Tu tional racism policies effecting South

describing the historical and institutional racist policies effecting South Africa.

The historical colonialism pressured the South African blacks into a "psychological paralysis" whereby native Africans never developed their own political consciousness. Whites acquired total control of South African political and social policies. Skin color became the "determining factor" in the political hierarchy of the country.

South Africa is rich in vital minerals such as chrome, steel, and gold. Fifty-four percent of the world output of gold is exported from South Africa. The colonists exploited South African blacks as the labor force and exported the native resources for their own profit.

Despite the demise of most colonial systems, South Africa retains its pattern of minority-controlled government.

Agyeman described the colonization of South Africa by the Dutch as the beginning of the "slave mentality" imposed upon the blacks in South Africa. The native black population was found to be a vast resource of labor for the white colonists.

Agyeman stressed in his lecture the U.S. role in upholding Apartheid policy. By viewing world affairs in a bipolar competition between the U.S. and the U.S.S.R., South African realities are not viewed in their own right.

Social change, such as the black movement in South Africa, is threatening to U.S. interests. If apartheid crumbles, the U.S. fears that the new leadership will move to the Soviet sphere of influence.

Agyeman concluded the discussion stressing the need for the U.S. government and business to pull support from apartheid run government. Without U.S. support, Agyeman feels the two sides would be forced to negotiate and reach an equitable compromise.

The 1931 Indians

The yearbook read: "...Those who attended the game saw an inspired, infuriated line of red-jerseyed warriors tear the Trenton line to pieces..." Fans continue to watch a tradition of gridiron defense displayed by the 1986 Indian football team.

MSC alumnus is honored as N. J.'s Teacher-of-the-Year

MSC claims among its alumni some of the state's most noteworthy educators, including this year's New Jersey Teacher-of-the-Year, Gerald Walker of Blairstown.

MSC President Donald E. Walters said "I was delighted to learn of Walker's selection and thrilled by the fact that four other MSC alumni were chosen for county honors".

A chemistry teacher at Livingston High School, Walker, who earned a master's degree from MSC in 1970, was described as an "impressive" teacher by state Education Commissioner Saul Cooperman during ceremonies in North Brunswick. He is now eligible to compete for National Teacher-of-the-Year designation, scheduled for announcement in the Spring.

In addition to Walker, who held the Essex County Teacher-of-the-Year title, other county winners included Bergen County's Teacher-of-the-Year, Tom Domerski of Norwood, a 1968 graduate of MSC who teaches industrial arts at Northern Valley High School in Demarest; Ocean County's Teacher-of-the-Year Michael Roche of Lake-wook, a science teacher at Manchester High School who received a master's degree in environmental studies from Montclair in 1978, Passaic County's Teacher-of-the-Year, Christine Krenicki of Passaic, an English teacher at Passaic High School who holds both bachelor's and master's degrees from MSC and is taking further graduate courses there now, and Sussex County's Teacher-of-the-Year, Joseph H. Mello of Newton, a music teacher at Kittatinny Regional High School who also did graduate work at MSC.

"We have never forgotten that MSC was once known as 'the Harvard of teachers' colleges'" Walters said. "Although our mission has greatly expanded into a multitude of disciplines and degree programs, MSC remains committed to the highest standards of excellence in our teacher training programs."

President Walters pointed to the College's recent creation of a Master of Education degree program as underscoring the commitment, observing that the program "is designed to assist classroom teachers in acquiring knowledge, skills and competencies they need to better serve New Jersey's young people."

Stolen ‘little’ red corvette worth big bucks

By Linda Longo

A 1986 red Corvette valued at $32,000 was stolen on Oct. 21 between 2:30 and 11:15 p.m. The car, parked in Lot 25, has not yet been recovered.

On Oct. 22 the owner of a 1985 Chevy parked his van at 10:00 a.m. in Lot 22. Two-and-a-half hours later, Paramus police located the van in an industrial park with the engine running. The owner had been unaware that his van, valued at $12,000, was stolen.

A 1986 white Toyota Corolla, valued at $12,000, was stolen from Lot 24 between 9:40 - 11:00 a.m. on Oct. 27. The car was recovered by Kean College police on Oct. 28.

The Nauna’s Pizzeria delivery truck was stolen at 11:20 p.m. on Oct. 28, while the driver was making a delivery. The white Mitsubishi pickup truck was parked on Bohn Rd. with the keys still in the ignition and the door unlocked. The truck has not yet been recovered and the incident is under investigation.

On Oct. 27, a movie projector was stolen from a cabinet in Annex E. The projector is valued at $600.

A Webster Hall resident reported, on Oct. 23, that a watch and $20 cash were stolen from her room. She estimated the total value at $470.

On Oct. 24, a Freeman Hall resident reported that a gold ring with diamonds and rubies, valued at $225, was stolen from her room. The theft occurred sometime between 11:00 a.m. and 6:30 p.m.

On Oct. 24, a professor reported that a radio and a sweater, total value $208, were stolen from a locked office in Malory Hall. Later that day the same professor reported that a hydraulic system used to trim rocks and a convertible dolly were missing from room 305A in Malory Hall.

Food and drink worth $9.07 were stolen from a parked Nauna’s Pizzeria delivery truck on Oct. 21. The truck was parked on Bohn Rd. at 9:10 p.m. while the driver was making a delivery.

A campus police officer found a purple wallet containing $14.78 in Malory Hall and returned it to its owner.

A wallet containing $12.35 was found in the Student Center on Oct. 23. It was turned over to the police and returned to the owner.

On Oct. 23, the owner of a gray 1983 Pontiac Firebird reported that his car had been broken into. The steering column was cracked and the directional post was broken sometime between 2:00 a.m. and 12:00 p.m. in Lot 28.

After long uphill battle bill finally passes

By Mike Heelan

Governor Thomas Kean signed into law a bill which gives the student body a vote on the board of trustees. After 13 years of an upward battle in the New Jersey State Legislature, the bill was signed into law. The law enables the students to have a say on tuition rates and other important issues regarding the well being of the entire campus. “This is an extremely victorious decision for all students,” said SGA Board of Trustees Representative, Mike Rodak.

In addition, Rodak stressed, November 4, 1986 is election day and it is every student’s privilege to vote. They should make every effort participate in the democratic process of this country.”

In other news, Director of Campus Police, Caltire emphasized that illegal parking may cause a serious fire hazard to the campus. Therefore, cars will continue to be ticketed and in some cases towed at the owner’s expense.

Caltire also stressed that an additional night shuttle bus driver is still being sought for the shuttle route.

A debate was held during last night’s SGA meeting regarding the class status of the ice Hockey Club. Presently, the Hockey Club is a class II organization, and the argument has centered around whether it should become a class III organization.

This issue is important to the Hockey Club to maintain their operating costs at a reasonable level, they need funds from the SGA. A class III charter will make the Hockey Club ineligible to receive funds. For these reasons, they want to be granted a class II charter for the academic years 1986-88.

Finally, a class IV charter was granted to the Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity for the academic years 1986-1988.

World Series Champions received lots of attention

Well, who would have guessed, years ago when the Mets were 60-100, that this team would have attracted a huge share of the television market.

The Mets have captured the hearts of New Yorkers and New Jerseyans that at the Giants football game, more than half the crowd was sports fans for television to keep in touch with Game 7 of the Series. When Mets pitcher Jesse Orosco struck out Boston's Marty Barrett to clinch the victory, Giants Stadium erupted with a roar. These were Giants fans watching a football game, yet the loudest crowd noise of the evening came because of the Mets-the team that now owns the New York area.

During Lionel Richie's concert at Madison Square Garden, fans erupted into a spontaneous cheer as the Mets rallied during Richie's "Lady." Richie was a sport about it, though, providing the crowd with inning-by-inning updates between songs. Clearly, these are not everyday occurrences for a typical baseball team.

Years from now, people will be asking each other, "Where were you when the 1986 Mets won the World Series?" Some suggest, and many hope, that this will be the start of a dynasty, and just the beginning of many more great things to come.

Star Wars-the "Crayola" shield

BOSTON—Until I saw the commercial, I had no idea that "Star Wars" was so simple even a kindergarten child could understand it. I thought you needed physics when all you really needed was Crayolas. The regular box of Crayolas, not even the giant size.

The 30-second television spot, brought to me courtesy of the Coalition for the Strategic Defense Initiative, changed all that. It opened with Crayola figures of Mom, Dad, and Spot. (I think it was Spot, though it might have been a small brown horse without a mane-hard to tell.) There was also a black Crayola house and a yellow Crayola sun.

While the school piano tinkled in the background, a little girl narrated her wonderful tale of ten Crayolas in search of national security. "I asked my daddy what this 'Star Wars' stuff is all about," she began. "He said right now we can't protect ourselves from nuclear weapons and that's why the President wants to build the Peace Shield."

As she reported this, a white line appeared in a huge arc that covered the house, family, horse/dog and even the sun. This was the Crayola Peace Shield. The young narrator went on the explain how "it would stop missiles in outer space so they couldn't hit our house." On cue, little brown Crayola missiles bumped up against the white Crayola shield and were destroyed.

The girl concluded, "Then nobody could win a war and if nobody could win a war there's no reason to start one." With that, the shield turned into a rainbow and even the sun began to smile.

Frankly, allways like coloring, not to mention story hour at school. This tale had just enough truth in it to be especially appealing. Creating a "Peace Shield" isn't really much harder, after all, then drawing a gigantic white line around the sun. The real sun. In fact instead of financing the Pentagon's efforts at "Star Wars," I think we should commission the artist Christo to wrap the United States the way he wrapped that island in Florida. It would be cheaper.

What is so artistic about the pro-SDI spot isn't just the coloring. It's the timing. The 30-second commercial has already been seen in Washington and the conservative coalition is planning to air it nationally in the next pre-summit days. It is just a small-child-sized part of the campaign to convince the American public that the President is right, the a "Star Wars" defense is too important to bargain away for something silly like nuclear-arms reduction. After all it doesn't matter how many nuclear bombs there are if we all have our white Crayolas handy.

This isn't the first cartoon rendition of "Star Wars." The network news shows SDI working with astonishing regularity. They continually offer some artist's concept of an incoming missile being blown up. The artist never misses. The "visuals" contribute to the notion that SDI not only exists (it doesn't), but that it can work.

Nor is this the only commercial. The Defense Department has carefully orchestrated a series of "tests" under the Strategic Defense Initiative Organization. They are really what MIT physicist Kosta Tsipis calls "an unchallenged advertising campaign."

One by one, we have been treated to ever-so-successful reports of engineering tests, complete with dramatic "blow'em-up" film footage straight out of a video game. They purport to show a new defensive technology in the making. But in fact, as Tsipis and his colleague Philip Morris who have analyzed the tests report, they were "mainly simulations of progress, orchestrated and widely reported for public effect."

In fairness, the Reagan administration needs all the "Star Wars" ads it can muster. The public doesn't share the President's consuming commitment. We remain convinced that any new U.S. weapons program will be inevitably matched by the Soviets in a never-ending arms race. In the latest ABC-Washington Post poll, 74 percent of us would trade the fantasy of SDI for a substantial reduction in nuclear arsenals.

With a summit around the corner, we can count on a beefed-up advertising campaign to sell Ronald Reagan's "Star Wars." Perhaps a few more spiffy "tests" from the Defense Department, certainly a spate of these 30-second sagas from the Coalition. We're off to Never-Never Land. Gap if you believe in white Crayola Peace Shields.

Music Chair protests The Montclarion’s treatment of “Kiss Me, Kate”

To the Editor:
I attended last Friday’s performance of “Kiss Me, Kate” and was impressed with all aspects of the show. I found the orchestra as well as the singers to be quite fine, and wondered how Tony Bavaro could have written a negative review of the orchestra as he did in last week’s Montclarion. Upon inquiring, I discovered that he had attended a rehearsal of the show, not a performance.

I think that it is most unfair to write a review based upon attendance at a rehearsal, the purpose of which is to prepare for a performance. I assume that the purpose of printing a review in The Montclarion is to give the readers information on a performance. This cannot be accomplished by reviewing a rehearsal.

I hope that Tony Bavaro attended a performance of “Kiss Me, Kate” and would review that. That would allow him to present his assessment of the show fairly to both the readers of The Montclarion and to the students and faculty who have worked very hard to present a quality show.

Litterbugs, and their trash on the MSC campus, still an issue for concern

To the Editor:
The issue of litter should be of at least some interest to all those attending and working at MSC, because we’re faced with it everyday. I don’t see why people choose to throw garbage on the grounds of MSC (or anywhere else for that matter), instead of into the readily available garbage cans. What’s the deal? Haven’t you ever learned to respect nature or public property, or even to just clean up after yourselves? It’s really disgusting!

However, each and every one of us can do something to help stop the problem at MSC, and wherever we may go. All that you have to do is clean up after yourself. Show some respect for your professors and your fellow students at MSC, by taking your garbage (be it this newspaper, plastic cups, bottles and cans, butts, or candy wrappers), carrying it to the nearest garbage can, and dropping it through the opening.

By doing this simple maneuver we can surely improve the atmosphere at MSC and anywhere that we may go. Please try this next time you are faced with your garbage. I believe that you’ll find it relatively painless, and its consequences quite satisfying.

North Jersey spawns new generation of music

By Stacey Dunlevy

I can recall, just a mere six years ago, reading in Creem how other countries had flowering music scenes and we, the United States (the country that others based their models on), didn’t have one. What little that writer knew…. and how blind I was to believe him. In 1980 the signs of an English music scene were beginning to be felt, a scene that would grow into a worldwide phenomenon and explode in the 1980’s. The music scene that arose in New Jersey during the 1980’s was one of the loosely defined groups “a band whose influence has a past and present” but Led Zeppelin’s hard rock was supposed to look like. Jimmy Page and Co. were already sitting in the referee’s chair. Led Zeppelin was more than just a great band. They were one of rock’s few true “super groups” a band whose influence has a far reaching impact on rock music as history. Creative music and fine lyrics are also important ingredients to super group status. But a super group can also be defined as a group who has incredible success from beginning to end, consistently matching or exceeding their own high standard of musical quality.

Led Zeppelin’s first three albums (1969-1970) showed what hard rock was supposed to sound like. Jimmy Page and Co. were already sitting in the referee’s chair. Led Zeppelin was more than just a great band. They were one of rock’s few true “super groups” a band whose influence has a far reaching impact on rock music as history. Creative music and fine lyrics are also important ingredients to super group status. But a super group can also be defined as a group who has incredible success from beginning to end, consistently matching or exceeding their own high standard of musical quality.

SUPERSTAR FLASHBACK

Zeppelin still flying high

By Chris Magary

Perhaps the greatest hard rock/ heavy metal band of all time, Led Zeppelin came onto the music scene in 1969 and rode the crest of a wave that lasted through 1980. We proved how much we enjoyed their music by selling out every show and purchasing over $50 million worth of their albums. What’s more. Led Zeppelin seems to be as popular today as ever.

There have been many talented groups in the music industry (both past and present) but Led Zeppelin was more than just a great band. They were one of rock’s few true “super groups” a band whose influence has a far reaching impact on rock music as history. Creative music and fine lyrics are also important ingredients to super group status. But a super group can also be defined as a group who has incredible success from beginning to end, consistently matching or exceeding their own high standard of musical quality.

The sa tisfaction one receives from Winter Hours lies in the melodies. The sa tisfaction one receives from “The Confessional,” and “Ten Minutes” have some of the most beautiful vocal lines and sensitive songwriting of any band. The side “September Street” is a slower song with intricate guitar weaving by Bob Perry and Michael Garuccio. After the EP, the guitar work of these two lead players is like a musical tapestry. Also, to further tear off the “REM” label, the lyrics on The Confessional are direct and easy to understand. Give it a listen.

Indians suffer first defeat at hands of Salisbury St.

By Perry Schwarz

Funny things occur to visiting teams on homecoming day. MSC defeated its homecoming rival William Paterson 36-0, its first shutout in seven years. However, Salisbury State College (7-0) defeated the Indians 13-6 in their homecoming day matchup at Seagull Stadium in Maryland.

This was a battle between two similar teams. Many expected a battle of offenses, but the opposite occurred. A total of seven turnovers were committed by both teams and only three touchdowns were scored. Salisbury, with the win, is riding a 11-game win streak against the New Jersey Athletic Conference.

The Indians clearly controlled the first quarter and led 6-0. MSC (6-1) ran nine plays as compared to the Seagulls' 22. Salisbury opened the scoring on its second possession. The Seagulls capped a 77-yard drive when quarterback Kevin White rolled three yards to his left untouched. Bill Maurer hit the extra point with :03 left in the first quarter.

The Indian game came up with exciting plays in the second quarter, but couldn't convert any into scores. They were stalled at SCS's 12-yard line at the half. Two highlights for MSC were Walter Briggs' 36-yard scramble and his 52-yard completion to Ed Chavis. Briggs capped the drive with an 18-yard touchdown pass to Mike Kozlowski.

The third quarter was a defensive battle. The Indians' three possessions resulted in touchdowns and downs on losses. The Seagulls didn't fare any better. They were intercepted and fumbled in two possessions. They capitalized on their third drive with a 1:21 remaining. White scored his second touchdown on a six-yard keeper. The fun finally a 12-yard 73-yard drive and made the score 13-0.

There was a physical, competitive match throughout. The Indians battled until the end and came up with one score, but couldn't get anymore. Briggs capped a 14-play drive which continued from the previous period, by throwing a 12-yard strike to Bryan Scipo. The Indians had two opportunities to break the game, but couldn't score. Both of those possessions resulted in Briggs getting the turf on a sack. The last time was with 2:00 left in the game.

The MSC soccer team's 2-0 loss to Glassboro State Friday night at Sprague Field had the Indian team screaming foul play. Said MSC Assistant Coach, Joe Delafara, "The game was ruined by the officiating. I don't consider it a 2-0 loss at all. The game was just taken away from us by the officials."

The game had the entire Indian coaching staff seeing red, as three red cards were given to the team, resulting in three ejections from the game. When the dust had settled, a total of two fights, two players and one assistant coach ejections were recorded.

The action, though, was not complete, as the Indians were forced to play the game with only nine men yet played Glassboro (14-1-2) to a standstill. Losing two players in the first half of the game did not prove the fatal blow to the Indian team. What killed them was two hand balls called in the penalty area resulting in two penalty kicks. Glassboro converted both to collect their only goals and seal the victory.

The game started with both teams locked in a defensive struggle, was highlighted by tough man-to-man defenses. Glassboro State applied full court defensive pressure, neutralizing the MSC midfield and cutting off the Indians' line of attack.

At 15:01 Glassboro had their first scoring chance but MSC's Michael Noltey off a defender and blocked the shot. Freshman goalie Howard Hyde kept the Indians in the game with great plays, including a crucial save on a breakaway attempt in which he came out to punch the ball away.

Temper flared at 37:29 as a few players were involved in a fight. When it was over MSC's Raymond Sterling and Robert Chよね were kicked out of the game, and the Indians found themselves at two players disadvantage. Despite the loss of the two players, they kept up the pressure on the Glassboro team. Goalkeeper Hyde said, "We played great with nine players. We played them even."

MSC field hockey team won a pair of games this week to raise its record to 7-1-1. Fran DeVito and Beth Harrington scored goals Monday to give the Indians a 2-0 victory over William Paterson. Harrington added a score to help MSC to a 3-0 shutout of East Stroudsburg Tuesday at Sprague Field. Tracey Burke stopped three shots against WPC and five shots against ESSU to earn her fourth and fifth shutouts of the year.

What's What in MSC sports

Compiled by Jim Nicosa

MSC was fielding three of the MSC women's cross-country team. At least this weekend. The Indians may be losing any of the runners slowing down.

In two meets, five MSC foes fell by the wayside in the women's cross-country meet.

The Indians' streak of success. Last Wednesday, at Gurnet Field in West Peteron, the Indians swept Seton Hall, Rowan, Rutgers-Newark and Rarapaco by identical shutout scores, 4-0.

The first six finishers on the day were all from MSC, led by Jessica Levkin, a senior. Levkin, followed by teammates Ross Domingo (20:43); Shannan Rawlinson (21:04); Rose Colley (21:37); Elizabeth Gahagan (22:07); and Bernadette Wydek (23:06).

Tuesday afternoon the Indians captured two more wins, the time from 5-1 Georgian Court (22:34) and Monmouth (15:45).

While Glassboro's Tracey Burke finished in 18:59 to lead all runners, Levkin (18:34), Domingo (20:32), Rawlinson (20:43), and Colley (21:01) took the next four places. Wydek improved on her previous time to finish eighth in 22:39 and help wrap up the MSC win.

HOCKEY

The 1986-87 season for the Metropolitan Conference Champs M.S.C. Indians will begin on Wednesday, November 5th at 7:30 p.m. at Westminster. MSC will face the Jaspers of Manhattan College, who are rated third last March by the eastern Indians. The Indians then storm into the Montclair Arena to play Southern Connecticut, the first round of this years champ in last year's playoffs. The first home game will be on Sunday November 9th at 9:30 P.M. These are two of the victims of the Indian enroute to bringing home the first ever conference title.

The defending champions face one of the toughest schedules ever comprised in the Metro Conference, by far the most difficult challenge of any of the teams in the league. In hopes of retaining the title, the team brings back veteran defenseman Michael Faustino, forward-turned-goalkeeper Bill Gribb, forward-turned-goalkeeper Bill Gribb, center Mike Kozlowski, Scott Benton, and Ernie Van De Valk. Again the Indians were two points ahead of the Indians on the last game of the season. MSC Assistant Coach, Joe Delafara, "This was a physical, competitive match throughout. The Indians battled until the end and came up with one score, but couldn't get anymore. Briggs capped a 14-play drive which continued from the previous period, by throwing a 12-yard strike to Bryan Scipo. The Indians had two opportunities to break the game, but couldn't score. Both of those possessions resulted in Briggs getting the turf on a sack. The last time was with 2:00 left in the game."

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

Oliver Glenston, MSC's Director of Intercollegiate Athletics, recently appointed Stephanie A. Burt Assistant Women's Basketball Coach.

Burt will work under third-year coach Bill Jenkins, the head coach of the Littlefield College Wolves. Jenkins is one of the brightest young stars in the game today.

The Indians will face stiff competition from the East Coast this season. The Indians are expected to have a strong season this year.

Soccer team crying foul in 2-0 loss to Glassboro

By Dennis Campbell

The MSC soccer team's 2-0 loss to Glassboro State Friday night at Sprague Field had the Indian team screaming foul play. Said MSC Assistant Coach, Joe Delafara, "The game was ruined by the officiating. I don't consider it a 2-0 loss at all. The game was just taken away from us by the officials."

The game had the entire Indian coaching staff seeing red, as three red cards were given to the team, resulting in three ejections from the game. When the dust had settled, a total of two fights, two players and one assistant coach ejections were recorded.

The action, though, was not complete, as the Indians were forced to play the game with only nine men yet played Glassboro (14-1-2) to a standstill. Losing two players in the first half of the game did not prove the fatal blow to the Indian team. What killed them was two hand balls called in the penalty area resulting in two penalty kicks. Glassboro converted both to collect their only goals and seal the victory.

The game started with both teams locked in a defensive struggle, was highlighted by tough man-to-man defenses. Glassboro State applied full court defensive pressure, neutralizing the MSC midfield and cutting off the Indians' line of attack.

At 15:01 Glassboro had their first scoring chance but MSC's Michael Noltey off a defender and blocked the shot. Freshman goalie Howard Hyde kept the Indians in the game with great plays, including a crucial save on a breakaway attempt in which he came out to punch the ball away.

Temper flared at 37:29 as a few players were involved in a fight. When it was over MSC's Raymond Sterling and Robert Chyne were kicked out of the game, and the Indians found themselves at two players disadvantage. Despite the loss of the two players, they kept up the pressure on the Glassboro team. Goalkeeper Hyde said, "We played great with nine players. We played them even."

Hyde said the courage and confidence which the team displayed in being forced to play with nine players was overwhelming, but the team is using the adversity to come up with a fine performance.

"We play that way all the time," Hyde said. "This time though the referees just took the game away from us. I was really pumped up between the importance of the game and the refs. We wanted to take the action to them."

The second half started at a furious pace with Glassboro attacking and keeping the pressure on the Indian defense. The Profs almost scored when Hyde just got his fingers on a punting shot that Vinny Nicosa cleared.

With Glassboro applying the pressure, Hyde came to the foreground. He was splendid in goal, keeping the Indians in the game. With the game looking as if it would go overtime a hand ball was called in the penalty area at 73:19 where the Glassboro team converted on to take a 1-0 lead. That called incensed Delafara, who then had a heated debate with the officials, resulting in his ejection from the game.
