense of the word.

Whether you’re a die-hard sports fan with a soft spot in your heart for winning or just someone who likes to watch (or participate in) quality performances, you’ve come to the right place.

The first success story you’re going to run into this fall is the MSC soccer team. Last year’s New Jersey Athletic Conference (NJAC) Champions finished the season with an 8-7-2 mark and advanced to the Conference finals. The MSC soccer team is coming off a transition year, but with a strong core returning this fall, the club looks to finish with a winning record.

One of the slowest seasons in competition, the MSC Hockey Club looks to renew some of the excitement they brought to the campus last year. The Indians, swamped by a defending champion Wagner College in the finals of the Metropolitan College Hockey Conference (MCHC) playoffs to be crowned champions in their very first year of existence.

By the middle of the fall semester, you’ll be hearing a lot of things about the MSC wrestling and men’s and women’s basketball teams. Last season, the grapplers took the NCAA Division III championship for the first time in two years.

The men’s basketball program is always a consistent presence on the court. The women’s basketball team has earned even greater success in the two years since Jill Jeffery took over as Head Coach. With what was becoming a floundering program, the women have rebuilt themselves back to dominance. Last season they surprised all at 10-6.

Excitement is the one word that comes to mind when describing the MSC swim teams. The women’s swim team won their fourth straight State Championship title last year and look to repeat again this year. The men are going to try to equal last year’s performance which included a second place finish in the Metropolitan Swimming Conference Championships that saw 11 school records fall.

The men’s and women’s track and field (and cross-country) teams are far from shabby, as well. The men’s and women’s teams placed second and third, respectively, in their conference championship meets last season. The men’s team has been boosted by an increased turnout, while the women’s squad performed tremendously with only seven athletes.

If there are any track and field athletes out there without a team to belong to, this is one area where you have an opportunity to be a part of a great team. A few more healthy bodies are all that’s needed to make the Metropolitan and field teams championship caliber.

Last, but certainly not least, words of praise must also be uttered for the Indian tennis, softball, and lacrosse teams. The men’s and women’s team has come on one of their best seasons ever and, were it not for an abundance of rainouts, could have eclipsed the school record for number of wins.

The lacrosse squad has never failed to excite the fans who come to watch. Despite an up-and-down year and some injuries, the Indians played near .500.

The softball team has its share of laurels as well. They were one of the most consistent success stories the campus has seen. Like the MSC baseball team, only the AASC football team, the MSC tennis team, and the MSC wrestling team have been one of the most consistent success stories the campus has seen. Some track and field athletes out there, it’s space to not lack of quality performances. Teams like the gymnastics, field hockey, and golf teams boast their own success and, with improved traditions, could be championship quality as well. If there’s one thing this spring sees a big nucleus returning from last season’s 29-13 team.

— Even today, there are still a few students who don’t have an HP calculator.

Burning the midnight oil may be necessary. Burning the 2:00 or 3:00 or 4:00 AM oil is absurd.

Especially when an HP calculator can get the answers you want — in time to get a good night’s sleep.

For instance, our HP-15C Professional Scientific Calculator has more built-in advanced math and statistical power than any other calculator. Our HP-41 Advanced Scientific Calculators have even more potential.

That's because there are better than 2500 software packages available for them—more than for any other calculator.

There's even a special plug-in software package (we call it the Advantage Module) that's designed to handle the specific problems an engineering student has to solve in his, or her, course work.

No wonder professionals in engineering and the physical sciences widely regard HP calculators as the best you can get.

So check one out. Then, when your mother calls to ask if you’re getting enough sleep, you won’t have to lie.

QUESTION #1.

WHAT IS THE RIGHT CHOICE FOR MOST COLLEGE STUDENTS?

a) AT&T — for everyday discounts of 40% to over 50% off weekday rates on out-of-state calls.

b) Short bursts of intense study followed by hours of frantic partying.

c) AT&T — for exceptional value and high quality service.

d) AT&T — for collect, third-party and operator-assisted long distance calls.

e) Any class that does not conflict with “The Love Connection.”

If you picked A, C and D, you’re destined for great things. Like AT&T Long Distance Service. AT&T offers so many terrific values. Like a 40% to over 50% discount off our day rate on night, evening, and weekend out-of-state calls.

Imagine what you’ll do with the money you could save. Imagine what your parents would do if they found out.

Of course, you can count on AT&T for clear long distance connections any place you call. And AT&T gives you immediate credit for wrong numbers.

To find out more about why you should choose AT&T, give us a call. And if you picked B and E, call anyway. You could probably use someone to talk to.

Dramarama: local band reaches for international fame

By Pasquale DiFulco

I've got a secret! Wanna hear it? Then listen to Cinema Verite. The band is Dramarama. Remember that, because it's only a matter of time before that name comes up again.

This local band (all the guys hail from Wayne) got its start selling records and ended up making them. Bassist Chris Carter and lead throat John Easdale used to sell imported vinyl out of a joint called Looneytunez Records. clientele included Ian Hunter and Mick Ronson. One day, the guys said, "What the hell!" and recorded a pretty decent cover of Lou Reed's "Femme Fatale." After playing some clubs, they released an EP. Comedy, in late 1984.

Jose Rula, a D.J. and music critic in France, used to sell imported vinyl out of a joint called Looneytunez Records. According to Easdale, The haunting chorus and hard-hitting lyrics are mesmerizing. "Sister's in the Everglades/Mother swallows razor blades/Father makes the flags for all the Labor Day parades." This song has bite. "Anything, Anything" was the most-requested single this spring on Rodney Bingenheimer's show on KROQ, 92 K-Rock's sister station out in Pasadena. I can understand why. It's an adrenaline-pumping song that makes you want to move.

Flutist Dave Valentin will perform at the Whole Theatre on Sat, Sept. 6 at 8:30 and 11:30 p.m. Opening act will be the Grover Kemble jazz quartet.

"Emerald City" shows off Dramarama's ability to play and sing with soul, in addition to kick-ass rhythm and blues and rock and new wave and...it's tough to lump this band into one category. I guess they can be called a crossover band. Whatever term you use. Dramarama is HOT! Critic Robert Christgau (Village Voice, Creem, Playboy) gave Cinema Verite an A-. Robert O'Brien featured the band in Rockbill, where he stated, "After listening to this record, all doubts will be quelled. I love it!"

Sports clinic focuses on thinking positively

By Perry Schwarz

Sports are vehicles that separate the winners from the losers. Everyone must face competition at some point in their life. When that time comes, the person must be ready to deal with the situation mentally as well as physically.

It takes a sound mind along with a sound body to accomplish something well as physically.

and positive motivation through the peak performance, but not their minds.

With the assistance of MSC's Continuing Education program, Gilbert devised "The Winner's Workshop." These are one-day workshops which are held off-campus. Gilbert ran the clinics during the summer, the last one being on August 23, at the Holiday Inn in Wayne.

At the beginning of the clinic, Gilbert established that absolute peak performance of a sport can be obtained by training your mind. He strived on getting his participants in touch with themselves and learning to love themselves. Words like can't, not, or impossible do not exist in Gilbert's vocabulary.

He uses simple exercises to help the participants realize that there's nothing wrong with telling you it's impossible is silenced, difficult, but once the "little voice" is silenced, the 32-digit number can be mastered in two minutes, and juggling, which he has mastered, can be learned with giving my students the one that best works for them.

"This clinic is much different than I ever attended," said one student. "The people learn because of the act of participation and not theoretical information. Ron uses the applied theory to practical use in a clever way."

Gilbert said one should enjoy what they are doing in order to reach the specific goal. For example, weightlifting is a vital part of a "mind workout." They will be held October 26 and 27, and December 7 and 15. All are held at the Holiday Inn in Wayne.

opportunity Fund (EOF) program this summer and assist with the Big League Baseball Camp held on campus.

"There are many things I wanted to do last year, but I couldn't because of my weight," Hernandez said. "Now I am playing football in a comfortable, enjoyable way."

Hernandez not only toned up his body, but his mind as well. He is prepared for a dynamic, exciting season, but if something goes wrong he knows that he has the strength to bounce back mentally and produce effectively. Although the corporate fitness major has personal goals, he also has the desire to provide encouragement and support for the rookies.

"We have a lot of new personnel at the running back position so I'm willing to come out of a game. I want my teammates to be comfortable with my replacement," Hernandez said. "(The new players) have a lot of physical talent, but now their minds must be molded in order to play MSC football and I will help them do that."

Position coach Jim O'Connor worked with Hernandez for the last two seasons. He noticed the back's improvement and feels he can utilize him much more this season.

"I'm happy Eddie lightened himself while maintaining his strength," O'Connor said. "I think he improved by becoming a complete back, and with his agility he should be able to handle the ball more in the past."

Hernandez is currently working on a standup routine. He was mostly used last season as a blocker, but with his new-and-improved image, Hernandez will be ready to take on bigger and more important tasks.
MSC’s Ed Hernandez: Dedicated to the game

By Perry Schwarz

"MAN’S HAPPINESS IN LIFE AND FOOTBALL IS THE RESULT OF HIS OWN EFFORT."

MSC running back Ed Hernandez didn’t reach his potential until the midpoint of last season. This year, there’s a new backfield, a new attitude, but most of all there’s a new and improved Hernandez. New and improved for many reasons.

“At the conclusion of last season, I took a week off for relaxation,” Hernandez said. “Once that week was over I went back to work on bettering my game so I would be at my best shape when training camp and the season arrived.”

The two-year fullback weighed 243 pounds at the conclusion of the 1985 season. On August 22 (opening day of camp), he reported in at a trim weight of 228. Hernandez concentrated on sprints, speedwork, and agility drills. In addition to his intense, dedicated training he still found time to be a resident assistant for the Educational cont. on p. 18

"VICTORY IN SPITE OF ALL, VICTORY HOWEVER LONG AND HARD MAYBE; FOR WITHOUT VICTORY THERE IS NO SURVIVAL" - VIDKUN QUISLING

The time has arrived again for MSC’s football training camp. The rookies join the veterans in one of the toughest periods of the football season. In fact, those who survive camp usually stay with the team for the entire season. The advantage veterans have over the rookies is that they know what’s in store for them next year.

Many players and fans have a naive perception about camp. Camp is hard on the body and mind. Everything done in the 10 days is by schedule. Practice, dining, meetings - all of it is according to a schedule devised by the coaches. The players are required to follow it. Those who are not in shape mentally or physically, when camp opens are the ones who filter out of the program.

"I hope you guys did a lot of roadwork this summer," head coach Rick Giancola said at the organized meeting Aug. 22nd. "It’s important you are in shape because we want you to concentrate on football the next few days. You should already be in shape.

The faces of a select few drop. They are the ones who won’t make it to camp. It’s up to you guys to prove to us that what those players go through here is a three-day account of the MSC football preparation period.

DAY I: The players and coaches congregate in Richardson Hall to hear the law of training camp and the rules for the season. The first is that “no female cousins” are to visit.

Upon dismissal, group meetings are held in Partridge and Richardson Hall. All the mental preparation is done for the next week in these meetings. Defensive back coach Terry Porter presented his goals to the secondary personnel in no uncertain terms.

"I would like us to lead the nation in interceptions and win another championship," Porter said.

For the veterans, the strategies are just a review, but for the newcomers, MSC football will occupy their mind for the next few days, and all they will see are X’s and O’s.

DAY II: (9 a.m.-12 p.m.) The information introduced last night is put to work on the field. Throughout the practice the atmosphere is light and business-like. There is no time for "playing around." At the end of practice, the players run sprints. The sprints help build up the stamina and increase the running form of the athletes. But they also hurt, noticeable.

MSC football team hopefuls making their way through drills at the Indians’ summer training camp.

Just by the looks on the players’ faces covered by sweat.

12 p.m.-2 p.m.: Lunch and a brief cooling period occupy the time. Just as the players get comfortable in their rooms and in the lounge of Blanton Hall, it’s time to return to the field.

2 p.m.-5 p.m.: After lunch the players drag themselves back to the field. Many of the guys carpool to the field. The final practice of the day is an intensive one. The motivated players push through the form run and other sprints. Form running is where the players run as fast as they can without gaining distance. It’s similar to running in place.

7:30 p.m.-9 p.m.: It’s meeting time. The players respond to their assigned rooms with the paper and pencil supplied to them. Extra information is added and the system becomes much more complex. Tonight more information is added and by the end of camp, the system should be in effect with a few adjustments.

The final practice was on Labor Day. While everyone was enjoying themselves at home, the Indians were sweating for the last time at camp. It’s the last day the players give it their all in every area, from special teams to the defensive unit.

Breakfast, practice, lunch, practice, dinner and team meetings were the standard routine for the 10 days. Everything of major importance was introduced in the 10 days. Within those 10 days a few highlights took place on and off the field which brought a chuckle to the team and made camp proceed more smoothly.

AUGUST 25: The players were happy to see new faces on campus. Many of them combed the dorms to assist young girls who were in need of instruction on opening the doors.

MSC’s Hernandez: Mr. Dedication. See story, page 19.

AUGUST 26: The Residencia Hall Federation picnic/dance provided entertainment and extra workouts for the players. Sophomore Ahmad Field had a great time on the dancefloor. He moved in every position possible from 7 p.m. to the end of the dance. Some of the moves he put on the dancefloor would be penalties on the football field.

AUGUST 27: The players had another night on the campus. Many were making moves (not football) at the freshman orientation dance sponsored by LASSO, BSCU and the SGA.

AUGUST 29: The moment has come. The annual rookie show is held. The newcomers perform for the veterans, by using any talent they have. The vets look forward to the night and the athlete. Sophomore Ahmad Field had a great camp.

DEFENSIVE COORDINATOR MCKINLEY BOSTON: "We have a lot of talent. Some of it is unproven, but that will change with time. There have been a few players that will make an impact on our season.

Cornerback Joe Altomace has been a pleasant surprise. He worked hard and is respected for his talents of being a starter. Freshman linebacker McKinley Boston has showed he will be able to help us in the defense.

AUGUST 30: It’s picture day. Team and individual shots are taken. McKinley Boston and Charlie Cocuzza tried desperately to hold in their gut for the picture, but the ribbing and laughter from the players was just too much for them to handle.

A team scrimmage is held in the afternoon. This is the real test for the players, and the coaches get a chance to look at the players in a game situation. After the scrimmage the players go their separate ways till Monday.

SEPTEMBER 1: The final day of camp is here! From pre-practice to form running, the players are sharp and maintain a loud, aggressive intensity.

The intensity is broken for a few minutes, when Coach Porter was tripped by ELMO (the little green guy in the turf that makes people fall). That’s it, camp is over and the defending NFC champions will face Muhlenberg College this Saturday.

COACHES VIEW

HEAD COACH RICK GIANCOLA: "We had a few players that didn’t return, but we are going to play with what we have. I see a lot of talent, and many of the young guys have a shot to play with time. Defensively, John DeBarreau and Matt Clark demonstrated excellence, determination, and quickness. Cornerback David Harris has also been impressive. Offensive line Joe Fernandez had a great camp."

"Overall, we had an enthusiastic atmosphere. Some of it is to our success is the continuity of the coaching staff. With the exception of one or two coaches the same staff has been in tact for the last 10 years and that means something to the head coach and the athletes."

OFFENSIVE COACH CHARLIE COCOZZA: "I’m available for comment."

"I would like us to lead the nation in interceptions and win another championship," Porter said.
