MSC takes a look back at...

The 1931 Indians

The yearbook read: "...Those who attended the game saw an inspired, infuriated line of red-jerseyed warriors tear the Trenton line to pieces..." Fans continue to watch a tradition of gridiron defense displayed by the 1986 Indian football team.

Campus Peace Group sponsors talk

Professor focuses on U.S. apartheid policy

By Mary Donnelly and Mike Woods

The Campus Peace Group sponsored a discussion of United States policy and apartheid with Professor Opuke Aygeman, Africanist and professor of political science at MSC, Wednesday afternoon.

The discussion began with Aygeman describing the historical and institutional racist policies effecting South Africa.

The historical colonialism pressured the South African blacks into a 'psychological paralysis' whereby native Africans never developed their own political consciousness. Whites acquired total control of South African political and social policies. Skin color became the "determining factor" in the political hierarchy of the country.

South Africa is rich in vital minerals such as chrome, steel, and gold. Fifty-four percent of the world output of gold is exported from South Africa. The colonists exploited South African blacks as the labor force and exported the native resources for their own profit.

Despite the demise of most colonial systems, South Africa retains its' pattern of minority-controlled government.

Aygeman described the colonization of South Africa by the Dutch as the beginning of the "slave mentality" imposed upon the blacks in South Africa. The native black population was found to be a vast resource of labor for the white colonists.

Aygeman stressed in his lecture the U.S. role in upholding Apartheid policy. By viewing world affairs in a bipolar competition between the U.S. and the U.S.S.R., South African realities are not viewed in their own right.

Social change, such as the black movement in South Africa, is threatening to U.S. interests. If apartheid crumbles, the U.S. fears that the new leadership will move to the Soviet sphere of influence.

Aygeman concluded the discussion stressing the need for the U.S. government and business to pull support from apartheid run government. Without U.S. support, Aygeman feels the two sides would be forced to negotiate and reach an equitable compromise.

MSC alumnus is honored as N. J.'s Teacher-of-the-Year

MSC claims among its alumni some of the state's most noteworthy educators, including this year's New Jersey Teacher-of-the-Year, Gerald Walker of Blairstown.

MSC President Donald E. Walters said "I was delighted to learn of Walker's selection and thrilled by the fact that four other MSC alumni were chosen for county honors".

A chemistry teacher at Livingston High School, Walker, who earned a master's degree from MSC in 1970, was described as an "impressive" teacher by state Education Commissioner Saul Cooperman during ceremonies in North Brunswick. He is now eligible to compete for National Teacher-of-the-Year designation, scheduled for announcement in the Spring.

In addition to Walker, who held the Essex County Teacher-of-the-Year title, other county winners included Bergen County's Teacher-of-the-Year, Tom Domerski of Norwood, a 1968 graduate of MSC who teaches industrial arts at Northern Valley High School in Demarest; Ocean County's Teacher-of-the-Year Michael Roche of Lake wook, a science teacher at Manchester High School who received a master's degree in environmental studies from Montclair in 1978; Passaic County's Teacher-of-the-Year, Christine Krenwick of Passaic, an English teacher at Passaic High School who holds both bachelor's and master's degrees from MSC and is taking further graduate courses there now, and Sussex County's Teacher-of-the-Year, Joseph H. Mello of Newton, a music teacher at Kittatinny Regional High School who also did graduate work at MSC.

"We have never forgotten that MSC was once known as 'the Harvard of teachers' colleges'" Walters said. "Although our mission has greatly expanded into a multitude of disciplines and degree programs, MSC remains committed to the highest standards of excellence in our teacher training programs".

President Walters pointed to the College's recent creation of a Master of Education program as underscoring the commitment, observing that the program "is designed to assist classroom teachers in acquiring knowledge, skills and competencies they need to better serve New Jersey's young people."

Stolen ‘little’ red corvette worth big bucks

By Linda Longo

A 1986 red Corvette valued at $32,000 was stolen on Oct. 21 between 2:30 and 11:15 p.m. The car, parked in Lot 25, has not yet been recovered.

On Oct. 22 the owner of a 1985 Chevy parked his van at 10:00 a.m. in Lot 22. Two-and-a-half hours later, Paramus police located the van in an industrial park with the engine running. The owner had been unaware that his van, valued at $12,000, was stolen.

A 1986 white Toyota Corolla, valued at $12,000, was stolen from Lot 24 between 9:40 - 11:00 a.m. on Oct. 27. The car was recovered by Kean College police on Oct. 28.

The Nauna’s Pizzeria delivery truck was stolen at 11:20 p.m. on Oct. 28 while the driver was making a delivery. The white Mitsubishi pick-up truck was parked on Bohn Rd. with the keys still in the ignition and the door unlocked. The truck has not yet been recovered and the incident is under investigation.

On Oct. 27, a movie projector was reported stolen from a cabinet in Annex E. The projector is valued at $800.

On Oct. 23, that a watch and $20 cash were stolen from her room. She estimated the total value at $470.

On Oct. 24, a Freemian Hall resident reported that a gold ring with diamonds and rubies, valued at $225, was stolen from her room. The theft occurred sometime between 11:00 a.m. and 5:30 p.m.

On Oct. 24, a professor reported that a radio and a sweater, total value $208, were stolen from a locked office in Mallory Hall. Later that day the same professor reported that a hydrolic system used to trim rocks and a convertible dolly were missing from room 305A in Mallory Hall.

Food and drink worth $9.07 were stolen from a parked Nauna’s Pizzeria delivery truck on Oct. 21. The truck was parked on Bohn Rd. at 9:10 p.m. while the driver was making a delivery.

A campus police officer found a purple wallet containing $14.78 in Mallory Hall and returned it to its owner.

A wallet containing $12.35 was found in the Student Center on Oct. 23. It was turned over to the police and returned to the owner.

On Oct. 23, the owner of a gray 1983 Pontiac Firebird reported that his car had been broken into. The steering column was cracked and the directional post was broken sometime between 2:00 a.m. and 12:00 p.m. in Lot 28.

Four revolving lights from maintenance vehicles were reported stolen on Oct. 27 in the maintenance lot. Two of the lights were found later in a garbage can. Each light cost $65 to replace.

On Oct. 22 four state athletic vehicles parked in Lot 3 had each of their taillights snatched.

The owner of a 1985 Buick Somerset reported that his front fender and hood were damaged in Lot 13. Numerous footprints indicated that someone had been walking on the car.

A Mallory Hall vending machine was vandalized sometime between 11:00 p.m. and 1:30 a.m. on Oct. 28. There was no apparent theft.

After long uphill battle bill finally passes

By Mike Heelan

Governor Thomas Kean signed into law a bill which gives the student body a vote on the board of trustees. After 13 years of an upward battle in the New Jersey State Legislature, the bill was signed into law. The law enables the students to have a say on tuition rates and other important issues regarding the well being of the entire campus. “This is an extremely victorious decision for all students,” said SGA Board of Trustees Representative, Mike Rodak.

In addition, Rodak stressed, November 4, 1986 is election day and it is every student’s privilege to vote. They should make every effort participate in the democratic process of this country.”

In other news, Director of Campus Police, Caltire emphasized that illegal parking may cause a serious fire hazard to the campus. Therefore, cars will continue to be ticketed and in some cases towed at the owner’s expense. Caltire also stressed that an additional night shuttle bus driver is still being sought for the shuttle route.

A debate was held during last night’s SGA meeting regarding the class status of the Ice Hockey Club. Presently, the Hockey Club is a class II organization, and the argument has centered around whether it should become a class III organization.

This issue is important to the Hockey Club to maintain their operating costs at a reasonable level, they need funds from the SGA. A class III charter will make the Hockey Club ineligible to receive funds. For these reasons, they want to be granted a class II charter for the academic years 1986-88.

Finally, a class IV charter was granted to the Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity for the academic years 1986-1988.

Well, who would have guessed, years ago when the Mets were falling down the cellar of the National League Eastern Division that we would all be sitting back enjoying the Mets and their World Series Championship of 1986!

When the Mets ran away with the NL East pennant race this year, Mets fans got a glimmer of hope that this might be our year. Two weeks ago, when they won the NL pennant, we were teased into wanting it all; suddenly we would accept nothing less than all the marbles. This Monday, when we were granted that, our dreams were fulfilled.

Yes, I know, we are using our editorial space to write about the Mets again. Yes, we are going to write on endlessly about this team that has captured the hearts of everyone (except those jealous Yankee fans) in the Metropolitan area. Why? For good reason. In some circles, the Mets have singlehandedly begun a new "era of good feeling."

This team has had such effect that ABC's Monday Night Football suffered its worst ratings ever. This was during a New Jersey Giants/Washington Redskins rivalry that would normally have attracted a huge share of the television market.

The Mets have so captured the hearts of New Yorkers and New Jerseyans that at the Giants football game, more than half the crowd was sporting Mets jerseys or television visors to keep in touch with Game 7 of the Series. When Mets pitcher Jesse Orosco struck out Boston's Marty Barrett to clinch the victory, Giants Stadium erupted with a roar. These were Giants fans watching a football game, yet their loudest crowd noise of the evening came because of the Mets-the team that now owns the New York area.

DURING Lionel Richie's concert at Madison Square Garden, fans erupted into a spontaneous cheer as the Mets rallied during Richie's "Lady." Richie was a sport about it, though, providing the crowd with inning-by-inning updates between songs. Clearly, these are not everyday occurrences for a typical baseball team.

Years from now, people will be asking each other, "Where were you when the 1986 Mets won the World Series?" Some suggest, and many hope, that this will be the start of a dynasty, and just the beginning of many more great things to come.

Star Wars-the "Crayola" shield

BOSTON—Until I saw the commercial, I had no idea that "Star Wars" was so simple even a kindergarten child could understand it. I thought you needed physics when all you really needed was Crayolas. The regular box of Crayolas, not even the giant size.

The 30-second television spot, brought to me courtesy of the Coalition for the Strategic Defense Initiative, changed all that. It opened with Crayola figures of Mom, Dad, and Spot. (I think it was Spot, though it might have been a small brown horse without a mane-hard to tell.) There was also a black Crayola house and a yellow Crayola sun.

While the school piano tinkled in the background, a little girl narrated her wonderful tale of ten Crayolas in search of national security, "I asked my daddy what this 'Star Wars' stuff is all about," she began. He said right now we can't protect ourselves from nuclear weapons and that's why the President wants to build the Peace Shield.

As she reported this, a white line appeared in a huge arc that covered the house, family, horse/dog and even the sun. This was the Crayola Peace Shield. The young narrator went on to explain how "it would stop missiles in outer space so they couldn't hit our house." On cue, little brown Crayola missiles bumped up against the white Crayola shield and were destroyed.

The girl concluded, "Then nobody could win a war and if nobody could win a war there's no reason to start one." With that, the shield turned into a rainbow and even the sun began to smile.

Frankly, I always like coloring, not to mention story hour at school. This tale had just enough truth in it to be of particular appeal. Creating a "Peace Shield" isn't really much harder, after all, than drawing a gigantic white line around the sun. The real sun. In fact instead of financing the Pentagon's efforts at "Star Wars," I think we should commission the artist Christo to wrap the United States the way he wrapped that island in Florida. It would be cheaper.

What is so artistic about the pro-SDI spot isn't just the coloring. It's the timing. The 30-second commercial has already been seen in Washington and the conservative coalition is planning to air it nationally in the next pre-

Music Chair protests The Montclarion's treatment of "Kiss Me, Kate"

To the Editor:
I attended last Friday’s performance of "Kiss Me, Kate" and was impressed with all aspects of the show. I found the orchestra as well as the singers to be quite fine, and wondered how Tony Bavaro could have written a negative review of the orchestra as he did in last week’s Montclarion. Upon inquiring, I discovered that he had attended a rehearsal of the show, not a performance.

I think that it is most unfair to write a review based upon attendance at a rehearsal, the purpose of which is to prepare for a performance. I assume that the purpose of printing a review in The Montclarion is to give the readers information on a performance. This cannot be accomplished by reviewing a rehearsal.

I hope that Tony Bavaro attended a performance of "Kiss Me, Kate" and would review that. That would allow him to present his assessment of the show fairly to both the readers of The Montclarion and to the students and faculty who have worked very hard to present a quality show.

Litterbugs, and their trash on the MSC campus, still an issue for concern

To the Editor:
The issue of litter should be of at least some interest to all those attending and working at MSC, because we’re faced with it everyday. I don’t see why people choose to throw garbage on the grounds of MSC (or anywhere else for that matter), instead of into the readily available garbage cans. What’s the deal? Haven’t you ever learned to respect nature or public property, or even to just clean up after yourselves? It’s really disgusting!

However, each and every one of us can do something to help stop the problem at MSC, and wherever we may go. All that you have to do is clean up after yourself. Show some respect for your surroundings and your fellow students at MSC, by taking your garbage (be it this newspaper, plastic cups, bottles and cans, butts, or candy wrappers), carrying it to the nearest garbage can, and dropping it through the opening.

By doing this simple maneuver we can surely improve the atmosphere at MSC and anywhere that we may go. Please try this next time you are faced with your garbage. I believe that you’ll find it relatively painless, and its consequences quite satisfying.

North Jersey spawns new generation of music

By Stacey Dunlevy

I can recall back in my prepubescent years, reading in Creem how other countries had flourishing music scenes and we, the United States (the country that originated rock and roll) had nothing... What little that writer knew... and how blind I was to believe him. In 1980 the signs of a new rock music scene were beginning to show and the music that we were experiencing... music that we had not heard before... was all the rage. New music scenes were in the making, New Jersey being one of them.

Thus was the beginning of the “Hoboken scene.” Lately, most of the individual music scenes are native to New Jersey, but the transplanted atmosphere of Greenwich Village has survived. The Bobbys, Feltz, and Cucumbers are a few of the established underground bands to have started their music career there. Former members of the band, The Trees, allowed the band to continue as a result. The band is comprised of three of the original members, Bob Bland, Mike Allman, and Stan King. The band is now touring throughout the region, playing at various clubs and venues. They are a great band, and I highly recommend them to anyone interested in rock music.

Music

The Hoboken music scene is thriving, and the bands are gaining popularity throughout the region. The bands are a mix of original music and covers of classic rock songs. The music is energetic and exciting, and the bands are not afraid to experiment with different sounds and styles.

Superstar Flashback

Zeppelin still flying high

By Chris Magee

Perhaps the greatest hard rock/ heavy metal band of all time, Led Zeppelin came onto the music scene in 1969 and rocketed to stardom by 1973. We proved how much we enjoyed their music by selling out every show and purchasing their albums in large numbers. Zeppelin’s albums seemed to be popular today as ever.

There have been many talented groups in the music industry (both past and present) but Led Zeppelin was more than just a great band. They were one of rock’s few true “supergroups”: a band whose influence has a far-reaching impact on the music industry and history. Creative music and live lyrics are also important ingredients to supergroup status. However, supergroups can also be defined as a group who has incredible success from beginning to end, consistently matching or exceeding their own high standard of musical quality.

Led Zeppelin’s first three albums (1969-1970) showed that hard rock was supposed to sound like. Jimmy Page and Co. were already sitting in the driver’s seat. Even the band’s sound was on the rise, thanks to the help of the band’s songwriting and performance. The success of the band’s albums was staggering, with total sales of over 20 million copies. Zeppelin’s albums have stood the test of time, and their influence continues to be felt today.

Music

Led Zeppelin’s music is as strong as ever. Their music has stood the test of time, and their influence continues to be felt today. Their music is as relevant as ever, and their legacy is secure.

In the spotlight: Winter Hours

By Stacey Dunlevy

Winter Hours is a local band which plays all too infrequently, but luckily the record that they’ve just released makes up for that. The band, a mix of rock and roll, features some of the most beautiful vocal lines and sensitive songwriting of any local band. The band is composed of several musicians, each contributing their own talents to the mix. The band has been garnering much attention for their musical talent and performances, and they are sure to be a hit with fans of all ages.

The satisfaction one receives from Winter Hours lies in the melodies. The band, “The Confessional,” and “Ten Minutes” have some of the most beautiful vocal lines and sensitive songwriting of any local band. The band is composed of several musicians, each contributing their own talents to the mix. The band has been garnering much attention for their musical talent and performances, and they are sure to be a hit with fans of all ages.

Funny things occur to visiting teams on homecoming day. MSC defeated its homecoming rival William Paterson 36-0, and defeated its 7-7-1 opponent on homecoming day. However, Salisbury State College (7-0) defeated the Indians 13-6 in their homecoming day matchup at Seagull Stadium in Maryland.

This was a battle between two similar teams. Many expected a battle of offenses, but the opposite occurred. A total of seven turnovers were committed by both teams and only three touchdowns were scored. Salisbury, with the win, is riding a 11-game win streak against the New Jersey Athletic Conference.

The Seagulls clearly controlled the first quarter. Salisbury opened the scoring on their second possession. The Sea­ gulls capped a 77-yard drive when quarterback Kevin White rolled three yards to his left untouched. Bill Maurer hit the extra point.

The Indians came up with exciting plays in the second quarter, but couldn't convert any into scores. They were stalling at SSG's 12-yard line at the half. Two highlights for MSC were Walter Briggs' 36-yard scramble and his 52-yard completion to Ed O'Sullivan. Briggs capped a 12-play, 84-yard scoring drive with a 33-yard field goal on the day, making his passing total on the season 1,847. The Indians trailed at halftime, though, 7-0.

The third quarter was a defensive battle. The Indians' three possessions resulted in stalling and loss on downs. The Seagulls didn't fare any better. They were intercepted and fumbled in two possessions. They could not capitalize on their third drive with 1:21 remaining. White scored his second touchdown on a six-yard scramble. The run finally a 12-play, 73-yard drive and made the score 13-0.

Snow was a physical, competitive match throughout. The Indians battled until the end and came up with one score. But couldn't get anymore. Briggs capped a 14-play drive which continued from the previous period, by throwing a 12-yard strike to Bryan Scipio. The Indians had two opportunities to tie or win the game, but couldn't score. Both of those possessions resulted in Briggs getting the turf on a sack. The last time was with 2:00 left in the game.

By Dennis Campbell

The MSC soccer team's 2-0 loss to Glassboro State Friday night at Sprague Field had the Indian team screaming foul play. Said MSC Assistant coach, Joe DeLarco, "The game was ruined by the officiating. I don't consider it a 2-0 loss at all. The game was just taken away from us by the officials."

The game had the entire Indian coaching staff seeing red, as three red cards were given to the team, resulting in three ejections from the game. When the dust had settled, a total of two fights, two players and one assistant coach ejections were recorded.

The action, though, was not complete, as the Indians were forced to play the game with only nine men yet played Glassboro (14-1-2) to a stand­ still. Losing two players in the first half of the game did not prove the fatal blow to the Indian team. What killed them was two hand balls called in the penalty area resulting in two penalty kicks. Glassboro converted both to collect their only goals and seal the victory.

The game started with both teams locked in a defensive struggle, was highlighted by tough man-to-man defenses. Glassboro State applied full court defensive pressure, neutralizing the MSC midfield and cutting off the Indians' line of attack.

At 16:01 Glassboro had their first scoring chance but MSC's Michael Notofero played off a defender and blocked the shot. Freshman goalee Howard Hyde kept the Indians in the game with great plays, including a crucial save on a breakaway attempt in which he came out to punch the ball away.

Temper flared at 37:29 as a few players were involved in a fistfight. When it was over MSC's Raymond Sterling and Robert Chesney were kicked out of the game, and the Indians found themselves at a two player disadvantage. Despite the loss of the two players, they kept up the pressure on the Glassboro team. Goalee Hyde said, "We played great with nine players. We played them even."

Hyde said the courage and confidence which the team displayed in being forced to play with nine players was overwhelming, but the team is using to putting adversity aside to come up with a fine performance.

"We play that way all the time," Hyde said. "This time though the referees just took the game away from us. I was really pumped up between the importance of the game and the refs. We wanted to take the action to them."

The second half started at a furious pace with Glassboro attacking and keeping the pressure on the Indian defense. The Profs almost scored when Hyde just got his fingers on a punishing shot that Vinny Niclosa cleared.

With Glassboro applying the pressure, Hyde came to the foreground. He was splendid in goal, keeping the Indians in the game. With the game looking as if it would go overtime a hand ball was called in the penalty area at 73:19 which the Glassboro team converted on to take a 1-0 lead.

That called incensed Delarco, who then had a heated debate with the officials, resulting in his ejection from the game.
