4-1-1988

The Montclarion, April 01, 1988

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.montclair.edu/montclarion

Recommended Citation
https://digitalcommons.montclair.edu/montclarion/535

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the Student Newspapers at Montclair State University Digital Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Montclarion by an authorized administrator of Montclair State University Digital Commons. For more information, please contact digitalcommons@montclair.edu.
Dozens to undergo psychiatric help

Sprague riot rocks campus

By Slim Precocious
Scrap Writer

A riot occurred Tuesday night when hundreds of MSC students stormed Hair E. Sprague Library upon hearing that the change machines were actually filled with dimes and all four copiers were in working condition.

Eleventh-year senior Betty Frappington was first to discover the missing red “Out of Order” light on the change machine at the entrance to the lower level of the library.

She had gone to the library to make copies of her friend Todd’s notebook, since she had not had time to make it to class this semester.

“I—I didn’t know what to do,” said a confused Frappington. “That red light’s always on. It has been since I was a freshman in 77.

“I was all ready to curse and walk to the student center to get change, then I saw the light was out. Then, I don’t know, I guess I freaked out. I started screaming, and a librarian came to help me, but she fainted when she saw the light out. Then a teacher came to help, but he didn’t know what to do, either.”

Acting President Donut

Know Mimind was finally called in to assess the situation. Mimind finally ordered Frappington to put her dollar bill in the machine. Both were astonished to see a handful of change appear at the slot below.

As soon as the official word was passed, that the change machine was indeed in working order, students hurried to tell their friends, and the race to get change was on.

Students studying for midterm terms in the library were the first to get news of the freak occurrence. Despite certain groups’ attempts to keep the windfall a secret, word leaked out to the rest of the campus.

The Mediocre baseball team flocked to the library in full uniform, their metal cleats tearing huge gaps in the carpet

Candidates for MSC president strut their stuff, showing what they would do to MSC if they were given a chance. One of them suggested lioncloths as the uniform for Mediocre students.

The candidates also threaten to reveal their real qualifications if asked specifically. A warning: last reported questioner was never found again.

Carpet bid screw-up puts Triffids on spot

By Mike Puladick
Scrap Writer

Carpeting torn by the MSC baseball team’s rush to Hair E. Sprague Library will cost $50,000 more than originally expected, says Vice-Principal in charge of Financial Management, Willie “Silent” Triffids.

The bid to repair the carpet was originally given to J. Batchagalupe and Sons, of Belleville. The estimate was for $4.38 plus tax, approximately $50,000 less than the closest bid.

The rodent, sorry Student Board of Trustees Michaela Rodent, was “outraged at the college’s lack of intelligence and planning.” I don’t understand how this could happen—no, wait, I forgot, this is MSC. Never mind. I understand how it can happen.

“Silent” Triffids, under fire from Rodent and SAG President Bob Mustafacerra, was forced to answer to charges that, by awarding the bid to Batchagalupe and Sons, he was shortsighted and completely to blame.

“No, it’s not my fault. When they (Batchagalupe) gave me the estimate for $4.38, it seemed to me like a reasonable bid,” said Triffids. “They looked like pretty nice guys. I thought they were sincere.”

Fortunately, the college has an extra $50,000 left over from the cleanup of the Clover Road landfill.

The original estimate on the landfill project was, surprisingly, also $4.38, and was, ironically, also submitted by Batchagalupe and Sons.

Eventually, Mervin Herschkowitz and Daughters were called in to oversee the cleanup and their bid was for $3.5 million. Triffids was praised when the final bill was for $3,450,000. The $50,000 surplus will now go toward the library’s carpet cleanup.

In other Bored of Trustees news, Acting President Donut Know Mimind brought up a grievance concerning The Montquirer. “What I want to know,” Mimind said, “is how come there hasn’t been a picture of me in there in three whole weeks! All I’ve seen are bunch of pictures of soda machines!”

Mimind was put in leg and arm restraints when Montquirer misalignment idiot Saul Real-silly stood up in defense of the newspaper. Mimind was eventually carried off bound and gagged.

Journalism professor Rover Wooferr announced that he would be appearing at Jerry (the Pest) Wartz Day “in commemoration of the five years of fine journalistic technique he brought to The Montquirer in particular, and the college as a whole.”

The bored also decided to consider the request of the Skool of Pretty Good and Pumpkin Tarts to ban any Montquirer article that “didn’t say how wonderful our play was and what a fine job we all did.”

Tarts editor Gen Iffer complained, “But, but, but . . .” and was likewise dragged off the floor by campus security.”
Campus Police Report

Rolls disappears, turns to Hyundai?

By Saul Realsilly

Misalignment Idiot

A ‘88 Rolls Royce parked in lot 92 was stolen last Friday. A campus police spokesman commented, “We were right by it when all of a sudden it vanished. Our officer at the scene believes it turned into a Hyundai and disappeared.”

Suggestions of an inside job were met with a curt “no comment.”

Twenty-three thousand bags stored in College Hall’s canteen were stolen yesterday. Campus Police were informed of the crime after a male was found burping heavily in lot 14. The male had apparently left a liquid trail of uncertain organic-toxic origin. The campus police had no problem tracking him down. The area, however, had to be sectioned off because of possible after-effects of the smell. A gas mask warning is in effect.

While the campus was occupied with the bag theft, wallets began disappearing. Fortunately, only two dollars have been stolen.

Campus Cops, according to certain sources, believed that Coral Roberts’ angels were in the area collecting money to save his soul.

Another theory being considered by one unnamed socialistic idiot at The Montquirer was that Ollie North’s Contras had taken over Mediocre’s growing wallet theft trade.

SAG Blues

Kuwait to take over?

By Jane Bleech

Despondent

At last night’s SAG meeting, well technically not yesterday, really today. However for those who are picky I guess it is at last nights SAG meeting.

In a late development, SAG of MSC has reported that the little oil-rich state of Kuwait has been buying large chunks of SAG stock.

The SAG-type people contacted have no idea for the reason behind it. Rob Mustafacerra said, “That man from The Montquirer from what’s it, the United Arab Carrot States, Saul Realsilly. I think he’s behind it. I can feel it, it’s going to be a takeover.”

In a shocking development, the Kuwait Investments office has revealed that its spokesman is none other than the tarts for entertainments idiot Gen Iffer. She is apparently using this as an alias for her real name which is Jennifer Gefiltefish. Gefiltefish could not be contacted for a statement. Meanwhile, Mustafacerra has been taken to the hospital suffering from hysteria and delusions. He was, according to witnesses at the scene, foaming and shouting “Realsilly! He’s the one behind this. He’s the one who is mad, not me.”

 Needless to say, Mustafacerra had not yet heard the official Kuwaiti announcement, naming Gefiltefish as their representative.

The role of Realsilly is still being investigated. He apparently holds the keys to the entire incident. Realsilly maintains his “incident” routine.

Machines disappear

Montquirer will be affected

The much awaited Montquirer will be late because the award winning newspaper had its machines stolen during spring break. Hence you are not really reading this. This is a dream perpetrated upon you poor sheep of MSC by the thieves. The machines, valued at $2.4 billion, were apparently stolen by Iran for use in its war. This information has been gleaned from CAI and FIB sources in the nations capital.

Details of the bizarre theft are revealed in the Campus Police Report.

Our Eye on Mediocre, but who cares

The Siamese Twin Bisexual show sold out last night at Memorial Auditorium. Couples were colors. The show was a smashing success although there was a bit of a tangle when those in zippers tried to applaud.

CRUD PRESENTS:

An Evening with R. Williams, S. Wright, H. Mandel and G. Carlin

Thursday, Feb. 31, 1989

Parking Lot 13

Get your tickets NOW!

Actually, their names are Reginald Williams (world famous jew harpist), Satchel Wright (mute impersonator), Horatio Mandel (professional bonehead) and Geoff Carlin (rotting hunk of decayed carcass). We don’t want to mislead anyone with this ad. We just want your money.

CRUD is a Class One of the SAG.
Changes in the Mediocre system

Welcome back from spring break, fellow . The Montquirer extends its best to those of you returning from . It would also like to draw your attention to a few that were made while you were enjoying yourselves.

The administrative hierarchy of Mediocre State has been rearranged. Instead of a and two vice- and, there will be a single resident administrator who will take on the duties of both. The administrator that becomes resident Acting will rotate from year to year, and will be selected on the basis of the amount of shovels of lifted in one interview session.

The Board of Trustees voted on the concept of a resident Acting on a proposal from chairperson Murkey Coleslaw who stated, "Well, you know, having a resident Acting would mean we could import our administrators, just like resident artists or writers. I think a Honduran or perhaps a nice despotic Haitian administrator would be able to teach us a thing or two about running a college."

The theater department has been given permission by the resident Acting to take over all the theaters within 20 miles of the campus, if the spirit moves them. Their first advance in this direction will be to the Hole Theatre located in scenic

The head of the department, , was unavailable for comment, but spokesman A. H. Gerbil is reported to have said, "The next thing they'll be saying is that we're going to enter into a conspiracy to take over the Stupid Center! I wasn't born yesterday. You'd think we spend our lives crawling around in peoples!

The Montquirer will be required to mention at least Middle Eastern countries in every issue, regardless of the amount of coverage already received. This is being done to avoid insulting any people of the , or persuasion.

Finally, all SAG chartered will be promptly de-chartered at the beginning of each semester from now on. To win their charters back, they will have to , write "It is always fun until somebody loses an eye," times, and eat all the on the bottom of Blanton Hall's salad bar containers without having the privilege of examining the silverware used beforehand.

The Montquirer hopes this information is of some help to returning students to figure it out themselves. Further changes will be posted conspicuously and written in hieroglyphics or a similar language—perhaps the Registrar's native tongue.

More crap written by Oren Wolfe to go after chicken in Bush

"FRITZ! MORE BEER! And bring Archie a glass of milk!

I waved my hand to quiet him down. It was pretty hard to hear on this old phone. It was impossible to get him to buy a new one. He said he couldn't think of any reason why he would want a new phone, and he "never used the old one."

"Here," I said as I pushed the phone toward him. He looked at me disapprovingly, suggesting that I should finish what I started.

"Mr. Walsh, Mr. Wolfe can't come to the phone right now. If you think a personal meeting is best to discuss your concerns, I can arrange it... Dinner this evening? I'm afraid not, but afterwards would be fine... It's agreed, this evening at eight. I'll arrange to meet you at the airport." I'm sure Walsh would have preferred to eat dinner at a table rather than on the run, but I knew that would never be tolerated.

Mr. Walsh sounded assured of his position. That was not surprising, considering he had been overseeing the case for months. But he didn't want to discuss many specifics on the phone. The reputation he earned in the press for being security conscious was apparent. His request to see Wolfe's assistance surprised me.

Fritz came into the office with two beers, and after a few drinks, he settled behind the desk. I can feel the chair bracing itself for his immensity. He shifted again and looked up. "Fritz! Coffee!"

"Good evening, my name is Nero Wolfe." He extended his hand. Of course he could have done this when he walked past Walsh. He's never been much for conventional methods.

"Good evening. I'm Lawrence Walsh, special prosecutor for the Iran-Contra investigations. I'm honored to make your acquaintance. You have quite a reputation." He handed Wolfe a summary report of the activities.

"Thank you. Please sit, Archie, bring a chair.

"You see, Mr. Wolfe, while the Congressional hearings were helpful, there are still many mysteries that remain unsolved," Walsh said.

"Your team has unearthed a number of interesting and fruitful leads. I don't understand what possible role I could fill. I generally address more mundane matters than this covert activities nonsense," Wolfe said.

"We still have one main concern. We need to know what the Vice President knew and when he knew it. We are having a great deal of difficulty pinpointing his involvement. We can coordinate the volumes of reports and documentation, but we can't seem to retrace Mr. Bush's steps. We are hoping you will assist there."

ON THE WAY back from the airport I thought about how it would have been proper for both of us to meet Walsh. But the last time I insisted he come with me, he warned about the "whimsical activities of that motorized mayhem" I call a car. And getting him up from the dinner table would be impossible.

I returned with Walsh at 7:45 and led him into the office. I took his hat and coat and showed him where to set up his brief case. "Mr. Wolfe will be in shortly. Make yourself comfortable."

We were joined a few minutes later. After much fussing, he settled behind the desk. I can feel the chair bracing itself for his immensity. He shifted again and looked up. "Fritz! Coffee!"

"Good evening, my name is Nero Wolfe." He extended his hand. Of course he could have done this when he walked past Walsh. He's never been much for conventional methods.

"Good evening. I'm Lawrence Walsh, special prosecutor for the Iran-Contra investigations. I'm honored to make your acquaintance. You have quite a reputation." He handed Wolfe a summary report of the activities.

"Thank you. Please sit, Archie, bring a chair.

"You see, Mr. Wolfe, while the Congressional hearings were helpful, there are still many mysteries that remain unsolved," Walsh said.

"Your team has unearthed a number of interesting and fruitful leads. I don't understand what possible role I could fill. I generally address more mundane matters than this covert activities nonsense," Wolfe said.

"We still have one main concern. We need to know what the Vice President knew and when he knew it. We are having a great deal of difficulty pinpointing his involvement. We can coordinate the volumes of reports and documentation, but we can't seem to retrace Mr. Bush's steps. We are hoping you will assist there."

"What good is an outsider for the inner circles in Washington? It is bound to raise great suspicion and reluctance," I asked. I was unsure of Walsh's reasoning, but knew that if the job was accepted, the work would be unbearable.
Frat pledge is irate

To the idiot:

As member of the fraternity U.M.T. (Uniformed Marching Twists), I would like to register a complaint against The Montquirer's recent blast against frats.

I don't believe, as was stated in your idiotorial, that we are a generation of selfish, hasty students who use frats to make friends quickly and without effort.

Why, I was just hanging out with my number two wench, Amieeanne Weinsteinalucci, who I met at our "Celebrate Robert Chambers' Dating Tips" theme party, and I wanted to tell her what your idiotorial said.

But of course, since I'm pledging, I'm only allowed to speak to people (other than U.M.T. brothers) on alternate Thursdays on the condition that Bohn Hall doesn't have a fire drill. So I couldn't exactly come out and tell Amieeanne what I was thinking—or big brother Buddy, who was handcuffed to my ankle, would force five cups of Blanton Hall Turkey Tetrazzini down my gullet with a garden hose.

So I showed Amieeanne the idiotorial to get her reaction. She nearly lost hold of her quart-size travel hairspray and every one of her forty-two gold electroplated charms shook in anger when she saw the paper.

"Oh, you know how I hate to read, sweetie. Why couldn't youuuu just show meee a simple little personal—they're the only things that are important to meeeeee!"

Finally, I got her to read it by cutting it into twenty small incoherent sections, personal-style.

An hour later, after she had finished, her little gold pinky nails that her daddy had bought her for Columbus Day were nearly gone from the scraping she did on the cinderblocks.

"Oooh, this is awful, sweetie. How could they say this about our frats? Why, if we said something like this, we would have to hang by our toes from the Little Falls bridge near the Primrose and say 'I love U.M.T.' a hundred times."

This really set me off, since there's nothing I hate more—well, except for when my number one wench, Tinaarabel-la, forgets to send me a personal—than seeing Amieeanne upset. So I grabbed her by the hairspray (or was it her hair?) and set off, big brother Buddy bumping along behind, for The Montquirer office in the Stupid Center.

Well, let me tell you, idiotorial page idiot, this whole Montquirer business is a hoax—yes, a hoax—and I want the entire reading population to know it. I searched all over the Stupid Center, and nowhere did I find The Montquirer office. Granted, I've only been to the Student Circus to play video games and drink at the Batcellar, but I'm no twit—I can find anything if I try. The only thing I saw that closely resembled a newspaper was a big, messy room that wasn't done stylishly at all, and a small, angry looking girl with glasses who yelled at me, "Personals in the white box! Twenty-five words or less! Two per person! Be tasteful!"

If you idiots think you're fooling Mediocre State, think again. I demand a retraction of your insulting idiotorial on frats and our generation's values, and I want it done pronto!

Manny Vulgarian
sophomore/undeclared

Reactions to stamp increase.

Created and made up by "The Tuna."

"The Lord does not have a Post Office box, I call and pray he gets the message."

F. Art| Monsignor Evolution Sciences

"I believe the increase will hurt everyone. When will Ronald Reagan realize that these fees will not relieve the budget deficit."

Max Gluteus| Freshman Classics

"I am in agreement with the Postmaster General that the increase in the cost of postage will only deter people from using letter-writing as a means of communication."

Wally's Niece| Senior Child education

"Fortunately, it's becoming more expensive to mail copies of Barbarella."

Jane Fonda| Senior Liberal Arts
Fake Talk

By Rat Eecke
T.V. Wonderland

Let's just skip the stupid salutation and get right to it. Jacko that nutty Aussie seen on NBC's 'The Highwaysmen' has been chosen by T.V. viewers as well as network executives as the most annoying person on television. The poll, taken by viewers and insiders held no real surprises. Running a close second to Jacko was Bruce Willis, followed by last year's winner, Mr. T. Also mentioned was that little guy who does the A&W Rootbeer commercials.

However, the ceremony held at New York's Jacob Javits Center was interrupted when an obviously drunk Gary Coleman burst into the room and demanded to speak to Grant Tinker, the former head of programming at NBC. He was finally subdued by security and ushered out of the building while still shouting "S.

WEBSTER.

Commenting on Jacko, one executive who asked to remain nameless said, "Everytime that jerk cringes his face and shouts Oi I just want to vomit. Regardless, Jacko seemed proud to be the most annoying person on television. Congratulations.

Morton Downy, Jr. has finally done it. He has managed to offend every person living in North America. The good news came when morning radio shock jock Howard Stern said even he was offended by some of Downy's comments. What was actually said was unavailable at press time but insiders fear that Downy may have revealed what he gets paid for insulting and belittling the guests on his show.

"Here's a story of a lovely lady." It was revealed today that little Cindy Brady may have appeared in a number of pornographic films later on in her career after the Brady Bunch was cancelled. The reports are not yet confirmed but if they are found to be true many speculate that the opening music will have to be changed from 'The young-est one in curls' to 'The young-est one in leather.'

AFTRA, the union that all T.V. performers must be in, has decided to enforce a mandatory retirement age on some of its more elderly members. "The first to go will be that fossil Bob Hope," said one AFTRA representative. "I think we have all seen enough of those lame specials and while were at it let's get Vietnam and Vietnam special.

Neither Hope nor Berle could be reached for comment but the new ruling could go into effect as soon as May 1 which of course might save us from the inevitable Bob Hope's Spring Time in Honolulu special.

Next week PBS will air its first annual Children's Television Workshop vs. the stars of Wrestlemania wrestling event.

Featured will be some extraordinary match ups including Big Bird against Andre the Giant, Snuffalufagus vs George the Animal Steel and an awesome tag team featuring Mr. Rogers and King Friday against The Macho Man and Hulk Hulgan.

The heated match-up persisted when Hulgan threatened to swallow one of Roger's gold fish and smash that stupid train set of his. Rogers had no comment but King Friday reportedly had to be subdued by his trainer/postal clerk, Mr. McFeely.

Finally, Webster's Dictionary has decided to update their latest issue to include the word "Chamon." Chamon, which can be heard at the end of Michael Jackson's latest single 'Man in the Mirror,' is said to mean a flexible, virgin-like performer that resembles Diana Ross. Michael is credited with first using the new found word but however Michael's management feels it has a different meaning.

"Actually," said Jackson's management, "Michael is saying 'Shamu,' the name of the killer whale at Sea World that he soon hopes to purchase." It seems he's gotten somewhat sick of the monkey and is ready for a change.

Thanks for reading.

Sax Anyone?

Peter Gordon;
portrait of a man possessed. So captivated was he with the saxophone's beauty, he decided to have it become a permanent fixture on his head. When he asked if he would ever regret this drastic move, he stated only, "I wear a saxophone on my head, therefore I am."

Mediocre State welcomes the Twins. After performing with the Freaks Dance Company of New York, the brother and sister have gone solo. Attached at the pelvis and feet, the duo made dance history. Last month they were surgically separated by doctors in West Germany.

Both John and Lynn Twin are trying to match their talents while they were adjacent, but they admit it is not easy.

The Twins perform live in the National Auditorium Sat. April 9 at 12 a.m.

Mediocre alumnus
has success story

By T.K. Arnold
Artless Writer

This long awaited biography of one very gifted M.S.C. alumnus was released last Monday. Written by Stephen's assistant, Joe Carbajol, The Rick Stephens Story is a compelling description of a man who has seen life from every imaginable vantage point. It leaves the reader dazzled, intrigued and uplifted, for Stephens clearly is a man with a purpose.

That purpose is revealed at the end of the book, and at the risk of ruining this reading experience for millions of prospective readers, Stephens' dream is finally realized when he is named president of the news division at a major television network.

The story has a happy ending, but its middle is quite grim. After he graduated M.S.C. with a B.A. in Broadcasting, Stephens decided to update their permanent fixture, shoplifting bottles of hand lotion. The bizzare cult was disbanded in 1983, when a disgruntled cult member developed a skin rash, and led a powerful mutiny to overthrow Stephens.

Stephens returned to the East where he made his home on Manhattan's lower East Side, taking a job as a topless dancer. Unfortunately, when it was discovered that he was a man, he was immediately fired. Stephens seemed to have reached a dead end. Things were looking pretty bad for him.

It was at this time that Stephens met Joe Carbajol, an ex-radio mogul from Mexico who was in a similarly dismal situation. One conversation on a park bench convinced Carbajol that Stephens had potential: "I'll get you in as a Production Assistant if you promise to move up fast...then, I'll write your biography—we'll both be happy!"

The rest is exciting history. Today, Rick Stephens epitomizes success, but he won't forget his past. "When I start getting a swelled head, I have this closet in my apartment I go look in...there are some old lotion bottles on the floor. Just so I don't ever forget where I came from."
Mixed-up movie montage

By Tin Cloud

Title

If you are really into the movie scene, get set for a fun-packed field day! Hollywood is 'cranking' out flicks at an unprecedented speed and to not know what's current would be a crying shame. Everyone hold on to your hats and let us proceed with the newest releases.

For all you lovers of action, Chuck Norris is back again in 'Missed in Attica: Part III'. This time around, Norris comes to the aid of 40 Amerasian children captured while on a tour of Attica prison. They fall into the hands of a cruel warden and consequently, they get thrown in the slammer for life.

Be sure to watch Good Evening, Napalm. Robin Williams plays an outspoken disc jockey tired of military propaganda and henceforth vents his frustration by torching the headquarters of the Southeast Asia Command as well as the Pentagon.

In the mood for romance? Then The Undearthly Hardness of Fleeing is right up your alley. Set in 1968, this film deals with a trio of true-blue Czechs totally preoccupied by lust, romance, and vodka as they seek to make up for being kicked out of their homeland by invading Soviets, Huns, Klingons, Zebas, and admirers of Plato.

Still hungry for more frivolity? Then Flirty Prancing is just for you. Personally, I don't see the big deal about a couple of young adult twips who specialize in seducing every living thing on the dance floor but then again, who am I to judge your tastes?

In terms of future cinematic antics, Steven Spielberg's 'Unmarked' are due out next week. It's essentially about an imprisoned baseball umpire and an unlikely bunch working together to escape by challenging the Japanese to an all-out baseball game.

On the science-fiction front, Tantamount Studios is expected to announce plans for Star Week V sometime in the near future. No details are available at this time except that James Doolan has been placed on an extremely rigorous crash diet.

Lastly, Montclair Movie Series intends to release one law enforcement comedy and one teacher narrative during the next two months. The first, Sassy Poulet, featuring Dan Akroyd as a wayward campus police lieutenant and Edward Woodward as a fiery police chief, is due out in mid-April. The second, American Somebody: The Movie starring Marion Mencer as herself will be out in late May and is expected to top 1986's Jay Coobs: The Movie at the box office by a factor of five.

The Montquirer/April Fool's Day, 1988

A List in The Montquirer

Bimbos

1. .................................................. Epiphany
2. .................................................. Baby Bisson
3. .................................................. Anyone in the Dangles
4. .................................................. Toy George
5. .................................................. Donna Trite

Secretly Female

1. .................................................. Jon Bon Phony
2. .................................................. Toy George
3. .................................................. Grace Jones
4. .................................................. Terrence Went Tarty

As for comedy, you can't beat Three Ten and A Maybe. Tom Selleck stars as a hapless American tourist visiting Tokyo.

Cold Cuts

The Rat Pack-The Rat Pack Raps (Yuk Records)

As I carefully shuffled through the "New Releases" section of my favorite record store, I came across something very new. Newer in fact than anything I could've ever imagined.

The cover was reminiscent of Public Enemy, their clothes are nothing but specially designed Troop appeal. The men: The Rat Pack. Their album: The Rat Pack Raps. That's right, good ol' friends Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin and the "little man" Sammy Davis, Jr. have taken on another personality.

Clad in oversized Troop jackets (complete with "Rat Pack '88: Housin' the Joint" embroidered on the back), big, "dope" gold chains and red Kangol caps, these men have the look down to a tee.

This LP is the first of its kind in music history, a rap classic album. Only the hip hop performer who has the average age of these men is 67.

On this album, these guys just don't try to sound like they're deep, deep into the heart of raw, obnoxious rap music. It's their voices, a beatbox and "Sammy Dee" scratchin' away like a madman.

The first selection they chose was the one that started it all—"Rapper Deight". This homage to Sammy Davis Jr.'s recording is virtually indistinguishable from the original. Most of the songs have been slightly augmented by suit these rappers, though. As an example, on L.L. Cool J's "Rock the Bells", Martin starts it off with Dean-Shari Marque is hard as hell/he'll buy or sell anyone, he doesn't care, tell 'em all I'll tell you! I'd rather just kill them...Hey Sammy! Wake up! It's time to rock the bells. It's a classic.

This raunchy rap trio handles the chores as rappers while Sammy "Dee" chills in the back on the wheels of steel, playing D.J. This album allows all three performers to showcase their new B-Talent.

Other tracks include Grand Master Flash's "Message (Don't Push Me Or Ma Boys Will Pull-Off)" the joyful Fat Boys are Back re-titled "The Rat Pack is Back (And We Don't Eat Fattock)."

But the topper comes in their masterful rendition of Run DMC's "Quiet MC". Frank Ice says: six months ago, that little monkey Sammy asked me if I could rock da mike/so I said the rhyme I'm about to say/Frank's rhyme was deft and it went this way...Brilliant.

---

Cold Dancing. Hits include "I Want a Snack Eyes" and "I've Had A Pretty Good Time."

"I get me a new hat. This silly white four-foot tall thing is so outdated..."Grateful Dead" frontman Jerry Garcia has left the Dead to record with the corpse of Janis Joplin. "I have trouble with harmony, so I figured it would be kinda easy to sing with Janis seeing as she's dead for some time. Besides, I'm used to singing with dead people..."Bob Geldof has announced his newest project, "San Aid." He plans to present a series of intercontinental concerts to benefit eroding African tribes. "They're just supposed to bring this problem to the forefront and force leaders to recognize what's wrong..."Just got off the phone with Bon Jovi (somethin' like that). Says he'll be on campus next Friday...Dis Week's Question: Who had his stomach pumped after swallowing nine gallons of? Last week's answer: Charo, Benny Goodman, Sade, Richard Nixon, and Divine...Dot's all...

Slim Whitman Slim plays AC/DC (Yuk Records)

Pop star Slim Whitman, advertised as the man who has sold more records than the Beatles, released a new LP, Slim Plays AC/DC.

This left-handed, guitar-strumming, musical genius gives the powerful tunes of heavy metal rockers AC/DC a new meaning. Listeners, unfortu nitely don't know what it is. Whitman's version of "Back in Black," off the album of the same name, is almost frightening. His Ricky Ricardo hammy rhymes make out the power of the track.

Whitman has adopted a new look to accompany the release of the album. Abandoning his toreador costume, he now sports long hair, torn jeans and a "Harley" tee shirt.

Crooning tunes such as "You Shook Me (All Night Long)" and "Shout To Thrill" prove that Whitman still has worldwide versatility. He should honestly stick to playing the favorites of his peers B.B. King and Barry Manilow.

Are Motley Crue and Ozzy Osbourne next? Will Slim Whitman share his lyrical lust with other heavy metal bands? I certainly hope not.

---

not happening

Concert Series

Bruce Springsteen and the E Street Band will not appear in the Studio Theatre Fri., April 10 at 8 p.m. Tickets, $2 standard and $1 for students with MSC ID will be returned with deepest regrets.

Talk Show

Geraldo Rivera, celebrity talk show host cancelled his engagement to meet The Montquirer staff at MSC. The conference to discuss journalistic ethics was found unnecessary because neither group had any.
A Trivial Waste of Everyone's time

Each week, this paper publishes a list of sports questions and answers to fill a lot of otherwise empty space. In addition, there is a sports stumper which no one answers, forcing me to print my friends’ names. If you think you have the correct answer to the stumper, have yourself committed immediately—you need help. The names of those submitting the correct answer will be turned over to the proper authorities, otherwise known as Slim Precocious, who will sort through the submissions and contact the female with the cutest handwriting.

1. Why are you reading this?
2. Who is the man in front of you, calling everyone “guy”?
3. Who are the world record holders in the teeter-tottering competition?
4. Oscar Madison used Felix’s down payment for a burial plot to bet on what horse?
5. What reward finally convinced Ralph Kramden to bowl in the Championships, despite a bad back and an upcoming physical exam?

Answer to last week’s stumper:
What song did Fred and Barney sing on stage with Ann-Margaret? “I love you, but, I ain’t gonna be a fool.” Submitting the correct answer was:
Pebbles.

This week’s stumper:
What happened to the kids from “Zoom”?

Jill award
to be presented

Jeffrey Jill, an inspiration to Mediocre State College, New Jersey women's sports and—well, dammit, the world as a whole—will have her name and likeness imposed upon a statue to be awarded annually to “the nicest female athlete in New Jersey.”

And no, she didn’t pay us to print this, silly!

Tax Tip
Save time and money on your taxes

DON’T FILE!!
A message from the Taxman.

Condoms 'R Us!

Any color, any size, any shape, any taste.

We have the condoms to satisfy your every need and desire.

--French ticklers
--Porcupine-skinned
--Rainbow Color
--Sandpaper Texture
--Enlargers
--Spiked/Studded

Condoms ‘R Us is located at:
69 Vaginal Canal
Cherry Hill, New Jersey 07069

Montquerier blasts SAG in a softball massacre

By Tony Pistol and Pastrami DiFicult

A former idiot-in-chief, but now just some guy who hangs around the office on Wednesdays, and an idiot who doesn't know any better

Despite the best efforts of the SGA to "cheat their freakin' heads off," The Montquerier Montclaritikes destroyed the SAG Boneheads in last night's intragovernment softball game, 17-2.

Spartzid idiot Boomchickboom Sinatra and this reporter delvered a crushing rendition of The Montquerier's anthem, "Spot Grey."

The game began amidst a cloud of controversy when SAG president/second baseman Rob Mustafara contended that The Montquerier had spiked the Gatorade in the SAG's dugout with Maalox.

"We all got the runs," said Mustafara. "Unfortunately, they weren't on the field."

Idiotorial page idiot Lykes Codene denied spiking the Gatorade... despite the fact that her cleats and arms were coated in a white milky substance.

The Montclaritikes opened the scoring in the first inning when leadoff batter Saul Realsilly was struck in the face by a pitch. "Way to go, Saul," called an excited Pastrami DiFicult from the bench. "That Saul, what a team player!"

After recovering from his mild concussion, Realsilly crawled on all fours to first base. "Neat game," said Realsilly, adding to the Montclaritikes' three runs in that inning.

"It would've been seven had it been raining," said Oz. "I'm surprised you people don't have this rule book committed to memory by now. Well, not to worry, I'll start part one of my seventy-three part essay on the subject of the next week's Montquerier."

With nobody on base and one out, DiFicult emptied the running crew of the SAG by grounding into a triple play. "With nobody on base and one out, DiFicult ended the inning by grounding into a triple play," said Sinatra. "It helps adjust my eye-hand coordination. Up until I had those four hits, all I could concentrate on was the color of the infield."

Firebird, a strict anti-drug, anti-alcohol enthusiast (yeah, right) was asked to sponsor a champagne celebration after the win. "Nnnooooooo, maybe, Idon'tcare, yeah, sure, why not?" she replied.

"I'll tell ya, mistuh, dis was one of da best frickin' games of softball I ever played," said Sinatra. "I had a blast."

"Well, I didn't have a good time," said artless entertainment idiot Jen Ifer. "I only got three hits and nobody congratulated me and in the third inning I had to slide and messed up my new sweatpants and now I don't know much it's gonna cost to get them dry cleaned and don't tell me to wash them by hand cause then they'll get ruined and I don't wash clothes anyway because it's such a menial task and what do I look like anyway a maid or something?"

Codene was seeing crying next to a rock after the game, "Because I felt bad for the SAG. Why does there always have to be a losing team? Those poor guys."

Codene was consoled by boyfriend (we're not sure what he does over there) left fielder John P. Mafioso, Esq. "Hey, headcheese, stop cryin'. I could always get Victoria Principal to go out with me, steadys you, y'know!"

The Montquerier became outraged, when at the game's conclusion, SAG Treasurer Screamy Bamboy took fourteen runs from The Montquerier and added them to the SAG score, "because ultimately, anything they do belongs to us anyway. And besides, they never got a purchase order."

To retaliate, The Great and Powerful Oz cast a spell on Bamboy. She promptly evaporated into thin air, leaving a pile of ash and bone. "That'll teach her to mess with The Great and Powerful Oz."