Administrator hides The Montclarion from visitors

First Amendment rights violated for the third time in the past year

By Jenn Thees
Staff Writer

Over 1000 copies of last week’s issue of The Montclarion were removed from the Student Center information desk due to “particularly upsetting” stories which the Office of Institutional Advancement found inappropriate for visiting alumni, said Cynthia Barnes, executive assistant to the vice president of the office of institutional advancement.

The newspapers were removed Friday afternoon at Barnes’ direction so the 150 alumni attending an annual alumni dinner dance at the Student Center ballrooms would not see them. The newspapers were replaced Sunday morning by the student staff at the information desk.

“The Montclarion is not designed for visitors of the campus. At my request, The Montclarians were removed from the (information desk) because I thought the stories covered, such as the fights at the Carnival and the masturbator, were not necessarily appropriate for the alumni to take home as a souvenir of the weekend,” said Barnes, a former Montclarion member.

Barnes later submitted a letter to The Montclarion which said, “After conversations with two members of The Montclarion staff, several colleagues, and some personal reflection, I now see that my actions, no matter how well intended, could be perceived as a form of censorship.”

The Montclarion Editor-in-chief Michael Walsmey said, “The removal of The Montclarians from the sight of alumni attending a function on campus so that MSC would receive $17.921 million to be divided amongst themselves. Rutgers University would get the majority of the funding, $18.889 million, while the rest of the money would be divided between independent colleges, county colleges, NJIT, the University of Medicine and Dentistry of N.J., and the Rutgers Agricultural Experiment Station at Cook College.

Tom Auch, Vice-President of Administration and Finance, said that it is not likely that the $60-65 million will be restored to the schools.

State legislators vow to restore $60-65 M to higher Education

By Frank Valenti
Correspondent

An eight percent cut in state funding to New Jersey colleges and universities was turned down by state legislators on Monday, May 6. The legislators instead vowed to restore $60-65 million to the higher education budget. The eight percent cut came from an across-the-board cut in the budgets of all state departments proposed by Gov. Jim Florio in February.

The $60-65 million under debate, which would be given to N.J. colleges and universities statewide, would probably be taken from the Departments of Transportation and Environmental Protection, said Assembly member William Pascrell of Passaic.
REGIONAL

A riot started in Washington, D.C. after a man was shot during an incident with police. Rock and bottle throwing youths attacked police, set fires, and looted stores. A night time curfew was implemented in the area by Mayor Sharon Pratt Dixon who said mass arrests may be used to diffuse the situation.

New Jersey is the most densely populated state, according to the Census Bureau. The state has 1035.1 people per square mile, just ahead of Rhode Island's 951.2 people per square mile. The U.S. averaged 70.3 people in every square mile in 1990 opposed to 64.8 in 1980.

NATIONAL

America has been rudely reminded by President George Bush's recent heart trouble that the horror of Dan Quayle as President is a stark reality. President Bush has returned to work and his heart irregularity will continue to be monitored. Let us hope Mr. Bush stays healthy.

INTERNATIONAL

The Kurdish safety zone inside Northern Iraq has been expanded again. The addition was made as allied troops are preparing to move about 200,000 Kurds from mountain camps back to their homes. The zone was expanded 30 miles East to the Iranian border by the allied airborne troops who landed in the town of Suria.

Secretary of State James Baker III said he will visit Egypt, Syria, Jordan and Israel on his trip to keep the possibilities for an Arab-Israeli summit alive. The administration is hoping for more progress than that which was made on Baker's previous trip.

Chris Hani, Chief of Staff of the Military wing of the African National Congress, in recent addresses spoke very candidly about the A.N.C.'s positions. In what he referred to as a war he admitted to the A.N.C.'s use of car bombs. He also said the A.N.C. wants a mixed economy and no one who owns property will lose it. He feels the U.S. taxpayers should respect A.N.C. decisions to deal with Cuba and Libya, largely because they offered scholarships and other aid to the A.N.C. when the rest of the world was acting coldly to Mr. Hani's organization.

Crime statistics for MSC and other state colleges

By Maureen McGowan/Correspondent

If campus crime continues to occur at its current rate, there should be an overall downward trend by December of 1991 according to statistics received from Campus Police.

For example, in 1990 there were 84 campus burglaries, 54 car thefts and 381 responses to medical assistance. If police activity continues to decrease, it has been since January, then most of the 1991 statistics should be reduced.

However, there are some crime rates that may increase according to current indications. At current trends, assaults, larceny from vehicles, criminal mischief to motor vehicles, and bomb threats may climb.

In 1990 alone, tickets distributed by campus police increased 148% to 31,977 tickets. If distribution follows its current trends, this number should drop to approximately 18,500.

This problem does not affect MSC alone. In retrospect, crime across other New Jersey State College campuses is similarly high, with Rutgers-Newark having some of the highest crime rates offered in the Uniform Crime Reports for 1989.

Statistics for crime on campus for the year 1990 to March 1991 at other New Jersey State Colleges:

"My strong inclination is that there will be no increase (in funding to state colleges and universities)," Auch said.

If the $60-65 million in academic funding is not restored, then a proposed nine percent tuition increase might possibly go into effect.

Such a raise in tuition would result in a $3.40 increase next semester for in-state Montclair undergraduates while in-state graduate students will have to pay an extra $10.80 per credit. Out-of-state undergraduates would see an $8 per credit increase in tuition and out-of-state graduate students would see a tuition hike of $14.

Along with the tuition increase would come additional fees to maintain MSC. A general service fee of $1 per student credit hour would help to fund the use of computers across campus. The athletic fee, which is funded through state appropriation dollars, would rise from the current $2.25 to $3.50 per student credit hour. The fee for parking decals, which has been $20 since 1986, would see an increase of $5. The application fee for new students, currently $25, would also see a $5 increase.

Should the nine percent tuition increase go into effect, fees for on-campus residents would also increase. A 5.5 percent increase in housing costs would see the fee rise from $2,742 a year to $2,892 a year. All meal plans would also see a 6.2 percent increase in cost.

There will be a public hearing next Thursday at 3 p.m. in Life Hall concerning the school budget crisis.

Upon hearing proposals from Auch and others, the Board of Higher Education will act on June 5 on the recommendations they receive.

MSC students return from the Middle East

By Denise M. Stengel

Two MSC students have recently returned home from active duty in the Persian Gulf, and the campus awaits the return of yet a third, Dean Martin said Monday.

Mike DeVine, a Marine reservist, was activated on November 25, 1990 and left the country on December 31. DeVine, who was stationed at both Manifia Bay and Alagora Airfield, was told he would be returning to the United States on or about March 2. After many delays, DeVine said, he returned to the states on April 10 and was back in New Jersey by April 17.

DeVine said the first thing he recalls about coming home, was "getting off the plane and seeing all the trees and grass, and sneezing."

DeVine, a junior, was graded and given credit for all but one course he had been taking in the fall of 1990 and said he would be returning to class this fall.

On his first day back on campus, DeVine said he surprised his Senate fraternity brothers by showing up on campus for his fraternity composite picture unannounced. Much to his surprise, they had hung a large banner welcoming him home along College Avenue.

When asked what he missed most, DeVine said, "beer."

Stanley, an MSC student who also recently returned from the Persian Gulf was unable to be reached for any comments.

A third MSC student, William J. Frank is expected to return from the Persian Gulf on May 10, said his mother, Linda, who is a secretary in the management department of Morehead Hall.

Mrs. Frank said her son, who is stationed in Port Juba, left the United States on December 7, 1990.

Like DeVine, Frank received grades and credit for last semester's classes, said Mrs. Frank. Unfortunately, Frank, a senior, Business Administration major, will now have to postpone graduation for six months to complete classes he could not take now, said his mother.

"My strong inclination is that there will be no increase (in funding to state colleges and universities)," Auch said.

Tires on Campus Police cars slashed

By Dawn Flanagan

Correspondent

Five Campus Police cars had their tires slashed during The Alarm concert at the college amphitheater last Sunday afternoon, Campus Police said.

A total of 6 cars, five of which had a total of 11 tires slashed, were parked in front of the campus security building. The incident occurred during a shift change.

The 5 affected cars will cost at least $600.00 in repairs.

"A prank such as this jeopardizes the campus community. By not having a first line police team, we could not respond to possible medical emergencies or fires," Sergeant Newcombe said.

Campus Police are currently working on leads, and if found, the accused would be charged with criminal mischief.

The Alarm concert attended by over 200 students was reported by students as under control as Campus Police were on duty by the amphitheater steps.

Una mirada al colegio de fin de semana

For Jorge L. Cruz
Staff Writer

Algunos estudiantes evitan matricularse para recibir clases los días viernes. Otros, por su parte no tienen mucho que escoger, debido a que tienen que recibir sus clases durante los fines de semana.

Ellos son parte del programa del Colegio de Fin de Semana, ejemplo claro de una educación “internacional” que se ha impartido en el plantel por más de quince años. Fundado en 1975, dicho programa provee cursos para aquellos estudiantes que trabajan tiempo completo y no pueden asistir clases en el horario regular durante la semana, o bien, tienen dificultades con el idioma inglés.

“Las personas que no sabían hablar inglés y deseaban asistir a un centro universitario eran generalmente olvidadas. La mayoría de las oficinas estaban cerradas. El colegio de Fin de semana comenzó a ayudar a estas personas a obtener una educación universitaria,” comentó Narda Zúñiga quién es estudiante del programa.

El programa es un punto de partida para futuros estudiantes de Montclair State College quienes además de aprender, se merecen la experiencia. Los cursos, que van desde el inglés a la psicología e incluso a la seminario en Matemáticas, son dirigidos por profesores que son entusiastas de enseñar.

Debbie Pacheco, quien es miembro de la Asociación Estudiantil del Colegio de Fin de Semana (WCSA), comentó que los estudiantes que no sabían hablar inglés y deseaban asistir a un centro universitario eran generalmente olvidados. La mayoría de las oficinas estaban cerradas. El colegio de Fin de semana comenzó a ayudar a estas personas a obtener una educación universitaria.

Aproximadamente, el 74% de los estudiantes program no son de una sola nacionalidad. Esto se debe a que el colegio de Fin de Semana es muy conocido en el plantel, los estudiantes en cooperación con la asociación estudiantil del programa (WCSA), presenta una de las grandes actividades que es “El Carnaval”, el cual tiene lugar anualmente en el “Memorial Auditorium”, presenta cantos y bailes folclóricos representativos de los diferentes países involucrados en el mencionado programa.

Los resultados del programa han sido positivos. Muchos de los estudiantes que han estudiado asistido durante los fines de semana han continuado sus estudios graduados.

Tuvimos un estudiante, cuyo esposo asistió al colegio de Fin de Semana. Continuó Sanz. ‘Ellas dijo que de no haber sido por el programa, su esposo nunca hubiera podido estudiar y enseñar en el colegio.’

Sin embargo, Sanz siente que estos cambio dependen de la situación fiscal del estado, explicó. ‘Operamos con un presupuesto limitado y no habrá un aumento significativo en los fondos hasta que la crisis fiscal sea resuelta.’

Sanz, comentó que tampoco es fácil encontrar profesores que enseñan durante los fines de semana. ‘Estamos tratando de conseguir más profesores, pero la mayoría de ellos son adjuntos. Los que enseñan en el Colegio de Fin de Semana, lo hacen por amor a la enseñanza, no por dinero.’

Controlling stress important

By Malinda Puchs
Correspondent

Stress can ruin your life, said the chief psychologist of the Hackensack Medical Center speaking to 30 people in the Student Center on Tuesday.

Dr. Craig Fabrikant explained several methods of dealing with stress to faculty and staff at a stress management workshop sponsored by the Human Relations Organization (HRO).

People need to be taught how to relieve stress, said Jo Leonard, president of HRO.

It was absolutely worthwhile to have this workshop, said Leonard.

Fabrikant’s techniques emphasized proper breathing methods to relieve stress and “get yourself in control.”

Another technique, progressive muscle relaxation, requires each muscle of the body to be tensed then released which helps get rid of stress.

“Everybody’s reaction to stress is different but everybody’s reaction to stress is consistent,” said Fabrikant.

Class One organization's budget appropriations

Every undergraduate at MSC pays three dollars a credit toward SGA fees. A full-time undergraduate will pay no more than $45 for a grand total of about $560,000. These fees are distributed to Class One Organizations and the SGA. Class One organizations are open to all students and provide programming and cultural events for the entire student body.

On these two pages are the organizations, the amount of money they are allocated and how the organization intends to use the money. Also, there is a brief description of each organization from the College catalog.

All of the organizations have been allotted the amount of money shown on the charts with the exception of CLUB, LASO and Players, who have not been appropriated by the SGA as of yet. Shown are last year's appropriations for these organizations.

Latin American Student Organization

LASO promotes awareness of Hispanic culture. This is achieved through informative programs which promote an appreciation for an understanding of the culture. Each fall, "Latin Month" is planned to provide an opportunity to see and sample the music, art and cuisine of the Latin American culture.

The programming efforts of OSAU are directed to meet the needs of minority students on campus and to expose non-minority students to the minority experience. The events are quite diversified and aimed at fulfilling the cultural, social and educational needs of our students.

Quarterly

Quarterly, the literary and art magazine, also called the Four Walls seeks original material for publication each semester. It offers students a chance to express and share their individuality with the College community.

Student Intramural Leisure Council

SILC provides students with an opportunity to become involved in intramural sports, recreation and leisure activities. The day-to-day programming offered by SILC includes leagues for men and women in football, basketball, softball, volleyball, tennis and bowling. It also sponsors badminton, water polo and pinochle and special activities such as trips to professional sporting events and a night of roller skating.

If a picture is worth a thousand words, what is a video worth?

In the current economy, employers are receiving hundreds, if not thousands, of resumes for one job opening. As a result, these employers often overlook the resumes of highly qualified applicants. If you ever thought about how much you invested in your education, you would realize that you probably spent anywhere from $25,000 to well over $100,000. Do you really feel comfortable risking such a substantial amount of money on the slim chance that your resume will not be overlooked by an employer? Well, you shouldn’t. There is, however, a solution. By using a VIDEO RESUME in conjunction with a written one, you can not only reduce the chances of being overlooked, but you can also considerably increase the chances of standing out from the competition.

VIDEO RESUMES are a significant new development in job hunting. They allow you to:
- Expand upon what is contained in your resume.
- Explain why your resume may not accurately reflect your capabilities.
- Demonstrate your interpersonal skills.

In fact, the use of VIDEO RESUMES has been enthusiastically endorsed by executives at some of the largest and most-respected companies in America.

So why don’t you contact us to set up an appointment. You’ll be quite surprised at the AFFORDABILITY of our VIDEO RESUMES.

The entire staff of The Montclarion would like to congratulate the newly elected Editors, say goodbye to our departing Editors, and wish everyone a safe summer VACATION.
Administration lacks sensitivity

The most recent incident of First Amendment violations that occurred to The Montclarion is not too surprising. Why should it be, when we have an administration that consistently turns a deaf-ear on problems within the campus community.

The word "Community," a buzzword of the upper echelons at College Hall, is a farce when used in the context of MSC.

There is no community at MSC, not any that we can see clearly anyway. What we do see is an abundance of apathy. Among the students, the faculty, the maintenance-staff, the security, and surprise, the administration.

This may be due to the fact that our leaders of the college seem so intent on how we look to the outside world and not what we actually are. They know what we look like and they know we’re not doing too well but they don’t seem to care.

Cynthia Barnes’ hiding of Montclarion from visiting alumni who are known for their generosity when it’s time for donations to the school (from which the students will never see the benefits) is a perfect example of its lack of caring or more accurately, a lack of sensitivity.

The Montclarion headlines reported an SGA legislator busted for smoking dope, a Phi Sigma Pi Fraternity and a Faculty parking lots, new roads, and a brand-new four-story academic building.

What good is a new building if there is going to be a lack of good teachers and a wide variety of classes?

I would rather be taught by a top-notch professor in a surplus tent with sawdust for a floor than be bored by a lackey in an air-conditioned room.

We’re paying for an education, not build­ings. Has someone up at College Hall forgotten this?

Let’s go back to basics. Take care of things that matter, then worry about cosmetics.

Take care of the racial segregation that some people just refuse to acknowledge. Offer programs and opportunities students want to become involved in.

Let’s do something to turn this suitcases campus into a place where we want to spend our time outside of going to classes. Then let’s talk about community.

At press time the proposed tuition hike is nine percent. But the administration claims to be concerned about how you feel. There is a forum planned for May 16 where students may address the Board of Trustees regarding the tuition hike. It’s your money. Isn’t it worth losing a few hours pay on May 16 rather than paying $5.40 more per credit in September?

Think about it...

Have a nice summer.
Legislator cries foul

Editors speak out

So the phone rings. It was my sister. "Jimmy," she says, "did you get arrested recently?" Small world, you know? She lives in New Brunswick and the likelihood of her picking up a copy of The Montclarion is about as slim as the Pope speaking Yiddish. But people talk. The world thrives on hearsay and gossip and the opportunity for us to make our lives seem more interesting by gaping at other people's dirty laundry. Bad news is every editor's wet dream. Donald Trump isn't a household name for nothing...wait, I dropped my joint...then we go...nuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuu Senior to compete in the Miss New Jersey pageant

By Valerie Kafnis
Outlook Editor

Margarette Hyer will get her diploma this May like a lot of other seniors. Last week, though, she got a crown she’ll get to keep for the rest of her life.

She might even be picking up another crown in Wildwood this July.

Hyer is a home economics major with a concentration in fashion studies. She’s a hazel-eyed blonde who has been modelling part-time since her sophomore year, and laughs when she says she is 5’9” tall.

“All my statistics,” she grins.

Hyer was crowned Miss Bergen County last Thursday in Norwood, NJ. It was only her second beauty pageant after placing second in the Miss Camden County pageant on April 21.

“I just kind of walked into it,” says the 21-year-old Fairlawn native. “I pushed myself because it was a challenge.”

Hyer explained that for years people in the modelling business had been telling her she should enter pageants because she had a talent: she learned to play the flute when she was eight years old, and plays in a group in her church.

One day, though, she got encouragement from a former Miss New Jersey whom she met in a show at Saks in New York. “She said the 21-year-old looks like the next Miss New Jersey, which Hyer says she has yet to learn. “I’m learning things as I go along,” she says. “I know I have to have an adult female chaperone with me whenever I’m wearing the crown.”

Hyer’s chaperone/director, Chary Mikell, coordinates all her appearances and press conferences during her year-long reign, and has been helping her work out a platform for the Miss New Jersey pageant.

A platform is something that every contestant is judged on; 40% talent, 30% interview, 15% evening gown and 15% swimsuit. “There’s a lot more involved in it than people realize,” she says.

Preparation includes “pageant etiquette,” which Hyer says she has yet to learn. “I’m learning things as I go along,” she says. “Most of the girls are really nice...It’s exciting.”

“I want to work with teenagers in order to convince them that consuming alcohol and drugs is not a way to become popular,” she says. “Some of the high school students are in my church, and I saw the turmoil they were going through because she was their friend. Her death touched a lot of people.”

“It’s overwhelming. It’s difficult to juggle,” she says. “It’s crazy to rush around in the back and get ready,” she says.

Most of the girls are really nice...It’s crazy to rush around in the back and get ready,” she says.

Besides, her year as Miss Bergen County is already something she’ll remember for the rest of her life. “The other night at an appearance, they put the spotlight on me and I had to get up and wave,” she laughs. “I have an official Miss America crown and I get to keep it forever.”

"Rape suspect pleads guilty"

When Hezekia Matthews pleaded guilty to having forced a MSC coed into a bathroom in Life Hall, where he forced her to have sex with him and then drive her home, all the charges of robbery and kidnapping were dropped.

"I want to work with teenagers in order to convince them that consuming alcohol and drugs is not a way to become popular,” she says. “Most of the girls are really nice...It’s exciting.”

Psychological Services Center gives help to troubled students

By Jacqueline Keller
Correspondent

A college degree can bring a student several job opportunities, and inspire him or her with a sense of pride and accomplishment. Yet getting one can also bring a lot of anxiety.

In fact, anxiety, stress and depression are the three most common problems students seek help for, according to Dr. Robert Goggins of the Psychological Services Center on campus.

Goggins is one of the five state-licensed psychologists employed at the Center, located at the Gilbreth House (on Valley Road across from Freeman Hall), who provides free one-on-one counseling and psychological services for full-time undergraduate students.

All of our programs are designed to help students effectively cope with the problems often encountered during their college career. We treat all types of problems,” Goggins said. Part-time and graduate students, faculty and staff are also eligible for free, short-term counseling and referrals to other off-campus agencies.

The Center was founded in the early 1970s in response to student requests for a program that offered counseling and help with psychological issues. In spite of its “inconspicuous” location, Goggins said, student responses have been favorable, and many take advantage of the Center’s programs and workshops.

"Most of our counseling is done on an individual basis,” said Goggins. Fortunately, the stigma that once surrounded psychological visits is now a thing of the past. Today, many people see psychologists for a whole lot of different issues, and there is much less of a stigma attached to psychotherapy today than there was 30 years ago.

Nowadays, there is also an aspect of technology involved. The Center has a number of computer-assisted programs (such as Help-stress, Life/Time Manager, Coping with Tests and Aie Ease) designed to help individuals deal with problems, in addition to group workshops on topics such as eating disorders, stress management and help for children of alcoholic parents.

The Center also offers around-the-clock services for students with urgent cases. All records and visits are confidential and will not appear on the student’s transcript or any other official document.

For more information, call the Gilbreth House between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. at (201) 893-5211. After 4:30 p.m., the North Essex Help Line, a mental health emergency service, is available at (201) 744-1954.

For graduation, sculpture shows mythological struggle in shadows

By Anthony DiPasquale
Staff Writer

The odd-looking structure by Memorial Auditorium may look like modern art, but at this time of year, it represents something much more.

Late in May, the empty tubes and perforated panels cast the shadow of Ophiuchus, the Serpent Bearer, onto a concrete disc at the base of the structure in time for graduation. Astro-Physics professor Mary Lou West planned it that way.

West and a team from the school of Fine and Performing Arts collaborated with New York sculptor Mac Adams to create the sculpture, which was finished in 1988. It was designed to use the sun’s rotation so that during May, June and July at 1:10 p.m., the sunlight on the structure would be transformed into a spatial configuration of a man entwined with a snake.

West teaches the myth behind the sculpture in her astronomy classes. Ophiuchus was a man whose grasp of knowledge was so great, she said, that it challenged the gods, who ultimately cast him into a constellation. As his fate, he was forever doomed to struggle to maintain control over the symbolic snake of knowledge.

It was a logical decision to re-create this heavenly struggle for knowledge in May, when so many students are completing their struggles and preparing to graduate, she said.

Hopefully, students looking at the 16’ by 7’ structure can revel in the fact that they have conquered their own snakes of knowledge, and will continue to do so in the future.

How will a proposed nine percent tuition increase affect you?

“Fortunately for me, my parents are loaning me money for school, so I’ll be in debt to them for an extra couple of years. But for the record, I think the state is ripping us off.”

“More money’s going to have to come out of my pocket. I’m already struggling as it is.”

“Even though I am an EOF student, I may have to take a loan next year.”

“Instead of worrying about my schoolwork, I’m going to have to work and will have to spend more time working and less time studying.”

Class One Concerts sponsored the spectacular free outdoor jam, an annual tradition at MSC. The Alarm, The Leslie Spit Tree-O, and Bigger Thomas performed under the trees in the amphitheater last Sunday.

By Christopher Paul and Joseph James Correspondents

A brief conversation with Regina of Leslie Spit Tree-O. This conversation took place shortly before the band jumped on stage for their set on Sunday at the Outdoor Jam.

Joe (to Paul): Got a light?
Paul: (While fidgeting through his pockets searching for a light) No.
Woman: Here, I’ve got one.
Joe: Thanks. (Short pause). Are you the band?
Woman: Well, ah, yeah, sort of—I guess you could say that.
Joe and Paul: Are you Leslie?
Woman: No, well yeah, not really.
Joe: What’s your name?
Woman: Regina. What’s yours?
Joe: I’m Joe and that’s Paul. Nice to meet you. Are you guys a trio?
Regina: No we’re not, we’ve got 4 or 5 in the band, it depends.
Joe: Wait, if you’re not Leslie and the band’s not a trio where’d you get the name?
R: We’re all from Toronto and in this section of town there’s a swampy, grassy strip that is used kind of like a dump and it’s called Leslie Spit. We had a gig to do the next day and we needed a name—so we used it.
P: So why the trio? Was there only three of you at one time?
R: No, not actually. We just liked the Tree-O on the end so we kept it.
J: How many pairs of socks do you usually take on tour with you?
R: No really. Maybe a couple hundred. But the crowds are very responsive like I said before. The Alarm was hot the other night though, they were really tight.
P: Was that the Ritz show on Thursday night?
R: Yeah, I think that was it. That was the night—I think. (Short pause) Yeah that was it, they were really hot.
J: How was the Ritz? What was it like playing there?
P: Yeah, how was that?
R: It was just another regular show.
P: Was there a big crowd?
R: It was pretty crowded I guess. There were a lot of people out on the floor and there was also the balcony. There were some people up there too.
J: Have you ever been to the States before?
R: Yeah I’ve been to Maine and Michigan and places up around there. I came to New York a couple of times with the band and we’ve traveled and toured all over Canada.
J: What’s the biggest difference between the crowds here and the crowds in Canada?
R: The crowds here in the States are more lively than in Canada. In Canada people are very passive at shows.
J: I went to a party once in Vermont and there were some Canadians there and they weren’t very passive. They were really drunk and rowdy. The best part was when they used fire extinguishers to get every one out.
R: Well, I’m not saying that Canadians don’t know how to party. The Canadians you met were different than the ones we’ve played for, that’s all.

P: We read the bio on your band and I found it very interesting (the bio stated the band was a mix between Peter, Paul and Mary minus Paul throw in Neil Young and give them a couple of hits of acid). I was wondering where’d you get this from. Who came up with the description?
R: We took that from reviews that were written about us and we came up with some of it and the record company also added some of that too so it was a combination of a lot of different sources.

P: How did the band get its start?
R: When we started we were busking on the streets of Toronto. Someone heard us and asked us to play in a club and we began to play in bars, we’re still busking on the streets occasionally.

P: How did you get a record contract?
R: We just kept playing in bars in the Toronto area and we developed a small following. Some of the people that liked what we were doing invited friends and it just kept spreading like that.
P: So you really didn’t do anything to get a record contract, they just sort of approached you?
R: Yeah that’s right. We just kept playing out and the right person happened to see us and we ended up getting signed.

At this point we spoke for a few minutes about other trivial subjects, then Regina left to join the rest of the band on stage for their set.

Delta Chi is a Class Four of the SGA
Ireverently speaking Out of Brillo, the latest LP from Dirty Dishes, is a masterpiece. Yes, former Glen Ridge resident Norm “Bass Desires” Williams and soon moving to Arizona, George “Stick” Steinmetz have been released from Sing Sing reuniting one more time along with the rest of the band, they are collectively known as Dirty Dishes. They have just switched record labels and are now found on Earache Records. Earache is the “experimental” branch of Dutch Room Vinyl Distributors, whose products are available at finer vinyl vendors throughout the East Coast.

“Hidden A.A. Women” is the pseudo ballad that starts off side one. Within my role former Glen record labels and are now found on Sing Sing reuniting one more time Steinmetz have been released from Ridge resident bibles, cereal boxes, dictionaries, encyclopedias, insecticide instructions, japlono pepper packages, kites, labels, money, numerous naughty things, odes, Peter Max Poster, quaint collectibles, record jackets, sacharin warnings, twist tongueesters, umbrellas, walls, xerographic etchings, Yosemite Sam comics, and Zoroastrian tenets.

Man did I wander from the point there, is it any wonder that this obviously irrelevant column is entitled Record Irreverence? “Hidden A.A. Women” chronicles a recovering alcoholic’s complaint that all the recovering A.A. women who committed untold amounts of sexually hideous acts while they were drinking, are not about that anymore, in recovery. It continues to characterize the confusion experienced by its subject returning home alone to an empty house complete with a recreation room crammed crock full of plastic sheets, Diehard batteries, assorted and sundry toys, lotions, and lingerie, and not one but two fifty-five gallon drums of Crisco. Basically our boy is pissed that he can not get any of these A.A. babes to slam dunk his situation in any of the sick, sordid, silly, or stupid scenarios his sick mind has concocted. It seems that now that they are in recovery, these used-to-be-black-whores, wows, and worse even get the high-I’ll-get-you-off-sulphur bunnies have become prudent. Realize that our boy has transferred additions, and had just one pickup technique, that of waving a bag of dope in front of the eyes of his intended. Incredible as it may seem, I identify with his feelings, I empathize.....

Neal Dougherty's Record Irreverence Dirty Dishes Clean up with Out of Brillo

Out of Brillo’s release date was timed to coincide with Earth Day and its “b” side is primarily a typical “have the planet” endeavor. “Wrapping That Rascal Up” starts off side one with, and about, a bang. A hard driving full throttle rocker that implores the listener to “wrap that rascal up” before engaging in sexual activities. With a lyrical hook as catchy as “…you ain’t slobbing on my throbbing…” “Wrapping That Rascal Up” is sure to be a big hit among today’s pubescent teenagers. Although cautioning against disease over, population, un-wanted pregnancy and swelling stomachs, “Wrapping That Rascal Up” turns into a poignant plea to dispose of used prophylactics properly, instead of littering the nation’s streets, ala 11th Avenue in Manhattan, where drummer George “Stick” Steinmetz apparently slipped on an offending and offensive banana peel like prophylactic, breaking his arm and cancelling last year’s tour. “Wrapping That Rascal Up” ends in a quasi rap “…Buy it, Try it, apply it.” Which seems real nice into the next paragraph.

This elucidicating essay will now answer the question “How do I coherently explain a process of some sort, all you plagiarizing English Composition folks please pay particular attention. This paper makes the following assumptions: 1) That I am not alone; just why in the hell would I be installing a prophylactic if I were alone? 2) That I will be assisted by a benign, beautiful, bodacious, assistant, who is quite adept at rating my consciousness, among other attributes or appendages. 3) That I am health conscious these days. Regardless of the circumstances, as they are not pertinent to the outcome here, let it be sufficient to say that I have been sufficiently asked. Let it also be stated that I have carried my amiable, anonymous assistant into the bedroom. And finally allow me to attest to the facts as they are: that we are ardently amorous, that I have reached the anticipated state of arousal, and that it has become mutually agreed upon that now is the time to install the prophylactic.

Trying really hard (perhaps a poor word choice here) to get on with it (both the prophylactic and the act as quickly as possible) without committing the dreaded “coitus interruptus,” I lean over my ever-so-lovely assistant, reach into the drawer of my night table, and procure a box of twelve prophylactics. With all the dexterity that the situation allows, I remove one tamper-resistant, hermetically sealed foil pouch. Gently removing its light, and ascertain which way this particular prophylactic unrolls, understand that the way the condom unrolls is important in effective installation, and finally, after careful manipulation, install the condom on my “love muscle”? Or do I calmly reach down, take the situation in hand, and install said prophylactic on said situation hoping that I have the right side up? And that it will slide on down, sort of like a fireman pushing down a firepole rushing to put out a fire? Or do I tell you the truth, which is often hard (cops) difficult for me? And explain that I solicited the aid of my aforesaid amiable and amorous assistant, which is even more appealing to me, and certainly more romantic, as it involves her in the process? And actually allow her (what a guy) to install the prophylactic? I must interject here that I once knew a sangle blow handed Frenchy, who could swallow a condom, and then install it with his mouth, all in one delicious motion. However, that is the story best left for another day.

The question as to why I must go through the above ordeal raises its ugly head here. The answer is that sexually transmitted diseases are no longer cute or curable. The days of joking with your pals, over at the penicillin store, are gone. As well as the body-crab races across the bar, and the jovial warnings to avoid whas-ha-name, today, thanks to AIDS, sexual responsibility is a life-or-death situation; today, I want to live!

New albums from Gypsy Woman and Xymox

By Laurie Jeffers Staff Writer

Gypsy woman: She's Homeless

"She's just like you and me/ as she stands there singing for money/ La Da Dee/ La da do do…/ Not in this lifetime, baby, I think I'm going to be ill. This album contains three different cuts of the single, 'She's Homeless.' Each mix is more annoying than the last. The only thing going for this album is that it has a good beat. Lyrically...how can I say this nicely? It stinks. Obviously they are trying to make a statement about the homeless, but between the La-da-da's and horrendous vocals, you kind of miss the point. It might make a good club song, but I would not recommend this album to anyone. Yech? *

Xymox: Phoenix

This album is loaded with wonderful lyrics and interesting techno-slaves. The vocals are flat and interesting Soho-reminiscent music, but as for that singing, I could just go to sleep. This album has a lot of potential to be up there with R.E.M. and other Pop/New Wave art-ists, but it seems to be lacking emotion. "You know I've got this feeling/ You have this sense of freedom...in your arms I'm losing hold/Losing touch, losing hold..." - Phoenix of My Heart.

"It is written in the stars/ it's written on the wall/ I will defy my heart/ Take my soul/ Faith written in the stars/ Face the change of life/ Face the chains of love..." - Written in the Stars.

"My words seem so grey, so grey/ By your sweeping colours swirling down/ I know they're so few, I know/ Who smile like you do..." - Smiley Like Heaven.

Some songs seem to never end; but overall it's a good album. Nothing I would pay money for, but I would refer it to others. This album seems to have a lot to say about love and life, but the artists seem to be holding back. Their singing is flat and booooring... My advice to them would be to lighten up and let go. This album should be a hit...but it isn't. ***

P.S. Don't ask me how "Xymox" is pronounced, because I have no clue myself.

Lacrosse team stunned by Kean

By Keith A. Idee
Staff Writer

The Montclair State men’s lacrosse team lost the Eastern College Athletic Conference Metro New Jersey - New York championship to Kean College on Sunday in Upper Montclair. It marked the second straight season that Kean defeated Montclair for the title.

Montclair came into the game with a 13-2 record and last week clinched its fifth straight Knickerbocker Conference title, finishing with a perfect 7-0 record in the conference play. Kean came in with an 11-4 record. Kean’s attack was balanced, as senior attacker Scott Moskowitz led the way for Kean, scoring three goals and dishing out four assists. Senior goalie Paul Kiebtyba was sensational, turning away 25 shots. Kean’s four assists. Senior goalie Paul Kiebtyba was sensational, turning away 25 shots. Kean’s defense and passing were too much for Montclair. The Red Hawks scored a season-low nine goals. Montclair’s offense was led by junior attacker Pat Shuba, junior midfielder Butch Meyers, and senior midfielder Frank Zimmerman, who all scored two goals apiece. Sophomore goalie Ken Kane stopped 22 shots for Montclair. The Red Hawks came within two goals of Kean with 2:22 left in the third quarter. Then Kean scored four times without Montclair answering.

Montclair reached the finals by defeating Queens College, 14-8 in Upper Montclair on Friday. The Red Hawks were led in the semifinal game by junior attacker John Hufnatter and freshman Keith Van Ness, who scored four goals apiece. Senior midfielder Jack Belanger contributed two goals and sophomore goalie Ken Kane saved ten shots for the Red Hawks. This victory put Montclair’s record at 13-2.

Earlier in the week, Montclair defeated King’s Point 14-3 at King’s Point, New York. Frank Zimmerman, Pat Shuba, Pat Tierney, and Keith Van Ness all scored twice for Montclair. Shuba also handed out three assists for the winners.

The Montclair State lacrosse team has completed its fourth consecutive successful season under Head Coach Doug Alsobrook. Including this year’s 13-3 mark, Alsobrook’s career record at Montclair State stands at 50-12. Although the team didn’t capture the ECCA championship, the Red Hawks were the best team in the Knickerbocker Conference all year. I would like to extend my congratulations to Coach Alsobrook and the whole team on another great season.

Sports Info. Dept. shoots for the stars

By Al Iannazzo
Assistant Sports Editor

Montclair is known for its strong football and baseball programs. The women’s basketball and softball teams are also perennial powerhouse. But MSC boasts excellence in another field: Sports Information. Montclair has the best sports information department in the state and one of the best on the East Coast. The two men in charge of running the show are Sports Information Director (SID) Al Langer and his student assistant Mike “Microchip” Scala. Since their arrival at MSC in 1988, they have built the most respected sports information department in New Jersey.

Langer, 26, of Montclair, arrived at MSC in January 1988 while “Microchip” came in as an undergrad in the fall of that year, and a more perfect match could not have been made. With their countless hours of working together they have established more than a teacher-student relationship, they’ve developed a true friendship. “Al to me is two things,” Scala said. “He is a teacher and a friend. In just three years I’ve learned all about sports information. He has given me insights on writing, planning and how to make the program the best around. He’s influenced me greatly and it’s scary, but when people call me ‘Al Jr.,’ I say, ‘yeah that’s true.’ As a friend, we have built a relationship that I don’t think any other department has. There are so many things I can say about him, but the list is too long.”

Langer gives a lot of credit to Scala for the success the sports department has achieved. “Mike is the most important part of this department,” the Rutgers graduate said. “He is in charge of everything I cannot do. He is the chief statistician for many sports. He earned the nickname ‘Microchip’ for his incredible ability to remember facts and figures from games past. Mike Scala is envied by many SID’s, for their wish they had him. He has been a vital part of the reputation and respect this department has earned.”

Since Langer arrived on the Montclair scene back in 1988, he has seen a shift in the awareness of the sports program and the

Track-prepares for NJAC's

Sadly, The Montclarion won’t be able to report what promises to be two and a half weeks of nerve-jarring excitement as the Red Hawks literally run against time to qualify themselves for their last two championships. As it stands, the Red Hawks have the New Jersey Athletic Conference's Midfielder Butch Meyers, and senior opponent. Montclair won’t be able to make. With their countless hours of working to qualify themselves for their last two championships.

At the College Track Conference Championship last week, individual performances outshined the overall effort, leaving Coach Blanton with mixed feelings about the team’s readiness for the upcoming championships.

Sophomore Derrick Williams placed first in the shotput and second in the discuss, while Senior John Wilkerson placed second in the shotput. Shantay Brane placed third in the long jump. watching on the sidelines were Yvonne Bradford, Carla Roberts and Kyronne Zahir, whose approach to hitting is basic, "I try to be a good hitter." When it comes to hitting, Pallino says, "I'm pretty much a fastball hitter. I don't like the curveball, I don't like the slider, I don't like the changeup. I just try to hit the ball as hard as I can."

But don’t think that hitting is something Pallino takes for granted. "Even if you're a natural hitter, you still have to work at it. In high school, if the count was 2-0, you would almost always see a fastball. Here, the pitchers are a lot tougher and will throw any pitch at any time in the count."

Pallino is also quick to give credit to the hitting around him for his successes. Guys like Dave Kennedy and Brian Wilmot are always on base so I get a lot of good pitches to hit."

Pallino’s approach to hitting is basic, “I just go up there and look for my pitch.” Pallino also sees positive things for the Hawks baseball season. "Everything is coming together for us right now. We can hit and we’ll do some damage in the playoffs."

Pallino has three more seasons to do some more of his own damage, to opposing pitchers and coaches alike. So in the future when you see John Pallino taking his cuts down at Pittser Field, just remember that the only thing that Pallino will be breaking is MSC hitting records.
This is it ladies and gentlemen, the grand finale of Cohesion's Corner. I hope you enjoyed it this year. I'm sure my replacement, Mike Ketchum, will do a better job than me next year. So don't worry, you'll still get a weekly update on S.I.L.C. sports, even though I will be in the dreaded real world.

I'm not going to report on softball games this week, instead I have several awards to give: I have the All-Co men's softball team and I am also going to give yearly awards. Also on the agenda are the playoffs, previews and seedings.

Let's start with the playoffs. The women are having a double elimination tournament. The seedings are listed below:

1. Gamblerettes
2. Chucha's
3. STD
4. Midettes
5. Zeta
6. D-Phi-E
7. Iota Gamma Xi
8. AIX

Paula Korskhall will look to lead the Gamblerettes to a championship. Kim Wilson looks to lead the Chuchas and lead the championship. Paula Korschall and John Fiore will look to win the Daily Double as their Gamblerettes have won the championship the last four years and will be looking to make it five in a row like the 1949 to 1954 New York Yankees.

The men's league features the Gamblers getting the number one seed in the playoffs. The Gamblers played a tough schedule and suffered only one loss. Also receiving a first round bye are the Mid-Digs for winning the American League. The winner of the International League is yet to be determined. A playoff format will determine their five playoff representatives and their championship will receive a bye and the number two seed.

Other teams that made the playoffs are the Underdogs, the No Names and the Southern Comforts of the competitive National League and PRP, Crypto Clearance and the STD's will be representing the American League.

The International League will have a tough time in the playoffs. With all the rainouts causing their week 2 playoff and the abundant weakness of weak teams in their league will make their playoff team less sharp-edged then the Tuesday-Thursday playoff teams. The Gamblers look like the favorite to win the championship. However, since they are so highly touted, some upset team is going to get up and upset them.

The Mid-Digs, these guys have great defense. In a single elimination tournament, a team cannot afford to make an error. The Mid-Digs do not make defensive mistakes. They also have Dan Roberts. Dan Roberts is a clutch player in the playoffs. In 1989, he led the Midnight Tokers to the championship. In 1990, Dan Roberts' team failed to make the playoffs.

Here they are, the S.I.L.C. awards of the year.

S.I.L.C. Athlete of the Year-Jeff Kowalchuk

Jeff made two game winning touchdown catches in the playoffs to take his Cinderella Gnas to the S.I.L.C. superbowl.

Jeff also made first team All-Co in Volleyball in the Monday-Wednesday League and helped lead his team to the championship game.

In basketball, Jeff was the first team All-Co center and led Delta Chi to the championship. "Runner-Up" Jeff did not win a championship this year. His team had to face the dynastics of the Gamblers in football, the Zoo in volleyball and BDP in basketball.

S.I.L.C. Coach of the Year-John Fiore

His Gamblers won the pitch softball, flag football and indoor soccer championship. They made the volleyball playoffs and the final four in basketball.

Right now, the Gamblers are the number one seed in the softball playoffs.

S.I.L.C. Team of the Year-Gamblers

S.I.L.C. Rivalry of the Year-Gamblers-Flag football

The bottom line is that these teams hate each other. No love lost. The first game they played was called off because of a brawl. They played the game over and it ended in a tied game. In both games there was an abundance of cheap shots. If they shook hands after the second game, they probably did not mean it.

The Larry Bird Award (Player with the Most Heart)-Mike Farrell

This year, Farrell led his volleyball team to another championship. That is four in five years for him.

The All-Co Team

P-Bob Downey
P-John Fiore
1B-Jeff Conover
SB-John Fiore
SS-Tony Fricdroc
3B-John Ashley
OF-Steve Pizza

The Bottom Line
By Matt Wintner

When Darryl Strawberry inked his $20 million deal to wear Dodger blue, Met fans looked ahead to May 7th, the day Darryl would return to Shea.

July came and went, but it didn't turn out the way many people, including Darryl himself, expected it.

Strawberry, who made his major league debut in 1983 with the Mets, was greeted with an overwhelming chorus of boos. Mets fans in attendance didn't seem to be booing Straw out of spite, but instead were booing him for his actions at the close of the '90 season and for his comments made after signing with L.A.

"What Mets fans weren't willing to forgive is that Darryl folded up the tent with a bad back. If you want to talk about bad backs, let's talk about Larry Bird. There's an athlete with major medical problems. To make matters worse, Straw packed it in during the heat of a pennant race with the Pirates.

That is something which not only stung the fans, but also his ex-teammates like Tim Teufel, who questioned why Straw sought no treatment for his ailing back.

Compounding the frustration of Met fans, Strawberry, at his press conference announcing his new deal, called his years in New York, "a living hell." Maybe he didn't feel a need to specify what constituted his living hell. Was it the front-office, his personal life, the fans, or all of the above?

By generalizing his eight-year career in New York, fans took offense to his words, and they let Straw know it every time he stepped to the plate. The abuse continued throughout the evening as the mocking chant of Da-ryl, Da-ryl echoed through the stadium.

After the game, Strawberry said, "I expected to be booed, because they booed me when I played here." But there was a sense of hurt in those words.

While Strawberry was often booed at Shea, there was also lots of applause. Boosing a player is a part of baseball, especially when a player makes bold predictions for "monster seasons" and can't back up his words, or folds up the tent in the midst of a pennant drive.

If Darryl was hurt by his reception, he should sit back and think if it was warranted. He made his bed and now he must lie in it or figure out how to get out of his miserable slump.

NOTE: This is it - the end of the line for "The Bottom Line." I would like to thank those of you who took the time to read the column during its two year run.

If Darryl was hurt by his reception, he should sit back and think if it was warranted. He made his bed and now he must lie in it or figure out how to get out of his miserable slump.

NOTE: This is it - the end of the line for "The Bottom Line." I would like to thank those of you who took the time to read the column during its two year run.
Gelston to step down from post

By Michael Frasaco

Montclair State Men's Basketball Coach Ollie Gelston will be stepping down from his post as announced earlier this week. However, Gelston will remain as the college's Assistant Athletic Director.

Gelston's retirement marks the ending of an era here at Montclair State. For the last 24 years, in which he compiled a 304-285 record, this soft-spoken professional could be seen instilling his experience and work ethic into his players on the sidelines.

Although Gelston was unavailable for comment, his achievements and what he has meant to the men's basketball program speak for themselves.

Succeeding Dave Watkins at Montclair State in 1967, Gelston proceeded to win 20, 24 and 23 games in each of his first three seasons. Gelston also won the conference crown during his first four years.

Gelston's success didn't stop there. In 1968, his second season, the team won the Eastern Regional NCAA Tournament by surprising Navy and snipping FDU. He also guided Montclair State into the NCAA playoffs as the fourth seeded team in 1980-81, only to win it all.

Despite his many accomplishments as a coach, Gelston has been noted to put his players' well being first. The Gelston-type player is a student first and an athlete second. Gelston has also been known to get the most out of his players. Getting his athletes to learn, not only about basketball, but lessons about themselves and about others, has always been a priority.

There's no doubt Montclair State men's basketball will miss the guidance and professionalism Gelston brought to the program, but hopefully those who were fortunate enough to have worked and learned from him, will use that experience and build on it.

Montclair State now faces Glassboro in the first game of the double elimination ECAC tournament to be hosted by Kean. Kubicka is happy but she knows anything can happen.

"This year I've learned to live game by game and not really anticipate anything. We showed a lot of character when we came back in situations where we made errors. We came together as a team and won a lot of games. I'm happy we're still playing."

RedHawks heading into NJAC playoffs at full steam

There is only one word that can describe the Red Hawks baseball team right now: HOT!! Winners of 22 of their last 25, MSC is primed to go into the NJAC playoffs this weekend as the team to beat.

MSC, the defending NJAC and Mid-Atlantic region champs, will be the top seeded team. The other contenders will be Trenton State, Glassboro State, and William Paterson. MSC has been playing like a well oiled machine of late, easily defeating all foes, conference and non-conference.

MSC started the week playing Jersey City State. Joe DeMiro was the big story, firing a complete game four-hitter. Tim North led MSC hitters with four hits, as the Hawks cruised to a 6-1 victory.

Next came an important game against Rutgers-Newark. A win meant home-field advantage for MSC in the playoffs, and MSC didn't let down, winning the contest 10-5. Brian Wilmot had three hits, three RBI and Dave Kennedy pitched four scoreless innings to lead the Hawks.

MSC next took a road trip to Eastern Connecticut and proceeded to dominate the defending division III champs by scores of 12-1 and 11-5. MSC then went to Fayetteville N.C. to take on sixth-ranked Methodist College for two games and won by scores of 8-1 and 4-0. Joe DeMiro improved his record to 6-9, (1.20 ERA) with a solid six inning effort in the first game. Dave Kennedy, who pitched the final three innings to earn the save, boosted his 14th and 15th home runs in the two games to lead the Hawks offensively. In the second game, Vinny Henrich picked up the win, upping his record to 6-1. MSC is now 26-12 overall (12-4 NJAC), second in the South Atlantic Conference.

"We're not going to look too far ahead. We're just going to take it one game at a time. The conference is wide open. We have a lot of heart and desire as we won four of their last five games and improved their record to 18-18. This late surge earned MSC an ECAC playoff bid. "We did what we needed to do to get to 500," Coach Anita Kubicka said. In order to qualify for the ECAC's a team needs a .500 record.

Montclair had six games cancelled this year due to inclement weather and Kubicka said, in order to qualify for the ECAC's a team needs a .500 record.

On the second game, Montclair lost a tough one. Trailng 5-1 in the third, MSC scored four runs to tie the score 5-5 and added three more in the fifth to take an 8-6 lead. The score stayed this way until the bottom of the seventh. With one out and a runner at first, a double play ball was bootied by Kubicka. The error opened up the flood gates and Stony Brook scored three runs to win the game 9-8.

Kutchinski also had the dubious honor of breaking two Montclair fielding records in the Stony Brook doubleheader. In the first game, the shortest set the single season assist mark, recording her 122nd, and in the second game, she notched her record-breaking 22nd error of the season.
