Public Policy Forum:

Homeless's future is getting worse

By Carl Chase
Staff Writer

Participants at this year's first Public Policy Forum titled "Homeless to Home: Building a Path", on Thursday, Nov. 14, warned that the future of America's homeless is only getting worse.

In his opening speech, MSC's Acting President Dr. Richard Lynde said of this year's forum that it had attracted the largest audience of all such events.

He called homelessness "a problem of national importance" and "intolerable" in such a productive country as the U.S.

Moderator Dr. William Berlin said that hopefully the conference would reinforce "a sense of commitment and of action" in the audience.

A panel of five experts included Assemblyman David Schwartz, who was the keynote speaker. Schwartz is a Rutgers political science professor and author of "A New Housing Policy for America: Reconstructing the American Dream."

"Homelessness is America's future unless we act and act positively. We have three million homeless citizens in the U.S. A mild recession next year will triple the number of homeless people."

Schwartz said that in this decade, for the first time since WWII, the number of home owners has actually declined because of the federal government's withdrawal from housing programs.

"The [Reagan] administration cut to zero all new construction assistance. Housing for senior citizens has also been cut, and the pipeline that once supplied rental housing has dried up due to tax reform," he said.

He added that this rental crisis was aggravated by "racial" municipal zoning that eliminates renting houses.

Schwartz quoted The Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. in his closing remarks: "The late Dr. Martin Luther King said, "Too much analysis leads to paralysis. We know what needs to be done," he said.

Also on the panel was Hunter College Social Work Professor Michael Fabricant, who is treasurer of The National Coalition for the Homeless and founding/board member of the New Jersey Right to Housing group.

Fabricant said the process of "empowerment" is crucial to people's ultimate well-being.

"Most agencies tend to disempower because they convey a sense of reaction, of punishment, suspicion and hostility. We must begin empowering ourselves and the homeless individual" to deal with the individual as a person, a spirit of cooperation, he said.

"The point of the process is that we must let them know that they are not a spectacle, but a mobilizing themselves to take control of their lives. He said the real hope is to have them at the lowest level of society and work its way up.

David Sciarra, a New Jersey Public Advocate's Office attorney, said the key issue according to Gaby. "The process is not just to get them out of motels by any means."

Mr. Daniel M. Gaby, visiting Woodrow Wilson Fellow, encouraged students to pursue a well-balanced education to prepare for future careers in an interview on Tuesday, Nov. 15.

Gaby said that instead of choosing between liberal arts and a more specialized degree, students should balance the two areas of study.

"People who really advance towards the 21st century are people who look at things through a broad perspective," Gaby said. "These people figure out how their decisions fit into the larger picture."

These people have usually taken elective courses in the arts and humanities in addition to their specialization, according to Gaby.

Gaby is chairman of both Keyes Martin Gaby Linnet Advertising and Keyes Martin Public Relations, sister companies that form Keyes Martin & Co. Keyes Martin is New Jersey's largest public relations and advertising firm.

Gaby said that public relations material is the reason people buy magazines. "You don't buy a publication for the ads," he said, "you buy it for the articles." A public relations firm must persuade the editor to weave the message of their client into the article, Gaby said.

Advertisements are totally controlled by advertising firms, according to Gaby. "Advertising is less credible than public relations material," Gaby said. "The public knows the ads are trying to sell a product, a damn lie.

Gaby added it was the most disgraceful, dangerous situation he had ever seen. "It was a deliberate effort to manipulate people's fears," he said.

A new student advising system implemented three years ago has failed to meet up to the campus community's expectations, said Dr. Carl Snipes, director of academic advising, in a recent interview.

Snipes said that he did not find it surprising that the advising system is inadequate.

A new advising system went into effect on May 14, 1985, and is inherently flawed from the start, said Snipes. In the new system, faculty members advise students who have a declared major. In the old system, professional employees advised students.

According to Snipes, the system is unfair to both students and faculty. Students are inadequately assisted because of inexperienced advisors and difficult working schedules, he said.

He added that the faculty members who advise have an increasingly heavy workload and are not compensated for their extra work efforts.

The advising system prior to this one was quite effective, Snipes said.

The system was changed, he said, because it was believed that students would prefer being advised by faculty members once they had decided on a major.

The change was expected to improve student retention, he added.

Snipes said that the new program was considered to be more cost effective because it would reduce the amount of... Cont. on p. 4
“THE WINTER BALL”

- 5 hours open bar
- cocktail hour
- hot and cold appetizer stations
- full course dinner
- dancing all night
- guaranteed fun

Tickets on sale:

Monday, Nov. 21 - 11-2 Ballrooms
7-9 Ticket Booth

Tuesday, Nov. 22 - 11-2 Ticket Booth
7-9 Ticket Booth

Wednesday, Nov. 23 - 11-2 Ticket Booth

I.D. required

C.L.U.B. is a Class I Org. of the SGA
Rathskeller’s future remains uncertain

By Amber Smith
Staff Writer

Despite rumors of its closing, the Rathskeller will remain open and will continue to serve alcohol, college officials say.

In a recent meeting, college administrators discussed the future prospects of the Rathskeller, commonly referred to as the Rat, in the college community. Administrators have suspended guest privileges for MSC students for the remainder of the semester.

According to officials, several violent incidents this semester led to the decision. One incident involved the assault of a campus police officer by a non-MSC student while checking I.D.

Because the fights have involved outside students, “temporary suspension of guest privileges for MSC students is in effect, according to Douglass Blackburn, Chief Operating Officer of Faculty-Student Co-op. Faculty-Student Co-op is partly responsible for the Rat’s operation.

Blackburn said these types of decisions are made on a case by case basis.

“The objective is to have students take responsibility for their own behavior,” said Blackburn.

SGA President Tommy Mergola agrees with the decision. “I agree with the suspension,” he said. “Otherwise, the Rat would have lost its entire alcohol privilege. I think it’s a fair decision.”

MSC students were asked about their opinions on the suspension of guest privileges at the Rat.

“It really sucks,” said Sanjay Kaul, building manager at the Rat. “I don’t want MSC students to suffer because of outside students.”

Robin Bach, an MSC alumna, said the administrators should use another safeguard for the Rat.

“If I still have friends here, and if I wanted to go with them on a Thursday night, I wouldn’t be able to because of the suspension,” she said.

Jill Belverio, a student employee at the facility, said the suspension is an excellent idea, but business is on the decline.

Edward Martin, dean of students, said the Rat should not be closed down. Martin suggested the use of “mocktails” as an alternative to alcoholic beverages. He also suggested alternative uses for the Rat as a social outlet for all students, including students who don’t drink.

Martin said he was unhappy about the violent incidents that have occurred at the facility this semester.

“We’ve had officers that were assaulted. We can’t have that because they protect the people on this campus,” he said.

Because of the frequent issuance of false I.D.’s on the Rat’s premises, the Rat management is planning to tighten and secure I.D. regulations, according to Philip Calitre, director of Campus Police. Management also plans to beef up security.

Calitre said the Rat may have outside persons checking student I.D.’s in the future. He said the main responsibility of on-duty officers at the Rat is to provide security, not to check identification.

United Parcel Service now offers Tuition Reimbursement up to $2,000 a semester

If you’re looking for part-time job opportunities with excellent wages and benefits...a variety of work hours available to fit around your schedule...and experience that leaves you time to study while you work, you can find the answer at UPS.

Apply Monday-Friday 9 to 5 at:

United Parcel Service
799 Jefferson Road
Parsippany, NJ 07054

For Further Information Call 428-2227

An equal opportunity employer M/F

Help Wanted

Part-time office work in the Montclair area

6 am $5.00 per hour!
Flexible scheduling for classes!
Office work, filing, copying, light typing helpful, not necessary
Positive working environment!

783-7471
Parcel Consultants Inc.

Excelsior Hair Studio
125 Watchung Ave., Montclair
783-9088

Treat your hair to something new
Wash, cut, blowdry $20
Bodywave, including cut $60

Student special
Student ID required
Mysterious masturbator strikes again at library

By Gail Pietranera
Correspondent

A student sitting on the second floor of the library on Nov. 13 between 5:30 and 7:30 p.m., complained of a man who sat near her and stared at her. He was apparently masturbating. He then sat down next to her and apologized for bothering her.

Campus Security searched the library but could not find the man. A description given by the student indicated that the man involved is the same one against whom complaints have been filed previously.

An unidentified woman called Campus Security on Nov. 5 to report two males who were suspiciously riding around lots 20 and 21 in a white car. When approached by the police they said they were on campus to attend a party. The campus police discovered two tires and four hubcaps which were stolen from a car located in the same lot in the back seat of their car.

The two males admitted to stealing the parts and complaints were filed against both of them.

While a student was walking across the Clove Road bridge on Nov. 11 between 2:30 and 3:00 p.m., a green pick-up truck approached her, and a male from the vehicle shouted obscenities at her. The men and the license plate of the car were not identified.

A student resident was assaulted by her boyfriend on Nov. 10 at 5:00 p.m. He allegedly pushed her down and kicked her after they had an argument. No complaint was filed against him.

On Nov. 9 in lot 14, a tire was slashed on a 1981 Toyota Corolla belonging to a faculty member. On the same day, in lot 26, a 1985 Mazda RX7 was stolen.

On Nov. 4, a 1979 Oldsmobile Cutlass was broken into and two speakers and six cassettes were stolen. Entry was gained through the rear window vent. A 1988 Volkswagen Fox parked in lot 22 on Nov. 7 was broken into between 4:00 and 10:00 p.m. Stereo equipment was stolen.

FREE CATALOG
of Government Books
Send for your copy today!
Free Catalog
Box 37000
Washington DC 20013-7000

If you're a fun-loving team player, come join our P.M. SHIFT:

*LINE COOKS
$7-9 per hour

*WAIT AND HOST STAFF
Positions are also available on the AM SHIFT FOR WAIT STAFF

You'll receive great wages & benefits, as well as thorough training and a terrific work environment

APPLY IN PERSON DAILY
MONTCLAIR STATE COLLEGE

PLAYERS cordially invites you to spend an evening with...

NOVEMBER 16 - 19, 8:00 p.m., 18, 2:15 p.m.
RM. 126 STUDENT CENTER ANX

for information: 893-5159, Players is a Class 1 organization of the G.A.L.A.
1969. It was the year when if you were young, life was full of infinite possibilities. Music was never better. Friends were never closer.

1969. The war in Vietnam was out of control, and the battle in America reached every home.

1969. For three friends it was a time to learn about life and freedom.

1969. It was the year the country split apart but a generation came together.

Robert Downey, Jr. Kiefer Sutherland

From the Academy Award winning writer of "On Golden Pond"

1969

OPENES NOVEMBER 18TH

S.I.L.C. PRESENTS:

3-ON-3

BASKETBALL

MONDAY, DECEMBER 5th

MEN'S AND CO-REC

-A TWO WEEK-TOURNAMENT

That S.I.L.C. would like to sneak in for fall
Sign up early at the S.I.L.C. Office (RM. 121 Student Center Annex) or at the Field House!

Rules and schedules will be given out December 1st at the open gym.

S.I.L.C. IS A CLASS I OF THE SGA

Future of the homeless

Cont. from p. 1

(ICC), said other structural causes must be addressed.

"Apartments illegally held off the market, condos being built, Housing and Urban Development buildings charging forty-to-sixty-percent increases yearly, and what do they do? They start blowing up buildings," she said.

According to Zak, Newark Housing Authority (NHA) donated 6000 housing units this year. A class action suit was filed against them by ICC and numerous other organizations and individuals including The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and New Jersey Right To Housing.

Zak said one councilman called the Newark policy a "declaration of war on poor people" and urged those present to write letters to NHA director Milton Buck, Newark Mayor Sharpe James and to all legislators for whom they could vote.

Four workshops followed the panelists' speeches. Sciarr, who is a legal expert, told a group there are some good laws on the books.

One law requires any school district to arrange transportation for students who are forced to move to another district, so they need not miss any school, he said. "But the law is different from the reality in communities," he said.

Berlin, in his closing remarks, said, "On a political level the workshops seemed to agree that we all can and should change the system so that it is dedicated to providing affordable housing. Collective action makes a big difference."

Follow-up conferences are scheduled at MSC for March 8, and at Seton Hall University for April 14.

Newsnote

Telescope night

Every clear Thursday, except on holidays, Dr. Mary Lou West holds a public telescope night outside of Richardson Hall. The event is held from 8:00 to 9:00 p.m., and is free of charge. All are welcome.
Conservation Club sponsors sixth annual Earth Care day

By Laura Lawson
Staff Writer

Three hundred students from 16 Northern New Jersey high schools attended the sixth annual “Earth Care '89” on Tuesday, Nov. 15.

The program was organized and coordinated by the Youth Environmental Society (YES) in conjunction with the Conservation Club and several New Jersey legislators.

According to Executive Director of YES Patty Wish, YES is a non-profit organization, established 13 years ago by environmentalist groups from MSC, Stockton State College and Rutgers University.

The purpose of YES is to educate today's youth regarding environmental issues, and provide information and assistance necessary for students to take initiative in forming clubs or action groups at the high school and college levels, Wish said. YES will provide educational programs, informed speakers, lists of relevant films, and other resources in order to give students an understanding of environmental issues, she added.

Participants were able to attend three 45 minute seminars and questions were encouraged. The seminars dealt with various environmental issues.

According to Wish, “There is a great gap of knowledge and need for environmental education in the high schools."

Wish said that the program is an educational process for high school students precipitating “the beginning of action” and for college students, “an organizational process” through which “they have the opportunity to meet key environmentalists in the state,” which may lead to internship possibilities.

The purpose of the program, according to Wish, is to “First, introduce high school students to environmental issues, saying ‘This is a problem’ in unbiased, non-technical terms, and second to motivate them to become active in environmental issues.”

In his closing statement, Alex Stecyna, Conservation Club treasurer, said that he hoped the program “makes you more aware of the issues and what you can do.”

Attending students from Montclair Academy said, “We can probably make a difference: each person adds up. We pass on information. It has to start somewhere.”

Rat incident explained

By Perry Del Vecchio
Staff Writer

The altercation at the Rat on Nov. 4 was explained by the Dean of Students, Dr. Martin, at last night's SGA meeting.

He said that 400-500 people were present at the Rat for a Sigma Phi Rho event. Although campus police called it a riot, there were no arrests, no injuries and no property damage reported.

Due to a minor incident, the guests were asked to leave the Rat earlier than expected. Following normal procedures, the campus police called for assistance, Martin said.

Police officers from nearby towns answered the request. A riot is an overstatement of what happened considering only four to five were involved, he said. The Ice Hockey, Koei Kan Karate, Martial Arts, Ski Race, Bowling, and Women's Soccer clubs were decharted last night.

This action was taken because they are no longer governed by the SGA, but are considered part of the Athletic Department.

The SGA passed a bill urging the college administration to take a closer look at the parking situation and the purchase of a new shuttle bus to provide better and more frequent transportation for the students.

In order for the administration to address student concern, the bill will be submitted for their review.
A SURPRISE LECTURE

COMING SOON

STAY TUNED FOR MORE INFO.

CLUB IS A CLASS ONE OF THE SGA
Counselor discusses alcoholism

By Sharon Longinetti
Correspondent

Alcohol is the number two killer in the nation, but most people don’t realize it because the deaths are usually labeled under other categories, said a counselor for the National Council on Alcoholism at a lecture in the Drop-In Center on October 26.

The counselor, who wished to remain anonymous, said that he is a recovering alcoholic himself.

Fifty percent of all fatal accidents and more than 50 percent of all violent crimes are alcohol related, according to the counselor. The most devastating aspect of these statistics, he said, is that alcoholics not only destroy their own lives, but that they destroy the lives of innocent people as well.

The early stage of alcoholism is characterized by an increase in alcohol consumption, he said. Another sign of alcoholism is the lack of control over one’s alcohol consumption, he said. It is a definite warning signal when a person can’t stop drinking until he/she is drunk.

He also said that a dry/drunk syndrome often accompanies the middle stage of alcoholism. He explained that this syndrome is characterized by an individual acting drunk regardless of whether he/she had consumed alcohol or not.

The counselor said it is important to get help for alcoholics before they enter into the final stage of alcoholism-death.

The counselor said that alcoholism is a progressive disease. It is the most untreated, yet the most treatable disease in the nation.

The counselor said that the best way to deal with an alcoholic is directly.

Being honest with an alcoholic is the best approach, according to the counselor. If a person stops drinking openly, when confronted, it is a positive sign, but not a cure-all, he stressed.

Alcoholics can stop drinking, often for long periods of time, but as soon as they start again, they are no better off, he said. The counselor said this occurrence is called progression.

Alcoholism is not a curable disease, but alcoholics can recover. The counselor said it is important to offer support and find immediate help for an alcoholic. Alcoholics Anonymous (A.A.) is a good program to begin recovery, he said.

A.A. holds over 200 meetings in the Montclair area each month. Some of these meetings are open to the general public and the counselor urged that anyone who is interested should attend an open meeting.

The Drop-In Center has information on A.A. meetings. Call 893-5271 or stop by the Drop-In Center, which is open 24 hours a day.

ALPHA PHI OMEGA
AND
SIGMA PHI RHO

THURSDAY, NOV. 17th
ADMISSION TO THE RAT:
A BUCK AND A CAN

ALPHA PHI OMEGA
AND
SIGMA PHI RHO
CANNED FOOD DRIVE
NOV. 14th-22nd
BRING DONATIONS TO
APO OFFICE
STUDENT CENTER
406

ALPHA PHI OMEGA AND SIGMA PHI RHO ARE CLASS IV ORGS. OF THE SGA
Second Annual
Thanksgiving Convocation
An Interfaith Celebration of Word, Prayer and Song
hosted by the
Campus Ministry Council
TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1988
12:10 p.m. --- Ballroom A-Student Center

"Let us give thanks to Lord, for He is good.
The earth has yielded its fruits,
God, our God, has blessed us!"

The Campus Ministry Council is the coordinating body for the student religious groups on campus, chartered as Class III and IV of the SGA, Inc. in liaison with the Office of Student Affairs.

S.I.L.C.'s
TURKEY TROT
TUESDAY, NOV. 22nd
COME RUN WITH S.I.L.C.
1:00 AT TRACK BY FIELDHOUSE
DISTANCE 2.5 MILES
(JUST IN TIME FOR THANKSGIVING)
PRIZE:
A 12 LB. & UP TURKEY
& T-SHIRTS

SIGN UP IN S.I.L.C OFFICE (RM. 121)
OR SHOW UP EARLY ON THE 22nd
FOR MAP OF RACE COME TO
S.I.L.C. OFFICE RM. 121
Tuesday Nov 29, 8:00 PM in Memorial Auditorium

Eddie Money

Montclair State College

Tix: $13 students
    $16 non-students

INFO: 893 4478

With special appearance

So now he wants to be president of all the people; now he wants to bind up wounds, unite us and play kissy-face. Now that George Bush has won, he wants to let bygones be bygones.

Sorry Genghis, my dance card is full.

I am one of those people known as a sore loser. Oh, I don’t mind losing an election—Lord knows, I’ve done it often enough—but when a candidate burns an “L” on my lawn, plays up to the Yahoo vote and tells egregious lies about my team, I am not going to rush to his embrace just because his appalling tactics proved successful. Thus I am unmoved when Mr. Bush calls me to his kinder, gentler America.

Mike Dukakis doesn’t feel that way, apparently. The morning after the election—his ear hanging by a thread and his nose pushed around to the side of his face by the mugging Bush had administered him—Dukakis said of his former opponent: “He will be our president. And we will work with him.”

You always were a wimp, Mike. That’s why you lost.

Personally, I am not going to work with President Bush. Why should I? I’m a liberal, someone way out of the mainstream. I believe in social justice, civil rights. I am even a card-carrying member of the ACLU (or would be if I paid my dues). Why would Mr. Bush want the support of such a degenerate anyway? I might be harboring a fugitive murderer-rapist in my attic, I might celebrate the Fourth of July by burning the flag. You never know with liberals.

If the country needs saving, let George take the fall. It’s either that or reconciling yourselves to never again having a liberal in the White House. If President Bush finds that he can’t get along with the next president; “Don’t let him raise taxes.”

I know, we’re going to need a tax increase sooner or later to save the country; it doesn’t matter. You’ve had this game played on you before. Ronald Reagan was elected on a promise not to raise taxes, then he raised them and blamed the Democrats. Don’t let Bush do the same thing!

If President Bush finds that he can’t get along without new taxes, make him go to the American people, say: “Remember when I said I wouldn’t ever raise taxes? Read my lips—I lied.”

If the country needs saving, let George take the fall. It’s either that or reconciling yourselves to never again having a liberal in the White House.

In any case, an argument could be made for the fact that Mr. Bush has a clear mandate from the American people to run enormous budget deficits. Surely there was no indication that they were unhappy in the slightest with the huge deficits run up by the Reagan administration. And Mr. Bush’s campaign promises to lower taxes and raise defense spending—a certain prescription for even higher deficits—brought no howls of outrage from voters. There you have it. The American people want a big deficit and Congress should help President Bush achieve it. We are a democracy, after all.

If you infer from the foregoing that I am a trace better about the recent election, you are right. I felt that Mr. Bush ran a truly reprehensible campaign and I took it personally.

I didn’t mind its overall negativity—I rather like negative campaigns, saying bad things about an opponent has a certain air of sincerity about it—but several times it reached beyond that into dangerous and destructive demagogy. The first instance was when the campaign used President Reagan to promote a rumor that Dukakis had undergone psychiatric treatment earlier in his life. The campaign denied that it had anything to do with the rumor but I discount that. You don’t get a vicious story amplified by the White House without some ingenious plotting.

In any case, what the episode did was reinforce the notion that there is a stigma attached to seeking professional psychiatric help in times of great stress that sets the cause of mental health back 40 years. And they used the office of the presidency to do it. That was low.

Then there were the Willie Horton ads, featuring pictures of the black man who had committed a rape while on furlough from his prison term for murder. The Bush people said the ad had nothing to do with race, but that’s absurd. You simply can’t show a black thug like that, night after night, without excising racial stereotypes, in this case the black guy who wants to rape your sister.

It was dirty, rotten, segregationist campaigning—unforgivable.

And now, all of a sudden, Bush wants to be Mr. Nice Guy.

Surely Mr. President-elect. With a courtship like yours, who needs a honeymoon? Let’s get straight to the fighting.

Donald Kaul is a syndicated columnist with the Tribune Media Service, Inc.
Conservatives gloat over Bush statistics

Tommy knocks his own

To the editor:

With the AIDS epidemic becoming the Salem Witch Hunt or Red Scare of the Nineties? The last time that drug users, intravenous drug users and homosexuals wouldn't be the only targets of the nation's next embroilment.

On campus, three out of every 1,000 college students carry the AIDS virus, according to the CDC. In New York, 5,231 AIDS cases have been reported, the fourth highest number in the country. Eight percent of those afflicted are not gay and don't use drugs, nearly 200 are children, most of whom have been abandoned due to the stigma of AIDS. Fear and ignorance have hindered much needed programs and facilities in the state. For instance, a citizens group recently protested a 120-bed AIDS unit at the Wanaque Convalescent Center. "Sick people may us," said an overnight hospital official, "let them go back to where they got it from."

In California, however, which has the second highest number of reported AIDS cases, residents resisted voting in their own self-interest on November 8. By almost two to one, they defeated a proposition that would have compelled doctors who discovered a positive response to the AIDS virus to track down and warn his sex partners. But the voters approved forcible testing for AIDS of suspects in certain crimes.

The National Rifle Association lost the vote in Maryland, which sustained the ban on cheap handguns.

The only time one of the three mentioned is when the legislative body is taking action (such as budgets, charters or a special election) involving one of them.

The 1987 yearbook just came out and no mention has been made of the Montclarion, Quarterly, or The Yearbook at any SGA meeting.

I don't expect any SGA president to come running to my office when the book comes out and say what a great job, but I do expect some recognition. For it seems that a lot of talk goes on before the book comes out, but when it does get here—they say nothing.

As far as putting the book on the shelf, go ahead—because someday someone will want to see what the SGA or any other group looked like, and the only record of this is in The Yearbook.
Actors Ryan and Bollinger rehearse for upcoming production.

By Luisa Carrizo
Assistant Arts Editor

The following review is from a dress rehearsal of The Lady and the Clarinet.

"Have you ever been in love?" This inquiry was presented several times in the Players production of The Lady and the Clarinet.

This dramedy by Michael Cristofer is an account of the paradoxes of life and the ironies of love. It revolves around Luba (Sarah Ryan) and the relations with the various men in her life.

This play alludes to the many aspects of relationships. It concerns affiliations between man and woman, husband and wife, husband and mistress, and other associations that one encounters through the course of life and its delicate issues.

This show should not be missed. Its combination of comedic qualities and serious insights add true dimension to the production. Along with this, the performances by these thespians are top rate.

The scene is set by designer Brian Shnipper and it has romanticism written all over it. Delicately draped in white, Luba's apartment is gently lighted with pink and soft amber hues. In the corner of the stage, sits the clarinet player as alternated by musicians Pat Burns and Rob Laiptek. He is called upon as Luba's mood dictates. He is a representation of her conscious being and her soul.

Luba, as performed by Ryan, is a complex, but eccentric character. She wants it all, and is fainciful to a fault. One can see her character develop from a precocious teenager to a seasoned woman, reared by the experience of being in love.

Paul (Doug Bollinger) is a naive and nervous acquaintance of Luba, who becomes her first lover. Apparently, the purpose of their relationship is to "practice" so she can become experienced. When Luba finally realizes what she had with Paul, it is too late.

Bollinger portrays his character with great sensitivity and direction. The interaction between the two is high-powered and intense.

After Paul makes his exit out of Luba's life, she becomes involved with Jack who is unavoidably married. The issues that transpire in this sequence of the play are terrifyingly thought provoking.

Luba grapples with being estranged to her own feelings which is expressed in a strange narrative throughout the play.

Jack has trouble with finding out who he is because things are so terribly clear cut. The inevitable does happen and all Luba can do is beckon the clarinet to play. Robert Logan was strong in this role and was well-focused throughout.

The next man in Luba's life is George, a gentle man who cares deeply for her. Their relationship has touches of irony and role-reversal, which becomes too complicated and stifles the relationship.

George (Michael L. Kronberg) is delightful. The subtle actions by Kronberg depict the tenderness of the character accurately.

Ryan truly does an excellent job of understanding her character. She brings forth romantic aspects in conjunction with her painful innocence.

If you are interested in an evening of adventures in love, come see the lady and listen to her clarinet play.

Performances for The Lady and the Clarinet will run from Nov. 16 through 19 at 8 p.m. in the Student Center Annex room 126. There is also a matinee on Nov. 18 at 2:15 p.m. Don't miss it.

The following review is from a dress rehearsal of The Lady and the Clarinet.

The Lady and the Clarinet is a credit to director Maryann Carroll and all those who helped in the production. The well-metered and rehearsed actors along with a glorious set truly enhanced the performance and made it a pleasure to watch.

Art forum lecture series

The MSC Art Forum Lecture Series continues through Nov. and Dec. with topics ranging from painting to video art. The free lectures are presented on Thursday afternoons from 3 to 5 p.m. in the Calcia Fine Arts Building.

Information on any of the lectures is available by calling Patricia Lay, the series coordinator, at 893-4307.

DanceCompass on campus

DanceCompass performs Friday and Saturday, Nov. 18 and 19 at 8 p.m. in the Memorial Auditorium. The concerts mark the premiere of the troupe's 1988-89 season and will feature four dances by Nicholas Rodriguez. Rodriguez is the company's artistic director and choreographer.

Tickets for the concerts are $12, $10 and $6. Information regarding individual tickets and group sales discount tickets may be obtained by calling the Box Office at 893-5112.

happenings

The Lady and the Clarinet

Players presents its second production, Michael Cristofer's The Lady and the Clarinet Wednesday through Saturday Nov. 16 through 19 at 8 p.m. in the Student Center Annex room 126. There is one matinee on Friday, Nov. 18 at 2:15 p.m.

Tickets are $4.50 standard; $3.50 for senior citizens; $2.50 for students. Further information may be obtained by calling Jennifer Skinner, president of Players, at 893-5159.

Deliciously draped in white, Luba's apartment is gently lighted with pink and soft amber hues. In the corner of the stage, sits the clarinet player as alternated by musicians Pat Burns and Rob Laiptek. He is called upon as Luba's mood dictates. He is a representation of her conscious being and her soul.

Luba, as performed by Ryan, is a complex, but eccentric character. She wants it all, and is fanciful to a fault. One can see her character develop from a precocious teenager to a seasoned woman, reared by the experience of being in love.

Paul (Doug Bollinger) is a naive and nervous acquaintance of Luba, who becomes her first lover. Apparently, the purpose of their relationship is to "practice" so she can become experienced. When Luba finally realizes what she had with Paul, it is too late.

Bollinger portrays his character with great sensitivity and direction. The interaction between the two is high-powered and intense.

After Paul makes his exit out of Luba's life, she becomes involved with Jack who is unavoidably married. The issues that transpire in this sequence of the play are terrifyingly thought provoking.

Luba grapples with being estranged to her own feelings which is expressed in a strange narrative throughout the play.

Jack has trouble with finding out who he is because things are so terribly clear cut. The inevitable does happen and all Luba can do is beckon the clarinet to play. Robert Logan was strong in this role and was well-focused throughout.

The next man in Luba's life is George, a gentle man who cares deeply for her. Their relationship has touches of irony and role-reversal, which becomes too complicated and stifles the relationship.

George (Michael L. Kronberg) is delightful. The subtle actions by Kronberg depict the tenderness of the character accurately.

Ryan truly does an excellent job of understanding her character. She brings forth romantic aspects in conjunction with her painful innocence.

If you are interested in an evening of adventures in love, come see the lady and listen to her clarinet play.

Performances for The Lady and the Clarinet will run from Nov. 16 through 19 at 8 p.m. in the Student Center Annex room 126. There is also a matinee on Nov. 18 at 2:15 p.m. Don't miss it.
Parker’s music reaches new heights in Eastwood’s Bird

By Dominic Pandiscia
Staff Writer

Produced by Clint Eastwood, the Warner Bros. film Bird seems destined to wreak havoc at this year’s Academy Awards.

The film stars Forest Whitaker (Platoon, The Color of Money) as the famed saxophonist, Charlie Parker. Diane Venora (Ironweed, F/X) plays Chan Parker, Charlie’s wife and comrade.

Charlie Parker has been credited as the greatest alto saxophonist of all time. Along with Dizzy Gillespie, Parker spearheaded a new musical form in bebop in the late 1940’s.

Bird not only covers Parker’s musical impact on the world. It also reveals the down side of his life with alcoholism, drug abuse, and criminal problems.

The film is organized as a series of flashbacks. The first scene shows Parker stumbling into his apartment after a nightclub appearance. From this point on, the viewer gets to see how the musician progressed to his state of drunkenness and disappointment.

Scenes from his first performance until his death are presented with a startling realism. Parker eventually became a victim of his vices even after repeated rehabilitation attempts.

The young Parker is played by Damon Whitaker, Forest Whitaker’s younger brother. This enhances the chronological presentation of Parker’s life even more, due to the similarity in appearance of the actors. The actors were rigorously trained in musical technique to give a final, realistic dimension to the portrayal of Parker.

The soundtrack to Bird is an interesting recording. Through the wonders of modern recording, Parker’s original horn lines were lifted from his primitive recordings, and contemporary musicians were recorded playing the accompaniment.

Although the sound quality of the saxophone is not up to par with the other instruments, the sound track gives the listener the opportunity to hear Bird’s playing in full stereo sound. The quality of the album is very good and includes many previously unreleased recordings of Bird from the archives of Chan Parker.

It is truly a shame that history has lost many of its most creative and artistic people to drugs and alcohol. Bird portrays both Parker’s “maestro” and Parker the junkie, equally. To witness such a great talent disintegrate is a very moving experience.

Eastwood does an exceptional job in bringing us such an event in Bird. The film is presented both realistically and sympathetically. This stems from the love that many of the people involved with Bird held for Parker, and jazz in general.

Eastwood is no exception. For music and non-music fans alike, Bird is a highly recommended film.

Nolan’s Notes
By Jarrett Nolan

Hello, and welcome to another edition of Nolan’s Notes. In what’s being called “the first personality credit card,” the image of Elvis Presley is featured on a new Master Card issued by a federal bank in Memphis, Tennessee. A portion of the card’s annual membership fee and interest revenues are being donated to the Elvis Presley Memorial Foundation, an organization that supports children’s charities and music scholarships... If you are thinking about buying Camo’s album, follow through and get it. If you liked Word Up, then Machismo is for you. Larry Blackman’s growls and sneers reign on the album without becoming obnoxious. Best cuts: “You Make Me Work” and “Skin I’m In.”

MINI—NOTES: New albums to be released this week: Bananarama, Kiss, Aerosmith, Pink Floyd, and Fleetwood Mac. All are greatest hits collections. Pink Floyd is a double, so be prepared to pay... Madonna makes an appearance on Peter Cetera’s One More Story album under the name of LuLu Smith. America has overdosed on “Bad Medicine,” giving Bon Jovi their third number one single.

MINI—NOTES II: From the “is it just me” file: is it just me or does George Michael’s beard look like a four-year-old took a black Crayola to his face? I dunno... The answer to last week’s trivia question: Artists who recorded the “The Loco-Motion” were Little Eva in the 60’s and Grand Funk in the 70’s. This week’s trivia question was given to me by Darren Hudak: who recorded their first single under the name Tom & Jerry? Think about it next week over Thanksgiving dinner... Until next week...
COMICS

SHOE

By Jeff Mac Nelly

MOTHER GOOSE AND GRIMM

By Mike Peters

BEST OF BLOOM COUNTY

By Berke Breathed
Help Wanted

- EXCELLENT TYPIST AVAILABLE: LETTERS—PAPERS—THESIS. ALL WORK LETTER QUALITY IBM PROCESSING. REASONABLE RATES! MONTCLAIR HEIGHTS. CALL JILL 365-2390.
- PART-TIME. EXCELLENT SALARY. NO JILL 365-2390.
- Year old boy. If interested, please call 746-4507. Parking also available.

EXCELLENT TYPIST
-יגה benötigt. Praktisch eine Co-op. Kolb. telefonieren. Call Joel or Jeff (201)599-2811.
- NEED EXTRA MONEY?
- One of N.J.'s finest caterers has immediate openings for banquet personnel. Waiters & waitresses (19 years), set-up and kitchen helpers. Full and part-time available. Flexible hours, excellent pay and working conditions. Car necessary. 992-8137.
- Spring Break Tour Promoter. Escort. Energetic person (m/f), to take sign-ups for our Florida tours. We furnish all materials for a successful promotion. Good pay and fun. Call Campus Marketing at 1-800-777-2270.
- Childcare Assistant Needed. 6 Thurs. Must have own car and be reliable. $5.00/hr. 736-7033(days); 783-7299(nights)
- Childcare Assistant Needed. Part-time in my family day care home. References and transportation required. West Orange-Montclair borderline. Call 669-3839.

Customer Service: America's #1 Newspaper needs people to help solve customer problems/ work with CRT, Full/part-time, Monday thru Sunday. Non-smoking office. $8.00/hr. 343-2244 Mr. Newton.

TELEMARKETING, Evening/weekend shifts. We'd like to help sell a major publication from our non-smoking office. Earn as much as $12.00/hr. 343-2244 Mr. Mark.

-TYPEMASTERS—A place for all you word processing needs. The Accounting Resource Center is open! M-F 10-11, T-W 2-4, R 2-3. Basement of Moonen's Hall (right door).

Lost

-Gold watch in parking lot #13. Call Karen at 815-1148 with description.
- 6 keys on a keychain and an unknown lock. Call Carlene at 783-1904.
- Ladies ring in restroom of Chapin Hall. Contact Mary, Chapin #217, X5187.
- One military dog tag. Social security number 142743677. Can be picked up in room 113 of the Student Center Annex.

Attention

-All interested in forming a gay-lesbian alliance at MSC call 763-0668. Leave name, number, and time-you must say that you are interested in forming a gay-lesbian alliance.

FOR ACCURATE, QUALITY WORD PROCESSING
TERM PAPERS — $7.00 A PAGE
ALSO RESUMES’, LETTERS, ETC.
ESSAYS & REPORTS

DEC. LSAT

Dr. Blank teaches small personalized LSAT course. In-depth analysis of question type plus full-length LSATs.
Dr. Blank 966-9054

MCAT

Dr. Blank teaches
11 Session complete review.
Copies study materials.
Video cassette make-ups.
Interview counseling.
90% success rate.
Dr. Blank 966-9054

© 1988 American Express Travel Related Services Company, Inc
Word processing made simpler.

Talk about manual labor. The only thing more complicated than most word processors is their instruction manuals. You can wade through hundreds of pages of "user interfaces" and "output fonts" or try something far simpler: The Smith Corona PWP 3 Personal Word Processor. Using PWP 3 is truly an exercise in simplicity. Our easy-to-follow Tutorial DataDisk teaches you that moving blocks of text is a snap, deleting words is a cinch and inserting words is effortless. In fact, PWP 3 is so incredibly simple to use, you can pick it up in practically no time.

That way, you can spend more of your time writing. And less of your time reading about writing.

George (the plumber)-Get your hard hat and tools ready to fix my pipes. For best results use a satin-sheet covered water bed. Love, "the college student" -Did he really make love to Terry? -Girls-Do you think we'll finish by 5:00 pm? -Mary Jane: I want you to know that I like you th-i-i-i-s much. But whenever I'm near you I get too s-c-c-ared to tell you. Signed: Cute and Shy Fellow Cabinet Member -To my big in AIX-Thanks for the card and words of encouragement. Only one week left! I can't wait! Luz your little sister Sharon -Sharon, no its not cold in here, its you. Keep stealing those condoms, you never know what you might find between them.-Gail -To Joe from Cliffside Park, someone on the 4th floor (Blanding) wants to meet you. X -To our Russian Friend Eric, Ya Lublu Tay-bia. Love us -To my Dinoface- Isn't life nifty? By the way, Sea Breeze is gorgeous, charming, intelligent, talented is awfully hard to live up to...But you've adjusted to everyday's most quiet NEED, bruise easily. Love You-ALI

Hey Neighbor, Don't worry, you'll make it. Love, Lu -Hey Neighbor, Don't worry, you did the right thing, trust me. Suppose we just cut a hole in the wall instead of always banging on it? Love your neighbor -Nanivich, I've had the best of times with you, and look forward to more. Olesh -Melissa-Hi!!! I had fun this weekend--Next time you want pizza, just call (Domino's Delivers)!!-love, Lee -Jo-o - As the days go by, I want to get to know you a lot better. See you Dec. 9 ? An admirer. -Nap-Ken, Are you avoiding me?? Why don't you write the songs anymore? Afraid it will be used against you? Remember what I said about the audition. Love Flexi -Elain, Road trip! I miss them, we'll have to make a habit of visiting them--who knows where we'll wake up Sunday morning? who cares! By the way, you did the right thing.

Love Shirley -Elaine, I just don't like the sound of these personals you keep getting! Remember--"Mom's" watchful -Ski-I'm not tired, are you? OK maybe a little bit! How was work on Sunday morning?? -Sue & Carolyn-Good luck this weekend. We'll all be there on Nov. 29. Love J,M, & K -To the AIX pledges: It's almost over, but we have to stick together these last few days! Good luck! (pledge) Stefanie -Who is Kerry really digging? -Do you know how many calories are in pickles?? -Where is Waldo?? -Bob: Thank you for being honest, if only there were more of you. -"Lucky Dee" Escort -Dianne(AIX)-Congratulations to Greek Council's new Vice Prez! Make your mark on MSC! Love, A Michelle -AIX Pledges-Mare, Chris, Jen, Stef, Linda, Gail, Maggie, Pauline, Sharon, and Jackie.-No matter what happens over this weekend, keep in mind that things aren't always as they seem! Good luck! Love, Sister Amy -34, you can have my tray anytime! -Hey Mags! Can't wait till its all over! Mare -Vick, thank you for understanding and being there for me. Love ya, Mare -Vick, You make me sweat!!! -Ufa-What another all nighter? Are we gonna ever study or just climb in the dryer? Bixx

-To my perspective family in AIX--you guys are the best! Thanks for all the cards and gifts--they keep me inspired. I can't wait to find out who you are and make you all proud to have me join your family--Linda -Vicki, you hot babe. Finally you're available--I couldn't wait any longer. Scott is gone for good. A secret admirer -Gail-So what happened to those two stolen condoms I gave you? SP -Una-watch out for the closet monster. He may say vanilla but he'll mean chocolate! From your BBC partner -S-P-So what am I getting for Secretary's Day this year?!! It better be good or I'll find myself a new boss. Love you, Bub -To all Xacks, Good luck this weekend. Remember it's all worth it in the end. AIX #876 -To my psycho-everything's going to go smoothly from now on, I can feel it. I love you! Love you! -Dear Jude, Just want you to know that you're doing a great job. I'm proud to be your v.p.!! Love ya Jules P.S. Rich is sooo cute -Alex R., Hell weekend is here. You've done great so far, good luck! Love your big on AIX -Rene-Hot flashes! We didn't wait that long! love Amy -To Nira in 11 of BPhi-E. Bio for Human: I think you are so hot! I hope to get to know you better. Guess Who? -Congratulations to the new brothers of Delta Kappa Psi! Love the sisters and pledges of D-Phi-E. -To my big sis Chris-Happy 20th Birthday! Have a great time! Love, your little sis Anne -Dear Chris, Remember to stop at the toy store before you visit me. I'm going to miss you!! Love, Anne -Terry (TKE)--"Kissing a Fool"? I should think not! 6 toes and K.C. say...MEOW. Hmmm. You've made me realize that life is great (especially when we're together)! Have a good one with pledging. I know you can do it! Luv, Love & Kisses-your little sweetheart Val -Awri-You are still flying like an airplane, loaded like a freight train! It's so easy, isn't it? Where has your foot been lately? --you can do it! Love, your little sis Uma -MARIO & Mario Jr.-Thanks for everything, I never thought we'd make it on time, but I should never doubt a Chevette (or its driver). Just remember, we "did it for Bush..." Love a fellow Republican and Fozzie Bear -Dribbles-A star is born! But I saw that coming a long, long time ago!! Stay away from ladies of any kind. Giggles -Dear Jonathan, I value our friendship and I really care about you. Have a great birthday. Love always, Samantha -Sweet cheeks, We've been through the bad. Now it is time for the good. With love! Your loyal muffin -No bimbos allowed! That means you, Amy. Love Antoinette -To the Select Few-Thanks for such an awesome weekend. I don't know what I would do without you guys. I love you's- Dong
A104
Physical Education
My first time tutoring was a night to remember. My student was something called Bone Crusher Reed, a.k.a. Billy Jo, defensive tackle for the football team.
I had the shock of my life when he answered his dorm room door. He was about six feet seven inches tall and over 300 pounds. We became friends after that.
But then he pulled out a can of Orange Cappuccino. I was shocked! Could it be that this tough jock liked his delicate taste? And when he told me about his experience as a Bone Crusher in the NFL, I was even more amazed.

All I could think was, Dad never going to believe this!
Indian offensive line a ‘huge’ asset

By Anthony DiPasquale
Correspondent

The MSC offensive line of the 1988 season was one of the largest and most formidable in Division III football.

With the six-man line averaging six feet three inches tall and 260 pounds, they provided the pass protection and running blocks to forward the Indians to an impressive 8-2 season.

According to Indian head coach Rick Giancola, “This line has been one of the best in the recent years.”

“One thing which makes these players so good is their experience,” said Giancola. “Each of these guys have either started for the full year or part of last season and gained valuable game experience.”

Coach Giancola also feels the physical talent of the line has been a strong contributing factor to their success. The offensive barrier of Rob Merola, Doug Robb, Bob Franks, Mike Deevey and Matt Kingfield trained hard on the weights all year and were considered a strong offensive factor coming into the season, said Giancola.

“Everyone worked together,” said Merola, the Indian left guard. “We worked well as a team. If one person messed up, we felt we all messed up.”

Kingfield transferred to MSC this season from the University of Arkansas, where he played tight end for the Razorbacks in the Orange Bowl against Oklahoma.

“I felt the line this year at MSC was as big and experienced as any line in the country,” Kingfield said.

Center Mike Deevey feels the line was not only big, but had good technique as well. MSC gave up less than two quarterback sacks per game, and the line helped to pave the way for over 2000 yards rushing by the running backs.

The instinct and experience of the 1988 offensive line helped to charge the MSC team to its commendable season. Coach Giancola said, “I have been fortunate to have had the chance to work with those guys who trained so hard in practice and performed to their fullest in the games.”

The versatile Oliver, who can play either the guard or tackle position, will probably step in and play offensive tackle for the Indians next year, after waiting for his chance for three seasons. Will it be worth the wait?

“Tight end for the Razorbacks in the 1988 season was one of the largest and most formidable in Division III football. With the six-man line averaging six feet three inches tall and 260 pounds, they provided the pass protection and running blocks to forward the Indians to an impressive 8-2 season. According to Indian head coach Rick Giancola, “This line has been one of the best in the recent years.”

“One thing which makes these players so good is their experience,” said Giancola. “Each of these guys have either started for the full year or part of last season and gained valuable game experience.”

Coach Giancola also feels the physical talent of the line has been a strong contributing factor to their success. The offensive barrier of Rob Merola, Doug Robb, Bob Franks, Mike Deevey and Matt Kingfield trained hard on the weights all year and were considered a strong offensive factor coming into the season, said Giancola.

“Everyone worked together,” said Merola, the Indian left guard. “We worked well as a team. If one person messed up, we felt we all messed up.”

Kingfield transferred to MSC this season from the University of Arkansas, where he played tight end for the Razorbacks in the Orange Bowl against Oklahoma.

“I felt the line this year at MSC was as big and experienced as any line in the country,” Kingfield said.

Center Mike Deevey feels the line was not only big, but had good technique as well. MSC gave up less than two quarterback sacks per game, and the line helped to pave the way for over 2000 yards rushing by the running backs.

The instinct and experience of the 1988 offensive line helped to charge the MSC team to its commendable season. Coach Giancola said, “I have been fortunate to have had the chance to work with those guys who trained so hard in practice and performed to their fullest in the games.”

The MSC offensive line, which did such a fine job this season opening holes for Indian running backs as well as protecting quarterback Ed Baffige. From left to right are: Matt Kingfield (86), Doug Robb (78), Bob Franks (68), Mike Deevey (52), Joe Fernandez (74), and Rob Merola (73).

Steve Oliver

Junior Steve Oliver may not be a household name around MSC. In fact, since he's an offensive lineman, he probably never will be. But come next season, Steve Oliver may just be a name to remember.

The versatile Oliver, who can play either the guard or tackle position, will probably step in and play offensive tackle for the Indians next year, after waiting for his chance for three seasons. Will it be worth the wait?

“If I end up a starter, it will all be worth it,” Oliver said. “But there's still a lot of work for me to do. But as long as I stay healthy and keep working hard, I can see it happening.”

Oliver came to MSC in 1985 from Lenape Valley High School in Stanhope, New Jersey after gathering All-League, All-Conference and All-State honors during his senior year. But once at MSC, he learned that he would have to prove himself all over again.

Steve Oliver

“I think what made it hard was that I couldn’t get a break because we’ve always had such a solid offensive line,” said Oliver. “You come out of high school flying high, but it gets discouraging when you come to MSC and don’t play for three years.”

Oliver was especially disappointed this season because he felt he came into preseson camp “stronger, bigger, and faster than ever” after an off-season conditioning program. Quitting the team briefly crossed Oliver’s mind from time to time when it seemed he would never get his chance, but “I know I never could quit, because I’m not a quitter. Deep down inside I know my time will come.”

Oliver labels this past season a “big disappointment”, on both a personal and a team level, because he wasn’t able to reach goals that he set for himself and for the team.

“I’m disappointed because of my lack of playing time and because we didn’t make the playoffs, and subsequently the Stagg Bowl,” said Oliver.

“The thing that really hurts,” Oliver continued, “is that on paper, I think we can play with anybody. I think that talented, wise, we are as good as anyone.”

Looking toward next season, Oliver has begun his weight training and running regimen that he hopes will make him the “best player he can be.”
MSC wrestling team one of country's best—in any division

By Bryan Morzyko
Staff Writer

The MSC wrestling season begins November 26th as the Indians compete in a quad meet with Princeton, Rutgers and Hofstra.

Leading the team are Pete Gonzalez at the 126 pound weight class and Kari Monaco, a 150 pounder. Both Monaco and Gonzalez were top ten finishers in the nation last year.

That is in any division, not just Division III, where they were both champions.

The team will look to win the New Jersey Athletic Conference (NJAC) crown, a goal which seems not only possible but extremely likely. Their main competitors are the defending Division III school to win the national title. Only Kenny Mai of the University of becomes second in Division III, last year, though Monaco and Gonzalez are truly great competitors and will no doubt lead the MSC squad to victory, they can't do it by themselves, as both freely admit. With so many returners from a team that finished second in Div. III last year, they (and Iore) do not seem to be anything stopping the Indians from attaining that championship and an NJAC championship.

126 POUND CLASS NATIONAL RANKINGS
1. Jim Martin (Penn State)
2. Craig Walters (Wyoming)
3. Kendall Cross (Okla. St.)
4. Pete Gonzalez (MSC)
5. Gary McCall (Iowa State)
6. Nael Stokes (NC State)
7. Dan Lovelace (SW Missouri)
8. Jeff Husick (Hocking)
9. Dave Kennedy (Bloomington)
10. Gary Roberts (New Mexico)
11. Paul Kuska (Army)
12. Chris Bollin (Oklahoma)
13. Doug Wyland (N. Carolina)
14. Garrett Bendell (Boston)
15. John Regan (Iowa)
16. Mike Dallas (Bakersfield)
17. Shon Lewis (Oregon)
18. Craig Campbell (Eastern)
19. Lexy Jackson (Miami)
20. Shawna Crosswhite (Fresno)
21. Dave Dameron (Michigan)
22. John Venable (Edinboro)
23. Ray Leonard (BYU)
24. Kurt Howell (Clemson)

150 POUND CLASS NATIONAL RANKINGS
1. Jim Krieger (Iowa State)
2. Paul Radomski (NSU)
3. Karl Monaco (MSC)
4. Terry Kennedy (Edinboro)
5. Brien Dowling (Indiana)
6. Tom Schmidt (Cornell)
7. Ken Ramsey (Ohio State)
8. Dan Russell (Portland State)
9. Pat Duthie (Boston)
10. Pat Hogan (Northern Iowa)
11. Mike Carpen (Iowa)
12. R. McCutchen (Utah St.)
13. Stacey Johnson (Mich. St.)
14. Scott Hovan (Pittsburgh)
15. Debbie Worley (BYU)
16. Todd Ross (Wyoming)
17. Pat Montgomery (Cornell)
18. T. Fischman (New Mexico)
19. John Johnston (F&M)
20. Tim Whiteman (Penn State)
21. John Johnston (F&M)
22. J. Sauder (Arizona)
23. Todd Layton (Norte Dame)
24. George Johnston (Iowa)
25. D. Wiodor (Clemson St.)

By Tracy Anderson
Staff Writer

MSC’s Domingues to run in Nationals

Though the Indians lost in the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference (ECAC) Final Four to Williams College, 1-0, they finished with their best record ever at 17-4-3.

Going into 1988, the Indians had an improved and experienced starting lineup. Third-year starters started off slowly at 2-2, but then reeled off a string of ten unbeaten games to improve their record to 11-2-3.

The MSC also won six out of its last eight games to finish with a school record seventh win.

There were some big contributors to the Indians’ success this season. Goalie Jim Stahl started 22 out of the 24 games and recorded 14 shutouts while stopping 109 shots on the year.

All-American candidate Rob Chesney anchored a strong defense with six goals and four assists.

A very pleasant surprise to the team was freshman sensation Kevin Padi. Padi came on strong in the mid-season, scoring 11 goals and adding four assists in just 14 games.

Despite the great regular season record, the biggest achievement for the team came in post season play, despite the fact that the Indians did not qualify for the National Collegiate Athletic Association playoffs.

The Indians did not qualify for the ECAC playoffs, they won the Metropolitan New York-New Jersey Championships by defeating Drew in the first round 1-0 and defeating New Jersey Institute of Technology in the Metro Finals by a score of 2-0.

All in all, the 1988 soccer season at Montclair will be remembered as the school’s best. The good thing is that the prospects for next year are even brighter, as many of the players return.
Barbossa herculean heroics come as no surprise to MSC hockey team

By Mary Carlomagno
Staff Writer

A new face on the MSC hockey team this year is sophomore Dave Barbossa, this week's Montclarion Athlete of the Week.

The left wing dominated in the Indians' most recent game with four goals, taking the team to a 13-3 win over New Paltz Sunday. Presently, MSC is 3-1.

"Everyone helps each other out," stated Barbossa. "We definitely have the talent and leadership to win the conference this year."

Barbossa feels the team has really come together since the first game against Hofstra. After suffering a loss, "the team really came together both on the ice and off. The last three games we played really well, because we were more prepared."

The Hudson-Catholic alumnuus is enjoying a very successful rookie year at MSC. "I feel like I am contributing to the team's success right now," he said. "But it is not just me out there. The whole team is winning, and that is what's most important," he continued.

Barbossa thinks that he is only doing his job, to ensure a conference title, which 'everyone wants very badly this year.' After not achieving the title last season, the Indians are hungry for a conference championship.

The skater is confident about the success of the MSC squad this season. "We have a lot of good skaters. If we work the puck and set up plays, we can really take charge on the ice."

With determination and energy, Barbossa believes the Indians have what it takes to win the conference.

"After we lost the first game, the team got motivated and learned not to take another team too lightly," said Barbossa.

"Rutgers is the most important game to win right now. They are the best in the league and the team to beat. We need for everyone to come out ready to play."

As a sophomore on a very young team, Barbossa feels that 'everyone helps each other quite a bit. We definitely look up to the captains to set an example.' Talent will be the key for the Indians. "If we do everything right and play to our ability, we can't help but win," he explained.

Led by newcomer Barbossa, the Indian hockey team may be the team to watch.
Our S.I.D. is A-OK

A school's Sports Information Director is somewhat like a referee—he's not really noticed unless he screws up. That's why there aren't many people around MSC who know who the hell Al Langer is.

Al Langer is the Sports Information Director of Montclair State. Though, he's only held the position for about 11 months, he has developed three traits which are absolutely crucial for a person in his position—accessibility, cordiality, and knowledgeability—and become one of the best in his field in this area. If there's anything you need to know about MSC sports, and you want to find out, you will.

This shouldn't be taken for granted. Not all people in the field possess these traits. In fact, some don't possess any of them.

Let's take William Paterson, for example. Last Friday night, William Paterson hosted Wagner College. Seahawk running back Terry Underwood was nearing records for yards rushing in a season, both school and national records, yet there were no announcements regarding how many yards Underwood had, how many he needed to gain, etc. None. William Paterson Sports Information Director Joe Martinelli was right in the press box, as was Wagner Sports Information Director John Stallings. Yet nothing was announced. It was later learned that those in the press box were aware of exactly where Underwood stood, and that he had in fact broken the record during the game. But no one bothered to announce it. In fact, when approached by fans inquiring about the record, both were downright abrasive.

Now come on, fellas. If you ever want to be good Sports Information Directors, you need to be, well, accessible, cordial, and even knowledgeable. In short, you need to take a lesson from Al Langer.

At the Meadowlands Tuesday night at the Big M, Mudstone got off to a slow start—last, in fact. But Mudstone made a big move and actually challenged for the lead before tiring in his field in this area. If there's anything you need to know about MSC sports, and you want to find out, you will.

This shouldn't be taken for granted. Not all people in the field possess these traits. In fact, some don't possess any of them.

By Kenny Peck

Swimmers as deep as they are talented

By Kenny Peck

The MSC swim team enters the 1988-89 season with a positive attitude and the talent to back it up.

The men's team returns seven swimmers while the women have four veterans. Together with an impressive group of newcomers, this season may prove to be a success as the Indians combine depth and talent.

For the men, senior captain Karl Angersbach (free), seniors Mike Pavolony (fly), Andy Pecoraro (fly) and Cesar Aethortua (breast) are back, as well as junior Mike Spano (back) and sophomores Bobby Bagnato (breast) and Rich Volpi (fly). Pavolony and Pecoraro stand a good chance to make Nationals for the 200-yard butterfly.

Volpi returns from a good season last year and hopes to improve this season with a view toward being a finalist at Nationals, while Bagnato is chasing a school record in 100-200 yard breaststroke (1:01).

The freshmen class of Matt Gorski (free), James Madden (IM), Aaron Miller (back) and Frank Viola (Diver) will give MSC a much needed boost. Last season, the team had only seven members, and MSC was unable to fill more events and gain more points.

Junior Tim O'Connor (IM) returns after a one-year layoff, and the addition of sophomores Jeffrey Guengul (fly), Duke Harding (free) and Hank Kobik (free) and junior Scott Langan (fly) will give the team more depth.

Harding, together with Gorski, will combine to help Angersbach in the sprint freestyles and gain points that MSC would have been unable to gain last year.

The women's team is led by returning captain Kim Muller (back), as well as juniors Sandy Sanchez (free) and Grace Smith (diver) and senior Patty Rudolph.

The freshmen class of Matt Gorski (free), James Madden (IM), Aaron Miller (back) and Frank Viola (Diver) will give MSC a much needed boost. Last season, the team had only seven members, and MSC was unable to fill more events and gain more points.

Junior Tim O'Connor (IM) returns after a one-year layoff, and the addition of sophomores Jeffrey Guengul (fly), Duke Harding (free) and Hank Kobik (free) and junior Scott Langan (fly) will give the team more depth.

Harding, together with Gorski, will combine to help Angersbach in the sprint freestyles and gain points that MSC would have been unable to gain last year.

The women's team is led by returning captain Kim Muller (back), as well as juniors Sandy Sanchez (free) and Grace Smith (diver) and senior Patty Rudolph.

Freshmen Dawn Castellano (free), Jenny Clark (Diver), Kathryn DeGraff (free) and Kim Geradis (free), as well as sophomores Leslie DeLuca (fly) and Lori Kopec (back) round out the team.

Trivia Time-Out

Each week, The Montclarion publishes a list of sports questions and answers to test your knowledge of sports trivia. In addition, there is a sports stumper which will be answered in the following issue.

If you think you have the correct answer to the stumper, drop it off at The Montclarion office in Room 113 of the Student Center Annex. The names of those submitting the correct answer will be published in the next week's issue. Deadline for submissions is Monday at 3 p.m.

1. Who is the only player to have led the NCAA, the NBA, and the ABA in scoring?
2. What NBA team set a record in the 1971-1972 season by winning 33 straight games?
3. What star pitcher led the Yankees to a World Series in 1978?
4. What NBA all star answered to Big D?
5. What National League team did Charlie Finley try to sell pitcher Vida Blue to for $1.75 million

Answer to last week's stumper:

20 game winners?

In 1977, Ken Norton held the number three world ranking in heavyweight boxing. Name numbers one and two.

Muhammad Ali, George Foreman.

By Kenny Peck

Sports Editor

Trivia Time-Out

Each week, The Montclarion publishes a list of sports questions and answers to test your knowledge of sports trivia. In addition, there is a sports stumper which will be answered in the following issue.

If you think you have the correct answer to the stumper, drop it off at The Montclarion office in Room 113 of the Student Center Annex. The names of those submitting the correct answer will be published in the next week's issue. Deadline for submissions is Monday at 3 p.m.

1. Who is the only player to have led the NCAA, the NBA, and the ABA in scoring?
2. What NBA team set a record in the 1971-1972 season by winning 33 straight games?
3. What star pitcher led the Yankees to a World Series in 1978?
4. What NBA all star answered to Big D?
5. What National League team did Charlie Finley try to sell pitcher Vida Blue to for $1.75 million

Answer to last week's stumper:

In 1977, Ken Norton held the number three world ranking in heavyweight boxing. Name numbers one and two.

Muhammad Ali, George Foreman.

By Kenny Peck

Sports Editor

The MSC swim team enters the 1988-89 season with a positive attitude and the talent to back it up.

The men's team returns seven swimmers while the women have four veterans. Together with an impressive group of newcomers, this season may prove to be a success as the Indians combine depth and talent.

For the men, senior captain Karl Angersbach (free), seniors Mike Pavolony (fly), Andy Pecoraro (fly) and Cesar Aethortua (breast) are back, as well as junior Mike Spano (back) and sophomores Bobby Bagnato (breast) and Rich Volpi (fly). Pavolony and Pecoraro stand a good chance to make Nationals for the 200-yard butterfly.

Volpi returns from a good season last year and hopes to improve this season with a view toward being a finalist at Nationals, while Bagnato is chasing a school record in 100-200 yard breaststroke (1:01).

The freshmen class of Matt Gorski (free), James Madden (IM), Aaron Miller (back) and Frank Viola (Diver) will give MSC a much needed boost. Last season, the team had only seven members, and MSC was unable to fill more events and gain more points.

Junior Tim O'Connor (IM) returns after a one-year layoff, and the addition of sophomores Jeffrey Guengul (fly), Duke Harding (free) and Hank Kobik (free) and junior Scott Langan (fly) will give the team more depth.

Harding, together with Gorski, will combine to help Angersbach in the sprint freestyles and gain points that MSC would have been unable to gain last year.

The women's team is led by returning captain Kim Muller (back), as well as juniors Sandy Sanchez (free) and Grace Smith (diver) and senior Patty Rudolph.

Freshmen Dawn Castellano (free), Jenny Clark (Diver), Kathryn DeGraff (free) and Kim Geradis (free), as well as sophomores Leslie DeLuca (fly) and Lori Kopec (back) round out the team.
A grand finale for MSC

By Bryan Morvtko
Staff Writer

The Indians finished their 12th straight winning season with a record of 8-2, 5-1 in the New Jersey Athletic Conference (NJAC), after a 36-14 win over Glassboro State College (GSC) Saturday night.

That record was good enough to earn them second place honors in the NJAC, but unfortunately was not enough for postseason play.

Scott Vega led the team with two touchdowns on the day, both coming on the ground. Vega carried for 69 yards on 13 carries and also gained 37 yards on two catches.

Mike Codella finished out his collegiate career with 106 yards on 13 carries, including one run for 28 yards.

Quarterback Ed Baffige finished the year on a strong note, completing 14 passes on 22 attempts for 184 yards and a touchdown. The touchdown was a five-yarder to Jeff McGregor, who had 65 yards on three receptions for the day.

Defensive end Paul Cioffi finished his sophomore year with a bang as he broke Dan Zakachefski’s record of 14 sacks in a season. Cioffi recorded two sacks in the GSC game, bringing his total to 16 on the season.

The secondary had a banner game as well, coming up with two crucial interceptions.

The first came as free safety David Harris picked off a pass in the second quarter and then raced 40 yards for a touchdown. The second came at a critical point, as freshman Artie Williams grabbed his first of the season on the one-yard line to stop a Prof threat.

Anthony Colasurdo went two for three in the field goal department, finishing the year 10 of 16.

The Indians took a 21-14 lead into the locker room at the half after GSC scored twice in the second quarter.

The rest of the game belonged to the MSC defense, however, highlighted by Matt Clark’s tackle of the Prof quarterback in the end zone for a safety.

Vega followed up with a touchdown, and Colasurdo kicked one of his two field goals to end the scoring.