Redfield defines the educated person

By Lynn M. Cowan
Editor-in-Chief

Dr. James M. Redfield was the keynote speaker at the fifth annual Presidential Fall Symposium, held on Oct. 3 in Memorial Auditorium.

Redfield, professor of social thought and classics at the University of Chicago, spoke on the topic, "Defining the Educated Person: Counterpoints."

"Educators are vulnerable to demands," Redfield said in his opening remarks. "They are subject to all expectations of society. We're expected to teach a subject, and teach our society's values."

Because of these demands, he said, educators tend to make gestures rather than actions.

Redfield used language requirements as an example of these gestures. "Students are not required to learn a language anymore, but to attempt to study it for some time." This, he said, was a gesture, not an action.

Redfield then went on to define knowledge. "In most cultures, there are at least three kinds of knowledge circulating about," he said.

He listed these three types of knowledge as general knowledge, skilled knowledge, and sacred knowledge.

Skilled knowledge, he continued, consists of the things that a few people know, such as crafts.

Sacred knowledge, he concluded, consists of the things that only certain, privileged people know.

Redfield added that our culture is the exception to these three types of knowledge.

"Western culture," he said, "has de-mythologized this sacred knowledge, but in the process, sacri­lege of worldly activity has occurred.

"Most think there should be a relation of theory to the world," Redfield said.

"Interdisciplinary work, though, is not the answer, according to Redfield. "When you take two disciplines and put them together, the result is a third discipline—not a combination of the first two."

"Redfield said, "The gap between academia and the world is entirely appropriate and useful."

"What the world has to offer can be learned in the world," he said.

Child care center opened

by Susan Sarlo

Construction is almost completed on the new MSC Child Care Center facility in Stone Hall, which will open in mid-October.

According to Janezy Nuzzo, director of the Child Care Center, the Child Care Center will be open to children of students, faculty, and staff, ages 2 1/2 to 6 years, who have up-to-date immunization records. The center will be open Monday through Friday, 7:30 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. throughout the academic year.

"The Child Care Center has been designed to be an exciting, inviting place where children can explore a wide variety of materials and activities," explained Nuzzo. "The center's curriculum will be developmentally in nature—it will attempt to provide for the social, emotional, physical and intellectual development of each child."

According to Nuzzo there are three programs available to the children at the center. They consist of a full day, half day, cont. on p. 6

Shortage of housing

By Laura Lawson
Correspondent

The demand for on-campus housing at MSC outweighs the available space, according to Dr. Ruth Lugo-Alvarez, director of residence life.

Lugo-Alvarez said, "since fall of 1984 there has been an increasing amount of students who want to remain on campus."

Lugo-Alvarez continued by saying that MSC has the capacity to house 2000 students in the traditional double room. This year 1500 students renewed their requests for housing and 1200 incoming freshmen also applied to live on campus.

Prior to Blanton Hall's being built, selection for housing was based on a "mile rule" which gave student living outside a 20 mile radius of MSC priority, said Lugo-Alvarez. After the addition of Blanton, housing was open to all.

Lugo-Alvarez viewed the increased demand for on-campus housing as a positive reaction to the residence life experience which she said integrates education and culture for an overall experience of personal growth for students.

Lugo-Alvarez said that of the approximately 2200 students living on campus there are presently 170-180 triple rooms which are occupied predominantly by freshmen. This figure has dropped from 200 since the beginning of the semester. In addition, there are 200 students on a waiting list for on-campus housing.

One student commented on six people sharing a shower as, "sometimes a problem." Asked if he would like to remain on campus he stated, "I'm not discouraged. The room isn't really a problem and it's better than commuting."

A freshman described the triple situation as being, "weird getting used to, because we don't have space, and we have different sleeping hours, but we all try to be quiet." She also said, "It's OK. I don't want to move, cont. on p. 7

Parking issue unresolved

By Laura Lawson
Correspondent

When asked if he believed there was a problem with parking on campus, Thomas Stepnowski, assistant vice president for facilities, answered, “Yes, we don’t have enough proximity parking.”

There are 4000 available parking spaces on campus, said Stepnowski, compared to the approximate 8000 cars with decals. He said that lot 28 on Clove Road generally has 300-500 empty spaces. The 350 spaces in lot 13 are said to turn over six times a day.

Lot 13 is frequently reserved for visitor use, in addition to its space limitations. According to Stepnowski and Campus Police, if more than 50 spaces are to be reserved, the campus police must notify the SGA in advance so the dates and numbers may be published in the Montclarion.

An SGA representative said this policy has not yet been instituted.

Last spring, the SGA staged a protest to call to the attention of the administration, student dissatisfaction with the use of lot 13 and the inconvenience of Freeman Hall residents who were previously required to park overnight across the campus.

The parking committee, with three student representatives, met after the protest and compiled a proposal submitted for review to Mr. William Griffith, vice president of Administration and Planning.

The proposed parking plan included suggestions for overnight parking for Freeman Hall residents in lot 30, ten designated handicapped spots in lot 13, reinforcement of lot 17 as commuter parking, and the advance notification by campus police to SGA of reserved parking for visitors in lot 13.

So far, the only change in parking regulations has been the allocation of 30 random overnight spaces in lot 30 for Freeman Hall residents and the establishment of ten permanently reserved handicapped spaces in lot 13, Stepnowski said.

Perry Del Vecchio, treasurer of the SGA and student representative on the parking committee, said, “We came to a compromise and nothing has come of it. Everybody thought it was a fair proposal and it would be accepted.”

Stepnowski said, “The protest was helpful for people to understand the problem.” On the issue of lot 13 he stated, “A philosophical difference existed between how the college treats visitors and how the protesting students think visitors should be treated.”

Del Vecchio said, “The college should be treating the students consideration first and then outside guests and visitors.” He is concerned with the statement “We want to reserve the 17 rights. We don’t want the policy abused,” he said.

In reference to the proposal, Del Vecchio also said, “I accepted the committee, but not by Bill Griffith. The students voiced concern, but the business were not represented. (They) seemed willing to cooperate with students, but now the flame has burned out. Students are no longer willing. Maybe another protest is in order.”

Stepnowski pointed out that visitors and guests at the college were not only as taxpayers in the state of NJ, but also as representatives from various fields such as lecturers and participants in symposiums whose visits are for the benefit of the students.

He added that it is his “business to make sure we have a safe campus and parking is a component in the entire safety package.”

Proposal of mandatory ESL

By Lynn M. Cowan
Editor-in-Chief

The Hispanic Caucus held its first general meeting on Oct. 4 to discuss the English as a Second Language (ESL) grant. Dr. Alice Freed, ESL coordinator, spoke about the $73,000 one-year grant awarded to the linguistics department to expand the ESL program.

She reported on the progress the program has made in identifying students who need ESL courses to improve their English communication skills.

Freed said students are identified for testing for the ESL program based on a three-question Home Language Survey and examination of writing samples.

This screening process, she said, does not automatically place students in the ESL courses, but it does recommend that they be tested to determine their need for the courses.

She added that the grant has also provided funding for an ESL tutor in the campus Tutorial Center, and faculty advising and counseling.

Freed proposed that all properly identified students should be required to take an ESL placement exam. Otherwise, if their test results showed a need, the ESL courses.

“Students are not required to take these courses, and there are some with a real need who refuse to,” she said.

Her interpretation, said Freed, was that students felt there was a stigma attached to ESL courses.

Mr. Jose Magdalene, career counselor, agreed with the proposal. “I see people graduating from this institution who really have very poor mastery of the English language. These folks are in serious trouble. If the instrument (screening process) is valid and shows the need, then these babies should be required,” he said.

Dr. Joanne Englebert of the Spanish department stated the caucus to examine why the students viewed the ESL courses as a stigma.

The caucus convened, agreeing that it would encourage students with a need for ESL training to enroll in the courses.

Gradual view urged

At the Presidential Fall Symposium, break-out session titled “Global Perspectives”, it was concluded that Americans must become better educated about the outside world not only as taxpayers, but also as citizens with an interconnection of world affairs.

Dr. William Berlin of political science stressed that this outside world does not necessarily mean countries outside of the U.S., but the interconnectedness of world affairs. “There is no substitute for learning about things that are close to us, and for knowing ourselves,” he said.

Several participants pointed out the overwhelming ethnocentrism that characterizes American culture. “Being Americans, we are totally emerged in our own culture,” Dr. Harvey Klein, director of the international studies program, said.

Klein, who as an anthropologist has traveled extensively, said, “Traveling allows the person to get an appreciation of diversity in cultural values.”

“Also you acquire an appreciation of how other people view your own society,” Klein added.

Educational leadership

Julia Dutka, a native of China, said that the separation from her own culture forced a sense of growth. “It enabled me to reflect upon my own culture, to see things I had not previously been able to. It showed me what a global perspective should be like. I am worried about getting a job...a good job.”

Good jobs are often associated with liberal arts majors such as business, which is why student do not major in liberal arts, the student explained.

The students also worried about the impact of an educational institution's reputation. According to Robbins, MSC students who are 'down to earth', they cannot compete effectively. “Two years down the road it doesn't matter where you went to school. Will the students be remembered or not can you do the job,” Robbins said. “The key to success is open-mindedness and hard work.”

Liberals is superior

By Libyanne McClean

The participants of the Presidential Fall Symposium break-out session titled “Career" agreed unanimously that liberally educated people are better prepared for the future.

Dr. Thomas Venendall of the Speech and Theatre department moderated the group session. He defined a liberal as a protected person as a person capable of finding knowledge.

Charles Robbins, associate employment manager for Prudential, said “This characteristic will help students tremendously in every field.”

Tina Jacobowitz of Educational Leadership said, “Liberal education students have the ability to act reasonably, adjust their thinking, and take responsibility for their actions.”

Some students in the group explained that the priorities which have been imposed on them are different than those of the other group members. “Students are worried about themselves,” he said.

Several students attending the session gave examples of American ethnocentrism. “I had not previously been aware of the ethnocentrism,” he continued.

The session focused on what can be done to incorporate a global perspective into the college curriculum. Some participants pointed out that a global perspective in the form of a GER would be like "stuffing it down their (the students) throats." Dr. Ivan Tolbert of the Public Information office said, “A global perspective should be infused in every part of the instructional process.” He added that the terms used in the textbooks must reflect this view.

In reference to questions of what "internationalization" should be taught at home, Tolbert said, “Since the family unit is under a lot of strain, education must step in. That is the only viable solution.”
Masturbator terrorizes library

By Rob Tomeo

On Sept. 29, a female student reported to the campus police an incident that occurred on Sept. 27 at 9:00 p.m. at Sprague Library.

The female was sitting in the first floor of the library near the reference section, when a man sat down next to her and started staring at her. At first she ignored him, but she later discovered that he was masturbating. The police have a description of the man.

The campus police recently received reports from female residents in Bohn Hall on the 10th and 14th floors, that a male resident also of Bohn Hall had been harassing them.

The male reportedly hid in the women's bathrooms and stared at the females while they were using them. He also reportedly followed the females to their rooms, trying to talk to them.

On Sept. 30, the male was identified and arrested. He has been charged with harassment and trespassing and will be arraigned on Friday, Oct. 7 in Clifton Municipal Court.

Pending the outcome of the court proceedings, he has been thrown out of the dorms and suspended from school.

On Sept. 30 at 1:40 a.m., the campus police received a call from an assistant manager in Blanton Hall that a male resident was trying to break into another resident's room.

The youth who was under the influence of alcohol, was apprehended by the police and identified as being under the legal drinking age. The minor was brought to Mountainside Hospital for treatment and will be charged with illegal consumption of alcohol beverages.

On Oct. 1 close to 1 a.m., the campus police apprehended an individual that had smashed the window of a fire exit door in Bohn Hall.

The person, who was identified as a visitor and not an MSC student, claimed he was emotionally upset due to family problems. He is reimbursing the college for damages, and no charges will be pressed against him.

Between 7:50 a.m. and 3:00 p.m. on Sept. 28, a 1980 Toyota Tercel was broken into in lot 30. A radar detector was stolen from the car.

Sometime between 6:00 p.m. on Sept. 26 and 5:00 p.m. on Sept. 28, a 1980 Toyota Celica in lot 30 was broken into and an attempt was made to steal the car. The attempt failed, but a radar detector and checks from a checkbook were taken from the car.

A stereo was stolen from a 1987 Volkswagen which was parked in lot 28, sometime between 11 p.m. on Sept. 28 and 9 p.m. on Sept. 29.

We’ve reformed the correction system.

Prisoners of old-fashioned correction systems, freedom is here.

Smith Corona’s Correcting Cassette means an end to twists, tangles and fumbles.

It’s an easy-to-load, drop-in correction tape you can insert in mere seconds.

There are no spools to unwind. No complicated threading. No more muttering under your breath. It’s that simple.

You’ll find our Correcting Cassette and Right Ribbon System on the Smith Corona XL 2500 typewriter.

You’ll also find lots of other great features on the XL 2500—like the Spell-Right™ 50,000 word electronic dictionary, full line correction, WordEraser® and more.

You might expect a typewriter this sophisticated to cost a bundle, but the XL 2500 is surprisingly affordable. All of which makes it one of the best values you can find today.

Intro. to The Short Story

When Carla told me that my date was a little short, I thought she was talking dollars and cents, not feet and inches. So there I was at the door, in my spiked heels, staring at the top of my date's head.

All I could think was, how do I get myself out of this? I could imagine how my legs would ache if I had to walk around with my knees bent all evening. So to stall for time, while figuring out how to fake malaria, I made us some Double Dutch Chocolate.

When I brought it into the living room, I discovered that Gary was a chocolate lover too. Ahh, a man after my own heart. Okay, I decided I'll give him a chance. So we sat down and saw each other face-to-face for the first time. He had a nice smile.

After some small talk—I mean conversation—I discovered that we both love Updike, hate the winter weather, and both have miniature schnauzers. So, we made a date to introduce Shadow and Schatzi next week.

PARKING: Do we really get what we pay for?

On Tuesday, April 12, 1988, the students of MSC held a demonstration to protest the insufficient parking on campus. Although the administration had promised to provide more parking spaces, the protests continued considering the amount of student complaints, some of the problems were in fact resolved.

A prime concern was that no visitor parking was allowed in lot 13. It was also requested that Freeman Hall residents be allowed to park in lot 30.

Protestors wanted a student majority on the Parking Committee, and hoped that students would be permitted to see the budget which shows how much money from parking fines and tickets is being spent.

Finally, protestors asked that a full apology from the administration be printed in the The Montclarion for the improper use of lot 13 since the installation of the new booth.

Since last April, Freeman Hall residents have been able to utilize lot 30, and there is a student majority on the Parking Committee, and a copy of the budget has been made available.

But in addition, parking fees were increased by $10 and tickets by $5. So far this semester there have been at least 29 reports of car thefts and vandalism. This leads students to the obvious question: What are we getting for our money?

The question of visitor parking lot 13 is somewhat sketchy. According to Tom Griffith, SGA President, there has been no visitor parking there so far this semester.

At a recent meeting of the parking committee (Mergola and SGA Treasurer Perry Del Vecchio are members of the committee) it was voted four to one to keep lot 13 free of visitors. The committee’s recommendation was then passed on to Vice President of Finance and Administration Bill Griffith, who could choose to use the recommendation or not.

But here’s the odd part: Mr. Stepanowski, Director of Facilities and a member of the Parking Committee, does not recall the outcome of any such vote for the proposal ever taking place. A copy of the minutes of the meeting has been requested by Mergola but has been met with considerable delay.

Is information being suppressed? Is the administration deliberately stonewalling the efforts of the Parking Committee? In terms of parking, when will students get what they pay for?

The students of the college Serve better parking arrangements. After all, if the students of this college aren’t accommodated, who should we accommodate? It is our belief that this serious problem will not be resolved without the full cooperation of the administration.

WASHINGTON—Brenda A. Vaughan is pregnant, due in Sept., to give birth to her first child. The venue for what is often called a happy event will be the D.C. Jail. Vaughan has been officially convicted of passing bad checks (for which the sentence is usually probation) and unofficially of taking drugs. The sentence for that is jail until the baby is delivered.

“I’m going to keep her locked up until the baby is born because she tested positive for cocaine when she came before me,” Superior Court Judge Peter H. Wolf said when sentencing Vaughan. “She’s apparently an addictive personality and I’ll be darned if I’ll have the baby born that way.”

Some facts. Vaughan is 30 and married. She was convicted of passing $721.98 in checks against her business, not his.”

The judge has overstepped himself. He seems to be reacting to the anti-drug hysteria of the moment, subscribing in his own way to the ethic of taking drugs—should impede the war on drugs? Just say no!”—and does it matter that a man should be treated differently, as NOW says? That’s silly. Men don’t get pregnant. Vaughan has, and she’s chosen to have her baby. She has her rights, but also her obligations. The foremost of them at the moment is to deliver a healthy baby.

Vaughan’s case is symptomatic of so much that is ugly and sad in our society. Here is a judge who feels he must keep a woman imprisoned because, really, there is no other way to ensure she remains free—there are not enough social workers, clinics, drug-prevention programs to do the job. Here is a judge who also knows his control substantially ends the moment a child is born. Jail turns out to be the one environment we can control—and even then not entirely.

But Wolf’s good intentions are not the issue. He has reacted much as I do when I see a pregnant woman smoking—with fury, with indignation, with an almost consuming urge to berate her on the spot. But more than cowardice keeps me mum. I am not the parent. That’s not my child. A danger is present, but it is neither really real nor present. Lots of health kids are born to smokers and, from the evidence, new-borns addicted to cocaine are in no real peril.

The judge has overstated himself. He seems to be reacting to the anti-drug hysteria of the moment, subscribing in his own way to the ethic of taking drugs—should impede the war on drugs? Just say no!”—and does it matter that a man should be treated differently, as NOW says? That’s silly. Men don’t get pregnant. Vaughan has, and she’s chosen to have her baby. Response to racism continues

To the editor:

I think it's time I throw my hat into the racial ring of criticism. I've read every letter to date, and it seems everyone is trying to push their specific belief on the other. I hope to cover the topic of racism on campus both neatly and concisely.

I believe racism exists on campus, I would be foolish to say otherwise. I don't believe, however, it exists anymore than in any other place.

There are always going to be people who dislike other people because of appearances and backgrounds. I think that stinks, but I admit, I see it creep up in me sometimes. We're in an educational setting at the college, and it would be nice to think that everyone would think first before reacting. Unfortunately, it doesn't work out that way.

If anyone is still confused about Vic Mizzone, then look around and you'll find a variety of stories. Don't focus on any one version and likewise don't let any one story in particular shape your opinion of racism on campus.

If anyone thinks I'm choosing to ignore racism you're wrong. I am simply choosing not to over react to any one incident. If someone tells me that "Johnny White Boy" punched "Tony Latino" then I have to wonder why. Maybe Johnny is a little psychotic or maybe Tony is in his face first. I get alarmed when I hear about four or so fights because the chances of the fights not being racially motivated are slim.

I was involved in an incident about three years ago that didn't start out as a racial thing but quickly developed into one. The next day a close friend walked down to campus police and reported the incident.

Two problems quickly arise; (1) maybe people are not reporting the cases of overt racism, and (2) maybe the campus police are not reporting the situations as racial incidents. There is even a third obstacle. Is prejudice the reason for every fight with a minority? Where does equality begin and where does it end?

It is sad, but the problems that seem so clear to some, are not the same to others. I believe in thoughts and feelings of John Lennon, and Martin Luther King Jr., and hope a day will come where we are all equals. I believe that in this country every group that immigrated here was persecuted for some time. Those groups eventually found harmony.

I think that there has been enough public addresses to this topic, and I hope the next comes from the administration in the form of a committee or an outside consultation and progress report on the racism problem on this campus.

MSC soccer team's behavior ruins game

I would like to direct this letter to the MSC men's soccer team and any other male in the obnoxious group at Thursday night's women's field hockey game.

On Thursday night, the MSC Indians hosted the Number 1 ranked team in the state, the Trenton State Lions. The behavior and obscenities that were projected from this group of "boys" was not only appalling, but embarrassing to this MSC student. Being members of our men's soccer team, one would think they would show more sportsman like qualities—obviously, that was not the case.

I was embarrassed not only for myself, but for the school which I represent. I have a friend on the TSC team and was truly ashamed to face her and her teammates after the game. I would hope that our sportsmen would have more class than to shout "Bulls--", and to cheer when a member of the TSC team was injured. I hope these "boys" realize that the behavior they displayed was childish and definitely uncalled for.

I would like to congratulate our women's field hockey team on a great game, and hope that in no way did they support such unsportsman like qualities.

Circus bears the Big Apple

By Jennifer G. Stelovich
Arts/Entertainment Editor

Oh boy! The circus is coming to town.

After a long absence, the Moscow Circus returns for a 14-city American tour. Currently the colorful exhibitioners offer one magnificent ring on the world’s most glorious stage. Having only one ring gives each performer the proper attention. Their acts deviate from the American big top clown antics and often gaudy/unimpressive routines.

One example from Ringling Brothers, et al, at Madison Square Garden last year involved a daring alligator wrestler. Come on, if he hadn’t swung the passive preppy symbol around, there would have been no competition.

From a famous form of foot juggling, incorporated from the Chinese acrobats, sisters Svetlana and Kristina toss balls and large poles to and fro with their feet. To help them catch the balls and toss other props are the symbolic bears of the Soviet Union.

Dressed in bright hats and “boy-girl costumes,” two cubs picked up a dance. They are a hit, replacing the clowns of the American circus and side show.

No circus would be complete without a single man in a cage with 17 Sumatran tigers. Trainer Nikolai Pavlenko commands the beasts through rings and hoops of fire. They also leap over one another and dance for Pavlenko.

An on-stage band mimics the performers with drum beats as they land, and horns as they fall. Unfortunately, all of their numbers sounded like pieces from the Starkeys and Hush series of the 1970’s. Next, let’s bring on the dancing horses! Chasing onto the stage they wildly race around the ring. Acrobats mount them and swing beneath the animals and hang from their manes. The rush of excitement is sounded in sighs as the audience watches in amazement.

The danger of the animals reached the patrons of the orchestra seats most as they bent up their necks to see ferocious cats at play.

Light humor is next attempted by Soviet slapstick performer. They use musical instruments for props instead of water guns and red noses. Resembling Benny Hill doddles and Three Stooges stunts, they lived up to the expectation.

Ooahs and aahs fill the theatre as The Cranes, trapeze artists, reach new heights. With grace and beauty, daring men and one woman soar in an aerial ballet. Using the backdrop, not available in an arena, stars and colors are illuminated to the music. The Cranes dismiss the standards of flying through the air with the greatest of ease.

From the ceiling partitions several of the artists are suspended and raised, attached by one arm. High atop, center, is another hanging from his perch with two lowered at either side. As one person tumbles to another the others fall and rise simultaneously. This pattern is repeated until all of the performers fly through the air and dismount.

The Moscow Circus lifts the hearts of the audience and is fun for people of all ages. In the words of P.T. Barnum, from Barnum, their production makes you want to “join the circus like you wanted when you were a kid.”

Wiedlin making riffs of her own

By John Martucci

The Montclarion - Your husband and your manager (Ged Malone), one and the same. That’s a pretty interesting relationship. Which came first?

Jane Wiedlin - We met and fell in love first, he was working as a manager in London when I met him and we uh...dated or whatever for two years and then we got married just over a year ago. At that time I had fired my manager and was looking for new management and I couldn’t find anybody that I liked, I re-interviewed as far as I know there isn’t a lot of good managers out there that are trustworthy, want to work real hard and believe in their clients.

Here was this guy I was in love with right here at my disposal. So after we got married, he decided that it would make sense for him to manage me; and...people told us not to do it; that it was a big mistake.

In a way it’s worked out fine, but I will say that he’s a lot more business oriented than I am; and where as I can just walk away from the interviews and the promotions and this and that at the end of the day, he has a real hard time not thinking about it twenty-four hours a day.

Mont. - I saw the liner notes on the Scarlet and Black album (another group he manages), and they mention your relationship as proof that management and artists can work together as friends.

J.W. - Yeah, that was nice of them to say that.

Mont. - Do you have a favorite song on the album?

J.W. - Probably two, “One Heart, One Way” because it’s so romantic to me. It’s really about my husband, and some of the lines in the song are written right from letters to him. So, that’s very close to my heart.

Also “Fur” because I do feel so strongly about animals and I especially pissed to write a song that actually had a message, but was still fun to listen to.

Mont. - Who would you like to work with in the future? Who would you like to tour with?

J.W. - Well my favorite band is Crowded House, and we’ve been trying to get on their tour, and they’re having a lot of set backs. I guess their second album isn’t doing quite as well as they wished. But, I really love their music and I think he’s a brilliant songwriter, and the best singer, and I guess if I could do anything with someone, I would love to either write a song with him, or sing a duet with him or something.

Mont. - You mention Neil Finn, who else do you admire?

J.W. - John Lennon, ah shoot...there are a ton of people out there. Bryan Ferry I’ve always been a big fan of. Although I guess these days I’m more into XTC and the酸 principle, I think that’s the most sophisticated dance band. David Bowie I think was real important in the seventies. I don’t know if I think the thing about having heroes and idols and people to admire, is that you have to be able to let go of it. I mean, I couldn’t do that, or I don’t think they can do good work for twenty or thirty years at a time; at least not in pop music.

In the past there’s been people like Cole Porter and George Gershwin and people like that, that did really good stuff. I really admire people like that. Hank Williams Sr. is someone who I just think is, or was, really awesome. It’s really tragic that he died so young. So...I don’t know, I guess just good songwriter mostly are people I look up to.

Mont. - When does songwriting continue for you, or do you ever stop?

J.W. - Actually I go in and out of phases of songwriting. I’ll write and write for months or so and then I won’t do any writing. I can’t easily write when I’m doing business stuff. Like ever since the album came out it’s turned into this whole business that I have...I have just full of doom and gloom, and you commit suicide because everything’s horrible. Or you can be in Ireland, he refused to kiss the Blarney Stone for fear of catching AIDS or something worse. Is this guy for real!!

Mini-Notes: People leaving record companies is starting to become commonplace. Debbie Harry has left Geffen; Shena Easton has traded EMI for MCA and Rick James left Motown for Arista. The latter two left causing major legal battles...U2’s Rattle and Hum movie will debut in London on October 20. Anybody wanna go?...In MTV’s latest contest, why is INXS giving away a trailer park?

Mini-Notes II: From the “is it just me” file: Is it just me or do women in the music biz get better with age? Take Joan Jett, Lita Ford, Nancy Wilson, Belinda Carlisle, and any one of the Bangles for example. And so guys get worse? For instance, the Stones’ Mick Jagger and Keith Richards and Aerosmith’s Steve Tyler look like anorexic skeletons. Whereas on the other hand, Freddie Jackson got bigger after each album. He’s only released three albums and he’s three times the size he was on the first cover.

Quote of the Week: Bon Jovi on loyalty and friendship, “It’s important to me to have people I can depend on. What I look for in romance is friendship. I can get laid anywhere.” Well Isn’t that special? We don’t have an ego now, do we? The answer to last week’s question (given to me by Mark MacDonald): Sting was given his nickname in high school, for wearing black and yellow sweaters that resembled a bumblebee. This week’s question was given to me by Evan Weissman. We all know that George Harrison beats the Beatles guitar BUT who preceded him? Think about it...Until next week.

How to make a hit.

The American Express Card is a hit virtually anywhere you shop, from Los Angeles to London. Whether you’re buying books, baseball tickets or brunch. So during college and after, it’s the perfect way to pay for just about everything you’ll want.

How to get the Card now.

College is the first sign of success. And because we believe in your potential, we’ve made it easier for students of this school to get the American Express Card right now—even without a job or a credit history. So whether you’re an underclassman, senior or grad student, look into our automatic approval offers. For details pick up an application on campus. Or call 1-800-THE-CARD and ask for a student application.

The American Express Card. Don’t Leave School Without It.

You work hard all your life and what do you get? Well, depending on where you work, you could get cancer. Asbestos has been proven to cause cancer. Certain toxic chemicals like formaldehyde and freon are being investigated. If you’ve worked with radioactive particles or even worked near them, your risk is greater. And even if you’ve worked nowhere hazardous, it wouldn’t hurt to get a checkup. Because the incidence of cancer after the age of 45 to 50 increases rapidly.

Over the next several years the American Cancer Society will be conducting more research into certain lifestyles and exposures which could increase cancer mortality. So know the risks.

Don’t smoke. Watch what you eat and drink. Look for the warning signs of cancer. And retire not only with a gold ticker. But a healthy one, also.

Soccer team knots Kean, tops Dowling

By Ian Saarmann
Staff Writer

The MSC soccer team battled conference leading Kean to a 0-0 tie on Wednesday night at Union. The game was marred by bad calls and ejected. MSC Head Coach Dave Mauser was ejected in the second overtime for arguing a call that almost cost the Indians the game. A Kean player was also ejected in the first overtime.

Besides the bad calls, the game was very well played. The Indians’ (7-2-3) best opportunity to score came on a corner kick by Mike Nothofer. Just as McGowan was going to shot hit the post and bounce away. Even though the Indians would have liked a victory, they still are unbeaten in their last seven games. Their record has jumped to 7-2-3 during that time. MSC has also moved into a tie for second place in the conference.

The team is coming together real well," co-captain Mike Nofther said. One of the major reasons why is goalie Jim Stahl, who once again recorded shutout. Center half back Charlie Smith also had a great game for the Indians.

MSC 4-Dowling 1

John Rubinetti and Charles Smith sparked the MSC soccer team to an early lead as the Indians beat Dowling 4-1 in Montclair on Saturday. The Indians took a 2-0 lead into the locker room at halftime. Dowling scored quickly in the second half, however, on a goal by James O’Boyle to cut the lead to 2-1.

MSC held off the challenge by getting goals from Adam McNally and Lou Ken-Kwofie.

Stahl named Athlete of the Week

By Mary Carlomagno
Staff Writer

Senior goalie Jim Stahl has been an integral part of the strong Indian defense this season. The Indians are presently 7-2-3.

“I am very happy about the season, we’re improving with each game. With every game we click a little bit more,” Stahl said.

Stahl, this week’s Montclair Athlete of the Week, believes that MSC has been successful due to a group team effort. Although the Indians aren’t are now playing together as a unit, which is the key,” he continued.

As for the rest of the season,”it looks challenging, as long as we continue to take one game at a time we will be successful.

According to Stahl, upcoming teams to beat are Glassboro State and Trenton State. He is confident about victory.

Stahl concluded, “As long as we all continue to do our part, after all, I can give up five goals as long as we score six.”

Witzal and Clark try to instill spirit in Indians

By Mary Carlomagno
Staff Writer

Trying to come back after a tough Wagner loss, seniors Mark Witzal and Matt Clark believe that character, leadership and a winning attitude will put MSC back on top.

The expectations of the entire MSC team are high. Last year was the only year that the Indians did not win the conference in the past six seasons.

"We're not supposed to lose," said co-captain Witzal. Witzal, a defensive tackle, has made the New Jersey Athletic Conference all-conference team twice. This year, he was named pre-season All-American.

"Last year we didn't feel like we accomplished what we wanted to accomplish, even though a lot of schools would kill for that record," Witzal continued.

Clark, a three-year veteran at noseguard who made second team all-conference last year, stated, "Since I've been here, I have only lost six games. We are in a position where we will always be in contention of winning the conference or continuing into playoff games."

The example set by the veterans will be a key in the Indian success. "The true leaders have to get back to everyone thinking as a team, whether it is the defensive line or the offense," Clark explained.

Witzal and Clark share a true bond that he and Witzal share.

"Perhaps this loss was a blessing in disguise," said Witzal. "Before the Wagner game we were looking down the road too far in advance instead of taking one game at a time. After all, you can't win your fifth game until you win your fourth game."

Clark said of the Wagner loss, "I don't know which is the greater pain, you hearing it and living it for yourself or being constantly reminded by other people. Now we have an opportunity to gain back our pride and respect.

Regardless of last week's upset, MSC must 'approach every game like it is the biggest,'" said Clark. "We need to take it one play at a time."

"We have the individual talent, and if everyone plays together, we will pull through," Clark concluded. "In all, you can't win your fifth game until you win your fourth game."

What's What in MSC sports

BOWLING

On Sunday, October 2, the MSC Bowling team completed its first tournament of the season at the Garden City Bowl in Garden City, Long Island. Five bowlers represented MSC and Scott Pirigliano was high average with a score of 208. Also bowling for MSC were Jim Jourdan, John Oroz, Dave Oldenhage and Gary McCarthy. The next tournament will be held on Sunday, October 23 at Parkway Lanes in Elmwood Park at 9:30 a.m.

Fall Baseball

The Indians traveled to Rutgers-New Brunswick last week for the second time this season but fell to the Scarlet Knights, 13-8. Last weekend, MSC took a three-game trip to North Carolina and returned home with a 1-1-1 record, as they defeated Wilmington, 13-4, played a 3-3 tie with Methodist on Saturday and lost to the same team on Sunday, 6-5.

NJAC still wide open Despite Saturday’s 51-21 loss to Wagner, The MSC football team is still in a good position to garner a post-season playoff spot, courtesy of a New Jersey Athletic Conference (NJAC) championship.

Last year’s NJAC champions, the Kean Cougars, haven’t exactly set the world afire this season after being touted as favorites to repeat. This was because the Cougars won the title last year with a fairly young team, and most of the starters are back. But Kean is finding life tough at the top, as illustrated by their 14-13 loss Friday at William Paterson. This week, the Cougars meet MSC in what will be probably be termed a big game, and it may be an accurate term.

The Indians would certainly love to win this game, if for no other reason than to avenge last season’s loss which essentially cost MSC the NJAC conference title. But it’s also a big game because it will be interesting to see how the Indians bounce back from last week’s game. Last year, the Indians faced East Stroudsburg for a season-opening loss to Wagner, and won a game that wasn’t as close as the 13-2 final score appears. And after the Indians lost to Kean, they beat Ramapo 65-0 the following week.

At the ballpark Post-season play began Tuesday in the baseball world, and the opening game pitted the New York Mets against the Los Angeles Dodgers. The game was the opener of a best of seven series to determine the National League champion.

Billed as the “battle of the aces,” the game turned out to be just that as Dwight Gooden (NY) and Orel Hershiser (LA) put on a spectacular display. Gooden threw a four-hitter going seven innings and Hershiser carried a shutout into the ninth inning. Suddenly the seemingly invincible Hershiser cracked. Following Gregg Jeffries’ single, he gave up a double to Darryl Strawberry, scoring Jeffries.

Tommy Lasorda, manager of the Dodgers then committed what proved to be a fatal error for the Dodgers, as he took out Hershiser despite the fact that Hershiser had just allowed the first run off him since August 30th. Jay Howell, described as “effectively wild” by experts, came in and walked the first batter to put runners on first and second. That brought up Gary Carter, who responded with a blooper to center after going 0-2 in the count. Strawberry scored from second to tie the game and Howard Johnson barreled in from first to score the winning run.

So once again the Mets won in the ninth, bringing back memories of the 1986 season when the Mets won in the ninth, bringing back memories of the 1986 season when the team went on to win the World Series. Can they do it again? They certainly are in a good position after beating the ace of a tough LA pitching staff.

At the Meadowlands None of last week’s picks (Havin’ a Blast, Turbo Prop and Native Royalty) ran, so we’ll look for those horses this week.

Track team 5th in Bloomsburg Invit., blanks NYU

By Tracy Anderson, Correspondent

The MSC track team once again proved to have a powerful group of legs as they vigorously ran into position five at the Bloomsburg Invitational last Saturday and achieved a major shutout Tuesday against New York University (NYU).

The two top runners, Rosa Dominques and Jennifer Abrahamsen, brought home excellent standings as they placed ninth and tenth overall in Bloomsburg and first and second with times breaking 20:00 in the dual meet at NYU.

“My times are improving, but I’d like to get them even lower, and against outstanding runners and against outstanding runners and assistant coach Collura is confident the girls can take first place.

“The team is running very well and I think the girls can pull it off and shoot for first place on Saturday,” said Collura.

The team will be in action in the NJIAAW/NJAC championship meet in Holmdel Saturday, and will travel to Lincoln University Wednesday for a 4:00 meet.

Wagner takes tenth Pride Bowl, 51-21

By Kenny Peck

Wagner quarterback Greg Kovar threw three touchdown passes, all in the first half, to lead the Seahawks to a 51-21 victory over MSC Saturday in the tenth annual Pride Bowl.

The Wagner point total was the second highest point total ever scored against MSC. The school record, set by East Stroudsburg in 1946, is 53 points.

The Indians found themselves behind 14-0 after the first quarter and 28-0 at halftime before scoring two touchdowns in the third quarter to cut the deficit to 28-14.

Wagner, however, responded with a touchdown of their own in the third quarter and two more in the final period to ice the win.

Indian quarterback Ed Baffige, who received the Most Valuable Player award for MSC, completed 19 of 42 passes for 347 yards and three touchdowns.

Last year it was Kean’s upset of MSC that set the stage for their conference title. Both MSC and Kean finished the year 5-1 in the NJAC. However, because Kean defeated the Indians 16-14 in their only meeting, the Cougars snatched the title a second year Head Coach Glenn Hedden, a 1972 MSC graduate, admits that the conference will be more balanced this year this week when they travel to Union to take on Kean, while Wagner returns home to face Newport News Saturday. For a preview of the MSC-Kean game, see the story below.

Indians’ response to Hedden? "We'll (Indians) be looking for revenge in the Kean game," said Baffige.

The Cougars lost only five lettermen last year, among them two starters. Thus, this is essentially the same squad that surprised the Indians last year.

The offense is led by senior quarterback Dave Johnson and his favorite receiver, tight end Kevin McGuirl. This combination accounted for ten touchdowns last year and could be the key to the Kean offense.

Sophomore running back Daryl Butts ran for seven touchdowns last year to lead the running game. Meanwhile, Craig Davis averaged seven and a half yards per carry on 73 attempts.

Along with McGuirl, sophomore split end Rodney Scott is a formidable receiving threat.

"We'll (Indians) be looking for revenge in the Kean game," said Baffige.

MSC Outside Linebackers vs. TE McGuirl - McGuirl is the key to the Cougars’ passing offense. Coming off a season in which he was named Kodak All-American, McGuirl looks to finish his career on a high note, and this may be the biggest game of the season. If the Indians can shut him down, or even slow him down, Johnson will have to find someone else sure hands to lead the Cougars down field.

MSC Receiver Amod Field vs. Kean Secondary - Field has ten receptions on the year for 247 yards and an incredible 24.7 yard average. Last week Field caught his longest of the season at 80 yards. If the Cougars can’t stop Field, it will prove to be a long night for Kean.
