Alpha Phi Omega and Sigma Phi Rho: Fraternities meet on common ground

By Lilianne McClean
Correspondent

Jonathan Benjamin, president of Alpha Phi Omega, and James R. Rhoche, president of Sigma Phi Rho, have committed themselves and their fraternities to bettering the relationship between black and white organizations at MSC through community service activities.

According to the two presidents, the two fraternities will hold the first Annual Services Bowl on Oct. 16. This is football game which will provide an opportunity for the members of both fraternities to get to know each other. Following the football game, a seminar will be held by community service activities which will be done together.

“I feel an attempt should be made to join the black and white fraternities on campus,” Benjamin said. “Right now, there is no togetherness. It is as if there is a wall between the two and I want to bring it down. We are both service fraternities and we have the same morals.”

Rhoche also believes a change is necessary. “After Jon brought it to my attention, I realized that there should be more interaction,” he said. “By Sigma Phi Rho and Alpha Phi Omega doing community activities together, it can show the other Greeks and the rest of the students that black and white fraternities can work together.”

On Nov. 7, students should begin to see flyers for a food drive which the fraternities will sponsor. Collection of food will begin Nov. 14., the two presidents said.

“First we will be accepting all canned and non-perishable goods,” Rhoche said. Collections will continue until Nov. 22. At that time, the food will be donated to a charity organization. This organization has not been chosen to date, Rhoche continued. “This is just the beginning,” Benjamin said. “We would like this relationship between the two groups to continue after Jon, James and I have graduated.”

Medina contends: Latin American philosophy exists

By Giulietti DiMartino
Correspondent

Dr. Vicente Medina spoke about the existence of an “analytic Latin American philosophy of liberation” during a lecture given on Oct. 5 in Kops Lounge.

Medina began by introducing three questions addressed towards Latin American Philosophy:

1. Why is the philosophy of liberation necessary? He stated that Latin American philosophy must also consider universal philosophy to flourish and become recognized.

2. How does the philosophy exist? Medina concluded with the question, “Can there be an analytic Latin American philosophy of liberation?” He answered this question positively.

3. What is the philosophy of liberation? This type of philosophy presents arguments and backs them with reason. According to Medina, the region’s philosophy could benefit from this manner of rationalization.

Medina reiterated the definite presence of Latin American Philosophy. The magnitude of controversy surrounding it proves this, he said.

The obstacles faced by handicapped on campus

By Virginia Delgado
Correspondent

Dr. Morris McGee is an English professor here at MSC. He is handicapped and uses a wheelchair. Throughout his 30 years at this college, he has seen and experienced many of the difficulties caused by inadequate campus facilities.

When McGee first arrived at the college, he said, the situation of the handicapped was grave. He explained that there were no elevators in the buildings, handicapped parking was nonexistent, and the campus had steps that had to be climbed in order to get around.

Since then, McGee has worked towards making all campus areas and areas around campus accessible to the handicapped. He is a member of the handicapped committee which looks into the problems of handicapped students.

He has also helped pass section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973. This law states: “No otherwise qualified handicapped individual in the United States shall, solely by reason of this handicap, be excluded from the participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any program or activity receiving Federal Financial assistance.

Other problems encountered by the handicapped are the hardware on doors and inadequate bathroom facilities, he said. Many doors are equipped with round handles which are often difficult for certain handicapped individuals to manage.

In addition, toilet cubicles or stall doors are too small for a handicapped person to enter.

Last summer, during an international table tennis tournament for the handicapped hosted by MSC, Ms. Elaine Dwyre of Career Services witnessed what she described as an upsetting situation.

A handicapped young lady using a wheelchair attempted to use the lavatory facilities only to find that the handicapped bathroom cubicle was not large enough to accommodate a wheelchair. The young lady was forced to use the bathroom with the door opened. Dwyre remarked, “I was embarrassed for Montclair.”

In past years, there have been many proposals for altering and improving campus facilities to accommodate the handicapped. Many of these proposals have not been followed up.

Plans to install an elevator in college hall were developed years ago, James Harris, associate dean of students, said.

Handicapped modifications for the swimming pool in Panzer gym and plans for the evacuation of handicapped personnel were defeated.

This stems from the fact that Latin American culture lacks its own characteristics. Latin America has been influenced by so many other countries, cultures and languages, that its people find it difficult to latch onto their own fashion of thought, he said.

This, in turn, leads them to copy European philosophy, Medina said.

The second question Medina asked was, “Can Latin American philosophy be particular?” This manner of philosophical thought concentrates on the meaning of the region’s economic and political oppression rather than the universal. It considers questions of honesty, truth, and justice.

Campus Police Report

Physics professor harassed

By Rob Tomeo
Staffwriter

On Oct. 4, the office of a physics professor was broken into and toothpaste was smeared on an optical mirror and a physics textbook. The incident is part of an ongoing investigation, as a similar event happened on a previous occasion. The campus police have a suspect.

Sometime between 4:00 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. on Oct. 7, a resident from Blanton Hall reported that his keys had been stolen from the lock of his room after he had unintentionally left them there. His car keys, which were included on the ring with his room keys, were also taken. The matter is under investigation.

On Oct. 8 at 1:45 a.m., the campus police received a call about a disorderly person in Bohn Hall. Some R.A.'s had seen him staggering in a hall, where broken glass from the doors of a fire extinguisher was scattered about.

On Oct. 8 at 1:45 a.m., the campus police received a call about a disorderly person in Bohn Hall. Some R.A.'s had seen him staggering in a hall, where broken glass from the doors of a fire extinguisher was scattered about.

The person turned violent and loud when accosted by the R.A.'s. The campus police took him to their headquarters and eventually they brought him to the hospital. Although he had denied it, the person tested positive for alcohol and was treated.

The person was arrested for disorderly conduct and illegal consumption of alcohol and other charges are pending.

On Oct. 10 at 10 a.m. it was discovered that someone removed two of the globe lights on Quarry Road. The globe lights are worth about $200 each.

Between 4:00 p.m. on Oct. 7 and 9:00 a.m. on Oct. 8, forced entry was used to get into a desk in one of the offices in the Student Center Annex, and $73 was taken.

At 4:00 p.m. on Oct. 10, a student reported that her sweater was stolen from a Morehead Hall classroom after she left the room for about 10 minutes.

Between 11:00 p.m. on Oct. 7 and 10:00 a.m. on Oct. 8, someone removed the lock on the passenger side of a 1987 Toyota Pick-Up truck parked in lot 21. A stereo, a C.B., and a radar detector were stolen from the truck.

On Oct. 9 at 2:00 a.m., the police received a call from a Bohn Hall resident that a break-in was taking place in a room in the dorm. When investigating the case, the police found no one.

Amnesty

By Laura Lawson
Correspondent

In celebration of its 25th anniversary, Sprague Library is conducting an amnesty program for the month of October, according to Lou Rodriguez, head of circulation.

Anyone with an overdue book or an overdue fine is encouraged to apply in person for amnesty, which will relieve them of their fines, Rodriguez said.

Rodriguez also requested that along with the overdue books, students bring any notices of obligation they may have received from the library to facilitate matters. These notices will also act as receipts for students who require them.

Amnesty does not apply to lost books which the library has to replace or reserved materials, as they are in heavy demand, he continued.

Rodriguez said that the amnesty program, which has been tried several times before on campus, has been somewhat successful. It is beneficial for both the library and the students to have as many books on the shelves as possible.

sons in case of fire were proposed long ago and still have not materialized, he continued.
Harris explained planning delays at MSC. He said that the proposals must often go through many different stages before they are approved. The school must first decide if the proposal is indeed a priority.
Then a decision between legality and morality must be made, he said. This is a question of whether a proposal is legally or morally required, Harris continued.
Another obstacle, Harris said, is the financial requirement of the proposal. A proposal such as the College Hall elevator would cost MSC a great deal of money.
Then the proposal must go out for bidding. The final decision is made at the presidential level, he said.
Despite these obstacles, Harris said, changes have been made in every building at MSC to meet the handicapped accessibility requirements.

McGee stressed that the campus community must be aware of the needs of the handicapped so that progress will continue, and in the future all buildings and facilities will be made even more accessible to the handicapped.

Black women face hardship

By Carl Chase, Correspondent

The African-American Lecture Series this week presented Dr. Vivian V. Gordon, professor at the State University of New York with a doctorate in sociology.

Gordon explained the subject of her new book, Black Women, Feminism and Black Liberation: Which Way? The book is a study of ways to deal with the unique and complex set of difficulties that all African-American women share to varying degrees.

Sexist, racist and economic stereotypes have given rise to much of the hardship within America's population of black women, who have the distinction of having to struggle against a "trilogy of oppression," Gordon explained.

For example, the myth of the "matriarchal" or female-dominated, black American society is not supported by scientific evidence. This and other errors generally result from the use of "a European model for assessing a non-European culture or its integral parts," she said.

Another trend, "the feminization of poverty," is a major issue which "must be considered when one evaluates the impact of other economic, racial or sexual issues." It is not just race-specific, Gordon said, adding that a disproportionate number of blacks live in poverty.

Gordon further observed that African heritage is still evident in family life: the male-dominated family structure is less typical of ancient African civilization than of European-American civilization.

Today this contrast persists particularly in low-income families. Since many black women believe that only through liberation in this sense has been achieved to a degree, she said.

Gordon also said that even with the rise in feminism, "the failure to address women's issues in this light." The gap exists, in part, because "they fail to consider economic issues as compounded by race. For all African-Americans there are social and economic rewards for cultural annihilation; no other group needs to pay such a dear price for upward mobility," she said.

Feminist theology, she said, subscribes to a black coalition theory. This theory suggests that women, by forming political ties between women, can achieve power to rival men's power. But this model does not consider America's fundamental power structure, she said.

Gordon observed that African-American students are now considering America's fundamental power structure, she said.

Clove Road stairway delay explained

By Barbara DiMarla, Correspondent

At last night's meeting of the SGA Welfare and Internal Affairs Committee announced the reason for the delay holding up the construction of a stairway to lot 28 by Clove Road.

According to Thomas Stepnowski, assistant vice president for facilities, the administration in Trenton is currently in the process of reviewing a safety evaluation code for the project. Trenton will make the final decision.

Once the project goes ahead, an engineering company will be hired to carry out the construction. As part of the process of soliciting the bid, the project will be awarded tolowest bidder out by the end of the month.

The expected time of completion for both projects is the summer of 89. Homecoming weekend begins with a bonfire in lot 28 at 8 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 14. Following this event will be fireworks and the announcement of the five finalists for Homecoming king and queen.

The Homecoming game against William Paterson College will begin at 8 p.m. with the announcement of the winners of Homecoming king and queen contest during the half-time. At 9 p.m., fireworks will start to celebrate Homecoming week.

Handicapped: Will they ever be accommodated?

We see them, yet we do not know they are many students of Montclair State College who are afflicted with disabilities that make getting to and from classes especially difficult. Whether they are noticed or not, there are many students at MSC who are disabled in one way or another and use wheelchairs. Although some of the buildings on campus are equipped with elevators many are not.

Consider buildings such as Russ Hall, College Hall and Harry E. Sprague Library. How do students confined to wheelchairs get into these buildings?

Just this year alone, several complaints have been made concerning the bathroom facilities for the handicapped in College Hall and Harry E. Sprague Library. How do students get in and out of Partridge Hall? Yes, there are stalls designated for the handicapped, but the problem is they’re not wide enough for wheelchairs.

What would a handicapped person do if there was a fire in the Student Center Annex? How would they get out? They couldn’t use the elevator because: 1.) The fire department doesn’t allow elevators in a fire emergency, and 2.) Most elevators automatically shut off in a fire emergency.

Such an emergency did occur over the summer. There was a fire alarm in the Student Center Annex where some handicapped people were. The elevators did shut off and those in wheelchairs were trapped.

Campus police were in a state of confusion as to how to handle the situation. Eventually, the handicapped students had to be carried out, and luckily there was no real fire. But what happens the next time there is a real fire?

It is a fact that this school has no real parking facilities designed to accommodate the handicapped students. Name one legitimate handicapped lot. Lot 13’s handicapped spots are in fact not meant for the permanently disabled; they are meant for temporarily disabled students. For instance, when a student breaks his or her leg, they are permitted to park in the handicapped spots.

Most handicapped students are allowed to park in lot 14, but these spots, in fact, do not meet state requirements in terms of width. However, there is a solution. What if we allowed parking in lot 12 near Finley Hall exclusively for handicapped people instead of for faculty members? In this way the disabled students would be right in the middle of campus with easy access to both ends of the college. It’s time we began accommodating the people we sometimes chose not to see.
Dawkins and Lautenberg:
Student disillusioned by senate campaign

To the editor:
Let it be known, especially to Peter Dawkins and Frank Lautenberg, the two senatorial candidates in New Jersey, that I am not stupid and I refuse to be treated as such. Last night I took off work, missed the playoffs, and lost valuable studying time to attend the debate in Whippany. I am sincerely disappointed. Not because of the predictable one liners and logical fallacies, that is just a fraction of it. I have become socialized into Ronald Reagan political theatrics. What really has my blood boiling is that I received a telephone call from Vince Hemmer, Youth Director for Peter Dawkins, inviting me to the debate. The phone call was nice, but as I passed through the palatial doors of the Birchwood Manor, I noticed that my prep- sweater, baggy pants and penny loafers were not in vogue. Vince forgot to tell me to wear my elite red power tie and my dark blue suit. Vince also managed to forget to tell me to bring a warm jacket since I would have to stand outside holding a Pete Dawkins sign. I expected a little more of Vince. After all, the Republican Party sent him down all the way from the University of Pennsylvania. I guess Ivy League students figured that we New Jersey folks could figure it out for ourselves.

There I was holding a Pete Dawkins sign, freezing, and missing the playoffs. Needless to say, I was highly offended. Not because I was wearing a sign on my candidate, but because I wanted to get to know my candidate. I would think that the 160 some college students, there would also want to question their candidate. I guess they were happy being human bil­ders, puppets or just useful idiots.

Is holding signs and screaming the candidate’s name frankly a waste of time and money? Are the concert groups, the measure of political consciousness on New Jersey college campuses? I pray not. I do agree with the Commission that the word “criminal” should not be used to stir a witch’s brew of murder, but that doesn’t mean I want to know where the money from Atlantic City casinos, the New Jersey Lottery, and the Meadowlands Race Track was going. It’s evidently not going to higher education as it was supposed to. College students have one last chance and that is the bond issue referendum. Higher education is now in the hands of the students.

Our own S.G.A. is in a campaign to pass this referendum and using students fees to do so. Did the candidates urge the passage of this referendum last night? No! Were most of the supporters there last night college students? Yes! Were our Ivy League friends laughing? Probably not. I wanted to know why the state raised parkway tolls when many of our students use the parkway to get to school, especially when there isn’t sufficient. I wanted to know why our professors are over worked and our departments are understaffed. I did not want to learn the latest image making, in my case image breaking, slang.

It seems to me that the re­spective campaigns think that New Jersey college students are only good and important for just that. Evidently, our Ivy League friends are only good for holding the strings while all the puppets dance. Now, let me tell you how appalled I was to see James Moore, S.G.A. President at Seton Hall, publicly endorse Peter Dawkins as an S.G.A. President. Without exaggerating, I honestly got chills, ask my roommate.

I am an S.G.A. legislator at M.S.C. and I would never endorse anyone as a legislator. If I was a legislator at Seton Hall, I would impeach Mr. Moore’s butt, then I would kick it.

'Real world' gap useful

To the editor:
I did not attend the Presiden­tial Fall Symposium, however your article describing Dr. Redfield’s position on the gap between academia and the real world was "appropriate and useful!"

In his New York Times (Dec. 2, 1986) essay entitled "Schooling Is Not Education," Morti­mer J. Adler (Chairman, Encyo­lpedia Britannica) bemoans how adults "are under the illusion that they had completed their education when they fin­ished their schooling." Further­more, "schools and colleges have neglected the practical education which enables me to separate ideal, sanitized theories from reality. Thus, experiences as a student are enriched, and the marks I achieve now that I may not have achieved earlier do not hurt, either.

College alone does not pre­pare one for the outside world. It is a stepping-stone towards the real world. To learn the outside world is to live it and experience it. Com­bining that action with conven­tional academics will prepare one to decide how one ultimately wants to live in it.

Howard Liverance

Responsibility has a price

Several months ago, I ran in the SGA elections for the position of presidency. Several months ago, I was as naive to the responsibilities and pressures of such a position as one would be naive to say they understand all aspects of human nature. I never realized the implications that arise with such responsibilities within the SGA, within Class One organizations, or our impact to the student body.

What's he talking about, you say? Does he regret being elected president? The answer to the latter is a resounding no. What I am talking about is the understanding that with such responsibilities, personal judgement and values play a large role in the outcome of any circumstance. So do ethics and communication. This goes for anything you may strive for, be it in the classroom, at work, within the SGA or even within family matters.

The burden this title carries, as well as any other student position does, allows the possibility to be chastised, talked about, and even ridiculed. This is the unknowing reality that seeks ever so slowly on your efforts, in many cases, unnoticed. We'll call this reality "Regret".

Have you noticed, that the mayor of New York, Ed Koch, no longer asks, "How my doin'?" That's because he's basically afraid of the response he'll get. All because he stood up for what he believed was right. For his decisions, criticism will always come forth, sometime just for the sake of ostracizing him. This makes you kind of understand why Mario Cuomo didn't want to run for the presidency.

I've just begun to realize the responsibilities I undertook when I took my oath of office. I'll make my friends and possibly, some enemies. That's reality. But in doing so, if I feel that I've used my best judgement, if I feel that what I'm doing is right, than I can live with it.

To all those in similar positions as myself, I thank you for your contributions and appreciate your efforts in trying to make MSC, and the world, a better place to be. I'm referring to you, Jo-El, Kerri, Kris, Pinky, Staci, Ingrid, Billy, etc., etc., etc.

Just a closing quote from Zen Buddhism, “In walking, just walk. In sitting, just sit. Above all, don't wobble.” (Yun-men)

Assistant Arts Editor

The Erick Hawkins Dance Company captivated their audience during their Fri. and Sat. night performances at Memorial Auditorium.

The beautiful fluidity and aplomb of these dancers was evident minutes after the lights went up. It became all-encompassing by the final curtain call as the show divulged the evolution of movement.

The first piece of the production was entitled "Heyoka," the Sioux Indians' name for clowns. According to the program, these clowns were a vehicle to open people up "to the poetry of the action to come."

The dancers in this piece had a great sense of timing. As they gracefully moved through the stage area, the dancers created an aesthetic dimension of time, space, and energy. At times, the dancers' use of unison left the audience awe struck at the physical feats that were visually engrossing.

An abstract design accompanied the artists on stage. It served as a visually provoking background; almost like another dancer suspended in time. The abstraction of the art piece came to life in the movement of the dancers.

"Plains Daybreak" was the title of the following dance work. It began with deep blue lighting against the backdrop and moons and stars hung from the rafters. There were no dancers on stage as the music began to echo throughout the auditorium; an indication that the dance ceremony takes place at the beginning of the world.

The dancers were adorned with unique and bizarre costumes that gave surrealistic images and occasionally emitted interesting sounds to appeal to the senses. In addition, the performers portrayed animals such as porcupines and hawks.

The choreography was composed of a distortion of movements deviating from the norm. These enthrancing abstractions worked in syncopation against the rhythm of the piece. This piece was most impressive in that Hawkins revels in the delight of movement and concentrates on its subtleties and their simple pleasures.

The first thing you notice about the final piece, "Agathon," is the asymmetrical sculpture on stage that automatically puts one off balance. This dance was not intended to "interpret anything" according to the program, "but aims only to be wondrous just for its own sake."

And that it was. The dancers made abstract and surrealistic portrayals of the design on stage and were costumed accordingly. In addition to this, the focus of the dancers made it so that every audience had a great impact. As the lighting changed and the music ebbed and flowed, the dance seemed to be suspended in time.

This performance by the Erick Hawkins Dance Company not only displayed dance, but also included other art forms such as the aforementioned art pieces as well as the live music that accompanied the dance troupe. The Hawkins Theatre Orchestra created an extra dimension to the show bringing forth a beautiful force to the dance.

At the beginning of Hawkins' career, he was a student at George Balanchine's School of American Ballet. He later joined the Martha Graham Company and then joined the Martha Graham and was her first male dancer. He remained with her until 1951 when Hawkins opened his own school.

This brings us to today where Erick Hawkins continues to lead his company. His contributions to the dance world are priceless. As we observe his brilliant choreography and the graceful beauty of his dancers, we realize he is a true milestone in modern dance.

Nolan's Notes

By Jarrett Nolan

Hello and welcome to another edition of Nolan's Notes. Can you guess which Rolling Stone has the most extensive scrapbook of the band? I'll give you a hint: it ain't Mick. Actually, the honorary title of "Collector of Stones' Memorabilia" goes to bassist Bill Wyman, who's going to share the memories in an upcoming book. Wyman's been saving clippings and photos from around the world for years, so the commemorative volume (due out next year) should be hefty, 1989 and marks the 25th anniversary that the Rolling Stones washed up on American shores.

MINI-NOTES: Maybe you've noticed over the years that New Edition looked like the Jackson 5 circa 1971. Well, according to group member, Ronald DeVoe, their past producers insisted that lead singer Ralph Tresvant sing in such a high key. But New Edition's new LP, "Heartbreak," was produced by Jimmy "Jimmie" Jam Harris and Terry Lewis. They were responsible for Janet Jackson's "Control" breakthrough, and decided to scrap the Jackson sound and use Ralph's deeper, natural voice. New Edition thinks that Heartbreak is their best album in years. No argument here.

MINI-NOTES: The joint concert between Luther Vandross and Anita Baker got an "A" rating from me while his highness Prine, received a "C." Vandross' album is finally out and Baker's show should be out this week. Also "Give It Away" by Lord Finesse will be released on November 15th. There was no "Heartbeat" by New Edition and there were no "Heartbreakers" by New Edition. Happy holidays everyone! We'll see you in the new year.

Brecker's second solo album; breaking new ground in jazz

By Dominic Pandiscia
Staff Writer

Don't Try This at Home is the second solo release by saxophonist Michael Brecker. Brecker, one of the foremost tenor players in the world today brings a strong supporting cast for this album. This includes Herbie Hancock, Jack DeJohnette, Peter Erskine, and Mike Stern. This fully digital album is destined to be one of the biggest jazz releases of the year.

This album is released on the heels of Brecker's self titled first solo album from last year. It's a double Grammy nominee, it's obviously a difficult act to follow.

With Don't Try This at Home, Brecker surpasses the forer which he created on his first solo release.

The recordings on this album are largely based within the realm of mainstream jazz. Brecker, however, seems to be taking the music in a new direction. Part of the differentiation between mainstream jazz and the sound which Brecker is creating is the introduction of a saxophone midi-controller. It allows Brecker to use sounds previously limited to keyboards.

The introduction of these new sounds played from a saxophone are both interesting and seem to add another dimension to the music. Depth and atmosphere have never been more present in Brecker's tone and composition.

Strong cuts on the album include "Chime This" which builds into a saxophone frenzy and "Spoon," as one can get. Another is "Suspense," which provides a fast swing beat as the basis for solos by various members of Brecker's band.

The title track is perhaps the strongest cut on the album. It provides the listener with the opportunity to sample the different sounds the midi-controller can create before the song breaks into a very fast main stem beat where Brecker shows why he is perhaps the king of the tenor saxophone.

The compact disc version of this recording has an extra track only available on CD which is a bizarre culmination of totemic saxophone and various keyboard lines working in counterpoint.

Mark O'Connor (violinist) makes an appearance on the first tenor saxophone solo which begins as an Irish jig being played by O'Connor and Brecker and then breaks into a groove towards the audience. An extended solo on the alto saxophone at the end of the piece was great show. The show brings forth a beautiful force to the dance.

Ed note: note that precedes this message was indeed sarcastic and in no way was intended to be taken seriously. The people that are actually praying may stop—unless of course you really want a good script for Hart to Hart then by Kate Capshaw for the role.

Did anyone catch the Johnny Carson 25th Anniversary Special? It was a bit too bad because it was great show. The show featured David Letterman, Jay Leno and Garry Shandling. Not to harp on Garry's brilliance but he without a doubt made the funniest comment of the night. When Johnny came up to him after doing a brief monologue and said "Out of everybody, you're my favorite," which he did for all the comics, Garry without missing a beat said, "thanks Merv." I like his style.

Domingues; Athlete of the Week

By Mary Carlomagno
Staff Writer

Cross-country runner Rosa Domingues has been a determining factor in the Indian victories this season. She placed first in the 3.1 mile run with a time of 19.56. Because this race was crucial to the Indians' second place showing, Domingues has been named the Montclarion Athlete of the Week.

At the NJAIAW tournament last weekend, Domingues led her team to a second place victory over Glassboro State.

The cross-country team has not been favored in many meets this season. But with Domingues at its head, things seem to be turning around for the young team.

Coming up for the lady Indians is the Jersey City Invitational, October 15, at 12 p.m. The Indians, led by Domingues, will hopefully be able to continue their success throughout the season.

When sarcasm seems to make some sense
By Kenny Peck

Hang Howell
Jay Howell is a common criminal? Aren't we taking these playoff games a little bit too seriously? Maybe not. When one looks at the Great Pine Tar Caper II, one may conclude that what transpired over the last few days reflects the fact that baseball really is America's favorite pastime.

Let's take a few sentences to explain. The judicial system of the United States, admittedly, sometimes leaves much to be desired. Just like baseball's judicial system. So when Howell was caught with pine tar on his glove, red-handed, he subsequently pleads not guilty by reason of stupidity. A speedy trial then ensues, and Howell is found guilty, as charged. He's then sentenced to three games out of the pen. We, as true Americans, applaud this punishment which so obviously fits such a heinous crime.

But since the baseball judicial system so strongly reflects the judicial system of America, it, like America's, has its inconsistencies. Like parole, for instance. Parole is when you are sentenced to "x" amount of years and serve only "t" years. Something like that.

So Howell takes advantage of this baseball version of parole, and he misses only one playoff game. If you're a Met fan, you're probably steamed. But surprised? You shouldn't be. It's been going on for a long while, and for many sports fans, it's a lesson to be learned.

Letters
I recently learned that my mom is not the only person who reads this column when we received a few letters from readers. Which is good, even if some of the letters (alright, all of them) aren't particularly complimentary.

So let's try something new. If you have a comment, complaint or compliment about anything appearing in this column (this suggestion, for instance), drop it off in the personals box in the Montclarion office with the word "SPORTS" on top. Maybe we'll steal a page from Lupica and print some of them in the column. Hey, you can't argue with success.

At the Meadowlands
The fabulous Two Pence should be running next week. Let's try again. Alysheba will be extremely tough Friday night—but his odds will reflect that. Any horse that Diane Nelson rides should be bet—the race after she rides. She makes some good horses look lousy.

Last week: Turbo Prop ran last night: we'll let you know next week what he did; Neither Havin' a Blast or Native Royalty ran.

Trivia Time-Out
Each week, The Montclarion publishes a list of sports questions and answers to test your knowledge of sports trivia.

In addition, there is a sports stumper which will be answered in the following issue. If you think you have the correct answer to the stumper, drop it off at The Montclarion office in Room 113 of the Student Center Annex. The names of those submitting the correct answer will be published in the next week's issue. Deadline for submissions is Monday at 3 p.m.

1. What is the nickname of the San Diego State basketball squad?
2. Who quarterbacked Alabama to a 34-7 victory over Nebraska in the 1967 Sugar Bowl?
3. What righthander was 1982's National League Fireman of the Year?
4. Who replaced Maury Wills at shortstop for the Los Angeles Dodgers?
5. What National League ballpark was once known as Weeghman Park?

Bill Howell's Wife/Field:

Answer to last week's stumper:
Who preceded Pete Rozelle as commissioner of the NFL? Bert Bell.

Submitting the correct answer was:
Scott Langan, Mile Pavolony, Mike Spano.

This week's stumper:
What University of Cincinnati guard, later with the Pacers and Celtics, is the only man to play for NCAA, NBA and ABA champion teams?

What's What
in MSC sports

Soccer
MSC took on a visiting Bloomfield College team that had yet to win a game, and the Indians came out on top by a score of 7-0. Freshman defender Kevin Pladl surprised everyone by playing just 40 minutes and finishing the game with three goals, the first collegiate goals of his career. Pladl also had a goal called back because of an offsides call.

The Indians are currently in fourth place in the New Jersey Athletic Conference with a 3-1-1 conference mark. Yesterday, the Indians traveled to Stevens and came home with a 3-1 victory. Adam McNally, Gus Maramarco and Pladl scored for MSC.

Upcoming games: Saturday, at Ramapo (1:00).

Field Hockey
Judy DeMarco scored the lone goals in both of the Indians conference wins, as the Indians beat Glassboro State and William Paterson by identical 1-0 scores. The Indians were able to split in two non-conference games, as MSC suffered a 2-1 overtime loss to Drew University and secured a 3-0 victory over Western Connecticut. Upcoming games: Tonight, FDU-Madison (H), 7:30; Saturday, at Kean (noon).

Women's Tennis
After MSC won its first match of the year, the Indians fell on hard times as they were able to win only one game match out of 18 this past week, falling to Rutgers-Newark and Glassboro State. The lone win was by Melissa Kollar, as she defeated Enza Caradona of Rutgers-Newark 6-3 and 6-2 in the third singles competition.

The Indians also finished in ninth position this past weekend in the NJAIAW Championships with six and a half points, three ahead of tenth place Ramapo College. Upcoming matches: today, vs. Kean, (H), 3:00 p.m.
MSC clubs Kean, 20-7

By Bryan Morytko
Staff Writer

Senior running back Mike Codella and the rest of the Indians walked away with a big 20-7 win Saturday as they dominated conference rival Kean College.

The Cougars are defending New Jersey Athletic Conference (NJAC) champions. Saturday's defeat, however, gave them their second conference loss of the season and virtually knocked them out of contention in race for the NJAC title.

It was a sweet victory for the Indians, because not only do they move to 2-0 in the NJAC, but they were able to gain revenge for last year's tough loss to the Cougars which cost MSC Division III second team All-Americans, because not only do American, started for an injured Brian DeMaio will call on freshman Eric Betcher and junior Ted Pastor at the defensive end positions and junior Steve Speidel at defensive tackle.

Senior Mike Murphy is the other Pioneer outside linebacker, while sophomore Brian Culligan is the middle linebacker.

The William Paterson secondary is probably their weakest spot defensively. Freshman Lee Linton has been a pleasant surprise for the Pioneer coaching staff, however, as he was cited by the NJAC two weeks ago for an outstanding game against Kean.

Joining Linton in the secondary are sophomores Tom Kehoe and Eddie Rendzio and junior Mark Curshaw.

Linton and Dave Lincoln handle the punting and kicking, respectively.

MSC DE Paul Cioffi vs. LT Dave Paterson-Cioffi is having an excellent season thus far and has been able to disrupt opposing team's offenses.

Bitter rivalry between local opponents was one of the most exciting situations in college sports. Last weekend, MSC archival Trenton State was a disappointment to win the New Jersey Cross Country Championship.

Despite torrential rain and muddy running conditions, the lady Indians conquered all of nature's obstacles to run the NJ Championship with ease. However, MSC finished only seventh.

On one of the toughest 3.1 mile courses in the state, Holmdel Park, Rosa Dominguez had never looked back as she sprinted into the finish to become the New Jersey champion with a time of 19:50.

Coach John Blanton was very pleased with her performance in such difficult conditions.

"Rosa put all things behind her and ran through the woods, talking to the trees all the way," said Blanton.

Without a doubt, the depth of the Indian team has been one of the most significant features of this successful season. MSC finished with a total of 53 points while the Lions finished with 38 points.

"We showed the character and determination that I expect from a team with such depth and talent," said Assistant Coach Noelle Collura.

Trenton State entered the race as favorites, however MSC had four girls finish in the top fifteen while the Lions only managed to place three.

Not only did the lady Indians overcome the harsh weather conditions, but also upset favored Trenton State, which few had predicted.

William Paterson aims to ruin MSC Homecoming

The William Paterson Pioneer Homecoming Week when they invade Spague Field Saturday to take on the Indians.

Last year, MSC beat the Pioneers 12-0 as Scott Vega led the Indians to a win that marred MSC's Homecoming Week for the southern division.

Bitter rivalry between local opponents was one of the most exciting situations in college sports. Last weekend, MSC archival Trenton State was a disappointment to win the New Jersey Cross Country Championship.

Despite torrential rain and muddy running conditions, the lady Indians conquered all of nature's obstacles to run the NJ Championship with ease. However, MSC finished only seventh.

On one of the toughest 3.1 mile courses in the state, Holmdel Park, Rosa Dominguez had never looked back as she sprinted into the finish to become the New Jersey champion with a time of 19:50.

Coach John Blanton was very pleased with her performance in such difficult conditions.

"Rosa put all things behind her and ran through the woods, talking to the trees all the way," said Blanton.

Without a doubt, the depth of the Indian team has been one of the most significant features of this successful season. MSC finished with a total of 53 points while the Lions finished with 38 points.

"We showed the character and determination that I expect from a team with such depth and talent," said Assistant Coach Noelle Collura.

Trenton State entered the race as favorites, however MSC had four girls finish in the top fifteen while the Lions only managed to place three.

Not only did the lady Indians overcome the harsh weather conditions, but also upset favored Trenton State, which few had predicted.

The William Paterson Pioneers enter this Saturday's game agnostic of this success, although some people would have liked to see Jay Howell of the Los Angeles Dodgers anywhere but on the field after his brush with the "law".
