Phi Sigma Sigma mourns founding sister

By K. Mun
Assistant News Editor

Michelle Stacey Friedman, 22, an MSC student, died at St. Joseph's Hospital in Paterson early Tuesday morning due to complications initiated by a severe asthma attack.

Her friends called her "Little One" teasing her of her size, but the name also stems from love and respect of her energy, vitality and ability to get things done.

Michelle was very loved at MSC. The several hundred people at her funeral and the size of the procession, both on Wednesday morning, attest to that fact. A large portion of the attending mourners were MSC students and faculty members, including the entire department of Recreational and Leisure Studies, her major.

Michelle's biggest love on campus was her sorority, Phi Sigma Sigma, and her sisters in it.

Caryn Hefter, a close friend and sorority sister, said the reason Michelle remained at school was because she loved the sorority so much.

Michelle had helped found Phi Sigma Sigma, MSC's first national sorority and she served on its judicial board. She served on the Executive Board of Greek Council and laid down much of the groundwork for the new Pan Hellenic Council at MSC.

She was also a member of the Jewish Student Union.

Her hometown was Freehold, N.J. and was in her fourth year at MSC.

An only child, Michelle is survived by her father, Bob and her mother, Maureen.

Services were held at Higgins Funeral Home in Freehold. Officiating was Rabbi Jon Konshelm of Temple Emmanuelle of Northern N.J. Michelle was buried at Freehold Hebrew Cemetery following service.

In recognition and honor of Michelle's dedication to her sorority, the Michelle Stacey Friedman Educational Grant has been set up by Phi Sigma Sigma to award a national member of Phi Sigma Sigma who shows similar dedication for the sorority and Greek life. Contributions may be sent to Phi Sigma Sigma Central Office, Michelle Stacey Friedman Fund, 23123 State Rd. 7, suite 250, Boca Raton, Fl. 33428. Michelle's name must be indicated somewhere on the donation.

Teach-in on Gulf War attracts 250 students

By Jessica Bien
Staff Writer

Michael Kogan, chairperson of the Philosophy and Religion department, said, "I guarantee that all the faculty are not as bizarre as we heard here." during a teach-in on the Persian Gulf War.

The teach-in was sponsored by several MSC faculty members and attracted about 250 students to the Student Center Ballrooms for two and a half hours early Thursday morning, Feb. 5.

"The government burns up millions of dollars a day to kill people," said Barbara Chasin of the Sociology Department.

Her argument focused on comparisons of the Persian Gulf War and Vietnam. The U.S. government manipulated the feelings of American people as to why they were at war in Vietnam, Chasin said.

According to Richard Franke of the Anthropology Department, the war will cost each American taxpayer $2,400 if the war lasts six months and up to $4,200 if it lasts longer.

He also said that the money being spent on the war will cause cuts in Medicare, Veterans' benefits and other underprivileged programs.

Irene Breznak, a graduate student who spoke at the teach-in, said that Americans act as if the war was a game. They watch war coverage as if it were Nintendo.

Many students who attended the teach-in said it was very one-sided.

"Most of the speakers were against the war, and gung-ho about putting down the government and the president," Cassandra Wetezel, a freshman, said after the teach-in.

Kogan later said, "It was very clear from the invitation I received (on page 13) that I, as a supporter of U.S. policy, would not be welcomed."

Rachel M. Bailey, a senior, said, "I thought the teach-in was supposed to educate us about the war. It ended up being a screaming match on why people are for or against the war. Arguments even erupted over totally unrelated topics."

Anolan Vega said after the teach-in, "You can be anti-war and patriotic at the same time. I believe in the U.S., but I don't agree with what our leaders are doing. There's a difference. People have the right to protest."
GULF UPDATE

-Saddam Hussein said he was willing to cooperate with the USSR to put an end to the Gulf War, but stressed Iraq's conviction to the special Soviet envoy Yevgeny M. Primakov. The Soviets did not explicitly describe what they had in mind, but it did not as of yet include an Iraqi withdrawal from Kuwait, which discounts U.S. attitudes toward the seriousness of such a comment.

-President Mikhail Gorbachev questioned the "logic" of U.S. operations in the Gulf and their possibility of going beyond U.N. mandates concerning the liberation of Kuwait. Senate minority leader Robert Dole of Kansas agreed with Gorbachev in as much as the destruction of the Iraqi military was not one of the goals set forth before the war began.

-The U.S. has been promised pledges of over $50 billion toward the Gulf War, but received only $5.3 billion in cash and $1.3 billion in material aid. Saudi Arabia has pledged $16.8 billion, Kuwait $16 billion, Japan $10.7 billion and Germany $6.6 billion. Over 200,000 troops have been deployed to the region by over 15 nations.

-An official Syrian newspaper urged Iraq to "liquidate" Saddam Hussein, declaring it to be not only a crime against Iraq, but "against all Arabs and Muslims." President Bush urged Jordan to stay neutral, threatening an elimination of over $85 million in foreign aid to the country.

-The Iraqi government announced that it would break all diplomatic ties with six nations: the U.S., Great Britain, France, Italy, Egypt and Saudi Arabia.

-Jordan ended its proclaimed neutrality by announcing its disgust with Allied bombing of Iraq, declaring it to be not only a crime against Iraq, but "against all Arabs and Muslims." President Bush urged Jordan to stay neutral, threatening an elimination of over $85 million in foreign aid to the country.

-Department of Defense Secretary Dick Cheney publicly announced that a ground offensive is necessary to bring about an end to the war. He felt the air war was effective but needs to be stepped up in intensity.

-The IRA claimed responsibility for a series of mortar attacks on the British cabinet in session with Prime Minister John Major in London this week. The attacks had been planned for months, according to the IRA. Three people were hurt in the attacks and the area was closed down for a day.

-Jean-Bertrand Aristide was sworn in as Haiti's newly elected President. Aristide is the country's first democratically-elected president, bringing hope to Haiti, which suffered years of despotism under the Duvalier regime.

INTERNATIONAL

-A nuclear accident in one of Japan's 37 such plants resulted in the emission of 8% of its annual radioactive exhaust. The accident occurred after a major leak in the cooling system of over 20 million gallons of water, which caused the core to leak, melting the radioactive fuel.

-Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev urged the disbanding of the Warsaw Pact Alliance by April 1, to the leaders of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Romania. Voluntary efforts involving political, economical and emergency issues may still be collaborated on, however.

-Lithuanians, in a special referendum, voted over 9 to 1 in favor of declaring their independence, amid Soviet military efforts to prevent it.

-The IRA claimed responsibility for a series of mortar attacks on the British cabinet in session with Prime Minister John Major in London this week. The attacks had been planned for months, according to the IRA. Three people were hurt in the attacks and the area was closed down for a day.

-Jean-Bertrand Aristide was sworn in as Haiti's newly elected President. Aristide is the country's first democratically-elected president, bringing hope to Haiti, which suffered years of despotism under the Duvalier regime.

NATIONAL

-The stock market surged to its highest level since Iraq's invasion of Kuwait, on over a 70 point gain. This is not only a signal of confidence in the U.S. war effort, of confidence in the Federal Reserve's decision to cut the prime lending rate. The Dow is now less than 100 points from 2999.75, a record high set on July 16 - 17 of last year.

-Fourteen living Vietnam veterans found their names among the 58,175 names of missing and dead on the Vietnam Veterans Memorial in Washington D.C. The mistake was caused by key punch error in transcribing the data.

-Terry Norris defeated Sugar Ray Leonard in a 12 round unanimous decision, defending his Superwelterweight title and retiring Leonard for ostensibly the last time. Leonard would retire with 36 wins, 2 losses and 1 split decision including 25 knockouts, at the age of 34. Leonard had won titles in 5 weight classes throughout his career.

-The department of Defense Interior proposed to open thousands of miles of shoreline to offshore oil drilling. The proposal still requires the approval of the President and Congress, but could greatly reduce U.S. dependence on foreign oil.

-Three men were arrested for conspiring to bomb the two chemical tanks in Norfolk last week. The act was not one of terrorism, but one designed as insurance fraud, as the three men held policies on the two tanks, which contained millions of gallons of methanol, and have it blamed for the fire that occurred.

-Roger Clemens became the first Major League Baseball player to earn over $5 million per year. Clemens signed a 4-year contract with the Boston Red Sox worth $21,521,000, making him the highest paid athlete in the U.S.
Bradley holds press conference on campus

By R.A. Campos
News Editor

Senator Bill Bradley addressed questions about the Persian Gulf War and Garbage Disposal in the state of N.J. at a press conference with weekly community newspapers at MSC on Tuesday, Feb. 12.

Bradley said that the U.S. Ambassador to Kuwait told Saddam Hussein, before America began its occupation of the area, that if they invaded "it would be an inter-Arab affair." He said this was almost inviting Iraq to take over the country.

"I would have preferred to strangle Saddam Hussein with sanctions. My hope was that it would inflict sufficient damage to let Iraqis realize that they were being ruled by a madman and attempt a coup d'etat. The new government would hopefully want to bargain for peace," Bradley said.

There are no restrictions on the war. "There are even some suggestions of using nuclear weapons," Bradley said.

He also said that people can, and should, express their opinions on the war, but that a commitment has already been made.

One of the causes of the war is definitely America's lack of energy and its dependence on oil, Bradley said. If the U.S. let Saddam Hussein take Kuwait, he would have also taken Saudi Arabia thus controlling 50% of the world's oil.

He said that N.J. should start looking at other types of energy sources, such as solar energy, which he favors.

Bradley said that N.J. should conserve energy at home. "People should stop sitting in parking lots called highways and start taking mass transit," he said.

He also supports recycling and, instead of incinerating the 40% of garbage in N.J. that isn't recycled, transporting the rest to landfill in other states.

"A ban on exporting garbage is unfair to states like N.J.," Bradley said. "For decades we had to accept garbage from N.Y. and Philadelphia. This garbage takes up to 50% of the space in our landfills."

Bradley also addressed the new tunnel being built from Wayne to Newark to drain the Passaic River so there will be no more damage to residents' property in the area.

He said that he would prefer to buy-out the area but that the tunnel would be more economical.

"The state has been given the decision on what to do about the situation," Bradley said. "However, in time a buy-out might be cheaper."

Bradley ended the conference by saying that he believes that weekly community newspapers are "the web of their communities," and would like to meet with them and discuss issues on a more regular basis.

Protest against higher tolls on N.J. Turnpike

The 1,000-member New Jersey Motor Truck Association is advising trucking companies to stay off the N.J. Turnpike.

The group is planning the boycott of the roadway to protest higher tolls beginning in late March.

Under the increased tolls, trucks will go from $10.40 to $20.80 for a six-axle truck driving the length of the turnpike from the Delaware Memorial Bridge to the George Washington Bridge.

Department of Transportation spokesperson Randy Linthurst says the boycott could choke local highways with traffic because toll-free state and interstate highways could not handle all the trucks that now travel the Turnpike.

The anti-tax group Hands Across New Jersey is also planning a motorcade Saturday to protest toll increases of 70 percent for cars and 100 percent for trucks.

Protestors will decorate their cars and trucks and drive 55 mph in the northbound truck lanes starting at 1 p.m. at interchange seven in Bordentown.

SGA News

Bill passed to educate students about war

By George Otchowski
Staff Writer

Legislator Glenn Laniewski drafted a bill that, if passed, will suspend all pro- and anti-war bills currently pending in the SGA for one month while the SGA will sponsor weekly open forums, teach-ins, discussions, etc. to inform the campus on events in the Persian Gulf. By doing this, the SGA hopes to get an accurate view as to how the entire campus stands on the war issue, and can then effectively represent the student population.

Laniewski attempted to bring the bill onto the floor for voting, but was instead placed into its proper committee. The bill will be voted upon Wednesday, February 20.

Two Class 1 Organizations received charters yesterday. The Student Intramural Leisure Council (SILC), which programs intramural sports such as basketball, football, volleyball, and indoor soccer, has a membership in excess of 40 members and has up to 300 students participating in events at any given time. "SILC, which was virtually nonexistent two years ago, is booming now," said president John Fiore.

Class 1 Concerts, responsible for bringing recording artists and shows to MSC was also granted a charter. Past performances include Meat Loaf, The Allman Brothers, Bad English, Eddie Money, The Hooters, and sponsored a laser show on February 12, 1991 in the Memorial Auditorium.

Class 1 Concerts also came up for an appropriation for $500 for a large picture frame and plaque for a painting of John Lennon, which is currently in the Class 1 Concerts office in the Student Center. Once framed, the painting will be displayed in one of three possible places in the Student Center.

Other paintings by the artist, Denny Dent, are usually sold to museums for $3,000.
Players presents

PIPPIN
a musical comedy

February 21, 22, 23
8pm, 22 at 2:15
Student Center Rm. 126
$2.00

"We've Got Magic to Do..."

a class 1 org. of the SGA
The Montclarion / Thursday, February 14, 1991

News

Campus Police Report
Compiled by William C. Hendrixson

Theft

-February 8 between 7:40 p.m. and 7:51 p.m. an MSC student reported the theft of his wallet in Panzer Gym leading Campus Police to investigate the area. A black male was found who fit the description of the individual who appeared in a composite sketch in last week’s Montclarion. The individual fit the description near perfectly, down to the expensive leather shoes he had been described wearing. After a police search however, no evidence was found which could link him to the crimes, he was released and told not to return to MSC. The man was not a student, but a resident of East Orange who had prior arrests for theft at Rutgers College in Newark. Campus Police are confident that this is the person who had been the recent rash of thefts on campus.

-February 12 between 3:30 p.m. and 3:50 p.m. an MSC student reported that his bookbag had been stolen from outside the bookstore while he had been shopping. The bookbag contained various school supplies, but no evidence of forced entry had been noticed, and no evidence of any high value.

-February 11 it had been reported that someone had stolen a handbag belonging to a student while they had been shopping. The handbag contained various school supplies, but no evidence of forced entry had been noticed, and no evidence of any high value.

Berman said the state’s economy will get worse before it gets better.

Berman was the first to testify yesterday before the Assembly Appropriations Committee, which has begun a series of 30 budget hearings. Berman said sales and income tax revenues have shown a “new ominous dip” but he said it is too early to tell how much the impact will be.

Berman also told the committee that the state’s budget deficit is far greater than the current estimate of $500 million and is actually closer to the $700 million estimated in an independent legislative report.

Berman said N.J.’s economic slide is the result of a continuing weak national economy, the Gulf War and federal interest rates.

N.J. economy will decline before it increases

(AP) - Trenton - N.J. Treasurer Douglas Berman said the state’s economy will get worse before it gets better.

Berman was the first to testify yesterday before the Assembly Appropriations Committee, which has begun a series of 30 budget hearings.

Berman said sales and income tax revenues have shown a “new ominous dip” but he said it is too early to tell how much the

FILM / THEATER

2-15 Fri. Rapunzel tickets available through Theatreworks USA 10:30 a.m. Memorial Auditorium (212) 420-8202.

2-17 Sun. Four Sons Film/Discussion on War Free 7:30 Calcia Auditorium.

2-19 Tues. Film: Mo’ Better Blues Free 8 p.m. Student Center

2-20 Wed. Takin’ Care of Business Free Two shows 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. Student Center Ballroom.

MUSIC

2-15 Fri. Violin Recital by Sylvia Rosenberg Free 8 p.m. McEachern Recital Hall 893-5228.

2-17 Sun. Faculty Recital $5, children under 12 $2. McEachern Recital Hall.

2-19 Tues. Faculty Guitar Recital-Andrew Schulman All-Bach program Free 8 p.m. McEachern Recital Hall 893-5228

EVENTS

2-14 Thu. African-inspired Fashion Show by designer Madinah Bilal $3.00 7 p.m. Student Center Ballrooms 893-7378.

WEEKLY

Sunday Mass 11 a.m. Kops Lounge

Sunday Mass 7 p.m. Newman Center
CLUB presents:

Spring Week Logo Contest

Winner will receive an assortment of 1991 Spring Week promotional items and the glory of having his/her artwork emblazoned across campus.

This year's theme is: "SPRING WEEK '91: CHILL..."

Please submit all artwork in an 8 X 10 format.
* 1 black and white
* 1 five color

Must say "MONTCLAIR STATE COLLEGE" AND "CLUB IS A CLASS I ORGANIZATION OF THE SGA"

Entries must be received by 12:00pm on February 25, 1991.

Bring Entries to room 112D in the Student Center Annex (Club Office)
The College Tutorial Center located in Building E, is posting its hours for the Spring '91.

The Center is open from 9am-4:30pm Mondays through Fridays. Evening hours are also available.

Sign-up for tutoring services will continue through April 5. Faculty and professional staff are encouraged to refer students to the Center before this date.

Further information may be obtained by calling the Tutorial Center at 893-4364.

ATTENTION ALL MAJORS:

Opportunity or a Life Time
N.J. Marketing Group
sponsored by the
Brothers of Kappa Alpha Psi, Inc,

IS HIRING!

Corporate Overview in the Calcia Arts Building Auditorium Wednesday Night at 7:30pm February 20, 1991

Full-time*Management Positions
$57,000-$93,000 a year plus benefits or
Part-time/while you go to school
$1,000-$5,000 a month plus benefits (depends on time and hours you put in)

Call to reserve a seat
912-0020

Angela Curtis/Senior/Accounting

THE DROP-IN CENTER
Peer Counseling and Referral Service

MEMO

TO: STAFF TRAINERS
FROM: THE DROP-IN CENTER

KEEP UP THE GOOD WORK!

Have a Happy Valentine's Day

A Service of the SGA
1991-92 FINANCIAL AID APPLICATIONS (NJFAF) ARE AVAILABLE

*FINANCIAL AID OFFICE COLLEGE HALL, C-321

*STUDENT CENTER INFO DESK

FILING DEADLINE: MARCH 1, 1991

* Stafford Loan applications must be submitted by May 1, 1991 in order to be processed prior to Fall '91 billing.
* Stafford Loan applications received after May 1, 1991 will not be considered for awards or deferments in time for Fall '91 billing.
* No deferments will be given for PLUS or SLS Loan applications.
You must file these applications by May 1, 1991 and have the loan proceeds to meet your fall term bill.

WIN

SUBMIT DESIGNS BY MARCH 1st in Room 103 of the Student Center
c/o Tony Susco,
SGA Pres.

$75

DESIGNS MUST INCLUDE:
- Name, Address, Phone #
- 8.5" x 14" Design
- Theme
Father Art Humphrey of the Newman Center held Ash Wednesday services in the Student Center ballrooms this week. Ash Wednesday is the start of Lent, the 40-day period before Easter.

By Belinda Diaz
Staff Writer

That Friday night, Jacqueline Martinez heard the sounds of the fighting first.

"I heard yelling and screaming, and my first instinct was to look out the window," she said. "I didn't see much, so I decided to run out and look over the balcony. I was halfway down the hallway when I heard a loud bang. I didn't think it was a gunshot."

Martinez, 23, a senior physical education major, is a Blanton Hall resident who was in the building on Friday, Feb. 1, when off-duty Irvington police officer Tracy Bowers shot a Montclair High School student during a fight in the lobby (The Montclarion, Feb. 8, 1991).

It is now nearly two weeks since the shooting, and there are still questions as to why the fighting started. Among Blanton Hall residents, there is a mixed sense of fear, anger, and indifference about the incident, as well as the new security measures that have gone into effect.

Since last Thursday, the magnetic doors closest to the desk area have been locked every day from 4:30 p.m. until 7:30 a.m. starting this Thursday, the doors near the Health Center will be magnetically locked from 7:00 p.m. to 7:30 a.m. There are now three desk attendants on duty instead of two, and residents now have to present both their keytag and mealcard as identification in order to enter the building.

For Blanton Hall Director Debbie LoBiondo, the new security measures are something that Blanton residents shouldn't take personally. "I know people have mixed feelings about them, but at the same time, they're for their own benefit," she said. "It's going to be a transition for everybody. Security is something that we've needed to look at for a while. It doesn't mean that something like this can't happen in other dorms."

Residents like Carmen Amalbert, 22, however, still fear for their safety, mostly because she knows of people who will go to great lengths to get into the building illegally. "I don't feel safe," said the early childhood studies major, who spoke of people memorizing social security numbers, and residents who pulled friends up into the building through second floor windows. Martinez knew of people who passed on keytags and building passes, or walked by the desk area when the lobby was crowded, traffic flow LoBiondo hopes to reduce by magnetically locking the desk doors.

"...it's a shame it takes a serious incident like this to get things fixed around here..."

Yet sophomore graphic design major Lorrie Garcia, 19, thinks that people will just find new ways to beat the security system, even though she is as surprised about the shooting as many residents were.

"I wasn't there that night, but I couldn't believe it when I found out," she said. "I thought things like that only happened in the street."

Sophomore Dollie Hunt, 20, has a different opinion about that night, and her own ideas about improving building security such as providing a sort of wallet holder for residents so that they won't have to fumble through pockets and purses in order to find their meal cards.

"I think they're blowing this way out of proportion," she said, adding that not all police officers make the best choices all the time.

From ashes to ashes: Lent begins

The doors by the college Health Center, a common Blanton Hall entrance for many students, will be magnetically locked at 7:00 p.m. as an additional safety measure.

Student shuttle driver on the "road" to Saudi Arabia

By Valerie Kalfrin
Outlook Editor

On an average day, Nick Popolivio visits the Student Center, the Quarry, Clove Road and College Hall over and over again. Yet, one of these days, he may be paying a visit to Saudi Arabia.

Popolivio, 23, is an industrial studies major in his fourth year at MJC. He drives one of the campus shuttle buses, and is the only student who works for the bus system.

He is also a member of the reserves, and is currently "on alert" to go to the Persian Gulf.

"I could go at the drop of a dime," he says. Popolivio joined the reserves in July of 1986, simply because he wanted to. A Newark native with three brothers and three sisters, he uses his two-and-a-half-year job with the bus system to support his education.

Since being placed on alert, he is essentially in a "waiting" position, waiting for the phone to ring with his orders to pick up and leave. Surprisingly, he says that he hasn't let his situation bother him.

"When I was first put on alert, I had a lump in my throat, but that's it," he says, adding that he doesn't think he'll even be called to the front lines. "I think things are going pretty good over there right now, and if it works out right, there should be minimum casualties. "It's hard to say if the war'll last much longer, though," he says. "It depends on how the tide turns. It's tough to speculate."

Popolivio currently has "a mess" of friends in the the war zone who have been in touch with him since their tour of duty began. "They say, 'Pop, we need you,' " he says. He speaks with a sense of humor about his job, encouraging all students to ride the shuttle.

"I don't feel safe," said the early childhood studies major, who spoke of people memorizing social security numbers, and residents who pulled friends up into the building through second floor windows. Martinez knew of people who passed on keytags and building passes, or walked by the desk area when the lobby was crowded, traffic flow LoBiondo hopes to reduce by magnetically locking the desk doors.

"...it's a shame it takes a serious incident like this to get things fixed around here..."

Yet sophomore graphic design major Lorrie Garcia, 19, thinks that people will just find new ways to beat the security system, even though she is as surprised about the shooting as many residents were.

"I wasn't here that night, but I couldn't believe it when I found out," she said. "I thought things like that only happened in the street."

Sophomore Dollie Hunt, 20, has a different opinion about that night, and her own ideas about improving building security such as providing a sort of wallet holder for residents so that they won't have to fumble through pockets and purses in order to find their meal cards.

"I think they're blowing this way out of proportion," she said, adding that not all police officers make the best choices all the time.
SGA SERVICES

FREE LEGAL ADVICE

WHEN EVERY WEDNESDAY
1:30-6:00 PM

WHERE
SGA OFFICE
1st FLOOR
STUDENT CENTER

DON'T GO IN COLD...
PREPARE NOW FOR THE

GRE, GMAT
OR
LSAT

CLASSES NOW FORMING

LOOK FOR OUR TABLE AT
THE STUDENT CENTER 2/20, 2/21

LIVINGSTON...535-1100
MORRISTOWN...984-7777

SECRETARY FOR DRS. OFFICE

PART-TIME 2 DAYS A WEEK
MON., WED., OR THURS.
9:00 AM - 4:00 PM OR 9:00 AM - 2:00 PM

MUST BE VERY BRIGHT
AND QUICK TO LEARN
MUST BE AN "A" STUDENT
NO EXPERIENCE NECESSARY
FILING, PHONE WORK.
INSURANCE FORMS.

$10.00 AN HOUR TO START
CALL (201) 569-2988
CALL BETWEEN 8:30
AND 4:00 PM ONLY

A HERITAGE IN PRINT

See our display of Black History
Month titles today
The College Store
Blanton residents react

cont. from p. 9
time, and that no one really knows what he was thinking at that moment.

Blanton desk assistant Rob Feldman, 20, believes the shooting was an accident, although he did recognize that Blanton is a major stop for students because of the cafeteria, Health Center and shuttle stop.

Feldman, a mathematics major, added that he felt LoBiondo and other Residence Life staff on duty that night did an exceptional job under the circumstances, and that elevators and rear fire doors have been fixed since the incident.

"I just think it's a shame that it takes a serious incident like this to get things fixed around here," he said. "Now all we need is for someone to get raped in the parking lot so they can install lights down there."

However, LoBiondo added that she wished the "shock treatment" would extend to the residents themselves.

"We're trained as extensively (in crisis intervention) as we can be," she said, adding that it was the first time in her 12 years in her position that she had had to deal with a shooting incident and that she has received positive feedback.

Even after the shooting incident, she said, residents have still propped open fire exit doors with bricks or cans to allow people access to the building.

"It amazes me that they would do that after an incident of that magnitude," she said. "I can't comprehend it."

Student waits for that phone call

cont. from p. 9
"Don't knock it 'til you've tried it," he says, grinning at allusions to the comments students make on the competency of the other shuttle drivers. "They (the students) love us."

He says that only a "handful" of people on campus know of his situation, and that he plans to enter the Army full-time after "hopefully" graduating in December.

Life, to him, is fairly normal, although he does have something to think about once in a while.

"Sometimes it's hard to go to sleep, thinking that they're going to give me that call," he says. "I'm ready to do anything I have to do and get back," he says. "We want peace."

Looking Back

By Chris Panepinto

Ten years ago this week, something unwanted was catching in Bohn Hall, while five years ago, Campus Police was hoping more funding would stop a greater crime wave from catching on...

Feb. 12, 1981

"Fires set in Bohn Hall"

Four "intentionally set" fires on the fourth, fifth, and sixth floors over a 24-hour period caused concern among the administration, campus police, and students. Campus Police Sgt. Charles Giblin said there were two witnesses and a composite sketch of the suspect Giblin said that the suspect, if convicted, would be subject to an up to $100,000 fine and/or a five to 10-year prison sentence.

Feb. 20, 1986

"MSC sees largest rise in campus crime rate ever"

An unusually high number of Class One Uniform Reported Offenses occurred during winter break in the wake of a semester-long crime wave. The highest and longest in MSC history. Thirty offenses alone occurred during the month of January. Campus Police Sgt. William Hotaling said that observation posts and foot patrols around the campus would help increase security, while Lt. Michael Postanski said a better-staffed escort service plus another vehicle would improve the situation. Hotaling added, though, that funding was the main problem.

All Around the Campus: The Community Speaks

Compiled by William Palm

Will the start of the ground war change your opinion on the war?

Mildred Pellot
Sophomore/Undeclared

"No, I still fully support the war because we have a duty to fulfill over there. My heart goes out to the troops in the Middle East and I hope they return safely."

Russ "Crash" Siminoff
Junior/Business

"I still support the war and the troops. There will be more deaths, but it still has to be done."

Kimber Decker
Financial Aid

"I didn't want the war to start. Then once it started, I supported the troops, not the violence. With the ground war, I'm more scared of how many troops will die. I wish the war would stop."

Erica Smith
Freshman/Undeclared

"Not really. I feel that the ground war is inevitable. It's part of the process in order to get that psychopath out of power. As Debbie Gibson says, 'Anything is possible.' Hopefully the war will end soon. God bless the troops."

Mildred Pellot
Sophomore/Undeclared

"I still support the war and the troops. There will be more deaths, but it still has to be done."

Kimber Decker
Financial Aid

"I didn't want the war to start. Then once it started, I supported the troops, not the violence. With the ground war, I'm more scared of how many troops will die. I wish the war would stop."

Erica Smith
Freshman/Undeclared

"I still support the war and the troops. There will be more deaths, but it still has to be done."
Time and place for protest

On Thursday, February 7, several faculty members of MSC made it mandatory or strongly urged their classes to attend a teach-in on the war in the Persian Gulf. The forum, which was organized by teachers against U.S. policy in the Gulf, did little to "teach" students about what is actually going on, and was largely aimed at swaying the students of this campus to agree with their opinion.

We at The Montclarion feel it is wrong for teachers to force students into attending lectures on the war during class periods, especially one that was clearly organized by one side of the argument. Of course the forum was open, and any one with an opinion on the war was permitted to speak. But we feel it is difficult for someone with an opinion supporting U.S. policy to be heard after a dozen speakers against the war have gone before him. This forum was not truly an open one, but an exercise in propaganda aimed at presenting only one side of the issue; the intent being to sway people in favor of that point of view.

We do not oppose teach-ins when they are actually attempting to inform students on all perspectives involved with an issue.

Letters from the SGA

Contest for best theme for a "New Rat"

The Rathskellar, what a place, an ideal location for having your wedding reception. I think not. This campus is missing a place where all students can congregate in a social atmosphere and not be surrounded by pool tables.

At present, a college wide committee is re-designing the Rathskellar, and plans to renovate the kitchen and remove the bar have been approved. REMOVE THE BAR! Yes, remove the bar, unfortunately that baby is way past its prime and is in need of a replacement.

My recommendation to redo the bar was made under the condition that new designs for the Rat would include the ability for alcohol service. Its removal will also bring us one step closer towards reconstruction of a better Rathskellar for our campus.

Within the legislature of the Student Government, a committee has been established to develop a theme and new design that will be submitted as the student’s proposal to the College-Wide Committee. This SGA Committee is sponsoring a contest for the best design and theme. All entries should consider, construction of a new south side entrance, the addition of wall partitions, replacing the ceiling and flooring and new dual lighting are the proposed changes that you may wish to incorporate into your design. A $75 prize will be awarded to the best design. All entries must be submitted on 8 1/2 x 11 paper by Friday, March 1, 1991 in the SGA office, room 103 of the Student Center Annex.

If you have any questions or additional suggestions, please feel free to participate in our Student Government Committee meetings on Mondays at 12 noon in room 112 of the Student Center Annex. Submitted by,

Anthony Vito Susco
SGA President
I would like to respond to the editorial by Matthew J. Shwartz in the February 5th issue of The Montclarion. No doubt Mr. Shwartz’s letter was meant to be confrontational and Mr. Shwartz is certainly entitled to express his opinion about S.T.A.N.D., the War, and a member of MSC’s faculty. However, I can’t help myself but to respond to several statements Mr. Shwartz makes in his letter.

First, I was present for a portion of the S.T.A.N.D. forum and, from what I observed, I feel that Mr. Shwartz has misinterpreted the purpose of the forum which was not meant to function as an American-bashing contest. Mr. Shwartz must realize that during a time of war such as this, when the government and the media are doing their best to convince Americans that this war is not only justified, but in our best interests, those who disagree and who are unwilling to allow the government and the media to create their opinions for them, have a passionate need to educate others of the facts. Those who spoke out against the war at S.T.A.N.D.’s forum truly believe, as I do, that this war is not in the best interests of anyone, and that war is not justifiable under any circumstance. This opinion is not one created out of this air nor by the media. It is an opinion based on history. Shwartz’s letter makes S.T.A.N.D. (whom Shwartz refers to as Stupid Tiresome Annoying Nobodies on Dope) out to be a malevolent organization whose beliefs are based on illusions. If S.T.A.N.D.’s forum expressed more anti-war sentiments than pro-war enthusiasm this stems merely from a need to create some balance on a campus – and in a country – where the majority of the population is, unfortunately, pro-war.

The second aspect of Shwartz’s letter I would like to address is his inappropriate assault on the character of Dr. Grover Furr. I do not know Dr. Furr personally but neither, presumably, does Mr. Shwartz. To assume and to state publicly that Dr. Furr is “just a bald-headed communist” whose “parents must have ignored him as a child” as though such an assumption could serve to explain Furr’s political point-of-view is reprehensible and a blatant misuse of the freedom of speech which Mr. Shwartz claims to value so dearly.

It’s clear from his letter that Mr. Shwartz has little knowledge or understanding of the political issues about which he is trying to write. He seems to believe, as does President Bush, that war can be used as a strategy to create peace and this is simply not so. Mr. Shwartz expresses his ignorance profoundly when he states: “It’s because of wars fought against dictators...that protects your freedom to protest and bash America.” There are few freedoms, if any, that are protected during war. In fact, the freedom of “life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness” has already been denied to the thousands of Americans who will die for oil in the Persian Gulf. If a draft is initiated, it could easily be denied to Mr. Shwartz as well.

Amy A. Glavashic
junior/English

Revisiting Animal Farm

“Four legs good, Two legs bad.” Does anyone remember this proverb? I forget now, whether this is the principle law or only one of its corollaries. It has indeed been a long time since I last read Orwell’s Animal Farm...I feel the need to look it over again. Seems to me that of late there are an awful lot of “four legs” rearing up and spouting nonsense. I have read many different opinions concerning this war. Some are very patriotic, others very sad and emotionally drained. There are those that are very analytical, filled to overflowing with numbers, maps and graphs. Still others are very sensitive and picture mothers with their crying children. There are those that are very sensible, in fact most people try to put a sensible face on their opinion. Some are simply patent nonsense, usually in a humorous vein. And then there are the rare glimpses of pure fanaticism. I caught such glimpses of pure fanaticism. I caught such a glimpse the other day while browsing through the school paper.

I opened the paper to the letters section, and saw there an article expressing an opinion on the Persian Gulf conflict. I began with a sign as I read the first paragraph, feeling understanding for its author, yet not sure of its agreement or disagreement with his opinion. As I read on, it became more and more clear that the author was going further beyond the stretches of reality than I was willing to follow him. In fact as I concluded reading his final paragraphs, it was with a sense of horror bordering on rage. I sat back to ponder my own views in light of what I had just read. I kept thinking about those ordinary looking men and women who first went over there - those “weekend warriors” as well as their regular service counterparts - all of whom never bargained for more than training exercises with phony ammunition and bogus threats, until that one day now look towards a very bleak horizon. War is not pretty. No matter how neatly Ted Koppel and his gang of fellow actors trim it to fit into neat thirty minute time slots, war is not a moment to be viewed on the screen like a sound bite. War is an accumulation of on-going horrors, tension, wounding and death on a scale unimaginable for any rational human being. We all know this, regardless of our politics. For this reason reading this article in the Montclarion disturbed me even more. Here is a man, angry about the situation in the gulf, as am I. However, this man stills us in his anger, belittling against American foreign policy the past two madmen’s over anxious military ambitions that we must have neutral here at home? S.T.A.N.D. has stood against protests, no demonstrations, but has opted instead to educate the college community on the ill fated choices our leaders have made for us. The members of S.T.A.N.D. are patriotic Americans who believe the war in the Gulf is not in the best interests of MSC students. We believe our media gives us slanted information that is best suited for public opinion. How then can we form a truly solid educated opinion on the crisis? Easy. 1. Open your mind. 2. Question your leaders 3. Listen to both sides of the issue 4. Analyze the history of our country and the truth that have been kept from the public and 5. Analyze the costs and future implications of a war of this magnitude. If it is hard to come up with a reasonable justification for the war and the future deaths of your friends and mine, start coming to forums and speak out held by S.T.A.N.D., the SGA and the faculty to raise your consciousness. If you find them biased, if you disagree with what is said, then by all means SPEAK YOUR MIND. Try to refrain from pushing the president of your organization or knocking expensive pieces of equipment to the ground. Support the troops, pray for peace.

James Appleit Cotter
junior/secretary of S.T.A.N.D.

Understanding the real S.T.A.N.D

I am writing in response to Matt Shwartz’s last week’s reader’s letters regarding S.T.A.N.D’s recent forum and Grover Furr’s position on Operation Desert Storm.

First and foremost, let’s get one thing straight. I’d like to announce publicly that the position of Grover Furr or any individual member of S.T.A.N.D does not necessarily represent the organization as a whole. In other words, every word that comes out of Grover Furr’s mouth should not be taken as the gospel according to S.T.A.N.D. He is not a member of STAND nor should be equated with S.T.A.N.D. When Furr makes reckless and irrational statements such as “I hope American forces get defeated in the Gulf,” I cringe just as much as any pro war student, yet I am intelligent enough to sift through the ridiculous and get to the facts. And the facts are, ladies and gentlemen, that taking pot shots at members of S.T.A.N.D by calling them “blubbering idiots” or “Stupid Tiresome Annoying Nobodies on Dope” only shows lack of confidence on the parts of those who feel the only way to get their points across is to make unwarranted and adolescent statements in order to bring down politically conscious Americans who want to see peace in their lifetimes.

My stomach turns after reading Matt Shwartz’s pointless and ignorant opinions regarding a forum conducted by S.T.A.N.D. I take his points personally because I was the unfortunate individual who chaired the forum. I did my best to give everyone equal and ample time to speak on their feelings regarding the war, and I am insulted that it was suggested that the forum was held as a mere excuse for anti war students to vent their “un American” rhetoric. On the contrary, it was only when a few pro war students took it upon themselves to speak out of turn did the forum become uncontrollable. Other than a few incidents, every student was given ample time to speak their mind. That is the point of an OPEN forum, that no matter how outrageous the statements may be, whether Matt Shwartz’s or Grover Furr’s, each individual has a right to speak. If you cannot respect that right, then go down to the Rat and watch Oprah and vent your anger and frustration at her. It is not enough that we have a war raging over two madmen’s over anxious military ambitions that we must have neutral here at home? S.T.A.N.D. has stood against protests, no demonstrations, but has opted instead to educate the college community on the ill fated choices our leaders have made for us. The members of S.T.A.N.D. are patriotic Americans who believe the war in the Gulf is not in the best interests of MSC students. We believe our media gives us slanted information that is best suited for public opinion. How then can we form a truly solid educated opinion on the crisis? Easy. 1. Open your mind. 2. Question your leaders 3. Listen to both sides of the issue 4. Analyze the history of our country and the truth that have been kept from the public and 5. Analyze the costs and future implications of a war of this magnitude. If it is hard to come up with a reasonable justification for the war and the future deaths of your friends and mine, start coming to forums and speak out held by S.T.A.N.D., the SGA and the faculty to raise your consciousness. If you find them biased, if you disagree with what is said, then by all means SPEAK YOUR MIND. Try to refrain from pushing the president of your organization or knocking expensive pieces of equipment to the ground. Support the troops, pray for peace.

Dave Edgar
junior/English
Phoning home from Saudi Arabia

I woke at 8:30 Sunday morning to the phone ringing. My first thoughts were, "Who would be calling me this early on a Sunday, and what could they possibly want?"

As I answered the phone I noticed that there was a lot of static on the line. In the distance I heard someone yelling, "Hello, Lee?" I immediately recognized the voice, although I had not heard it in weeks — it was my stepfather. The reason the connection was so bad was because he was calling from Saudi Arabia. You see, on December 20 we got the call that his unit had been activated, and that he had one week left at home. Merry Christmas...

People tell me that it’s insane that a 56 year old man would be sent to war. But these are crazy times. I think it’s sad that any man or woman, regardless of his/her age, has to be family and friends, but he did what he believed was right. And for that I respect and support him. My father did not want to leave his family about waking to air raid sirens, and hearing the SCUD missiles explode in the sky above him. What was I doing at that time? Probably working, or sleeping, or out somewhere with my friends. My father did not want to leave his family and friends, but he did what he believed was right. And for that I respect and support him.

I happened to be on campus last Tuesday (Feb. 4) for STAND’s “War Protest”. I find it ironic that students were protesting war with anger, violence, and arguing. How can we expect the war in the Middle East to end when there’s just as much fighting going on over here? And regardless of your beliefs concerning the war, at least have some respect for the people who are over there living that hell. Right or wrong they are there for us. And if peace is truly our aim, then maybe next week there should be a moment of silence, instead of all the mindless screaming and yelling, where people could pray, or wish, or hope, or whatever they choose to do, that this war come to an end. It’s hard to know what to believe anymore. Every Sunday night I sit in church at the Newman Center and stare at my father’s name on the list of people sent to war. Each week that list grows. And chances are some of those people won’t be coming home. What amazes me most is that my life continues as usual, while his has changed so drastically. The first week he was there he told my mother about waking to air raid sirens, and hearing the SCUD missiles explode in the sky above him. What was I doing at that time? Probably working, or sleeping, or out somewhere with my friends. As he spoke to me on the phone I could hear jets taking off in the background. He explained the planes were going to bomb a target. “They’re bombing constantly now,” he added, “What could I say to him? All I could manage to tell him was that I loved him very much, and to take care of himself, and to please come home soon because I missed him. That is what this war is about.

Lisa A. Cavalieri
Alumna 1990

Teachers urged colleagues and their students to attend forum on war in Gulf

As educators and citizens we are deeply concerned about the war in the Middle East. We are disturbed that the United States government has once again sent its massive military forces to a remote part of the world in pursuit of questionable policies. We fear the political, economic, environmental, and human consequences of war. And we have observed with dismay the propaganda campaign with which the government has attempted to justify the war.

Please join us for a teach-in on the war on Thursday, February 7, from 9 a.m. until 12 noon in the Student Center Ballroom A. Bring your classes if you can, and please encourage students and colleagues to attend as well.

Thank you. We look forward to seeing you on Thursday.

Fuuzia Afzal-Khan, English
Grover Purr, English
Carmen Averio, Spanish/Italian
Paul Arthur, English
Joanne Engelbert, English
Janet Cutler, English
Dick Franke, Anthropology
Alice Preed, Linguistics
Peter Freund, Sociology
Freda Newbold, Sociology

James Harris, Student Activities
Ron Hollander, English
Mary Holley, Sociology
Tina Jacobowitz, Ed. Leadership
Linda Levine, Spanish/Italian
Lorraine Mayfield-Brown, Sociology
Carlos Ortiz SHSS
Maria Schantz, Ed. Leadership
Larry Schwartz, English
Steve Seegmiller, Linguistics
Michael Siporin, Fine Arts
Sharon Spencer, English
Amy Srebnick, History

WHY WE FIGHT
A FILM SERIES
CALCIA FINE ARTS BUILDING, ROOM 135
FOUR SONS
Directed by John Ford
FRI. Feb. 17
7 p.m.
FREE ADMISSION

WHY WE DON'T
A silent movie with live musical accompaniment, "Four Sons" is an affecting melodrama of a long-suffering widow whose beloved sons fight opposing sides in World War I.

FOR RETURN CREDIT

COUPON

COUPON

COUPON

COUPON

COUPON

COUPON

COUPON

COUPON

COUPON

COUPON

COUPON

COUPON

COUPON

COUPON

COUPON

COUPON

COUPON

COUPON
Steve Martin's Story about Los Angeles

By Maria Russo
Correspondent

That wild and crazy guy, Steve Martin is back in yet another comedy smash called "L.A. Story." Martin himself wrote, and co-produced, and stars in this comedy/love story.

That's the trick with this movie in particular. Everyone knows Martin for being this hilarious comic and he is. But, when writing this he gave it a twist and added a bit of forbidden fairy-tale romance that could only happen in L.A.

The movie jests with the L.A. scene. It poking fun at social rituals of L.A. people (kissing everyone as soon as you walk into a room) and that having a gun on the freeway is a definite must. Through the eyes of Harris K. Telemacher (Steve Martin's character) he shows us all the humor that lies within living in L.A.

The twist of the story is that there is romance. Harris K. Telemacher is this goofy weatherman who doesn't like his job nor his girlfriend (Marilu Henner). He doesn't realize he is unhappy until he meets his destined Sara (played by Victoria Tennant, who just happens to be his wife in real life), a journalist from England doing a story on life in L.A. She is his salvation. The only problem is his girlfriend and his job. One by one these problems go away, the first one being the loss of his job when he predicts the wrong weather. His problems go away, the first one being the loss of his job when he predicts the wrong weather.

For others it's Cinderella. Although I've never been a Cinderella junkie, I did have a Cinderella tape back in high school. I loved that tape, but I lent it to someone and never saw it again (and yes, I was too cheap to buy a new one).

The album I had was Night Songs, Cinderella's first multi-platinum album that featured "Nobody's Fool". The album put

Remember The Rembrandts

By Lisa Mieczkowski
Staff Writer

Phil Solem and Danny Wilde began their musical careers in the late seventies with a Los Angeles band called Great Buildings. Apparently, Great Buildings collapsed after their first album to the unpredictable music industry and the two went their separate ways to go solo.

Danny Wilde went into his home studio and emerged with an album in 1988. Unfortunately, his album failed, and in an attempt to form a new band, he called his friend Phil Solem. Shortly after that, Pat Mastelotto (drums) and Dave Zeman (keyboards) were called to play on the Rembrandts demo.

Solem flew to California to be with Wilde and they immediately began writing and recording new material for an album. Solem and Wilde put their heads and their talents together to create The Rembrandts. This album is basically comprised of jams from their first garage tapes. In fact, the songs are in the same order as they were conceived. Solem and Wilde wouldn't have had it any other way. The Rembrandts' work is similar to Squeeze and Crowded House but is definitely influenced by some of the 60's style acoustic guitars and harmonies.

This album contains a very creative post-modern sound which I found interesting. Also,
MICHELLE STACEY FRIEDMAN
EDUCATIONAL GRANT
In Honor of Michelle Stacey Friedman October 4, 1968 - February 11, 1991

For those who wish to remember Michelle and honor her memory, please contribute to the Phi Sigma Sigma Foundation in Michelle's name:

PHI SIGMA SIGMA FOUNDATION
Michelle Stacey Friedman Fund
23123 State Road 7, Suite 250
Boca Raton, FL 33428

Please make checks payable to Phi Sigma Sigma Foundation and include Michelle's name on the check. This grant will provide educational assistance to women of Phi Sigma Sigma who serve the Campus Community in Michelle's spirit.

Thank you for your support.
ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT

Popcorn is flopcorns

Tom Villard in a tale of childhood terror and a desire for revenge

By Adriana Megaro
Staff Writer

Every once in a while I get in the mood for a good, scary horror flick. Unfortunately, one of the only ones playing this week was Popcorn. Against my better judgement I went to see it.

This film stars Tom Villard as Toby and Jill Schoelen as Maggie, (not exactly box office draw), who along with their film class decide to host a "Special Horror Sci-Fi and Supernatural Film Festival". Their goal is to scare the audience with live special effects as they are watching the horrorthon.

Capsule Movie

Book of Love. Starring Chris Young.
A man remembers his high school years in the 1950s. Young (from the TV show Married People) portrays the teenager. The movie deals with his relationships with his brother, mother, father and friends. Although this movie is not dull, it doesn't have any particular high point. $1.25

Once again Hunter and Dreyfuss team up to portray two people in love with each other. Hunter, desperate to marry, meets Dreyfuss while on the job. Dreyfuss is a successful, somewhat arrogant salesman. Hunter is wonderful as a woman who finds herself in a fantastical relationship, and Dreyfuss is perfectly crazy as a wild guy. $5.00

Awakenings. Starring Robert DeNiro and Robin Williams. Williams is hired to watch mentally impaired patients in "the garden," as one orderly calls it, a place where all attendants have to do is water and watch them. But Williams is a doctor with a strong background in research. He finds a connection between some of his patients and detects some signs of interaction. He discovers how some patients respond to different music, and then tries an experimental drug on DeNiro, which awakens him, but not without consequences. A deeply touching movie, based on a true story, that is sure to win some Oscars.

The Replacements have Attitude

By Oren Silverstein
Staff Writer

The years certainly have not been kind to the Replacements. Despite almost unanimous critical praise for each of their previous efforts and strong support from the college radio play lists, they have not been able to capture the same type of a garage and audience that their stylistic brethren have achieved.

While bands like The Cure and R.E.M. have built on their initial underground following and eventually graduated to arena tours and platinum album sales, the Replacements have continuously been on the verge of "The Big Break."

The closest the 'Mats have come to that level was with their last album, "Don't Tell A Soul." With the aid of the radio success of the songs "I'll Be You" and "Talent Show," the album sold in the 300,000 copy range. This was a respectable figure, although hardly noteworthy in the light of today's multimillion sellers.

Things weren't helped by their disastrous stint opening up for Tom Petty and the Heartbreakers. The tour was supposed to be an opportunity for the band to work with a more professional group of musicians while at the same time exposing themselves to a larger audience. Unfortunately, in the words of leader Paul Westerberg, ("the band) had sort of quit playing music by mid-summer...we played maybe three or four nights brilliantly, and the rest were mediocre to god-awful."

Dispirited after this unfortunate period, the band returned home to their native Minneapolis and drifted apart to consider the future of the band. Eventually, lead/songwriter/singer/guitarist Westerberg produced the lyrics for what would be the current Replacements album, "All Shook Down."

Westerberg continued on his efforts without the group's Bemot Tench, Concrete Blonde's Johnette Napolitano, John Cale, Charles Greany and several others. The other three Replacements only appear individually, or in pairs on the album's thirteen tracks. The four band members only play together on one track; the country-esque "Attitude."

The resulting album was originally supposed to be called "High-Tech Demo" and would be Paul Westerberg's solo album. The executives at Warner Brothers balked at this move and insisted that the record be marketed as a Replacements album, since Paul Westerberg had even limited name recognition.

Even if "All Shook Down" is not a true 'Mats album, it is an excellent place for the uninitiated to start. Less angry and abrasive than previous works like "Tim" and "Let It Be," it still captures the energy and exhilaration of the band of earlier times. Songs like, "Bent Out of Shape," "Somebody Take the Wheel," and "My Little Problem" (a smoking duet with Johnette Napolitano) best exemplify the fire of earlier Replacements albums.

What may be most shocking to old 'Mats fans is the acoustic orientation and the slower pace of the other songs on the album. If anything, this album is even quieter than "Don't Tell A Soul." But, unlike the last album, "All Shook Down" has a minimum of studio polish and instead is a return to the band's garage band roots. The charmingly unprofessional vibe one gets from the album demonstrates that the quieter tone of the album is less from record company pressures for a hit, than from Paul Westerberg's maturation as a songwriter.

Upon release of "All Shook Down" last fall, the future of the band seemed uncertain. There were rumors that the band was splitting up, and the departure of Chris Mars seemed to be confirmation. In the intervening months, Mars has been replaced with new drummer Steve Foley, and the 'Mats are going out on tour, hitting the New York area sometime in March.

NEW RELEASES

This Week

Feb. 14: The Silence of the Lambs. Jodie Foster and Anthony Hopkins star. The film follows an F.B.I. agent (Foster) as she tracks down a serial killer. This Valentine's Day release promises to be so terrifying, you might want to bring your sweetheart just in case.

Feb. 15: He Said, She Said. Kevin Bacon and Elizabeth Perkins star. The film traces the marriage of two competitive Baltimore Sun columnists from each person's point of view. Interesting plot, we'll see if we like what "they" said.

Rembrandts

Cont. from 15

I was quite impressed with the lyrics. Some of the subjects ranged from love to breaking up to being alone, right to hard, cold reality. This album is not all sunshine and rainbows. Clearly, the Rembrandts have put their heart and soul into their music. This band enjoys what they do and it shows.

This down to earth, laid back sound is very easy to get used to. Normally I don't listen to post-modern, country rock type music but I enjoyed this album immensely. For those interested, The Rembrandts will be planning an acoustic club tour very soon. I rated this album four stars because it wasn't my type of music and I still found it to be very good. If you are interested in new music, buy this tape, you'll love it.

The Montclarion / Thursday, February 14, 1991

17
Laser Show Cont. from 15

One of the evening’s highlights didn’t involve the lasers at all, yet conveyed the awesome power of music and images. Pictures of entertainers such as Elvis, James Dean, and John Lennon, plus scenes, headlines, and news clips from their lives and untimely deaths, were played against the audio backdrop of Elton John asking, “Tell me what it takes to make you love me…” It was a surprisingly poignant moment that was also tastefully done, and was one of the few moments during the show that the crowd in Memorial interrupted with applause.

The show wasn’t without its drawbacks. The smoke was necessary for some of the effects, but it was irritating to the eyes, and those of us sitting in the front or center were repeatedly “blinded” by flashes of white light behind the screen onstage.

The show wasn’t without its drawbacks. The smoke was necessary for some of the effects, but it was irritating to the eyes, and those of us sitting in the front or center were repeatedly “blinded” by flashes of white light behind the screen onstage.

Overall, a refreshing change of pace for the audience from the final—there was none! At the end of the program, after one song ended, the house lights came on. I looked around bewildered behind the screen onstage that we got the real message.

My biggest complaint, though, comes from the finale—there was none! At the end of the program, after one song ended, the house lights came on. I looked around bewildered behind the screen onstage that we got the real message.

Overall, a refreshing change of pace for the audience from the final—there was none! At the end of the program, after one song ended, the house lights came on. I looked around bewildered behind the screen onstage that we got the real message.

By Neal Dougherty
Correspondent

Apparently The Wilsons are a local band. Hell, Rutherford is local enough and Eric Artz Editor mentioned that they were a local entity when I passed them up last week, opting instead to listen to a familiar and thoroughly accomplished guitarist who was thoroughly disappointing.

The Wilsons present four songs on this two sided Maxi Single. Being a chronological type of guy I played side one first. I liked it, no big deal, but, I liked it nonetheless.

However, side A as opposed to side one, apparently there is no side B side by design. Anyhow side A is the standout side. Musically side A and The Wilsons sound like Echo & The Bunnymen, in fact they sound so much like the aforementioned Echo et al., that I played their 87 Warner Bros. album featuring Bedbugs and Ballyhoo which sounded very Alvin like until I lowered the speed back to 33 1/3. See, The Wilsons Maxi Single was recorded at 45 revolutions per minute, which makes it go too fast. Obviously it makes the Bunnymen spin too fast but, in factuality it makes The Wilsons Demo disappear too fast also.

Four songs does not an informed reviewer make. I require more material to reaction make. I require more material to make an accurate and an honest assessment. But the deal here is I would like to hear more and I look forward to doing just that. Imagine that!

Cinderella Cont. from 15

Cinderella on the charts at #3.

Following “Night Songs” was the double platinum “Long Cold Winter” which produced four hit singles including, “Coming Home.” Not bad for a group that started off by playing the East Coast bar circuit while starving and eating nothing but dry cereal for an entire week at a time.

On top of it all, fame hasn’t tained these men and their hearts. They just finished filming their second “R.A.D.D.” commercial, R.A.D.D. (Recording Artists Against Drunk Driving) is a public awareness group geared toward young adults.

Anyway, when “Heartbreak Station” first came out and the single, “Shelter Me” was released, I figured no big deal, just another album to be worn out and overplayed within a week, and I didn’t give it a fair hearing.

After listening to this album, I realized that the music is very different from the last two albums.

It’s even better.

Some lyrics seem to have a deeper meaning, and boy, if these boys were writing from personal inspiration, some wretch really squashed their hearts like a bug on a windshield.

Other songs focus on living life, moving on, freedom of expression, undescrivable loves and stability.

As for the music, Tom Keifer (vocals) says, “I like all different styles of music... You don’t have to limit yourself to one narrow thing. It’s boring... If you don’t grow musically, you’re just going to get stuck... You get caught up in technology. It’s cool, but it’s not Rock and Roll with a lot of feeling.”

The band, having experimented with everything from soul to R&B to country, have added a lot of variety to their music. There are a lot of acoustics, mandolins, the lap steel, and “honky tonk” piano.

Keifer wants Cinderella to be remembered by having done “good honest Rock and Roll”, and I believe they will. This album is a must hear.

On their 1991 tour, Eric Brittingham (Bass) says that for Cinderella’s audiences be’d “like to give them a good, honest show.” I’ll take his word for it and then see for myself. ****
-Hey have you ever wanted to be in a movie? How about auditioning for a student film. Two roles for college-type males and 3 roles for college-type females. Auditions to be held Wednesday, Feb. 20 at 4 pm and 7 pm in Rm. 224A Calcia Hall or call Darren at 908-351-3116.

-TOP N.Y.S. COED SLEEPAWAY CAMP PAYING TOP SALARIES Seeking: Counsellors, Life Guards, All Specialties. Contact Ron Klein, Director. Camp Kinder Ring, 45 E. 33rd St., NYC 10016. (212)889-6800 Ext. 272.

-F A S T Fundraising Program. $1000 in just one week! Earn up to $1000 for your campus organization. Plus a chance of $5000 or more! This program works! No investment needed. Call 1-800-932-0528 Ext. 50.

-CARIBBEAN ONLY $189! Why freeze? For only $189 you can be lying in the sun of the Caribbean/Mexican coast for a week! SUNHITCHTM 212-864-2000.

-HEADING FOR EUROPE THIS SUMMER? Jet there anytime with AIRHITCH(R). (As reported in the NY Times & Let's Go!) AIRHITCH(R) 212-864-2000.

-Cruise Ship Jobs

Experience the most moving story on Broadway with CLUB Miserables on March 13, 1991

Tickets on sale in the Student Center Booth: February 19th, 20th, and 21st

$26 Students
$30 Non-students

*price includes transportation to and from N.Y.  *only 2 tickets per person

CLUB is a Class 1 Organization of the SGA
The Montclarion / Thursday, February 14, 1991

Love, Sharon
I love you. Happy Valentine’s day.

D-D. — I love you. Don’t wait until tomorrow.

Stacey — I wish you were here. I love you.

Darla — Don’t forget to come to the Valentine’s dance on Friday.

-Christine (phi) — Good luck.

-Phi Beta Sigma — who is the sweetest guy in your frat? spring 90 or spring 89? -Christine (phi) — Good luck!

Alf — You are my everything and you always will be.

- Bill — You are my everything and you always will be. I love you. Happy Valentine’s day.

- Bill — You are my everything and you always will be. I love you. Happy Valentine’s day.

Love, Sharon

Love, your big, Kara

Jill

such good friends. —Jill (Iota)

Jen G. (Iota) — You did a great job, cotillion will be awesome! Love your big Jen — I really wasn’t sure if i should send you one.

-Mike (d-chi) — I still save one dance for you, princess

Mr.—— — Hey Barbara — “Dont sweat it honey, take one of the free hashbrowns! Love kimbo Peraza and Giordano — our pre-toga party was a total success.

Happy Valentine’s day, Scooch! I love you, sweetheart. Love, your honey.

- Big Bird — I’ll use my SGA Card and get you a burger for Valentine’s day.

Tod — Thanks for being my valentine but I want you, too.

-AIK-#7 — thanks for your support — it really means a lot to me, love, M

-Jr. — You are the love of my life. Happy Valentine’s day!

-Debbie & Eileen — Remember the immaculate customer service you received during the Planned Parenthood? Good luck when you go...

-David — I love you — Happy Valentine’s day. May the luck of the Irish be with you.

-Roses R red, an elephants a ton, February 15,

-Cheryl (YA) — I’m soooo sorry! Love your honey

-Finster” —Cotillion is going to be great as long as I don’t have to be there. Love the unfortunate one!

To the sisters of theta — have a great time at the cotillion. Love the unfortunate one!

WANTED - Cupid for lovers - meet me in the schoolyard” —Love ya Joann

-To my bohemian sisters — Only 37*!! More days -appreciated, I love ya! AIX #89

-To the leaders of our suites — No, I just knew the room would be bigger. One day you have a large group, the next you have a few people. I’m going to bum the damn thing.

-Jill (Iota) — If I see you in your dress one more time I’m going to throw up!!

-Debbie- Have a happy valentines day! Love your roomie

-Beth, Kris, Patty & Steph, Catillion is going to be kick-ass. We will have a good time at cotilliob, Love Nicky

-Beth, Patty, Robyn & Staf - our tables gonna rock the dance floor!!! Kristina

-Beth, Patty, Robyn & Staf — Can’t wait for the next zillion with you. Love LeeAnn

-Dean Harris — Why the round head about it? We will have a good time at cotilliob, Love Nicky

-Debbie- Have a happy valentines day! Love your roomie

-Karen — Happy Valentine’s day sweatheart. Missy

-Stacey — Hook already? Check

-Blonde — Your HOTTEST and so SEXY!!!

-Darla — Don’t wait until tomorrow. I love you.

-Stacey — You look wonderful tonight honey

-Your Interpersonal Buddy — No, I just knew the room would be bigger. One day you have a large group, the next you have a few people.

-Liz C. — Lets protest on Thursday, M.A.D.!! Love, Maureen

-Andrea (Iota) — Do you get the feeling this might be a total waste of time?

-Andrea (Iota) — Did you get lost going home

-Denna — I love you. Happy Valentine’s day. Rob, Rob

-Trixxie — Last week was a little tiring, but damn good fun. Hamburger helper is the key.

-Frank — D-chi — I still save one dance for you,, princess

-B J.(senate) — Our friendship is important to me and I love you. Happy Valentine’s day.

-To all my Phi Sig Sisters: Have I tolle you that I love you, my best friends. Love, your sister

-Monclarian St. Ski Team — Get psyched for our last race! We’re all going to smoke the course!! Also don’t forget about the picnic! Tays

-Phili Sigma Sigma — who is the sweetest guy in your frat? spring 90 or spring 89?

-Bob — I’ll use my SGA Card and get you a burger for Valentine’s day.

-Going to the beach — Can’t wait. Love me

-Becky — You are the most beautiful, Inside and Out

-Andrea (Iota) — Did you get lost going home

-Bill — You are my everything and you always will be. I love you. Happy Valentine’s day.

-Stacey — Hook already? Check

-Blonde — Your HOTTEST and so SEXY!!!

-Darla — Don’t wait until tomorrow. I love you.

-Stacey — You look wonderful tonight honey

-Your Interpersonal Buddy — No, I just knew the room would be bigger. One day you have a large group, the next you have a few people.

-Irene — You are the most beautiful, Inside and Out

-Andrea (Iota) — Did you get lost going home

-Bill — You are my everything and you always will be. I love you. Happy Valentine’s day.

-Stacey — Hook already? Check

-Blonde — Your HOTTEST and so SEXY!!!

-Darla — Don’t wait until tomorrow. I love you.

-Stacey — You look wonderful tonight honey

-Your Interpersonal Buddy — No, I just knew the room would be bigger. One day you have a large group, the next you have a few people.
aerobics

monday 4:45

tuesday 5:00

thursday 4:45

gymnastic room panzer gym

taught by kim borucki

sponsorerd by silc

a class one of the sga

SNOWFLAKE ONE-PITCH SOFTBALL TOURNAMENT

March 9-10

Captain's Meeting

Mon., Feb., 18, 1991

4:00 pm Rm. # 121

SILC is a Class One of the SGA
E A R T H S  E X C E S S I V E  G R A V I T Y

N O  M A T C H  F O R
S T t/fC H V S
m i
STUPENDOUS STRENGTH.

W I T H  H U S O E S  O F  M A G N I T U D E
T O E  E M A S H E D  Z M  M AM  O F  M I G H T
A N D  F L I E S  '  I T  H I G H  I N T O
T O E  S T R A T O S P H E R E ...
...W H E R E  H U S O E S  H I S
STUPENDOUS V I S I O N  T O  I M A T E
T O E  O l A B O L I C A L  A R C  R E N D
a n h o i im s
a u .'

v u ™ m a m s  s m
v a n q u ishe s,
ngoing I A M  S U C H  S M  S M  V ou DROPPED
A  SNOW B A U . TOE S I Z E  O F A
BOW LING B A IL  O N  S U S I E r
FROM A  T R E E .

'  IT  C CO ID NT
H A V E  B E E N
.  2  M E .'IM V E R V
S H E  D E S C R I B E D  E X A C T L Y  T O  E
H O O D  A N D  C A F E  I  M A D  S O U.
WUV, IT  M U S T  V E
STUPENDOUS
M A N .
D E F E N D E R
O F  U B E S T  V  A N  S T E R E O T Y P E  A N D
J U S T I C E .'  I N S U R E
S U S I E  DESERVED
WHATEVER SHF G O T.

H E M N , T H I S  S O U N D S  L U C E
JW O I H E R  JO B FOR STUPENDOUS
V, IT
D oesn't
s t l i r e
wire
H is
TOPE OF JOB
■TObA'rr-1

Shoe by Jeff McNelly

IF YOU HATE RUNNING
OFF JOGGING, MAYBE YOU
SHOULDN'T TRY TO
AEROBICS.  SCORNY,
SWINGER.

THE GLOWSTICK
SHOULD GET
A LOW-INTENSITY
AEROBICS.

WHEN THE ROASTERS
GO COLD IN MY
TELEVISION EYE.

I NEVER LEARN.

WHEREVER I THROW
MONEY AT A PROBLEM
TO MAKE IT DISAPPEAR...

THE ONLY THING
THAT DISAPPEARS
IS MY MONEY.

"THEM DON'T SAY ANYTHINGS
ABOUT THE WATERBEDS
ON THE SHEET."
Cohesion's Corner
By Glen Haerle

Spyro-Gyros/P.R.P. undefeated at 3-0

The five on five basketball league got underway last week. While some of the contests were hard fought close matchups, a good deal of the opening week’s pairings were blowouts. With each of the three conferences sporting only 4 to 6 competitive teams, the lower echelon teams are having expected troubles competing with the best this year’s best and the result is often a merciless thrashing.

The Spyro-Gyros of the CBA have come through under pressure twice, to help give them an undefeated 3-0 record. The teams’ unblemished mark in the early stages of the season has the Spyro-Gyros tied for first place in the conference with P.R.P., currently ranked third overall.

The Spyro-Gyros sparked by the clutch three-point shooting of John Rubiniello nipped Senate in a nail-nosed overtime battle. The SG’s almost had another taste of overtime, by a balance of scoring.

Other teams waiting to creep into the Top 5 are the Spyro-Gyros, Gym Rats, Delta Chi Bombers, S.L.W.B., Sudden Impact, and the Rho-Men.

Congratulations to Jason Cusano of the Gym Rats for winning the free throw shooting contest.

CORRECTION
B.D.P. won the champion ship in 1988, not the Crash Crew, as reported in last week’s column.

Frank Basile’s Top 10

1. UNLV (20-0)
2. Indiana (22-2)
3. Duke (21-4)
4. Ohio St. (19-1)
5. Arkansas (23-2)
6. Syracuse (20-3)
7. North Carolina (17-4)
8. East Tenn. St. (21-2)
9. Arizona (19-4)
10. Southern Miss. (17-2)

Under Serious Consideration
Kansas (17-4)
New Mexico St. (17-2)
Coastal Carolina (16-6, 9-0)

The Chanticleers (chants) are running away with the Big South Conference.

Key games this weekend:
Sat. - UNLV vs. New Mexico St.
Sun. - Ohio St. vs. Indians

Announcements
--Aerobics start up this week every Monday, Wednesday, and Thursday in the Gymnastics room at 3:30. Kim is the instructor.

--Indoor soccer starts next Friday. There will be 14 teams in the league.

Women’s Hoops

cont. from pg. 24

Ponging and Bailing created the tempo defensively. It was a good win.

After the game it was learned that Kean defeated Glassboro and clinched first place in the NJAC. The pairings for the playoffs seem to be set. Top seeded Kean, which has won the conference championship every season since its inception eight years ago, will most likely be playing number four Trenton State in Union. MSC, with its second seed, will face WPC at Panzer next Thursday. The winner of each game will meet Saturday on the court of the team with the better record. Jeffrey and her team would like to win the NJAC championship for the first time, but they know the road to victory leads to Angola Gym at Kean.

Red Hawk Notes...Earlier this week the Red Hawks defeated Stockton State 59-44. Kim Wilson led the way with 19 points and five steals. Tracy Moffatt added 12 points and six assists while Shannon Shaffer chipped in eight points and pulled down a game-high nine boards.

Wilson received flowers and balloons from her coaches prior to her final regular season home game against Rutgers-Newark.

WMSC will broadcast next Thursday’s game vs. William Paterson. Game time is 7:30 pm. Come out and support the Lady Hawks’ drive for the championship.
Lady Hawks gain 2nd seed in NJAC playoffs

By Al Iannazzone
Staff Writer

The MSC women’s basketball team clinched second place in the NJAC with a 55-47 victory Tuesday night against Rutgers-Newark. The win improved MSC to 19-4, 14-3 in the NJAC.

The Red Hawks were fighting for second place with the Scarlet Raiders for the final playoff spot. In the end, it was the total team effort of MSC which foiled Rutgers-Newark playoff hopes securing second place for the Red Hawks. Kim Wilson, playing in her final regular season home game, led all scorers with 16 points and pulled down six rebounds. Adding to a well rounded team effort were Tracy Moffat and Kim Barnes scoring 14 and 12 points respectively, Tracy Bails had six rebounds, four assists and five assists.

Shannon Shaffer rotated well and were successful in cutting off the passing lanes. De­fense wins games, and MSC proved it on this night. The first half was full of sports. MSC rushed to a 6-0 lead with good interior de­fense, but went flat and Rutgers-Newark tied it 6-6. MSC responded with a 13-2 run, sparked by Bails and Barnes, and opened up a 19-8 lead with 6:52 remaining only to see the Scarlet Raiders knot the score again four minutes later at 19. But MSC closed the half strong as Moffat hit two jumpers in the final 41.2 and the Red Hawks led 27-19.

The second half began the same way. MSC opened up its biggest lead 35-23 but seven minutes found themselves trailing by just a bucket, 37-35 with 7:52 remaining. Over the next 7:30, MSC, led by Wilson and Barnes’ six points each, put the game out of reach. The backbreaker was Barnes’ 17 jumper with the shot clock winding down. The Red Hawks ahead 51-47 with just 42 faithful ticks remaining.

“If it was definitely a team effort,” Coach Jill Jeffry said. “Tracy Moffat did an ex­cellent job on both ends of the court. She did an excellent job covering Jackie Oliver, their leading scorer, in spite of giving up eight inches and at least 60 pounds. Also, MSC has had an excellent season so far, including winning the NJAC regular season title. The squad looks to continue its success by qualifying for the Division III National Tournament. Men's hoops fall again

By Tom Reid
Staff Writer

The MSC men’s basketball team continued its losing ways last week by dropping decisions to Jersey City State and Stockton State.

Against Jersey City State, the home-court Hawks played the perennial NJAC power tough throughout, but were unable to come up with a victory, losing 76-70.

The game had 14 lead changes, three ties, plenty of pushing and shoving which resulted in technical fouls and free throws. The game was one of the most exciting and evenly-paced games the Hawks played this season.

The game was a see-saw battle from the beginning with the point differential never getting beyond five before halftime. Neither team was able to establish dominance as players like Lamont Halsey, Mike Tinley, Brian McNair, and Egon Lewis were able to match Jersey City score for score in the first half. At the intermission, MSC led 36-33 and it looked bright for the Hawks to earn their fifth victory of the season.

In the second half, MSC battled Jersey City for the remainder of the game, but Jersey City was too tough for them down the stretch. With 2:00 to play, Jersey City made its move towards victory by hitting a series of shots that would put them up by as many as eight. But MSC’s Brian McNair hit a clutch 3-pointer with 1:00 left to cut the deficit to three. That was as close as MSC would get, because Jersey City was able to pull away after that by hitting some clutch free throws, enabling them to earn the victory. McNair, Lewis, and Ernie Harris paced MSC with 12 points each.

Playing Stockton State, MSC was unable to get a rhythm going, especially on defense, and was never really in the game from the start. MSC found themselves down big early in the game which saw the Hawks trail by as many as 20 in the first half. MSC did manage to get as close as 30-28 with 2:04 left in the half on three consecutive lay-ups by Egon Lewis, but that was as close as they would get. At halftime, the Hawks were trailing by a score of 48-28.

In the second half, the onslaught continued as MSC played one of its poorest games of the season. Stockton gradually increased its lead in the game as nothing seemed to go right for the Hawks. When it was over, MSC lost in convincing fashion 96-63. Chris Albertson led MSC with 15 points while Lewis and Ernie Harris had 13 each.

RED HAWK NOTES:
Junior guard Lamont Halsey’s seven steals against Stockton broke his own record of six in one game which he set earlier this season. MSC now stands at 4-17 overall, and 2-14 in the NJAC...93 points were the most MSC allowed this season.

Matmen: 3rd in tourney

By Keith A. Jide
Staff Writer

The MSC wrestling team placed third in the Metropolitan Wrestling Tournament this past weekend at Trenton State College.

The Red Hawks scored a total of 95.3 points. MSC finished behind tournament champion Trenton State College (142.3 points) and second-place finisher Keansburg College (111.3 points). The tournament consisted of nineteen teams, including almost all members of the New Jersey Athletic Conference. Also competing were Seton Hall University, New York University (NYU), York (Pa.) University, Wagner College and Manhattan College.

MSC’s Jim Sloan won the championship at 177 pounds by defeating Troy Kerlizzi of Kean 14-4, in the finals, Sloan, who has been outstanding all season, was the only Red Hawk wrestler to win an individual championship at the tournament.

Three other MSC wrestlers made it to the finals, but lost. Ken Hoff, 126 pounds, came up with the short end of a 12-8 decision against Tom Wakk of Manhattan College. Division III All-American Scott Vega lost a 9-2 decision at 190 pounds to Dan Sanchez of Wagner College. Heavyweight John Stobie lost by default to Ives Viola of Keansburg College.

MSC has had an excellent season so far, including winning the NJAC regular season title. The squad looks to continue its success by qualifying for the Division III National Tournament.

Freestyler Rich Volpi in action against N.Y. Maritime on Tuesday. In the last dual meet of his swimming career he took first in the 100 and 200m freestyle events.