Shared Governance takes away student vote

By Mary Beth Gutjahr
Correspondent

The Shared Governance Committee's final draft on Academic Shared Governance, which was presented to the Faculty Senate last Wednesday, proposes to take away the student vote in the committee, according to SGA president Mary Jane Linnehan.

The Joint Commission on Academic Shared Governance was originally developed through the efforts of the Faculty Senate and administration to create more "shared governance" over academic affairs.

According to a report submitted to the Faculty Senate and MSC President Irvin Reid by the Committee in September, there was discussion as to whether groups other than faculty should serve as part of the governance system. The consensus, said the report, was that the policy recommendation and implementation process should be collaborative and collegial rather than managerial; that is, the academic enterprise should be understood as the responsibility of each segment of the college community.

The report also stated that a collegial democratic body needed to be formed in which faculty, administrators and students would be represented, and through which each could have a meaningful voice in the institutional governance. However, in the current draft, students are not entitled to a vote, said Linnehan.

The Faculty Senate is a voting conglomerate for faculty which is strictly a recommending board that submits accepted proposals to final decision makers at the college. Some of the decisions the senate does hear involve items such as graduation procedures, curriculum assessments, and anything else that needs larger group endorsement.

"The students should have a vote in the decision making process since they are the main consumers," said Linnehan. She said that she would like the senate to amend this part of the draft so that students will have the vote. "The SGA will be looking into mounting a campaign to poll student opinion on the issue," she added.

The SGA would also like to better educate students on the senate, to increase the interaction between the students and faculty, according to Linnehan.

The commission has a November debate scheduled with the Faculty Senate over the issue. The Senate will take the final vote in December.

Beginning Nov. 6, the use of the micro-computers in the Richardson computer lab will be restricted to students taking courses in the department of math and computer science who have a pass signed by the instructor and the student.

The restriction resulted from complaints that students currently enrolled in math or computer science courses were unable to gain access to the machines due to overcrowding by students using the computers for other course work.

"The intent of the lab in Richardson was to serve the needs of MSC students taking GERs in computer science," said Dr. Kenneth Wolff, chairman of the department of math and science. "What has happened is because Richardson is the only computer lab with fixed regular hours, it is where everyone goes to do their computer work."

Students have already begun to express complaints about the restriction because once they had completed their math or computer science course, they are no longer able to use the computers on which they have just been taught.

"There is a dilemma for students once they have completed their course and want to use the knowledge they have acquired, but it's up to the chairs of the other schools to make arrangements to meet the computer needs of their students," said Wolff.

Each individual department of MSC has its own computer lab, but the accessibility and staffing of each lab varies. The lab in Richardson has complete funding for a staff consisting for the most part, of computer science majors who are available to assist students that need help.

Jeff Giacobbe, assistant supervisor of academic computing, said he has mixed feelings about the department's decision to restrict the lab.

"Ideally I would like the lab open to all students who need to use the facility, but I also understand that students who have classes in math and computer science need a place where they can go to get their work done," said Giacobbe.

Lynn Truesdell, director of computer services, is working to have all the computer labs open during the times the college is open.

"There are a lot of problems with the computer labs on campus," said Truesdell. "The labs are controlled by their individual departments, and they don't always have the funding and support they need to be open to students when they need them."

Wolff said he feels that there is a need for a unifying office for academic computing to cater to the computer needs of the faculty and students, but for now, the students using the computer lab in Richardson Hall will be forced to make new arrangements.

Photo by Kristin Marcussen
Latin Month
Latinos Reaching New Horizons

The Latin American Student Organization of Montclair State College presents:

LATIN MONTH—
"LATINOS REACHING NEW HORIZONS"

The following is the list of dates and the events that will be held:

Wednesday—November 1st 4:30 p.m.
HISPANIC FLAG RAISING CEREMONY
Between Mallory Hall & the Student Center

5:00 p.m.
OPENING BANQUET
in Formal Dining Room at the Student Center.
Guest speakers: Jose Fuentes, Esquire and Joanne Engelbert, Spanish Ithaca Department.

Sunday—November 5th 5:00 p.m.
ALUMNI DINNER
at the Formal Dining Room in the Student Center.
Guest speakers: Perry Schwartz and Maurice Gilbert.

Monday—November 6th 7:30 p.m.
LATIN MASS—"MISA LATINA"
in Ballroom C at the Student Center.
Father Art Humphrey and Father Herman Ares along with the choir from St. John's Cathedral in Paterson.

Thursday—November 9th 2-4:00 p.m.
DEBATE ON "MOTIVATION"
in the Ballrooms at the Student Center.
Guest speakers: Carmelo Velazquez and Joan Blaustein.

Sunday—November 12th 5:00 p.m.
CONCERT with "Los Pleneros de la 21"
at Memorial Auditorium.

Tuesday—November 14th 9-3 p.m.
HISPANIC RECRUITMENT DAY
cosponsored with the Admissions Office

7:45 p.m.
MOVIE "WEST SIDE STORY"
in the Ballrooms at the Student Center.

Thursday—November 16th 4:00 p.m.
LECTURE ON "PRINCESS ISABEL AND THE OVERTHROW OF THE BRAZILIAN MONARCHY IN 1889" in Kops Lounge at Russ Hall.
Guest speaker: Sharon Wyatt.

Saturday—November 18th 8 p.m.-1 a.m.
DANCE
with "Los Reyes del Caribe" & D.J. Ramon.
in the Ballrooms at the Student Center.

Sunday—November 19th 2:00 p.m.
"PUERTORICAN HERITAGE DAY"
Flag Raising Ceremony between Mallory Hall and the Student Center.

5:00 p.m.
FOLK DANCING
at the Casa Building Room 109.
Guests include "Alma Latina" and "Passaic-Essex Latin-Jazz Ensemble".

Wednesday—November 22nd 12-2 p.m.
SPANISH FOOD DISPLAY
sponsored by Goya, Iberia, La Cena, and other Spanish products.

Tuesday—November 28th 4:45-7:40
LATIN DINNER
to be served at Blanton Hall & Freeman Hall
Residence Life.

Wednesday—November 29th 10-5 p.m.
TRIP TO NEW YORK TO SEE "THE GERALDO SHOW"
Bus will be leaving from the Student Center.

Thursday—November 30th 8 p.m.-??
"LATIN MONTH'S FINAL DANCE"
at the Rathskeller.
DJ "7110 y su Ritmo Latino".

Sonia Lopez, Latin Month Coordinator
LAO Office 893-4440.
Seventh annual event is a success

Six Hundred attend Law School Admissions Day

By Michelle M. Alaimo and Maureen P. McGuire

More than 600 students from 35 undergraduate colleges and universities met with law school representatives from all over the country at the seventh annual Law School Admissions Day in the Student Center Ballrooms last Wednesday. The free event gave students from MSC and other schools the chance to talk with representatives and ask questions about law schools and organizations.

"There was a record attendance of students," said Dr. Marilyn Taylor, Director of the MSC Legal Studies Department.

"(The fair was) a good opportunity to talk to law schools," said one student.

Dean Philip S. Cohen of the School of Humanities and Social Sciences and Murray L. Cole, member and former chairman of the Board of Trustees, welcomed the students and law participants in the opening address.

"Every year I think this fair can't get better, but it does," said Cohen.

Taylor said there were 43 law schools and other law-related organizations that participated. Six representatives of the 43 law schools that participated were MSC alumni who attended law school and came back to encourage other students to do the same.

During opening remarks of the morning panel discussion on getting into law school, John De Liso, assistant dean at Suffolk University's School of Law, said, "I always make it my business to come to the law fair at MSC because of the close personal contact with a variety of students."

"This is the only law fair in NJ," said Taylor, "and the advantage is that there's opportunity for real contact between students and law school admissions directors. Other conventions such as those in New York, Chicago and California are too crowded for that kind of contact."

The afternoon panel discussion on being in law school was moderated by Richard Trenk, Esq., from the Young Lawyers Division of the NJ State Bar Association. He brought current law students to talk to prospective students about what it's like to be in law school.

Although the purpose (of the event) is state-wide, 20-25% of the students were from MSC," said Taylor. "This gives them two advantages. The first is that the fair is held on campus. But the second and more important one is that law schools look with increasing favor on applicants from MSC because we hold the fair here."

"MSC is also getting nationwide recognition because the success of the event is talked about by directors of law schools around the country," said Taylor.

"This annual event is of major importance for legal studies and the state because it's the only opportunity for prospective students throughout the state to meet with so many law school directors," said Taylor.

Two student organizations helped coordinate the fair: Phi Alpha Delta, the international law fraternity, and the Student Paralegal Association of the SGA. The MSC chapter on Phi Alpha Delta is the only one in a NJ public school.

Louis Ramunno, president of Phi Alpha Delta, and Barbara Smith, president of the Student Paralegal Association, said the fair was "a very successful day."

Some of the schools that participated were Drake, Thomas Cooley, California Western, Columbia University, Indiana University, Rutgers and Seton Hall.

A grant from the Alumni Association helped sponsor this year's event said Taylor.

CONT. ON P.10
DRIVER HELPERS

WE'RE SHIFTING INTO HIGH GEAR FOR THE HOLIDAYS!!!

We need helpers for the following locations: NEWARK, SADDLE BROOK, SECAUCUS

It's always busy at UPS, but the holidays are something else. We're currently looking for people who are at least 18 years old, reliable and interested in earning some extra money before Christmas.

We offer $8.11/HOUR, and the convenience of working locally. Helpers can be picked up on delivery routes. Just apply in person.

SADDLE BROOK
280 Midland Avenue
INTERVIEW HOURS: Mon & Tues 6PM-8PM
Tues & Thurs 2PM-4PM
CALL 201-330-2315 OR
201-267-2806 (VOICE BOX® 5400)

SECAUCUS
493 County Avenue
INTERVIEW HOURS: Mon-Thurs 9AM-11AM & 4PM-6PM
Friday 9AM-11AM & 6PM-8PM
CALL 201-763-3100

An Equal Opportunity Employer M/F

---

With Macintosh you can even do this:

Macintosh® computers have always been easy to use. But they've never been this easy to own. Presenting The Macintosh Sale.

Through January 31, you can save hundreds of dollars on a variety of Apple® Macintosh computers and peripherals.

So now there's no reason to settle for an ordinary PC. With The Macintosh Sale, you can wind up with much more of a computer.

Without spending a lot more money.

---

The College Store
Lower Level
Student Center Bldg
Strike Update:

Union puts strike on temporary hold

By Monica Glna
Staff Writer

The MSC Federation of College Teachers met again on Oct. 20 to determine the status of a possible strike. The union is presently in a "holding pattern" and is awaiting the results of the gubernatorial election which will influence the union's decision to strike. Dr. Catherine Becker of the Curriculum and Teaching Department, and the president of the American Federation of Teacher's local 1904, states that Governor Kean failed to disclose "the true fiscal situation of the state of NJ." She says it was because of this that the academic profession is suffering financially. "Is this fair?" asks Becker.

In October of this year the Council of NJ State College Locals, the state college affiliate of the American Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO, announced that "Congressman Jim Florio has won the Council's endorsement for Governor." Marcoantonio Lacatena, the President of the Council of NJ State College Locals stated, "The choice should be clear. Jim Florio, as a congressman, has voted time and time again on the right side of the issues. His opponent has embraced the doctrine of less - less for education, less for social programs and less fairness. Jim Florio's voting record on labor and education bills has been outstanding. His opponent's record and platform spell trouble for our colleges, our jobs and our union." The union says that it is unlikely that they will strike if Florio is elected.

The union will take no official action until after the election when they hold their meeting on Nov. 10. In the event that the union moves to have a strike, it is prepared to take immediate action. Becker said that if the union does not act within a significantly brief period of time after such a decision, they will lose any chance of striking this semester.

The Faculty Senate urged the acceptance of the Joint Commission on Academic Shared Governance, a new program that would combine the input of the administration, faculty and students in policy setting for the college, at a special call meeting on Oct. 25. The special call meeting had no voting, but supporters joined forces to inform newcomers of the benefits of Academic Shared Governance. Supporters argued that historically, the faculty has had little input in policy setting and that students needed to express their opinions on education and extra-curricular activities.

Another issue raised by the supporters of Academic Shared Governance was the excess number of committees at MSC.

Correction

In last week's issue of The Montclarion, a misleading headline—"Students were assigned appointments according to their major: Spring registration did not have more programming difficulties"—appeared on the front page.

Spring registration did not have more programming difficulties; students were assigned appointments based on their major due to a previous programming difficulty, not a new one. The Montclarion regrets any confusion this headline may have caused.
Top Ten Things to do While The Montclarion is on a Two Week Hiatus

10.) Moan about lost relationships and unmended rifts when your personals don’t make next week’s deadline — two weeks will go by without further social help from The Montclarion’s most popular section.

9.) Pick out holiday gifts for friends and loved ones from the 1989 Sears Wishbook.

8.) Take coke, steal a car and masturbate in the library to keep the Campus Police occupied.

7.) Send a thoughtfully planned out “Sorry about your jail term” card to Zsa Zsa Gabor.

6.) Break out the Zamflr records and work on mastering the pan flute.

5.) Buy some Ex-Acto knives and tape them to various parts of your body.

4.) Say something witty and original at the next MSC Open Forum — it might help your otherwise drab personality.

3.) Say something witty and original at the next MSC Open Forum — it might hurt your good reputation as an average MSC student.

2.) Hope the C-Store gives out something better than free Kudos that were left over from last year’s Spring Week.

1.) Pour over your already well-thumbed copies of The Montclarion for hidden symbols and clever allusions to famous masterpieces in American literature.

P.S. Visit Maureen and Maggie—they’ll be lonely.

Yes, it’s true. The Montclarion staff will not be publishing a paper on November 16 (Date of this year’s Associated Collegiate Press conference) and November 23 (Date of Thanksgiving, silly!). We’ll return to our normal printing schedule on November 30.

And yes, as always, The Montclarion is a Class I of the SGA. So there.
LASO kicks off Latin Month with flag raising ceremony

By Lorelei McAloon

Correspondent

The Latin-American Student Organization (LASO) kicked off Latin Month last night with a Hispanic Flag Raising Ceremony and a gathering of students on the campus lawn. The perfect weather seemed to heighten LASO's theme, "Latinos Reaching New Horizons."

The Flag Raising Ceremony began at 4:30 p.m. between Mallory Hall and the Student Center. About 30 people, including SGA and MSC Veterans' Association members, gathered to watch as first the American flag and then 19 flags from Mexico, Central America, the Caribbean and South America slid up the pole. When the applause died down, Dr. Joanne Englebert of the Spanish-Italian department read a proclamation from President Reid that declared November as Spanish-American Heritage Month at MSC.

The flags signify not only the diversity of the Latino groups but also pride in their cultural bond. According to LASO member, Javier Ferrada, the ceremony "shows the U.S. that even though Latin American traditions are in the minority, they can still be heard by the public. This ceremony can improve recognition for the Latin American community."

"New Horizons," means 'great expectations' for a better life and a better standard of living for themselves and their children," said LASO advisor Jose Magdalene. It also symbolizes a growing mutual understanding between the Hispanic and non-Hispanic communities he said.

More than 60 people attended the Opening Banquet held in the balloon-filled formal dining room of the Student Center. Englebert, a guest speaker, captured the essence of the evening when she said the "Hispanic community is coming of age." Jose Fuentes, Fajr, second guest speaker, focused on bi-lingual educational programs.

The Ribbon Ceremony was marked by a large white cake, the first to have LASO's logo. As the ribbon was cut, helium balloons drifted higher towards "New Horizons."

Robin Hood threatens Freeman Hall

On Oct. 30 at 8:00 p.m., the desk assistant at Freeman Hall alerted the campus police of a bearded, white male who had just left the building. This male was dressed like Robin Hood and carried a sword. As the campus police attended to the case, Robin Hood signed a complaint against the suspect for simple assault, claiming the costumed male threatened him with a sword. The Robin Hood look alike, a student at MSC, was caught and charged with possession of a prohibited weapon.

In the field house on Oct. 24, between 12:10 p.m. and 1:20 p.m. a locked locker was broken into. The thief stole $10 in cash and a gold chain valued at $700.

At 1:00 a.m. on Oct. 28, an older male in a parked car was observed by campus police in lot 29. When questioned, the man claimed to be waiting to attend a party in the apartments. Prior to this incident, this man had been arrested by campus police on two separate occasions for harassing woman as they walk by him in his car. Campus police arrested him for the third time.

There was an attempt made to enter the Life Hall computer lab with force between 11 p.m. Oct. 26 and 9 a.m. Oct. 27. Although the burglar failed to get in, the door and the lock mechanism were damaged.

A VCR was stolen from the library conference room between 11 p.m. Oct. 25 and 8:30 a.m. Oct. 26. This has not yet been retrieved.

Between 11 p.m. Oct. 29 and 1 a.m. Oct. 30, the jacket of a security guard from State Wide Guard was stolen. During a bomb threat evacuation from Stone Hall, the jacket was recovered from a room in the residence hall. The resident living in that room was arrested for the theft.

A State wide security guard received a call from a male on Oct. 29 at 6:30 a.m. The caller claimed there was a bomb in Bohm Hall. The building was evacuated and re-entered one hour later.

Two separate bomb threats were made on Oct. 30. One was at 6 a.m. in Blanton Hall where a security guard received a phone call from a male claiming there was a bomb on the fifth floor. The other one was in Bohm Hall at 3 a.m. Evacuation of Bohm occurred and residents were allowed back in the building after a half hour.

Sometime between Oct. 25 and 9 a.m. Oct. 26, a battery was stolen out of a state vehicle behind the Student Center.

A 1982 Mazda RX7 was stolen from lot 30 on Oct. 25 between 5 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Later that day, Paterson police recovered the car in their town.

Students watch the hoisting of the American flag and 19 Latin-American flags. The event was the first in the many activities scheduled for Latin Month.
With Macintosh you can even do this:

Macintosh computers have always been easy to use. But they've never been this easy to own. Presenting The Macintosh Sale. Through January 31, you can save hundreds of dollars on a variety of Apple Macintosh computers and peripherals. So now there's no reason to settle for an ordinary PC. With The Macintosh Sale, you can wind up with much more of a computer. Without spending a lot more money.

The College Store
Lower Level Student Center Bldg

Mudnitslselfcomputers have always been easy to use. But they've never been this easy to own. Presenting The Macintosh Sale. Through January 31, you can save hundreds of dollars on a variety of Apple Macintosh computers and peripherals. So now there's no reason to settle for an ordinary PC. With The Macintosh Sale, you can wind up with much more of a computer. Without spending a lot more money.

The College Store
Lower Level Student Center Bldg

Macintosh Sale, now through January 31.

Apple, the Apple logo, and Macintosh are registered trademarks of Apple Computer, Inc.

Austin to read fiction

Doris Jean Austin, author of After the Garden and the upcoming Heirs and Orphans (Published by New American Library) will read from her fiction as a guest MSC writing instructor, in Student Center Room 419, from 2-4 p.m. on Nov. 19.

S.I.L.C. PRESENTS:
Volleyball, Ping Pong and Darts Intramurals

* Men's and co-rec
* Pick up roster at SILC office, room 121 Student Center
* Team captain's meeting: Monday, Nov. 8, 1989 at noon - SILC office 121
* How about participating, ladies?

S.I.L.C. is a Class I of the SGA

Ryan's
105 Roseland Ave. Caldwell, NJ 403-8000

PRESENTS:

Wednesday:
Shaker Night - All shaker drinks $2.25 includes “Absolut”

Thursday:
Montclair State Night —

featuring

(direct from Belmar)

75¢ mugs for all college students

Friday:
Rehab Studios - Compact Disc Jockeys
$1.00 Drinks FOR LADIES
MSC hits the airwaves

By Amy DeWitt
Correspondent

How about a glimpse of our campus in between music videos and foul shots? If you live in Passaic or Essex County, don’t be surprised if you see an advertisement for MSC on MTV or during an NCAA game. It’s part of a new ad campaign to promote MSC’s Open Houses for prospective high school students and their parents.

Cynthia Barnes, assistant to the president, says the ad is part of an experimental marketing strategy which will “show off” the campus and “raise awareness” about the college and its many programs. The 30 and 60 second spots for television include an 800 number so that the campaign’s effectiveness can be measured.

Because of the college’s modest advertising budget, a local cable station, Suburban Cable, was chosen to broadcast the ads during youth-oriented programs. Barnes said the $36,000 campaign began broadcasting on October 16 and will run for six weeks.

Barnes also stressed the importance of newspapers and radio, two other media the college utilizes. MSC ads can be seen in The New York Times and The Star-Ledger, and can be heard on WHIZ (Z100), WLAW, and WCBS.

Edward Martin, dean of students, said that the college became aware several years ago of the declining number of students graduating from high schools, which sparked an interest in improving the college’s marketing strategies.

Hopefully these new promotions will get the attention of high school juniors and seniors and their parents. Who knows? Maybe one of them will feel inspired enough to say, “I want my MSC!”

Speak out!

Hearing it all at the Free Speech Forum

By Ann Daly
Correspondent

Step right up, MSC students, and say whatever’s on your mind.

You could be cheered, applauded, laughed at, or ignored, but at least your voice and opinion will be heard.

And you’ll even get rewarded for what you have to say.

Students gathered on the steps of the Student Center last Wednesday for the third Free Speech Forum, sponsored by the SGA. Equipped with 500 pens. The students arrived with paper, pens, and the American flag. Addressed serious issues, bringing the voice of anger, reason, or conscience to the Student Center mall.

The flip side of getting the news

A Record reporter stands trial

By Valerie Kalrin
Features Editor

They were MSC journalism students arrested with pads and pens. The case they heard was real.

They travelled in the rain to a small courtroom in West Orange. On creaky wooden benches, they took notes, listened, and learned.

And maybe wondered what it would be like on the other side of the law.

Lisa Marie Petersen, a reporter from the Bergen Record who spoke to journalism students and professors in Partridge Hall a few weeks ago, was convicted of trespassing Tuesday as a result of the Glen Ridge sexual assault case.

Petersen was found guilty of an incident that occurred last May 26 when she entered West Orange High School seeking an interview with the sexual assault victim’s teachers.

Instead, Petersen told the students in Partridge Hall, she found the 18-year-old victim herself in the hall and interviewed her under a tree for about 20 minutes.

After the interview, she’d said, school officials confronted her and warned her they would charge her with trespassing.

The students from Ron Hollander’s newswriting classes didn’t hear Petersen’s story on Tuesday, however. Her attorney Raymond Wiss rested without testimony. He told the students crowded around him, poised with questions and notepads, that the state only had a prima facie (“on the face”) case, and not one beyond a reasonable doubt.

“School property is public mere entity does not constitute trespassing,” Wiss said, quoting from a past case. “The Board of Education made a mistake.”

Prosecuting attorney Stephen Christiano said that Petersen’s conviction would be heard on WHTZ (Z100), WLAW, and WCBS. The college spends $60,000 on newspaper ads and $65,000 on radio ads, Barnes said.

Many students were angered over the conduct of campus police raiding the Clove Road apartments during Homecoming.

“MSC students should take a stand. This is not a ‘party school.’ This happens to be a dry campus!” said one angry student.

Other students voiced their opinions about abortion and a woman’s right to choose. Argued cont. on p. 10.
features

Reporter on trial

cont. from p. 9
had ignored two students and 12 signs asking visitors to report to the principal's office before entering a classroom.

"No one has suggested she entered a classroom," Wiss said. "If the burden of imperfection falls on anyone, it has to fall squarely on the school."

Wiss called the signs "useless," and said that the Board's policy had not been posted properly. "You print up another green piece of paper with the right words on it. They (The Board) failed to do that," he said.

School superintendent James Donovan said that the sign was not the issue. The students crowded around the tall, balding man, talking about the case during a recess. "My interpretation is very clear. A school is a building. It's an office upon entering the building."

"How specific does a sign have to be?" he asked. "If one reporter on the same day was able to interpret the sign, why not the other?" he said. "Ignorance?"

Wiss objected to any testimony concerning Hendrie, calling it irrelevant. "(Petersen) was already in the building. It (Hendrie's entrance) was either before or after the fact."

Municipal Court Judge Joseph C. Cassini III ruled that the posting was accurate, and that the two students had communicated the policy. He withheld sentencing until Nov. 28.

Petersen faces a maximum penalty of $500 fine and 30 days in jail. She left the courtroom, turned to leave. She paused to face them in the hall. "I really can't talk to you guys right now," she said. "We're gonna appeal." Then she turned to leave.

Maybe she remembered what it was like to be on the other side.

Students lend an ear to free speech

cont. from p. 9
ments erupted between students about cases involving incest and rape. While many believed that women who are victims of those crimes should have the choice to an abortion, others believed that no one has a right to take another human life.

SGA President Mary Jane Linnehan is very happy with the controversy, and feels that the Free-Speech Forum has been pretty successful so far.

"The purpose of the forum is to let students voice their concerns," she said. "It's an opportunity to network and help other students."

"By allowing them the opportunity to express their feelings on different topics, we (the SGA) are hoping they will be able to take action for their concerns," she added.

Students who got up to speak were given a free frisbee. "The frisbees were not a gimmick," Linnehan said. "They're promotional items used to help advertise the event."

"There is a 50 percent chance that sometime in your life you will be involved in a drunk driving crash," she said.

Hoge said that Safe Rides, a hotline network that provides confidential rides to students who feel they are too intoxicated to drive, was founded in 1986 after a local student was killed in a drunk driving accident while returning home from a party.

SADD was founded in 1982 in Boston by Robert Anastas, a high school student concerned about the growing problem of teen alcohol abuse, De Bergeois said. Anastas is currently SADD's national director.

Alcohol Awareness Week at MSC ran last week from Oct. 20 through Oct. 27.
RESIDENCE HALL ASSOCIATION

Presents to you:  BOHN
                 BLANTON
                 STONE
                 WEBSTER
                 FREEMAN
                 CLOVE

Brand new vacuum cleaners available in your Residence Halls

We put your money to good use
We hope you have a squeaky clean semester

GOOD LUCK THIS YEAR

893-5110
The backward education

There are some students at MSC who are a little backward. That's not a comment on their attitudes or the way they wear their clothes, it's about the way they see. Literally see. There are people who look at words on a page or notes on a musical staff and see it in reverse. They suffer from a condition known as dyslexia, a frustrating learning disability which can cause people to be labeled as lazy or slow students.

If someone who suffers from dyslexia gets to see the way a word looks to them on a page. However, this system can easily backfire, causing embarrassment to the dyslexic student. Any single letter in the alphabet can be maneuvered by the dyslexic eye to its mirror image due to a neurological disorder. The letter 'b' can look like 'd' or even be turned on its side.

This may be hard to comprehend for the "normal" students, but it really happens, and more often than one might think. Many students may experience dyslexia in one form or another, and at times, a milder sense. However, the reason that it is not commonly exposed as a disorder is because students may not understand what is happening to them and reconcile themselves to believing they aren't as smart as the other pupils in their classes.

But what about the students who realize their disorder and want to gain a quality education anyway? They know that they aren't the smartest or slowest; but they just learn differently than the majority. They require a non-traditional education where they can pace themselves according to the rate at which they can learn effectively. Remedial classes aren't the answer. A slower version of a regular, mainstream class is not the ticket for those who need specially constructed classes to help them learn with this disorder.

MSC does offer classes that cater to the dyslexic student or proper training to professors who come in contact with them. Why is it that funds are channelled toward promoting honor students in their endeavors for success while dyslexic students have to work through their education with hardly any aid or support from the college?

Since this is an institute of higher learning, shouldn't we cater to the needs of all the students? Especially the ones who have a problem with education because of a physical impairment? There ought to be a concerted effort at MSC to help identify the needs of dyslexic students and help them turn their education in the right direction.
Orchestra omission

To the Editor:

I am writing this in response to the recent announcement of the orchestra's decision to halt all performance activities. I was not aware of the reasons behind this decision until I read about it in your editorial. I am very concerned about the impact this will have on the students and the university community.

I believe that the orchestra serves an important role in the cultural life of our campus. It brings together students from different majors and backgrounds, and it provides a platform for them to explore their artistic talents.

I would like to know more about the reasons behind this decision and what steps are being taken to address any issues that may have led to it. I hope that the university will take into account the importance of the orchestra in the overall university experience and work towards finding a solution that allows the orchestra to continue its important contributions.

Sincerely,

[Signature]

Peace, not violence is the answer

To the Editor:

I am writing to comment on the current debate about whether to offer a course on pacifism. While I respect the viewpoints of those who believe that the study of pacifism is important, I do not believe that it is necessary.

I believe that the term pacifism is often misunderstood and misused. It is often associated with weakness or pacification, rather than with a principled and principled approach to conflict resolution.

I think that a better approach would be to focus on the idea of nonviolent resistance, which has a long history of success in movements for social justice. This approach emphasizes education and nonviolent action as a way to bring about change.

I believe that we should focus on the ability to bring about change through peaceful means, rather than on studying pacifism as a separate entity.

Sincerely,

[Signature]

No parking (part two)

To the Editor:

I agree wholeheartedly with last week's letter about the intolerable parking situation in Lot 13. Just today, Oct. 30, the attendant on duty stated in front of the entrance at 9:30 PM (when cars are usually allowed in) that she could not allow anyone to line up to wait for cars to exit. When I asked how you were supposed to know when a car had left so that you can enter the lot, she responded, "You don't - you just get lucky!"

So now you are not sure if the lot is even open on any given day - you now have time to your "drive-by" to coincide with a car exiting?

If there is such a chronic parking problem as it has been stated - it would seem to me that MSC should utilize what spaces are available. I am sure there is a better turnover when students park in Lot 13 than confined attendants!

Why can't these conference attendees use the Clove Rd. parking lot? Are they afraid their cars might be broken into or stolen? If the faculty want their attendees to have safe, parking, why don't they use some of their faculty spaces?

Cindi Mac Neal Senior | CS & D

Registration works fine

To the Editor:

Your front page headline of Oct. 26, 1989, expressed that "Spring registration has more programming difficulties." Additionally, your front page editorial page cartoon both took this office to task.

Despite your headline, there were no "more programming difficulties." There was only one problem, and that was reported on your front page of Oct. 19, 1989.

Yes, we wanted to schedule students by priority based on the number of credits earned. No, we could not accomplish that, basically because we still must work with two systems - the old one (Custom) and the new one (SIS).

Yes, students were scheduled in groups by major. No, that was not your allegation - with the exception of the significant problem. It was not done because we thought it would "be kind of neat." We were writing, waiting, to share more positive news with you. During the first two weeks of registration, we scheduled over 9,600 students, both undergraduate and graduate, through the mail and in person.

William M. Welsh Acting Registrar

Mary Jane Says... Students needed on new college senate

In theory, this does seem a very needed and effective method of empowering our faculty, by strengthening the College Senate. Through increased communication among all campus facets, more concerns can be raised in larger number of people, who are in a position to address these concerns.

There exists, however, one aspect of the draft that will directly affect the student. At present, the model calls for a 51 person membership, with 35 voting members. Of these 35 voting members, none are students.

A College Senate can have great effects on the academic and college-wide process at this college. Students directly affected by this academic process, as the primary consumer, should be granted ample, proportional input into our own academic process.

Faculty, as the primary producer of adequate representation on the new Senate, as it is proposed. Shouldn't the producer and consumer, or the faculty and students respectively, work together in a mutualistic relationship?

Mary Jane Linnehon SGA President

If students are taking the initiative to become further involved in their educational experience, how can they be denied this right?

Ultimately, the reason for creating an All-College Senate was because faculty did not feel adequately addressed to, and wanted to strengthen their joint voice. With this in mind, faculty should have the sensitivity to the students' needs of being listened to - in this case being amply listened to is contingent upon the right to vote.

As the paying customers at this institution shouldn't we be included in the decisions that affect us?

I would raise these questions, because it may not be too late to change the current draft and get students as voting members. As students, it is really your responsibility to think about this for your education and all students succeeding you. As you see and hear on this issue, keep updated. Call or come to the SGA office, write editorials, or just ask questions. As students, I think it's time we come together.

Mary Jane Linnehon SGA President
Fire drills, an alarming experience

To the Editor:

Of all the little things on campus that college students must go through, waking up in the middle of the night for a fire alarm is the worst. Not only does it destroy whatever peaceful dream you might be having, but it also thrusts you out into the cold night air.

The first thing to do when a fire alarm goes off in your dorm is to ignore it and go back to sleep. There is no reason to get up right away as the resident assistants don’t check rooms for at least twenty minutes. So lay your little head back down on its pillow and try to fall asleep. There is no reason to get up right away as the resident assistants don’t check rooms for at least twenty minutes.

If you smoke 10,000 cigarettes a year, giving up will not kill you. In fact, it might save your life. All you have to do is join millions of other Americans and give up smoking for a day. Because you can quit for a day, you can quit for life. For more information, call 1-800-ACS-2345.

The Great American Smokercour, November 16.

Mark Kalet
Sophomore/Art

If you smoke 10,000 cigarettes a year, giving up won’t kill you.

In fact, it might save your life. All you have to do is join millions of other Americans and give up smoking for a day.

Because you can quit for a day, you can quit for life. For more information, call 1-800-ACS-2345.

The Great American Smokercour, November 16.

soccer cont...

Despite the pouring rain, MSC’s backup players showed a lot of character as they fought back from a goal deficit and managed to win 2-1.

"It was a good win for us," said Rubiniatti. "Because it told us that our backup players are capable of filling in if they have to."

"Today was their day," said Smith, "and they showed a lot of guts." Also, the win capped off MSC’s winning streak at seven in a row as the regular season ended.

On to the play-offs it is for MSC. Their first game will be played tomorrow against Muhlenberg-Pennsylvania, who beat MSC in a pre-season mini-tournament. The loss to Muhlenberg was full of controversy. Many of the MSC players feel as though they were cheated out of a win. However, many of the players feel that it’s necessary to put that game behind them and prepare for this one.

Masur says, “Our strategy will be to defend against Muhlenberg’s direct play. Direct play is similar to a football team always going for the ninety yard bomb,” says Masur. “We can’t make mistakes because it’s difficult to defend against it if the team can execute the play effectively.” Masur is confident going into tomorrow’s game. He feels that he knows Muhlenberg’s weakness and that they can be contained on defense.

“We have to go in on Friday and play our game,” said Charlie Smith. “Once we begin to play our game, we then have to notch it up even more, this way we won’t have any regrets. From the first day of practice in the summer, coach Masur has told us that he would be thrilled if we gave a 100% effort all around. It wouldn’t matter if we lost, as long as we have no regrets.”

"Playing 100% and losing still makes us feel like winners," says Roger Rubiniatti, as he compares the winning feeling to the Rutgers New Brunswick game even though MSC lost 2-0.

MSC is already at a slight disadvantage going into tomorrow’s game. The game is away at Muhlenberg and the expected attendance is around two thousand fans. “It’s difficult to beat a team on their turf,” says Masur. “It’s going to be more difficult to do it while two thousand fans are against you, so it’s important to maintain composure.”

The match will be everything that it’s hyped up to be since both teams are first time NCAAs tournament players. “It just adds wood to the fire being a first time contender in the...
Toxic Waste Dump.

This November 17, dump cigarettes for the day. You may even decide to quit for life.

EVERY QUITTER IS A WINNER.
The Great American Smokeout. Nov. 17.
Record Rap:

Billy Joel

By Jon Max Green

Billy Joel is more than just a piano player... more than just a performer... more than just a singer and even more than just a father married to one of the most beautiful and (judging by one of his new songs "That's Not Her Style") down to earth woman around; he is a songwriting "freak".

By the time an artist or a band puts out a greatest hits album, he or she or they, have become old friends. We know them, especially if we are fans. We know their every word and about their personal lives. Hollywood buzz has it that the Joker isn't really the Joker, but that he's just a criminal mastermind! Remember, you read it here first! Yes, VCR Jockeys of MSC, the Caped Crusader has seen and should be available to video rental houses and retailers within the week. Holy fast service, Batman! The movie was only released five months ago!

Also of interest to Bat-fans, "See No Evil, Hear No Evil" happens to be eyewitnesses to a murder. Well, sort of. You see, it is cool under pressure... can't wait for the next album! So if it's cool under pressure, you can stop looking because Joel's new album is Storm Front. It's absolutely more than you expect. You've already heard the single from the album "We Didn't Start the Fire". But believe it or not, it's not the best song on the album, and that's saying a lot because it is a great song and a wonderful overview of history set to music. And by the way, when you do go out and buy the album, even before you listen to it, read it. Sit down and read the lyrics. Billy Joel is a black belt at making us think through his lyrics.

On his new album Storm Front. Billy Joel has done it again and through its added pressure... can't wait for the next album! So if it's cool under pressure you're looking for, then you can stop looking because Joel's new album is Storm Front, is as strong as Popeye after a full can of spinach.

Our good friends who don't even know us as personally as we know them have got to feel our presence breathing down their necks. Produce, produce, produce. Make us happy. You did it once and if you don't do it again it will forget you. That's pressure!

All of this makes it seem as though Billy Joel is numb. Time after time he comes up with amazing material. The way he presents his ideas is fantastic both musically and verbally. But what's most important, we are comfortable with them. However, on the flip side of all this comfort-feet up on the coffee table curled up to a good album--a pressure!

Our good friends who don't even know us as personally as we know them have got to feel our presence breathing down their necks. Produce, produce, produce. Make us happy. You did it once and if you don't do it again it will forget you. That's pressure!

All of this makes it seem as though Billy Joel is numb. Time after time he comes up with amazing material. The way he presents his ideas is fantastic both musically and verbally. But what's most important, we are comfortable with them. However, on the flip side of all this comfort-feet up on the coffee table curled up to a good album--a pressure!

Couch Potato Update

Okay, Bat-fans, I'll open this week's Update with the hottest movie of the year, now on video...

VIDEO BULLETIN

Batman: Yes, VCR Jockeys of MSC, the Caped Crusader has been officially released! The $220 million blockbuster starring Michael Keaton as DC Comics' Dark Knight and Jack Nicholson as the Joker has been released by WARNER BROS. Home Video, and should be available to video rental houses and retailers within the week. Holy fast service, Batman! The movie was only released in theaters five months ago! Also of interest to Bat-fans, Batman II is already in the scriptwriting phase. Hollywood buzz has it that the Joker isn't really the Joker, but that he's just a criminal mastermind! Remember, you read it here first!

See No Evil, Hear No Evil is about two men who, by chance, happen to be eyewitnesses to a murder. Well, sort of. You see, one is deaf, and the other is blind. Somehow, they manage to become the prime suspects and must hightail it to find the real murderers, while keeping just ahead of New York's finest. The movie stars the Stir Crazy team of Gene Wilder and Richard Pryor.

TV UPDATE

Mel Brooks' latest comedy effort, Nutt House will be cancelled by NBC. It seems that the show wasn't nutty enough. The show starred Cloris Leachman and Harvey Korman. It will be replaced by the always-good stand-by, My Two Dads for now. Kevin and Paul will break up their friendship and each get a new best friend for revenge on the Nov. 14 episode of The Wonder Years. Daniel Stern, the voice of the older Kevin, wrote this episode.

For Neil Young, the 1980s was a decade of experimentation. No, not with drugs; those days are over for Young. No, he had been experimenting with a wide range of musical styles including synth-pop, rock-a-billy, country, and the blues.

However, in Freedom, Young has returned to his days of yesteryear. By giving us a mixture of piano and acoustic ballads interwined with blistering electric guitar attacks, he shows us how he became the folk and rock icon that he is.

The album's first single, the driving rhythmic "Rockin' in the Free World," bookends the album, at the start with a live acoustic version and closing with a ferocious, distorted electric rocker.

The song shows us some of the unfortunate people living in the free world: the homeless, a young, un-wed female drug addict, and the unwanted, abandoned child of the addict. In the electric version, Young latches out at false, political promises. "We got a thousand points of light/For the homeless man/We got a kinder, gentler machine gun hand."

The emotion-filled ballads "Hangin' on a Limb," "Ways of Love," and the rock ballad "Too Far Gone" are reminiscent of Young's early 70's work. The captivating "No More" gives us a look at Young's own entrapment in the drug world.

Guns 'N' Roses managed to upset the Rolling Stones in L.A. claiming that their opening for the Stones was the last gig unless certain bandmembers started getting their acts together, meaning that certain members had better curb their drug habits. But before that even started, Axl Rose defended himself (x-ratedly) about accusations of racism and bigotry. The following night, the band sorrowfully showed up with Slash, the lead guitarist, and Rose both apologizing to each other, as the rest of the band played "Patience." Ironically, they opened up with "Mr. Brownstone," a song about heroin addiction. Much to Rose's chagrin, Living Colour's Vernon Reid didn't let his remarks go without rebuttal. Reid told the audience: "If you don't have a problem with gay people, don't call them faggots, and if you don't have problems with Black people, don't call them niggers." Way to go, Vern.

By the way, I guess the Stones were good, too... Billy Joel has scheduled concerts at the Nassau Coliseum on December 22, 23, 27-29, and 31.

MINI-NOTES: Grateful Dead's Built to Last was released on Halloween... Eric Clapton's Journeyman and Slip of the Tongue by Whitesnake will be released on November 7... "Listen to Your Heart" by Roxette becomes the first song to reach number one in the cassette-only format which means that vinyl's days are numbered. Other R&B Soul: "You Are My Everything." Surface Album: Janet Jackson's Rhythm Nation. 1989.

MINI-NOTES II: On November 14, both Bobby Brown and Jody Watley are releasing greatest hits collections. I like them both but why are they doing such an assinine thing? Between the two of them, they have four albums. That's two each! Luther Vandross' recently released greatest hits is a double album! Bobby and Jody are still milking hits off of their respective albums. "Rock Witcha" is the last song on the first side of Brown's album and is currently #8 soul and #7 pop. Watley's latest, "Everything," is top 10 soul and somewhere on the pop; and she can still release singles off of her album! It's that new! Bad career moves guys! The answer to last week's question: The pseudo-Ed Sullivan introduced Billy Joel's act as BJ and the Affordables. This week's question given to me by Mark MacDonald: Who designed the Rolling Stones lippy logo? Think about it... Until next week...

Young of Old

By Dan Grossman - Correspondent

For Neil Young, the 1980s was a decade of experimentation. No, not with drugs; those days are over for Young. No, he had been experimenting with a wide range of musical styles including synth-pop, rock-a-billy, country, and the blues. The song shows us some of the unfortunate people living in the free world: the homeless, a young, un-wed female drug addict, and the unwanted, abandoned child of the addict. In the electric version, Young latches out at false, political promises. "We got a thousand points of light/For the homeless man/We got a kinder, gentler machine gun hand."

The emotion-filled ballads "Hangin' on a Limb," "Ways of Love," and the rock ballad "Too Far Gone" are reminiscent of Young's early 70's work. The captivating "No More" gives us a look at Young's own entrapment in the drug world.

For a combination of bittersweet lyrics and raw power, check out "Don't Cry," a tale of a broken relationship. The album also contains a burning version of the Drifters' "On Broadway."

Freedom is essentially a melancholy album with Young showing us the misconception of the ideals of freedom and also showing that many free people are sometimes slaves to their own conscience. No matter how you interpret it though, most people will agree that Freedom is classic Neil Young. Welcome back, Neil.
Not such a Shocker

By Tony Bavaro
Staff Writer

Wes Craven, the filmmaker who has graced the cinema with such notorious films as A Nightmare On Elm Street and The Serpent and the Rainbow, has unleashed his next film, Shockers, to the horror world. However, Shockers is not such a Shocker.

The premise here is good: the idea that television, that often unwanted of device, quietly enters into our homes every day, may have consequences and a potential for destruction generally unanticipated by the majority of the population. If the premise is not lacking, what Craven does with it is.

The film quickly degenerates into a standard gore show, with all of the conventions traditionally associated with such films in tacit including wildly overreacted performances (particularly by the very miscast Michael Murphy as the detective trying to crack the case), grossly exaggerated dialogue, and an employment of cinematic technique so refined and blatant as to draw attention to itself and lose the audience.

The one interesting sequence in the film occurs when the weary detective follows the killer into the world of television to track him down, and ends up chasing him across a variety of programs highly indicative of television in the eighties: tacky game shows, sexually violent police dramas, and tawdry made for T.V. features. Unfortunately, this one sequence is hardly enough to salvage the film.

Craven employed a heavy metal soundtrack in the film, which quickly becomes insipid and repetitious. Like the film itself, it is not long before we tire of it.

An interesting premise is not enough in itself to build a good film on. This is one lesson that Craven, a former college professor, has yet to learn.

An Alarming Change

By Robert Bilotti
Correspondent

Change, The Alarm's fourth full-length album (excluding the first EP, The Stand) will undoubtedly leave the band standing exactly where they have been in the past, on the outside.

In the case of The Alarm, however, I'm not so sure that is a bad place to be or, unplanned. The Alarm is a band with an infamous dedicated following that is ever-growing. They have achieved this status without too much help from commercial exposure.

On the up side, this leaves the band free from the craziness that accompanies commercial stardom. The drawback, however, is that there are many people unaware of The Alarm, leaving potential fans in the dark.

However looked at, the trend of gaining popularity and respect is sure to continue with the release of Change. This album will satisfy the die-hard member of The Alarm's army, while attracting new fans, really anyone who loves good music.

Change contains all the elements that have become trade-mark to the band. The name "Change" does not deal with the band itself but the world around them ("Change, change, I need a change, oh Lord!").

The songs are instantly likeable, catchy songs that do not tire after repeated playing but become stronger. The lyrics are thought-provoking. They convey a unified message of a world that goes deeper than monetary needs. The fight of the blue-collar worker in a dead-end town is evident in "Devolution Workin' Man Blues" and "Hardland" ("For on these streets/That I spit upon/There's no money in my pocket/No soles on my shoes/Ain't got no religion/But the workin' man blues").

They write of misunderstanding and stereotyping, ("Help me, help me, I'm trapped in a prison without prison bars"), to a change in values and respect for life in "Rivers To Cross" ("How many battles must we fight/Before we start a war/How many wounds will open/Before the first blood falls").

One subject that has appeared more frequently in Alarm lyrics, that started with the previous album, Eye of The Hurricane, is love. From being lost in love in "Love Don't Come Easy" and "Sold Me Down A River," ("Love's the drug that I live by/Give me a shot before I die") to the unbreakable and indescribable bond between two people ("I am devoted to you/Like the sea to the shore/Like the tree to the forest/I can't live without you/A river can't live without water").

All these lyrics sound too involved, it is rich and powerful music that gives the lyrics a subtle tone and lets you enjoy the songs. Dave Sharp is at his best on guitar, technically, and giving the album a fresh sound by varying his guitar approach on each song. Mike Peters strums the acoustic guitar while singing his cries for help and hope, and Eddie Macdonald on bass and Twist pounding the drums lay down a powerful base.

Perhaps the best thing about Change, however, is when listening, you can almost hear how incredible these songs will sound live. The Alarm are noted for their live shows and if you've never seen them, make a point, it is truly an incredible and uplifting event for anyone.

Although there are not as many "anthems" as on past releases, songs like "Black Sun" and "Change II" are sure to make the set list as electric as ever, Overall, this is an album for anyone, waiting he listened to...and loved.

COMING EVENTS

Music: Faculty recital...Don Butterfield will perform on his tuba on Nov. 2 at 8 p.m., McEachern Music Building Recital Hall, Free. Call: 783-7219.

MSC Symphony Orchestra...Oscar Ravina, conductor; Jannet Cornell and Patrick Burns will perform works from Mozart, Haydn, and Krommer on clarinet on Nov. 5 at 3 p.m., Park Theatre, Union City. Tickets: $15, $10, and $8, half-priced for senior citizens. Free. Call: Box Office, 865-6980.

MSC Choir...Jack Sacher, conductor. Nov. 18 at 8 p.m., Glenfield School Auditorium, 25 Maple Ave., Montclair, Admission by donation. Call: 893-7219.

Dance: Edna St. Vincent Millay Takes the Six O'clock Train. a dance/theatre work will be performed Nov. 2-4 at 8 p.m., Morehead Hall Dance Studio. Tickets: $3 general admission; $2.50 for senior citizens, MSC faculty, staff and alumni; $2 student with MSC ID. Call Box Office, 893-5112.

The Alchemedians...Nov. 17 and 18 at 8 p.m., Memorial Auditorium. Tickets: $14 general admission; $12 senior citizens; $6 student with MSC ID. Call Box Office, 893-5112.

Theatre: Moonchildren...by Michael Weller will be performed in the Studio Theater Nov. 9-11 and 16-18 at 8 p.m. Tickets: $3 general admission; $2.50 for senior citizens, MSC faculty, staff and alumni; $2 student with MSC ID. Call Box Office, 893-5112.

Fine Arts: Art Forum...Fiber Artist Inese Birstins will discuss her works on Nov. 2 from 3-5 p.m. at Calica Fine Arts Building Auditorium. Free. Call series coordinator Patricia Lay at 893-7295.

College Art Gallery Exhibits...Tuesday through Thursday, 10 a.m.-4 p.m.; Friday, Saturday, 1-4 p.m.; College Art Gallery, Life Hall. Free. Call: Dr. Lorenzo Pace, director of galleries 893-5113. Modern Trivialization of Ancient Art, an exhibit curated by Susi Coln and students. Through Nov. 12.

Dance: The Alchemedians...Nov. 17 and 18 at 8 p.m., Memorial Auditorium. Tickets: $14 general admission; $12 senior citizens; $6 student with MSC ID. Call Box Office, 893-5112.

Music: Faculty recital...Don Butterfield will perform on his tuba on Nov. 2 at 8 p.m., McEachern Music Building Recital Hall, Free. Call: 783-7219.

MSC Symphony Orchestra...Oscar Ravina, conductor; Jannet Cornell and Patrick Burns will perform works from Mozart, Haydn, and Krommer on clarinet on Nov. 5 at 3 p.m., Park Theatre, Union City. Tickets: $15, $10, and $8, half-priced for senior citizens. Free. Call: Box Office, 865-6980.

MSC Choir...Jack Sacher, conductor. Nov. 18 at 8 p.m., Glenfield School Auditorium, 25 Maple Ave., Montclair, Admission by donation. Call: 893-7219.

Dance: Edna St. Vincent Millay Takes the Six O'clock Train. a dance/theatre work will be performed Nov. 2-4 at 8 p.m., Morehead Hall Dance Studio. Tickets: $3 general admission; $2.50 for senior citizens, MSC faculty, staff and alumni; $2 student with MSC ID. Call Box Office, 893-5112.

The Alchemedians...Nov. 17 and 18 at 8 p.m., Memorial Auditorium. Tickets: $14 general admission; $12 senior citizens; $6 student with MSC ID. Call Box Office, 893-5112.

Theatre: Moonchildren...by Michael Weller will be performed in the Studio Theater Nov. 9-11 and 16-18 at 8 p.m. Tickets: $3 general admission; $2.50 for senior citizens, MSC faculty, staff and alumni; $2 student with MSC ID. Call Box Office, 893-5112.

Fine Arts: Art Forum...Fiber Artist Inese Birstins will discuss her works on Nov. 2 from 3-5 p.m. at Calica Fine Arts Building Auditorium. Free. Call series coordinator Patricia Lay at 893-7295.

College Art Gallery Exhibits...Tuesday through Thursday, 10 a.m.-4 p.m.; Friday, Saturday, 1-4 p.m.; College Art Gallery, Life Hall. Free. Call: Dr. Lorenzo Pace, director of galleries 893-5113. Modern Trivialization of Ancient Art, an exhibit curated by Susi Coln and students. Through Nov. 12.

Dance: The Alchemedians...Nov. 17 and 18 at 8 p.m., Memorial Auditorium. Tickets: $14 general admission; $12 senior citizens; $6 student with MSC ID. Call Box Office, 893-5112.

Music: Faculty recital...Don Butterfield will perform on his tuba on Nov. 2 at 8 p.m., McEachern Music Building Recital Hall, Free. Call: 783-7219.

MSC Symphony Orchestra...Oscar Ravina, conductor; Jannet Cornell and Patrick Burns will perform works from Mozart, Haydn, and Krommer on clarinet on Nov. 5 at 3 p.m., Park Theatre, Union City. Tickets: $15, $10, and $8, half-priced for senior citizens. Free. Call: Box Office, 865-6980.

MSC Choir...Jack Sacher, conductor. Nov. 18 at 8 p.m., Glenfield School Auditorium, 25 Maple Ave., Montclair, Admission by donation. Call: 893-7219.

Dance: Edna St. Vincent Millay Takes the Six O'clock Train. a dance/theatre work will be performed Nov. 2-4 at 8 p.m., Morehead Hall Dance Studio. Tickets: $3 general admission; $2.50 for senior citizens, MSC faculty, staff and alumni; $2 student with MSC ID. Call Box Office, 893-5112.

The Alchemedians...Nov. 17 and 18 at 8 p.m., Memorial Auditorium. Tickets: $14 general admission; $12 senior citizens; $6 student with MSC ID. Call Box Office, 893-5112.

Theatre: Moonchildren...by Michael Weller will be performed in the Studio Theater Nov. 9-11 and 16-18 at 8 p.m. Tickets: $3 general admission; $2.50 for senior citizens, MSC faculty, staff and alumni; $2 student with MSC ID. Call Box Office, 893-5112.

Fine Arts: Art Forum...Fiber Artist Inese Birstins will discuss her works on Nov. 2 from 3-5 p.m. at Calica Fine Arts Building Auditorium. Free. Call series coordinator Patricia Lay at 893-7295.
comics

Calvin and Hobbes

By Bill Watterson

Sometime. I think the bustle down that intelligent little streeet, elsewhere in the universe, is that none of it has tried to contact us.

Mother Goose and Grimm

By Mike Peters

I think it wants a sacrificial.

Outland

By Berkeley Breathed

Ooh, I've walked with the Lamb... but I've been doosed by the Devil!!
-To W.W.: DEKE$ definitely walk at a "pace" which is a step ahead of the rest! Love, I.W.

-To Felicia: Regarding past gestures, it is time to stop joking. What will it be? It is either black or white. There are too many people confused in that large grey area, because they did not take a chance.

-Chris

-To the guy who put in the personal about the girl in the bookstore: What girl are you talking about?

-Mark

-Boy I wish January would get here soon - or should I be hoping for a different month? Whenever it is I will be happy - forever yours, your honey-bunny.

-To the Queens: push, push, wedge, burp, fart, and of course Evil Karina, gotta love being a queen.

-Al.

-You bunster!!!! -Maria

-To lose you. Please forgive me. I love you lately? How about jumping in puddles?

-Mimi

-you mind if we quit? The entire Editor Staff.

-Goodbyes "Goofy"! You need more

-Janine: 102 Couper! We don't have a

-Brian: I'm so glad we're together!!

-Liz: Do you think that "squeeze song" is for me? I love you so much! Love, Leeann

-Jane: When

-Kim: "INTENSE"..."Excuse me. Why are we here?"

-Jeff: 215, 236, 315...Somebody loves you!!!

-Mr. Turtle Esq.: Never get a job in a gas station - you can't give directions!

-Edgar

-Jane- You're the best friend I've ever had!! Luv ya! Your Soul Sister.

-Jen

-To my little Sharyn: I knew you could do it - you've given us fun. Love ya, Your big Chrissy

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-Tim: We've hit New York - I think we're doing great.

-Jen, Wendy, & Susan, my three Amigo's, College wouldn't be the same without you guys! Love Cool Dave.

-It is not required to wear a hat to be in ZBT, but it is preferred.

-Sonia: Latin month will be great - You'll see. Love, Ramona(LASO, V.P.)

-Carmela: I'll be your date for the ball. Come on, can you do any better? (Uh...think again) You know who! I.W.: is the deep freeze over yet? W.W: Karr 5 whole days?? How are we going to make it? I'll miss you lots! Love, Jen

-Wen, Hill, & Kinny: Thanks for the great time on Saturday. I love you! AIX! 496

-Henry A.: Shut up already! -The

-Banana: Happy Birthday! How about some Cuervo Gold? Arizona should love the new world of "pulp" Love ya, Your Flying Partner

-Stace, Wasn't it you who asked me how we were falling over. Love ya-

-J: I know Uncle Chris is older than me, I have never felt so young. Love ya, Your Hying Partner

-Others

-You guys! AIX #90

-To my buddies Ann & Michele: We're great. Love, sister Beth

-Jen, Wendy, & Susan, My three

-Love ya, Your Hying Partner

-Ears-I don't think Kate was between

-To my big-I'm sorry about last week's problem you were having. Liz, Taran, and Michele

-Think, thanks for taking care of that B.B. problem you were having. Liz, Taran, and Michele

-Sorry! What's shakin'? Did Linus see the Great Pumpkin? I hope you got lots of candy-Lucy

-B.B., the Shavedone, and Mohawk.-What a combination!

-Do I know you? Lars

-To all the happy women on the van

-To the Alpha pledge class of Sigma Delta Phi: As strong as ever!! -Mr. V.P. Internal.

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To my little bros: Danny and Rob, make me proud of you guys!! Your big, Joe

-To my little Sharyn: I knew you could do it - you've given us fun. Love ya, Your big Chrissy

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth

-To the AIX pledges: After today only one more week to go. You're doing great. Love, sister Beth DON'T BUY IVORY!

Of 1.5 million elephants in Africa in 1979, fewer than 700,000 remain

Poachers armed with modern automatic rifles are massacring African elephants across the continent. Their tusks cruelly hacked off for sale in the International Illegal Market for Ivory.

The United States consumes one-third of the total exports of ivory from Hong Kong, which is the largest exporter of worked ivory in the world.

HELP SAVE THE AFRICAN ELEPHANTS FROM EXTINCTION BY REFUSING TO BUY ITEMS MADE WITH IVORY!

For more information call - World Wildlife Fund (202) 293-4800

Provided as a public service message by the Conservation Club and The Montclarion, both Class One organizations of the SGA.
STARTS MONDAY

PRINCETON'S GIANTS STADIUM

SKI SHOW & SALE
Nov. 6th-11th

FEATURING: MORE THAN $10,000,000 WORTH OF THE FINEST SKI CLOTHING & EQUIPMENT BY THE BIGGEST NAMES IN THE BUSINESS

- ROSSIGNOL
- CLB
- OLIN
- ELAN
- MARKER
- HEIERLING
- K-2
- RAICHLE
- NORDICA
- OBERMEYER
- HEAD
- DØGNER
- ROFFE
- LOOK
- LANGE
- DESCENTE
- FISCHER AND MUCH MORE...

FREE ADMISSION
TO NEW YORK AND NEW JERSEY'S LARGEST SKI SHOW FEATURING EXHIBITORS FROM:
- AMERICAN AIRLINES
- SHAWNEE MOUNTAIN
- STATE OF CONNECTICUT
- ALPINE MOUNTAIN
- MONTAGE
- DEER RUN
- CAVALCADE SKI TOURS
- SKI CARD INTERNATIONAL
- SKI TIME TOURS
- VERNON VALLEY

EVERYTHING AT SAVINGS UP TO 80% WHY PAY MORE?
OFF REGULAR PRICES!

Don't Miss Out!

| Mon. Nov. 6 | Noon-Mid. |
| Tues. Nov. 7 | 10am-Mid. |
| Wed. Nov. 8 | 10am-Mid. |
| Thurs. Nov. 9 | 10am-Mid. |
| Fri. Nov. 10 | 10am-Mid. |
| Sat. Nov. 11 | 10am-8pm |

RAIN OR SHINE IN THE GIANTS STADIUM CLUB

PRINCETON SKI SHOPS

700 ROUTE 3 WEST
Clifton, NJ
(201) 779-7100

ROUTE 9A
Elmsford, NY
(914) 592-4141

1401 NORTHERN BLVD.
Manhasset, LI
(516) 627-6553

WE GUARANTEE THE LOWEST PRICES... OR YOUR MONEY BACK!
Behind every great team are the unsung heroes whose skill and dependability are only appreciated by the coaches and athletes they attend; the team simply known as the athletic trainers.

The student trainers, under the direction of John Davis, are responsible for looking out for the health and well-being of the athletes of MSC. Their tasks range from basic taping to being responsible for evaluating injuries, setting up programs for rehabilitation, and working with the latest technology and equipment of the expanding field of sports medicine.

“We spend more hours in the Athletic Department than anyone else,” said Davis. “The student trainers arrive before football camp in August, and work with the various teams and coaches until our baseball which ends in June.”

The students involved with the training program are required to spend many hours in the classroom learning about the anatomy, nutrition, and prevention of injury methodology. “But the real understanding comes from experience gained from attending the athletes.”

“MSC is one of the best starting programs for athletic training because you have more hands-on experience,” said Teresa Marcinkiewicz, (better known as T. in the training room). Most schools make you wait two years before you touch anybody, here you begin to learn a lot on your own from working with the athletes every day.”

The trainers attend every football game and practice along with the team doctors, and have ensured that injuries to players like Dan Walsh and Paul Cioffi are treated correctly. “The trainers do a great job,” said head football coach Giancola. “We have a lot of confidence in their ability, and appreciate all the time and effort they give to the players before, during, and after the season.”

The varsity soccer coach, Dave Massar, whose team won the N.J.A.C. this past weekend, said that the athletic trainers are “a necessity to any successful team, and MSC has one of the best.”

According to a report made by the team doctors, the athletic trainers attended 250 contests, 630 practices, spent 11,000 man hours in the training room, and gave 2,000 treatments last year. The result from working with the injured athletes to save the Athletic department’s insurance policy over $160,000.

“MSC is lucky because it is one of the original athletic training schools in the country,” said Davis. The Panzer school, which became part of MSC, started one of the first student trainer programs in the mid ’70s.

The field of sports training and sports medicine have expanded in the 80’s, and the demand for qualified personnel has increased.

“There are not enough athletic trainers in the country; only about 15% of all high schools have them,” said Davis.

“It’s hard to find a position as an athletic trainer in the pros,” said Tom Cutillo, a senior who worked as an assistant trainer with the Giants. “Each team has several doctors and trainers that are paid well, enjoy their job and are reluctant to leave.”

The student trainers of MSC enjoy their job and feel that they are “one big happy family.” It is an enormous comfort for the athletes to know that they have qualified trainers in their corner to ensure their safety and to help them maximize their athletic potential.

MSC Trainers

The cancellation of Class V organizations, and the takeover of the Athletic Department, left the ski team unsure of what would be available in terms of MSC funding.

I spoke with sports information director Al Langer this past week about the confused state of funding affairs.

“Funding is under discussion and a meeting has been scheduled for further discussion on the topic,” said Langer. “The MSC ski team will be funded,” stipulated Langer.

Al Langer, who has been the Sports Information Director here at MSC since January of 1988, pointed out the advantages the ski team will inherit with its transfer.

“It makes more sense switching these organizations to our department because now they are eligible for NCAA assistance. Assistance with eligibility requirements and physical examination,” said Langer.

“The ski team now has full use of the training facilities, weight rooms, and trainers rooms. All facilities the varsity programs receive, are now part of the ski teams options,” concluded Langer.

The Red Hawk Ski Team is a program that has done nothing but win over the last few years. But why hasn’t the recognition, seen anywhere else?

“They are reluctant to leave.”

It’s hard to find a position as an athletic trainer in the pros,” said Tom Cutillo, a senior who worked as an assistant trainer with the Giants. “Each team has several doctors and trainers that are paid well, enjoy their job and are reluctant to leave.”

The student trainers of MSC enjoy their job and feel that they are “one big happy family.” It is an enormous comfort for the athletes to know that they have qualified trainers in their corner to ensure their safety and to help them maximize their athletic potential.

MSC Training

The training schedule includes dry land training; getting in shape by building up your physical endurance to avoid injuries. Dry land training consists of running to build up your legs and to improve your balance, and to get in overall top physical condition.

“Too be mentally ready, just as in any competitive sport, is the most important step at this time of the year. Team unity is needed.”

Funding for the Red Hawk Ski Team has been under discussion ever since the Student Government Association (SGA) cancelled Class V organizations last year. The ski team, along with the hockey team, women’s soccer team, and bowling team, were unclear as to what funding would be available for the upcoming season.

Upon cancellation of Class V organizations, the Athletic Department took over responsibility for these programs.

“Athletic Fees were increased and the SGA felt that the sports teams would be more interested in the Athletic Department,” said SGA president Mary Jane Limlehan.

The training for the upcoming season is already underway. Meetings are scheduled for every Monday night at 9 p.m. in room 402 of the student center.

Chip Shots

by Michael Walsmey

MSC Spotlight

by Anthony DiPasquale

By Michael Walsmey

Sports Editor

The MSC Red Tailed Hawks Ski Team might not be as well known here on campus as they are on the slopes in California and Minnesota. “We’ve represented our college on the national level for the past four consecutive seasons,” said ski team member Amy Rakowski.

The MSC ski team is a program that has done nothing but win over the last few years. But why hasn’t the recognition, seen anywhere else, said Davis. “The student trainers arrive before football camp in August, and work with the various teams and coaches until our baseball which ends in June.”

The past two seasons has ended on a positive note for MSC. Participating in the National Championships with teams from Penn State, BYU, University of Colorado, and Boston College, to name a few, is an honor,” said Rakowski.

“All the hard work, time, and effort has paid off with our previous success,” added Rakowski.

The training for the upcoming season is already underway. Meetings are scheduled for every Monday night at 9 p.m. in room 402 of the student center.

The training schedule includes dry land training; getting in shape by building up your physical endurance to avoid injuries. Dry land training consists of running to build up your legs and to improve your balance, and to get in overall top physical condition.

“Too be mentally ready, just as in any competitive sport, is the most important step at this time of the year. Team unity is needed.”

Funding for the Red Hawk Ski Team has been under discussion ever since the Student Government Association (SGA) cancelled Class V organizations last year. The ski team, along with the hockey team, women’s soccer team, and bowling team, were unclear as to what funding would be available for the upcoming season.

Upon cancellation of Class V organizations, the Athletic Department took over responsibility for these programs.

“Athletic Fees were increased and the SGA felt that the sports teams would be more interested in the Athletic Department,” said SGA president Mary Jane Limlehan.

The cancellation of Class V organizations, and the takeover of the Athletic Department, left the ski team unsure of what would be available in terms of MSC funding.

I spoke with sports information director Al Langer this past week about the confused state of funding affairs.

“Funding is under discussion and a meeting has been scheduled for further discussion on the topic,” said Langer. “The MSC ski team will be funded,” stipulated Langer.

Al Langer, who has been the Sports Information Director here at MSC since January of 1988, pointed out the advantages the ski team will inherit with its transfer.

“It makes more sense switching these organizations to our department because now they are eligible for NCAA assistance. Assistance with eligibility requirements and physical examinations,” said Langer.

“The ski team now has full use of the training facilities, weight rooms, and trainers rooms. All facilities the varsity programs receive, are now part of the ski teams options,” concluded Langer.
The Devils Weekly

by Michael Walmley
Sports Editor

The Devils finally won a game at home this past Saturday night, defeating the Chicago Blackhawks by the score of 3-2.

The victory was a much needed confidence booster, as the Devils left Monday on a road trip to play in Vancouver on Tuesday night.

Before the victory over the Blackhawks on Saturday, the Devils were blown out at home Thursday night by ex-Devil, Pat Verbeek, and the Hartford Whalers.

Verbeek scored a goal against his former mates, as the Whalers defeated the Devils by the score of 7-3.

Goals for the Devils came from Jim Korn, Aaron Broten, and Mark Johnson. Johnson's goal gave the Devils a second period, 3-2 lead. But the Whalers totally outplayed the Devils the rest of the game. Scoring five unanswered goals and beating the Devils' goalie Sean Burke for only the second time this year. The therapist must be waiting for the check to clear.

The Devils rebounded on Saturday night beating the Chicago Blackhawks, who seemed close to putting the Devils away in the first period, by the score of 3-2.

The fantastic goaltending of Chris Terreri kept the Devils in the game as they decided to wake up. Terreri posted the victory in net.

Patrick Sundstrom, Brendan Shanahan, and Walt Poddubny scored for the Devils. The win was important as the Devils left on a three game road trip after the game. The Devils play in Vancouver, Edmonton, and Calgary before they return home on Wednesday, Nov. 8, to play the Quebec Nordiques. Before I get ahead of myself, I'd like to elaborate on one of the goal scorers from Saturday's win over Chicago.

Walt Poddubny added his third goal, in only limited playing time this year, on Saturday night. A strong back has left Poddubny on the trainer's table for a majority of the games this season.

This summer GM Lou Lamarrillo traded Joe Cicirello and Claude Loiselle to Quebec to obtain Poddubny, Lamarillo, in making the trade, expected veteran leadership and goal production from the forward. And early on, Lamarillo was getting what he traded for.

Spring training started well for Poddubny and Jim Schoenfeld was happy with his leadership and production so far.

For the New Jersey Devils to win this year, they need production out of Poddubny and Sylvain Turgeon.

Turgeon has been healthy and getting the chance to produce. The problem with Turgeon is, it's not injury, it's he's not producing. Poddubny's situation is different.

Most goals Poddubny doesn't know if he's ging to play or not until pre-game warm-ups. What a tough way to mentally prepare yourself for the game. The word from the Devils organization is that "Poddubny's back is feeling better, and is available to play at this time."

If Poddubny's back strengthens, and Walt can start to play consistently, the Devils will surely benefit in the win...
MSC soccer team wins title

By Jon Capristo
Staff Writer

The MSC soccer team has done it! They managed to defeat Rutgers Newark on Friday night, making them the conference champs. “This was the biggest game of the season,” said Rob Chesney, “and we played as hard as we could.” MSC thrashed their opponent by the score of 5-1. Charlie Smith opened the scoring for MSC after he received a pass from Bill Bustamante. Smith one timed the ball off of his right foot and into the net. “It was a real pretty goal to watch,” said captain Roger Rubinetti, “the goalie really didn’t have a chance because of the quickness of Smith with his nice hard, low shot.”

MSC’s next sequence of events were as follows: a penalty shot was awarded after a Rutgers player touched the ball with his hand inside of the goalie box; Rob Chesney was elected to shoot the ball, as he has done before; Chesney fired the ball to the right side of the cage and the goalie made a spectacular save to keep the game close. “A big save like that can bring a surge, Rutgers scored a goal of their own on a penalty kick.”

Finally, after MSC’s five goal surge, Rutgers scored a goal of their own with a two point conversion but it didn’t have paid off at a better time.”

“We were so pumped up after that goal,” said Rubinetti, “that we knew we put the game in the bag.”

Put the game in the bag is exactly what MSC continued to do as they scored twice more. Once from Antonio Alcaldaide and the other from Chesney who redeemed his missed penalty shot by blasting a direct kick off of the cross bar and into the cage.

“Put the game in the bag is exactly what MSC continued to do as they scored twice more. Once from Antonio Alcaldaide and the other from Chesney who redeemed his missed penalty shot by blasting a direct kick off of the cross bar and into the cage.”

MSC soccer humors fans at championship game goal for MSC was beat on the play.

Coach Masur was pleased with his team’s performance. “They really know when to pour it on,” said Masur, “and I’m pleased that Harrington is developing into a steady goalie.”

Masur adds, “Harrington is playing with confidence and we’re confident with him.”

Harrington is a freshman goalie who struggled early in the season. However, he has maintained a steady improvement as he finished the regular season winning 12 games and losing only three. MSC had one more regular season game on Tuesday against FDU Madison. In this particular game, Coach Masur avoided starting as many regular players as he could. “This was a great opportunity to see what the rest of the guys can do,” said Masur. “They always come to practice and work really hard and Tuesday’s game was...”

Hawks tie Lions

By Mike Cohen
Staff Writer

In one of the most exciting games of the year, Trenton State(TSC) quarterback, Darin Roberts, scored on a 10 yard run with no time remaining in the game to enable the Lions to tie MSC 31-31. TSC had the opportunity to go for the win with a two point conversion but elected to go for the tie and kicked the extra point.

The Red Hawks had taken a 7 point lead, with 1:07 to go in the game, when Ed Baffige hit Kelvin Lindsey from 6 yards out. Baffige then threw to Amod Field for the two point conversion and made the score 31-24 MSC.

MSC’s defense made several key mistakes in the game, the worst of which led to a Lion touchdown. With 27 seconds left in the first half, TSC was lined up for a field goal attempt and MSC jumped off-side making it 4th and inches. The Lions then decided to go for it and Darin Roberts threw an 11 yard TD pass to Billy Donoghue and gave TSC a 16-14 lead.

Ed Baffige and Amod Field then combined on a long pass that enabled Mike Attardi to kick a 37 yard field goal with 8 seconds left in the half and give the Red Hawks a 17-16 halftime lead.

TSC jumped on the scoreboard first in the second half when Darin Roberts threw a 41 yard touchdown pass to Anthony Johnson. The two point conversion was good and the Lions led 24-17. Ed Baffige continued his brilliant passing by hitting...