Dr. Ruth talks sex at MSC

By Mike Bullerdick

Therapist that sexual myths continue because the 6% of people who adhere to a conservative philosophy that dates back to America's puritan and Victorian past. "Human sexuality should be taught by parents in the homes, and teachers in the schools and by religious leaders in religious institutions," she said.

"I don't want a kindergarten teacher to say tomorrow morning, 'one, two, three children, pull down your pants, I'm going to teach you how to masturbate.'"

In answer to criticisms of her show, Westheimer said, "anybody who doesn't like the show because of the language or the content can move the dial."

She defended her branch of psychology, defining it as one that is "based on scientifically validated data. Sexual therapy is a short term behavioral therapy that is concentrated in the areas of human sexuality - all homework is done at home," she said.

Later in the program, Westheimer addressed the controversial issue of abortion. She believes in abortion as long as it is not used as a contraceptive. "I am not a theologian, I am not a politician. I'm talking as an educator and from where I stand, abortion must remain legal," she said.

Westheimer recalled the years bell phone company works with local enforcement agencies to apprehend offenders. "Many students aren't aware that telephone fraud is just as serious as shoplifting or any other theft," How said. "My main objective is to warn them that stealing phone calls can cost them a great deal once they're caught and convicted.

In addition to paying restitution to the company, a person convicted of telephone fraud can get a permanent police record, How said.

"If that happened, the individual could be barred from ever getting a job that requires a license," she said. "That's a high price to pay for making what may seem like 'free' calls. Students should think twice before jeopardizing their futures by making fraudulent calls."

How said that since January 1986 New Jersey Bell has investigated toll fraud abuse up to 20 New Jersey colleges and currently has 12 cases open.

AIDS: Exactly what you need to know

By Kelly Landon

Last Wednesday, Sigma Phi Rho (Zeta Chapter), a community service fraternity, sponsored a seminar on AIDS entitled "AIDS: Just the Facts." Speaker Sandra Longley, a registered nurse and coordinator of a two-year-old program called "The Comprehensive Care Center for AIDS at Saint Joseph's Hospital in Paterson," outlined how AIDS is transmitted, concerned about the disease.

Longley emphasized a need for education and correct information about AIDS in an effort to "try and get rid of the fears that really don't need to be there, and putting concern where it should be."

Longley also criticized the media saying "they have scared the public." As a result, she said, "wrong type of people are coming in for testing. Those in low risk groups are being tested, whereas those in high risk groups, such as intravenous drug users and homosexuals, are not."

The seminar went into detail about AIDS, as well as widely held misconceptions about the disease. Later a question and answer period further cleared up students' questions and concerns.

Although college students are not the largest group affected, knowledge about the disease is necessary to help keep AIDS under control.

"I definitely think school programs should inform students about AIDS. The problem with a lot of places that are getting information and having programs is that often times it is not information that's really useful...what people need is real basic information as to what to be concerned about, and what not to be," said Longley.

New Jersey is ranked as the state with the fourth highest number of AIDS cases. Over 2,500 cases have been diagnosed to date. AIDS has only been in this country since 1981 so it is a relatively young disease. Research on AIDS still has far to go.

Saint Joseph's Hospital in Paterson is the closest AIDS testing site available to MSC. Testing is free and confidential. Results take about two weeks. For more information on testing call (201) 977-2010.

An SGA financial report was presented at last night’s meeting. Student fees collected to date total $143,700, with an estimated $143,631 still to be received from the college. “The SGA financial position is not at an optimal level. Our budget will be tight this year,” said SGA treasurer, Jeanie Lamboy. The SGA is operating at a net loss of $20,284. This figure does not include a carry-over of $34,225 from last school year’s unapportioned surplus.

Don't get hung up on your future

Over the years, colleges across the country have developed many harmless traditions. Here at MSC, people have put soap or goldfish in the library fountain or stolen the tape from the College Hall bellower. Fraternities and sororities have pledged spray painting Greek letters on the Clove Road bridge.

The letter from NJ Bell on the front page warns us that some people won't hold the line, though. Students have been illegally making AT&T credit card calling numbers and using them to make "free" phone calls. Not only are these calls not free, they also endanger future careers. NJ Bell must waste time correcting customers' bills, thus increasing the cost of phone prices and services in general.

The use of misappropriated calling card numbers is fraud and theft, and NJ Bell is pursuing lawbreakers. A conviction for theft, and NJ Bell is pursuing lawbreakers. A conviction for telephone fraud requires the payment of restitution and court costs and runs the risk of a permanent police record. Even more than an obscene phone call, date rape is an invasion of privacy, both mental and physical and a direct threat to your life. It often occurs between a boyfriend and girlfriend, of any age, and runs the risk of a permanent police record.

NJ Bell must waste time correcting customers' bills, thus increasing the cost of phone prices and services in general.

For the Parade insert in Sunday's newspapers, Dr. Joyce Brothers wrote an article on date rape. This issue has been prominent on campuses throughout the Eighties, yet many people still do not understand it. Date rape is the crime of rape in a personal setting. It often occurs between a boyfriend and girlfriend, of any age, and runs the risk of a permanent police record. Even more than an obscene phone call, date rape is an invasion of privacy, both mental and physical and a direct threat to your life. If you believe that you are a victim, contact Campus Police immediately. For more information, read the article or contact either the Women's Center or Campus Police.

Personal safety

The students of MSC have two opportunities to consider their personal safety this week. As the Campus Police Report notes, a person who identifies himself as "Pat" has been making obscene phone calls to campus residents. This illegal activity invades the privacy of the individuals and upsets daily lives. It seems like a harmless prank, but it's actually a threat to your life. If you receive an obscene call or have any information leading to an arrest, contact Campus Police immediately.

Will Reagan's Bork be worse than his bite?

By Ellen Goodman

BOSTON—What an unexpected way to celebrate the 200th anniversary of the long hot summer that produced the U.S. Constitution. Instead of commemorating the document, we're going to argue over a new interpreter.

The fierce debate emerging over the nomination of Robert Bork can only increase the impression that a Supreme Court justice has more leeway than a home-plate umpire. It's sure to add to the uneasy sense that the law is a matter of opinion or appointment.

The left has accused the President of playing politics with the Bork appointment. The right has accused the left playing politics with the Bork opposition. They both hold their noses at the very word. We know instinctively that the last institution that Americans overwhelmingly respect, is undermined by these personal games.

Consider the most vulnerable right that's left to judicial politicking: privacy. Bork, who stands at the intellectual outer edge of the right wing, has said that the right to privacy simply doesn't exist. Does a right exist with one judge and disappear with another?

"As I said years ago, I thought the 'privacy' notion had little to do with the intent of the framers," Bork has explained. Indeed the Constitution doesn't spell out the private sphere, nor does the Bill of Rights list privacy.

The concept of an intimate family life protected from the government appeared in the 1920s when the Supreme Court ruled that raising your own family the way you saw fit was a kind of "liberty." It wasn't until the 1940s, when the Court struck down a law that punished burlowers with sterilization, that they called the right to procreate a basic and fundamental one.

The case that put the word privacy itself into the language of rights came in 1965. Connecticut still had a law then that banned birth control for married couples. In striking that law down, the high court said in "Griswold" that it violated the basic privacy rights of these couples.

One of the justices wrote that privacy rights were deduced from others in the first eight amendments: the freedom of expression, the freedom from unwarranted search, the freedom from having soldiers quartered in your home. A second found privacy in the ninth amendment. A third, the conservative John Marshall Harlan, said privacy was covered in the 14th amendment as personal liberty.

Later, in Roe v. Wade, the abortion case, the Court extended privacy to include the right to choose an abortion. Anyway you define privacy, wrote Justice Blackmun, it "is broad enough to encompass a woman's decision whether or not to terminate her pregnancy."

Bork has disagreed with all this. Not just the 1973 abortion decision, which he called "unconstitutional," not just the 1965 birth-control decision, but the whole emergence of a right of privacy. He disagrees because he says the "framers" of the Constitution and its amendments did not "intend" to create such a right.

I have no idea what the original collection of men who spent that tortured summer of 1787 in Philadelphia would have thought about birth-control pills, suction aspiration, or contraceptives. There is nothing in the Constitution or its amendments about reproduction. But I know that they and their followers "intended" the framers of government for public life, not one that would reach intrusively into personal life.

Bork has said that the job of a judge is to figure out this "intent" of the framers and to uphold it, nothing more. Anyone looking for new law should go to the legislature. He opposes a so-called activist judiciary. Yet, if approved, this anti-activist judge would create enormous action, or should I say reaction. His swing vote could upend decades of law.

So we have this uncomfortable lesson for the 200th anniversary of our Constitution. The new candidate for the Supreme Court holds the view that the politics, even the personality, of a justice should make no difference in deciding the law. And by his very presence, he reminds us just how much difference it does make.

50 years of Light

By Michael Bullerdick
Correspondent

Question: What's the longest running show in broadcast history? Fans and trivia buffs know it's the 53-year-old soap Guiding Light.

The story goes that Guiding Light was founded on Irna Phillips' admiration for a preacher named Dr. Preston Bradley (The Reverend Dr. Ruthledge on the show). His show premiered on radio January 25, 1937. While other soaps—called "preacher shows"—were spon­sored by large companies, Dr. Preston Bradley (The Reverend Dr. Ruthledge on the show) was spon­sored by a small church in Chicago.

Created by Irna Phillips (creator of As The World Turns and Days Of Our Lives), GL was a "preacher" show that blended religion and entertainment. It was a "guiding light" to troubled parishioners. Their story is the story of GL.

On To Television

"If it ain't broke, don't fix it." That's the type of attitude that Irna Phillips had to contend with when she began her drive to transfer CL to television. Women weren't home to watch radio when she began her drive to transfer CL to television. Television was a "new" medium, and the show would have to be adapted to the larger audience. Television was in its infancy.

Irina Phillips was determined to prove herself after failure with another show called These Are My Children. Eager to capitalize on the growing television market, she hired on and developed two pilots with her own money. Proctor & Gamble liked the pilots but were leery of their audience. Would people actually like the physical persons of the Baur family? To play it safe, the sponsors continued the radio version concurrently with the TV show. (That was discontinued in 1956). The first TV episode aired on June 30, 1952. The show hasn't stopped since. GL competed with Search For Tomorrow on pg. 13.

John Mellencamp: The Lonesome Jubilee (Polygram)

Is The Lonesome Jubilee John Mellencamp's Nebraska? Well, it is and it isn't. Lyrically, there are thematic similarities to Bruce Springsteen's stark masterpiece. But instrumentally Mellencamp has created a far more diverse sound than Springsteen did.

Nebraska has just acoustic guitar and harmonica, The Lonesome Jubilee is filled with a patchwork blend of acoustic, fiddles, and banjos, in addition to the standard bass, drums, and guitar.

This album is filled with stories of ordinary people who just aren't happy with the state of their lives in the 80's. "Paper in Fire," "Down and Out in Paradise," "Hard Times for an Honest Man," and "Empty Hands" all reflect a bittersweet attitude towards life in America. "Cherry Bomb," "Check it Out," and "The Real Life" also share a common theme of looking back at your past and accepting it for what it is.

These themes are reinforced by the album's wonderful instrumental blend. The Lonesome Jubilee is a great sounding mix of folk, country and rock and roll. This album takes the music of Scarecrow and moves it further down the road.

While the restrained musical style of this album might take some getting used to, I don't think Mellencamp has given up upwardly. While you're waiting for his next "Pink Houses" or "Authority Song," accept an invitation to The Lonesome Jubilee.

Short Cuts

Wow! Bananarama (Polygram)

Wow! does not quite live up to its name. A little more is expected from a group that is recognized as the most successful British "girl" group of all time. WOW! just does not have the quality of music in Bananarama's last album, True Colours, which included the number one hit "Venus" and was certified gold.

Hold Your Fire

This week: What actress was married to the late of Woodstock fame, has a new album out...Levert's Buffalo..."...Nothing Like The Sun hits stores Oct. 19. Wow! Bananarama (Polygram) is disappointing and not worth buying.

Rush: Hold Your Fire (Polygram)

Hold Your Fire is Rush's twelfth studio album in thirteen years. The trio of Geddy Lee, Neil Peart, and Alex Lifeson have been together for most of those years and this latest album could be their best yet.

Recorded in four different countries, Hold Your Fire is diverse and goes in many different directions. From fast, uplifting rhythms to a more acoustic guitar and harmonica, this album changes from song to song.

Hold Your Fire features Lee on keyboards as a pacesetter instead of just a backup performer. The sounds that Peart and Lifeson produce on the album are fresh. Peart's drumming is as strong as ever, and he turns to electronic drums to help set the pace with Lifeson's usual array of guitar licks.

"Time Stand Still" presents the theme of savoring the past. Pearl's lyrics are directed toward love in "Open Secrets" and "Lock and Key." Til Tuesday's Aimee Mann is featured as backup vocalist on the album's first single, "Force Ten."

Rush has again displayed its diversity and originality. After thirteen years of being together, Rush sounds newer than ever. Hold Your Fire is a hit.

Richard Marx: Richard Marx (Manhattan)

Some artists are simply meant to be. Richard Marx is one that is definitely meant to be. At the age of twenty-two, Richard Marx has already played with Lionel Richie on his last three albums. In addition, he has some top names on his debut record. Among them are Fee Waybill of the Tubes and Eagles Alumni, Randy Meisner, Timothy B. Schmidt and Joe Walsh.

This is one hot record from start to finish. "Should Have Known Better" is successful and shows the rockin' side of Marx. The ballads, "Hold on to the Nights" and "Endless Summer Nights" are done well without being overly soft like many of today's pop songs.

As if that isn't enough, "Don't Mean Nothing," FM's favorite summer hit, screams with Joe Walsh's slide guitar work. Richard Marx has given us something to think about with "Have Mercy." I love the line, "I read it in the news, we ain't got no worry. But it won't be in the paper when D Day comes."

Fans must ‘back up’ Indians

Although the Indians lost to Kean College 16-14 Saturday, there was electricity and excitement in the air. Fan support and participation covered Sprague Field in a way that MSC hasn’t seen for a long time. Fans were standing, shouting, and doing the wave, never giving up on the team.

Fan support will be an important ingredient in 1987. They are promised competitive gridiron action, but they are asked for one thing in return: loyalty. Their support and presence will be a nonverbal implication of confidence in the program.

MSC is 1-2 this season, but it is not over yet. This is where fan support plays a major role in the success of the program. For the last few years, the Indians have been on top, but right now they are still trying to get back on track.

One should not abandon a team when they are struggling, but should instead lend the additional support that is needed. The MSC program has traditionally been a winning one and will continue to be one.

Competitive football and athletics in general are part of the total MSC experience. Without it, one would be denied a true feeling of catharsis, which is needed in everyone’s life. Therefore, a tremendous cheering crowd should follow the Indians Saturday to Mahwah when they play Ramapo College.

The support and enthusiasm was tremendous Saturday evening, but now the support should not fade. It is time for the fans to join with the program, players, and staff in making this season a successful one.

In many instances, fans mean the difference between a team winning and losing a game. In some cases, fans are even responsible for making a fair team good, or a good team great. With the help of the MSC community, the Indians can also achieve greater heights.

Indians upset by Cougars, 16-14

By Kenny Peck
Sports Editor

Kean overcame a 14-3 fourth quarter surge by MSC as Kean (3-0) fumbled the opening kickoff. Nine plays later, Senior Ed Hernandez scooped up the fumble, and Kean had its first lead of the game, going up 14-3. The Indians took that lead into halftime.

“Even though we had the lead at the half, we weren’t happy with our performance,” said senior tight end Ed Pedicine. “We knew we didn’t play a good half at all.”

In the third quarter, senior tailback Leroy Horn, who finished with 168 yards rushing, scammed 71 yards for a touchdown, upping the Indian advantage to 13-3. Colarusso added the extra point, making the score 14-3.

The biggest plays of the quarter, however, were two plays that weren’t. Long runs by Horn and freshman Scott Vegter were called back because of penalties. Horn ran it out, these gains made a big difference in the outcome of the game.

The Cougars began their comeback with an impressive drive, moving the ball 71 yards in 18 plays and scoring on a two-yard run by freshman Brian Gallagher. Kean went for the two point conversion, but failed and MSC held a 14-9 lead.

After the ensuing kickoff, the Indians fumbled and Kean had the ball on the MSC 24 yard line. Seven plays later, Daryl Butts scored on a five yard run, and Kean had its first lead.

MSC had one more chance to pull the game out but turned the ball over on another fumble, and Kean was able to consume the remaining time.

“We had mental breakdowns both ways-offensively and defensively,” Hernandez said. “We just haven’t played the same game, and play the rest of the season week by week, like it’s a brand new season.”

Roadrunners hoping to catch MSC on rebound

By Kenny Peck
Sports Editor

The Indians travel to Mahwah Saturday to take on Ramapo in a New Jersey Athletic Conference contest.

MSC is looking to rebound from a shocking defeat to Kean last week, while the Roadrunners attempt to snap a 23 game winless streak, which dates back to 1984. Ramapo suffered a 35-15 loss to Newport News Saturday.

Second-year Head Coach Dave Wilson has installed a run-and-gun type offense into the Roadrunners’ attack. Ramapo also at times utilizes a modified wishbone, out of which they run the option.

Sophomore quarterback Tom Bonham is thus the key to this diversified offense. In addition to throwing the ball an average of 25 times a game, Bonham was the leading rusher for the Roadrunners going into last week’s game.

On the receiving end of many of Bonham’s passes is sophomore split end Dave Albano. The Wayne native is the main threat for the Ramapo offense, scoring their only two touchdowns through the first two games.

Sophomore wide receiver Tony Petru leads the backfield for the Roadrunners, as each average about seven carries per game.

On defense, Ramapo is led by a strong linebacking corps, made up of freshmen Henry Niemczyk and Walle Jennings and sophomore Joe Hudson. Niemczyk blocked a punt and registered two sacks in last week’s loss to Newport News.

Deepback Dom Pomponio leads a suspect group in the midfield. The sophomore is the team’s leading tackler and is the defense’s best in man-to-man coverage.

Key Matchups:
- MSC RB Leroy Horn vs. Ramapo defense- Horn played well again last week and could run rampant against the Roadrunners.
- MSC secondary vs. SE Albano- Albano is the key to Ramapo’s passing game. If they fall behind, he is an even bigger factor.
- MSC QB Ed Baffige vs. Ramapo secondary- Baffige may light it up against the weak Roadrunners’ safeties.

What’s What in MSC sports

Women’s Cross-Country

The team placed first throughout, and sixth, despite the absence of two top runners, Jessica Levinskas and Linda Magloire. Rosa Domingues led the Indians with a time of 21:08. Upcoming meets: Sat., at Trenton, with Jersey City, Queens, Ramapo, Seton Hall, and William Paterson, 11:00.

Field Hockey

The women’s team overpowered conference rival Kean College to post a 5-0 win Saturday. Toni Alfoldo scored two goals for MSC and freshman Judy DeMarco added one as the Indians improved to 3-2. Upcoming games: Today, at King’s Biarritz, 4:00; Sat., at Glassboro State, 12:00; Tues., at Trenton State, 7:00.

Men’s Cross-Country

The Indians dropped their opener to St. Peter’s last week despite a second place finish by John Hogan. Upcoming meets: Sat., vs. Trenton (H), 1:00.

Women’s Tennis

MSC played well before falling to Monmouth College Saturday by a score of 7-2. Jacque Mazzekien and Melissa Kollar each captured victories in straight sets. Upcoming matches: Mon., vs. Trenton State (H), 3:30.

Water Polo

Upcoming meets: Today, at St. Peter’s College, Oct. 3-4, at Villanova, with Monmouth, Penn State, Millerville and Johns Hopkins.

Soccer team wins one, ties one

By Dennis Campbell
Staff Writer

MSC took a 2-0 lead early to see William Paterson come from behind to secure a tie Tuesday night at Sprague Field. Co-captain Mike Nother said afterwards, “No question about it; they played a great game, so give them credit. But we should have won the game. We let one get by us.”

Fullback Robin Rubinetts saw the game as an emotional roller coaster. “We dominated most of the first half and we were in control. But after they scored that first goal to get back into the game, it gave them a big lift and at the same time it took the air out of us.”

The Indians dominated the game early as they took control of midfield. Robert Chesney had a chance to give MSC an early lead as he took a pass from Derek Lewis but he blasted it straight at the goalkeeper, who made the save.

The Pioneers went to a man defense as they tried to control the MSC midfield. The game got more physical as the Pioneers tried to wear down the Indians. At the 26 minute mark, Lewis was brought down, resulting in a free kick awarded to the Indians.

On the free kick, the Indians used one of their patented plays as Bill Fitzpatrick passed the ball to Chesney on the left. The sophomore found the midfielder faked left outside the wall of defenders to blast it home for the 1-0 lead.

The Indians were never able to get another goal, and the Pioneers went on to win 2-1 over Stockton State at Stockton College Wednesday night vs. Kean.

MSC-Stockton St. 1

The Indians, down 1-0, came back to score three goals, two in overtime, to come away with their biggest win of the season over Stockton State at Stockton College.

The victory moved the Indians’ record to 3-2 overall, 2-1 in the NJAC.

Derek Lewis was again the spark that ignited the MSC offense, scoring two goals. His first goal tied the score at one after Stockton scored early in the second half. Lewis cut off a short goal kick and made a long angle shot with the goalie out of position.

The score remained 1-1 for the remainder of regulation. The Indians went up 2-1 with two minutes remaining in the first overtime when Lewis took a pass from Rick Caruso, weaved through three Stockton defenders, and shot the ball into the back of the net.

Just thirty seconds before the first overtime ended, the Indians scored again. Bob Bigg took a punt from goalie Chip Hyde, dribbled to the end line, and crossed the ball in front of the goal. Rick Caruso scored the goal, securing the win.

Indians’ NFL replacements:

Former MSC tight end Tony Sweet will once again be on the receiving end of Father Briggs’ passes. Sweet joined Briggs at the Jets training camp this past week, when he signed as a free agent. Another former MSC star, receiver Eddie Chavis, signed with the Miami Dolphins last week. All three will be taking part in this Sunday’s “scab” games.
