MSC banks on teller machine

By Paul Mampilly
Assignment Editor

First Jersey National Bank has installed an automatic teller machine in the student center to replace the Pilgrim State Bank.

Once Pilgrim notified MSC of its decision to move, the administration began soliciting proposals from banks in the area. Dr. Barry Cohen, assistant vice-president for finance, stressed that every effort was made to get a full service bank on campus but none of the banks solicited were willing to provide complete bank facilities at MSC.

According to Cohen, the bank selected because they were willing to provide the 'highest quality service at the least cost.' First Jersey was the only bank willing to install and maintain an ATM at no cost to MSC.

The contract signed between MSC and the bank, according to Cohen, on a one year renewable basis. A lease agreement at no cost to either MSC or First Jersey is in effect with regard to the space taken by the ATM. Cohen also stated that 'the bank is willing to install a second ATM machine depending on the volume of usage' on the machine currently installed.

When asked about the problem of vandalism and possible victimisation of students using the ATM, he said that at this time security measures were not yet worked out.

To use the ATM, students will have to open an account with the bank and acquire the necessary access card. The bank offers a choice of over 20 types of accounts, a convenient bank-by-phone feature and access to over 10,000 ATM's across the country. First Jersey also has full service offices in Montclair and Bloomfield.

Representatives of the First Jersey will be available in the residence halls and at SGA meetings.

The ATM at use:

Ken Kozikowski takes a crack at the latest in MSC banking while a Montclarion staff member looks on with interest.

Student steals SGA checks

By Lynn M. Cowan
News Editor

An ongoing investigation during the summer led to the arrest of an MSC student who stole SGA checks from the mail. The checks totaled $1,100 and were recovered when the student tried to cash them in a Rutherford bank. The case is currently awaiting trial.

An attempted burglary was halted when a Clove Road resident entered the room and found an unidentified person lifting the screen off the window.

Twenty-one student parking decals were stolen from the business office on Sept. 2. Witnesses said an unidentified male reached behind the unattended service desk's glass partition and took the decals.

On Sept. 4, a first-floor Stone Hall room was entered through its back window. Several anti-Semitic messages were written on the walls and a note left, addressed to one of the residents. The entry occurred sometime between 10 p.m. and 2 a.m.

Between 12 p.m. Sept. 4 and 8 a.m. Sept. 7, an unknown intruder entered Mallory Hall and tampered with a cigarette machine. Only a minor amount was reported stolen.

On Sept. 6 at 2 a.m., a pizza delivery man was attacked by several males in front of Blanton Hall. Several pizza pies were stolen.

On Sept. 8, at 12:20 a.m., a pizza deliveryer was knocked to the ground by three black males. The assailants fled the scene with a pizza and the deliveryer was taken to the Mountainside Hospital, Upper Montclair.
THE MSC SKI TEAM

will hold its first membership meeting on MONDAY, SEPT. 21, 1987
from 9-10pm in Rm. 411 of the Student Center

1986-1987
Mid Atlantic Regional Champs
The MSC Ski Team is a Class II Organization of the SGA

NEWMAN Catholic Campus Ministry

The Newman Center is located at 894 Valley Rd. and can be reached from campus by the stairs behind Morehead Hall near the new Academic Advising and Tutorial Center.
Office Hours are Monday to Friday, 8:30 am to 4:00 pm
On Campus extension: 7240
Main telephone: 746-2323

The Newman Community gathers for Mass on Sundays at 11 am in Kops Lounge of the Newman Center. Weekday Masses are posted in the Sunday bulletin.

*Sunday Mass starts September 13

WELCOME BARBECUE for returning, new and transfer students on Thursday September 17 at 5 pm (rain or shine)
at the Newman Center

All interested students are the invited guests.

Newman Catholic Campus Ministry is a student led Catholic group, chartered as a Class III Organization of the SGA, Inc., in which people come together in an open and innovative atmosphere for spiritual, educational and social growth. Newman is funded by the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Newark and private donations and has served MSC since 1950.

New Restaurant Opening
In Montclair!

Immediate Opportunities
Full or Part-Time

- Servers
- Hosts/Hostesses
- Bartenders

Previous experience desirable, however, excellent training is provided. We offer good starting pay, flexible hours, and a growth-oriented environment.

Apply in person Mon-Sat, 9am-5pm (until 8pm, Tues & Thurs):
J.B. Winberie Restaurant & Bar, (across from Hahne's) 30 S. Park St., Montclair, NJ. EOE.
Drop-In Center recruiting for Fall

Almost everyone who visits MSC wonders about the house located between the Student Center and Richardson Hall. That is the Drop-In Center, where student volunteers serve MSC and the surrounding communities by providing information, referrals, and a peer-counseling service 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

The Center is looking for students who would like to become staff member trainees. The Drop-In Center needs a high level of commitment both for training and as a regular staff member. This involves working at the Center, attending staff meetings, and being part of a committee.

The initial training will start on Sunday, Sept. 20, with an all-day workshop where the current staff members will explain the reflective style of listening and present some of the different types of calls received at the Drop-In Center.

During the following two weeks, the trainees will go through a series of role-plays to help them learn how to use the reflective style of listening in a peer counseling situation.

Role-playing is a technique in which the applicant assumes the role of the caller with a situation that may arise on an actual telephone call. A firm grasp of the empathetic active listening technique that will be demonstrated by the staff is an invaluable skill and can be applied to many areas of life. Those who adapt to this style of counseling will be invited to join the staff.

Parking rules

Various improvements were made to campus facilities this past summer which were designed to provide better parking and pedestrian safety.

Lot # 13, which serves as a joint student and visitor lot, has a newly constructed automatic gate and attendant booth. In the past, when meetings and conferences were held on campus, the lot was closed to all vehicles even though only a portion of it was required. With an attendant controlling incoming cars, both meeting members and students will have use of the lot.

More structures have been placed to prevent unauthorized vehicles from entering the pedestrian area. Parking capacity in the inner areas is extremely limited. When lined spaces are filled, no other vehicles will be permitted.

Tailgating issue rehashed again

A prescription contract has been signed between Signac Pharmacy of Little Falls and the SGA for the 1987-88 academic year. This enables any MSC student with a valid ID to receive prescriptions at a low discounted rate.

Information is available in the SGA office, located in the lower level of the Student Center or by calling 893-4202.

An appropriation of $470 dollars was granted to the Recreation Professions Club, a class II organization of the SGA. The money will be used for attending a meeting this weekend at Great Escape in Lake George, New York.

The little house between Richardson and the Student Center that is the Drop-In-Center

Following orientation, there are a series of workshops which focus on specific issues that may arise while working at the Center. These workshops are presented by professionals, and deal with such topics as suicide intervention, sexual assault, alcoholism and several other subjects. Each staff member is required to attend the workshops and be familiar with the techniques used in dealing with these situations.

Applications will be available at the Drop-In Center until Sept. 18. Students of all majors and ages are welcome to apply. For more information, call the Drop-In Center at 893-5217.

We know that a cheap calculator can cost you blood, sweat and time. Investing in a Hewlett-Packard calculator, on the other hand, can save you time and again.

HP calculators not only have better functions. They function better. Without sticking keys and bad connections.

Through October 31, you can get the cream of the calculators at a non-fat price. Were cutting $10 off the HP-12C. That buys you more builtin functions than anyone else's financial calculator.

And were giving away a free Advantage Module, a $49 value, with every HP-41 Advanced Scientific calculator you buy.

This 12K-byte plug-in, menu-driven ROM was designed specially for students. So drop by your campus bookstore and compare HP calculators with the rest. By midterm, you'll see what a deal this is.

FREE $49 HP-41 ADVANTAGE MODULE with purchase of HP-41. Purchase must be made between August 15, 1987 and October 31, 1987. See your local HP dealer for details and official redemption form. Retail or free Module will be sent in 6-8 weeks.

OR $30 OFF AN HP-12C.
HELP WANTED
Days, Evenings, Weekends
bus people,
counter help, cashiers
for more information please call
744-3800

MEET PING CHONG
SEPT. 4, 1 TO 4 P.M.
LIFE HALL A125

PERFORMANCE ART
WORK SHOP
OCT. 2, 9, 16, 23, 30,
AT LIFE HALL A125

INDEPENDENT STUDY
CREDIT
For further Information contact your department.
A program of the Governor's Challenge For Excellence Grant. School of Fine and Performing Arts.

Sponsored by the SGA
The agony of buying books.
The painful exchange of money-for-books takes place again at the college store.

Applications for Teacher Education Program available through September—Office of Teacher Education, Chapin Hall, Room 003.

Monday September 14, 1987 at 7 and 9 pm
Student Center Ballrooms

only $1.00 w/MSO 9D
$1.50 w/o

Career Services offering job-hunting opportunities

In the past, occupational choice was restricted by class, sex, race or social position. Several factors, including educational opportunities and laws against discrimination have eliminated these barriers to selecting a career.

Career counselors in the Career Services office help students identify their skills, interests, and values during individual or group sessions. Current articles and books on thousands of job titles can be found in the extensive career library to further aid students.

Information is also available about employment trends, salaries, qualifications and the prospects for a particular career.

A student will also have the opportunity to speak with people who are working in their field of interest.

Career Services' Alumni Network has over 300 graduates who volunteer their time to provide information on future career possibilities.

The Career Services office is located in the Student Center Annex, Room 104 and is open daily from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., and on Thursday from 8:30 a.m. to 8:00 p.m.

Appointments are not necessary to use the library and look at the part-time and full-time job listings.

All career planning and job-hunting seminars require no pre-registration. Individual hour-long counseling sessions need to be scheduled in advance.

There will be drop-in hours beginning the week of Sept. 28 every Monday and Wednesday from 10:00 a.m. to 12 noon and every Tuesday afternoon from 2:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. Any career concern can be discussed with a counselor at that time without an appointment.

Schedule Review
Students should review their schedules to check for any discrepancies and report them as soon as possible to the Registrar.

Failure to resolve schedule conflicts will result in no credit or failing grades in some courses. All registration corrections must be made by Oct. 1, 1987.

Within seven days after Educaid receives your correctly completed application, your GSL (Guaranteed Student Loan) check will be on its way to your school.

This applies to GSL's guaranteed by HEAF (Higher Education Assistance Foundation).

GSL's guaranteed by NJHEA (New Jersey Higher Education Assistance Authority) take a few days longer.

See your FAO (Financial Aid Officer) and ask for Educaid or call us and we'll send you an application.

PLEASE NOTE:
1. Be patient with your financial aid officers. They are overworked.
2. Students and parents are advised not to call your aid officer.
3. Federal regulations prohibit lenders from releasing GSL checks earlier than 30 days prior to the start of the loan period.
4. Also available are PLUS (Parent Loans for Undergraduate Students) and SLS (Supplemental Loans to Students).
SCUTTLEBUTT'S

MONDAY NIGHT FOOTBALL

4 BEERS FOR $1

4 T.V.'S

KITCHEN OPEN ALL NIGHT

400 CENTER ST.
NUTLEY, NJ

661-2026

FUMBLES

WEDNESDAY NIGHT MONTCLAIR STATE NIGHT

MIESTER BRAU NIGHT

$5 ALL YOU CAN DRINK DJ JIMMY BOND

SATURDAY NIGHT DRINK ROULETTE NIGHT SPIN THE WHEEL AND THAT'S THE PRICE YOU PAY!

546-4446

IT'S BACK!!

THE STUDENT DIRECTORY IS IN THE WORKS!!

IF YOU DON'T WANT TO BE INCLUDED, PLEASE FILL OUT THIS FORM AND RETURN IT TO THE SGA OFFICE (STUDENT CENTER ANNEX, RM. 103) DEADLINE: OCT. 30, 1987

I DO NOT WANT THE FOLLOWING LISTED IN THE STUDENT DIRECTORY

NAME
ADDRESS
PHONE NUMBER

NAME____________________ S.S.#________________
The Drop-In Center, (an information, referral and peer counseling service) is staffed entirely by student volunteers. The caliber of the services offered to the student body cannot be maintained without you. If you want to help people, learn more about yourself, and do something constructive with your time for 10 hours (min.) a week, this could be the toughest non-paying job you have ever loved. While the training is rigorous and the commitment level high, the experience will be carried throughout your life. The Drop-In Center is a good place to grow for students of all majors. We will teach you the lost art of listening as you learn by doing.

In-service instruction will include: On-campus referrals, Bus and Rail routing, Psychological referrals, Health referrals, Sexual Health referrals and Publicity.

Workshops
Suicide Intervention
Peter Maramaldi
M.S.W., M.P.H.

Sexual Assault
Dr. Susan Esquelin
Psychologist with the C.O.R.T.S. program

Alcohol Abuse
Susan Nobleman
M.A., C.A.C

Feedback
Dr. Wayne Bond
MSC Speech and Theatre Department
Noted author, lecturer and communications expert

AIDS Task Force

Human Sexuality
Caroline Cooperman
M.H.S./H.E.

The Montclarion/Thurs., Sept. 10, 1987
editorial

Do you really get what you pay for?

Everybody is looking for something. At least that seems to be the case here at MSC. In the last three or four years MSC has been in pursuit of excellence and it's starting to show. Unfortunately, it's more on one end than the other.

The college has become more selective in its admissions. Higher S.A.T. scores, better high school transcripts, personal statements, and even school districts are pushing up the norm for selection criteria. The results are brighter, more competitive, and ambitious students. These are the students who will improve the image of MSC with their greater potential.

 Ironically enough, the potential of MSC is what's restricting its image. It's up to the college to fulfill its end of the bargain. After all, students are looking for something, too.

Here at MSC we have some of the best and brightest faculty members. But too often, students are forced to select the nameless and faceless "Staff" instructors for class. When it comes down to it adjuncts just don't provide the support a student seeks outside the classroom.

Each year students are faced with the dilemma of signing up for courses around a number of criteria. Trying to cope with major courses, GER courses and work schedules is difficult enough without professors' insistence on teaching only when it's convenient. The Montclarion stresses the need for faculty and administration to adjust to needs of the college's changing student population.

To compound the situation, we discover in the middle of July that our course request from April cannot be filled because of cancellations or too many requests. In-person registration is that last-ditch effort to save a schedule from ruins of the Registrar's Office. Hence, we continue to wait patiently for computers which will bring us into the modern age.

When it comes down to it, we received a 10% increase in tuition. We're entitled to demand something for our money. All we've achieved so far is the creation of the hardest mediocre school to get into. It's about time our money was spent wisely on a worthwhile cause.

------------------

Jennifer G. Stelevich
Pasquale DiFulco
Wally Accuna
Kenny Peck

The Montclarion is published weekly, except during examination, summer and winter sessions. It is funded, in part, by funds received from the Student Government Association, Inc. of Montclair State College. Advertising rates are available upon request in Room 113 of the Student Center Annex, or by calling the business department (201) 893-5237. The views expressed in the editorial pages, with the exception of the main editorial, do not necessarily reflect the opinion of The Montclarion.

------------------

BOSTON — Let me admit, right off the bat, that my offspring are not perfect. How many people will say that in public? Though I have raised them from infancy, nurtured them, spared neither expense nor affection in their upbringing, they have their flaws and I know it.

To take the two before me, both thoroughly mature. I must admit that their shape and complexion are just a bit off. They bear some scars, a bit of discoloration. They are a touch misshapen and carry internal marks of a genetic background that is, well, anomalous.

But when you are in the tomato-raising business, looks aren't everything. Taste is everything. These are my Big Boys.

Years ago, when I first planted a victory garden (a victory over rocks, bits of glass, and carbon monoxide), I brought forth from the reluctant urban soil a much wider variety of species. I cared for an entire nursery of eggplants, green peppers, lettuce, snap peas and green beans. I had my successes and failures in this venture.

But two years ago, it occurred to me that all I really wanted anymore were tomatoes. And more tomatoes. This being the era of reproductive targeting, I decided to get what I wanted. I went back to basics and Big Boys.

Now I spend my late-summer weeks harvesting and devouring the only fruit that matters: My husband believes that I reserve my most severe mortal dissatisfaction with limits. Our consumer impatience is such that we regard seasons as nothing more than an arbitrary barrier to overcome. We have come to expect, to demand, year-round uniform access to the things we like. We want everything, everywhere and always.

The marketplace whets and fills this demand. When the harvest begins, spending enormous time and energy in order to create and distribute a strain of corn suitable for starching shirts, a cantaloupe useful for bowling and an entire orange shotput collection.

We have more and more fruits and vegetables whose only claim is their shelf life. Color them plastic.

The desire to shatter the seasonal barrier doesn't just affect edibles and inedibles. It is the assumption behind Yuletide in Key West and tanning salons in Burlington, VT.

My ultimate out of season experience occurred in an air-conditioned shopping mall on a humid day in Houston. There, this New Englander stood transfixed watching people in shorts and halters going around and around an ice skating rink. Yes, I said to myself, they were skating on ice. No this was not ice skating. Not the real thing.

As for tomatoes— the fruit, not the metaphor— I am grateful for the failure of agribusiness to market a palatable winter variety of the species. The tomato is not a fruit for all seasons, but that rarity of modern life: something rooted in its natural space, a backyard on a warm August afternoon.

Ellen Goodman is a syndicated columnist.
CLASS 1 CONCERTS
VOYAGER IV

PRESENTS
THE LASER LIGHT ROCK CONCERT
FEATURING MUSIC BY:

LED ZEPPELIN,
PINK FLOYD,
THE POLICE,
3 GENESIS

MEMORIAL AUDITORIUM
TIME: 7:00 AND 9:00 P.M.

SEPT. 15th
TUESDAY
TICKETS:
$3.00 w/ MSC ID
$5.00 w/ out

CLASS 1 CONCERTS TICKETS ON SALE WED. SEPT. 9th 9:00 AM
STUDENT CENTER INFORMATION DESK
CIC IS A CLASS I OF THE SGA
By Roy Nelson

Correspondent

In 1986, Todd Rundgren proved to the musical world that he could create an album complete with musical arrangements entirely sans musical instruments (A Capella). In 1987, Rundgren went one step further and proved he could take his show live and create his same brand of eclectic pop completely sans musicians (The "TR in '88-Am I President Yet?" Tour).

And not surprisingly for those who have charted his unusual career, he's two-for-two.

Touring solo is not something new for Rundgren, a pop veteran of twenty years now. However, in the past, he has been naturally, limited to acoustic acts or those with guest musicians and such. This time around, there was no compromise; Rundgren infused modern technology into his show to create something very unique.

Armed with a 'band' consisting of himself, a single synthesizer, four guitars (two acoustic, two electric), Commodore and Macintosh computers and the newest in software, Rundgren pulled off another coup last Thursday at Club Bene Dinner Theatre in South Amboy.

Since it's really the opening night of the tour, Rundgren came out looking tired, but relaxed. His show was not flawless, but neither did it seem to matter. This wasn't going to be an exhibition of raw talent, but rather a show. And Rundgren was there to do more than sing. He was there to entertain, and he didn't let anyone down.

Rundgren certainly didn't cheat the crowd in terms of time, as he performed for close to two and a half hours. He interspersed his two dozen-or-so songs with hilarious commentaries on the political and musical communities, taking good rips at everyone from Ronald Reagan ("I don't think he knows his brain is leaking out of his head") to Madonna ("I don't buy that but about her being the Marilyn Monroe of the '80's, because I know she really the Einstein of the '80's,") and Michael Jackson ("Hey, he, bad; Michael bad"); to himself and his band, and thought Utopia was going to be the biggest band in the country so what do I know?).

It was Rundgren's versatility despite the apparent limitations of performing solo that really highlighted the evening. The rapport he had with his audience was unparalleled by any act this reviewer has seen. The intimacy between him and his crowd was fabulous. The entire club served as Rundgren's stage, its cozy atmosphere and shallow ceilings proliferated the living room effect. Rundgren took advantage of the comfortable setting, talking to the fans as if they were personal friends-again something very unusual in today's cold, impersonal, hour-and-a-half performance world.

Rundgren opened the show with three acoustic guitar songs- "Lovin' the Common Man," (1964), "There Goes My Inspiration" (1982), and "Lysistrata" (1980). It was an effective setting, and has given Rundgren the pseudo-love songs a new vibrance and life, considering the age of the material, the instrumentation, and his single guitar, and the fact that it was the final night of the tour.

Rundgren then stepped back to the keyboard and played, not without error, "Too Far Gone" (1975) and "Song of the Viking" (1972). It was then that the show began to open up musically. Rundgren incorporated his computer center stage and unveiled the software. He performed the love, "Mated," from Utopia's 1985 album, "ROY," and an equally sharp-edged "Love in Action," from Utopia's "Oops, Wrong Planet" of 1978. Surprisingly, the show didn't die, but got even more optimistic "One World," from Utopia's "Oops..."

Rundgren finished the night with his shows, but only with marginal success. He served as his own stage manager, in reality, as he continually repositioned his solitary video camera (one time focused on his bare foot for a whole song), and prepared the data for each number.

Two of the highlights from the first set came back-to-back. Rundgren unveiled "The Smell of Money," from his upcoming Off-Broadway Musical "Up Against It," from the original screenplay written for the Beatles' fourth movie by Joe Orton. Rundgren's performance of the song itself seemed worthy for a part in the play, but we'll leave that to the casting director.

By Diane Thomas

Correspondent

Alison Moyet played her first American show in years Thursday night at the Beacon Theatre in New York City and the only way to describe her tour is triumphant! Tickets had been sold out for weeks, and the Beacon had just extended the run. Moyet seemed to be nothing but loyal followers from almost every phase of her career; the Yar, era, the Alf and Raindancing solo albums, and the classic R & B performing that Europe has come to love in the past few years.

The show opened with "Love Resuscitation" and anticipation was carefully manipulated by a long introduction with a bare guitar solo by tour member Mr. Taylor (no relation to any of the Duran's, by the way). Moyet certainly looked happy to be there, and was draped simply and comfortably in a long black tunic and black pants, topped off by a black blouse and a shimmering cover of Otis Redding's "Try A Little Tenderness."

The only slow point to the show was rendition of "No Me Quite Pas," a very emotional song that would have had a better impact if the audience present actually spoke. Though most of the night was dedicated to the older music, "No Me Quite Pas" was a disappointment, either. Moyet performed "Only You," which brought the audience to its feet in the first few notes, "Don't Go," similarly well received, and what was to become the ultimate encore act, "Situation."

Midway through "Situation," in a stage maneuver vaguely reminiscent of the Von Trapps in The Sound of Music, Moyet unveiled "The Smell of Money," from his upcoming Off-Broadway Musical "Up Against It," from the original screenplay written for the Beatles' fourth movie by Joe Orton. Rundgren's performance of the song itself seemed worthy for a part in the play, but we'll leave that to the casting director.

Rundgren followed that song with his sincere and moving tribute to Marvin Gaye, "Lost Horizon," from A Capella Rundgren finished off the set with computer data and the anhematic "Drive," from his 1982 release The Ever-Popular Tortured Artist's Euph, and a relatively optimistic "One World," from Utopia's "Oops..."

Rundgren finished the night with his shows, but only with marginal success. He served as his own stage manager, in reality, as he continually repositioned his solitary video camera (one time focused on his bare foot for a whole song), and prepared the data for each number.

Two of the highlights from the first set came back-to-back. Rundgren unveiled "The Smell of Money," from his upcoming Off-Broadway Musical "Up Against It," from the original screenplay written for the Beatles' fourth movie by Joe Orton. Rundgren's performance of the song itself seemed worthy for a part in the play, but we'll leave that to the casting director.

By Roy Nelson

Correspondent

In 1986, Todd Rundgren proved to the musical world that he could create an album complete with musical arrangements entirely sans musical instruments (A Capella). In 1987, Rundgren went one step further and proved he could take his show live and create his same brand of eclectic pop completely sans musicians (The "TR in '88-Am I President Yet?" Tour).

And not surprisingly for those who have charted his unusual career, he's two-for-two.

Touring solo is not something new for Rundgren, a pop veteran of twenty years now. However, in the past, he has been naturally, limited to acoustic acts or those with guest musicians and such. This time around, there was no compromise; Rundgren infused modern technology into his show to create something very unique.

Armed with a 'band' consisting of himself, a single synthesizer, four guitars (two acoustic, two electric), Commodore and Macintosh computers and the newest in software, Rundgren pulled off another coup last Thursday at Club Bene Dinner Theatre in South Amboy.

Since it's really the opening night of the tour, Rundgren came out looking tired, but relaxed. His show was not flawless, but neither did it seem to matter. This wasn't going to be an exhibition of raw talent, but rather a show. And Rundgren was there to do more than sing. He was there to entertain, and he didn't let anyone down.

Rundgren certainly didn't cheat the crowd in terms of time, as he performed for close to two and a half hours. He interspersed his two dozen-or-so songs with hilarious commentaries on the political and musical communities, taking good rips at everyone from Ronald Reagan ("I don't think he knows his brain is leaking out of his head") to Madonna ("I don't buy that but about her being the Marilyn Monroe of the '80's, because I know she really the Einstein of the '80's,") and Michael Jackson ("Hey, he, bad; Michael bad"); to himself and his band, and thought Utopia was going to be the biggest band in the country so what do I know?).

It was Rundgren's versatility despite the apparent limitations of performing solo that really highlighted the evening. The rapport he had with his audience was unparalleled by any act this reviewer has seen. The intimacy between him and his crowd was fabulous. The entire club served as Rundgren's stage, its cozy atmosphere and shallow ceilings proliferated the living room effect. Rundgren took advantage of the comfortable setting, talking to the fans as if they were personal friends-again something very unusual in today's cold, impersonal, hour-and-a-half performance world.

Rundgren opened the show with three acoustic guitar songs- "Lovin' the Common Man," (1964), "There Goes My Inspiration" (1982), and "Lysistrata" (1980). It was an effective setting, and has given Rundgren the pseudo-love songs a new vibrance and life, considering the age of the material, the instrumentation, and his single guitar, and the fact that it was the final night of the tour.

Rundgren then stepped back to the keyboard and played, not without error, "Too Far Gone" (1975) and "Song of the Viking" (1972). It was then that the show began to open up musically. Rundgren incorporated his computer center stage and unveiled the software. He performed the love, "Mated," from Utopia's 1985 album, "ROY," and an equally sharp-edged "Love in Action," from Utopia's "Oops, Wrong Planet" of 1978. Surprisingly, the show didn't die, but got even more optimistic "One World," from Utopia's "Oops..."

Rundgren finished the night with his shows, but only with marginal success. He served as his own stage manager, in reality, as he continually repositioned his solitary video camera (one time focused on his bare foot for a whole song), and prepared the data for each number.

Two of the highlights from the first set came back-to-back. Rundgren unveiled "The Smell of Money," from his upcoming Off-Broadway Musical "Up Against It," from the original screenplay written for the Beatles' fourth movie by Joe Orton. Rundgren's performance of the song itself seemed worthy for a part in the play, but we'll leave that to the casting director.

By Diane Thomas

Correspondent

Alison Moyet played her first American show in years Thursday night at the Beacon Theatre in New York City and the only way to describe her tour is triumphant! Tickets had been sold out for weeks, and the Beacon had just extended the run. Moyet seemed to be nothing but loyal followers from almost every phase of her career; the Yar, era, the Alf and Raindancing solo albums, and the classic R & B performing that Europe has come to love in the past few years.

The show opened with "Love Resuscitation" and anticipation was carefully manipulated by a long introduction with a bare guitar solo by tour member Mr. Taylor (no relation to any of the Duran's, by the way). Moyet certainly looked happy to be there, and was draped simply and comfortably in a long black tunic and black pants, topped off by a black blouse and a shimmering cover of Otis Redding's "Try A Little Tenderness."

The only slow point to the show was rendition of "No Me Quite Pas," a very emotional song that would have had a better impact if the audience present actually spoke. Though most of the night was dedicated to the older music, "No Me Quite Pas" was a disappointment, either. Moyet performed "Only You," which brought the audience to its feet in the first few notes, "Don't Go," similarly well received, and what was to become the ultimate encore act, "Situation."
Before you choose a long distance service, take a close look.

You may be thinking about choosing one of the newer carriers over AT&T in order to save money. Think again.

Since January 1987, AT&T's rates have dropped more than 15% for direct-dialed out-of-state calls. So they're lower than you probably realize. For information on specific rates, you can call us at 1 800 222-0300.

And AT&T offers clear long distance connections, operator assistance, 24-hour customer service, and immediate credit for wrong numbers. Plus, you can use AT&T to call from anywhere to anywhere, all over the United States and to over 250 countries.

You might be surprised at how good a value AT&T really is. So before you choose a long distance company, pick up the phone.

FOR SALE

1973 Plymouth Valiant, 4-door, Automatic transmission, 225 cu. in., 6 cylinder engine, Disc brakes, tinted windshield, good-mechanical condition, price by phone or mail. 730-1500. Call 744-7340.

Smith-Corona electronic typewriter. Features include 50,000 word built-in dictionary (pre-programmed), one-line correction system and 3K for storing documents. Typewriter in excellent condition. $190.

Mustang-1975 $500 or best offer. Needs some body work. Good 'beat around' car or first car. Contact Cindi 783-2494

CLASSIFIEDS
The TI Business Analyst-Solar has all the right functions to help you get down to business.

Is your present calculator good enough to make it in business? Probably not. That's why we made the TI BA-Solar. The BA-Solar provides you with preprogrammed functions for the interest, loans, real estate, bond, pricing and profit problems you'll find throughout your business courses.

The BA-Solar speeds you through your assignments because the preprogrammed functions execute many business formulas at the push of a single key.

And not only does the BA-Solar give you higher finance, it gives you higher technology. The TI BA-Solar is the only financial calculator with solar capabilities. Thanks to TI's Anylite Solar™ technology, you can use the BA-Solar in any lowlight conditions.

So get your own BA-Solar at your bookstore today. After all, the last thing you want to do in business is take any unnecessary risks.

—Will meet your REASONABLE deadline typing your resumes...term papers...doctorate thesis...statistical reports. Professional job at REASONABLE rates. Dictaphone service also available! Call Claudia at 777-4925 after 5:30 p.m. during the week or anytime on weekends. Passaic County.

—Female wanted to share 4 bedroom apt. with three others. Good location close to campus and public transportation. Please call 746-3531, leave message.

—Typing/Word Processing charge by the page. Editing charge by the hour. Special rates for students. Call Donna G. 744-7963 —Serious Acting Class-No experience necessary. Explore your talent. Thurs. Sept. 17-Oct. 29 at 7 pm to 9 pm. YMCA; Montclair Call 744-3400, $20 fee.

—Oren, thanks for the edit and Ellen, I can always count on you.

—Wanted - Advisor, must be approximately 5'7", with a nice smile, vaguely resemble Bruce Willis, and answers to the name JIIIIIIIIIIIIIIIIIIIII!!!

cont. on p. 14
PERSONALS

— On Sept. 12, 1987 at 8 p.m., listen to history happen on 101.5 WMSC—FM. Metallic Rose welcomes Angel as the new Mistress of Metal.
— Steven-To someone who lives outside my life, you still live inside my heart. Happy 22nd birthday. Love, Jennifer.
— Pledge TKE fraternity. The only international fraternity on campus.
— Hey! Do you want to improve your campus experience? Then join TKE fraternity.
— Erin, Luay, Dye and Patty—Look out! This semester's going to be great.
— Anna Woman—Congratulations! You're in IOTA! Love, your W.O. buddy Alyssa.
— Nina—Few words can express how I feel about you. I'll just use these: I love you, come back to me. Love, Nice.
— Laurie—When the days look cloudy and the nights are too dark, we'll still have each other. You're my best friend. Love forever, Pasquale.
— Russ (Bohn 11th floor)—I met a cute guy from Bohn and he's nice too! Stop by sometime, our mutual friend (L.R.) knows where you can reach me. Your new friend...
— Murphy—Congratulations on your promotion. You'll do great—you always do. Love, LC — To that guy—I don't like you either!
— To Mr. Firecracker of Bohn—Go back home or even preschool. Why don't you just grow up? If you think all those loud bangs at 4 am Wed were funny, think twice. You definitely fit the category of a major DWEEB.
— Dino—Why, because you're so cute? Love you, Luisa.

Datebook

Sunday 9/13
— Bowling team tryouts; sponsored by Bowling Club; Bowler City, Hackensack, NJ; 3 p.m.; For more information, call 783-1788.

Wednesday 9/16
— Rush Dinner; sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega (APO); Newman House; 6 p.m.; Interested in making new friends? Come join APO! (A Class IV of the SGA).

RENT-A-ROOMMATE.

Now you can have a roommate you're guaranteed to get along with. And all you have to do is call Granada TV Rental.

At Granada, companionship comes cheap. When you rent 'til the end of the school year, your student I.D. gets you a Magnavox or RCA color TV, or VCR, for as little as $17.95—$29.95 a month. And our incredible combo offer—a TV, VCR and stand—for just $34.95 a month.

And, let's face it, you don't have to have a Ph.D. in economics to realize they're the best deals around.

What's more, our low rates also include free service and repairs, usually within 24 hours. And if we can't fix it on the spot, we'll give you a free loaner.

So give us a call today and Let us set you up with an ideal roommate. Just think, if it ever gets on your nerves, you can simply shut it off.

GRANADA TV RENTAL

THE BEST BUYS IN RENTING.

FOR INFORMATION CALL: (201) 672-1500

*Delivery charge not included in above rates. Application subject to credit qualification."
The stars shine at MSC

Traditions are a high priority at MSC and the athletic programs are a major part of this tradition. Championship teams, All-Americans, and competitive contests are easily found on campus.

Walter Briggs, who set the state record for passing yardage last season, was impressive as a free agent in the New York Jets camp this past summer. Although he was recently released, he is awaiting another opportunity to showcase his talents. He will certainly get his chance in the near future.

Baseball's Jim Fasano finally captured the World Series Championship ring he dreamed of for the past four years. Fasano showed support, leadership, and gritty determination in leading the Indians to a National Championship. His career batting average of .387 set a new school record. He also established career records for runs scored (149), hits (199), and total bases (313).

The Jet's Journal

Perry Schwarz

The Detroit Tigers recognized these qualities and talents and have given him the opportunity to play Class A ball in their organization. Fasano will report to Lakeland, Florida next March. "I know I'll be faced with the same challenge in spring training of proving that I can play," said Fasano. "It's no different than at Montclair State. I'll just have to prove myself again."

Another baseball star, junior John Deutsch, is expected to be a high draft choice with a major league club when he becomes eligible in the upcoming months.

The MSC softball team finished with a 34-10 record and made it to the World Series, where they finished a very respectable fourth. The team consisted of no less than five All-Americans, including pitcher Dina DeAquino, catcher Marge Theobald, first baseman Tracey Burke, second baseman Linda Giarrusso, and left fielder Andrea Peters. It was the second time that Peters and Theobald were selected to the All-America squad.

Gail Meneghin, Pam Rousell, Tabitha Jacobs, Cindy Strodel and Kim Muller received All-American honors for the swim team. The team placed sixth in the Division III nationals last year.

New students at MSC should become part of the school's tradition, either as a fan or an athlete. The sports programs will once again be a dominating factor on campus and one should take the plunge in getting involved. This college has one of the finest Division III programs in the nation, so come on out and show your support.

Scouting report: The Seahawks

By Kenny Peck
Sports Editor

The Wagner Seahawks, coming off a 14-0 victory over the William Paterson Pioneers last week, invade Sprague Field Saturday night to take on MSC. It will be the opening game of the year for the Indians.

A big factor in Saturday's game is whether or not junior tailback Terry Underwood will see action. Underwood went down with a deep shoulder bruise and is listed as questionable for the game. If he is not able to play, it will seriously compromise Wagner's chances.

The offensive line for Wagner, which averages about 253 pounds, is led by two All-American candidates in Rich Negrin and Aaron Campbell.

Heading the offense will be first-year starter Greg Kovac, a key matchup for the Indians to key.

The Seahawks defense is an experienced group led by the defensive front of Rich Robin-son, George Gaspar, Troy Henry and Ron Langella. The ability of MSC's offensive line to handle this group may prove vital.

Head Coach Walt Hameline picked up career victory number 50 with last week's win against William Paterson last week but Robb will be more of a challenge for him.

MSC QB Leon Kosowski vs. Wagner secondary-Kosowski is inexperienced, and the Seahawks secondary is full of veterans. It will be a good test for him.
The MSC Football team works out in preparation for their upcoming season. First stop: Wagner. The Indians took last season's opening game from the Seahawks by a score of 28-14 on their way to their seventh straight New Jersey Athletic Conference championship. See the Wagner scouting report on page 15.

The MSC Football team young but talented; Season kicks off Saturday vs. Wagner

By Perry Schwarz
Staff Writer

The 1987 football season kicks off for MSC Saturday against non-conference rival Wagner College, and the Indians are counting on a few of their “question marks” to lead the way.

Sophomore Leon Kisowski seems to be more of an answer than a question mark as he takes over the duties of running MSC’s high-powered offense. The vacancy was created with the graduation of Walter Briggs, a state record holder with 7378 career passing yards.

“I am confident Leon will get the ball to the right people,” Head Coach Rick Giancola said. “I don’t think it’s fair to compare him with Walter or Mark Casale (the MSC quarterback before Briggs). They are all unique individuals, but statistically I feel Leon has the potential to be better than both of the former quarterbacks.” Enough said.

Kisowski will have plenty of help moving the offense, as the MSC backfield is as solid as they come. Junior Leroy Horn returns from abanner baseball season at halfback, and senior Ed Hernandez joins him to form a very powerful tandem. The Indians have another weapon in veteran Ed Peddicord, who will also see plenty of time.

The offensive line will be anchored by returners Mike Darcy, Ernie Giampietro and Doug Robb. The leadership they provide is probably their most important contribution, although the size and strength they add will certainly not hurt.

The receiving corps will be led by returning junior Amod Field, a track and field All-American. Sophomore Mike Scott and junior Dexter Hairston will also see action at the split end position.

The 1987 football season is made up of underclassmen,” Giancola said. “We have 10 seniors, but the young players will contribute to this club in some facet. The coaching staff and I are going to place the players in the best possible positions so that we can get the productivity and performance needed to be successful.”

New coach leads the way

Soccer team heads into new season

By Dennis Campbell
Staff Writer

This year signals a new beginning for Montclair State soccer. With the addition of a new coach and the graduation of veteran players, this season promises to be a challenging one for the Indians.

Dave Masur, former member of the Chicago Sting and Toledo Pride of the Major Indoor Soccer League, replaces Tony Atillo as MSC head coach. Masur comes to Montclair State with a proven record of excellence. He was the captain of the 1983 undefeated Rutgers University soccer team, and he recently completed two years as assistant coach at Rutgers.

Masur acknowledges that this year’s team is made up primarily of sophomores, but sees the opportunity to mold the players into his style of play. With this in mind, Masur says, the mood of the team is upbeat. Along with assistants Mark Edelstein and Angelo Pallotta, his outlined goal is to instill the attitude and determination of Division I soccer into the MSC program.

Co-captain Mike Nothofer says of the team, “We are much improved from last year as we have a good group of experienced players returning to the team.”

Nothofer sees the teamwork being much better as a result of the early conditioning work and the rigorous practices that the team has been put through. “Everyone has put in a lot of time and effort so far, with early morning and night practices,” he says. “The dedication will definitely pay off this season.”

Defensively, the Indians are not as experienced as Giancola would like, but there is a solid crop of returners and a good nucleus to build on. Dave Harris and Ulyses Del Rio lead the secondary unit, while the brother combination of Miguel and John Hernandez will return to head the linebacking corps.

Harris will especially be in a leadership position as he will be calling the signals for the secondary, thus playing a major role for some of the defense’s younger players.

The kicking game is an obvious Indian strongpoint. Kickers Tony Colasuordo and punter Paul Castiglia return, giving MSC a distinct advantage over most opponents. Each were selected to the All-Conference team last season.

New coaches also grace this season’s roster. Bill Johnson will assume defensive coordinating duties in addition to coaching the defensive line. Rich Bello will handle the outside linebackers, Bob Daily will return to MSC as the secondary coach and Ed Agresta will handle the inside linebackers.

“The bulk of this year’s team is made up of underclassmen,” Giancola said. “We have 10 seniors, but the young players will contribute to this club in some facet. The coaching staff and I are going to place the players in the best possible positions so that we can get the productivity and performance needed to be successful.”

New coach leads the way

Sports team heads into new season

By Perry Schwarz
Staff Writer

The Indians open the season against Mercy, who recently tied #5 ranked Seton Hall, followed by meetings with Division II powerhouse East Stroudsburg, and Glassboro State, ranked in the Division III top ten.

The coach stresses that his goal is to take the soccer program to the Division I level. With the school’s facilities, its academic standards, and the reputation and assistance of its athletic department, this goal seems within reach.