Alpha Phi Omega and Sigma Phi Rho:
Fraternities meet on common ground

By Lilyanne McClean
Correspondent

Jonathan Benjamin, president of Alpha Phi Omega, and James R. Rhoeche, president of Sigma Phi Rho, have committed themselves and their fraternities to bettering the relationship between black and white organizations at MSC through community service activities.

According to the two presidents, the fraternities will hold the first Annual Services Bowl on Oct. 16. This is football game which will provide an opportunity for the members of both fraternities to get to know each other. Following the football game, a community service activity will be done together.

The obstacles faced by handicapped on campus

By Virginia Delgado
Correspondent

Dr. Morris McGee is an English professor here at MSC. He is handicapped and uses a wheelchair. Throughout his 30 years at this college, he has seen many changes and experienced many of the difficulties caused by inadequate campus facilities.

When McGee first arrived at the college, he said, the situation of the handicapped was grave. He explained that there were no elevators in the buildings, handicapped parking was nonexistent, and the campus had steps that had to be climbed in order to get around.

Since then, McGee has worked towards making all campus areas and areas around campus accessible to the handicapped. He is a member of the handicapped committee which looks into the problems of handicapped students. He has also helped pass section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973. This law states: "No otherwise qualified handicapped individual in the United States shall, solely by reason of his handicap, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any program or activity receiving Federal Financial Assistance.

Other problems encountered by the handicapped are the hardware on doors and inadequate bathroom facilities, he said. Many doors are equipped with round handles which are often difficult for certain handicapped individuals to manage.

In addition, toilet cubicles or the stall doors are too small for a handicapped person to enter.

Last summer, during an international table tennis tournament for the handicapped hosted by MSC, Ms. Elaine Dwyre of Career Services witnessed what she described as an upsetting situation.

A handicapped young lady using a wheelchair attempted to use the lavatory facilities only to find that the handicapped bathroom cubicle was not large enough to accommodate a wheelchair. The young lady was forced to use the bathroom with the door open. Dwyre remarked, "I was embarrassed for Montclair."

"We will be accepting all canned and non-perishable goods," Rhoeche said. Collections will continue until Nov. 22. At that time, the food will be donated to a charity organization.

"This is just the beginning," Benjamin said. "We would like to see a relationship between the two groups to continue after Jon and James have graduated."

Medina contends:
Latin American philosophy exists

By Julia DiMartino
Correspondent

Dr. Vicente Medina spoke about the existence of an "analytic Latin American philosophy of liberation" during a lecture given on Oct. 5 in Kops Lounge.

Medina began by introducing three questions addressed towards Latin American Philosophy:

1. The question considered the presence of Latin American philosophy. This philosophy's presence has been challenged, according to Dr. Medina. One reason for this conflict, he said, is that the philosophy lacks unique discoveries and realizations.

2. He stated that Latin American philosophy must also consider universal philosophy to flourish and become recognized.

Medina concluded with the question, "Can there be an analytic Latin American philosophy of liberation?" He answered this question positively.

This type of philosophy presents arguments and backs them with reason. According to Medina, the region's philosophy could benefit from this manner of rationalization.

Medina reiterated the definite presence of Latin American Philosophy. The magnitude of controversy surrounding it proves this, he said.

Campus Police Report

Physics professor harassed

By Rob Tomeo
Staffwriter

On Oct. 4, the office of a physics professor was broken into and toothpaste was smeared on an optical mirror and a physics textbook. The incident is part of an ongoing investigation, as a similar event happened on a previous occasion. The campus police have a suspect.

Sometime between 4:00 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. on Oct. 7, a resident from Blanton Hall reported that his keys had been stolen from the lock of his room after he had unintentionally left them there. His car keys, which were included on the ring with his room keys, were also taken. The matter is under investigation.

On Oct. 8 at 1:45 a.m., the campus police received a call about a disorderly person in Bohn Hall. Some R.A.'s had seen him staggering in a hall, where broken glass from the doors of a fire extinguisher was scattered about. The person turned violent and loud when accosted by the R.A.'s. The campus police took him to their headquarters and eventually they brought him to the hospital. Although he had denied it, the person tested positive for alcohol and was treated.

The person was arrested for disorderly conduct and illegal consumption of alcohol and other charges are pending.

On Oct. 10 at 10 a.m. it was discovered that someone removed two of the globe lights on Quarry Road. The globe lights are worth about $200 each.

Between 4:00 p.m. on Oct. 7 and 9:00 a.m. on Oct. 8, forced entry was used to get into a desk in one of the offices in the Student Center Annex, and $73 was taken.

At 4:00 p.m. on Oct. 10, a student reported that her sweatshirt was stolen from a Morehead Hall classroom after she left the room for about 10 minutes.

Between 11:00 p.m. on Oct. 7 and 10:00 a.m. on Oct. 8, someone removed the lock on the passenger side of a 1987 Toyota Pick-Up truck parked in lot 21. A stereo, a C.B., and a radar detector were stolen from the truck.

On Oct. 9 at 2:00 a.m., the police received a call from a Bohn Hall resident that a break-in was taking place in a room in the dorm. When investigating the case, the police found no one.

Amnesty

By Laura Lawson
Correspondent

In celebration of its 25th anniversary, Sprague Library is conducting an amnesty program for the month of October, according to Lou Rodriguez, head of circulation.

Anyone with an overdue book or an overdue fine is encouraged to apply in person for amnesty, which will relieve them of their fines, Rodriguez said.

Rodriguez also requested that along with the overdue books, students bring any notices of obligation they may have received from the library to facilitate matters. These notices will also act as receipts for students who require them.

Amnesty does not apply to lost books which the library has to replace or reserved materials, as they are in heavy demand, he continued.

Rodriguez said that the amnesty program, which has been tried several times before on campus, has been somewhat successful. It is beneficial for both the library and the students to have as many books on the shelves as possible.

sons in case of fire were proposed long ago and still have not materialized, he continued.

Harris explained planning delays at MSC. He said that the proposals must often go through many different stages before they are approved. The school must first decide if the proposal is indeed a priority.

Then a decision between legality and morality must be made, he said. This is a question of whether a proposal is legally or morally required, Harris continued.

Another obstacle, Harris said, is the financial requirement of the proposal. A proposal such as the College Hall elevator would cost MSC a great deal of money.

Then the proposal must go out for bidding. The final decision is made at the presidential level, he said. Despite these obstacles, Harris said, changes have been made in every building at MSC to meet the handicapped accessibility requirements.

McGee stressed that the campus community must be aware of the needs of the handicapped so that progress will continue, and in the future all buildings and facilities will be made even more accessible to the handicapped.

African-American lecture series
Black women face hardship
By Carl Chase
Correspondent

The African-American Lecture Series this week presented Dr. Vivian V. Gordon, professor at the State University of New York with a doctorate in sociology.

She discussed the subject of her new book, Black Women, Feminism and Black Liberation: Which Way? The book is a study of ways to deal with the unique and complex set of difficulties that all African-American women share to varying degrees.

Sexist, racist and economic stereotypes have given rise to much of the hardship within America's population of black women, who have the distinction of having to struggle against a "trilogy of oppression," Gordon explained.

For example, the myth of the "matriarchal" or female-dominated, black American society is not supported by scientific evidence. This and other errors generally result from the use of "a European model for assessing a non-European culture or its integral parts," she said.

Another trend, "the feminization of poverty," is a major issue which "must be considered when one evaluates the impact of other economic, racial or sexual issues." It is not just race-specific, Gordon said, adding that a disproportionate number of blacks live in poverty.

Gordon referred to several young black coeds from various college campuses who had expressed concern about being urged to participate in the feminist movements. Gordon explained that black women occupy a unique position as a group, but that feminist literature often fails to address women's issues in this light.

The gap exists, in part, because "they fail to consider economic issues as compounded by race. For all African-Americans there are social and economic rewards for cultural amnesia; no other group needs to pay such a dear price for upward mobility," she said.

Feminist theology, she said, subscribes to a black coalition theory. This theory suggests that women, by forming political ties between women, can achieve power to rival men's power. But this model does not consider America's fundamental power structure, she said.

Gordon further observed that African heritage is still evident in family life: the male-dominated family structure is less typical of ancient African civilization than of European/American civilization.

Today this contrast persists particularly in low-income families. Since many black women believe in the idea of black liberation in this sense has been achieved to a degree, she said.

Gordon offered ways to combat sexism and bolster a rich culture at the same time. "We should learn to avoid bringing up sexist sons. Some women tend to be proud that their sons have many girlfriends. These same women complain if they feel they are treated this way," she said.

One student asked, "How would you go about getting justice under Civil Rights laws?"

Gordon replied, "that's another area of urgent concern because when a black woman believes she is unfairly paid, she may need to file suit under three different kinds of discrimination is racial or sexual or, in some cases, age related."

Asking by another student how to form coalitions that can be more practical for black women, Gordon suggested, "issue-specific and time-limited alliances that clearly suit our agenda."

Administration contracts medical group to staff MSC Health Center
By Virginia Delgado
Correspondent

Beginning October 1, a medical group, hired on a contract basis, will replace Dr. Lillian Rosenberg who is retiring after 31 years as a practicing physician at MSC's Health Center, Dr. Edward Martin, dean of students announced.

Prior to the onset of the fall semester, MSC's Health Center had been left greatly understaffed, although in an emergency, campus police and Mountainside Hospital ambulances would be alerted and ready to assist, Martin said.

Martin added that the staff of nurses, according to medical law, is not authorized to give throat cultures or medical injections without the supervision of a physician. This has obviously inconvenienced some students who are in need of these services.

According to Martin, the college now has the opportunity to try new health services that may further develop the health center and provide its students with new and more expansive medical coverage.

The group, part of The Mountainside family practice group, is affiliated with Mountainside Hospital as well as the New Jersey School of Medicine and Dentistry, Martin said. The new group will provide the school with 2 physicians on duty for two hours a day six days a week.

The hours are Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday 10 a.m. to 12 p.m., Thursday and Friday 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday afternoon hours will yet to be announced.

Clove Road stairway delay explained
By Barbara DiMaria
Correspondent

At last night's meeting, the SGA Welfare and Internal Affairs Committee announced the reason for the delay holding up the construction of a stairway to lot 28 by Clove Road.

According to Thomas Stepnoski, assistant vice president for facilities, the administration in Trenton is currently in the process of reviewing a safety evaluation code for the project. Trenton will make the final decisions.

Once the project go-ahead is given, an engineering company will be hired to carry out the construction. A panel of soliciting the bid will take approximately three months, he said.

Stepnoski said that $126,000 has been allotted for the project. The money will be divided between building the stairway at Clove Road, and building steps at the Carlyle Webster Road hill site.

The expected time of completion for both projects is the summer of 89.

Homecoming weekend begins with a bonfire in lot 28 at 8 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 14. Following this event will be the Homecoming parade which will begin at 2 p.m.

The Homecoming game against William Paterson College will begin at 8 p.m. with the announcement of the winners of the Homecoming king and queen contest during the half-time. At 9 p.m., fireworks will light up the night sky.

Q. Who do you think will make the best vice-president, Dan Quayle or Lloyd Bentsen?

"In my opinion Lloyd Bentsen will be a better vice-president because of his experience. I feel that Dan Quayle just doesn't have the political experience for the job."
Dave Oates
freshman/English

"According to the debate, I can see that Bensten has more knowledge and a better platform than Quayle, and would be better at handling the Office of the President over Quayle."
Michael Trombly

"I think that Bentsen will make a better V.P., just from seeing him in the debate he had better viewpoints. He has the best experience over Quayle."
Mike Iasiella

"I feel that Dan Quayle will do a better job. I don't believe any of the accusations that were said about him. I think he came off better in the debate with Lloyd Bentsen and that he is more in touch with the people."

SOME PEOPLE RETIRE WITH MORE THAN JUST A GOLD WATCH.

You work hard all your life and what do you get?
Well, depending on where you work, you could get cancer. Asbestos has been proven to cause cancer. Certain toxic chemicals like formaldehyde and freon are being investigated. If you’ve worked with radioactive particles or even worked near them, your risk is greater. And even if you’ve worked nowhere hazardous, it wouldn’t hurt to get a checkup. Because the incidence of cancer after the age of 45 to 50 increases rapidly.

Over the next several years the American Cancer Society will be conducting more research into certain lifestyles and exposures which could increase cancer mortality.

So know the risks.
Don’t smoke.
Watch what you eat and drink.
Look for the warning signs of cancer.
And retire not only with a gold ticker.
But a healthy one, also.

Have you ever been in love?
Handicapped: Will they ever be accommodated?

We see them, yet we do not see. They are the many students of Montclair State College who are afflicted with disabilities that make getting to and from classes especially difficult. Whether they are noticed or not, there are many students at MSC who are disabled in one way or another and use wheelchairs. Although some of the buildings on campus are equipped with elevators many are not.

Consider buildings such as Russ Hall, College Hall and Harry E. Sprague Library. How do students confined to wheelchairs get into these buildings?

Just this year alone, several complaints have been made concerning the handicapped students in College Hall and the elevators in Partridge Hall. Yes, there are stalls designed for the handicapped, but the problem is that they’re not wide enough for wheelchairs.

What would a handicapped person do if there was a fire in the Student Center Annex? How would they get out? They couldn’t use the elevator because: 1) The fire department doesn’t allow elevator use in a fire emergency; and 2) Most elevators automatically shut off in a fire emergency.

Such an emergency did occur over the summer. There was a fire alarm in the Student Center Annex where some handicapped people were. The elevators did shut off and those in wheelchairs were trapped.

Campus police were in a state of confusion as to how to handle the situation. Eventually, the handicapped students had to be carried out, and luckily there was no real fire. But what happens the next time there is a real fire?

It is a fact that this school has no real parking facilities designed to accommodate the handicapped students. Name one legitimate handicapped lot. In 13% handicapped spots are in fact not meant for the permanently disabled; they are meant for temporarily disabled students. For instance, when a student breaks his or her leg, they are permitted to park in the handicapped spots.

Most handicapped students are allowed to park in lot 14, but these spots, in fact, do not meet state requirements in terms of width.

However, there is a solution. What if we allowed parking in lot 12 near Finley Hall exclusively for handicapped people instead of for faculty members? In this way the disabled students would be right in the middle of campus with easy access to both ends of the college. It’s time we began accommodating the people we sometimes chose not to see.

Is Quayle qualified to be a senator?

After the vice-presidential debate Wednesday, the question of whether Dan Quayle is qualified to be president of the United States in no longer an issue. The last legitimate doubt he’s left us is whether he’s qualified to be a U.S. senator.

The Republicans tried their best to put a happy face on Mr. Quayle’s performance in the debate—they were quick to point out that he hadn’t liberated Poland or placed Mexico north of Canada—but, let’s face it folks, he was awful.

From the opening bell he looked like a scared rookie playing in a league two levels above his competence. It was almost painful to watch as he struggled with each question, searching his memory bank for the index card with the answer his handlers had provided him. Sometimes he found it, very often he didn’t.

Questioned about his consistent, almost seamless, record of voting against programs that provide nutrition and health care for children of the poor, he said:

“What we have done for the poor is that we, in fact, the homeless bill, the McKinney Act, is a major piece of legislation that deals with homelessness. The Congress has cut the funding that the administration recommended. And the poor and poverty. The biggest thing that we have done for poverty in America is the tax simplification act of 1986. Six million working poor families got off the payroll. Six million people are off the tax-paying payroll because of that tax reform, and they’re keeping the tax money there.”

I suppose there’s an answer in there somewhere, the problem is that it’s the wrong answer. Trying to explain how he would use the military to help stop drug trafficking, he said:

“And there’s another thing that will be more important than the premise of this question on a hypothetical of using troops. We’ll use military assets. We’re not going to, we will use military assets, but we need to focus on another part of the problem.”

They were strange responses, actually, because the question is in the nature of a softball. All you have to do is think “continuity” and the steps a new president must take to reassure the nation, our allies and our enemies that a firm new Quayle’s “continuity” answer was stuck behind his “contra aid” card; anyway, he couldn’t get it out.

Still, it was remarkable that Brokaw thought to bring up the subject yet again and give Quayle one last swing at it. This time Quayle made the mistake of playing his Jack Kennedy card, something he does freely on the stump. “I have as much experience in the Congress as Jack Kennedy did when he sought the presidency,” he said.

Bentsen was ready for that. It was almost poetry.

“Senator,” he said, “I served with Jack Kennedy. I knew Jack Kennedy. Jack Kennedy was a friend of mine.”

Pow! Right in the kiss. If the debate had been a prize-fight they wouldn’t have had to stop it, they could have counted Quayle out.

Even allowing for the possibility that the response was scripted, it didn’t sound scripted. In a debate in which it was transparently obvious that both candidates were giving canned responses again and again, it came across as a moment of genuine passion, a friend rising in outrage to the defense of a martyred comrade’s memory.

In the context of the evening it reinforced the image of Quayle as a pip-squeak trying to play with the big guys but not succeeding. None of which means that Dan Quayle will not be vice president of the United States. Vice-presidential debates are not crucial to campaigns. This one was more important than most, however, and the Republicans were big losers.

What it means, actually, is that for many of us the prospect of a Bush-Quayle victory has gone from alarming to terrifying.
Dawkins and Lautenberg:

Student disillusioned by senate campaign

To the editor:

Let it be known, especially to Peter Dawkins and Frank Lautenberg, the two senatorial candidates in New Jersey, that I am not stupid and I refuse to be treated as such. Last night I took off work, missed the playoffs, and lost valuable studying time to attend the debate in Whippany. I am sincerely disappointed. Not because of the predictable one liners and logical fallacies, that is just a fraction of it. I have become socialized into Ronald Reagan political theatrics. What really has my blood boiling is that I received a telephone call from Vince Hemmer, Youth Director for Peter Dawkins, inviting me to the debate. The phone call was nice, but as I passed through the palatial doors of the Birchwood Manor, I noticed that my preppy sweater, baggy pants and penny loafers were not in vogue. Vince forgot to tell me to wear my elite red power tie and my dark blue suit. Vince also managed to forget to tell me to bring a warm jacket since I would have to stand outside holding a Pete Dawkins sign. I expected a little more of Vince. After all, the Republican Party sent him down all the way from the University of Wisconsin. I guess Ivy League students figured that us New Jersey folks could figure it out for ourselves. There I was standing there with a Dawkins sign, freezing, and missing the playoffs. Needless to say, I was highly offended. Not because of the above reasoning on my candidate, but because I wanted to get to know my candidate. I would think that the 160 some college students there would also want to question their candidate. I guess they were happy being human bil­dars, puppets or just useful idiots.

Is holding signs and screaming the candidate's name frankly, a part of some concert group, the measure of political consciousness on New Jersey college campuses? I pray not. It is true that we would have wanted to know where the money from Atlantic City casinos, the New Jersey Lottery, and the Meadowlands Track was going. It's evidently not going to higher education like it was supposed to. College students have one last chance and that is the bond issue referendum. Higher education is now in the hands of the students.

Our own S.G.A. is in a campaign to pass this referendum and using students fees to do it. Did the candidates urge the passing of this referendum last night? No! Were most of the supporters there last night college students? Yes! Were our Ivy League friends laughing? Probably.

I wanted to know why the state raised parkway tolls when many of our students use the parkway to get to school, especially when parking is not sufficient. I wanted to know why our professors are over worked and our departments are understaffed. I did not want to learn the latest image making, in my case image breaking, chants.

It seems to me that the respective campaigns think that New Jersey college students are only good and important for just that. Evidently, our Ivy League friends are only good for holding the strings while all the puppets dance.

Now, let me tell you how appalled I was to see James Moore, S.G.A. President at Seton Hall, publicly endorse Pete Dawkins as an S.G.A. President. Without exaggerating, I honestly got chills, ask my roommate.

In my case I would never endorse anyone as a legislator. If I was a legislator at Seton Hall, I would impeach Mr. Moore's butt, then I would kick it.

Responsibility has a price

Several months ago, I ran in the SGA elections for the position of presidency. Several months ago, I was as naive to the responsibilities and pressures of such a position as one would be naive to say they understand all aspects of human nature. I never realized the implications that arise with such responsibilities within the SGA, within Class One organizations, or our impact to the student body.

What’s he talking about, you say? Does he regret being elected president? The answer to the latter is a resounding no. What I am talking about is the understanding that with such responsibilities, personal judgment and values play a large role in the outcome of any circumstance. So do ethics and communication. This goes for anything you may strive for, be it in the classroom, at work, within the SGA or even within family matters.

The burden this title carries, as well as any other student position does, allows the possibility to be chastised, talked about, and even ridiculed. This is the unknown reality that seeks ever so slowly on your efforts, in many cases, unnoticed. We’ll call this reality “Regret”.

Have you noticed, that the mayor of New York, Ed Koch, no longer asks, “How my doin’?” That’s because he’s basically afraid of the response he’ll get. All because he stood up for what he believed was right. For his decisions, criticism will always come forth, sometime just for the sake of ostracizing him. This makes you kind of understand why Mario Cuomo didn’t want to run for the presidency.

I’ve just begun to realize the responsibilities I undertook when I took my oath of office. I’ll make my friends and possibly, some enemies. That’s reality. But in doing so, if I feel that I’ve used my best judgment, if I feel that what I’m doing is right, than I can live with it.

To all those in similar positions as myself, I thank you for your contributions and appreciate your efforts in trying to make MSC, and the world, a better place to be. I’m referring to you, Jo-El, Kerri, Kris, Pinky, Staci, Ingrid, Billy, etc., etc.

Just a closing quote from Zen Buddhism, “In walking, just walk. In sitting, just sit. Above all, don’t wobble.” (Yun-men)

Hawkins company marks milestone in modern dance

By Luisa Carrizo
Assistant Arts Editor

The Erick Hawkins Dance Company captivated their audience during their Fri. and Sat. night performances at Memorial Auditorium.

The beauty in fluidity and aplomb of these dancers was evident minutes after the lights went up. It became all-encompassing by the final curtain call as the show divulged the innovation of movement.

The first piece of the production was entitled "Heyoka," the Sioux Indians' name for clowns. According to the program, these clowns were a vehicle to open people up "to the poetry of the action to come."

The dancers in this piece had a great sense of timing. As they gracefully moved through the air, the audience was struck by the physical feats that were visually engaging.

An abstract design accompanied the artists onto stage. It served as a visually provoking backdrop; almost like another dancer suspended in time.

The choreography was composed of a distortion of movements deviating from the norm. These entrancing abstractions worked in syncopation against the rhythm. This piece was most impressive in that Hawkins revels in the delight of movement and concentrates on its subtleties and their simple pleasures.

The first thing you notice about the final piece, "Agathion," is the asymmetrical sculpture on stage that automatically puts one off balance. This dance was just intended to "interpret anything" according to the program, "but aims only to be wondrous just for its own sake."

This brings us to today where Erick Hawkins continues to lead his company. His contributions to the dance world are priceless. As we observe his brilliant choreography and the graceful beauty of his dancers, we realize he is a true milestone in modern dance.

Don't Try This at Home is the second solo release by saxophonist Michael Brecker. Brecker, one of the foremost tenor players in the world today, brings a strong supporting cast for this album. This includes Herbie Hancock, Jack DeJohnette, Peter Erskine, and Mike Stern. This fully digital recording is destined to be one of the biggest jazz releases of the year.

This album is released on the heels of Brecker's self-titled first solo album last year. A double Grammy nominee, it is obviously a difficult act to follow.

With Don't Try This at Home, Brecker surpasses the forte which he created on his first solo release.

The recordings on this album are largely based within the realm of mainstream jazz.

Brecker, however, seems to be taking the music in a new direction. Part of the differentiation between mainstream jazz and the sound which Brecker is creating is the introduction of a saxophone midi-controller. It allows Brecker to use sounds previously limited to keyboards.

The introduction of these new sounds played from a saxophone are both interesting and seem to add another dimension to the music. Depth and atmosphere have never been more present in Brecker's tone and composition.

Strong cuts on the album include "Chime This" which builds into a saxophone frenzy and saxophone solo as one can get. Another is "Suspone," which provides a fast swing beat as the basis for solos by various members of Brecker's band.

The title track is perhaps the strongest cut on the album. It provides the listener with the opportunity to sample the different sounds the midi-controller can create before the song breaks into a very fast mainstream beat where Brecker shows why he is perhaps the king of the tenor saxophone.

The compact disc version of this recording has an extra track only available on CD which is a bizarre culmination of tonal saxophone and various keyboard lines working in counterpoint.

Mark O'Conner (violinist) makes an appearance on the first saxophone solo, which begins as an Irish jig being played by O'Conner and Brecker and then breaks into a new groove where Brecker expands on the tonal possibilities of the midi-controller.

Produced by Don Grolnick, Don't Try This at Home is a very strong album which bears repeated listenings. Brecker, once again leaves no room for disappointment.

Nolan's Notes
By Jarrett Nolan

Hello and welcome to another edition of Nolan's Notes. Can you guess which Rolling Stone has the most expensive shelf anywhere in the world? I'll give you a hint: it ain't Mick. Actually, the honorees for "Collector of Stones' Memorabilia" go to bassist Bill Wyman, who's going to share the memories in an upcoming book, Wyman's been saving clippings and photos from around the world for years, so the commemorative volume due out next year should be hefty, 1989 and marks the 25th anniversary of the Rolling Stones washed up on American shores.

MINI-NOTES: Maybe you've noticed over the years that New Edition looked like the Jackson 5 circa 1971. Well, according to group member, Ronald DeVoe, their past producers insisted that lead singer Ralph Tresvant sing in such a high key. But New Edition's new LP, "Heartbreak," was produced by Jimmy "Jimmie" Harris and Terry Lewis. They were responsible for Janet Jackson's "Control" breakthrough, and decided to scrap the Jackson sound and use Ralph's, deeper, more natural voice. New Edition thinks that Heartbreak is their best album in years. No argument here.

MINI-NOTES: The joint concert between Vandross and Baker got an "A" rating from me while his highness Prine received a "C." Vandross' album is finally out and Baker's should be out this week...Robin Givens plans to divorce Joe Pesci. She's been busy with music, but music fans shouldn't miss marital gossip.) The answer to last week's trivia question: Stuart Sutcliffe preceded George Harrison as the Beatles' guitarist. This week's question: How did UB40 get their name? Think about it...Until next week...

Hey! Yes that's right you're reading this gun again. Probably the best show on television It's The Garry Shandling Show has an interesting show set tonight. No 6 Showtime and then later on Fox. This episode will feature Grant Schumaker (Scott Neme) as he ponders the mysteries of life and works with a girlfriend. He also gets help from his girlfriend, his parents and of course Garry. But that's not all. The show is also a musical! ("Huh?" you say.) Yes a musical. There will also be an appearance by Los Angeles Mayor Tom Bradley to Hart to Hart fans check this out. The husband and wife duo may come back on the air in the form of a T.V. movie. Both have recently sentence they receive a quality script. Co-star Stefanie Powers has submitted one but so far it has not been approved. Let's all bow for a moment of silence in hope that they receive a good script. "Hedge." Editors note: the comment that precedes this message was indeed sarcastic and in no way was intended to be taken seriously, those that are actually praying may stop—unless you really want a good script for Hart to Hart then by the way you have to carry in their case. My favorite angel seems to having something of a temper. Pro المعارضة on the T.V. version of Baby Boom, walked off the set in a huff recently. Obviously NBC didn't appreciate that he already started considering actress Kate Capshaw for the role.

Did anyone catch the Johnny Carson 25th Anniversary Special? I'll not, too bad because it was great show. The show featured David Letterman, Jay Leno and Garry Shandling. Not to harp on Garry's brilliance but he without a doubt made the funniest comment of the night.

When Johnny came up to him after doing a brief monologue and said "Out of everybody, you're my favorite," which he did for all the comics, Garry without missing a beat said, "thanks Merv." I like his style.

Cross-country runner Rosa Domingues has been a determining factor in the Indian victories this season. She placed first in the 3.1 mile run with a time of 19.56. Because this race was crucial to the Indians' second place showing, Domingues has been named the Montclarion Athlete of the Week.

At the NJAIAW tournament last weekend, Domingues led her team to a second place victory over Glassboro State.

The cross-country team has not been favored in many meets this season. But with Domingues at its head, things seem to be turning around for the young team.

Coming up for the lady Indians is the Jersey City Invitational, October 15, at 12 p.m. The Indians, led by Domingues, will hopefully be able to continue their success throughout the season.
Hang Howell

Jay Howell is a common criminal? Aren’t we taking these playoff games a little bit too seriously? Maybe not. When one looks at the Great Pine Tar Caper II, one may conclude that what transpired over the last few days reflects the fact that baseball really is America’s favorite pastime.

Let’s take a few sentences to explain. The judicial system of the United States, admittedly, sometimes leaves much to be desired. Just like baseball’s judicial system. So when Howell was caught with pine tar on his glove, red-handed, he subsequently pleads not guilty by reason of stupidity. A speedy trial then ensues, and Howell is found guilty, as charged. He’s then sentenced to three games out of the pen. We, as true Americans, applaud this punishment which so obviously fits such a heinous crime.

But since the baseball judicial system so strongly reflects the judicial system of America, it, like America’s, has its inconsistencies. Like parole, for instance. Parole is when you are sentenced to “X” amount of years and serve only “T” years. Something like that.

So Howell takes advantage of this baseball version of parole, and he misses only one playoff game. If you’re a Met fan, you’re probably steamed. But surprised? You shouldn’t be. It’s been going on for a long while, and for many sports fans, it’s a lesson to be learned.

Letters

I recently learned that my mom is not the only person who reads this column when we received a few letters from readers. Which is good, even if some of the letters (alright, all of them) aren’t particularly complimentary. So let’s try something new. If you have a comment, complaint or compliment about anything that appears in this column (this suggestion, for instance), drop it off in the personals box in the Montclarion office with the word “SPORTS” on top. Maybe we’ll steal a page from Lupica and print some of them in the column. Hey, you can argue with success.

At the Meadowlands

The fabulous Two Pence should be running next week. Let’s try again. Alysheba will be extremely tough Friday night—but his odds will reflect that. Any horse that Diane Nelson rides should be bet—the race after she rides. She makes some good horses look lousy.

Last week: Turbo Prop ran last night: we’ll let you know next week what he did; Neither Havin’ a Blast or Native Royalty ran.

Roger Rubinstett and the Montclair Indians rolled over Bloomfield 7-0 and Stevens 3-1. The Indians stand at 9-2-3 on the season and are fourth in the New Jersey Athletic Conference. On this play Rubinstett attempts a difficult “bicycle kick” to clear the ball versus Bloomfield.

Trivia Time-Out

Each week, The Montclarion publishes a list of sports questions and answers to test your knowledge of sports trivia. In addition, there is a sports stumper which will be answered in the following issue.

If you think you have the correct answer to the stumper, drop it off at The Montclarion office in Room 113 of the Student Center Annex. The names of those submitting the correct answer will be published in the next week’s issue. Deadline for submissions is Monday at 3 p.m.

1. What is the nickname of the San Diego State basketball squad?
2. Who quarterbacked Alabama to a 34-7 victory over Nebraska in the 1967 Sugar Bowl?
3. What right-hander was 1982’s National League Fireman of the Year?
4. Who replaced Maury Wills at shortstop for the Los Angeles Dodgers?
5. What National League ballpark was once known as Weeghman Park?

Answer to last week’s stumper:

Who preceded Pete Rozelle as commissioner of the NFL?

Bert Bell.

Submission correct answer was:

Scott Langan, Mike Pavolony, Mike Spano.

This week’s stumper:

What University of Cincinnati guard, later with the Pacers and Celtics, is the only man to play for NCAA, NBA and ABA champion teams?

What’s What in MSC sports

Soccer

MSC took on a visiting Bloomfield College team that had yet to win a game, and the Indians came out on top by a score of 7-0. Freshman defender Kevin Pladl surprised everyone by playing just 40 minutes and finishing the game with three goals, the first collegiate goals of his career. Pladl also had a goal called back because of an offsides call.

The Indians are currently in fourth place in the New Jersey Athletic Conference with a 3-1-1 conference mark. Yesterday, the Indians traveled to Stevens and came home with a 3-1 victory. Adam McNally, Gus Maramarco and Pladl scored for MSC.

Upcoming games: Saturday, at Ramapo (1:00).

Field Hockey

Judy DeMarco scored the lone goal in both of the Indians conference wins, as the Indians beat Glassboro State and William Paterson by identical 1-0 scores. The Indians were able to split in two non-conference games, as MSC suffered a 2-1 overtime loss to Drew University and secured a 3-0 victory over Western Connecticut. Upcoming games: Tonight, FDU-Madison (H), 7:30; Saturday, at Kean (noon).

Women’s Tennis

After MSC won its first match of the year, the Indians fell on hard times as they were able to win only one game match out of 18 this past week, falling to Rutgers-Newark and Glassboro State. The lone win was by Melissa Kollar, as she defeated Enza Caradona of Rutgers-Newark 6-3 and 6-2 in the third singles competition.

The Indians also finished in ninth position this past weekend in the NJCAA Championships with six and a half points, three ahead of tenth place Ramapo College. Upcoming matches: today, vs. Kean, (H), 3:00 p.m.

MSC clubs Kean, 20-7

By Bryan Morytko  Staff Writer

Senior running back Mike Codella and the rest of the Indians walked away with a big 20-7 win Saturday as they dominated conference rival Kean College.

The Cougars are defending New Jersey Athletic Conference (NJAC) champions. Saturday's defeat, however, gave them their second conference loss of the season and virtually knocked them out of contention in race for the NJAC title.

It was a sweet victory for the Indians, because not only did they move to 2-0 in the NJAC, but they were able to gain revenge for last year's tough loss to the Cougars to 41 yards rushing. For Codella, a senior transfer from Hofstra where he was a Division III second team All-American, started for an injured Brian Leary, who had 131 yards on 27 carries.

Also turning in a good game for the Indians was junior Dan Walsh, who had 131 yards on 27 carries. Walsh, who had 131 yards on 27 carries.

X-Country runs well, upsets TSC at Holmdel

By Tracy Anderson  Correspondent

Bitter rivalry between local opponents was one of the most exciting situations in college sports last weekend. MSC arch-rival Trenton State was a distant favorite to win the New Jersey Cross Country Championship. Despite torrential rain and muddy running conditions, the lady Indians conquered all of nature's obstacles to run the NJ Championship with its first place finish.

On one of the toughest 3.1 mile courses in the state, Holmdel Park, Rosa Domingues never looked back as she sprinted into the finish to become the New Jersey champion with a time of 19:55. Coach John Blanton was very pleased with her performance in such difficult conditions.

"Rosa put all things behind her and ran through the mud, talking to the trees all the way," said Blanton.

Without a doubt, the depth of the Indian team has been one of the most significant features of this successful season. MSC finished with a total of 33 points while the Lions finished with 38 points.

"We showed the character and determination that I expect from a team with such depth and talent," said Assistant Coach Noelle Collura.

Trenton State entered the race as favorites, however MSC had four girls finish in the top fifteen while the Lions only managed to place three.

Not only did the lady Indians overcome the harsh weather conditions, but also upset favored Trenton State, which few had predicted.

William Paterson aims to ruin MSC Homecoming

By Kenny Peck  Sports Editor

The William Paterson Pioneers are spoiling MSC's Homecoming Week when they invade Sprague Field Saturday to take on the Lions.

Last year, MSC beat the Pioneers 12-0 as Scott Vega led the Indians to a win that marred William Paterson's Homecoming.

The Pioneers are looking for their third win in a row, as they come off consecutive victories against Kean and Wesley. William Paterson got off to a rocky start early this season, however, as they lost their first three games.

MSC has never lost to William Paterson. The closest the Pioneers ever came to ever win over the Indians was in 1979, when the two teams fought to a 7-7 tie. The Indians own a 16-0-1 record in the series.

First-year head coach Tom DeMaio will call on freshman quarterback Russ Christiansen to lead the offense. Christiansen, starting for the injured Brian Leary, was named Rookie of the Week for both the New Jersey Athletic Conference and the Eastern College Athletic Conference.

Juniors Tim Minor and Pat Harmon and sophomore Pat Santora are the Pioneers running backs, while senior Rene Thompson and freshman Tom Houle are the split ends.

The only returning starters are tight end Kevin McGuire and defensive end John Bianchi. Maguenes never looked back as she sprinted into the finish to become the New Jersey champion with a time of 19:55.

Coach John Blanton was very pleased with her performance in such difficult conditions.

"Rosa put all things behind her and ran through the mud, talking to the trees all the way," said Blanton.

Without a doubt, the depth of the Indian team has been one of the most significant features of this successful season. MSC finished with a total of 33 points while the Lions finished with 38 points.

"We showed the character and determination that I expect from a team with such depth and talent," said Assistant Coach Noelle Collura.

Trenton State entered the race as favorites, however MSC had four girls finish in the top fifteen while the Lions only managed to place three.

Not only did the lady Indians overcome the harsh weather conditions, but also upset favored Trenton State, which few had predicted.
