Freeman cafeteria still closed

By Renee McDonnell
Staff Writer

The Freeman Hall cafeteria will not be open until Nov. 1 due to a $200,000 remodeling project which will update and expand facilities to serve 226 students.

Freeman Hall, which previously served 175 people, needed renovations to modernize dining facilities. This will provide service for a larger campus population following the enactment of MSC's five year construction plan which will convert Russ and Chapin Halls into dormitories, said Kevin Rakowsky, assistant director of residence life.

The cafeteria was supposed to open on Sept. 24, but due to complications in construction such as the roof leaking and the necessity to remove asbestos, the date was moved back. Rakowsky said the delay is due to the fact that the construction companies can not all work at the same time and one must wait for the other to finish.

Construction that began in August includes painting, wallpapering, installation of ceramic floors and carpeting, new beverage and condiment stations, new ceiling and lighting and new tables and chairs in the dining area, said Rakowsky.

Douglas Cooper, one of the residence life faculty members, said there are four construction companies that are doing the work: P.C. Staedler, G.W. Verzi, Leroy Nunnery and a fourth that has yet to be chosen.

Rakowsky also said that other than the average six minute walk to the cafeterias on the opposite end of campus, the 229 residents living in Freeman Hall are feeling no discomforts due to the close of the cafeteria and that the Student Center and Blanton Hall dining facilities are fully prepared to service the extra people.

The cafeteria will offer the same dining services as the rest of the campus except for the possibility of serving brunch on weekdays in the new cafeteria; an option unavailable anywhere else on campus. A continental breakfast would be served before classes and brunch would be served at 10:45 a.m. Dinner services will be open until 11:30 p.m.

The Freeman Hall cafeteria will not be available anywhere else on campus. A continental breakfast would be served before classes and brunch would be served at 10:45 a.m. Dinner services will be open until 11:30 p.m.

Anti-CIA lecturer cancelled

By Peter S. Rebovich Jr.
Staff Writer

Philip Agee, an ex-CIA agent, was unable to attend a S.T.A.N.D. sponsored lecture last Tuesday night at MSC. Agee postponed his 20-city lecture tour due to passport difficulties.

According to a spokesman for Agee, Stuart Hutchinson, Agee's Nicaraguan passport was revoked about two weeks ago. Agee would be allowed into the U.S. but without any valid passport, he might not be able to leave. Hutchinson read parts of Agee's statement but had to leave out most of it. This was done at the advice of Agee's lawyer who feared it may jeopardize a future case involving Agee's passport.

In place of Agee, Alexander Cockburn, a columnist for In These Times and The Nation, and Laura Flanders, a broadcaster on radio station WBAI, lectured to 150 people in the Student Center Ballrooms for two and a half hours.

Flanders spoke about the role of women in relation to current events. The U.S. media has overlooked many important aspects in the treatment of women soldiers now in the Middle East, Flanders said. Some of the problems she cited were: the chaperoning of women soldiers by Arab women while shopping, restrictive dress codes requiring women to wear long-sleeved clothing even in hot desert conditions, and the segregation of women soldiers.

The last speaker, Cockburn, spent the rest of his lecture speaking about the Middle East crisis. He traced the situation from the origins of the conflict between Iraq and Kuwait to the present.

Cockburn does not support U.S. build-up and stated that the conflict can be resolved without the use of military force. "The rich men start the war, but the poor people fight it," Cockburn said.
NOTICE TO ALL CURRENTLY ENROLLED STUDENTS WHO WILL BE RETURNING IN THE WINTER OR SPRING 1991 SEMESTERS

Registration for the Winter and Spring 1991 will occur simultaneously between October 16-November 1, 1990

All students who are enrolled for the Fall 1990 and who are eligible to return for the Spring 1991 will have a Registration Appointment Card mailed to their home address during the week of October 1, 1990. STUDENTS LIVING IN THE RESIDENCE LIFE HALLS OR IN THE CLOVE ROAD APARTMENTS SHOULD MAKE ARRANGEMENTS TO OBTAIN THEIR MAIL FROM THEIR HOME ADDRESSES

Undergraduates students who are currently enrolled for 12 or more credits will be assigned an in person registration appointment date and time. Undergraduate students who are currently enrolled for fewer than 12 credits and Graduate students will be assigned a range of dates during which they should submit their registration form and Appointment Card to the Office of Registrar.

Cards will not be generated for students who are on the January 1991 Graduation list. Students who are graduating in January and who wish to register for Winter and Spring 1991 courses should contact the Office of Registrar at 893-4376, for direction.

Students who do not fulfill their Basic Skills requirements and students who have an outstanding financial obligation to the College will not be sent their cards. These students must report to either the Basic Skills Office or the Business Office to obtain their card.

YOU MUST HAVE THIS CARD IN ORDER TO REGISTER. No one will be permitted into the registration site without a Registration Appointment Card. Registration forms submitted to the office will not be processed without the Registration Appointment Card attached.

PLEASE READ THE SPRING AND WINTER 1991 SCHEDULE OF COURSES BOOK CAREFULLY!!!

It will be available after October 3, 1990, and it will contain the list of Winter and Spring 1991 course offerings.

You should use the registration form that is in the Schedule of Courses book. It is for both Winter and Spring registration. The Registration Appointment Card, together with this form, will serve as your personal registration packet. Advisement should be obtained prior to registration.
Six cars broken into on first day of October

By William C. Hendrixson
Staff Writer

- Oct. 1, between 8 a.m. and 7:45 p.m. a 1981 Oldsmobile had its hood ornament ripped off.
- Oct. 1, between 9 a.m. and 2 p.m. a 1984 Nissan 300 had its door locks damaged in an attempt to steal it. Nothing was missing.
- Oct. 1, between 11:50 a.m. and 2 p.m. a 1976 Chevy was broken into in lot 30. The door locks were broken and a cup containing loose change and several crystals was missing.
- Oct. 1, between 9 a.m. and 9:30 p.m. a 1981 Oldsmobile had its hood ornament ripped off.
- Oct. 1, between 11:30 a.m. and 3:40 p.m. a 1985 Ford in lot 25 was broken into. Although nothing was stolen, the door locks were removed and the car was apparently rummaged through.
- Oct. 1, between 12 p.m. and 3 p.m. a female Bohm Hall resident reported being harassed by a then unknown male. One of the females alone in her room sleeping heard someone enter the room. She assumed it was her roommate and paid no heed. When her roommate returned, a note was found on the floor stating that “he has been watching them through the window.” Hours later they heard more noise and discovered a second note under the door similar to the first one. Apparently the note was a love letter of sorts, but was mistakenly sent to the wrong room. The male, a student, was identified and no action was taken.

Stolen Property:
- Sept. 27 at 9:30 p.m. a female student left her notebook in a classroom and it was stolen. It contained personal items and $75 cash.
- Oct. 1 at 2 a.m. two Blanton residents had their clothes stolen from a drier in the 4th floor lounge. They estimated the loss at a $310 value.

Maintenance:
- Sept. 29 at 11:25 p.m. a female student, her boyfriend and her father, while returning from a movie, noticed they were being followed by an unidentified vehicle. The father panicked and backed into the vehicle in lot 28, and 2 occupants of that car got out and started a fight with the father. When the girl’s boyfriend got inside his car, the occupant of a third car, which was in front of them, got out and assaulted the boyfriend. The assaulters fled in their cars before Campus Police arrived. The only description the victims could supply was a possible make of one of the cars, that being a tan jeep, with a “Sierra” printed on the back tire cover.
- Sept. 28 between 12:45 and 2 p.m. two female Bohm Hall residents reported being harassed by a then unknown male. One of the females alone in her room sleeping heard someone enter the room. She assumed it was her roommate and paid no heed. When her roommate returned, a note was found on the floor stating that “he has been watching them through the window.” Hours later they heard more noise and discovered a second note under the door similar to the first one. Apparently the note was a love letter of sorts, but was mistakenly sent to the wrong room. The male, a student, was identified and no action was taken.

SGA News:

A d ministration forgets the furniture

George Obchowski
Staff Writer

The administration has proposed to scratch the access road that would surround the campus and a new receiving area for the school to do. Plus it will probably cut down on my smoking habit.

Richardson Hall has three floors, and Partridge Hall has four. Are we going to keep on getting only half buildings?

The implementation of a new ban on smoking at NJIT which took effect Aug. 20 proved to be a very successful transition. Most of the 7,800 students and 1,000 faculty and staff in the campus community have supported the new policy, designed to establish a healthy and smoke-free environment.

According to Manny Thomas, Vice President of Human Resources, the response to the smoking ban has been overwhelmingly positive. Objections have been raised by a handful of faculty and staff who feel their privileges have been violated, but so far, no instances of violating the ban have been reported.

Thomas himself was a heavy smoker, but has committed himself to a smokeless pipe since 1986. Since the ban, he has encountered a few individuals who have used information available in various programs to give up the addiction for good.

The university will soon have its very own program to help those who need help to give up the smoking habit. The Smoking Cessation Program will be launched soon after the staff members have completed their training period.

Overall, said Lisa Bartolo, Coordinator of Human Resource Employment, the non-smoking sector of the student body who feels that their rights have been violated. Students are allowed to smoke only in their private rooms, with the consent of their roommates. They are paired on the basis of a prior questionnaire regarding smoking. Choonoo has noticed no changes in student interaction and socialization owing to the ban on smoking, but he has seen most smoking students hanging outside the building premises for cigarette breaks.

Some students feel that the new policy is too restrictive. Senior Arslan Nayeen said that “I feel that I have been forced to give up my privilege. Now I have to walk out of the building for a cigarette break and it is absurd especially when one has to walk out of the cafeteria.”

The implementation of a new ban on smoking at NJIT which took effect Aug. 20 proved to be a very successful transition. Most of the 7,800 students and 1,000 faculty and staff in the campus community have supported the new policy, designed to establish a healthy and smoke-free environment.

Another non-smoker, junior IE Fredrick Ferron, noted that while “it’s easier to survive and breathe in a smoke-free environment, there should be a smoking section in the cafeteria.”

Sophomore Judy Robinson, a smoker, said that “the non-smokers’ rights should be considered above the smokers’. Most smokers can deal with waiting for their breaks to smoke. If they can’t, and they can’t care about their bodies, then they should consider cutting down.”

Some students feel that the new policy is too restrictive. Senior Arslan Nayeen said that “I feel that I have been forced to give up my privilege. Now I have to walk out of the building for a cigarette break and it is absurd especially when one has to walk out of the cafeteria.”

The university will soon have its very own program to help those who need help to give up the smoking habit. The Smoking Cessation Program will be launched soon after the staff members have completed their training period.

Overall, the smoking ban has not only provided a smoke-free, healthy and clean environment for non-smokers, but has also helped the smokers control the addiction, which to an extent, has become vital for the majority.

TKE organizes support for troops in Middle East

By R.A. Campos
News Editor

Banner which will be located in the Student Center mall or in the commuter cafeteria.

Whicker said they hope to get as many signatures as possible and if the banner gets filled then they will just sew another to it.

Whicker also said they are informing their other 338 chapters to see if they can get every chapter in the nation to do the same.

“Every student does not support the conflict they could at least sign the banner to show support for our people who are in the Middle East for us,” said Acocello.

On October 5, the Campus Police database will be updated. Students can update the database by going to the Campus Police website and filling out the form. Students can also contact Campus Police at 973-642-8080.

The banner will be either in the Student Center mall or commuter cafeteria until Friday, Oct. 5.
Homecoming ’90!

Kickin' In The New Decade!

October 8 - 13

Monday: Joe Morris
Lectures on the NFL
8pm St. Center Ballrooms

Tuesday: Comedy Show
8pm St. Center Ballrooms

Wednesday: Fall Fest 11-3
Student Center Ballrooms
Outdoors fun!

Robocop II 8:30 pm St. Center Ballrooms

Thursday: Lip Sync
8pm St. Center Ballrooms

Friday: Bonfire*Pep rally*Hayrides!
Floatbuilding! Lot’s 22-23

Saturday: Parade! Ilam
Valley Road, Upper Montclair
Football Game at 2:30

COME JOIN US!

CLUB is a class I of the SGA
FREE PEPSI
Monday Night Pizza & Football Special
Get 1 liter of Pepsi free with delivery of a pizza with one or more toppings.
893-5100
RATHSKELLER
Valid only for delivery, present coupon for free Pepsi.
FREE DELIVERY Monday - Thursday 7 - 9:30 pm
Barnes & Noble Cant. Bldg., New York City (211 ft)

ONE FREE TOPPING (Value $1.50)
with delivery of whole pizza
Pepperoni, Sausage, Mushroom
Onions, Peppers, Black Olives
893-5100
RATHSKELLER
Valid only for delivery, present coupon for discount.
FREE DELIVERY Monday - Thursday 7 - 9:30 pm
Barnes & Noble Cant. Bldg., New York City (211 ft)

ACTORS
COMMERCIAL PEOPLE
is searching for all types and ages to represent for T.V., Commercial, Films, Videos, Catalogue, and Runaway work. No experience or training required. NO FEE! Not a school or workshop.
Everyone Must Visit Our One Of Kind Agency Today. (212)-268-7818.

College Life Union Board Presents:
Homecoming '90
"Kickin' in the New Decade" with "Robocop II"
Wednesday, Oct. 10
Student Center Ballrooms
2 shows: 7:00 & 9:00 p.m.
FREE ADMISSION
CLUB is a Class I of the SGA

The last day for Speech Waiver registration is on Thursday Oct. 4, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and 6-8 p.m. The registration table is located outside room A-126 in Life Hall. Fee: $20. For further information, call Ruth Leopold at 893-4217.

The LSAT's (Law School Admission Test) will be held Oct. 6, on campus. Registration ends Oct. 5. Fee: $107. Applications are available at MSC's Career Services office, Student Center Annex, rm. 104. Call Law School Admissions at (215) 668-1001.

GRE's (Graduate Record Examination) are Oct. 17. Participant's must register by Oct. 7. The general test is given in the morning and subject tests are given in the afternoon. Fee: $60 each; $95 for both tests. Applications available at MSC's Career Services office. Call the Educational Testing Service at (609) 893-3067.

CLEP Workshops take place 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturdays until Dec. 1 in College Hall, rm. 121. The workshops offered are: Oct. 6 & 13: Mathematics, Oct. 20 & 27: Humanities. All workshops are offered consecutively, and are not repetitive. Fee: $3 per session. Call Alicia P. Savage at 893-4431.

The United States Marine Corps will be sponsoring a Flight Orientation Program on Thursday Oct. 11 from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Registration is Oct. 10 and 11 in the Student Center. Call 1-800-627-USMC for more information.

The Union for Lesbian, Gay, and Bisexual Concerns will meet every Monday at 4 p.m. in rm. 416 of the Student Center.

The first organizational meeting for a bike club will be held on October 9 at 4 p.m. in rm. 416 of the Student Center.

Anyone interested in performing volunteer work should contact the Volunteer Center of Greater Essex County at 622-5737. The center is a clearing house for volunteer organizations all over Essex County, and can match prospective volunteers' interests with organizations needing specific skills.

A Newman Supper will be held on Thursday Oct. 4 in the Newman Center at 5 p.m. Fee: $2. For more information call 893-7240.

The Newman Community Center will celebrate Mass on Sundays at 11:00 a.m. in Russ Hall, Kops Lounge at 7:00 p.m.

Lectures

"Korean War conscientious objector Daniel A. Seeger will speak on the theme of "Hearing and Obeying" at Montclair State's annual Fincher Memorial Lecture, taking place on Tuesday Oct. 9 at 7 p.m. in Russ Hall's Kops Lounge. The free lecture, sponsored by the Alumni Association, is in memory of Dr. Ernest B. Fincher, a 25 year veteran MSC political science faculty member who distinguished himself as a champion of world peace, the environment and other humanitarian causes.

"Cyprus in Crisis: Recent Research on the End of the Bronze Age," by Barbara King of the classics program, will be the Fall 1990 Archaeology Colloquium Series lecture. The free lecture will take place on Wednesday Oct. 10 at noon in Russ Hall's Kops Lounge. Sponsored by the Institute for the Humanities and the Archaeology Program (anthropology, classics, fine arts). Call 893-7516 for more information.

Seminars

"Iran: A Decade After the Revolution," an interdisciplinary conference by leading scholars of the Iranian economy, politics, society, and international relations, will take place Friday Oct. 26 in Russ Hall, Kops Lounge. There will be an optional luncheon with the conference. Fee: $15 for the conference and luncheon, no charge for the conference alone. Registration deadline is Monday Oct. 10. Sponsored by the Department of Economics. Call 893-5255.

Career Services will be sponsoring several free seminars in the upcoming week in the Student Center: "Job Hunting Tactics," on Tuesday Oct. 9 from 3-5 p.m. in rm. 417. "Interviewing," on Tuesday Oct. 10 from 2-3:30 p.m. in rm. 417. On Thursday Oct. 11: "What Can You Do With Your Major," from 10-11 a.m. in rm. 106 of the Annex, and "Resume Writing," from 6-7:30 p.m. in rm. 417. Call 893-5194 for more information. No registration is required for these seminars.
MY DEGREE GOT ME THE INTERVIEW. ARMY ROTC GOT ME THE JOB.

Things got pretty competitive for this job. I'm sure my college degree and good grades kept me in the running. But in the end it was the leadership and management experience I got through Army ROTC that won them over.

You can begin to develop impressive leadership skills with an Army ROTC elective. Register now without obligation.

THE SMARTEST COLLEGE COURSE YOU CAN TAKE.

Senior Committee
Help plan the fun!

Anyone interested in joining please come to a meeting on:
October 8th, rm.112 at 5 pm.
Or Contact Helen Archontou at x4202, SGA office.

Anyone interested in joining please come to a meeting on:
October 8th, rm.112 at 5 pm.
Or Contact Helen Archontou at x4202, SGA office.
SGA pays students by the minute

Students were invited to speak their minds for one minute on any topic at an open forum held by the SGA last Thursday Sept. 26. The SGA paid each speaker one dollar.

The Montclarion WANTS YOU

Yeah, and we're still a Class One of the SGblah...blah...blah
IF NURSING IS IN YOUR FUTURE. JOIN AIR FORCE ROTC TODAY.

Today's world needs qualified nurses. You can begin an outstanding career now by joining Air Force ROTC. You'll be eligible for scholarship assistance programs that bring down the cost of college. When you graduate, you'll be recognized, saluted, and respected as an Air Force officer. You will be treated as a knowledgeable, valuable nursing professional.

Start now. Call MAJOR DESIREE STONE AFROTC 201-596-3626.

Leadership Excellence Starts Here.

Temporary Employment to work Princeton Ski Shop's Giant Stadium Ski Sale

November 4-11 Day and Evening Hours. Flexible Schedule

Call (201)779-7100

You Thought The First Show Was Funny?
You Ain't Seen Nothing Yet!

Introducing: College Life Union Board's -

Second Comedy All-Star Show of the Semester

Come see:
FIVE Professional Stand-up Comedians
Knock your socks off!

Tuesday, October 9th
Student Center Ballrooms
9:00 pm
Only $3.00 What A Bargain!

CLUB is a class one of the SGA

KICKIN' IN HOMECOMING with Joe Morris formerly of the Giants

All you wanted to know about the NFL and more...
Monday, October 8, 1990
8:00 PM
Student Center Ballroom
FREE!!

C.L.U.B. is class 1 of the S.G.A.

Leadership Excellence Starts Here
Sights and sounds of the 90’s: a Homecoming preview

By Ann Daly

Next week, MSC will have plenty of laughter, cheers, and banjo music—Homecoming 1990 is coming.

Starting Monday, Oct. 8, and running through Saturday, Oct. 13, the week promises traditional events plus surprises, including having the big game itself held in the afternoon. (For more on the time change, see next week’s Montclarion.)

Students can get a glimpse of life in the National Football League on Monday when Joe Morris, the N.Y. Giants’ all-time leading rusher, lectures in the Union Board (CLUB), and admission is free.

The registration deadline for Thursday’s Lip Sync Contest is also on Monday. All applications, plus the $5 entrance fee, must be brought to the CLUB office (Room 112 of the Student Center Annex) by noon, to be followed by a mandatory meeting for all contestants.

Five professional N.Y. comedians take center stage Tuesday night when CLUB sponsors its second comedy show of the semester. Admission is $3, and the laughs kick off at 9 p.m. in the Student Center Ballrooms.

An MSC professor looks back and beyond

By Chris Rohloff

Imagine a campus consisting of four buildings, 35 faculty members, and a student body of 500 to 600 primarily male students, with female students forbidden to wear clothing other than blouses, skirts and dresses.

Sound familiar? To those of us who search for a parking space, come late to class after walking across campus, or wear whatever suits us every day, probably not.

Yet what we perceive as oddities were indeed realities for MSC faculty and students in the 1940’s. Dr. Max A. Sobel, a mathematics professor who has been connected with the campus for the past 50 years, remembered these changes recently, and paused to consider where the campus may be headed in the future.

As a freshman here in 1940, Sobel remembered having to wear a beanie-like cap at all times. “It was very much like hazing,” he said. “If an upperclassman stopped you, you had to start singing the Alma Mater. Perhaps it was a good idea, because today when it comes to singing the Alma Mater at graduation, no one knows the words.”

After serving in World War II for a period of time, Sobel finished his studies in 1947, and immediately started teaching at MSC.

“It was incredibly intimidating,” he said. “After all, here I was teaching alongside people who had been my professors only a couple of months ago.”

Sobel noted that the intimidation and formality once commonplace in the classroom have now been replaced by a more laid-back, personable environment. For example, previously no one would even dream of calling a professor by his or her first name, or consider discussing classwork with a professor over a cup of coffee.

“...the men wore jackets and ties, and the women were forbidden to wear pants...”

Each class was held every day, thus giving the student a schedule of nine to four or five to nine. “Basically, the MSC of the 1940’s was closer to an extension of high school,” said Sobel. “Through the years, we became a college, and today we’re close to becoming a university.”

Sobel added that these changes in the student-teacher relationship, coupled with advances in technology, have been the most positive ones he has seen in his years at MSC. The most obvious change, however, he acknowledged, has been the dress code.

“Professional attire was the norm,” he said. “A majority of the men wore jackets and ties, and the women were forbidden to wear pants...”
A professor remembers

cont. from p.9
and ties, and the women were forbidden to wear pants. Dress code rules were considered important and were strictly enforced.

Yet while Sobel views change as positive and necessary, he does not believe everything can be a change for the better. He expressed concern for the students, dealing with other interests, and for the educational future of the college as well.

"We have to grow and we have to be competitive, but with progress comes problems," he said. "Students have more diversions today — TV, Spring breaks, financial concerns." These diversions can take away from the amount of time a student can dedicate to studies, he added.

Diversions can take away from the number of teachers devoted to students as well. "With teachers from my time retiring in the 90's, and with fewer people entering the field, we're going to have a severe teacher shortage in the next ten years," he said.

Sobel suggested that the college allocate funds for recruitment and sponsorships in order to combat this potential problem. These sponsorships would provide full scholarships for young, gifted individuals interested in becoming teachers. In return, these students would teach at MSC after graduation.

"Teaching is a desirable goal with considerable value," Sobel said. "We need to encourage those interested in the field."

For the individual who does choose this career path, Sobel professes that there are many rewards. "The greatest reward I've found, aside from the obvious satisfaction I receive in educating others," Sobel declared, "has been the home I've found here at MSC."

Looking back

by Chris Panepinto

Ten years ago this week, students shut down the campus for a day, while five years ago, faculty and students came together to protest another issue...

Oct. 2, 1980

□ "Strike shuts down MSC"

Students boycotted their classes campus-wide on Monday, Sept. 29, in response to recent tuition hikes and the state's attempt to reallocate $5 million for state colleges to the deficit-ridden TAG program. The strike was 95% effective at MSC, and approximately 20,000 other state college students walked out of their classes in a mass effort to get Trenton's attention.

□ "Strike win spurs talks"

In a related story, approximately 400 students protesting in Trenton for the same reason were on hand when assembly speaker Christopher Jackman (D-Hudson) removed the reallocation bill from consideration. Jackman suggested setting up a forum between two representatives of each state college and the Assembly Education Committee to answer everyone's questions.

Oct. 3, 1985

□ "Faculty Senate Opposes 'Gateway Test'"

MSC's faculty senate voted to oppose a proposed statewide exam for college sophomores. This test would measure students' verbal proficiency and knowledge of course work studied under the General Education Requirements. Any student who failed would be dismissed from the college.

Hear ye, hear ye! the Middle Ages hit MSC

Last Thursday, the "lords and ladies" of MSC gathered around the Student Center Mall for an afternoon joust. Medieval Times, a Florida-based franchise which just opened in Lynhurst in February, came at the request of Nancy Gannon, Kim Manion (seated on horse, lower right), and Tracey Dudziec, their employees and sisters of Sigma Delta Phi. All three served as "wenches" in the entourage, which included an emcee, trumpeter, two squires, three knights, and two horses. After greeting the crowd, which were given paper crowns in the colors of their champions, the Green Knight (above) battled and triumphed over the Red and Yellow Knight (above right), and was paid from the onlookers in applause.
Editorial

Who's maintaining maintenance?

What did maintenance do all summer? That is the question many Clove Road residents asked themselves when they saw the condition of their apartments the day of check-in. Garbage left behind by former residents lay untouched on the floors, sinks and toilets remained clogged, and walls cluttered with holes were still not patched. It was an unfortunate welcome many students received the day they moved in, and now after a month of school, the problems still remain.

Each day the Clove Road office is besieged with maintenance reports submitted by students complaining about their living conditions. Each day maintenance is supposed to come in and pick up the reports and attend to the problems. If that is the case, then how come their are untouched reports dated 9/3/90? It is obvious that there is a serious problem with the maintenance department and the administration does not feel student residents are entitled to the same treatment as tenants of real apartment complexes. By cutting the amount of party allowed at Clove Road, and threatening to turn MSC into a dry campus, Residence Life is making it impossible for students to continue living on campus that alcohol is permitted. If that attraction is taken away, so will the students desire to live there.

The prospect of off-campus housing begins to look better and better the more a student understands how maintenance under Residence Life works. At the end of every semester, students from both Clove Road and the dorms almost automatically lose their deposit and sometimes have to pay additional fees. If these confiscation matters had existed in a real apartment complex, the landlord would almost automatically lose their deposit and often have to pay additional fees. What makes this an even greater atrocity is that only the major damages get repaired.

It is unrealistic to the administration to believe that it can continue to charge such high rent for what often amounts to unsanitary living conditions. The Clove Road apartments are by no means inexpensive housing, and one of the reasons there is such a demand for them is because it is the only place on campus that alcohol is permitted. If that attraction is taken away, so will the students desire to live there.

The Montclarion

The Montclarion is a Class One Organization of the SGA

113 Student Center Annex 893-5169

The Montclarion is published weekly, except during examination, summer and winter sessions. It is funded, in part, by funds received from the Student Government Association, Inc. of Montclair State College. Advertising rates are available upon request, in Room 113 of the Student Center Annex, or by calling the business department at (201) 893-5237. The views expressed in the editorial pages, with the exception of the main editorial, do not necessarily reflect the opinion of The Montclarion.

Student Voice

by Jason Grote

On behalf of STAND and other anti-war students here at Montclair, I would like to clear up some absurd misconceptions mentioned in last week's Student Voice. First of all, this issue is not about territory or freedom. The people of Kuwait were not free before the invasion, and will not be freed by U.S. intervention.

Second of all, it is ridiculous to equate STAND, the Progressive Labor Party, the Committee for Public Education, or any other progressive coalition with Lyndon LaRouche. All one must do is come to a STAND meeting to see that we don't have a connection with LaRouche and will never support his group or that of any crazy demagogue. Mr. DiLullo, in his column, mistakenly identifies this group as the current political trend when the truth is that this group of madmen are capitalizing on the current anti-war sentiment.

Third of all, I did not hear Mr. Ham's speech, but I know from leaflets which I helped write that Mr. DiLullo is oversimplifying his position. According to statistics in publications as subversive and communist as Time and Newsweek, keeping our troops in Saudi Arabia is costing close to $2 billion a day. I think it's very clear that this can cause budget problems.

Regarding the environment, although there may not be a direct connection, both problems stem from the fact that the Bush (and before it, the Reagan) administration refuses to investigate alternative energy sources. Pulling the troops out will not solve the budget or environment crises, but leaving them in Saudi Arabia will exacerbate both.

Fourth of all, King Fahd does not represent the Saudi people. He may not want us to pull out, but the average Arab citizen could live without the bloodstream a war could bring. I wish I could quote a source on this, but, as usual, the media forgot to ask the (non-American) people what they wanted.

Fifth of all, this is the U.S. vs. Iraq. U.S. businesses have the most to lose from other imperialists (like Hussein, for whom I refuse to be an apologist,) wresting control from them. We may be backed up by western Europe and Japan, but not to stop a Hitler. They rely on the same Mideast oil that we do. As for utopian visions of the East and West uniting against a monster, the Soviet Union has yet to make a military commitment there. Because they are so oil-rich themselves, there is no reason for them to become involved in a costly, useless war.

Sixth of all, I was, I believe, at the same forum as Mr. DiLullo, but did not hear the same things. Again, this seems to be a case of oversimplification. At no time did anyone say, "All governments are bad." What was said was more along the line of, "Neither the government of the U.S. nor the government of Iraq represents the will of the people." The Ideal solution, we concluded, was that the people of both countries should rise up to stop either government from perpetuating this situation. Mr. DiLullo implies that we are ready to take up arms against the government. That may be necessary in Iraq, but I have no desire to urinate on the Oval Office carpet or to firebomb Capitol Hill. I am a reformist, not a revolutionary.

Seventh of all, I think that aggravizing the U.S. by talking about "(Na­tions) dictating their will upon others" and about how it is "criminal to stand by while a large aggressive, militant country took (sic) personal gain by invading a small, weak country" shows either a tremendous hypocrisy, or a lack of knowledge when it comes to world history.

The U.S. has never denied that it uses aggressive militant tactics against smaller nations - such as in Vietnam, Cambodia, Nicaragua, El Salvador, Grenada, Libya, and Panama - or that it participated in the assassination of a duly-elected and, cant. on p.13 by the way, Communist, president in Chile and the military coup which followed. To justify this, the Secretary of State at the time, Henry Kissinger, said that we "don't have to watch a nation Communist because of the irresponsibility of its own people." Isn't that how a democratic society works?
Voice cont. from p.12

I thought it was irresponsible of the American people to let Reagan run the country, but I wouldn't advocate killing him. I love America. I love the people, the land, the flag (I fly one in my bedroom), and the freedoms and opportunities it provides me - but do these freedoms and opportunities end us with the right to deny the above to others simply because we live here and they don't? As any patriotic American would tell you, of course not. But, unfortunately, that's the way the show has run for most of this century.

Eighth of all, I fail to understand how Mr. DiLullo comes to place STAND's position as "selfish" or "small-minded." I don't think it's selfish to refuse to kill or die for the preservation of the status quo. If selfish means "I'm going to fight for my own self interest," I think that they would have nipped Hussein in the bud rather than arming him. I think that, will all due respect, Mr. DiLullo should look at the definitions of "selflessness" and "exploitation." This is a war about oil - President Bush has said it more than once - and, selfish or not, I will never fight for oil.

Ninth of all, we are not to see innocent people. God knows how many innocent people will be lost, on both sides, by an escalation. Not only soldiers and bystanders, but, what about the factory worker who loses his or her job in a cutback and has a family to feed? This is not a question of "innocent people or tuition" (and this is getting very real, this is a question of lives, of butter. Guns kill people - butter feeds them.

Tenth of all, if Mr. DiLullo honestly believes that these are anti-American lies, I would love to help him set the record straight. There are no deaths due to those for-kneed to us by the powers that be. Remember, these are the people who brought us segregation, Iranian Contra, the Savings and Loan crisis, and God knows (but I have faith He'll do something about it) what else.

Eleventh of all, if the U.S. military budget doesn't increase, how will they pay for this? Their current budget is $44 million a day, and even though this is all about killing, I can't understand after the other involved nations chip in. (The figures are in last week's Time. All anyone needs is a calculator to justify my small legislative up đứng.)

Twelfth of all, it is not our "responsibility" to fight imperialism anywhere. Check the constitution. Should we fight imperialism at all? Yes, of course. Everyone should, but we will only be fighting Iraqi imperialism to perpetuate that of the United States. There are militaristic nations conquering smaller nations all over the world, but they aren't costing us. If this is all about freedom and justice, then why aren't we everywhere? Why did we support Guatemala's incursion into Nicaragua's borders rather than protecting Nicaragua's rights as a sovereign nation?

Thirteenth of all, I agree that people are all, to some extent, hypocritical. I am. Mr. DiLullo is. At the same time, when you support any anti-war stance, do I wish my desire for freedom? I fail to see how anyone, except perhaps the hostages (whom President Bush said had nothing to do with his decisions,) will be freed by Mr. DiLullo. Guan and tanks are the weapons of the oppressors, not of the oppressed.

Fourteenth of all, I wouldn't gripe if gas went to $2.00 a gallon. I think that we should be looking into gasohol, fusion, solar power, and the sale of coal instead of choking ourselves and the wildlife with more petroleum.

Fifteenth of all, I've never said that "it's not going to be me." I'm trying to make it "be me" for most of my life. I helped organize last year's student marches. I've marched and spoken out against racism and environmental destruction. I am a pacifist, a vegetarian, and a devout Christian. As a matter of fact, when Saddam Hussein gassed his own people, I was in the back, watching all of our ally, I did do something, or at least thought I did. I contacted my congressman. He replied by saying that he didn't "know of any current situation which requires U.S. government attention." I think that more than qualifies my statement when I say that I don't know of any situation there that requires mine.

This is a letter addressing the campus administration as well as the MSC Athletic Department. It is in response to a letter published in the September 30, 1990 edition of the Montclarion. The letter, "Coach falsifies track record books," was written by Dr. Joan Schleeve of the PERLS department.

In this letter, Dr. Schleeve accuses Coach Blanton of dishonesty because she puts it, "rewriting the MSC track record books." She goes on to say that Coach Blanton is dealing with the results of MSC track meets as he sees fit, and at the same time, misleading his athletics into thinking their performances are better than they are.

But we address these accusations, it is necessary that we provide you with some background information, which is very important in this situation, and continuously omitted in Dr. Schleeve's letter.

The Athletic Department holds in its possession all records, information for every sports program at MSC. These books are important sources for coaches, athletes and others wishing to keep track of up to date scores, the most important of information concerning any MSC athletic program. Included in these books are all school, state, and national records that have been set by former or current athletes at MSC. So, anytime a question arises concerning a "new record," this information can be checked for accuracy. This would prevent any mistakes from occurring when there are records in question, provided that the records are in order.

When Coach Blanton took over as head track & field coach, he requested that the above-mentioned books be at his disposal. At that time, he was informed that they had been stolen. No other books were missing, only the track & field books. Is this only a coincidence? We feel that it is highly unlikely.

After reviewing the "tracks books," Coach Blanton, given very limited resources to work with, was required to use his judgement when past records were not accurate, not updated or most often not at his disposal at all.

Given the above information, we have come to several conclusions, and also have several questions that need to be answered.

First, to the Athletic Department our question is this: If the results handed in by Coach Blanton and his staff were not "new records," why did you fail to inform coaching staff of the situation? Remember, the coaching staffs had no access to any record books, a fact of which you are well aware.

There has to be someone in your department that has a basic knowledge of past track & field records, prior to Coach Blanton taking over. And, if such a person does not exist in your department, is it not the quality concern of those running the Athletic Department. You cannot use the so-called "stolen books" as a crust. Maybe the above-mentioned books were not concerned for the track & field program.

Our second question for the Athletic Department is one that disturbs us greatly, and a question we also ask of the administration. Where is your show of support for Coach Blanton and his staff? Since his appointment, he has done nothing but positive things for this campus. This includes coaching his athletes, advising several campus organizations, and being a friend and a partner to students as a friend, and accepting his role as a positive model to all students.

This can not be said about many administrators here, or faculty members on this campus. Coach Blanton and his staff have built the track & field program from the ground up, and have gained respect from their peers and on the circuit in the process. So, stop sitting back while others take shots at Coach Blanton.

Show some backbone, and give him the same support that we know he would give you in a similar situation. It is most disturbing to see you sit there and let him take all of the heat, knowing that you are well aware of the situation that he must deal with, but would not hesitate to take some credit when the track program excels.

As for Dr. Schleeve, if you knew this about past records, why not speak up and inform the coaching staff when these events first occurred? It seems that you are not aware of the implications of getting your chance to try and tarnish Coach Blanton's reputation. What you should be doing rather than trying to figure out if the other four books are missing is getting the chance to try and tarnish Coach Blanton's reputation. We feel that you should be doing rather than trying to figure out if the other four books are missing is getting the chance to try and tarnish Coach Blanton's reputation. You should be doing rather than trying to figure out if the other four books are missing is getting the chance to try and tarnish Coach Blanton's reputation.

This will enable them to be more seized with their questions and the future. This will allow them to rely much more on facts, and not so much on their judgement, as they must now do. At the same time it will prevent those, such as yourself, from making accusations against the coaching staff. Accusations made, we might add, without stating background information that is crucial in this situation.

Basically, what we are saying to you, Dr. Schleeve, is not answering these questions and return the missing books to the Athletic Department. It is quite obvious that the missing books are either in your possession, or you know the party who has them.

Finally, we must point out how sad this entire situation is. This is not the first time Coach Blanton has been attacked by some group or person on this campus. The previous two years, it was the student body attacking him, and now the faculty is taking a shot at him. Who is next to take their turn? They have not managed to succeed, and we will not be surprised if this is not the end of their attempts to oust him.

Again, we ask the Athletic Department and administration to stand up and put an end to this nonsense. We should not be allowing this type of thing to happen to remind you of the positive contributions: that Coach Blanton has made to this campus during his short time with us.

We are glad to see that Coach Blanton has not let these attacks to his reputation interfere either with his his athletes, or with the other campus activities in which he is involved. However, we must point out that one can take something so much before he/she decides that it is not worth the headaches to go on.

cont. on p.14
To Coach Blanton, and his staff, hang in there and keep up the good work. You know that you will always have our support.

Good Luck to you and the team in the '90/91' seasons.

Phil Beta Sigma

Prof. addresses track athletes

Open letter to men and women of the X-country and track teams:

I am taking this opportunity to respond to your letter in the last issue of this paper. My original letter was written and delivered to the paper in May, 1990, along with all necessary documentation. The material provided is factual and honest and all of it is in the public domain. Therefore, slander or libel are terms which are not applicable. The record books, there are two of them, were used by me as late as last Spring.

Clearly, the books were available to all from 1988 through last Spring. Books do not just “mysteriously” disappear, The record books, there are two of them, the public domain. Therefore, slander or libel are terms which are not applicable.

The first ever NCAA individual sport champion is a trackman—Greg Weiss. His winning time of 1:48.3 in the 880 yd. run has yet to be challenged.

Two women, Denise Wood and Lou Green Harmon, constituted the team which I took to Waco, Texas in 1968 to the first ever DGWS (Division of Girls and Womens Sports) national championship. There each woman competed in three events, each was voted Most Outstanding Athlete at the meet, and MSC tied for third place as a team.

Doreen Ennis Schwartz later carried on that national championship banner by winning the 1500 meter run in California. Gail Fitzgerald, member of three U.S. Olympic teams, proudly competed.

MSC athletes have represented the college on many international teams and numerous national championships in AAU and TAC competition. Each of the athletes mentioned is rightfully enshrined in MSC’s Hall of Fame. Their on-field exploits were outstanding but more importantly, each person graduated and went on to make significant marks in their chosen field. A number of other outstanding performers like Dr. Ralph Vernacchilo, now of the University of Western Washington, and Dr. James Santomier, at NYU, are internationally known for their work in sports, sociol-ogy, and sports psychology.

My second concern for you is one of responsibility. You have chosen to represent this college in areas which have a proud and rich tradition based on outstanding success against the best competition. That tradition is one of excellence both on the field and in the classroom.

The first ever NCAA individual sport champion is a trackman—Greg Weiss. His winning time of 1:48.3 in the 880 yd. run has yet to be challenged.

Two women, Denise Wood and Lou Green Harmon, constituted the team which I took to Waco, Texas in 1968 to the first ever DGWS (Division of Girls and Mens Sports) national championship. There each woman competed in three events, each was voted Most Outstanding Athlete at the meet, and MSC tied for third place as a team.

Doreen Ennis Schwartz later carried on that national championship banner by winning the 1500 meter run in California. Gail Fitzgerald, member of three U.S. Olympic teams, proudly competed.

MSC athletes have represented the college on many international teams and numerous national championships in AAU and TAC competition. Each of the athletes mentioned is rightfully enshrined in MSC’s Hall of Fame. Their on-field exploits were outstanding but more importantly, each person graduated and went on to make significant marks in their chosen field. A number of other outstanding performers like Dr. Ralph Vernacchilo, now of the University of Western Washington, and Dr. James Santomier, at NYU, are internationally known for their work in sports, sociol-ogy, and sports psychology.

Athletic success is not an abstraction. True success, record or not, is legitimate and reflects a person’s dedication to lifetime achievement. Hence, acceptance of anything less than the best is to solidify one’s own inadequacy. The best, however, must be an honest effort against top competition.

Even after 15-20 years, many of your predecessors continue as high school coaches and athletic directors. This dedication to young athletes and to the sport is evidence of outstanding commitment. It is that dedication to excellence that I hope will impact on your desire for personal-best performances. In order to be a champion, you must demonstrate consistency in performance. Everyone has good days and bad, but rarely is the champion off by very much. Be honest with yourself—compete against the best and you will do your best.

By wearing the MSC jersey you have assumed a legacy of quality and a tradition of excellence in performance both athletically and academically. I support your efforts and would be happy to talk with you at any time about past performances. I take great pride in my twenty-five year association with this college and its programs.

I want and expect the best from my students and expect the same from you. Most teachers take pride in the achievement of their students. In the case of MSC’s track and field and cross country athletes, that pride has great integrity and is woven into the fabric of their lives—a dedication to education, community, and the country. Joan Schleede

PERLS Dept.
By Beth Mangini

Correspondent

by Don Paul Cicero (Paul Sorvino) after his first arrest.

Michael Keaton threatening Melanie Griffith in Pacific Heights

Bad guys are Goodfellas

By Alicia Defolco

Correspondent

In the movie "Pacific Heights" starring Melanie Griffith, Matthew Modine, and Michael Keaton; and directed by John Schlesinger, explodes with suspenseful action.

Modine and Griffith are a couple that decide to invest in a Victorian House that contains three apartments in the Pacific Heights section of San Francisco, California. Everything seems to be going well until they meet Keaton.

Keaton portrays a wealthy businessman that is in need off a place to live. When Modine lets him move into the studio apartment, he trusts Keaton to wire him the first six months of rent. However, this is where the conflicts begins.

Keaton never wires the money. Since he signed the lease Modine can not evict him. So throughout the rest of the movie, the audience sees how the couple hires an attorney, to try to evict Keaton. But, through California law, he had a right to stay there.

Modine becomes enraged by the situation, and violently attacked Keaton. This incident created more problems because Keaton filed a restraining order on Modine. He couldn't stay at his own house.

When Keaton finally leaves the house, the couple discovered that he completely destroyed the apartment. From a picture on the floor, Griffith discovers what Keaton really is, and what he is doing to them and others.

All three actors had strong roles in this film, Michael Keaton was excellent. He brought out the true evil in his character, while Modine and Griffith played the helpless and confused landlords.

"Pacific Heights" is a fast-paced movie, that keeps you on the edge of your seat. The viewer can really sense the loss of happiness and ignorance that is replaced with violence and fear.

---

In the movie "Pacific Heights" starring Melanie Griffith, Matthew Modine, and Michael Keaton; and directed by John Schlesinger, explodes with suspenseful action.

Modine and Griffith are a couple that decide to invest in a Victorian House that contains three apartments in the Pacific Heights section of San Francisco, California. Everything seems to be going well until they meet Keaton.

Keaton portrays a wealthy businessman that is in need off a place to live. When Modine lets him move into the studio apartment, he trusts Keaton to wire him the first six months of rent. However, this is where the conflicts begins.

Keaton never wires the money. Since he signed the lease Modine can not evict him. So throughout the rest of the movie, the audience sees how the couple hires an attorney, to try to evict Keaton. But, through California law, he had a right to stay there.

Modine becomes enraged by the situation, and violently attacked Keaton. This incident created more problems because Keaton filed a restraining order on Modine. He couldn't stay at his own house.

When Keaton finally leaves the house, the couple discovered that he completely destroyed the apartment. From a picture on the floor, Griffith discovers what Keaton really is, and what he is doing to them and others.

All three actors had strong roles in this film, Michael Keaton was excellent. He brought out the true evil in his character, while Modine and Griffith played the helpless and confused landlords.

"Pacific Heights" is a fast-paced movie, that keeps you on the edge of your seat. The viewer can really sense the loss of happiness and ignorance that is replaced with violence and fear.

---

Michael Keaton threatening Melanie Griffith in Pacific Heights

Cheapfun

with John Paul

This column is a continuation of last week's. Due to space limitations, our list of recommended comic books had to be cut short. Yes, it's a strange, sad world we live in when paid advertising gets priority over material of such value. So it goes. Anyway, let's get on with it...

9) "Nexus", written by Mike Baron, various artists. Mike did such a lovely job last week of describing another of his titles, "Badger", that I thought it would be nice quote him on this one too... "Nexus dreams of mass murderers. And when he wakes, he is compelled to seek them out and assassinate them. His fusion powers, derived from the stars, are almost limitless. But there is a price: he must execute victims chosen by the mysterious "Merk," and the Merk is an alien being with an alien sense of justice." First Publishing, $2.25.

10) "Cerebus", written and drawn by Dave Sim. Mr. Sim is crass, egotistical, and, at times, vicious. He is also a brilliant satriast who could give Jonathan Swift a run for his money. This book's central character is an aardvark whose social, sexual, religious, and political involvements serve as a springboard for the events which occur in what is nothing less than a massive graphic novel. Even when resorting to out-and-out caricature, Mr. Sim cuts deeply... "How do you do my dear? I'm Mrs. Thatcher. I'm here to help you." Aardvark - Vanheime, $2.25.

11) "Judge Dredd", various writers and artists. These reprints of a British comic series poke fun at popular culture with the subtext of a serrated knife. Law, order, and political satire are maintained by "Judges", police officers who function as jury and executioner. Dredd, one of the top men, tends to have to deal with more than his share of juveniles... "In minutes flat they'd caught them, every Shark and every Zit. To Dredd it fell to ladle out the years... Twenty years apiece for Cindy Spike, Billy Rat and Ghoul." An extra ten left big Frank Zit in tears." Fleetway-Quality, $1.75.

12) "The Spirit", written and drawn by Will Eisner (with frequent assistance from a number of ghosts - no pun intended). These stories from the 1940's and 1950's capture the film noir quality of the era perfectly and still stand among the best ever produced in the medium. Originally, they were inserted in newspapers as supplements to the Sunday funnies - ask your folks, they might remember them. The Spirit has no extra ordinary abilities, he's simply a police officer who after being left for dead, decided to work slightly outside the law and set up shop in a cemetary. He never wears socks. Actually one of the best things about the book is the way Eisner worked sound effects into the art... "Clck, clak, click, clak, click..." Amazing, isn't it? Kitchen Sink Comics, $2.00.

13) "Ralph Snart Adventures", written and drawn by Marc Hansen. The humor in this book searches for and finds the lowest common denominator. This may explain why it sells particularly well on college campuses... "Egad! Ralph is being devoured by ferocious rats! Icky, hairy, stinky, filthy rats, I must keep my revulsion in cheek and save my future love toy!" Now Comics, $1.75.

14) "Love and Rockets", written and drawn by Jaime and Gilbert Hernandez. No connection to the alleged band, this title has won awards around the world. In the U.S.A. it sells well enough for the Hernandez brothers to eat out at Pizza Hut once a month. Chock full of sex, politics, and feminism among Latinos, it has a limited, but very devoted readership... "Don't get me wrong...a Continued on page 17
Players are in deep with Danny

By Thomas C. Sullivan
Correspondant

"Danny and the Deep Blue Sea," a play by John Patrick Shanley, who also wrote "Joe vs. the Volcano", is currently being staged by Players in the Student Center Annex, Room 126. The play runs October 3, 4, 5, and 6 at 8:00pm and October 5 also at 2:15pm.

The play has only two characters; Roberta, played by Marcia Assuncao, and Danny, played by Robert Nissen; and is set in present-day Bronx, at night.

The play opens in a run-down bar in which Roberta and Danny are each sitting at separate tables, eating pretzels, smoking, and drinking beer. Danny has wounds on his face and both of his hands. When Danny asks for a pretzel, Roberta becomes very hostile at first, shouting at him to leave her alone. A long period of silence follows, each staring blankly ahead of themselves. When Roberta eventually decides to assume a more congenial air and offer Danny a pretzel, this time it's Danny's turn to become hostile and he barks at her. Another long period of silence ensues.

The hostility abates, and they engage in small talk, during which it is revealed that Danny is 29-years-old, and never married, although he's just broken off a long-standing relationship with a girlfriend. He tells Roberta that he got his wounds from a street fight. He thinks he might have killed someone. This prompts Roberta to reveal that she had an abused childhood in which she was forced to fellate her father. They both agree that they hate their fathers.

Danny tells Roberta that she is one of the few people who doesn't make him mad. As they continue talking, Roberta seems to want to challenge this notion, and eggs him on with taunts about how she is just as crazy as he is. This leads Danny to a crescendo of anger which Roberta eventually invites Danny back to her apartment. They sleep together and afterwards talk of their respective families and their problems. Danny asks about Roberta's 13-year-old son who is cared for by his grandmother. He notices on a table a small doll dressed as a bride and this inspires him to tell Roberta of a wedding he had seen as a child and how he had been awe-struck by the sight of the bride. He then proposes to Roberta and she gladly accepts. They excitedly begin to make plans for their own stylish wedding and fall asleep dreaming about it.

By next morning, however, reality sets in and Roberta maintains that she wasn't serious about anything the night before. It was the beer they had at the bar and the wine they had before slipping between the sheets. This angers Danny greatly, but Roberta explains that she needs forgiveness for her "sin" with her father. Danny puts her head to his bosom and grants her forgiveness and is, in turn, forgiven by Roberta and is reassured that he most likely did not kill anyone.

The play, as explained by Director Jennifer Biddle is about two lonely people fighting personal demons who, through each other, learn to forgive themselves.

The acting was generally very good, although a bit more studying of the art of portraying catharsis might be helpful. Certainly, credit should be given to both Miss Assuncao and Mr. Nissen for learning their copious lines.

Marcia Assuncao and Robert Nissen in Danny and the Deep Blue Sea

The First Fall Lip Sync on October 11, 1990
at 8:00pm in the Student Center Ballrooms

$2.00 general admission
$5.00 group fee

Mandatory meeting for all applicants on Monday, October 8th, 1990 at 12 noon.

Application are available in the CLUB office, room 112D Student Center
Addicted to Jane's

by Pete Quilla
Correspondent

Jane's Addiction is a band out of Los Angeles featuring Perry Farrell on vocals, Dave Navarro on guitar, Stephen Perkins on drums, and Eric A on bass. Their third and latest release, Ritual De Lo Habitual, is an album to which many bands aspire. The music is powerful, funny, a tiny bit psychedelic, and sometimes just plain strange.

Throughout the album, the tracks deal with basic but thoughtful topics, like love, wishing for a better life, and individuality. This last topic is dealt with through tracks like “Ain’t No Right,” “Been Caught Stealing,” (a danceable pop song about enjoying stealing which sounds like a possible hit,) and in the quote that is found on the album: “My sex, my drugs, and my rock and roll are my fucking business.”

Love and a slight bit of eroticism are reflected best by the ten minute psychedelic jam “Three Days,” and the wish for a better life is exemplified in the thrashiness of “Stop.” The lyrics (“Hum, hum along with me, hum along with the T.V.”) are among the best on the album because they epitomize the feel of the song.

A thought to be considered is that the band members are very creative musicians. Although they are mainly a hard rock band, they do not fall into the simple clichés to which most hard rock bands are susceptible. The guitar breaks are made to fit the mood of the song, not to show the latest indulgence in virtuosity.

The rhythm section is tight and complementary, regardless of the mood of the song. However, the icing on this sonic cake is vocalist Perry Farrell. He sings like a demented seven year old, and it somehow manages to sound perfect.

His intelligent storytelling lyrics and insane antics make him the most distinctive vocalist since David Lee Roth or John Lydon. This fact alone shows that Jane's Addiction is a band that is actually making music for music's sake, not for money's sake.

Overall, the album is enjoyable. The best tracks are “Stop,” “Been Caught Stealing,” and “Of Course,” because of the unconventional arrangements and the strange, humorous stories told within the songs. Check it out. After all, a band that writes a funky song about stealing cannot possibly be boring.

Cheapfun

Continued from page 15

fetish can make a person strong in some ways...one can maintain a high level of sexually inspired energy for a lengthy period of time, energy which can be channeled into meaningful labor. But, eventually, in time a fetish usually renders one stupid and feeble...”

“Concrete”, written and drawn by Paul Chadwick. The existential comic book. You see, the title character is a former political speechwriter who has had his brain removed by aliens and placed in an artificial body resembling, well, concrete. I know it sounds ridiculous, but the focus of the book is on the character's efforts to make use of his new, nearly indestructible form to experience everything he possibly can...”

I can see the paint cracks on a house in heatres...one can maintain a high level of energy for a lengthy period of time, energy which can be channeled into meaningful labor. But, eventually, in time a fetish usually renders one stupid and feeble...”

Don’t see something in the arts section that you should? Tell us about it. Interested in writing for us? Good. We need someone quite like yourself to do reviews.
Student Intramural Leisure Council
FLAG FOOTBALL

Captains Meeting Monday, October 8th at 1:00pm in the SILC office (rm121 Student Center Annex)

Roster's available in the SILC office and the Fieldhouse.
For more information call SILC - 893-5245 or the fieldhouse - 893-7494

A Class One Organization of the SGA
Attention

- FREE SPRING BREAK TRIPS to Cancun and the Bahamas. Organize a small group and you travel FREE. Call 1-800-344-8360 for more information.

- Roommate wanted- Cable, sun deck, share with 2 males. In Ridgefield park, 25 min. to MSC...ride share possible. $292/month, share phone and cable. Steve or John 807-0879.

- Private room with private bath within walking distance of MSC-in lovely Tudor style home. Rent is $30 per week. If interested, please call 746-4507. Parking is also available.

- Do you have urges? Express yourself through the Quarterly/4 Walls Literary Magazine!! We accept poems, short stories, art work, etc. Submission deadline is Oct. 22. 113A in the student center annex. 893-4410.

- ATTENTION: Fraternities, Sororities, Clubs, and Individuals. Trip organizers wanted for Ski and Sun Tours. Earn cash and/or free. Call Moguls Ski and Sun Tours, 1-800-666-4857.

- Travel Free!! Quality vacations to exotic destinations! The most affordable way to travel and $$$$$ on an occasional basis. Montclair. Call HI-LIFE 1-800-2o-, 3604.

- Child care-P/T for kindergarten child flexible days possible, car required. Time needed: AM hours 6:30-8:15 or in the evening 5:00-7:30 PM. Call Joanne at 857-8850.

- Child care, house work, and/or yardwork help needed. Flexible hours. $5/ hour. Call 783-5966. Leave message.

- Business needed! Seeking loving person to care for 2 year old girl. One day a week, 9-6 p.m. Salary negotiable. Call Susan 392-9002.

- Doorman wanted- Needed Thurs. and Fri. nights. Must be 21 years old. Pub experience a plus. 746-7112.

- Teacher’s aide needed for Fairview nursery school. Flexible hours to fit your schedule. Call Paula 927-5272.

- Child care/Nanny for 7 yr. old girl in U, Mont. home. 2:30-7 pm 5 days a week. Salary negotiable. Non-smoker w/child care experience a plus. 746-7112.

- Have some free time during the day? Babysitting help needed a few hours, 1 day a week and possibly a few hours at night to care for 9 month old baby. If interested call 509-7395.

- Seeking loving person to care for 2 yr. old girl, one day a week, 9-6 p.m. Salary negotiable. Call Susan 392-9002.

- Childcare and tutoring Mon.-Fri. 3:50 for a third grade grammar student. Clifton must drive and pick-up at school. 546-2624 after 6 p.m.

- Is your fraternity, sorority, or club interested in earning $500.00 to $1,000.00 for a one week, on-campus marketing project? You must be well-organized and hard working. Call Kim J. at (800)592-2121.

- Doorman wanted- Needed Thurs. and Fri. nights. Must be 21 years old. Pub experience a plus. 746-7112.

- Teacher’s aide needed for Fairview nursery school. Flexible hours to fit your schedule. Call Paula 927-5272.

- For Sale- For Sale: 1984 Nissan 300Z, blue 2X2 automatic high mileage, $2,600 or best offer. Call after 6 p.m. 791-5251.

- Teacher’s aide needed for Fairview nursery school. Flexible hours to fit your schedule. Call Paula 927-5272.

- For Sale- For Sale: 1984 Nissan 300Z, blue 2X2 automatic high mileage, $2,600 or best offer. Call after 6 p.m. 791-5251.

- Child care/Nanny for 7 yr. old girl in U, Mont. home. 2:30-7 pm 5 days a week. Salary negotiable. Non-smoker w/child care experience a plus. 746-7112.

- Have some free time during the day? Babysitting help needed a few hours, 1 day a week and possibly a few hours at night to care for 9 month old baby. If interested call 509-7395.

- Seeking loving person to care for 2 yr. old girl, one day a week, 9-6 p.m. Salary negotiable. Call Susan 392-9002.

- Childcare and tutoring Mon.-Fri. 3:50 for a third grade grammar student. Clifton must drive and pick-up at school. 546-2624 after 6 p.m.

- Is your fraternity, sorority, or club interested in earning $500.00 to $1,000.00 for a one week, on-campus marketing project? You must be well-organized and hard working. Call Kim J. at (800)592-2121.

- Doorman wanted- Needed Thurs. and Fri. nights. Must be 21 years old. Pub experience a plus. 746-7112.

- Teacher’s aide needed for Fairview nursery school. Flexible hours to fit your schedule. Call Paula 927-5272.

- For Sale- For Sale: 1984 Nissan 300Z, blue 2X2 automatic high mileage, $2,600 or best offer. Call after 6 p.m. 791-5251.

- Child care/Nanny for 7 yr. old girl in U, Mont. home. 2:30-7 pm 5 days a week. Salary negotiable. Non-smoker w/child care experience a plus. 746-7112.

- Have some free time during the day? Babysitting help needed a few hours, 1 day a week and possibly a few hours at night to care for 9 month old baby. If interested call 509-7395.

- Seeking loving person to care for 2 yr. old girl, one day a week, 9-6 p.m. Salary negotiable. Call Susan 392-9002.

- Childcare and tutoring Mon.-Fri. 3:50 for a third grade grammar student. Clifton must drive and pick-up at school. 546-2624 after 6 p.m.
...5 more wCeks until...
Mother Goose and Grimm
by Mike Peters

You don't understand... Uh... the QUEEN VACUUM is only gestating right now...

Mother Goose and Grim

Calvin and Hobbes
by Bill Watterson

Calvin and Hobbes

Shoe
by Jeff McNelly

I think we're definitely pregnant... -I don't think I ever heard the phrase -I don't think I ever heard the phrase...
Cohesion’s Corner

By Glen Haerle

One-pitch softball play concluded this Sunday with the Gamblers going undefeated and winning the championship. Many fine teams played in this tournament. However, the Gamblers were crowned champions.

Gamblers 19 PRP 4

This game was a battle of the high-scorers and undefeated teams in the winners bracket. The bats of PRP never quite got going, however, as a strong defense prevailed for the Gamblers. Leading the Gamblers were Carl Buffalo going 2 for 2 with 2 HR’s and 5 RBI’s. John Fiore also had a strong game going 4 for 4 and scoring 4 runs.

Mid-Digs 15 Banshees 5

The Cinderella Mid-Digs defeated the Banshees to knock the defending champs out of the tournament. Leading the Mid-Dig attack was Scott Vies, Scott was 2 for 4 with 2 HR’s and 3 RBI’s. PRP 13 Mid-Digs 9

In a game featuring by solid pitching, errors and monsoon-like conditions, PRP defeated the Mid-Digs in a close 4-run game. Joe Jenko gave up 4 earned runs, but was victimized in the 4th inning when the Mid-Digs committed 4 errors leading to 7 runs. Rich Dygos hit a first inning 3-run HR to lead PRP.

Championship Game
Gamblers 12 PRP 9

The Gamblers exploded for 5 runs in the 3rd inning as 6 players got hits. This inning gave the Gamblers the lead for good. Steve Mulhearn’s 2-run HR into the wind and Mike Strauss’s 2-run double were the big blows in the inning.

In the 6th, PRP made a strong comeback scoring 6 runs to make the score 10-7.

In the next inning, Ron Clarke’s 2-run double gave the Gamblers their insurance runs and a 5 run lead.

In the bottom of the 7th PRP started a comeback led by Scott Parisi’s 2-run HR. The Gamblers defense shut down the PRP rally to preserve the championship.

Listed below are the league leaders in batting, HR’s and RBI’s. Also listed below are awards given for the tournament.

Batting Avg. (15 at bat minimum)
1. Dan Roberts Mid-Digs .722
2. Ron Clarke Gamblers .667
3. John Firoe Gamblers .667
4. Hank Kobik Busters .667
5. Bob Capelli Get Fresh Crew .608

Home Runs per Game
1. Brian Pray Fatsos Rejects 1.66 3 games
2. “Chuk” Tokers 1.54 4 games
3. Steve Mulhearn Gamblers 1.25 5 games
4. Duke Harding PRP 1.07 games
5. Jeff Lawton Gamblers 1.05 games
6. Jeff Kowalchuk Get Fresh Crew 1.05 games
7. Vinnie Vollozo ZBT 1.03 games

RBI’s per Game
1. Brian Pray Fatsos Rejects 5.0 3 games
2. “Chuk” Tokers 4.75 4 games
3. Ron Clark Gamblers 3.33 3 games
4. Scott Veis Mid-Digs 3.0 5 games
5. Duke Harding PRP 2.85 7 games

Comeback Player of the Year - Dan Roberts Mid-Digs

Dan had a lousy spring. He came back and won the batting title after hitting about .300 last spring.

Coach of the Year - Rich Ferraro Mid-Digs

The Mid-Digs lost their first game. After this, Rich had his team organized and confident, and lead them to a third place finish.

Cy Young - John Firoe Gamblers

John’s record was 5-0. He had a league ERA of 4.62. His most amazing statistic was giving up only 2 walks per game.

Golden Glove - Mike Kethcum Gamblers

At the third base, Mike only had one error in 5 games. He also made diving plays that reminded me of Craig Nettles when he played for the Yankees.

MVP - Carl Buffalo Gamblers

Carl was the ideal lead-off hitter. He batted .500 with 4 HR’s and 9 RBI’s. Carl scored 8 runs and had also unselfishly took 8 walks to get on base.

Carl played shortstop, the toughest position on the field. Carl only made 2 errors in 31 chances. Carl also stole bases away from batters by making several brilliant plays.

Paul’s Preview

After MSC’s loss to Wagner in the Pride Bowl, the Hawks had their backs to the wall. A loss to Ramapo would all but wipe out any chances of a playoff appearance.

The worst possible scenario that could have happened came to life. Ramapo beat Montclair 17-14 for their first victory against Montclair in 11 tries.

RAMAPOED

“Losing to Ramapo was the worst loss we suffered in recent memory. It was a tough loss, but when it came down to it, we did not play as a complete team. Without pointing fingers, we were a one-dimensional team and that’s not how you win.”

TARANTO—BOND

“Kean’s offense is led by running back Rodney Bond, who is one of the finest backs in the conference. He hits the holes well and the defense will see a lot of him on Saturday. He gets the call about 20-25 times a game, so stopping him is our top chore.

If we stop him, that will force their freshmen quarterback Taranto to try to take charge. I believe if we force Taranto into that situation, we can control the tempo of the game.”

GET YOUR CAREER OFF TO A FLYING START

The Marine Corps is holding an Officer Training Orientation featuring FREE Helicopter Rides

We’re looking for a few good men who want to fly. You can join the most challenging and rewarding flight training program in the world. For the Freshmen and Sophomores who qualify, the Marine Corps can guarantee you a seat at flight school. Your only obligation is to remain on track for college graduation.

WHEN: Thursday, October 11 from 11am to 2pm
WHERE: Lincoln Park Airport. Vans will leave from the Student Center Annex

FOR MORE INFORMATION: Call the New Jersey Officer at: 1-800-0CS-USMC
Victor Kiam is a phony. You can cover up a slip of the tongue when those annoying "I bought the company" commercials come back on. But this is real life, baby, and unfortunately for Kiam, what he said to reporter Lisa Olson didn't end up on the floor of an editing room.

It's bad enough that the New England Patriots, along with the Pittsburgh Steelers, are the worst teams in professional football. Now Kiam and the Patriots have to deal with this needless distraction brought on by the stupidity and immaturity of several players and Kiam himself.

It seems that Kiam has continued to dig a hole for himself and his team as each day passes. His full page apology in the Boston Herald and New York Times was simply a token gesture in an attempt to appease both Olson and those considering a boycott of his Royale Products.

Unfortunately, the underlying reason for the public apology was the Almighty Dollar and therefore the signature bottom line.

Kiam denied in the apology that he called Olson a "classic bitch." However, two reporters, Tom Archdeacon and Glen Farley, both said that they would be willing to take polygraph tests to prove that Kiam did indeed utter that now infamous phrase. Both Archdeacon and Farley have absolutely nothing to gain by supporting Olson. There won't be any commercials or late night talk show appearances either. If this is the case, then do you think he's telling the truth?

Let's see here. The Mets season is over. Darryl Strawberry may have seen his last days in a Met uniform, and Joe McIlvaine is headed to San Diego to take over for an injured, Mr. M. Cashen, are you next, and if so can I pack your bags for you?

Is the Met ship sinking, and if so, is McIlvaine the last of the front office rats to leave? It's really too bad that a deal couldn't have been cut to send McIlvaine and Mr. Bow Tie as well. Your move, McIlvaine for leaving because the situation is ideal for him. He worked under the shadows of Cashen who pulled all the strings, made the deals and turned the Mets into a consistent second place ball club.

Make no mistake about it, the Mets have peaked and are on the verge of a major skid. Darryl's future is uncertain, Kevin McReynolds may be gone, and Ojeda and Darling will probably not be putting deposits down on condos in St. Januarius.

Has Frank Cashen destroyed the Mets? If you really don't think so, take the following into account. The Mets could have had an outstanding quartet of Kevin Mitchell in left, Lenny Dykstra in center, and Strawman in right. It hurts just to think of it.

Well folks, it's another long winter of what could have been. Just remember something—you can't live on 1986 forever.

After a week off via the NFC West bye, Jim Mora's Saints make a short trip to Atlanta to tangle with Jerry's Kids. While both teams own the same record (1-2), these are two squads going in very different directions.

Despite beating the Cardinals 28-7, Jim Mora's Saints will occupy the NFC West basement if his offense continues to stumble and fumble. The Saints can't win with John Fourcade as their quarterback. Even though Fourcade looked impressive last year, the Saint's passer has the lowest ranking of any NFL quarterback.

Fourcade's demise and Bobby Hebert's exile prompted GM Jim Finks to get Steve Walsh from the Cowboys. Considering the fact that Pinks gave up three high draft choices to get Walsh, Fourcade will soon be relegated to the bench possibly as soon as this game. When Walsh does start on a steady basis and gets a feel for the system, the Saint's quarterback problems will be over. Walsh is a very smart quarterback, but the adjustment to a new offense could take an undetermined amount of time to get used to.

The Saints running game has also been hurting all year. The Saints are averaging 36.2 yards a game behind the running of Dalton Hilliard, who scored 16 touchdowns last year, is off to a slow start and has yet to see the endzone. Backfield mate Dave Megyeri has been held in check in form after missing the entire 1989 season with a knee injury. The former Washington Star state hit paydirt three times against the Cards.

The boys in black have an offense that is on the verge of exploding, but Chris Miller hasn't been able to light the fuse yet. Miller is a-talented passer from Oregon and his receivers are perhaps the brightest young catchers in the game. Andre "Showtime" Rison and Shawn Collins make the nucleus of a passing/catching trio that will take them out of last place in the West. The Falcons' biggest problem is their other division rivals are the Niners and Rams, arguably two of the best teams in the NFL.

When Glavine decides to keep the ball on the ground, rookie Steve Broussard will get the call. Broussard, who injured his knee against the Niners, will start and will be the most important factor in the Atlanta attack.

In the Saints' opener against the Niners, defensive backs Tom Cook and Robert Massey kept Jerry Rice and John Taylor in check. In addition, the outstanding linebacker core of Sam Mills, Pat Swilling, and Ricky Jackson harassed Joe Montana repeatedly. Therefore, Atlanta's need to establish the ground game is imperative.

When the Falcons are on defense, Andre Bruce, Tony Casillas, and the rest of the hard hitting defense will have to concentrate on stopping the run. If the Falcons stop the run, Fourcade self-destructs and gets pulled from the game. Enter Steve Walsh - too little, too late.

Saints are 2-points home dogs on Sunday at 1 p.m. "Both are premier teams with a very good defense," says Saints coachTech. According to coach Ballway, if the rest of the season goes according to plan, the team will be able to point to this game as the one that turned it around.

Twelve minutes into the game, Judy DeMarco took her own rebound and passed it to Beth Weyman who took it in for the score from one yard out. It stayed 1-0 at the start of the second half, when Glassboro found itself on Red Hawk territory but could not inflect any damage even though they outshot Montclair 11-8. Freshman goalie Lisa Fardella had a solid game with six saves, but it was superb defensive play from players such as Jean Bayley and Kim Kelley that keyed the shutdown.

With a 2-1 win over William Paterson on Saturday afternoon, Montclair is over the .500 mark once again with a 4-3 record. Kara Bladwin and Judy DeMarco had the scores against William Paterson.

Kean is one of the team's arch rivals. This game, and the games against the National Powers. We're excited about the opportunity to play them. They should be hard fought and true contests for us," coach Masur said.

Kean is one of the team's arch rivals. This game, and the games against the National Powers. We're excited about the opportunity to play them. They should be hard fought and true contests for us," coach Masur said.

Kean is one of the team's arch rivals. This game, and the games against the National Powers. We're excited about the opportunity to play them. They should be hard fought and true contests for us," coach Masur said.

Kean is one of the team's arch rivals. This game, and the games against the National Powers. We're excited about the opportunity to play them. They should be hard fought and true contests for us," coach Masur said.
The Red Hawks no longer stand proudly atop the NJAC. The Ramapo Roadrunners made sure of that as they beat MSC 17-14 in Mahwah for the first time in Ramapo history.

The loss virtually eliminated MSC out of the playoff picture, as their record dropped to 2-2 (0-1 in NJAC play). The last time MSC dropped two of the first four weeks, the team would only result in a 38-yard field goal by placekicker Jim Young, to give the Hawks an early 3-0 lead.

The drive came to a sudden and dramatic halt three plays later when linebacker Maurette Movesson intercepted Banas, who threw another ill-advised pass as he was falling. The pass fell into the hands of Jimmy Williams’ hands and he raced 45 yards untouched, for Ramapo’s second touchdown of the game, to give Ramapo a 14-6 lead with 12:59 remaining in the contest.

Despite the startling turn of events, MSC answered right back on the ensuing kickoff. Banas shook off his second interception and completed 5 of 5 passes. The final pass was a 17-yard score to Emery Harris, who shook off a defender and brought Montclair within two points of tying the ballgame. MSC was successful on the two-point conversion, as Banas stood in the pocket and found Steve Piccininni in the end zone to knot it up at 14.

However, Ramapo would not be denied. James Grant marched his team with a mixed bag of handoffs and keepers. The big play came on 4th and 6 with 3:07 remaining and the ball on the MSC 39 yard line. Grant rolled right and connected with Gerald Jackson for a first down at the 12 yard line.

With 1:40 left in the ball game, Ramapo coach Joe Micelli sent in kicker John Moyer to attempt an 18 yard field goal. The kick was good and Ramapo led 17-14.

MSC had one last chance to win the ball game, but Banas was intercepted on fourth down by Durrell Stout to ice the victory for Ramapo.

After the contest, Ramapo players and fans celebrated by pulling down the goalposts. The goalposts were down and out were the heads of ‘Hawks as they wondered what went wrong.