Rise in thefts and security at Clove

By Anthony DiPasquale
Staff Writer

In response to an extreme increase in apartment robberies during the fall semester, campus officials recently met to discuss possible safety measures.

Among those present at the Jan. 26 meeting were Philip Calitre, director of Campus Police, and representatives from Residence Life, including supervisor Doug Cooper, investigating officer sergeant Debra Newcombe, and Clove Road's new director, Shelley Jackson.

Clove Road experienced 18 break-ins of both the downstairs and upstairs residences this past semester. According to campus' police records, last year there were four attempted forced break-ins.

"We have seen a different type of forced entry this year," Newcombe said. "Usually, the only problems we've had has been when a window has been left open, but with these cases there is a great deal of damage to the doors and locks."

Lynde discusses MSC's racial problems and the hiring freeze

By Paul Mampilly
Staff Writer

Acting President Richard Lynde addressed the faculty on the state of MSC yesterday afternoon in the Student Center Ballrooms.

At the top of the list was the proposal for "shared governance" at MSC. The term refers to the college administration's plan to include the faculty further in college affairs.

Lynde expressed his shock at the state of racial relations at MSC.

He said, "We may have convinced ourselves that prejudice does not exist at MSC. We read of conflicts and problems at other institutions and tell ourselves it can't happen here."

"We received several threatening phone calls and alarming letters threatening disruption and even assassination of Newark Mayor Sharpe James if he presided over the commencement exercises."

Lynde also referred to a cartoon published in the yearbook that depicted an MSC employee being told, "Quite frankly, we're hiring you because you're Black."

He said, "I was deeply disturbed by the cartoon, but I was even more deeply concerned when I learned that the students responsible for printing the cartoon did not view it as a racial slur."

He announced the formation of several committees to address minority issues at MSC and create an atmosphere of racial harmony at MSC.

The budget and the hiring freeze were also discussed.

Lynde said that MSC would not receive what it requested from the current state budget. While MSC requested approximately $41 million, it has only received appropriation of $39 million.

Yearbook faces censorship and review after cartoon controversy

By Lynn M. Cowan
Editor-in-Chief

A cartoon that appeared in MSC's 1988 yearbook sparked allegations of racial insensitivity recently.

The cartoon depicted track coach John Blanton as the recipient of a job because of his race.

In addition, the cartoon has brought up questions of the college's right to censor a student publication when plans began forming for a review committee to advise La Campana, the SGA organization that publishes the yearbook.

The cartoon, on page 133 of the yearbook, shows a Black man leaning over a desk with the words, "MSC track coach.

"The cartoon was printed next to an editorial column which criticized the administration for hiring a lower-ranked Black coach over former coach Vic Mizon. The hiring was approved over protests by track team members and students.

Soon after the yearbook was released, faculty members began to rally in support of Blanton, who felt they had been wrongfully labeled.

In a letter written on Dec. 19 to President Richard Lynde, three faculty members described the cartoon as "disgusting and racially insensitive behavior."

The faculty members wrote, "We do not believe that a document as important as the yearbook could contain such material."

SGA President shows concern over yearbook cartoon controversy

By Tom ‘Bill’ Correspondent

President Thomas Mergola expressed concern last night at the SGA meeting over a controversial cartoon published in the yearbook last semester.

The cartoon, which illustrates the hiring of a Black man because of his race, has recently been the focus of much attention.

“The repercussions of such a sensitive issue are going to affect us all,” Mergola said. “The [students], administrators and faculty, are very unhappy about it.” He also said that there is a petition being signed by many people on campus.

Mergola asked the twenty-five attending legislators to review the cartoon and give him their reactions. As for his own personal opinion, Mergola said, “I’m not going to let that be known at this time.”

Finally, it was announced that another house in the Greek Council will be formed. It is being established for professional fraternities.

New Rat hours

The Rat will be open again on Thursday nights serving alcoholic beverages and soda. Admittance will be with MSC I.D. only.

The Rat has also announced a new service which went into effect last night. A non-alcoholic bar complete with DJ and sparklers was opened to all patrons under 21.

The service has been introduced for a trial period of four weeks, and if results are good, will become part of the Rat’s regular activities every Wednesday night.

Douglas A. Blackburn has been chosen to replace William H. Griffith to head the department for finance and administration in the capacity of vice-president.

Blackburn said that a financial audit had given MSC a clean audit report which means that no irregularities have been found in the accounts.

He added that the financial statements show adequate reserves that could be used to tide over the current financial crisis in the state which will consequently affect MSC.

"The college receives 75 percent of its revenue from the state and hence if the state has budgetary problems, MSC can expect to feel the effects of that," said Blackburn.

He said "We have been examining Governor Tom Kean's budget, but an initial analysis, it seems we haven't got everything we asked for."

Campus Police
Clothing theft in College Store

By Rob Tomeo
Staff Writer

On Jan. 18 at 3:00 p.m., the Book Manager reported to the campus police that a bookstore employee saw another bookstore employee leave the store with a college sweatshirt concealed under his clothing. The bookstore pressed criminal charges of shoplifting against the accused thief who is a student. The alleged thief is appearing in Little Falls Municipal Court on Feb. 1.

Back in September, three female Bohn Hall residents signed complaints against a male Bohn Hall resident who had been harassing them. On Jan. 30, in Clifton Municipal Court, the male resident pleaded guilty to several charges brought against him, and received fines totalling over $1,000.

He also received a 10 day jail sentence which was suspended and will remain suspended providing that he does not violate his probation. He also has been banned from all residence halls and must enroll in an alcohol/drug program.

On Jan. 14, four juveniles were arrested after illegally entering Blanton Hall at 11:20 p.m. A patrol officer had observed the four youths running toward Blanton Hall. He then saw them in the building lobby. The officer called for assistance, and the police searched the building, eventually finding the juveniles on the 3rd floor. The juveniles fled the scene and the police finally apprehended them outside. The youths said that they had been drinking in a nearby park and were looking for a vending machine. No charges are being brought against them.

On Jan. 24, at 4:40 a.m., in the Clove Road apartments, it is believed that two individuals forcibly entered a “C” apartment and then went upstairs where they opened the door to a girl’s bedroom. The intruders stole a TV and then fled. The campus police have no suspects.

On Jan. 25, a car stolen from East Orange was recovered in lot 28. The thieves that abandoned the car made failed attempts to steal an 84 Dodge Conquest and an 87 Isuzu Impulse, but finally succeeded in stealing an 87 Mazda RX7. The car was recovered in Newark on Friday, Jan. 27.

Between 8:30 a.m. and 11:45 a.m., on Jan. 29, someone set women’s underwear on fire near the women’s lockerroom in Panzer Gym. The matter is being investigated.

On Jan. 12, James E. Harris, associate dean of students, wrote a memo to William Cogans, editor-in-chief of the yearbook, outlining a series of steps that La Campana should perform in order to lessen the insensitivity displayed by the printing of the cartoon.
Harris requested that La Campana provide an apology to Blanton, establish a review board that includes a faculty member or administrator, publish a public apology, conduct a training program in race relations and multiculturalism for the yearbook staff, secure the permission of artists before publishing their work, and submit the yearbook to the Associated Collegiate Press for review.
Cogans wrote a letter of apol­ogy to Blanton, but said, "The review committee, as explained to me, is something that will take place prior to the next yearbook's publication. In ef­fect, that is censorship."
"The committee plans review the book for racially insensitive topics. I want to state that the yearbook does not create its own truths—it only summarizes what occurred over the Pre­ced­ing year," said Cogan. "Anyone can look back at copies of the Star Ledger and the Herald News and see that this actually did happen, whether right or wrong."

Students, your assignment today is to learn how to use the Smith Corona XL 2500 typewriter.

Oops, don't get too settled in your seats. The XL 2500 isn't a very difficult study.

In fact, unlike most electronic typewriters, it's a downright snap to pick up. The Spell-Right $9,000 word electronic dictionary adds new meaning to the word "simple." WordEraser erases entire words at a single touch.

WordFind finds your mistakes before anyone else can.

The XL 2500 even makes correcting mistakes as easy as making them.

With the Smith Corona Correcting Cassette, you simply pop in your correction tape.

There are no spools to unwind....no complicated threading....no tangles.

Of course, we've also added lots of other fine features to the XL 2500.

There's full line correction, Auto Hall-Space, Auto Center, even our Right Ribbon System, which automatically prevents you from using the wrong combination of ribbon and correcting cassette.

Oh, one more feature we forgot to mention—the price. You'll be happy to hear that the XL 2500 is surprisingly affordable.

So you see, the XL 2500 won't just make your writing easier. It'll also help you with your economics.

MSC joins Habitat for Humanity

By Brian Nase
Correspondent

Millard Fuller, founder and executive director of Habitat for Humanity, will speak at MSC to celebrate New Jersey's first campus chapter on Feb. 11, at 7:30 p.m. in rooms 411-414 of the Student Center.

Habitat for Humanity, an ecumenical grassroots ministry founded in 1976, is committed to helping provide poor families with housing through the use of private funds and volunteer labor. Today, Habitat has 324 projects in the U.S. and works in over 25 countries.

The new MSC/Habitat chapter will support the local Newark and Paterson projects. A special collegiate volunteer work day is planned for Feb. 11, at the Newark work site located in the Central Ward at 294-298 South Orange Ave.

Many public and college officials, including Newark mayor Sharpe James and MSC's Acting President Richard A. Lynde, will be a part of the work party.

Plans now call for the structure to be renovated into five two to four bedroom units with a community center.

Five families have already been selected as homeowners. Under Habitat guidelines, these homeowners must contribute 300 hours in building or renovating their own home.

For further information about Habitat for Humanity or the work day/campus celebration, please call the Newark office at 373-1238. Students who would like to become part of the new MSC campus chapter should contact Gennyfer Davenport, acting president, at 783-1875 or Lise Greene at 893-4213.

The problem with p. 133

Everything seemed just fine until page 133. On that particular page of the 1988 MSC yearbook there is a cartoon depicting a Black man labeled "Black man." The black man responds, "Black?! I just came back from Florida!"

From here the problem snowballed. Memos written from three faculty members suggest that the yearbook should be produced under "direct supervision of an adult member of the college community."

In a memo written by James E. Harris, assistant dean of students, steps were outlined that should be taken by the yearbook staff. These steps include a full apology to coach Brandon and (of course) a review board consisting of at least one faculty or administrator representative.

But what exactly has the yearbook done wrong? Have they, as members of the Student Publications Committee, been too lenient in their oversight of the "Black man" cartoon?

Certainly it must be the latter, considering The Montclarion received no memos from faculty or administrators asking for apologies and review boards when the cartoon appeared in our April 14, 1988 edition. How exactly did a political cartoon become more "racial" when it moves from one student publication to another?

According to Webster's Dictionary, a yearbook is a school publication that is compiled by a graduating class and serves as a record of the year's activities. So even in these broad terms, the MSC track team controversy deserves mention in a publication whose sole purpose is to document events that occurred in that year. No one said these events had to be sugarcoated for faculty and administrative consumption.

MSC administration made a mistake when they allegedly hired a Black coach over a white one simply to fill a quota. The solution is not to simply make La Campana the scapegoat because of a re-published cartoon. Instead of trying to show that the track coach incident under MSC's giant carpet we should use it as an opportunity to see our mistake and make sure this type of racial incident never occurs again. Isn't that the responsibility of a student publication?

Paul's gag offends reader

To the editor:

I found John Paul's Gag Reflex drawing in the December 15 issue of The Montclarion obscene, to say the least. Please note that I do not call it a cartoon because cartoons are supposed to be funny.

As a mother, I find it insulting to all mothers. Since Paul so proudly put "MOM" on the Christmas stocking, he must not have any respect for his own. Perhaps, he is to be pitied.

Tommy talks:

Coach Thompson misses the point

Georgetown University basketball coach John Thompson protested the NCAA's violation of Proposition 42 by not coaching two games, one nationally televised. (A personal boycott, if you will.)

Proposition 42 states that for an athlete to receive a four year ride (aka scholarship), the athlete must have a score of 700 on the SAT and a C average. Proposition 48 stated that the athlete must have either or. Coach Thompson's lament was that the SAT is a culturally biased test that cannot be indicative of a student's potential in higher education.

This opinion has points and has been shared by many educators, notably Linnie Wiceland, who states that the standardized tests eliminate students from college and forces decreases in higher education which students scoring low on the tests might be able to achieve.

I agree with Coach Thompson. How can any standardized test be used as a barometer for students on a national level, without taking into account the student's background, educational upbringing and proficiency problems? This test does not take into consideration the educational disadvantages that students may have received from a poor educational system.

But is that what's really at stake here for Coach Thompson and other prestigious basketball institutions? Let's face it, college sports, especially basketball, are a major U.S. entertainment industry. BIG BUCKS! So what if the player can't read or write, as long as he can hit an 18-foot jumper, things are O.K.

Propositions 42 and 48 would limit the recruiting opportunities for schools like Georgetown, which in turn, might not allow them to field as good a team as possible. More losses, less ticket sales and attendance, less TV revenue.

To avoid this, recruitment into one of these prestigious schools offers a full scholarship for the athlete's services. What seems to get lost here is that the athlete is supposed to receive an education in the process. Many athletes do not make the pros and many do not receive their diplomas.

As Mike Royko stated in The Daily News, "these undereducated athletes aren't students. They are employees, to attract everyone and money to this entertainment industry."

Consider the scholarships a salary. Mike Royko suggests paying those athletes, since they are working and not learning. As far as I'm concerned, they are already receiving payment for their services, in the form of a four-year scholarship that many academic students could only dream of.

At the root of the problem is the fact that these athletes go through 12 years of school without learning much, but such is the state of the American educational system.

No, Coach Thompson, the SAT's and the quality of basketball aren't our biggest problems. Let's evaluate our educational system, change the SAT if it is culturally and educationally biased and remember that educational institutions are there for education first, athletics and entertainment second.

Players’ performance reveals a hideous fate

The Living Years breathes new life into Mike and the Mechanics

By Dominic Pandiscia
Staff Writer

The Living Years, the latest release by Mike & The Mechanics, is the second project of such by Genesis member Mike Rutherford. This follow up album to the highly successful Visible Touch. This follow up album includes many of the same pop hooks to be the saving grace of the album of the past 6 years. Another cut is entitled "Nobody Knows", which sounds strikingly like "Throwing It All Away" from the Genesis release, Invisible Touch.

Although these are perhaps the strongest, cuts on the album, the remainder is still worth giving attention to. However, at times, the songs may border on banal pop music, but they are successfully saved from the abyss by the creative talent of Mike Rutherford. The final product is a selection of songs which could easily find its way to the Billboard top chart, while providing the listener with much more substance than the average chart topping releases.

Nolan’s Notes

By Jarrett Nolan

Hello and welcome to the first column of 1989. On Monday, Jan. 30 the American Music Awards were broadcast. The show itself was slow paced, almost comatose. However, I muddled through three hours of glitz to give you this report.

George Michael was the most noted artist with four nominations and ended up walking away with three awards. Ironically, two of his wins were in the R&B field: favorite male artist, and album. Michael Jackson was given a special award for lifetime achievement, but before Eddie Murphy had given it to him, we had to sit through a 10-minute video montage of MJ’s militant Euro tour. Other winners include Freddie Jackson, Guns N’ Roses, D.J. Jazzy Jeff & the Fresh Prince, Tracy Chapman, Al B. Sure!, Def Leppard, and Gladys Knight & the Pips.

MINI-NOTES, VOL. I & II: Rod Stewart performed Forever Young on the AMAs complete with the Little Orphan Annie-looking kid. Why was he there? Wasn’t it past his bedtime? Guns N’ Roses performed their acoustic favorite, “Patience.” Is it just me or did Axl Rose look the same as he did in the Sweet Child O’ Mine video only slower? MJ accepted his award wearing black patent leather and a World Wide Wrestling Federation jacket. Got it?

While he was on stage, I was staring hard at the TV for his plastic surgery scars and melting face... Whitney Houston’s acceptance speech consisted of: “Thank you,” “5 O’o’s,” “4 jiggles,” “3 jumps,” “2 hops,” and 1 “Look. Ma. I got another one! This makes 10!” Ungratuitous... New Edition should keep up on other people’s albums instead of only their own. While reading the nominations in the heavy metal category, they said Appetite for Destruction and OurTwelve. Wake up guys and get a clue...

In an unrelated note: MJ’s sister, La Toya, recently posed nude for Playboy. Let me guess, this is a last ditch effort to boost a non-existent career... And now, the first trivia question of the year: In the Information Society single, What’s On Your Mind, Leonard Nimoy chants “Pure Energy.” I wanna know what Star Trek episode that line is from. Think about it...Until next week...

Hockey team dumps Columbia, 11-2

By G.F. Mullin
Staff Writer

The MSC hockey team, with a respectable 3-1 record in its last four games, tangled with Columbia University at the Bayonne Ice Hockey Arena Sunday night. After the game, the Indians had an even more respectable 4-1 record in their last five games, courtesy of an 11-2 romp over the Lions.

Columbia, coming in with a 2-2 mark, started the Indians with a goal forty-eight seconds into the first period. A brilliant drive up the ice into the Indian defensive zone by George Caliendo made the Lions good.

Caliendo got his second goal unassisted at 5:03 of the first period. But it was that one in ten.

One out of ten women will develop breast cancer!

I know. I was that one in ten. And mammography helped save my life.

Debra Strauss

Thanks to mammography, a fast and simple screening technique, breast cancer can now be detected at its earliest stage — what is still highly curable.

If you’re age 40 or older, or if you’ve got a first-degree family history, the American Cancer Society urges you to please call your doctor for an appointment.

22. The Montclarion/Thursday, February 2, 1989
By Kenny Peck

Yearbook cartoon suddenly ‘disgusting’

Off the track (again)

Now wait a minute.

What faculty members and administrators are saying is that it was alright to print the "track cartoon" in last year's Montclarion, but it was "disgusting and racially insensitive" to print it in our Yearbook? Where were these faculty members back then, when their support may have meant something? I suppose it's because the Yearbook is a book to be treasured, a "keepsake" in someone's words, and only pictures of Homecoming and pretty girls and unimaginably important events, like Morton Downey Jr. visiting campus, should be in it.

Not at all. The Yearbook should attempt to capture a piece of everything it possibly can about the happenings of that particular year. Good, bad, or ugly. The Great Track Team Caper is a little of all three. Try as you might, you cannot say that The Great Track Team Caper didn't happen. Or that it wasn't a major happening. It did. It was. In fact, it still is. Vic Mizzone's lawyer has filed a lawsuit in Essex County Superior Court, and is awaiting response from Montclair State. Perhaps that's why this is such a touchy issue.

So Billy Cogan is made the goat for publishing the cartoon, a cartoon that we received zero letters for when we ran it in an April '88 issue of this paper. MSC officials now want to form a review committee to review what goes into all MSC publications.

Too late. The word is out. The Great Track Team Caper happened, and the worst may be yet to come.

Are captain Gilmore a bright spot in a dark MSC season

MSC’s Greg Gilmore

Gilmore uses his quickness to compensate for his lack of size as a forward. "Since most of the players I have to guard are a couple of inches bigger than I am, I have to use speed to make their size a disadvantage," Gilmore said.

With seven games left in the season, Gilmore believes there is still something to be gained. "Right now we are in a rebuilding stage, but I'd like to finish up with a few more wins. We need to gain confidence, which will help our younger players," Gilmore said.

The Indians' starting team consists of three freshmen, one junior and a sophomore. This season the hoopers only lose one player, co-captain Mike Wegzynski.

"I don’t want them to get down on themselves. As freshmen, they have had a lot of responsibility. Now it’s important for them not to give up," Gilmore said.

During the last three games of this season, Gilmore has averaged fourteen points per game, with a high of 18 against Stockton State.

"It would be easy to give up and just play the season out. We believe that we can still win. Hopefully in the upcoming calendar, we can play the way we are capable of," concluded Gilmore.

Triva Time-Out

Each week, the Montclarion publishes a list of sports questions and answers to test your knowledge of sports trivia. In addition, there is a sports stumper which will be answered in the following issue.

If you think you have the correct answer to the stumper, drop it off at The Montclarion office in Room 113 of the Student Center Annex. The names of those submitting the correct answer will be published in the next week's issue. Deadline for submissions is Monday at 3 p.m.

1. Who said of left field in Yankee Stadium in October: "It gets late early out there?"
2. How many home runs did Mickey Mantle hit the season Roger Maris belted 61?
3. What piece of track and field equipment is eight and five-eighths inches in diameter?
4. What infield-outfielder was dubbed Otto the Swatto?
5. Who was baseball's Old Roman?

This week's stumper: What National League team rotated coaches as manager in 1961 and 1962?

A defense against cancer can be cooked up in your kitchen.

There is evidence that diet and cancer are related. Some foods may promote cancer, while others may protect you from it.

Foods related to lowering the risk of cancer of the larynx and esophagus all have high amounts of carrots, a form of Vitamin A, which is in carrots, peas, onions, brown sugar, green leafy vegetables, sweet potatoes, carrots, pumpkin, winter squash, and tomatoes, citrus fruits and brussels sprouts.

Foods that may help reduce the risk of gastrointestinal and respiratory tract cancer are cabbage, broccoli, brussels sprouts, kohlrabi, cauliflower.

Fruits, vegetables and whole grain cereals such as oatmeal, bran and wheat may help lower the risk of colorectal cancer.

Foods high in fat, salt or nitrite-cured foods such as ham, and fish and types of sausages smoked by traditional methods should be eaten in moderation.

Now, more than ever, you know you can cook up your own defense against cancer. So eat healthy and be healthy.

MSC’s Monaco to face Krieger in battle of best

By Kenny Peck

Sports Editor

MSC wrestler Karl Monaco, ranked second in the country at his 150-pound weight class, will face number one ranked Tim Krieger of Iowa State next Tuesday in Pennsylvania.

Monaco, who sports a career record of 120-7, is confident but wary of his February 7 opponent.

"He's quick on his feet," the senior from Clifton said. "I'll have to be able to get out from the bottom in order to win."

Monaco came into the season ranked third in the country but moved up to second when Dave Morgan of Bloomsburg was defeated. He, along with Pete Gonzalez of Iowa, is looking to eventually become only the third wrestler to emerge from a Division III school to win the Division I National Championship.

"He'll be ready [for Krieger]," MSC head coach Steve Strelner said of Monaco.

In preparation for the match, Monaco has done something he doesn't ordinarily do—watch films on his opponent.

"I prefer the switch to forward where I feel more comfortable," the one-time captain Gilmore said.

"It gets late early out there?"

What a long, strange trip it was

MSC hoop teams endure long road stint, losing streak over winter break

By Kenny Peck
Sports Editor

For MSC's two basketball teams, the winter break was an emotional roller coaster during which time both teams hit incredible highs and disappointing lows.

Wednesday, December 14—The men traveled to Jersey City to take on the Gothic Knights after posting their first win of the season on December 10. An erratic beginning put MSC in a hole early, a hole that Jersey City never let MSC climb out of. Trailing 43-22 at halftime, the Indians played a much-improved second half, outscoring the Knights 30-26, but fell, 69-52.

A bright spot for the Indians was the defense, which caused Jersey City to turn the ball over 32 times. Chris Albertson led the Indians with 12 points and seven rebounds.

Saturday, January 14—Wilson was top scorer for the lady Indians with 23 points while Albertson had eight points and eight rebounds.

Tuesday, January 24—After winning easily at Rutgers-Newark and Ramapo, the lady Indians were upset at Glassboro State, 65-55, as poor shooting (37%) and turnovers were too much to overcome for MSC.

Wednesday, January 25—The men were to play at Glassboro State, but due to a scheduling mixup, the game had to be postponed until February 20.

SAT., JAN. 14—The effects of the loss to Albany State seemed to carry over to MSC's next contest, a conference battle at Rutgers-Newark.

The Indians got off slow early, as they fell behind by 18 in the first half. MSC was able to climb back into it, however, as the deficit was cut to three in the second half before falling, 72-58.

Freshman Mike Fitzpatrick led the Indians with 12 points while Albertson had eight points and eight rebounds.

TUES., JAN. 17—Wilson was top scorer for the lady Indians with 23 points while Albertson had 23 points and 12 rebounds.

TUES., JAN. 24—After winning easily at Rutgers-Newark and Ramapo, the lady Indians were upset at Glassboro State, 65-55, as poor shooting (37%) and turnovers were too much to overcome for MSC.

Wednesday, January 18—The men followed the women into Mahwah but weren't as successful, dropping a 74-70 decision to Ramapo.

Fitzpatrick led all scorers with 23 points, while Gulbin scored 20.

SAT., JAN. 21—On the road for the fourth straight game, the men's team trailed 42-30 at the half and ended up on the wrong end of an 84-62 final.

Gulbin etched 18 and Gulbin added 13 for MSC, which fell to 3-12 with the loss.

TUES., JAN. 24—After winning easily at Rutgers-Newark and Ramapo, the lady Indians were upset at Glassboro State, 65-55, as poor shooting (37%) and turnovers were too much to overcome for MSC.

Wednesday, January 25—The men were to play at Glassboro State, but due to a scheduling mixup, the game had to be postponed until February 20.

SAT., JAN. 28—Both the men and women took on Trenton State, but only the women were victorious.

Tracy Moffat followed her own missed shot and scored with 31 seconds left to enable the lady Indians to score a 49-48 win in Ewing Township.

Behind a 43-point performance of All-American Greg Grant, the Lions cruised to a 110-73 win at Panzer Gym.

Fri., Jan. 13—The lady Indians continued the road trip with a stop in Newark, where they defeated Rutgers-Newark, 65-39, on a 22-point performance from Wilson.

Becker and Savio added 13 points each for the Indians, who held the Raiders to 18 second half points.

Tues., Jan. 10—Playing well early against Kean College at Panzer Gym, MSC took a 35-34 lead but a 12-0 Cougar run keyed an 80-70 Kean victory.

Gulbin led MSC with 14 points, while Albertson had 18 apiece, while Vin Gulbin added 10 for MSC.

Thurs., Dec. 29—The lady Indians took part in the Florida Atlantic Basketball Tournament and came away with a third place finish.

MSC, the only Division III school in the tournament, was overwhelmed by a tough Northeast Michigan squad, losing by a 76-44 count. Carolyn Savio registered 20 rebounds for the Indians.

MSC bounced back in the consolation game, however, posting a 67-61 victory over Rosary College. Becker had the best game of her fine career, scoring 34 points to pace the Indians.

Tues., Jan. 7—The lady Indians emerged with a 66-62 overtime win, as Sue Becker scored the last 11 points of regulation for MSC, including a bucket with 13 seconds left, to send the game into overtime.

Becker finished with 23 points, while Wilson had 16.

Tues., Jan. 10—Playing well early against Kean College at Panzer Gym, MSC took a 35-34 lead but a 12-0 Cougar run keyed an 80-70 Kean victory.

Gulbin led MSC with 14 points, while Albertson had 18 apiece, while Vin Gulbin added 10 for MSC.
