SRA News:

President Reid speaks on tuition increase

By Robert Wintermute

President Irvin Reid discussed the future of tuition increases in his welcome address to the SGA legislature on Wednesday, Sept. 18. "Normally there is bad news, but I have been gun to see signs that some things will look better."

Reid praised the administration's efforts to keep tuition expenses one-third of the total cost of attending MSC, but blamed the state for not fulfilling its obligations to the college. Regarding a tuition hike for the next semester, he said that "unless a drastic bottom drops out of the state economy, the tuition hike will be kept to $1 to $2 per credit this year."

Reid also made a plea to the legislature to help "create a greater sense of community at MSC." Reid described the new Campus Life Task Force that has been created by the administration, and added that the committee has already come up with the idea of establishing a "campus clean-up day," which will take place "sometime in the spring."

Reid said that even though the committee is in place, there is always a need for "ideas that will benefit the environment and sense of community," at MSC. "All should be interested in a better sense of community and variety of enrichment outside of class."

Reid pointed to last spring's concert in the amphitheatre as an example of things that could help promote this.

Dr. James Harris, dean of Student Activities, supported the concerns of President Reid on the issue of the economic future of MSC. He reminded students that this year is a state-wide legislative election. "All of you have the right and responsibility to vote. I highly recommend that the SGA of MSC take the lead in voting on the legislature and the budget."

In describing the short-term future of education in New Jersey, Harris said "I think we are spending money on the wrong things. Some priorities in this country are missing. People will become upset when students, particularly poor students, are unable to obtain an education in a system that promotes money over intelligence."

Class I organizations over-spend budget

Rob Tranter, SGA Treasurer, gave his initial report of the semester. In his report he described the Class I organization budgets and the amount of money spent over the budget.

Board appoints Armstrong to faculty

By E. Mun

Jean Armstrong, vice president of Student Affairs, was officially appointed a professor of the English department by the Board of Trustees last Thursday, despite objections made by the teachers' union over failure to follow affirmative action procedures.

The vote by the Board was unanimous except for an abstention by Student Trustee Paul Prior.

Faculty appointments are normally made only after contractual procedures passed by the board have been followed. The teacher's union, AFT Local 1904, contentions is Armstrong is not a faculty member but an administrator and must follow procedures accordingly.

"How can anyone at Montclair believe that affirmative action procedures are anything but window-dressing for an Administration and Board that seem to believe in their implementation, when to do so would be inconvenient," said Joan Ficke, vice president of AFT Local 1904, to the Board of Trustees.

Oliver North was exonerated of all charges pertaining to the Iran Contra Af­fair. Independent Counsel Lawrence Walsh stated it was unlikely he would get a rein­statement of North's three convictions, for destroying documents, accepting an illegal gratuity and aiding in the obstruction of justice. Those convictions were set aside by a federal appeals court in 1990. Counsel Walsh gave up his attempt monday to re­instate North's felonies. Robert Gates' confirmation hearings started Monday. Gates was nominated to be Bush's head of the C.I.A. The nominee said he made "misjudgments" and "should have asked more questions" in pertinence to his role in the Iran Contra Affair. Some senators accused Gates of willful ignorance. Senator Metzenbaum of Ohio said, "You were absolutely surrounded by the truth. How could you possibly not know? As No. 2 man at the agency such willful ignorance is inexcusable." Clarence Thomas held firm in his con­firmation hearings. Thomas, nominated to the Supreme Court by President Bush, with­stood badgering from Senator Joseph Biden of Delaware and Senator Howard Metzenbaum of Ohio. Thomas refused to answer how he would vote on such contro­versial cases as Roe v. Wade. He maintained that answering the questions would inhibit his abilities to act impartially. The Space Shuttle Discovery, which was visible in our area a few minutes after take off, had to change orbit in a near miss with Soviet space debris. The debris was a piece of a Soviet rocket. The incident is the first in the shuttle program. Astronauts also assembled a practice erector set in preparation to building the proposed space station.

II State Insurance Company said it will pull all but its life insurance business out of New Jersey. The reason they are doing so is continued losses in auto insurance. Richard Levenfeld, assistant general council for All State said, "We are leaving New Jersey because we have lost hope that a free market system is left in New Jersey." The plan All State gave to the Department of Insurance would give All State a year to transfer its clients. Stock piles of arsenic, cyanide and mercury were found in the Haledon home of a leading suspect in a child pornography case. Along with the poison several photos of the defendant with young men, all clothed, were confiscated from his home. According to Passaic County Assistant prosecutor other pictures were found of the defendant appearing nude with some of the boys. Striking teachers in Little Ferry plan to appeal an order that they return to work or lose their jobs. The ruling was issued Monday by State Superior Court Judge Kevin O'Hollaran. In his ruling he also said the Little Ferry Board of Education would not be allowed to rehire the teachers. The teachers went on strike after working without a con­tract since June 1991. Talks were broken off Monday but both sides expect them to re­sume soon.

New York City broke its record of 90 degree days or above Monday with the 88th this year. The old record of 37 was set in 1944. Newark had its 40th day touching the 90 degree mark tying records set in 1959 and 1983. But the record of 43 set in 1988 still stands.

Board of Trustees meeting:

Sprague Library expansion passed

By Karl Lomberk

The Board of Trustees unanimously passed a proposal to authorize a contract for the construction of a 40,000 sq. ft. addition to Sprague Library last Thursday.

The contract, actually five separate contracts, totals $4.99 million, which is agreeable to Chairperson Robert A. Altman because "the original estimate was for $6.4 million." The project is split up among five separate contractors, with the largest part, more than half of the total of the five contracts, going to Controlled Construction, Inc. The other four contractors in descending order of contract size are, Davidson and Howard, Inc., Electro-Es, Inc., F&G Mechanical Corporation and Weir Welding Company, Inc. According to the Board of Trustees agenda for last Thursday's meeting, "The firms recommended are the lowest qualified bidders."

The project is scheduled to begin this semester and is expected to last at least two years.

The Board also passed a contract to Power Electric Co., Inc. for $316,000 to change the mechanical Corporation and Weir Welding for the coming year and addressed some issues that were discovered recently pertaining to the previous year. Class I organizations were appropriated $557,359 this year. He explained that the college received approximately $553,000 from students' SGA fee of three dollars per credit, leaving a deficit of $4,359. The deficit will be covered by the surplus funds from fiscal year 1991, which was approximately $25,000.

Tranter also explained that the 1991 audit of appropriations has been completed. Several organizations were discovered to have experienced expense overruns in the past year. Student Intramural and Leisure Council (SILC) made several illegal purchases totaling approximately $2,500 beginning in November last year. None of those participating in these illegal purchases are on the current executive board of that organization. Since the misappropriations were made "policy violations," Tranter said that no legal action was taken.

The Organization of Students for African Unity's (OSAU) Gospel Explosion and Color Explosion events also ran into money problems, running some $1,800 over budget. Since these events were for the purpose of a scholarship for a student in an African-American Studies Minor, Tranter said, the SGA felt that it was worthwhile to transfer the amount of overrun to OSAU.

The Montclarion was discovered to have been $6,000 over budget last year. Additional funds to cover the overrun was transferred to The Montclarion. Tranter said that he would be personally tracking the newspaper's budget, and "would make adjustments as necessary." Tranter said that he felt the overrun was due to the policy of giving free advertising out last year. He added that there shouldn't be such a problem this year. To help solve the problem, Tranter said that he would propose cutting operating expenses such as reducing the size of the paper or reducing the size of the publication runs.

Players was described as "a fiasco" by Tranter. While most outstanding bills have been paid, he said that over $670 is still owed from last year. As a result, Players' budget for spring has been frozen.

Finally, he said that the Class II organization budget process has been changed. Handbooks for the process of appropriating funds for the Class II's will be forthcoming.

SGA up to 26 legislators

Additional legislators were sworn in during the meeting, helping to address the problem of lack of participation mentioned in earlier meetings. The student legislative body now stands at 26 legislators and four executive board members.

This number is still short of last year's legislature, which consisted of 45 people. President Tony Susco said that there are still a number of petitions still outstanding, but cautioned the legislature that the deadline for petitions is Friday, Sept. 20.

He said that he still anticipates a full legislature for the year.

The SGA voted unanimously to appoint the following people to positions in the cabinet: James Cotter, director of external affairs; Ruth Gonnea, director of services; Carl Zeitz, director of Greek affairs; and Mildred Pellot, SGA clerk. In a separate vote, Gouri Sudhwni was elected president pro-tempore.

79% of their faculty has terminal degrees. Stockton State College ranked at the top with 91% of their staff with terminal degrees.

"If we have the second best faculty on the state college level in New Jersey, then in my opinion we have one of the best colleges," Martin said.

Dr. Benfield, professor of Philosophy and Religion for 18 years at MSC, believes that "the faculty is eager to meet and work with students who like to learn. Thus, unlimited help is always available for those students.

Kathleen Mc Morrow, a former MSC student who transferred to TSC in 1989 said, "The faculty is of great importance to the college one is attending, but much more than that is needed." She also says that she found a greater overall common outlook to succeed at TSC as opposed to MSC and feels it was the best choice she ever made.

"None of this is meant to besmirch Dr. Armstrong. She should be recognized for what she has given the institution," said Ficke.

The union filed a Step Two Grievance against the Administration with the Chancellor of Higher Education. A civil rights complaint may follow, Ficke said.

"Dr. Armstrong's case was waived due to its special and unusual circumstances," said Anita Waters.

"We've waived other cases because of special and unusual cases that the teachers' union have not objected to."

Armstrong will be on a leave with pay beginning January and will begin to teach as a full professor in September.

These are some of the countries where MONTCLAIR STATE students have spent a semester of a year of study in the past few years. Studying abroad will give you the chance of experiencing a different country and culture. Your perspective will be broader!

All MONTCLAIR STATE students in good standing are entitled to the services of the Study Abroad program administered by the International Studies office. The program operates many low-cost opportunities abroad, including very affordable exchanges with students from other countries. Courses are generally taught in English by an international faculty.

Financial aid is applicable to study abroad and, in many cases, covers the entire cost.

YOU OWE IT TO YOURSELF!!! Come to a Study Abroad Information meeting and learn how you can use these services, where in the world you can go, how much it will cost, how you can transfer a semester's or a year's worth of credits towards your graduation from MONTCLAIR STATE.

For the benefit of our students not yet fluent in English, The Montclarion prints an article in Spanish weekly. Beginning next week, an article in Spanish will appear side-by-side with its English translation.

Al regresar a clases este semestre hemos encontrado varios cambios en el colegio. El más significativo es el plan de remodelación que las autoridades de MSC llevan a cabo en el plantel, el cual a ocasionado ciertos contratiempos, donde desafortunadamente los más afectados somos los estudiantes.

El semestre pasado encontramos un aumento en el costo de la matrícula. En el semestre actual sufrimos un aumento en el costo del estacionamiento. Dicho aumento no sería de gran importancia si hubiera suficiente espacio para estacionarse dentro de la escuela, pero al parecer hay más estudiantes con automóviles que espacios disponibles. Pero a las autoridades no les importaba, ya que ellos cobran a todos los estudiantes con automóvil sin preocuparse si hay suficiente espacio, ya que al parecer no existe un control sobre esto.

Es una auténtica pesadilla tratar de encontrar un lugar para estacionarse dentro del plantel entre semana, ya que el lote 13 ha sido cerrado a los estudiantes. Dicho lote es el más cercano a los edificios en los cuales se imparten la mayoría de las clases. Ahora, los estudiantes tienen forzosamente que estacionarse a considerable distancia de ellos y esperar el autobús de transporte interno, o en el último de los casos caminar hasta el salon de clases, lo cual toma aproximadamente 15 minutos.

Afortunadamente este problema no ha afectado aún a los estudiantes del colegio de fin de semana, ya que el estacionamiento para los profesores se encuentra abierto los viernes, sábados y domingos para servicio de dichos estudiantes. Esperamos que esto continue durante todo el semestre, ya que de lo contrario el programa del colegio de fin de semana se vería seriamente afectado, debido a que los sábados y domingos la escuela se encuentra prácticamente vacía y con muy poca vigilancia, por lo tanto sería bastante peligroso caminar hasta los estacionamientos designados a los estudiantes.

Se han efectuado también, varios cambios en la circulación de algunas calles, causando gran confusión y un congestionamiento de tráfico a ciertas horas del día. Esperamos que estos cambios tengan el resultado esperado por las autoridades de MSC, pero principalmente que traigan algún beneficio a los estudiantes, quienes al fin de cuentas somos las personas más importantes de este proceso económico.

Otro de los problemas que afectan a los estudiantes de MSC, es el precio exagerado de los libros, algunos de los cuales alcanzan cantidades astronómicas de 70 dólares o más. Si tomamos en cuenta que no es solo una materia para la cual hay que comprar libros y que muchas veces los libros varían de uno hasta cuatro por materia, el resultado es catastrófico para la economía de los estudiantes. Y si a esto aumentamos que existen profesores que piden libros y no los usan durante todo el semestre. Es injusto el inventario en un libro que no será usado. Claro que también hay profesores que utilizan el libro, y si no se compra las esperanzas de aprobar esa materia son mínimas. Pero es difícil reconocer al principio del semestre quienes son quienes, por lo tanto estamos obligados a comprar todos los libros requeridos.

Es ya una tradición tratar de conseguir los libros con personas que hayan tomado determinada materia en semestres anteriores, las cuales quieran vender sus libros a precios moderados, tal vez prestándolos y hay quienes los regralan.

Pero al parecer hay cierta extraña asociación entre las autoridades de MSC, ciertos profesores y la librería de la escuela, ya que hay materias en las cuales el libro requerido cambia de un semestre a otro por diferentes razones. Una de ellas puede ser que el jefe del departamento de alguna materia, le pareció más completo un libro que el anterior o bien porque el profesor que imparte la materia escribió el libro y quiere convertirlo en un auténtico "best-seller", esto hace imposible conseguir el libro en otro lado que no sea la librería de la escuela.

Un ejemplo más de arbitrariedad es la clase de bolígrafo, ya que MSC no cuenta con las instalaciones necesarias para impartir esta clase. Los estudiantes tienen que transportarse hasta un local ubicado en la avenida "Bloomfield" al final de "Valley Road", en donde hay que pagar 2 dólares por juego, y son dos juegos por clase. Si lo multiplicamos por quince, que son las clases con las que cuenta el semestre, los estudiantes tienen que pagar 60 dólares extra. Si consideramos que al pagar la matrícula estamos pagando por el derecho de usar las instalaciones de la escuela, tales como el gimnasio, la alberca, etc., es sencillamente intolerable que se imparta una materia en la que se tiene que pagar nuevamente. Solo falta que los profesores hagan obligatorio el comprar la bola oficial, en el próximo semestre un profesor cambie la bola oficial por una de cuatro o cinco orificios para sujetarla, y así los nuevos estudiantes no la puedan conseguir con los anteriores. Esto suena increíble, pero todo puede suceder dentro de este gran negocio llamado educación.

Permanent Part-time Package Handlers

Our tuition reimbursement package is one of the most important packages UPS delivers.

United Parcel Service knows how difficult it is these days to get through school, academically and financially. While we can't help you get better grades, we can help you by offering one of the most generous tuition reimbursement packages around.

By working 3–5 hours a day, 5 days a week on selected shifts, you can be eligible for educational loans of up to $25,000 a year and tuition reimbursement of up to $2,000 a semester. You'll also start at $8 an hour, be able to pick a schedule that works around your classes, get paid holidays and vacations, receive company benefits and be eligible for promotions.

UPS also knows that free time is important. As a part-time package handler, you'll get weekends off! That's plenty of time to study or recharge.

No wonder we say UPS delivers more than a great job...UPS Delivers Education.

Seniors in overtime: what’s their plight?

I walked around campus these first couple of weeks, gazing into the eyes of confused and dazzled students, who wondered why they were no longer sitting in some beach house in Belmar, sipping beer in their underwear amidst the 90 degree heat. Like premature fetuses, they had been thrust out of the womb of the dog days of summer and dropped, kicking and screaming, onto this mountain of mystery, MSC. Who are you guys anyway? Students? Administrators? Greeks? Geeks? MSC. Who are you guys anyway? Students? Administrators? Greeks? Geeks?

In the words of one five-year senior, “I don’t get along well with employment.” He finds that being a five-year senior has its advantages. “You can’t get educated by going through the mall... I learned a lot more by being able to take the classes I wanted, without the pressure of getting out in four years.”

Mike Penner, a five-year senior who recently graduated from MSC, tends to hold a different view. “I didn’t get out in four years because of all those keggers we had in the residence halls. It’s not like I took longer to get out because I wanted to enlighten myself.”

“Stay out of trouble and don’t put too much pressure on yourself,” says Mike Penner.

Wallace sums up his advice distinctly and to the point: “Transfer.”

Is graduating in four years a reality or a dream?

“Get involved in a productive organization and meet people.”

Wallace, however, does find it difficult to relate to younger students, although he “doesn’t relate to most kids anyway.”

After five years anywhere, you usually discover certain tricks of the trade to make life easier on yourself, like how to get into a class that’s closed, knowing interesting places for sex, where to and where not to smoke oregano and how to get out of dreaded library fines. Above and beyond campus life, five-year seniors have usually seen more than their fair share of wiggling weird wonders during their stay. “It’s a toss up between Senate’s celebration of Bob Marley’s Birthday in the quad, or catching two people having sex in the elevator,” reminisces Pres. Susco.

Wallace remembers the library masturbator. “It was a nuisance. Keep it in your pants or go into the bathroom, I mean, geez...”

Any last minute advice for freshmen, transfer students or those who have spent their time at MSC in a blur? Says one, “Get involved in a productive organization and meet people.”

“Stay out of trouble and don’t put too much pressure on yourself,” says Mike Penner.

No, I insist: Take my spot!

By Audrey Regan

You’re driving through lots and lots of parking lots, circling around cars, people, construction machines, when out of the corner of your eye appears — behold — an empty space. You thank the Great Parking God for this gift and...

Wait! What the? Hey! Who’s this bimbo in the white Mustang who just stole my spot? Just invaded what was destined to be mine? I saw it first! What do you do? Get out and belch her? Do you ram her car? Do you roll down the window and curse her out? Wait for her to leave and let the air out of her tires? Or do you politely step out of your car, gently approach her and say, “Hello. I realize this parking situation is a bit overwhelming and we are all a tad late for class, but we can work this out...”

That would seem to be the most civilized way to behave, and that is the kind of behavior Chuck Coronato, a professional trainer, tried to encourage at last night’s “Parking Dilemma Workshop” sponsored by the Human Relations Organization (HRO) in Student Center Ballroom C. Unfortunately, only 12 people showed up — 10 of whom were already members of HRO.

“This was not a workshop for parking, although it was a vehicle for members to interact and learn negotiating skills,” said Coronato, who graduated from MSC in 1988 with a masters degree in counseling and human resources, and who has stayed in contact with HRO as a guest speaker since he was a member 15 years ago.

Through a series of exercises, role playing and discussions, Coronato led the group to deal with what he sees as a situation “no different than it was 15 years ago when I was an undergrad.”

Glenn Laniewski, president of HRO, admitted the turnout was disappointing. “It could have been better. We did a lot of publicity and there was a lot of interest. Unfortunately, only 12 people showed up —10 of whom were already members of HRO.”

The 12 who attended learned the “win-win” strategy of negotiating, in which both parties gain from the conflict — whether it be in the business world, home or classroom (although this is hard to imagine in the parking lots).

Nevertheless, there will be 12 less angry commuters this semester, and one HRO president who learned proper workshop placement. “I guess parking wasn’t as hard to find as our workshop was,” he said.

An unforgettable lecture: There is hope for improving memory skills

By Jeanine Rybeck

Have you ever embarrassed yourself by calling someone by the wrong name? Did you ever pull an all-nighter only to find that your mind went blank as soon as you were given the test in the morning? Each of us can undoubtedly relate to either of these situations. However, there is hope. According to nationally known memory expert Jon Keith, “There is no such thing as a bad memory.” He proved it on Sept. 17 in his “Where Did I Put My Keys?” seminar in front of a crowded audience in the Student Center Ballrooms.

Keith, author of Executive Memory Techniques, which sold 25,000 copies in the first month of publication, is a graduate of Pace University. He has demonstrated his techniques on national TV with Regis Philbin, and teaches script memorization at major television networks ABC, CBS and NBC. Keith also holds seminars for IBM, National Westminster Bancorp and International Paper Co., as well as many other corporations.

Yes, but can he type? He didn’t say, but he can memorize an issue of Time magazine, page for page, in one hour. He once remembered the names of 664 people who attended one of his seminars. Maybe Keith doesn’t need typing skills after all.

“Remembering a name and a face is the number one tool in both the corporate and the outside world,” said Keith, a Belmar resident. He then went on to teach his technique for remembering names. “Remember to really hear the name, and associate that picture with the face.”

Keith stressed the concepts of association and mental picturing throughout the seminar, stating that picture memory is 200 times better than verbal memory. These strategies, he said, are especially effective for retaining scholastic material and are also simple to learn.

For most of us who can’t remember what we ate for breakfast, Keith demonstrated quite humorously that memory can be improved, quite an encouraging thought for those late-night study marathons.

As two seniors on the verge of graduation, we feel we owe it to the students here to explore the unexplored. Students have enough to worry about: school work, car troubles, parents, bills, etc. This bi-weekly feature, we hope, will acquaint the new student as well as the grizzled college veteran to facets of college life not explained in the trusty college catalogue. For example, which academic buildings have water fountains that shoot up your nose? We, Carl and Doug, explored through our rigorous test of water samples, our study showed that 20 percent of the campus' fountains do indeed shoot so high as to reach up your nose. The TV Center and the third floor of Partridge Hall shoot the highest. All we can say is, be prepared to wipe your chin.

We also found that seven percent shoot so low that sucking on the pipe is necessary. Most of these can be found in the lower level of the Student Center Annex.

All we can say is, be prepared to wipe your chin.

We also found that seven percent shoot so low that sucking on the pipe is necessary. Most of these can be found in the lower level of the Student Center Annex.

Warm water, or water tasting like mineral deposits, is also common among campus fountains, our study showed. According to our strict standards and taste buds, 29 percent of the fountain water on campus does not taste good. The Calcia Fine Arts building, for example, has the worst tasting water on campus. The water tastes like plastic, clay and metal.

Our study also showed that 18 percent of all fountains spew warm water, whether day or night. The fountains on the third floor of Richardson Hall are very warm and are recommended for use on cold days only.

Even more alarming, three percent of the fountains tested had heavy amounts of scum on them, Jim Brighton from the maintenance department expressed displeasure at this fact. He said the fountains are supposed to be cleaned "on a daily basis." Asked about the brown water spewing in Panzer Gym's fountain, Brighton admitted that it happens because of "hydrants being flushed.

This leads us to a burning question about the fountain next to the locker rooms downstairs in Panzer Gym. What is that? The fountain is fine if you need an emergency shampo, but a drink of water is out of the question! There's a shower head within the fountain.

McEachern Hall houses a problematic fountain also. On the first floor, there is a large tri-fountain resembling a baptismal pool. Get a friend to take a drink at the middle fountain while you take a swig from the left, and see if you are still friends afterwards. Overall, we found that almost one-third of the campus' water fountains do not have good tasting water, and that most buildings are inconsistently endowed with water works, so varying from floor to floor. However, there are two buildings worth mentioning. Mallory Hall and Finley Hall house the highest number of good-tasting water fountains (four in each).

Here is our list of the best fountains on campus:

1. Speech Building (only fountain)
2. McEachern Hall (closest to library)
3. Student Center (downstairs by the Rat)
4. Mallory Hall (library side, 1st floor)
5. Panzer Gym
More and more PhDs across the country are recommending Hewlett-Packard financial and scientific calculators to their students. And for some very strong reasons.

“The HP 48SX Scientific Expandable has powerful graphics tools that are remarkably helpful to students learning mathematical concepts. And with the equation solver feature, it’s excellent for applying mathematics to engineering,” according to Dr. William Rahmeyer, a professor of civil and environmental engineering at Utah State University.

“The HP Business Consultant II has an equation solver and extensive math functions. These free the students from computational tedium so they can think and interact on a higher level!” says Dr. Lee V. Stiff, a professor of math education at North Carolina State University.

So go check out the HP calculator line at your college bookstore or HP retailer. You’ll agree, there’s no faster relief from the pain of tough problems. HP calculators. The best for your success.

Beep, beep, beep, beep...

You live on campus. As you walk in to your room you trip over an empty bottle of Wild Turkey and find your roommate turning blue from choking on his own vomit. You ponder, "Should I ignore this and hope that rumor of getting a 4.0 for the semester if your roommate dies is true, or call someone?" You choose the latter remembering he owes you money. You now rush to the phone to summon help. You get a busy signal.

Well, maybe this hasn't happened to you, but in the back of your head you know it could. You could get that mysterious busy signal that drives you mad. That busy signal which now has invaded your sleep.

ACUS (AT&T's College and University Service) has come to haunt you. It speaks softly yet disturbing...

'accidently' said in the wrong code. And when you finally do get it right I'll slip you the BUSY SIGNAL. Ha, ha, ha. It could. You could get that mysterious busy signal.

"Hello. My name is ACUS. I'm a super digital multi-service phone network system. I cost your school over a million dollars. And because I'm smarter than you are... Well, I'll do whatever I like."

"I get a real kick out of watching you miss that nineteenth digit with your clumsy finger when you dial out of the 201 area code. And when you finally do get it right I'll slip you the BUSY SIGNAL. Ha, ha, ha."

会不会 路 is too easy to install additional lines so all your calls can get through on your first try. Today I think I'll let the campus use, like a baby.

Actually I'm not all bad. After all I am the deviant computer of 2001: A Space Odyssey, soft yet disturbing...

You ponder, "Should I ignore this and hope if your roommate dies is true or call some­ who, but in the back of your head you know it could. You could get that mysterious busy signal which now has invaded your sleep.

You wake in a pool of sweat. You shud­der and think this would all go away if you switched to New Jersey Bell, which is an option you have. It is more expensive but reliable. You write yourself a note on a Post­It to make the switch tomorrow and sleep like a baby.

Oh, When the Dead Come Marching In

I hate the Grateful Dead. I just can’t stand them. My friends listen to them all the time and it drives me up the wall. There is the occasional song or two that I can tolerate, but for the most part, the music stinks! These guys all have the live shows the Grateful Dead ever played on tapes that sound like side B recordings of the first records ever made. They compare the tapes to see who has the best live shows on tape. It’s like a religion. But as much as I hate the Dead, I love when they’re in town.

Some folks make friends in frats, while others hang out in the library to make friends. But I have this uncanny knack for making friends with Deadheads. I like Deadheads, I just can’t stand the music— they’re always listening to. They dance around and act all goofy, but they’re really nice people.

When all your friends are Deadheads there are certain advantages when the Dead is in town. Let me explain. Some of you may have already experienced the Dead week camp outs that take place at your house. They come in from everywhere, places like Boston, Philly, and D.C. and they stay over so they don’t have to pay outrageous prices for some chintzy hotel room. Of course they always return the favor when your friends go to their place when the Dead is in town.

Anyway, there are lots of people over, there are lots of good vibes in the air, the atmosphere is good (except for the music), and someone is usually stir-frying in the wok so there is plenty of good food to munch on. After dinner they all pile in the VW bus and it’s off to the show they go.

It’s like the calm after the storm when they all leave. You can sit back, change the music, relax and do some studying (hah!). Sometimes they even disappear for a few days, following the Dead to the next town. You get the whole house to yourself!

So, if you’re like me and can’t stand the music of the Dead, don’t hold it against the Deadheads; they’re a nice bunch of folks. They like to have fun, they disappear for a few days at a time, and they know how to party!

A Modest Proposal

I’m annoyed. As I read through our beloved MSC Handbook, I noticed a contradiction (I know I could not believe it myself). On page 30 the book states: “Parties at Clove (Rd apartments) must be registered and approved and will be permitted only on Friday and Saturday nights.” BUT, the next paragraph states that we are not allowed to have any parties at any time and if we are found to be in violation of this rule we will have our housing contracts terminated along with any social security benefits and something that has to do with our Student Center bathroom rights.

Anyway, if anyone remembers what Clove used to be like then they can understand the difficulty there is currently to have a good time with more than ten people in your apartment. The previous rules in the handbook (1987/88) had a limit of 30-40 people.

Granted, this rule was violated on several occasions. But now it is absolutely ridiculous to even consider the fact of having more than five people in your apartment because of all the allocations that can be brought against you. Moreover, anyone who hung around for graduation week-end remembers what a blant it was at Clove because all of the seniors were leaving and it really did not matter as much then to be drinking in your apartment or someone else’s apartment or even outside for that matter.

So now I come to my point and proposal to the Board of Trustees and anyone who has any say in our esteemed institution: In a given month, (a four week period) why can’t we have a Clove Road block party on one of those weekends or every other weekend. And during the other two week-ends, the current rule for Clove parties (whichever it may be) would be in effect. And just to be fair, if any resident violates the party policy during the "off party weekend" then the "party weekend" would be in jeopardy. This way residents would respect the policy more because one part of every month would be their time to have a party with more than ten people and not have to worry about being written up or something to that effect.

This column was originally written last May. It was submitted for publication by Editor-in-Chief Michael Walmsey. squashed the story. Incredulous as it seems, this constituted censoring a column that condemned censorship. Here it is:

Yeah, yeah, yeah, I know, writing about old records is becoming old hat in thiscolumn to be irrelevant column. Regardless of your thoughts I am once again arbitrarily writing about a twenty odd year old album. This week’s selection is Sssshh by Ten Years After. For the uninitiated, Ten Years After appeared at Woodstock and featured the incredible guitarist Alvin Lee. For the initiated I chose this album because I wanted to hear it again and the band’s name Ten Years After seems indicative of the speed in which legitimate student concerns are eventually addressed by MSC. If you’re an Alvin Lee fan you have no idea what you are missing. Find out.

Guitar virtuoso Alvin Lee on the making of Sssshh: “We have attempted to lay down the basic Ten Years After music and at the same time create an atmosphere that involves more than what is said or heard. Yeah, yeah, I know not much music stuff, two quasi paragraphs do not usually constitute a record commentary. In this column they quite uncharacteristically do. If you are a student at MSC you should be accustomed to the arbitrary and autocratic dialog. If you are not a student, understand that an autocratic and arbitrary administration exists at MSC.

Two scoops of Spoon River Anthology

By Beth Mangini

In the Studio Theater from September 17-22 is a serious drama that one must have a good ear to understand. "Spoon River Anthology," a play written by Edgar Lee Masters, is set in a forgotten place in time that only the people which once flourished there can remember.

This MSC production is directed by Sarah Ryan. The cast consists of an ensemble of ten characters. Each one plays many parts as they reveal their tragedies in life now told by their ghost-like spirits.

The setting and lighting, supervised by stage manager Dana Damato, gives a mood. Since the whole cast gave equal voices are a good accent to the overall mood. Their deep, melodic and playfully entertaining.

Players portrays a Foreigner

By Kerri Kochanski

"I'm having quite an adventure here," states Charlie Baker. And an adventure it was, when Players presented "The Foreigner" in the Student Center Annex. Even the ill wishes of opening night (Friday the 13th) failed to subdue the side-splitting success of this Larry Shue comedy which was directed by Melissa A. Bentley, assisted by Jason Grote.

The play takes place in Tishman County, Georgia where Charlie (Matthew Horohoe) and Froggy (Philip M. Cirincione) arrive to lodge with Froggy's older friend Betty (Diane DeFonza). While Betty yearns to meet interesting outsiders, Charlie fears to engage in conversation. Being the good friend that he is, Froggy says he'll attend to Charlie's speaking matters - and handle them he does when Froggy introduces ever-so-boring, neurotic Charlie as "the foreigner." Though reluctant to play along, Charlie temporarily bises his articulate English tongue and feigns incommunicability. However, Charlie opts to prolong the foreigner guise after witnessing private confessions which concern the kinfolk of the house.

On target with comedic timing, Diane DeFonza gave a quipping portrayal of a granny-like Betty, and newcomer Eric Shmitz provided a rip-roaring rendition of gruff southern racial, Owen Musser. Garbled jokes marked the presence of Philip M. Cirincione (Froggy) whose lines became lost in a fire of rapid speech. His tremendous accent, besides being distracting, hindered audience comprehension at times.

John H. Rew III furnished a generous interpretation of Ellard, the young boy. His wealth of facial expressions were deliciously convincing, yet hardly surpassed by his fluent, childlike mannerisms.

However, Matthew Horohoe was far from "remarkable." An acting tour de force, Horohoe was genuine. Establishing himself as both a versatile and fine performer, he graced the college stage with untouchable talent.

The moments between DeFonza, Rew and Horohoe were creatively directed and playfully entertaining.

While the stage was well-lit (Scott C. Nelson) and the costumes (Tanya Guercy) served their purpose, the set (Julie Chrobak) was stiff, as it failed to re-create the comfortable look of a lived-in home.

Michael Finn appeared as Rev. David Marshall Lee and Madelyn Chiusano portrayed Catherine Simms. Tom Monica and Kim Manion (Klan Members) completed the cast.

Rutgers unusual prints at Montclair Art Museum

By Maria Russo

Now appearing at the Montclair Museum is "Rutgers Archives Prints." This exhibit is a collage of experimental work created at the Rutgers Center for Innovative Printmaking in New Brunswick. This center, founded in the mid-1980's, is the central core where artists can experiment with new ideas and associate with many other renowned artists. It displays to the viewer the imaginative and surrealistic pieces of work by such important figures in the art world. These include April Gomik, John Beerman, Eve Sonneman, Steve Holl and Milton Reineck.

The exhibit is a mixture of diverse prints, each with its own identity. Technically these artists have centered around etchings and lithographs. John Beerman's 1986 colored etching, "The Stones Silent Witness," is a breathtaking sight of a magnificent lake with reflections of the stones and forest off the water. Along the horizon is a brilliant value of yellows and oranges which surrounds the region.

Steve Holl's 1986 lithograph of the "Whale House" is a depiction of a long sandy beach, accompanied by a drawn-out, geometrical house for the viewer to watch out for any oncoming whales in the distance. This picture, for many who see it, may bring back memories of quiet moments walking along the beach at night (it did for me!).

I know what you're thinking, that's it! Don't fret my friendly, faithful Montclarion reader, there are many more prints to see. Each contain their own uniqueness, such as Eve Sonneman's 1987 color lithograph, "Runner and Fish." It depicts a blue background of sea and fish, with a black silhouette of a man running against it (very abstract...haul). The exhibit is running now through February 9, 1992, so don't worry -- it isn't going anywhere!!

The fall season is once again upon us, and once again the networks bombard the airwaves with new series. Twenty-eight new shows debut within the next few weeks. Which will survive? Which will crash and burn? Here are my picks for some of the better shows beating your way.

One of the best new "concept" shows to come along in a long time is Herman's Head (Sunday, 9:30-10 p.m., Fox). Herman, played by William Ragsdale, is a young magazine facts checker whose personal crises are kept in check by four different aspects of his personality. There's Genius (Peter MacKenzie), a neo-yuppie sort of dude; Wimp (Rick Lawless), whose name speaks for itself; Angel (Molly Hagen), his feminine side and very idealistic; and Animal (Ken Hudson Campbell), the lusty, beer-guzzling testosterone-filled part. This show is funny! It's a funny premise, I admit, but for some reason, the show holds together well. The interaction between the different aspects of Herman's personality makes the show. In the pilot, Genius, Angel and Wimp had to tie down Herman, who almost scored with the boss' daughter. Very good show to warm up before the Sunday reruns of Star Trek-The Next Generation.

New Show Number Two is Eerie, Indiana (Sunday, 7:30-8 p.m., NBC). No, it's not a Raiders spinoff. Marshall, a 13-year-old New Jerseyan, gets transplanted into Indiana corn country, and discovers there's a whole lot of weird stuff going on in this quiet little town. Trouble is, he's the only one who sees any of it. Can he get a little Rod Serling-ish for this traditionally quality family time slot, but just might catch on. NBC is gearing this as a family show, but keep it out if you're in your dorm room alone and bored out of your skull one Sunday. It looks good.

Next in line is Pacific Station (Sunday, 8:30-9 p.m., NBC). Robert Guillaume (Benson) and Richard Libertini (The Fanelli Boys) are partners in the Venice Beach community. Guillaume's character, detective Bob Ballard, is a mythical New Age type who drinks herbal tea and just got back from medical leave. Their boss is the totally unqualified captain Ken Epstein (Joel Murray), and other supporting cast members include a pack of pint-size smart-mouths) and his classmate, the lusting, beer-guzzling testosterone-filled part. This show is funny! It's a funny premise, I admit, but for some reason, the show holds together well. The interaction between the different aspects of Herman's personality makes the show. In the pilot, Genius, Angel and Wimp had to tie down Herman, who almost scored with the boss' daughter. Very good show to warm up before the Sunday reruns of Star Trek-The Next Generation.

The last of my big picks is The Ultimate Challenge (Friday, 9-10 p.m., Fox). This one is one of those "reality" series, featuring stunts, adventurers wrestling crocodiles, kayaking down treacherous rivers and skiing down the west face of the Matterhorn. Yes, I admit, it's a new concept and it's reeking of masculinity and male hormones, but other "reality" shows like America's Most Wanted and Rescue 911 have done well, so who knows? Besides, it's more fun to watch other people risk their necks, right?

Okay, now I indulge myself. I've always watched the Saturday morning cartoons, from Bugs Bunny on through. Here are a few of you older kids might want to check out: Darkwing Duck (ABC, 8 a.m.) is back! No, it's not the same Syd & Marty Krofft classic most of us remember, but a new live-action show. Marshall, Will and Holly find themselves trapped in the land of dinosaurs after a routine expedition. I hope it doesn't suck...

I've started to watch a little of the new Disney stuff, so I hope Disney's Duck (ABC, 8 a.m.) will be worth getting up for. One note: these episodes are exclusive to ABC and won't air on the Disney Afternoon on Channel 11.

Rush Reborn
Rush: A skeleton of its former self

By Paul Donefsky

RUSH-ROLL THE BONES

It will be a sad day when Rush is no longer here. Each album now becomes a testament that living legends are keeping progressive rock alive above the piles of garbage that pass for music today. On this, their 14th studio album, Lee, Lifeson, and Peart have managed to revitalize their music while carefully blending in the past staples of rock, and new age. A more jazzed up funk sound moves through tracks like "Roll the Bones," and the blunter instrumental "Where's My Thing." Drummer Neil Peart's lyrics have also changed their focus. "Bravado," "The Big Wheel" and "Ghost of a Chance" spill lyrics unheard in Rush albums; that of love. Abstract as they always are, this reinforces the integrity of the band, not to trivialize such subjects and gives the songs a very original quality.

The rest is pure magic. "Dreamline" is perhaps the weakest title track in their history, and "Here's" seems to be an understatement of validity to the lyrics in "Ghost of a Chance" as Lee plays acoustic piano in the background. Hine also adds Lee show why he is the most accomplished bass player ever as his improvised style takes prominence over the keyboards. Perhaps more comforting is that Lee has finally settled on a voice he feels comfortable with. He continues to use a rich high tenor.

"Rush" has become a decaying old woman being kept alive by a respirator in the "dying bands" wing of Atlantic Records. The only reason no one has pulled the plug yet is because the new band, 37th Street, has given up any hope of the band regaining consciousness.

In 1987, Rush released Presto and any true fan, anyone who really understood and enjoyed Rush's music, sent roses or camaflage and let the band die in peace. But with any wheeze or cough from the group, which Atlantic records choose to call "true" fans, the band regaining consciousness. After 1991, Rush released Presto and any true fan, anyone who really understood and enjoyed Rush's music, sent roses or camaflage and let the band die in peace. But with any wheeze or cough from the group, which Atlantic records choose to call "true" fans, the band regaining consciousness.

The album marks producer Rupert Hine's triumphant return and "Here's" seems to be an understatement of validity to the lyrics in "Ghost of a Chance" as Lee plays acoustic piano in the background. Hine also adds to the band's atmospheric sound. The rest is pure magic. If we burn our wings
If flying to the sun
If the moment of glory
is over before it's begun
If the dream is won-
Though everything is lost
We will pay the price
But we will not count the cost

When the dust has cleared
And victory denied
A summit too lofty
River a little too wide
KRIS SPEAKS!

Big Audio Dynamite II The Globe - Columbia

Once upon a time, Rick Jones, one half of the songwriting duo which put The Clash on the map, was kicked from the band only to form the un-punk B.A.D. Several albums later, the band has a whole new line-up (hence, the II) and a striking diversity to boot. The Globe contains some of Jones' best material to date, and it seems he has finally come to terms with his musical past. The title track contains sampling of "I Should Stay Or Should I Go" and rap from Gibblebox while the first single "Rush" is a mixture of pop and dance catchability with the lyrics reflecting his problematic youth. Also included are the crushing ballads "Innocent Child" and "When The Time Comes." Jones' biggest success comes with his ability to merge music of the alternative and hip hop genres to please even the most discriminating music buyer. The most hardcore of Clash fans will enjoy this as well because this is Jones' most honest work since his time with the Boys and Girls and his departure from B.A.D. Never in B.A.D.'s history have the guitars been so prominent, the samples so fresh and the messages so revealing. And with the CD cover art designed by Shawn Stussy (of skater clothing fame), where can you go wrong?

The Neighborhoods (self-titled) - Atlantic

The Neighborhoods' legendary college rock 'n' rollers have just released their major label debut and all I can say is, it's about time! Ten years, four albums and about 10,000 live gigs later, the band is going for a Top 40 audience with a vengeance without alienating its loyal fans. Most of the songs are taken from their last, largely unnoticed, album Hoodwinked and were produced by Brad Whitford of Aerosmith fame. Rough, straight-ahead rock with clever lyrics full of broken hearts, these songs are stripped down to the basics without feeling raw. While most of the themes center around I-loved-her-and-she-left-me type material, the song "Hate Zone" explores the clashes of racial bigotry (I did say these guys are from Boston, didn't I?) and how insane it all is. Included in the package are two reworkings of earlier hits and one new song, "Nancy." State, you say? No! I shout! This is a band for the nineties! They are a true reflection of the alternative/metal/rock n' roll we've all been seeing in the past five years, a la Soundgarden. Now it's polished and ready for the masses with a powerful pop punch. They are just too damn catchy to be my best-kept secret. Now shouldn't you give David Bowie's favorite opening band a shot?

The Innocence Mission - Umbrella - A and M

This is an album for cool and rainy Saturdays when all you want to do is curl up on the couch with a soft blanket and the remote control. Well, put that remote down - don't you know TV rots the brain!? Instead you could put on the Innocence Mission with the volume low and daydream flowing thoughts and cry real tears. Melancholy moments struggle what life this CD may have contained. It's not that I don't enjoy dreamy, ethereal and weepy music at times; it's just that here I don't find much substance. Once you strip down the layered production, you find pseudo-poetical ramblings and not much more. Singer/songwriter Karen Peris has an impressive and beautiful voice, and if you like the Sundays and 10,000 Maniacs then you'll probably consider this a masterpiece. For me to cite one specific song is difficult because they all run together like one long slow dance. Too personal to understand, too pretty to forget, Umbrella seeks an acquirable taste.

Hey, do you know Art? He's a nice guy. Do you know Dance, or Theater or Books, or Music? Are you remotely literate?

Then you may qualify to write for the Montclarion Arts section. There are many beats available. Contact the Arts Editor at 893-5169, or come to the Montclarion Office on a Wednesday night (find out why).

60's Throwback band Trips to Shakespeare

By Maria Russo

History has always tended to repeat itself. For example, the revival of the 60's. This nostalgia era has invaded just about everything we take part in these days. This includes fashion ('90s throwback - acid-washed jeans and platform shoes), attitudes (No war, World Peace and Earth Day) and lastly, music. Yes, many new bands have that slight, if not totally 60's overtone to their music. So why shouldn't we add one more new 60's sounding (but in reality 90's) band to the list. Their new album is entitled Lulu and they call themselves Trips Shakespeare.

Trips Shakespeare is made up of brother duo Dan and Matt Wilson, both on the guitar and piano, Elaine Harris on percussion and drums and John Munson on bass. Vocals are shared between Matt, Dan and John. It's a mixture of their voices that gives each song its own identity. Harmony is the key word to describe the vocals on the entire album. Both Matt and Dan have a sweet sounding high-pitched voice that produces a spine-tingling melody which can be heard on "Will you be Found?" (sung by Dan) and "If you Missed Me" (sung by Matt). John has a forceful, deep voice, but tends to treat each of his songs with tenderness, but cuts like "Lulu" spotlight John's massive voice.

No, this isn't just another 60's wannabee band; this foursome has what may be absent in many other bands - originality! It would be a contradiction to say that their music doesn't have that 60's mood to it, because it does, but it concentrates and emphasizes a lot on percussion and guitar, which gives it that element of true rock and roll. This is evident through Elaine Harris on drums, who does an incredible job of jamming with the boys throughout the entire album, especially on "Patricia," and that goes ditto for the Wilson brothers on guitar.

Trips Shakespeare, being another obviously influenced reproduction of the 60's, definitely has potential. But who knows if anyone will give them the time of day with a name like Trips Shakespeare!
Calcia Lounge shows student works

By Dawn Avagliano

"Admission of Failure" by Jonathan LeVine, a sculptural piece that was exhibited in the Calcia Arts Lounge Sept. 11 to Sept. 18, was an impressive beginning to the new school year's works of art. It consisted of seven free standing paper-mache-like boxes with spikes protruding at every angle, little crafted dolls and sand. The piece was moved around each day so that its visual presentation was completely different each time you came to look at it.

The idea behind it seems to be one of restoration and aggression of the male being. More specifically, it reads as the frustrations and hard workings of ideas of a male artist. There is a tribal feel to it -- the red, spiked boxes have formed a dance in their placement around the sand, and on the walls as they’ve been moved about during the week. The little crafted men made of clay and gauze look vulnerable in their outstretched shapes with awe-like expressions on their faces. The piece as a whole works well in its placement each day, and the statement behind it is cloudy, but paradoxically obvious. I cannot help feeling a sense of anguish about male issues coming through so strongly within the red colored spikes, and the written passages inside each box. I'm sorry one cannot see it now because it's being taken down today, but look for future pieces exhibited in the Calcia Arts building lounge.

Volleyball just can't dig it

By Al Iannazzone

The MSC women's volleyball team is off to another slow start after dropping three of its first four matches. The 1990 version finished the season 4-25, but second year coach Anita Kubicka believes this year's team will be more competitive. "I expect more consistent play than last year," Kubicka said.

MSC opened the season at the Stockton Tournament and finished 1-2. The Lady Hawks lost their first match to the College of Notre Dame of Maryland 15-13, 3-15 and 8-15 with the third game going to rally point scoring. In this type of scoring whether you serve or not you can get points. In the second match they fell to St. Mary's College, also of Maryland, 9-15, 12-15 and 10-15. MSC won its third match by beating Ramapo 15-13 and 15-4.

In the tourney, MSC was led by three players: Tracy Meehan, Denise Chouinard, one of only three returning players, and Terry Muller. This trio combined for 22 aces and 19 kills.

Tuesday night, MSC's record fell to 1-3 after losing to Kean in three straight games 15-4, 15-3 and 15-7. The Red Hawks continue their road trip as they travel to St. Thomas and FDU Madison before coming home to play Jersey City on the 24th.

Women's Soccer rebounds from two tough losses by upsetting Drew

By Craig Herbert

Although it's only the second year of NCAA competition for the Lady Red Hawks soccer team, things are progressing slowly.

The team started off the year with two losses, both to nationally ranked teams. Against Stockton State, MSC was leading at halftime, but wound up dropping the contest 5-1. The same thing happened in the next game against Georgian Court- a lead was blown and MSC lost again, 2-1.

"The girls are young and have yet to learn how to stay disciplined for a full ninety minutes, not just half of a game. With time will come the knowledge of how to control the game by killing time and by containing their opponents," says head coach Peter Latartara.

The third game was an away trip against Drew University, a heavy favorite to beat MSC. After trailing 1-0 at the half, the Lady Hawks fought back and held on for a 3-1 victory. Not only was it an upset, but also an enormous confidence booster as well.

Confidence is the one thing MSC will need to improve upon, after its 5-17 record a year ago. Just like last year's schedule, this year's will be just as tough. "I believe in scheduling games against strong opponents. It may not produce a great record at first, but, in the long run the girls will benefit from the competition," says Latartara.

With practically all the players back from last year's team, coach Latartara is shooting for a .500 record. Injuries to five players have set the team back some, but there are other eager players willing to step in.

One of the team's leaders, Linda Hadshinow, is a very enthusiastic and skilled player. The half-back already has two assists and one goal in three games.

Two transfers will be contributing talented efforts as well. Kimberly Drager, a goalie out of Mercer County College and Karen Voorhees, a mid-fielder out of Rochester University, will be looked upon to have an immediate impact.
Tuva, a sophomore, scored MSC's only goal in the three games, but it wasn't enough to send the Hawks to the tourney, and not a moment too soon. Mariann Reiter matched the 3-0 shutout of the first game, their first loss of the season with a 3-0 shutout of C.W. Post, of N.Y., in its home opener. The game ended in a 3-3 deadlock. Senior tri-captain Kara Baldwin sparked the MSC offense with two goals, and Tara Malooy scored the eventual game-tying goal on an assist from Duvu. Sophomore goalkeeper Lisa Pardella recorded 14 saves to preserve the tie.

As anticipated, however, the Kutztown Tournament was tough, maybe too tough, for MSC. The Hawks stay on the road for one more game, as they travel to Fairleigh Dickinson, before coming home to face rival Trenton State and Delaware Valley in the next week.

The proposed amendments are then reviewed upon the given deadline of July 1, by the NCAA Legislation Review Committee and are ultimately voted on at the NCAA's Annual Convention, which will be held from January 7-10, 1992. Finally, after the membership votes in a proposed amendment, it must be abided by all three divisions, unless specified under the amendment's constitution.

It is heartening to know that there is a legal system that forms a structure of rules and regulations by which member institutions can contribute to and abide by. This is the beauty of American democracy. However, when taking the subject of proposed legislation and combining it with the new reform movement, these two serious questions must be asked:

1) Are the reform proposals actually addressing the real problem of cleaning up college sports?

2) Is one of this voted-in legislation restricting areas which it shouldn't be?

MSC Director of Athletics Greg Lockard, although in favor of reform, has his doubts. He says, "Those who are proposing the legislation should be careful how they are directing it."

Lockard feels that in other schools, par

"Reform is not simple, it is complex. Damage is being done because some who propose the legislation are uninformed ...." —Greg Lockard

In recent years the NCAA has passed legislation which has continually decreased the amount of time a student-athlete can practice, train or even be trained in their particular sport. The fallout of such restrictions may be best told about the fate of Janet Evans who, according to MSC head swimming coach Brian McLaughlin, was a 17 year old junior and gold medal winner in swimming at the 1988 Olympic games. Two years later Evans chose to further her academic and athletic careers by going to Stanford University. Evans, who aspires to be in the 1992 Olympics, was told to cut short her training hours because they conflicted with the NCAA rules. Evans, however, insisted on dropping out of Stanford to continue her training for the Olympics. Although it was the athlete's choice to stay in school or give up swimming, it did not have to come to this.

Lockard admits that a situation such as this is serious. He says, "Essentially, the legislation is restricting areas which it shouldn't be. It (restriction) should be done in big sports like football and basketball where it is needed. Don't hurt the other sports."

Whereas innocent sports and athletes are affected by restriction, so are the coaches, who sometimes can be almost "paralyzed" as to how much say they have regarding practice, training and of course recruiting. Recruiting has traditionally been a nightmare for college athletics in that so many rules are often broken. And because of this, the reform movement has literally backfired to a point. Assistant Athletic Director Oliver Gelston says, "Sure legislation hurts honorable programs, but coaches always operate from the premise, how can I beat the rule? They look for the loopholes that exist."

In reality, Lockard feels that if Ithaca wants to have that number of coaches, then that's fine. However, he maintains, "We should all be playing under the same rules, but they (the rules) shouldn't be restrictive though."

When tackling the subject of restrictive legislation, the problem develops threefold:

1) A sport is affected, which shouldn't necessarily be
2) The student-athlete pays a significant price
3) Coaches become re-strained as to how much control they have over their team.

Concerning this delicate topic, Lockard says, "Reform is not simple, it is complex. Damage is being done because some who propose the legislation are uninformed. They need to talk to the athletes and ask them what they feel."

As the reform movement continues, so do the abuses. Whether it be injustices done to certain student-athletes, the wrongdoings of coaches, or the fate of the athletes themselves, college athletics must be cleaned up to improve its tarnished image. Therefore, those who propose and approve legislation must collectively take a stand to serve the common interests of the reform movement, rather than support their own personal interests.

LIU and St. Rose of NY are latest victims

The senior forward from Lyndhurst scored two goals in the first half. His second goal broke a 1-1 tie and gave MSC the lead for good. For his effort, Rubinetti was named the tournament's offensive MVP. Junior midfielder Guillermo Siles capped off MSC's scoring with a 1-2 free kick in the contest.

This past Friday, Sept. 13, the Red Hawks improved to 3-0 with a 4-0 victory over Division I Long Island University at Sprague Field. Rubinetti again scored a first-half goal, only 50 into the game. His goal, which deflected off an LIU defender and into the net, turned out to be all the offense that MSC needed. Siles scored another goal as well, with the assist going to senior midfielder Dom Bucci. This gave MSC a 2-0 lead at halftime.

In the second half, the Red Hawks received goals from Estes and Carlos Arboleda. Both goals were set up by

Offense fails as MSC falls in opener

Mountaineers spike Red Hawks 18-7

MSC struggled offensively and dropped an 18-7 decision to Division II Mansfield in its season opener Saturday night at Sprague Field.

The Red Hawks could not seem to get on track as their offense could only muster 163 total yards, 47 on the ground and 116 in the air. MSC also struggled mentally as it was hurt by penalties, missed blocks and a missed field goal.

MSC's defense opened the game strong, causing a fumble on the Mountaineers second possession. Larry Thompson recovered the fumble on the MSC 35 but 13 plays later, MSC's Tom Parnaby's 38 yard field goal attempt went wide left. Mansfield took advantage of the missed three-pointer and went 66 yards on 10 plays before Matt Stehnan booted a 30 yard field goal, giving the Mountaineers a 3-0 second quarter lead.

On MSC's next possession the Red Hawks were on the Mountaineers 24-yard line when they were penalized five yards for motion. Two plays later, the Red Hawks were called for another five yards for holding and had to punt. Coach Rick Giacolone was not pleased with his team's performance, "We must execute better."

The first half ended with MU quarter- back Rob Funicello recovering a fumble for the Red Hawks on the MSC 2-yard line, Banas called for a safety, giving Mansfield another deuce. Giancola then replaced Banas with three-pointer and went 66 yards on 10 plays before Matt Stehnan booted a 30 yard field goal, giving the Mountaineers a 3-0 second quarter lead.
