Philosophy professor talks on moral reasoning

By Julia DiMartino
Staff Writer

Dr. Jonathan Adler, professor of philosophy at Brooklyn College, analyzed differing perspectives of moral reasoning during a program presented by MSC's Institute for Critical Thinking on Feb. 14.

The program titled "Two Levels of Thinking in Moral Reasoning," examined intuitive and critical thought. It also questioned whether moral reasoning should favor those we care for or be subject to impartial ethical standards.

Adler compared the feminist view of Carol Gilligan and the developmental psychological approach of Lawrence Kohlberg on this subject by using true to life examples.

The foundation for critical thought is adequate knowledge and ample time to absorb it, Adler said. Intuitive thought is constantly active and involved in everyday life, he added.

Gilligan believes moral reasoning is subject to particularism, Adler said. Kohlberg supports impartiality, he added.

Kathryn Jackson, a member of MSC's philosophy and religion department, acted as the program's discussant. "The particularist and impartialist escapes in philosophy only originated about ten years ago," she said.

Dr. Adler fielded questions from the audience at the close of the presentation.

Hiring freeze connected to decline in state revenue surplus

By Susan Sarlo
Staff Writer

Richard Standiford, director and comptroller for the New Jersey Office of Management and Budget, told the MSC Staff Association that the purpose of the hiring freeze for state employees is to save approximately $30 million. The state has no intention to inhibit the efficiency of public services.

The MSC Staff Association heard Standiford speak on the hiring freeze, state budget, and other subjects on Feb. 16.

According to Standiford, the N.J. State Budget is different than it has been in the past five years because there is a decline in revenues and the state must "tighten its belt."

The state budget for the fiscal year 1990 (beginning July 1, 1989) is $12 billion. Standiford said that "the state has relied on excess revenues and has infringed on the state's surplus."

Standiford said the major reason for the decline in revenues was the decline in three specific types of taxes which make up 70 percent of all taxes.

The state sales tax revenue, Standiford said, was expected to increase by 8.9 percent, but in the first six months of the fiscal year, the tax has only increased by 3.7 percent.

He added that the reasons for the decline are that people are buying more clothing, which doesn't bring in any sales tax revenue. Also, because of the beach pollution last summer, there was a decline in shore vacations.

The second type of tax revenue, Corporation/Business tax revenue, according to Standiford, has declined compared to the expected figure because even though the federal government has taken away many business deductions, accountants have "found more ways to classify expenses so that they are deductible."

Standiford added that the withholding tax revenue, Gross Income Tax, is classified into two categories, the withholding tax revenue and the tax revenue from earnings other than wages, including income properties and investments.

According to Standiford, the withholding tax revenue is coming in well and there has been an 11 percent growth rate due to low unemployment.

The tax revenue from earnings other than wages has declined by $290 million partly because of the October 1987 stock market crash which forced people to take their investments out of the market and put their money into safe investments such as certificates of deposits and savings accounts, he added.

Standiford added that besides the hiring freeze, the state is planning other ways to balance the budget. According to Standiford, the state wants to delay new programs which will save $15 million and wants to improve tax collection by withholding more earnings from salaries over $25,000 a year.

Standiford added that the state will also save $23 million cont. on p. 8

Inside The Montclarion:

Christie Brinkley is center of controversy - p. 5
Is review of college publications censorship? - p. 10
Personals are in again! - p. 17
Seven MSC wrestlers headed for Nationals - back page
BLACK STUDENT COOPERATIVE UNION
Drama Workshop
Student Center Annex room 126
February 24th & 25th, 1989
(Friday and Saturday) at 8:00 p.m.
February 26th, 1989 (Sunday) at 4:00 p.m.
Admission: $3.00 General Admission
$1.00 Students and Senior Citizens
Black Student Cooperative Union is a Class I Organization of SGA, Inc.

By James Baldwin

THE AMEN CORNER

Montclair State College
Black History Month
BLACK STUDENT COOPERATIVE UNION
Drama Workshop
Student Center Annex room 126
February 24th & 25th, 1989
(Friday and Saturday) at 8:00 p.m.
February 26th, 1989 (Sunday) at 4:00 p.m.
Admission: $3.00 General Admission
$1.00 Students and Senior Citizens
Black Student Cooperative Union is a Class I Organization of SGA, Inc.
Campus Police

Campus Cops bust car thieves

By John Friberg
Correspondent

Campus police thwarted a possible car theft/robbery on Feb. 21, at about 11:30 p.m., in lot 21. Officers on routine patrol observed two males acting suspiciously near a vehicle. The officers approached and questioned the suspects, who were found to be in possession of burglary tools.

Both were arrested and charged with attempted burglary and possession of burglary tools.

On Feb. 15, a Bohn Hall resident reported the theft from her room of nearly $1,000 worth of jewelry sometime between late December and Jan. 22. The resident returned from vacation to find the items missing from her room.

On Feb. 15, an 85 Chevy was reported stolen from lot 26. No value was given for the missing car.

At 1 a.m., on Feb. 18, police were dispatched to the Student Center, where a fight involving approximately 80 people had broken out following a BSCU dance. By the time police arrived, the fight had moved outside the building. The fighting stopped and the group dispersed when police arrived.

Police questioned two males, one with a black eye and one with a bloody nose. They claimed to have been attacked by a gang of males for no apparent reason. Police could not locate the alleged assailants.

A Bohn Hall resident reported the theft from his room of a wallet containing $50 sometime between 9 p.m. and 9:15 p.m., on Feb. 16. The resident had left his room unattended and unlocked and returned to find his wallet missing.

A resident of the 300 Clove Rd. building reported that there were signs of an attempted forced entry sometime between midnight on Feb. 19 and 9 a.m. on Feb. 20 on his apartment door. Police have no suspects.

And finally, a warning to those who would drive at an excessive rate of speed on the MSC campus. Campus police have recently acquired a radar gun, and are learning how to use it.

---

Newsnotes

Speech Waiver

The Speech and Theatre Department is sponsoring an evaluation service to help students determine whether they will be able to waive MSC’s Speech Communication Requirement.

Students may register on Feb. 28 and March 2 from 1:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m. The registration table will be located outside the Speech and Theatre office, A-126, Life Hall. Registration fee is $15.00. For further information, contact Diane Holub at 893-4217.

Schedules mailed out

Confirmation schedules will be mailed to all students who are enrolled for the Spring 1989 Semester, on Feb. 15, 1989. Schedules for students who live on campus will be sent to your home address.

Students must review this schedule to make sure that the courses agree (by number, day and time) with those which you are attending. If there is ANY discrepancy with your schedule, you must report to the Office of the Registrar IMMEDIATELY!!

Failure to resolve these discrepancies will result in no credit or failing grades for some of your courses. Please note that these problem cannot be resolved verbally between you and the faculty member and that attendance in a section other than that scheduled does not eliminate the problem.

Pack of Lies.

Every Quitter is a Winner.

The Great American Smokeout. Nov. 17.
SGA News

SGA sets up alcohol committee

By Maggie Cymbals
Correspondent

President Thomas Mergola opened last night’s SGA meeting by thanking all the legislators who attended the Leadership Weekend which was held Feb 18-19.

The Leadership weekend is traditionally held in the Fall semester, but this year an additional weekend was deemed necessary in order to provide orientation for the new legislators who joined the SGA this semester.

Extensive workshops including an intense session on the budget system of the SGA and its organizations was included in this semester’s agenda.

Mergola said that the SGA stands behind the New Jersey State Law on hazing within the system of Greek organizations. He said that any organization which “willingly and knowingly violates [the state’s] policy on hazing will not only face the full punishment of the law, but will also lose its charter with the Student Government Association.”

An ad-hoc committee was formed at the meeting to look into concerns of alcohol on campus. Seven members of the legislature volunteered to survey the campus to find out such things as whether students feel there should be more or less time per week during which alcohol is permitted on campus.

As the school’s alcohol policy stands now, no alcohol is allowed on campus except on Thursday nights in the Rathskellar. The findings of this ad-hoc committee will be reported to the administration.

Mergola added that anyone who wishes to speak with him about affairs concerning the SGA is welcome to come down to his office and make an appointment to see him.

The entire SGA Executive Board extended an invitation to anyone who is considering running for an SGA Executive position to come speak with the Board about their respective positions. All of the offices are located in the SGA office of the Student Center Annex.

A decision was made by the legislature as to when the SGA legislative and executive elections will take place. Petitions are available on March 27. Petitions and deposits are due April 1. The campaign period begins April 8.

Student Voting will be:
April 15, 12:00-4:00 p.m. Student Center
April 16, 6:00-10:00 p.m. Blanton Hall
April 17, 8:00-3:00 p.m. and 5:00-9:00 p.m. Student Center
April 18, 8:00-3:00 p.m. Student Center
April 18, 5:00-9:00 p.m. Blanton Hall
April 19, 8:00-3:00 p.m. Student Center

The Honors Program Student Association received a Class Three charter from the legislature. This club is open to students who are currently enrolled in the Honors Program. Its purpose is to facilitate better relations among the members of the program, actively recruit in local high schools, and publicize the program’s activities to the student body at large.

A bill entitled “Gubernatorial Reports” was also passed by the legislature. This bill offers that the External Affairs Committee of the SGA will report to the legislature on the position of the governor of New Jersey on the issues concerning Higher Education.

SCHOLARSHIPS AVAILABLE

If you’ve been involved in campus and/or community activities, have completed at least 58 credits by September ‘89, and are in good academic standing, you are eligible for

An Alumni Association Scholarship of $1,000

Applications are available at the Alumni House, Financial Aid, EOF, the SGA, academic counselors, LASO, BSCU, the Weekend College, and various other offices and locations on campus.

THE DEADLINE TO SUBMIT AN APPLICATION IS MARCH 2, 1989

For further information, please call the Alumni Office during regular business hours at 893-4141.

Newsnotes

Sign-up dates

Sign-up sheets for interviewing with the following companies can be found at Career Services, Student Center Annex, room 104.

PRESCREEN

Sign-up dates
Company Position
Feb. 22-Mar. 1 Human Resource Mgmt. Jr. Associate
Feb. 23-Mar. 2 Xerox Sales Trainee

REGULAR SIGN-UPS

Sign-up dates
Company Position
Feb. 20-24 Staples Mgmt. Trainee
Feb. 21-27 Sherwin Williams Mgmt. Trainee

To be able to sign up for any of these interviews you must fill out Career Services registration forms and provide 10 copies of your resume.

Telescope night

Every clear Thursday, except on holidays, Dr. Mary Lou West holds a public telescope night outside of Richardson Hall. The event is held from 8:00 to 9:00 p.m., and is free of charge.

All are welcome.

THE WEEKEND IS BACK

The Alliance of Jewish Student Unions proudly presents

WEEKEND ’89

April 7, 8 and 9 at,
Kutchars Country Club resort in Monticello, NY

IN THE WORLD FAMOUS CATSKILL MOUNTAINS

Please join us for a weekend getaway.
For more information or to register call your JSU advisor or Dan Berman. 442-1155

Includes Jewish Student Organizations at Bergen Community College, Bergen County College, Toms River Regional High School, Keansburg, Marlboro, Middletown, and New Brunswick. Please bring your resume.

THE WEEKEND • MARCH 4

The Alliance of Jewish Student Unions proudly presents

WEEKEND • MARCH 4

April 7, 8 and 9 at,
Kutchars Country Club resort in Monticello, NY

IN THE WORLD FAMOUS CATSKILL MOUNTAINS

Please join us for a weekend getaway.
For more information or to register call your JSU advisor or Dan Berman. 442-1155

Includes Jewish Student Organizations at Bergen Community College, Bergen County College, Toms River Regional High School, Keansburg, Marlboro, Middletown, and New Brunswick. Please bring your resume.
women's Center and TKE clash over Christie Brinkley flyer

By Valerie Kalfin
Head Feature Writer

Imagine a picture of Christie Brinkley in a bathing suit on a crowded bulletin board.

When Richard Steffens thought of the idea for a recruitment flyer for the Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity, a number of words came into his mind.

Sexist certainly wasn't one of them.

"I thought it would be eye-catchling—something to make it stick out on bulletin boards," said Steffens, former TKE publicity coordinator who was recently elected to secretary, "I didn't think of it as insulting to women."

Steffens designed the flyer for last semester's rush campaign. The flyer—Brinkley's picture, the slogan "Consider the Possibilities," and TKE promotional material—was put up last August to attract anyone interested in joining the fraternity.

This semester, a few of the flyers remained around campus for the spring rush campaign. Something new appeared with the complaints.

According to Steffens, TKE received an inter-departmental letter from the Women's Center stating they had received complaints about the flyer.

"We took down the few that were still around from last semester," said Steffens. "I don't think they realized we were cooperating."

The next day, Steffens said, a letter objecting to the flyer appeared on the editorial pages of The Montclarion. The letter, written by Judith Quinlan, a student at MSC, called the flyers "discriminatory and insulting," accusing the fraternity of choosing "of its own volition" to "degrade its worthiness."

Ms. Quinlan closed with the sentence, "Next time, boys, let your mind direct your decision-making process, not your hormones."

Steffens and other members of the fraternity never expected such a reaction to the flyer to appear in the campus newspaper.

"We were a little surprised," Steffens said. "We thought if they had an objection, they would come to us."

TKE officers met with the administration to clear up the situation. Tony Lauritio, president of the organization, suggested a meeting with the Women's Center.

"We wanted to get things out in the open," Steffens said.

The administration set up a meeting for last Thursday between the officers and Director of the Women's Center Huey Alcaro, Greek Council President Don Oakes, SGA President Tom Mergola, Dean of Students Edward Martin, Anita Walters from Affirmative Action, and Anna Slater, who also works with the Greek Council.

As Steffens recalls, the officers picked up a copy of The Montclarion on their way to the meeting, and found another letter about the flyer on the editorial pages. This letter, written by Professor Alcaro, objected to the "use of the female body as a selling tool," and expressed concerns that the flyer created the potential for violence against women.

As Alcaro writes: "The offering of a disrobing woman by a fraternity to its pledges suggests many possibilities that...

cont. on p. 8
Olympia
FITNESS CENTER

*PERSONALIZED TRAINING
*LIFECYCLES *FREEWEIGHTS
* NUTRITION PROGRAMS
*CERTIFIED INSTRUCTORS
*LIFE ROWERS

JOHN MOLLENHAUER
DIRECTOR

567 BLOOMFIELD AVE.VERONA NJ 239-9633

COLLEGE SPECIAL!

$85 semester

Feb March April May

Hours 5:00 a.m.-Midnight-Mon-Thurs
5:00 a.m.-9:00 p.m. Friday
9:00 a.m.-7:00 p.m. Saturday
9:00 a.m.-5:00 p.m. Sunday

JUST PRESENT COLLEGE I.D.

Group Rates For College Athletes!
(minimum 5 athletes)
Do you have what it takes to be on The Montclarion?

A sense of humor?
(That means you can't take offense to John Paul's cartoons)

Good writing, layout, or photography skills?
(That means Jane, Luisa and Kenny don't have to re-write your stories)

A willingness to have a good time with some interesting people?
(Yes, you have to hang out with the people who buy 50% of the drinks served at Bennigan's)

Then join us!

New membership meeting
Wednesday,
March 1
12:00 to 1:00 p.m.
Student Center Annex room 113

The Montclarion is a Class I of the SGA
TKE flyer upsets Women's Center

cont. from p. 5

could involve actions that women would find unwelcome.

Alcaro presented statistics on rape in the letter, and added, “In a social climate that allows people to tolerate, and sometimes even accept, violence against women, it is not only offensive but also potentially dangerous to women to present them as objects to be used by the men who will join a particular organization.”

Steffens said the TKE's conducted their own poll about the flyer in the Student Center cafeteria. Out of 110 female students asked in the few hours the poll was conducted, 105 didn't find the flyer offensive.

However, Steffens and the other officers concede that these results do not make the flyer right or wrong. “It's common in advertising to use a model, which is why we didn't worry about it at first,” said Steffens.

“I understand their point,” he added. “We're not arguing that they find it offensive. We really didn't think about it.”

After last Thursday's meeting, things were apparently straightened out. The officers stated that they are hearing no more complaints from the Women's Center or anywhere else.

Looking back on the situation, Laurito commented that the TKE's had received more publicity about the flyer than the charity work they did last semester, which raised more than $2,000.

The officers added that, if anything, the experience has made them more aware of the sensitivity of material.

Job freeze discussed

cont. from p. 1

because of the reduction in the welfare case load.

According to Standiford, MSC was one of the state colleges which gained a $1.6 million net increase due to programs that were given challenge grants.

The free phone service provided by the SGA will be reinstalled in the upcoming week. The phones, which are located in room 112 of the Student Center Annex, can be used to dial out to area code 609 and several New York area codes. To use the phones, you must present your student I.D. card to the SGA office in the Student Center Annex.

The free phones service will continue to be provided as long as the system is not abused. Calls longer than 10 minutes or vandalism of the phones will result in the termination of this courtesy by the SGA.

New office hours

Beginning on Feb. 27, 1989, and continuing until further notice, the Office of the Registrar will open for business at 9:30 a.m. This is one hour later than the regular opening time of 8:30 a.m.

This change in office hours is necessitated by the state-imposed hiring freeze; currently-vacant positions in the Registrar's Office cannot be filled. The office is thus unable to maintain the same level of service provided by a full staff. The change has been approved by Acting President Richard Lynde and the Vice President for Student Affairs, Jean Armstrong.

Certain forms will still be available on the table in the hallway outside C-204 and can be deposited in our mail slot, as appropriate.

The UPS Tuition Reimbursement Program

United Parcel Service, one of the world's largest small package delivery companies, offers a tuition reimbursement program that pays our part-time employees up to $2,000 per semester.

If you work part-time on a specially designated shift, you are eligible for this program. To participate, you must obtain a part-time employee tuition reimbursement request form from your supervisor or the Personnel Department.

All courses must be approved by UPS. Courses offered in the summer can qualify. Upon successful completion of each course—a grade of "C" or better—you will be reimbursed for all course credit charges and registration fees . . . up to $2,000 a semester!

ADDITIONAL UPS BENEFITS

Part-time employees at UPS receive:

• Starting pay of $8-9/HOUR
• Medical and dental insurance and prescription drug plan
• Paid holidays and vacations
• Company savings plan
• Annual $500 contractual bonus
• And a 401K savings plan

Just think, if you work for UPS . . . your tuition is on us! For more information on our tuition reimbursement plan, call the UPS facility nearest you.

Edison (201) 417-3460
Newark/Secaucus (201) 330-2315
Parsippany (201) 428-2200
$99 roundtrip airfares on Northwest Airlines. A special offer for students, only for American Express Cardmembers.

If you want to go places, it's time for the American Express® Card. Because now you can take advantage of new travel privileges on Northwest Airlines only for full-time students who carry the American Express Card. Travel privileges that offer:

- Two $99 roundtrip tickets — fly to any of the more than 180 cities served by Northwest in the contiguous 48 United States. Only one ticket may be used per six-month period.
- Special Quarterly Northwest Destination Discounts throughout 1989 — up to 25% off the lowest available fare.
- 5,000 bonus miles in Northwest's WORLDPERKS® free travel program — where only 20,000 miles gets you a free roundtrip ticket to anywhere Northwest flies in the contiguous 48 United States or Canada.

And, of course, you'll enjoy all the exceptional benefits and personal service you would expect from American Express. The only requirements for privileged travel: you must be a Cardmember, you must be a full-time student, and you must charge your Northwest Airlines tickets with the Card.*

Getting the Card is easier than ever because now you can apply by phone. Just call 1-800-942-AMEX. We'll take your application and begin to process it right away. What's more, with our Automatic Approval offers, you can qualify now while you're still in school. Apply now and fly later for less.

Apply Now: 1-800-942-AMEX

*Some restrictions may apply. For complete offer details, call 1-800-942-AMEX. Current student Cardmembers automatically receive two $99 vouchers in the mail.
Committee is unfair

The 1988 MSC yearbook displayed what some say was a racist cartoon. Unquestionably, racism does exist. Without a doubt, racism is wrong. But as unfair as it is, can it and should it outweigh our constitutional rights?

Our First Amendment rights guarantee us freedom of speech, freedom of the press, freedom of religion, and the freedom of assembly. But the MSC administration and SGA seem to think that all SGA publications should have some form of censorship, whether it be a review committee or a faculty advisor, respectively.

The purpose of administration's review committee would be to look over a particular publication to prevent racism, bad press or anything else that would reflect poorly on the school.

Granted, a yearbook, school newspaper or a literary magazine shouldn't show only the unpleasant side of campus life, but shouldn't the editors and the staff be the ones to choose what should get published and what doesn't?

Well, many courts and legal scholars say they have a constitutional right, too. Recently, a state Supreme Court ruled that any infringement upon a student government publication's first amendment rights is unconstitutional. The logic behind this is that a student government is under the control of the school administration. Therefore, any actions taken by the student government are advised upon by administrators, making those actions the student's action.

When first amendment rights are in question, it not only becomes difficult but potentially infringe on them. Clearly, a review committee falls under the second category.

While the SGA has not come out and said that each of its publications has to submit copies of the publication before printing, it has said that all publications under SGA constitutions must have an advisor, a faculty advisor. Again, shouldn't it be up to the editor and the editor's staff to decide whether or not they should have an advisor?

Administration's idea of establishing a review committee is fundamentally wrong for the following reasons: first, it is unconstitutional and second, it is highly unlikely that any administrator would stay up to 2 a.m. on a Wednesday night to review The Montclarion.

Can justice be served with jurors?

There was a good deal of prattling on about how difficult it would be to choose a jury in the Oliver North trial. How could you find 12 people who weren't tainted with prior knowledge of the Iran-contra affair, as much publicity as it got, it would be difficult to choose.

Well, as it turned out it wasn't that hard and the number of jurors, counting alternates, was 18 not 12. It's still 50-50 whether the North case will ever come to trial but if it doesn't it won't be because they couldn't find a jury. If all you're looking for is people who don't keep track of what's going on, there's never a shortage. What's hard is finding a jury of intelligent people who don't know what's going on.

Americans in general and liberals in particular have a naive faith in the jury system. They say that jurors who can follow the plot of a soap opera can follow the ins and outs of most legal problems. That may be so but if I were on trial I'd feel better if the jurors were intellectually superior to geraniums. I'm told that one of the reasons it's so difficult to get convictions on the sleazeballs who have looted our savings and loan industry is that once you get a jury sufficiently uninformed to be unbiased, it can't figure out what went on.

I have a plan. I propose forming a pool of jurors for the express purpose of sitting in judgment of well-publicized cases of national significance. It wouldn't have to be a big pool; there aren't that many Iran-Contra or Watergate cases around.

These people, who would have to pass an intelligence test to make sure they had some, would then be sent off to an isolated colony—some place in northern Maine or western Utah, perhaps—and not allowed to read anything written after 1941. They would be permitted—indeed, encouraged—to read all manner of things written before then, but nothing after, especially not newspapers or magazines. Television watching would be OK, but no news shows. What would result is a group of smart people, wise in the ways of the world, who were also uninformed about contemporary affairs. It would be a group of perfect jurors: innocent of knowledge of current events without being stupid.

Whenever we had a big trial involving grave national issues, they'd be well-paid for their time. I'd volunteer in a flash. Imagine having a year, perhaps two, of reading all the novels by Dickens that you haven't read, to say nothing of the new translation of Proust. You could find out how the Crimean War turned out and get the major causes of the Italian Renaissance straight in your mind. You could bring light to the Dark Ages and tinker with the Industrial Revolution. I would be heaven. And if I got called for a big case, so much the better. I would be firm, but fair.

Fairer than firm, perhaps. I find myself, these days, sympathizing with Ollie North's lawyer, Mr. Sullivan. I know, he's an abrasive, smooth-talking man, at least in court, and he's been portrayed as a sharp lawyer who's trying to get his guilty client off by hook or crook.

Well, maybe, but his client isn't guilty of anything until he's been found so in a fair trial. Sullivan, in his efforts to use documents that the White House doesn't want made public, is simply trying to assure that North gets that fair trial.

The White House doesn't care about the fairness of the trial or North's fate, for that matter, as long as embarrassing information involving Presidents Reagan or Bush or their henchmen doesn't surface. Sullivan is merely saying: "If you're going to cover up this mess, make sure my client is covered too." That's his job.

His position seems perfectly fair and just to me. There was never a time when the idea that the Iran-contra mess was primarily North's doing made any sense. He stood up in front of Congress and, along with John Poindexter, took a fall for his bosses. Now that jail looms he seems less willing to take another, and I don't blame him.

Let's get on with the trial. I still want to know what Ronald Reagan knew and when he forgot it.
USA must retreat from South Africa

During the campaign, George Bush several times repeated a proud claim by Ronald Reagan, namely, that during his two terms in office not an acre of non-communist soil had been yielded to the communists. Then, as now, the focus has been on Afghanistan where we have seen the de facto repeal of the Brezhnev Doctrine. It is a development of staggering geopolitical and psychological importance that the Union has been driven out of Afghanistan. The active verb here is important: Mikhail Gorbachev didn’t simply repeal the Brezhnev Doctrine, which specifies that no country once under “socialist” control will ever deliver itself from that control. What happened in Afghanistan was that three years after he came to power, Mr. Gorbachev realized that he was not winning the war and that it was costing him more than he could afford.

The other two fronts in which Mr. Reagan’s yield-not-an-inch policy was being challenged by the Brezhnev once-a-communist-country-always-a-communist-country were Nicaragua and Angola. Mr. Bush has now made it official: He will not go to Congress and ask for money for the contras. As far as we can see, not even Oliver North proposes to raise money for the contras. So that we have in Nicaragua working in favor of change only the utter bankruptcy of the Sandinista regime, at a moment when the Soviet Union is watching the flow of its imperialist dollars. But since Moscow is still willing to pay $14 million per day to continue to support Fidel Castro, Dan Ortega reasonably hopes to hang on to that incremental Soviet subvention necessary to eliminate any possibility that the tatteredreaming contras, whom we deserted as definitively as we deserted the South Vietnamese freedom fighters, will ever seriously challenge the Marxist hegemony in Nicaragua.

The third area of contention has received remarkably little attention. What happened suddenly, just after the national election, was the implementation of the Crocker (cheeter) Plan for Namibia-Angola, patterned after U.N. Resolution 435 dating back to 1978. That plan calls for elections in Namibia on Nov. 1, 1989, and, for reasons that defy understanding, the removal of the Cuban military contingent that has secured the communist government in power in Angola.

But our pressures on South Africa have accumulated to such a point as apparently to have been perceived by the contras. They can no longer expend the energy to hold the line, for fear of increased sanctions. SWAPO will face little effective political opposition now that the South African military is to be replaced by blue-helmeted U.N. troops in Namibia, and the Cubans remaining in Angola will provide pressure especially after a Savimbi weakened by the withdrawal of South Africa.

Moreover, as General Savimbi recently declared to activist Howard Phillips, head of the Conservative Caucus in Washington, the offer to withdraw 50,000 Cuban military means nothing about 10,000 Cubans who are black-skinned and Portuguese and have been now 10 years in Angola. A trivial force of 90 members of the United Nations are given the responsibility of verifying the Cuban withdrawal. But if the anti-Marxist-pro-Western forces of Savimbi are by midsummer of 1991 thoroughly weakened, there is hardly any army left for the Club Marxis-mercenary: Angola will continue to be governed by the Marxist puppet government of Moscow, the forces of UNITA will suffer the fate of the contras in Nicaragua, and, in the south, a 40-year struggle by South Africa to yield what was once its protectorate only to a non-Marxist government will have ended in failure. Score one more triumph for sanctions.

What has been happening in Central America and in Africa slips from the memory, as we are encouraged to think in terms of the end of the Cold War. But the peasant in Nicaragua, the forces of democracy in El Salvador, the blacks in Angola and Namibia who yearn for an independence not merely from Portuguese and South Africans but also from Muscovites, see no difference at all in the age of perestroika. What has been happening in Central America and in Africa is simply stated. The Cuban military has kept the communists in power in Angola. And the South African military has kept freedom alive in Namibia by sustaining resistance to the Marxist-led SWAPO forces; and, in Angola, by sustaining Gen. Jonas Savimbi, president of UNITA, who has the southeastern section of Angola liberated from the Marxists in the north.

But our pressures on South Africa have accumulated to such a point as apparently to have been perceived by the contras. They can no longer expend the energy to hold the line, for fear of increased sanctions. SWAPO will face little effective political opposition now that the South African military is to be replaced by blue-helmeted U.N. troops in Namibia, and the Cubans remaining in Angola will provide pressure especially after a Savimbi weakened by the withdrawal of South Africa.

The $1000 appropriation was granted to the team in the fall of 1987 by the legislation. It was produced each year. The $1000 appropriation was granted to the team in the fall of 1987 by the legislation. It was produced each year.

Tommy Talks

Teams are not SGA’s burden

The unfortunate circumstances surrounding club sports has left many confused and unanswerable questions. Let me attempt to clear this matter up.

A short time ago, the SGA, with assistance from the athletic department, devised a plan to transfer all team sports from the SGA to the jurisdiction of the athletic department. They would become “club sports” and depending upon funding and external support, they could achieve a varsity standing like many other sports.

The plan was approved and agreed upon by everyone. However, upon the first year of implementation, certain clubs felt they had been cheated out of possible SGA financial assistance.

Now to the facts.

As Class II’s of the SGA, these organizations did not receive budgets from the SGA. What they could do was fund-raise certain amounts, where they could request the SGA to match that amount. Thus, the notion of being cheated is eliminated since they never had allotted budgets.

Should SGA fees go to pay cont. on p.12

TKE poster: “Whose” morals does it violate?

To the editor:

I am responding to the letter written last week by the professor who was offended by Tau Kappa Epsilon’s poster containing a woman in a swimsuit, and is trying to get it banned from campus.

I am a junior at Montclair State College, and the posters removed, I would almost get the feeling of being violated. I have no affiliation with TKE Fraternity, nor do I have any intention of pledging their organization, but by having their posters removed, you would be infringing on my right to pick what I feel is suitable for me to read, but now maybe no longer suitable for me to look at. I suppose that you didn’t find the posters for the rock band “Cleavage” passable either.

Censorship of this kind is commonplace in socialist countries where people cannot voice their opinions in the face of their right to choose possibly being violated. It scares me when somebody can make a big stink over something as meaningless as a pledge poster, and my right to choose is being so blatantly infringed upon.

It is my belief that it is people like you who would remove “In God We Trust” from the one dollar bill, change the words to the Pledge of Allegiance, or rear a yearbook, that had the chance. I guess we should all lobby with you to ban next year’s Sports Illustrated Swimsuit issue because it is such an obvious violation of your moral standards.

Stephen Laszlo Kazaella

TKE poster: “Whose” morals does it violate?

To the editor:

I am responding to the letter written last week by the professor who was offended by Tau Kappa Epsilon’s poster containing a woman in a swimsuit, and is trying to get it banned from campus.

I am a junior at Montclair State College, and the posters removed, I would almost get the feeling of being violated. I have no affiliation with TKE Fraternity, nor do I have any intention of pledging their organization, but by having their posters removed, you would be infringing on my right to pick what I feel is suitable for me to read, but now maybe no longer suitable for me to look at. I suppose that you didn’t find the posters for the rock band “Cleavage” passable either.

Censorship of this kind is commonplace in socialist countries where people cannot voice their opinions in the face of their right to choose possibly being violated. It scares me when somebody can make a big stink over something as meaningless as a pledge poster, and my right to choose is being so blatantly infringed upon.

It is my belief that it is people like you who would remove “In God We Trust” from the one dollar bill, change the words to the Pledge of Allegiance, or rear a yearbook, that had the chance. I guess we should all lobby with you to ban next year’s Sports Illustrated Swimsuit issue because it is such an obvious violation of your moral standards.

Stephen Laszlo Kazaella
SGA not responsible for MSC sports teams

cont. from p.11

for teams under the athletic department? Dr. Jack Samuels, ski team advisor, seems to think so. However, what Dr. Samuels fails to realize is two things.

First, the SGA fee goes to the direct programming of events for all students on campus, not the maintenance of sports teams. That is why we students pay the athletic fee on our bills.

Second, the athletic department, as well as the club teams, were well aware of the fiscal crunch this transfer would cause. Yet, no one complained until it was evident that these teams needed more money.

Dr. Samuels feels that these kids shouldn't be concerned with the policies of budgets and finances, but should simply be able to go ski and play hockey, regardless of who's budget it came from. I disagree.

They should be concerned instead of just competing. That's part of the learning process. I'd also like to point out to Dr. Samuels, who I'm sure knows the intricacies and details of a sound financial and budgetary process, that it is quite easy to say "Let 'em play, somebody, somewhere, has the money." Then how do you explain one of those club teams being in debt from last year, due to non-payment of their expenditures?

I, while remaining receptive to any proposals sent me, cannot see the SGA fee going to support athletic teams that students pay a separate fee for. That's not what our budget's purpose is.

The irony, and real sad fact, here is that while these advisors and teams are complaining about the SGA, not one, repeat no one, has sent me a formal proposal to assist them in any way, whether financially or other. Maybe if I get a request, I would look into it, although time is running out.

Tommy Mergola
SGA President

To the editor:

I am writing at this time to express my concern regarding a recent article and cartoon which appeared in your Feb. 16 issue. The ski team should not be penalized because it is an orphan. The team is still a student activity regardless of whether it is under the direct auspices of the student government or not. Students are the primary benefactor of this activity.

It would be nice if the administration would come up with some money to fund the ski team in the future, but this should not preclude money from the student government. Why should the administration and the students not cooperatively sponsor student activities?

The notion of the we-they philosophy for student activities is not appropriate. Student activities should be used to bring all factions of campus together. A good activities program benefits the entire community and the reputation of our college.

The ski team has not received one penny from the student government or the college administration this year. All of the money used by the team has come from personal funds or fundraising.

I am particularly annoyed since my own efforts have brought in a two thousand dollar donation to the team. The money which we would have so rightfully requested from the student government would have gone to defray our travel costs to the regionals and the national races and not for extravagant equipment purchases as your paper implied.

A contribution of several thousand dollars to this group of students for this purpose is certainly in order when you consider the way the student government frequently spends its money.

One recent situation, which is representative of dozens of similar previous expenditures, serves as an example. Last fall we had a program (Steve Landesburg) which cost well over $7,500 that was attended by less than 100 students.

When they were asked as to why they were doing this event several students stated that they felt they had to spend the money because it was budgeted to them for lectures.

Dr. Jack B. Samuels
ski team coach/advisor
TRIP INCLUDES:
- Transportation
- 3 day, 2 night accommodations at the Holidome in Kingston, N.Y.

FREE ski rentals (includes skis, boots, and poles)!!
- Shuttle bus service to/from the slopes
- Other fun activities: horseback riding, swimming, snowmobiling, dancing, and a guaranteed great time!! (Some activities are at an additional cost)

PRICES:
- $115. Quad
- $129. Triple
- $139. Double

Call Siobhan at 893-5232 or stop by the C.L.U.B. Office (room 112d Student Center Annex).
Limited spaces are available so call today!!
Full payment is due before March 2nd, 1989
Nolan’s Notes

By Jarrett Nolan

Hello and welcome to another edition of Nolan’s Notes. Can it really be true that Mick Jagger and Keith Richards have patched things up and are getting ready to roll again with the Stones? That is what a “source” close to the band is saying. Even though it is all still hush-hush, Mick and Keith reportedly buried the hatchet at a meeting with drummer Charlie Watts. Stones’ gophers are now looking for recording studios, since a summer stadium tour just wouldn’t be the same without a new album to promote.

MINI NOTES I: The Beattie Boys are being sued for $20 million by their former label, Def Jam. They claim Capitol Records “torturously, maliciously, intentionally and in bad faith” luried the trio away. Supposedly, they were working on an album for Capitol right now. Licensed to Ill, the album in dispute, sold four million records...The Grammy results will be in next week’s column...John Cougar Mellencamp is in the process of mixing his new album, aiming for a spring release.

MINI NOTES II: Well, according to managers, deejays, writers, record executives, musicians and a poll printed in the L.A. Times, Jimmy Page’s Outrider album is the worst album of 1988. Adding to the list were albums by David Lee Roth; More Dirty Dancing soundtrack; Sam Kinison; Crosby, Stills, Nash and Young; Kingdom Come; Husy Lewis and the News, and Pulp Fiction.

Hallelujah! Amen Corner makes its debut at MSC

By Adrienne Fudge

James Baldwin’s Amen Corner will come to life on Friday and Saturday, Feb. 24 and 25 at 8 p.m. and Sunday, Feb. 26 at 4 p.m. in the Student Center annex, room 126.

Amen Corner is the story of a black female preacher that must choose between her husband and her call from God. Sister Margeret, played by Amy Figuero, is faced with a dilemma of loving two people at the same time. Margeret wants her husband and God in her life.

The rhythm section of bassist Ray Nelson, guitarist Veronica and drummer Bill Berry play with their usual busy style. The rhythms are always complex but never over-stated. Mills also delivers as a fine background vocalist.

Singer and lyricist Michael Stipe gives his best vocal performance to date, as well. As the boy group, R.E.M. has also recorded their most overtly political song to date in the richly allegorical "World Leader Pretend." The song deals with the future of American politics. The band realizes that we cannot afford to take comfort in meaningless rhetoric anymore. After eight years of Reagan’s America, we must act, not ignore what is around us and pretend nothing is new.

The group says: "This is my world/and I am world leader pretend,/this is my life, and this is my time/I have been given the freedom to do as I see fit/It’s high time I razed the walls that I’ve constructed." This is an appropriate sentiment in times of Glasnost.

Just when you thought it couldn’t get better

By Oren Silverstein

No sooner had the ink on the new Warner Brothers Records contract dried did crdes of "sell-out" rise from R.E.M. fans. These crdes have been heard before, to some extent.

A portion of fans felt that the group would not survive the trip from being an underground college band to a successful national act with their integrity intact.

To be fair, it was reasonable to fear that a major label such as Warner Bros, might pressure the band into producing more commercial material in an effort to shape them into a more acceptable "mainstream" band. Thankfully, upon listening to R.E.M.’s latest release, Green, all doubts are put to rest.

What R.E.M. has done with Green is the next step in the progression of their albums. While it is not as moody or atmospheric as their first album Murmur, nor as aggressively exuberant as their last one, Document, we can probably not let any of R.E.M.’s older fans down and possibly bring new ones into the fold.

The listener is struck with the quieter, more personal tone of the record. It is interesting to note that as R.E.M. has become more commercially successful, their songs have become less encompassing in meaning. Rather, they have become more up-front and specific.

R.E.M. is now writing of personal rebirth and faith. Unlike bands such as U2 or The Church who write songs of spiritual salvation through religious beliefs, R.E.M. tells us of obstacles that can and will be overcome by accepting our personal limitations and not being overwhelmed by them.

In "The Wrong Child," the centerpiece is a parable which wonders what it is like...to just go outside...I've never been." When confronted with normal children, his response is simply, "I'm not supposed to be like this...but it's okay...let's try and find a happy game to play.

R.E.M. has also recorded their most overtly political song to date in the richly allegorical "World Leader Pretend." The song deals with the future of American politics. The band realizes that we cannot afford to take comfort in meaningless rhetoric anymore. After eight years of Reagan’s America, we must act, not ignore what is around us and pretend nothing is new.

The group says: "This is my world/and I am world leader pretend,/this is my life, and this is my time/I have been given the freedom to do as I see fit/It’s high time I razed the walls that I’ve constructed." This is an appropriate sentiment in times of Glasnost.

Just when you thought it just can’t get any better—it does.

"Veronica," co-written by McCartney, has an early 60’s British pop feel reminiscent of The Turtles, The Monkees and yes, the early Beatles.

This cheerful romp into 60’s pop is contrasted by the song’s serious story of a woman in an uncaring nursing home dealing with the loneliness of growing old.

"Do you suppose that with her hands on eyes Veronica has a chance to hide, and all the time she laughs at those who shout her name and steal her clothes, Veronica."

"Too cool to be sat-on, it’s bad, but it is a courageous attempt on Costello’s part to take the pop song into a completely new realm. Instead of pop songs, Elvis presents the "pop novel."

Spive is the album other artists only dream of making—skillful, precise and brave yet commercially pleasing.
I’m Gonna Git You Sucka spoofs Black stereotypes

By Lynn M. Cowan
Editor-in-Chief

“I’m Gonna Get You Sucka,” the hilarious film by Keenen Ivory Wayans (who also helped on Hollywood Shuffle) spoofs stereotyped characters in Black exploitation flicks. Not only is it funny—it’s an education for those of you who thought shows like Good Times were realistic.

The plot begins with a scene from Danceworks ‘89. This duet from Danceworks ‘89 was realistic.

The deceased, Junebug, leaves behind a grieving mother, brother and widow—all of whom are convinced that his death was not accidental.

Junebug’s brother, Jack (played by Wayans), resolves to get to the bottom of the mystery after Junebug’s widow (Dawnn Lewis) tells of the shady dealings he was involved in with the Godfather of Any Ghetto, Mr. Big.

Jack enlists the aid of the city’s hero, Slade, to bring down Mr. Big’s empire. Slade, in turn, gathers up old friends: Slammer, Mr. Big’s empire, and Kung-Fu Guy to mount an offense. The rest you can probably guess—justice is served and Mr. Big goes down the tubes.

Some of the scenes and characters in Sucka stand out with a heavy dose of sarcasm. Best among the characters is Flyguy, the town pimp, who flashes back to the day he won the “Pimp of the Year” award with his masterpiece poem, “My Bitch Better Have My Money.”

When Flyguy is released from the slammer to help Any Ghetto fight Mr. Big, he emerges in his best clothes, complete with elevator shoes so high that he installs fish tanks in the heels.

Other characters include the reporter who laughingly admits that he can’t speak jive because he was raised in a white suburb and a Black revolutionary leader who marries a white woman and is addressed by her as “my great Nubian warrior.”

A favorite scene of mine (maybe it’s because I can sympathize) is one where Junebug’s widow is shown leaving her job to comprehend the fact that she is going to the bottom of the mystery. She is accosted by one of Mr. Big’s flunkies and he tips her off to some lovely werewolf yellow and fangs sprouting from her mouth. The man is shocked and jumps back, saying, “The devil is inside of you!” to which she replies gruffly, “No, cramps!”

A scene that is not entirely laughable shows Mr. Big stepping out of character for a moment and beginning to relate all the actors who have appeared in Black exploitation flicks and shows. The list runs on and on, showing the audience that participation in these films is not imaginary or small-scale.

Locally, “I’m Gonna Git You Sucka” is being shown at the Wellmont Theater in Montclair at 5:30, 7:05, 8:45 and 10:30 p.m. Unfortunately, the Wellmont is known for its technical problems, and when I saw Sucka, the theater couldn’t keep the film in focus. If you can find a closer and better theater to see this movie in, by all means do so.

Mainstage Theatre Series

DEPARTMENT OF SPEECH AND THEATRE PRESENTS

A SPARKLING VARIETY OF DANCE SELECTIONS

DANCEWORKS ‘89

MARCH 23 AND 4 AT 8:00 P.M.
MARCH 3 AT 2:15 P.M.

MEMORIAL AUDITORIUM
CALL 893-5112 FOR RESERVATIONS
File Now!
Help IRS process more quickly.

THANKS ANYWAY...I’VE ALREADY HAD BREAKFAST.

A PUBLIC SERVICE MESSAGE FROM THE INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE

Financial Sales Trainee

If you’re ready to take on new career challenges, consider financial sales with Vantage Financial Services. No prior experience necessary; we provide a complete training program at our investment complexes in Edison and Caldwell, New Jersey and Long Island.

We offer motivated people:
• $40,000 REALISTIC 1st year commission income
• Fast-track sales management potential
• Proprietary accounts and sales leads

Contact us now to get your sales career moving fast: Call Joanne Farace at 1-800-544-8185, or send your resume/letter of interest to: Vantage Financial Services, Raritan Plaza 3, Raritan Center, First Floor, Edison, NJ 08818-9913. An equal opportunity employer.
A Rose by any other name...

By Kenny Peck

Every Rose has its thorn Pete Rose reportedly met with some of baseball's higher-ups concerning allegations that Rose was or is involved in some degree of gambling. Rose has admitted to various types of legal gambling, but no word on whether he participated in wagering on baseball or some other sport. Word has it that if found to be wagering on baseball games, Rose may be suspended for a year, but if found wagering on his team, the Cincinnati Reds, Rose may be banned for life.

You mean all this time they've been calling him Charlie Hustler?

Quick flash This week, MSC basketball player Tim Liddy was named Rookie of the Week for the third time this season. Liddy, a power forward for the Indians this season, averaged 12.2 points per game this season, second only to team leader Vin Gulbin (13.6 ppg).

At the Meadowlands

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Precious Paul &amp; Deadly Dorone</th>
<th>Psycho Rich &amp; Dave the Barber</th>
<th>Mike the Spike &amp; Kenny Do It!</th>
<th>Tony the Tiger &amp; Frank the Fade</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Aubrey Hanover</td>
<td>Hojoca</td>
<td>Scene Topper</td>
<td>Locke Vance N</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>New Bromac</td>
<td>Guts</td>
<td>Cliffman</td>
<td>Glorious Bid</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Don Henley</td>
<td>Inruder Almahurst</td>
<td>Dick's Bell</td>
<td>No Sex Please</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Rambling Rudolph</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Fortune Seelster</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Keweyadin Skip</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Odds and Ends: MSC is 8-1 at home this season, the only loss coming to Kean on January 31. Indians finished in first place of NJAC B-Division with an 11-2 conference mark, while Trenton State finished with a 9-4 record, two games behind the Indians...Winner of MSC-TSC will face winner of Jersey City-Kean game for conference championship. If #1 seeded Kean wins, winner of MSC-TSC travels to Union Saturday night, and if #4 rated Jersey City wins, the game is held at either MSC or TSC, depending on tonight's outcome. Whichever it is, the championship game will begin at 7:30...Winner of tournament gets an automatic NCAA regional bid...Trenton probably needs to win the NJAC championship to get a bid, while a victory over the Lions will most likely earn MSC a bid...

MSC skates past Hofstra, 9-6, eyes Metro Conference playoffs

By G.F. Mullin

Staff Writer

Bayonne high school has become the temporary home ice for the MSC hockey team. And it is there that the Indians, number two in the Metropolitan Collegiate Hockey Conference, faced Hofstra, number three. It was a guaranteed battle of the titans, and MSC emerged victorious, 9-6.

Mike Ashton, the Indian coach, announced before the game that his team was assured of the regular season. Ashton remains optimistic as to the Indians’ chances for a championship. His concern is the fear of injuries to his players in the last three games before a championship. His concern is the fear of injuries to his players in the last three games before a championship. Ashton said that the Indians had a few minutes to prepare for the game against Hofstra, the Indians did it well, except when Hofstra’s Stu Lerner got penalized for tripping. MSC’s third goal was scored with :56 left on the clock. Allesio passed to Dave Barbosa, who was able to capitalize. Allesio scored twice, players. Even Greg Daggett, Hofstra’s goalie, was penalized for tripping. MSC ended the period ahead 4-4 and the attack continued.

Six minutes later the game was again tied, 5-5. The Indians did it well, except when Hofstra’s Stu Lerner got the puck, passed it to Ostroske in front of the crease, who shot it under the skates of Tony Bucci. The Long Islanders’ second goal came at 12:56.

The Indians scored twice before two minutes had expired. Capristo was first with one from Barbosa and Allesio. Steve Ruggiero put one in with assists from Gamble and Barbosa. MSC’s third goal was earned by Allesio. John Zueck gave the assist.

Hofstra went berserk with this sudden change in the tempo of the game. They came back with renewed fury and Mike McCreesh, Hofstra’s right wing, slipped one in at 5:06. A little over a minute later, the Blues tied it up with a goal from Danny Meyers. Kroll got the assist. The score now stood at 4-4 and the attack continued.

The Indians did it well, except when Hofstra’s Stu Lerner got the puck, passed it to Ostroske in front of the crease, who shot it under the skates of Tony Bucci. The Long Islanders’ second goal came at 12:56.

Nine minutes later the game was again tied, 5-5. The Indians did it well, except when Hofstra’s Stu Lerner got the puck, passed it to Ostroske in front of the crease, who shot it under the skates of Tony Bucci. The Long Islanders’ second goal came at 12:56.

The Indians scored twice before two minutes had expired. Capristo was first with one from Barbosa and Allesio. Steve Ruggiero put one in with assists from Gamble and Barbosa. MSC’s third goal was earned by Allesio. John Zueck gave the assist.

Hofstra went berserk with this sudden change in the tempo of the game. They came back with renewed fury and Mike McCreesh, Hofstra’s right wing, slipped one in at 5:06. A little over a minute later, the Blues tied it up with a goal from Danny Meyers. Kroll got the assist. The score now stood at 4-4 and the attack continued.

The Indians did it well, except when Hofstra’s Stu Lerner got the puck, passed it to Ostroske in front of the crease, who shot it under the skates of Tony Bucci. The Long Islanders’ second goal came at 12:56.

The Indians scored twice before two minutes had expired. Capristo was first with one from Barbosa and Allesio. Steve Ruggiero put one in with assists from Gamble and Barbosa. MSC’s third goal was earned by Allesio. John Zueck gave the assist.

Hofstra went berserk with this sudden change in the tempo of the game. They came back with renewed fury and Mike McCreesh, Hofstra’s right wing, slipped one in at 5:06. A little over a minute later, the Blues tied it up with a goal from Danny Meyers. Kroll got the assist. The score now stood at 4-4 and the attack continued.

The Indians did it well, except when Hofstra’s Stu Lerner got the puck, passed it to Ostroske in front of the crease, who shot it under the skates of Tony Bucci. The Long Islanders’ second goal came at 12:56.

The Indians scored twice before two minutes had expired. Capristo was first with one from Barbosa and Allesio. Steve Ruggiero put one in with assists from Gamble and Barbosa. MSC’s third goal was earned by Allesio. John Zueck gave the assist.

Hofstra went berserk with this sudden change in the tempo of the game. They came back with renewed fury and Mike McCreesh, Hofstra’s right wing, slipped one in at 5:06. A little over a minute later, the Blues tied it up with a goal from Danny Meyers. Kroll got the assist. The score now stood at 4-4 and the attack continued.

The Indians did it well, except when Hofstra’s Stu Lerner got the puck, passed it to Ostroske in front of the crease, who shot it under the skates of Tony Bucci. The Long Islanders’ second goal came at 12:56.

The Indians scored twice before two minutes had expired. Capristo was first with one from Barbosa and Allesio. Steve Ruggiero put one in with assists from Gamble and Barbosa. MSC’s third goal was earned by Allesio. John Zueck gave the assist.

Hofstra went berserk with this sudden change in the tempo of the game. They came back with renewed fury and Mike McCreesh, Hofstra’s right wing, slipped one in at 5:06. A little over a minute later, the Blues tied it up with a goal from Danny Meyers. Kroll got the assist. The score now stood at 4-4 and the attack continued.

The Indians did it well, except when Hofstra’s Stu Lerner got the puck, passed it to Ostroske in front of the crease, who shot it under the skates of Tony Bucci. The Long Islanders’ second goal came at 12:56.

The Indians scored twice before two minutes had expired. Capristo was first with one from Barbosa and Allesio. Steve Ruggiero put one in with assists from Gamble and Barbosa. MSC’s third goal was earned by Allesio. John Zueck gave the assi...
Seven MSC wrestlers headed to Nationals
Gonzalez, Monaco lead Indians to Division III National Championships

MSC Women’s Basketball Team Hosts Playoffs Tonight!!!

The MSC women’s basketball team (18-7) hosts Trenton State tonight at Panzer Gym in the first round of the NJAC playoffs. Tip-off is at 7:30 p.m. For a preview, see page 19.

Seven MSC wrestlers will compete in the National Collegiate Athletic Association Division III National Championships on March 3 and 4.

The athletes qualified as a result of their performances in the New Jersey Athletic Conference wrestling championships, held Sunday at Panzer Gym.

Pete Gonzalez, defending champion at the 126-pound level, pinned Scott Smith of Rutgers-Newark to secure a berth in the championships.

Armando Nardone received a wild-card bid at the 134-pound level, while Ken Hoff received a bid when he finished second in the 142-pound division.

Karl Monaco, the defending champion at 142 pounds, moved up one weight class and captured the 150-pound title when he won by technical fall.

Mike Picozzi (158 pounds) and Shan Harewood (167 pounds) grabbed wild-card spots.

Scott Vega, who wrestles at 190 pounds for the Indians, came in second place to grab a spot in the finals.

Gonzalez, who along with Monaco serves as co-captain of the Indians, says the team is confident.

“We have seven guys that really want to do it,” the senior said.

Men’s hoop team looks to next year

By Kenny Peck
Sports Editor

The MSC men’s basketball team wrapped up its season with a 76-71 victory over Glassboro State Monday night.

The victory gave the Indians a 5-19 record for the season, a record that doesn’t indicate the talent on the MSC squad. The Indians are a young team, as they will lose only senior captain Mike Wegrzyniak next season.

Head coach Ollie Gelston feels the experience gained by this season’s younger players will help immensely next year.

“We have to go out and build on this foundation,” said Gelston. “We do have a strong nucleus to build on.”

The “nucleus” Gelston is referring to consists of freshmen Russell Murdock, Mike Fitzpatrick and Tim Liddy, who started virtually every game over the last half of the season for the Indians.

“Those guys, along with Vinny Gulbin, have matured into legitimate college basketball players,” said Gelston.

But that isn’t to say the Indians are going to sit back and wait for next season. Gelston and his staff have been “scouring the state” in search of recruits who can fill their needs.

According to Gelston, the Indians need help at the center spot, where their lack of height has hurt them this season, as well as the small forward position.

The coaching staff would also like to be able to find a player who can play both the point guard and shooting guard positions.

“We do have a good nucleus to build on.”

Ollie Gelston

The success of this recruiting season cannot be measured as of yet because many players haven’t made up their minds about which colleges they will choose to attend.

“The quality, or impact players, get offers from many schools,” said Gelston, who will begin his 26th season at MSC next year. “I know of nobody that we’re looking at that has signed to anyone in the conference.

“Obviously, we’ll try to improve our team, and get back to our winning ways.”

Gelston knows that if he has as good a recruiting season this year as he did last year, which yielded the aforementioned freshmen trio, the hard times that have struck the Indians may be behind them for a long while.

But even if that is the case, Gelston will remember one player who played hardest no matter what the score—Wegrzyniak.

Wegrzyniak played for the Indians for four years, and has been a captain for the previous two seasons.

“Even during difficult times in the program, Mike always sacrificed his own personal goals,” said Gelston. “He was a great leader through difficult times.”

Wegrzyniak enjoyed it.

“We didn’t always get the best of the Indians, but that was worth it playing for MSC,” he said.