Cogenration project on campus, Jerome Stepnowski, assistant vice president of Facilities, said. "Cogeneration is the simultaneous production of electric power and heat energy from the same facility."

Stepnowski said that there will be no "expenditure of college funds." The system will be designed, built, financed and operated by an outside vendor, the Montclair Cogenration Project Associated Limited Partnership (MCAPALP).

Frank Wolak of Independent Energy Corp., one of two companies that form the partnership, said MCAPALP will then sell electricity and steam to the college at a discount. According to Wolak, the whole system will cost MCAPALP approximately $5.5 million, "we're putting it out that we can save the campus $150,000 each year."

The Montclarion Vol. 71 No. 3 Upper Montclair, New Jersey 07043 Thursday, February 13, 1992

Florio's proposal may save MSC $1.4 million

by Maureen McGowan

MSC stands to gain $1.4 million from Governor Florio's Tuition Stabilization Incentive Program (TSIP) which would only cause tuition to go up about $3 a credit, Thomas Auch, vice president for Administration and Finance, said.

Florio is scheduled to include $30 million in his 1993 budget, in addition aid to public colleges and universities in order to try and stabilize steadily increasing tuition rates of about 9 to 12 percent. In order for the schools to be eligible for the addition funding they must cap their tuition increases for the 1993 fiscal year at 4.5 percent. Auch said that MSC's increase would not have gone over the 4.5 percent anyway. If the State Legislatur does not pass the budget, however, it could mean serious cutbacks in the school's programming. "It could mean the difference between functioning in a rational and sane manner versus a crisis situation," he said.

Also included in Florio's plan is an increase of $14.5 million in Tuition Aid Grants (TAG), a state supported assistance program for low and middle income families. A $1 million increase in the Educational Opportunity Fund (EOF), a program that offers both financial and educational aid to the most disadvantaged college students.

This increase will bring the total amount of EOF funding to over $70 million for 1993 and an increase of $520,000 for the Urban Scholars Program, a scholarship program targeted at high school seniors from the state's most economically depressed areas.

Bobby Seale calls MSC students to active involvement

by Sam Sheber

Bobby Seale, co-founder of the Black Panthers and ex-political prisoner, stressed the role of "active involvement" in achieving social change Monday in the Student Center Ballroom. The self-proclaimed "political revolutionary humanist," spoke before 80 students and faculty on behalf of African-American Heritage Month and recalled his personal transformation from college student to leader in the Black Nationalist movements.

Born the son of a master carpenter in Texas in 1936, Seale was trained as an architect. After a term in the U.S. Air Force, Seale held various jobs as a stand-up comedian, jazz drummer and technician in a defense plant before enrolling at Merritt College in Oakland, CA in the early sixties.

Discussing his family's apoliticalness and the brainwashing he received in the military, Seale credited his college experience as the catalyst for the beginning of his self discovery in the context of Black history and African heritage.

Seale said he could recall elementary school teachers chastising him for his speech patterns. It wasn't until his college days that he learned of the rich history of African languages and their remnants in the current African-American dialect.

It was at Merritt College, then becoming an incubator for young Black Nationalists, that Seale met Panther co-founder Huey P. Newton. Newton studied law and his knowledge played an important role in the operation of the Panthers.

Malcolm X's impact on Seale was immeasurable, but Malcolm's stance on violence was not yet part of Seale's philosophy. All this changed in 1963 when Seale learned of Malcolm X's assassination while watching television. Seale recalled that day: "I went to the street immediately and found it empty so I had myself a one man riot!"

Seale said he formed the Panthers in 1966 in order to take the Black Nationalist movement to a higher level that would affect real social change. Working on the belief that "power is the ability to define phenomena and make it act in a desired manner," the Black Panthers drafted a ten point platform that considered housing, education, security and the personal transformation from college student to leader in the Black Nationalist movements.
MSC reading service receives award

MSC President Irvin Reid announced that Citicorp/Citibank gave a $6,000 grant to MSC to build on and expand MSC's Partnership for Family Reading.

MSC faculty member Dr. Ruth Handel, the Partnership's director, is a nationally recognized leader in the field of family literacy. The program offers instructive workshops for Newark residents with children to learn how to read and discuss children's books. The adults then pass on their knowledge to their children. The children become eager to learn and at the same time adults improve their literacy skills.

Theatre Fest kickoff

Actress Carol Channing will be at Memorial Auditorium to kick off the Theatre Fest summer season in her Broadway revue on June 16. Other attractions during the summer season include August Wilson's Ma Rainey's Black Bottom, from June 24 through July 5; Robert Harling's comedy-drama Steel Magnolias, from July 8 through the 19 and Andrew Lloyd Webber and Tim Rice's Evita, to end the season.

For ticket information call the Box Office at 893-5112.

Recreation hours for the spring:

Fieldhouse: Monday-Thursday 11 a.m. - 9 p.m. Friday 11 a.m. - 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday 2 p.m. - 6 p.m.

Open Swim: Monday 2-4 p.m. and 8:30-10 p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday & Thursday 2-4 p.m. and 8:30-10 p.m. Saturday and Sunday 2-4 p.m.

Open Gym: Monday-Thursday 8 p.m. - 10 p.m.

Aerobics: Monday-Thursday 4:45-5:45 p.m.

International

Israeli Health Minister Ehud Olmert attacked the United States' halting of loan guarantees to help Israel pay for Soviet immigration. The U.S. administration is linking the $10 billion loan to the Jewish settlement of the occupied territories. Shamir's government has stepped up colonization of the land captured during the 1967 Arab-Israeli War.

Armenian militants launched a major offensive into the Nagorno-Karabakh region by capturing an Azerbaijani village. Women and children were among the 20 people injured in the tank and artillery assault.

Pakistan troops fired tear gas to prevent Muslim militants from storming the border of Kashmir, an area disputed between India and Pakistan. Both nations tried to stop the border attacks to avoid confrontation with each other.

Hundreds of thousands of Iranians converged in Tehran chanting "Death to America." Such a pleasant way to celebrate the Islamic revolutions' 13th anniversary over the monarchy.

National

Magic Johnson hit 75 percent of his shots in the All-Star game. He also made three 3-pointers in the final three minutes, showing he hasn't lost his touch. This game presented a different attitude towards people infected with HIV as the entire Eastern team hugged Magic and he even got a traditional kiss from Isiah Thomas.

President Bush said the United States would phase out production of ozone-depleting chemicals, mainly chloro-flouro carbons. Bush stated the new goal would be reached in the year 1995 rather than the year 2000 agreed upon by International Treaty. Senator Al Gore said, "It took an ozone hole over Kennebunkport to get his attention but he is finally recognizing an urgent problem that needs immediate response."

California was pounded by torrential rains and heavy mountain snows. The San Fernando Valley received up to eight and a half inches of rain causing flash flooding that led to the rescue of scores of people trapped on top of cars and stuck in trees. With more rain expected, a significant dent in California's drought is anticipated.

Regional

Office Gary Spath of Teaneck was acquitted of reckless manslaughter in the fatal shooting of his friend Phillip Pannel Jr. At the announcement of his acquittal, Mrs. Pannell's brother leapt up shouting. As he escorted his sister from the courtroom, he said, "I'm getting my sister out of this fucking courtroom. It's all a set up anyway. It'll be taken care of.

New Jersey home sales increased 23.8 percent from a year ago during the fourth quarter. The increase in sales has kept its momentum into the early weeks of 1992.

Mayor Dinkins' hopes for re-election were damped when a poll released Tuesday showed he was as much as 12 percent behind probable Republican candidate Rudolf Giuliani. It also showed Dinkins could not get enough support to avoid a runoff against other Democrats in the primaries.

Manhattan's first natural gas station was opened and initially will be used by fleet operators. Natural gas is significantly cleaner than gasoline. It emits only 15 percent of the carbon monoxide that gas does.

Police had to cut their way through a bedroom window to get a 600 pound man who hurt his back out of his home on Long Island.

CORRECTIONS

It is the policy of The Montclarion to correct all errors.

If you spot an error please call us at 893-5169
SGA News:

Student escort service may begin again at MSC

by Steven Gateward

Due to a recent crime wave that has hit MSC, SGA President Tony Susco announced plans on reforming the student escort service.

The escort service will be made up of student volunteers that will escort male and female students to their cars and dorm rooms. This idea of students escorting students is not new on campus, Susco said. The program was originally started by the SGA 10 years ago. There have also been many complaints by students that the Campus Police take forever to arrive after they’ve been called and that they will only escort women, Susco said.

The service will still be under the supervision of Campus Police, but they will escort all students and hope to be there when needed.

In hopes of getting students and organizations to donate manpower, Susco plans to have benefits for students who escort. These benefits might include priority registration and housing.

The hours that the service will run will be Monday thru Thursday from 10 p.m. to 2 a.m.

HRO budget still frozen

The Human Relations Organization (HRO) has had its operational budget frozen due to a lack of membership. The class one organization that was responsible for events such as the HRO weekend has a membership of only three undergraduates.

The money that is currently in HRO’s budget will be put into the SGA’s unappropriated surplus.

Chartered organizations

Three organizations were charted at last night’s SGA meeting; Zeta Phi Beta, a nationally chartered sorority, Phi Chi Beta, a business fraternity, and Class One Concerts. An amendment to the Greek Council Constitution was also passed last night.

The Broadcasting department wins CNN Newsource Award

by Suzanne Potts

MSC’s Broadcasting Department has received the CNN Newsource Award of Excellence, sponsored by CNN-affiliate WWOR-TV, Secaucus, NJ.

The department will receive the CNN Newsource, a video/wire newsfeed service for being chosen for the award. Since MSC has a satellite dish, all that was needed to complete the Newsource program was a B-Mac Decoder and an Associated Press (AP) Express wire machine, according to Julie Marchini of the Office of Public Information.

A donation of $1,100 from WWOR-TV was presented to MSC in order to obtain the B-Mac Decoder, which unscrambles the signals sent by satellite. The AP Express, which is to be leased by the Broadcasting Department on a monthly basis of $105 will be paid for by the department and is only active during months when classes are in session due to its high running price.

Gina Kennedy, producer/director in the broadcasting program since September 1990, believes the B-Mac Decoder is very beneficial to the students in this field of study. “Students need to work under deadline pressure with live, real news,” she said.

“Another advantage,” according to Kennedy, is that “this Newsource footage gives the students the chance to watch professionals shoot properly and, afterwards, the students can go back and compare it to their own news production.”

Mike Scala, a broadcasting major and junior at MSC took Electronic Journalism last semester. According to Scala, the B-Mac Decoder provides a “great learning experience...it gives the students a news atmosphere of up to the minute news feed in which students write their own stories. Now we are not just limited to local stories, which can quickly become outdated, but those of national and world-wide news.”

The broadcasting division at MSC is one of 25 schools nationwide who has received the CNN video/wire newsfeed service. They include Northwestern University, University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, Brown University, New York University and Rutgers University.

Those who are entitled to use this facility would be limited to broadcasting majors in accordance with an affiliated class, Kennedy said.

Senator Bill Bradley spoke to high school students from all over the state at his Twelfth Annual High School Leadership Seminar held at MSC last Monday.
THE INFORMATION DESK STAFF OF THE STUDENT CENTER IS SPONSORING A LOVE NOTES BOARD
FOR VALENTINE'S DAY

Visit the Information desk, request a heart-shaped note, write a personalized note and leave it on the Orange Board adjacent to the desk.
Notes and space are limited. First come, first serve basis.
“Love Notes” are available now (February 11th, 3:30 pm) and will remain up for all Cupids and Venuses to read until Sunday, February 16th.

For further information, call 893-7546 or 7545

HAPPY VALENTINE'S DAY FROM THE STUDENT CENTER STAFF

TO ALL THE TRAINNEES
FROM THE
DROP-IN CENTER

HANG IN THERE,
KEEP UP THE HARD WORK,
YOU’RE HALFWAY THERE!

Ann-Louise, Mary Ann, Dina, Scott, Christina,
Ken, Glenn, Jen K., Jen O., David, Kristen, Tom,
Joan, Heidi, Nelson, Dan, Ana
The Drop-In Center is a service of the SGA
Spanish article:

Continuan los problemas de estacionamiento

por Jorge L. Cruz

Encontrar estacionamiento dentro del colegio, se ha convertido en uno de los mayores problemas de los estudiantes. Existen ciertas horas del día en que es casi imposible encontrar un lugar para estacionarse, y cuando al fin se consigue, uno se da cuenta de que ha perdido varios minutos de clase; es decir, si alguien desea estar a tiempo en sus clases, tiene que llegar a la escuela por lo menos 30 minutos antes de que estas principien. Debido a que después de lidiar con el problema del estacionamiento, se tiene que usar el sistema de transporte interno, el cual es insuficiente ya que consta de unos cuantos autobuses que están supuestos a pasar cada 15 minutos, sin embargo, en la mayoría de las ocasiones la espera se prolonga.

Después de un paseo alrededor del plantel, el autobús se detiene en lugares asignados desde los cuales se tiene que caminar todavía una distancia considerable. A todas estas contrariedades hay que agregar el frío que se tiene que soportar durante largas caminatas, las cuales muchas veces tienen que ser desde los estacionamientos para los estudiantes, ya que en ocasiones no se cuenta con el tiempo suficiente para esperar el autobús.

Las personas que reciben clases durante las noches tienen aún más problemas, ya que el lapso de tiempo entre los autobuses es mayor a estas horas. Si se prefiere caminar hasta el automóvil se corre el riesgo de ser asaltado, o lo que es peor, las mujeres corren el peligro de ser violadas, ya que los lotes se encuentran bastante retirados, mal iluminados y solitarios, debido a que la policía de la escuela solo sirve para levantar infracciones a los estudiantes desesperados que tienen que estacionar sus autos en lugares prohibidos. O a aquellos que no pudieron pagar la cuota que el colegio exige para tener derecho a estacionarse dentro de este, debido a que quedaron en bancarrota después de pagar las extrarráficas sumas de la matrícula y los libros requeridos para sus materias.

En todas horas del día podemos observar a estos oficiales levantando infracciones con una enorme satisfacción dibujada en el rostro, tal parece que le pagan comisión por cada infracción que aplican, ya que estos andan a la caza de estudiantes, a los cuales ellos ven como criminales.

Una de las actividades de la policía, es entorpecer el tráfico de autos durante las horas claves en que las entradas y salidas del plantel se congestionan.

El deseo de los estudiantes de MSC es que las autoridades reaccionen y se den cuenta que están provocando una situación que dificulta el desarrollo educativo. Estas deberían invertir el dinero en algo productivo, tal como un estacionamiento elevado. Sin embargo, han construido un nuevo camino que da acceso directo desde "Valley Road" al estacionamiento para los estudiantes, el cual además de ocasionar un enorme daño ecológico a la región, representa un peligro para los usuarios debido a la inclinación con que fue diseñado.

Esperemos que dentro de todo este remodelamiento, la matrícula no sufra cambios y que los estudiantes no sean los que paguen por los errores administrativos.
Planned Parenthood

Essex County
Affordable Women’s Health Care

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Services</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GYN Exams</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Birth Control</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Counseling</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Infection Treatment</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pregnancy Tests</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Prompt Appointments - Evening Hours - Bilingual Staff

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Address</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>29 No. Fullerton Ave. Montclair 746-7116</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Convenient locations also in E. Orange and Newark

---

STAR TREK IV

Wed., Feb. 19  8:00 PM
Richardson Hall RM 120

$0.50 Donations to help SAVE the WHALES!

Sponsored by Conservation Club, Class I of the SGA

---

L.A.S.O. Party!

Place: Rathskellar

Date: Saturday, February 22, 1992

Time: 8:00pm - 1:00am

Damage: $7 MSC Students
$8 General Public

---

Events

- Lobster Dinner, Wed 2/12, meet in Blanton Quad at 7:30 pm
- Stevens Tech Valentine Party, Thurs 2/13, Blanton Quad at 8:00 pm

For more information call Michael T. Bleecker at 893-5886

Theta Xi ... too sexy for our ads
Theta Xi ... is a very classy class IV orgy of SGA

---

Theta Xi would like to thank the individuals responsible for the free publicity. Theta Xi had nothing to do with it!

THETA XI...

We’re the Best and Obviously somebody knows it

---

L.A.S.O. is a Class I organization of the SGA
2-13 THURSDAY Seminar: “Resume writing.” Free. 10-11:30 a.m. Student Center 417.
Job readiness seminar: “Getting the Internship or Part-time Job That’s Right For You.” Free. 11 a.m.-Noon. Student Center Annex 106.
Career planning seminar: “Choosing a major.” Free. 2-3:30 p.m. Student Center Annex 106.
Board of Trustees meeting. Free. 4 p.m. Student Center 419.
Job readiness seminar: “Interviewing.” Free. 6:30-7:30 p.m. Student Center 417.
2-14 FRIDAY Dean’s Symposium in the Arts: “Beyond Academe: The Transition from Classroom to Career.” Guest presenters in theatre, music and art; workshops, panels and masterclasses. Contact 893-5103.
2-15 SATURDAY CLEP Review Workshop: Mathematics. Three-hour review session to prepare for the College Level Examination Program. Open to new and prospective Second Careers and part-time students. Fee: $4 per session. 10 a.m.-1 p.m. College Hall 121.
2-17 MONDAY Gwendolyn Goldsby Grant, advice columnist from Essence magazine, on “Sexual Stereotypes in the African Diaspora.” Free. 7:30 p.m. Contact 893-4333.
Seminar: “What can you do with your major?” Free. 2-3:00 p.m. Student Center Annex 106.
2-19 WEDNESDAY President’s Commission on Affirmative Action meeting. Open to the campus community. 9-11 a.m. Student Center 411.
2-13 TUESDAY Faculty recital: Andrew Schulman, guitar. Free. 8 p.m. McEachern Recital Hall.
The Manhattan School of Music Chamber Orchestra with Edmund Battersby on pian
2-14 FRIDAY Truth and Deception film series: “The Making of the President” and “Primaries.” Free. 7:30 p.m. Sprague Library, conference room 2.
2-15 SATURDAY “A finger-popping, body-moving, foot-stomping jam” sponsored by OSAU and African-American Studies. 18 or older only. Admission: $3 with MSC I.D.; $4 with college I.D.; $5 with I.D. 9 p.m. Student Center Ballrooms.
2-18 TUESDAY “Class One Cafe” sponsored by Quarterly and Class One Concerts. Free. 7:30 p.m. Rathskellar.
MONDAY: Union for Lesbian, Gay and Bisexual Concerns meeting. 4-5:30 p.m. Calcia Fine Arts Building 209.
TUESDAY: Tae Kwon Do team meeting. 7:30-9:00 p.m. Panzer Gym wrestling room.
WEDNESDAY: Montclarion general membership meeting. 6 p.m. Student Center Annex 113. Tae Kwon Do team meeting. See above.
THURSDAY: Chi Alpha Christian Fellowship meeting. 7:30 p.m. Student Center 411.
SUNDAY: Mass. 11 a.m. Russ Hall, Kops Lounge, 7 p.m. Newman Center, Dioguardi Room.
Events subject to change without notice.
Calendar events are due in The Montclarion by 4 p.m. Tuesday (AM, 113 Student Center Annex)
We regret to announce:

The Campus Community Weekend
February 28 - March 1

CANCELLED

A message from the Human Relations Organization

Please accept our apologies regarding this matter.
Thank you.

HRO is a Class I of the SGA and is located in Room 403 of the Student Center (893-7348)
It can't do laundry or find you a date, but it can help you find more time for both.

The new Apple Macintosh Classic II computer makes it easier for you to juggle classes, activities, projects, and term papers—and still find time for what makes college life real life.

It's a complete and affordable Macintosh Classic system that's ready to help you get your work finished fast. It's a snap to set up and use. It has a powerful 68030 microprocessor, which means you can run even the most sophisticated applications with ease.

And its internal Apple SuperDrive disk drive reads from and writes to Macintosh and MS-DOS formatted disks—allowing you to exchange information easily with almost any other kind of computer.

In addition to its built-in capabilities, the Macintosh Classic II can be equipped with up to 10 megabytes of RAM, so you'll be able to run several applications at once and work with large amounts of data.

If you already own a Macintosh Classic, and want the speed and flexibility of a Macintosh Classic II, ask us about an upgrade—it can be installed in just minutes and it's affordable.

To put more time on your side, consider putting a Macintosh Classic II on your desk. See us for a demonstration today, and while you're in, be sure to ask us for details about the Apple Computer Loan. It'll be time well spent.

Introducing the Macintosh Classic II.

For further information visit
The College Store
Lower Level—Student Center Building

©1991 Apple Computer, Inc. Apple, the Apple logo, and Macintosh are registered trademarks of Apple Computer, Inc. MS-DOS is a registered trademark of Microsoft Corporation. Classic is a registered trademark used under license by Apple Computer, Inc. This ad was created using Macintosh computers.

1991 YEARBOOKS ARE IN!!

Pick up your copy in the Yearbook office, SC Room 111, anytime with your student ID.

La Campana is a Class One of the SGA power to organize their own community as a “democratic, constitutional and human rights,” Seale said. They also called for the end of the robbery of the African-American community by racist capitalists from an exemption for blacks from military service and the release from prison and renovation of blacks convicted by white judges so that they may be tried by their peers.

The Panthers also created community based institutions that provided breakfast for children, security for senior citizens and free sickle cell anemia tests to community members. With these programs the Panther Party spread to 25 cities across the U.S.

But the lasting image of the Black Panthers to many is that of uniformed and armed African-American men and women marching in military like formations. “Of course the guns scared them,” said Seale referring to the fear that image brought to white America. Yet, with Huey Newton’s knowledge of the law, Seale said the Panthers conducted themselves in accordance to statutes.

Seale described the Panthers’ patrols of the communities in which, armed with firearms and law books, they sought to prevent police brutality and maintain security within their neighborhoods.

Seale justified the armed Panthers in the context of the U.S. Constitution. Since the Black Movement’s attempt to exercise their second amendment rights to violence, he said, they should therefore exercise their second amendment rights to bear arms and protect themselves and their property.

Still, this adherence to law was lost in the minds of white America and specifically J. Edgar Hoover who sought to destroy the Black Nationalist movement.

Seale called the FBI tactics “terroristic” and pointed to the tendency of people in power to criminalize the opposition. Under Hoover’s direction the Black Panthers were subjected to infiltration by FBI agents and were continually harassed by arrests on trumped up charges. Seale himself was indicted and jailed for his alleged part in the disruption of the 1968 Democratic Convention in Chicago.

During the trial, Seale was literally bound, gagged and shackled to a chair in the court room. Seale said he fully expected to be killed while in custody but was subsequently released (after being acquitted).

It is important to note that Seale did not advocate armed overthrow of the government. Seale, currently affiliated with the African-American Studies Department at Philadelphia’s Temple University, still believes in the ability of the democratic process. “The most important political institutions in the U.S. are local and federal legislative bodies,” Seale said adding that their make up must be truly representative of today’s society.

Seale adds to the list of human rights, the right of a clean and safe environment and called for the creation of environmentally safe industries.

Asked about the role of today’s students in social change Seale recommends investigation before action. “He or she that assumes without investigation is nine times out of 10 wrong,” he said, recommending that students “donate a percentage of their time, whatever they can afford,” to right the problems that society faces.

“Remember,” Seale said Monday “that the best conscious raider in the world is active involvement. It will make you read, study, research, realize and get down to the gritty and not miss any sin or grin.”

Okay, so it’s three in the morning and you’ve just finished watching that movie with Ally Sheedy, Ferris Bueller and that Matthew Bueller guy, whatever the hell his name is. You know, the one where he changes his grades, launches nuclear weapons and has a computer that sounds a little like Lauren Bacall when it talks. You’re sitting in your living room eating your Doritos and wondering, “How can I get into doing some of this neat stuff?”

Three hours later you have destroyed Iraq, rescued Mother Theresa from the clutches of Guam’s Hells Angels, finished one of those symphonies that Schubert didn’t have time to before he dropped dead, and you still managed to beat the computer at solitaire. How do you know that it’s three hours later? Well, according to MMST (Mickey Mouse Standard Time) when Mickey’s big hand is on the 12, and Mickey’s little hand is on the six, it’s 6:00.

Well, maybe you didn’t do ALL of that stuff. But you could have if you owned a personal computer. Since IBM introduced its personal computer in 1980’s, computers have managed to infiltrate homes across the globe. We, the unsuspecting mortals who populate the cities of this earth, have been taken prisoner by an army of microchips that are so reliable and effective that if Napoleon were alive today and was into white collar crime he could probably subjugate the entire planet. With all due respect to those infamous Russian writers, they would not have been able to stop a madman hacking away at a keyboard in a basement war room.

On an entirely different plane, computer have revolutionized the way that the world does business, and in turn, they have forced an entire world to become computer literate in order to survive. This column will deal with the perks of a computer driven society, as seen through the eyes of those who have been forced to accommodate or perish.

My objective is to let readers know that others have shared their anxieties, fears and frustrations dealing with computers. There are ways in which people and computers can coexist. It doesn’t always have to be a struggle to write a term paper. And, even you, the person who got electrocuted trying to get a piece of toast out of the toaster with a fork before unplugging the toaster, can exist in a world that is run by computers.

P.S. Two computer-related happenings on campus that should not be missed are the IBM PS/2 demonstration in the Student Center lobby on Feb. 26, between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m., and the ASTD meeting on Feb. 21 between 5 p.m. and 6 p.m., which will feature Richard Nisivocia from IBM as a guest speaker. Hope to see you there!!!

Coming Up: Interview with Dr. Eleanor Planigan from BEOA (Business Education and Office Systems Administration).
Love: Woogy goo-goo. Make me barf.

So love is strange. That much is certain. A bizarre cavalcade of emotion, lust, passion, silliness, hate and fear. Anyone who has ever been in love knows what I'm talking about. When we love, we, the highest of creatures, become ridiculous raving lunatics, completely without reason. We wax around, mouths half-open, wearing these idiotic glazed eyes.

It's disgusting, actually, but sooner or later we all fall victim to it. Even the most subdued among us become bubbling morons, chattering incessantly about the greenness of the grass or the blue-ness of the sky, while virtually ignoring the most vital bodily functions, such as eating, sleeping and breathing. Our pulse rates quicken and with bulging, pounding temples, we spar and green like a dog in heat. It's fairly embarrassing, and with Valentine's Day looming hideously on the horizon, we can expect to see acute displays of unadulterated vomit-inducing behavior.

There you are, sitting peacefully in the cafeteria, ready to dig into that delicious bowl of gruel sitting in front of you, when, from the corner of your eye you spy two creatures, clutched in a longing embrace, prepared to commence slobbering over one another. Gag! Blech! Your stomach churns in an acidic froth of nausea. You begin to picture these pigeons of lust alone, sharing some strange language, somewhere between some kind of gravity, you glide across the quad. Standing before you is the most jaw-dropping creature you've ever had the pleasure of gazing upon. Sort of a cross between Uma Thurman and Winona Ryder. You feel your face evolving into a state of Perma-Grin. Kind of the sensation of eating an orange too quickly, and having the tartness of the fruit throw an involuntary smile on your face, but not quite the same feeling as eating ice cream too quickly, which causes your eyes to blow out.

Fireworks! Gospel choirs! Rainbows and small furry animals!!! WHOOEEE! You regain your composure and prepare to speak. "Would you, um, know, um, care to like Join me for a bowl of gruel in the cafeteria?"

"Certainly," the goddess replies. She takes your hand and with a complete loss of gravity, you glide across the quad. Weeks pass, and you and Cindi (of course, with an "i") become attached at the hip, lips, hands and other questionable body parts. You become a disgusting sa-live-sharing maggot of monogamy, blub-bering through your days, a complete zomb-ie. It's all over for you. You and Cindi get married, have 12 children and buy a house in Scarscuss. Cindi sits around the T.V. room all day, shoving Doritos down her throat, while you grow fat and bald. You die an early and gruesome death being eaten by a chair in the nearest empty classroom. You could really hurt yourself smashing your forehead like that."

"Yes, I suppose you could be right..."

Standing before you is the most jaw-dropping creature you've ever had the pleasure of gazing upon. Sort of a cross between Uma Thurman and Winona Ryder. You feel your face evolving into a state of Perma-Grin. Kind of the sensation of eating an orange too quickly, and having the tartness of the fruit throw an involuntary smile on your face, but not quite the same feeling as eating ice cream too quickly, which causes your eyes to blow out.

Jeffrey Dahmer was a cannibal but, so what? It's murder in the first degree. If he liked raw meat he should have raised animals on a farm. The man is crazy, but he shouldn't get off on murder.

Marcy Schirloff
Sophomore, English

Jeffrey Dahmer should get off on the insanity plea.

If he does get off on the insanity plea, we are in an indirect way saying "yes" to murder. He shouldn't get the death penalty, though. He should be tortured and used for experiments instead of the poor dogs and monkeys!

Wilson Mendieta
Freshman, acting

Jeffrey Dahmer should get off on the insanity plea.

If he does get off on the insanity plea, we are in an indirect way saying "yes" to murder. He shouldn't get the death penalty, though. He should be tortured and used for experiments instead of the poor dogs and monkeys!

Wilson Mendieta
Freshman, acting

Jeffrey Dahmer should get a conviction for what he did to those people. He is a criminal and should be treated as such. Put him in jail.

Tawanda Timmons
Freshman, biology

I believe in an eye for an eye, so he should get back what he gave! He knew what he was doing when he did it. So no, he shouldn't get off on the insanity plea.

Leah DeSocio
Junior, recreation and tourism
Philanthropy
3/1 Kappa Alpha Psi will be feeding the homeless at Penn Station.

Athletic
2/23 TKE vs. Tau Phi Beta Time TBA
Alpha Chi Rho (AXP) Accepts any and all challenges for football games.

Fundraising
2/10-2/14 Theta Xi is selling Valentine's Day candygrams at tables in Freeman and Blanton cafeterias.
Alpha Phi Omega used bookstore going on throughout the month of Feb.
2/4-2/14 Sigma Delta Phi
King and Queen of Hearts- Each organization sponsors a member and people vote for their favorite person. They simply put any amount of money into their favorite person’s money jar. The two winners will get a gift certificate to Houlihan’s and movie tickets.

Social
Reminder: NPC sororities may not mix or have any type of informal parties during Rush. Thank You. (M.P.C.)
2/13 Theta Xi Valentine’s party at Stevens Tech.
2/13 Delta Chi and Sigma Delta Chi Rush mixer. Look for information.
2/13 Rush Mixer with Delta Chi.
2/14 Bid Acceptance in Student Center Lobby 10-2 pm
2/20 Phi Sigma Phi and Sigma Psi Phi will be having a mixer at Club America.

All Greek organizations can place listings at the Greek Council, Tuesdays.

Compiled by
Jennifer Fender

Pledge

AΦΩ

Starting February 17th
LEADERSHIP, FRIENDSHIP, SERVICE

Call 893-5431 or stop by the AFW office in the Student Center, Rm. 406.

AΦΩ is a Class IV organization of the SGA
Career Services is asking students to send names and addresses of alums so they can join the alumni network - a volunteer telephone hotline to provide students with questions regarding their work. Call 893-5194.

College Funding and Planning Services is offering scholarships and other assistance programs, U.S. bonds and loans for students enrolled at an accredited college or university. For more information, send a long self-addressed stamped-envelope with two First Class stamps affixed to: College Funding and Planning Service, Inc., 700-39 Fox Pavilion, Jenkintown, PA, 19046.

Planned Parenthood of Greater Northern New Jersey is giving out a free pamphlet titled, "Teen Sex: It's OK To Say No Way." For a free copy send a self-addressed business envelope to PPGNNJ Center for a Family Life Education, 575 Main Street, Hackensack, NJ, 07601.

Where's that shuttle?
Now you can call the shuttle hotline to find out
by Anthony DiPasquale

As the icy February breeze bites their faces, the 15 or so students waiting for the shuttle stare impatiently down a dark road. Ten more minutes pass and the crowd begins to grow more anxious. Finally one snaps: "Where the hell is the shuttle?" Instantly the group is brought together by their common suffering. Conversations bashing the MSC's shuttle system help pass the time and cool the nerves.

Unfortunately, this scene is often played out amongst those of us who are slaves to the campus shuttle system, but now there is a more effective method of expressing complaints: the shuttle hotline.

Kiki Williams, director of shuttle services, set up the hotline to listen to student concerns and suggestions to help improve the service.

"Everybody hears the complaints except the people who need to," explains Williams. "Students were contacting other departments like the Campus Police, so we set up our hotline to eliminate the lack of communication."

Now, instead of saying to each other, "How come you wait 20 minutes for a bus and then three come together?" or "Why does that woman drive so slow?" or "They always hide on Fridays!" or even "It's better than walking," you can just pick up the phone and complain to the person in charge.

Geraldine Harris, the shuttle supervisor, says the service has improved, and is making every effort to meet the needs of the students.

Two new and larger shuttles are going to be added at the end of February. And, for people with night classes, a third shuttle will be on the road, said Harris.

"If we hear of a problem of any sort, we take care of it," says Harris. "We take turns going out and observing. We know we have to work out some things, but the students have to utilize the hotline because we lack information."

Unfortunately, a favorite night-time driver is in the hospital and his replacement is "tied up in red tape" said Williams. Since the hotline came into existence this semester, two people have called.

Students like George Blue say they haven't called the hotline because there are no phones at the bus stop. "By the time I get to a phone, I forget what I was mad about," said Blue.

The campus shuttle service had tried to reach the students in the past with a survey, but out of the entire campus population, only 189 frustrated parkers responded.

The purpose of the survey last year was to help justify why I was asking for what I wanted in the formal budget hearings," says Williams. "I eventually got what we needed to improve the service, but more student input would have helped."

Some of the improvements Williams has planned is a student advisory board to help assess the shuttle system.

So now all a student has to do to get something off his or her chest is dial 893-5372, but don't ask any of the drivers how they feel about the situation; they have been instructed to direct all questions to their supervisors.
Damn the students,
Master Plan full speed ahead!

Our college, it seems, is on the verge of a financial red-alert, all hands to their battle stations crisis situation. Why, you ask? Well, according to Thomas Auch, vice president for administration and finance, unless the NJ Legislature passes Gov. Jim Florio's Tuition Stabilization Incentive Program (TSIP), MSC's “ability to function next year without severe cutbacks” is in serious jeopardy. And we all know how warmly those Republicans in the legislature take to Florio's programs. It now seems as though it's all up to the legislature. If they'd only pass the program, MSC could be saved!

But wait. Instead of our administration laying the blame for MSC's precarious position on the front stoop of the NJ Statehouse, it should re-examine its own irresponsible actions. While they shuffle off to Trenton, hat in hand, our administrators are overseeing a massive $35.78 million construction effort, affectionately dubbed the "Master Plan." This vaunted Master Plan is the crown jewel in Reid & Co.'s as yet untitled ambition to attain university status for MSC.

Not that The Montclarion is against university status: we're not, but we are against the way in which the administration is trying to achieve it, to the detriment of our school. It is unconscionable for the administration to dole out such huge sums of money while the basic operations of the college are in peril. A substantial portion of the funds allocated for the Master Plan come directly from students' tuition or loans which will be paid back with, guess what? Students' tuition. We at The Montclarion believe that most students would opt for a functioning college over an architectural masterpiece. It seems almost beside the point to mention that the construction plan seems at best, ill-planned, and at worst, inept (case in point: the one-way access road to nowhere).

It has become clear that the administration has been blinded by the ethereal glow of the Master Plan. They have become, sadly, glory-seekers. Let's face it - university status for MSC won't look bad on President Reid's resume. The lure has become irresistible.

Unfortunately, as the administration rushes blindly toward glory, our college's demise lies ahead.
LETTER...

Help wanted for escort service

Fear: In this the new driving force that we must deal with on campus? Fear to walk to your car after a late class, fear to go from one residence hall to another at night? With darkness, the caretaker of uncertainty, fear itself is not new to MSC.

Yes, there are precautions we can take to curb our risks. A flashlight, a whistle or a friend has given us a better sense of security, but more often than not, we have turned our needs to a police escort. Shortchanged in staff and overburdened with responsibility, students must wait up to 30 minutes for a police escort. With no real improvements in the school budget, it appears that this situation is without hope for improvement. Wrong!

Now, more than ever, is our chance to make a difference. Working together, Campus Police, the Residence Hall Association and the Student Government have initiated steps to re-establish a Student Escort Service. In past years, it was the students who ran this program and it is the students who can revive it.

Requiring not an Act of God (Father Art, it wouldn't hurt if you put in a good word), but instead volunteers to assist in this venture, students who are willing to give some of their time so that another may feel safer. For me, this is the real problem, and our 10,000 undergraduates have resigned themselves to doing nothing. If I thought this was true, I wouldn't have written this.

There are many of us on this campus who are pledging to improving our college community. We will be holding two interest meetings on Tuesday, Feb. 18, one at 3pm in rm 112 of the Student Center and the other at 8:30 pm in the Blanton Hall Atrium, to re-establish an escort service. I know what course I will take and I hope to see you there.

Carpe Diem

Anthony Vito Susco
SGA President

OP-ED/LETTERS

3$ for the first minute; 99 cents for each additional minute

This column will concern itself with culture. Yes, culture. Shocked? Good, culture can be shocking. Culture can be pop culture, it can be shocking: e.g. Willard Scott commercials. Culture can be disconcerting: e.g. Robert Bly and his seemingly scatological inspired men’s movement. Culture can also be repulsive: e.g. Markie Mark.

Regardless of whatever other attributes are attached to it, culture is cyclical. Cyclical in the respect that society is influenced by culture, which in itself is influenced by a society that is inherently culture conscious, sort of a self-perpetuating vicious cycle.

Why am I even attempting to address the issue that culture constitutes? As an MSC student I do not exist in a pseudo T.S. Eliot culturally-speaking wasteland. Although he wore me out with his annoying and equally inaprid footsteps, he did have cultural icons like the C&C Cola Factory cancel their eagery(?) awaited concert, leaving him in a cultural lurch. Which reminds me, couldn’t they have done a better job with The Addams Family remake? Yes, apparently I do have the cultural wherewithal to mention The Addams Family and T.S. Eliot in the same paragraph in which I misonerly alight the C&C Cola Factory.

Throughout modernity the media has served as chroniclers of culture. Be in Nubian inspired hieroglyphics or the time capsule buried by my sixth grade class, most literate civilizations have left some sort of cultural legacy. Our indigenous American culture has an infinite number of possibilities the other week when we received that small blanket solution the other week when we received that small blanket lines. And that is when I had my “Epiphany”; the campus police cannot justly ticket a car for not parking between the lines when the lines when the lines have been whined out with snow. So I quickly located a vacant illegal spot and parked. At the end of the day I did not receive a ticket.

Now I know that there are some students that would not park illegally under any circumstances. I don’t know why they think like this, it must be the fear of getting a ticket. If you did get a ticket for parking like I said, there really isn’t anything to worry about. All that has to be done is to get the SGA to appeal it. This service is set up for this very reason. It is a very simple procedure. Take the ticket to the SGA office in the Student Center within 10 school days of the alleged violation. The “Campus Ticket Appeal Forms” are located to your right as you walk into the office. Take one, fill it out, making sure to put an X on the map provided indicating where you car was parked and turn it in. Turning it in is even more effortless, you put the completed form in the bin next to the bin it was taken from. If you happen to be a graduate student you have to submit it to Dr. Margaret Mukherjee located in room 208 in Hall Atrium, to re-establish an escort service. I know what course I will take and I hope to see you there.

OP-ED/LETTERS

Record Irreverence

This is Uncle Sam... and I'm not wearing pants.
LETTER...

The guy so nice, he'd nuke 'em thrice

This letter is not anti-American, but instead, it is anti-Matt Swartz. I don’t want to offend America, just the foolish group of Americans who blame the deteriorating American economy on the Japanese. Matt Swartz has the nerve to blame Japan for what is totally the fault of America.

Let me first state that before World War II, Japan's government was totalitarian. It was not until after the war that we forced them to become a capitalistic nation. It just so happens that they are doing a much better job at being capitalistic than we are. If you don’t like the fact that they are kicking our butt economically, remember that we gave them this advantage.

Maybe our problem lies in our greedy business attitude. There are many people in America who would buy a company just so put it out of business and make a profit for themselves. They don’t give a flying fig about the thousands of people that they will put out of work. I wonder if Mr. Swartz considered this when he looked at the American economy.

Maybe our problem lies in the quality of most American products. Whether you will admit it or not, American cars suck lemons. If anyone doesn’t believe me, read Consumer Report. My Japanese Nissan Sentra has given me excellent service for years, and I have no desire to drive an inferior American car. Maybe if people stopped buying American cars it would force the companies to make better products. I feel bad hurting our economy more by buying foreign cars, but I’d rather do that than get ripped off by my own country.

Mr. Swartz was also wrong when he said that Japan’s car companies are not open to markets to American goods. It just so happens that they do buy American products there, such as Coca-Cola, but they avoid products that we make poorly, as we do cars.

I hope that we never close our markets to Japanese goods, because they make things of much better quality than Americans do. I like to refer to Matt Swartz’s words as verbal diarrhea. He states things that sound good to him, but it’s really just a bunch of crap. His feeble opinions have no facts and he just wants to blame our economy on a country that can handle itself very successfully.

I like to refer to Matt Swartz’s words as verbal diarrhea... His feeble opinions have no facts and he just wants to blame our economy on a country that can handle itself very successfully.

From the country that brought you the Pacer...

Recently, since President George Bush’s return from his Napa Valley vacation (after a trip to Japan and a sad attempt to sell car parts), a spat of Japan bashing seems to have cropped up. Some people seem to believe Japan is at fault for the downturn in our economy and if the Japanese would cooperate with Bush’s wishes, we’d all have “jobs, jobs, jobs.” The only way we can have “jobs, jobs, jobs” is when the American workforce is skilled enough to compete in the international market. And the only way to accomplish this is through education.

When Japanese Prime Minister Kiichi Miyazawa called Americans lazy, he must have been talking about the CEO’s of the Big Three automakers, who went with Bush and the media mission to cheer him on.

While GM announces it will lay off 74,000 workers over the next four years, the chairman Robert Stempel is making over a hundred times more than the average GM worker. That is outrageous! And the layoffs don’t give much incentive to workers for putting out a quality product. Why should they when they know they are getting fired? Keep that in mind as you walk into a GM showroom.

The prime minister met pampered CEO’s, not average American workers. Maybe that is where his contention germinated. God knows regular Americans aren’t lazy. A new book, The Overworked American by Juliet B. Schor, states the average American works 164 labor hours more than they did 20 years ago. Put simply, they are working an extra month longer than 20 years ago. Only Japanese, South Koreans and Taiwanese work longer hours.

So why are there no jobs for a workforce willing to work so hard? Because poorer countries can offer a workforce for a fraction of the cost of the U.S., like Mexico and South Korea. Businesses which tend to care only about the bottom line simply can’t refuse the cheaper labor. If they do, they will be driven out of business by someone who did utilize the cheap labor. That is capitalism.

What the U.S. needs is more conservatives who will support education, in a few years, as you’re picking peaches for minimum wage to feed Europe and Asia, you can think back to when Americans owned the majorities of U.S. real estate and businesses. If you are now floating our debt, didn’t dictate government policy. The tobacco industry, right-wing religious fanatics and the gun lobby did as God meant it to be. Hallelujah.

Ceterko for president?

Three cheers for Mr. Ceterko and his letter (Environmental Theater Act 1; Scene 2 “The cashier writes back”) of February 6, 1992. For far too long the liberals in this country, and at MSC for that matter, have been dictating how we must live our lives. It is time we stood up for our rights and not succumb to political correctness. Our country is deteriorating because we have looked the other way for too long.

What this country needs is more conservatives who will represent what the majority of Americans want, not a bunch of special interest groups screaming about some new rights they say they found in the pnumebras of the Constitution. I do not believe environmentalists, feminists, animal rights activists, criminal rights activists, affirmative action activists, political correctness seekers or any other liberal group has anything productive to give to society. I support the logging industry, animal testing (not cosmetic), the right to bear arms, the death penalty and the right of businesses to hire the most qualified workers, not ones to fill quotas. Before anyone calls me a racist or anything else, remember that I am practicing my right to free speech which is guaranteed in the Constitution. It wasn’t long ago that liberals were fighting for this.

How long must we suffer? How long will people lose money on their homes because their land has turned into “wetlands”? How long will the timber industry endure the hardship that the Spotted Owl has imposed upon it? How long will people (college students especially) be afraid to disagree with an idea or oppose a group for fear that the political correctness police will label them racist? How long?

Before there are more restrictions placed on my remaining rights, I plan to exercise as many as I am able. I will express my opinion as clearly as the written word allows me.

I would like to wish Mr. Ceterko good luck in his hunting venture. If you ever run for office you have my vote.

Paul J. Schroeder, Jr.
Political Science
LETTER...

What gave Heckle and Jeckle stamps anyway?

I believe someone had said, "This country is going to go so far to the right, you won't recognize it in a few years." That was roughly 20 years ago, and his prediction seems to be on the mark. Just look at the two right-wing kooks who wrote in to the editor last week.

Matthew Croson says that he's not anti-Japanese, then proceeds to attack the Japanese for beating Americans at their own game called capitalism. Make a product better and sell it cheaper than your competition is what Article 8 instructed the American government and people to do. Japan sent a group of American students to help them rebuild after World War II. Now, the Japanese are beating America at it better and cheaper and they will gong their U.S. competitors on the head until they too can produce affordable, quality products, not racist commodities.

Pete Castro said, "If you can't take the heat, get out of the kitchen." Don't bitch and moan. Improve or leave the market to competent industries. And stop the rape baiting.

Jeffrey Ceterko, author of the other offending letter, works at the C-Store and he complains in the letter a full-time employee would be needed to cut a few plastic six-pack holders that happen to kill marine life. Well, I've been to the C-Store and solved the employees aren't that busy. If one more duty was given them I don't think they would have a break.

What's the big deal? Snip and cut and possibly save a life. Is that so hard or difficult? Jeff apparently prefers to browse at a magazine (Was it paid for Jeff?) during the recession. The Japanese Prime Minister can point at Jeff as an example justifying his controversial remarks.

Another thing, Jeff doesn't think The Wall Street Journal, a daily newspaper that is consistently in the top three in highest circulation in the country, is read much. Wake up. And Jeff, I'm glad you love red meat so much. That just means you'll be dead soon.

There is something I feel in both Swartz and Ceterko's letters. It is a sense of cold, dumb, mean spirited insouciance. Swartz suggests that the killing of millions of innocent Japanese in Tokyo by way of a nuclear bomb would have made them uncomfortable. Where are their highest circulation in the country, is read much. Wake up.

If more duty was given them I don't think they would have a break.

LETTER...

Despite the Cat's call, feminists'grapes are legit

I sympathized with the disillusioned tone of P.R. Cats' editorial on feminism because I was also rebuffed once by a fraternity logo in a large print book, outing our members as homosexual and "outcasts." Below, was an extremely insulting mock "Top Ten Reasons to Pledge Theta Xi." Among these reasons were direct attacks upon our President Dave "Uncle Bob" Cozzi, and a plethora of false suppositions about our membership, and demeaning, humiliating, blatant lies about our organization's values.

We as brothers of Theta Xi National Fraternity pride ourselves on academic excellence, brotherhood and a strict position against hazing, among others.

It is unfortunate that commitment to noble morals as these are met with contempt and ridicule. It seems mad to think that such common values as achievement, brotherhood and human dignity are deemed to be inconsistent with human thinking.

It becomes blindingly apparent that someone feels threatened by our successful existence. Perhaps this fear may stem from inadequacy? It has been written that "man fears that which he does not understand," and this example provides an altruistic interpretation.

It would be an act of ignorance to feel that this incident strictly concerns a single organization. This is an assault on Greek unity as well as an embarrasing testimonial to Greek life. In addition, it would be foolish to believe that this event solely concerns Greeks, for ignorance and discrimination have no limits.

With all taken into consideration, the brothers of Theta Xi National Fraternity do not want anyone to falsely portray ourselves as a bunch of stiff jointed, non-jevel-stuffed shirts that cannot deal in humor. We would now like to present our responses to the "Top Ten Reasons to Join Theta Xi." We will first state the reasons as they appeared on the flyer, then their revisions to these. They are not meant to offend anyone, except those who made the flyers.

Their list

1. At least our mothers care about us and who we associate with - I'd rather have no friends anyway.
2. Cool nicknames like "Uncle Bob.”
3. At least Theta Xi scares...
4. You won't troll around like a moron and answer to "Yo."
5. Enemas are way too extreme; we are, however, well versed in soap, shampoo, and toothpaste usage - unlike others.
6. Messages and rubdowns from "Uncle Bob.”
7. That's not what your girlfriend said last night!
8. Receive free pocket protector with dues.
9. We practice the safest sex: abstinance.
10. You have no friends anyway.

Their response

1. We have no illustreat friends who are only 2nd generation to stand upright.
2. 9. You won't troll around like a moron and answer to "Yo."
3. Enemas are too extreme, we are, however, well versed in soap, shampoo, and toothpaste usage - unlike others.
4. 7. Our does go towards education; after all, some hot shot chaps, Theta Xi alumni is bound to leave a big tip up your Pizza Hot work station.
5. We don't speak for guys, but chaps really dig "Uncle Bob"'s rubdowns.
6. We have rubbed other nationals...our choice is clear.
7. That's not what your girlfriend said last night!
8. At least Theta Xi worriers...
9. We, tried condoms, nine months later you showed up - truth said.
10. At least our mothers care about us and who we associate with - I'd have to have it any other way.

The brothers of Theta Xi National Fraternity once again request that no one (except those responsible for the flyers) take offense to the above list. It was conceived to show how ridiculous this whole situation is, and how acus as this flyer have no place in Greek life or in life in general. Thank you for your time, consideration, and any assistance you can offer to the investigation currently underway with Deans Harris and Martin, and campus police.

Michael A. Costa
David J. Cozzie
and the brothers of Theta Xi National Fraternity
Class One Concerts: The inside story

by Laurie Jeffers

Lately, there has been a lot of buzzing around campus about Class One Concerts: “What are they doing?” The answer is quite a lot.

If you enter room 117 of the Student Center Annex, you will find many interesting things: Autographed 8 x 10 glossies of well-known musicians, psychedelic painted phones and dilapidated couches that are held together by the air itself. You’ll also find someone sitting behind the desk making various phone calls to different music agents or perusing through contacts or lists of availabilities. This person will be more than willing to offer a moment of his/her time to answer any of your questions related to CIC.

It is here that all the action takes place. In this very room, deals are made and contracts signed which in the past have brought MSC megalomaniac musicians such as Bad Brains, Meatloaf, The Allman Brothers, and The Alarm (to name a few).

According to associate producer Paul Giamboli, CIC’s job is to sponsor an affordable musical event every two weeks during each semester. These include two major fall shows, one spring, and the ever-so-popular free Outdoor Jam. There is also the annual well-known musicians, psychedelic painted tiling: Autographed 8 x 10 glossies of Center Annex, you will find many interest lists of availabilities. This is the final stage of contractual obligations with the bands. The availabilities are limited.” Our conversation ended as I asked Paul what he wished to do for the students at MSC. He replied, “I just really want to do one big kick-ass show this semester.”

So, keep an ear out and watch your buds!

Campus Paperback Bestsellers

3. You Just Don’t Understand, by Deborah Tannen. (Ballantine, $10.00.) How men and women can understand each other better.
5. The Plains of Passage, by Jean M. Auel. (Bantam, $6.99.) Travelling back across Europe during the ice age.
6. The Waste Lands, by Stephen King. (Pine, $15.00.)
7. Jurassic Park, by Michael Crichton. (Ballantine, $3.99.) The future is difficult to describe, but the 3D hypnagogic “burn burns” best amongst their big screen silhouettes. Expanding choppers roar from their Cap’n Crunch cereal crammed mouths - and pink, purple and red as dillies onto a canvas, as blue Blue Man literally spins out a world of art.
9. Mute, expressionless Blue Man Group (Matt Golden, Phil Stanton, Chris Wink) communicate through music, sound effects, and 3D Hypnagogic “burn burns” best amongst their big screen silhouettes. Expanding choppers roar from their Cap’n Crunch cereal crammed mouths - and pink, purple and red as dillies onto a canvas, as blue Blue Man literally spins out a world of art.
10. Musical amalgamation of culture

by Joe Ventola

Lucy Brown, Lucy Brown Megafonze/Atlantic Records

Lucy Brown is the current release from a band of the same name. But there are no females in this group as one might expect from the title. What Lucy Brown is, is an amalgamation of culture. Hispanic, black and white band members come together to produce quite a powerful sound. Not unlike that of Living Colour and Phishbone. But make no mistake this band does not need the aid of comparison, they are unique, pronounced and forceful. Spraying from the Washington, D.C. trash club scene they couple metal, funk, and harmony to challenge both racial and musical stereotypes.

The album in many ways reflects this boundary breaking ideal. Gene Hawkins pronounces his politically powerful lyrics over all out musical jams provided by Luis Peraza on guitar, Scott Llewellyn on bass, and Chris Neuberg on drums. Chords such as “Colorblind” and “Thoughts (Working Class)” encompass instrumentation that would amaze even the best jazz musician, while “Brother” is a track that uses a vocal and harmony style reminiscent of funk based rhythm and blues. Yet, let us not forget that this is not jazz nor is it R&B, it is rock that people will journey to the dirtiest, dirtiest clubs for. Tracks such as “Nobody Home” and “Mold the Truth” remind us of this fact. They successfully bring to life the raw club emotion that usually gets lost in modern day recording.

No hype, no commercial showmanship, just real musicianship. In essence that is what Lucy Brown, the album and the band are all about. If you deny or close your mind to it, that is your problem. The choice is yours.
WMSC: The alternative to the alternative

by Toby Tyler

Broadcasting live from the MSC Student Center, this is 101.5 WMSC-FM! A Class One Organization of the student government association, WMSC-FM broadcasts 7 days a week to the campus and the surrounding community. Like most other traditional college radio stations, WMSC-FM plays primarily “alternative” music. What does that mean? Well, to put it simply, you probably won’t hear Mariah Carey or Marky Mark on WMSC-FM. But you can hear Neil’s Atomic Dustbin, Nirzer Elis, Social Distortion and Dr. Jaramama. Playing a mix of music that you can’t hear anywhere else is one of the goals of WMSC-FM.

Monday through Friday is when you can catch the alternative programming on WMSC-FM. Saturday is Heavy Metal Saturday all day and very heavy! Sunday offers a mixed menu, including blues, jazz, reggae, country, Latin, and public affairs programming.

Some people may have the impression that WMSC-FM just plays weird music that no one has ever heard before. Well, to put it simply, you probably won’t hear anything! By Toby Tyler

EXPERIMENTAL THEATRE SERIES

Department of Broadcasting, Speech Communication, Dance, & Theatre

presents...

JUST DROWNING

Winner of the SAMUEL F. GERBER SR. Playwriting Award

February 20, 21, and 22 at 8pm in the Studio Theatre

Call the MSC Box Office for more information at (201) 893-5121

Due to technical difficulties, Couch Potato will not be aired...

by George Olachewski

Close your eyes for a minute, and try to picture what life might be like without that talking picture box we all call a television. A life without a boob tube. No more idiot box. Sex is always an option, if you can find a willing partner. You can’t just say, “Come on up to my room, I have something to show you.” Guys like that might get put away for a while. Remember, if it’s two consenting adults and each other partner doesn’t mind a little leather in their lives, go for it. And, for Pete’s sake, practice safe sex. Don’t forget your crash helmet.

Sports are cool, too. Have fun doing what schmeckleheads lower on the food chain than you do and get paid megabucks for it. Then again, without zillion-dollar television contracts, maybe they’ll get paid a little less. Try to jam like Jordan. Home run like Canseco. Whine like Strawberry. You know, the thing you do with text-messaging, production, newscasting, promotions, sporcasting or you just like music and want to learn how a radio station is run, call WMSC-FM at 893-4256. Membership meetings are Tuesdays at 4:30 p.m. in the station, room 110 of the student center. Even if you don’t want to join, tune in!
What should be deciding factors in picking that new Nintendo game? Playability- is it user friendly? Graphics- is it nice to look at? And last, but not least- new stuff. What does this have that others don't? Super Tennis for the SNES is a good sports game. It's relatively easy to learn, and after being trounced once or twice, you'll be on your way to being a Monica Seles or Andre Agassi. Graphically, it's okay. The sound effects do shine normally hear in a tennis match. The players are all right. They look human and not like midget Smurfs, even if they look like they're 12 years old. How's the game itself? It plays well- most of the controls can be mastered within a week or two. The L and R buttons along the top of the SNES controllers are a little hard to use (there are also singles and doubles games, but I don't consider them games in themselves). Circuit is fun. It goes through a tournament pyramid, with the beginning sets one-game matchups. The semifinals are usually two-game, and the finals are either three or five. To finish the circuit takes a looooooooong time. Look forward to playing an entire day to get from one end to the other. For the ones who can't get in a game here and there, don't worry- it has a password feature. Player vs. computer is a quickie (I can think of better quickies, but I'll leave that to our personal pages). The match can be single-game, three, or five. If you want to get in one really quick game, P vs. C is your best bet. The realism pushes Super Tennis up a little, while the length of circuit play brings it down a bit. A nice game to own if you're planning a nice sports collection. Rating (Scale 1-5): 3 3/4.

Faceball 2000 for Game Boy is a game that is difficult to categorize, because there is no category to put it in completely. First of all, it's put out by the same sick individuals who gave the Nintendo world Tennis. Second, how can you categorize a completely new gaming concept? Let me explain. You are a happy face, like the annoying "Have a nice day" face. You float around an arena setting, looking for other faces. Why? To kill them, of course. Have a nice day. What makes Faceball so innovative is that the game is set in a first-person perspective. YOU are in the game. YOU are blasting the holy hopping bejezus out of everyone else. Okay, you have Faceball in your trusty little Game Boy, and you've played it. Alas, it isn't old fast. Now what do you do? Get your Game Boy-owning friends to get it too, and then you can Game Link them together! Not two, not three, but FOUR people can play at the same time! This is what makes it so cool. You can bust on your buddy when you nail him. You can watch the look of horror as you kill your best friend from behind. This is what makes it great- the interactive factor. And because you yourself see what's going on through your eyes only, and not through the omnipotent television, you get the sense that it's you. Forget the Double Dragon stuff. This is the new breed. Play it alone, and it isn't too great. Play it with a bunch of others (Game Link them or use the four-way Game Link), and the beauty of this simple game comes through. Rating: an easy 3 1/2.

Flying Warriors by Culture Brain is much like the "Double Dragon" martial arts style games with one exception- it trains you in all the martial arts moves before moving on to another stage. This is nice because otherwise, you would have to hit and miss (no pun intended) on what kick and punch did what. This way, you at least have a working knowledge of how you should fight. After that, you embark on your quest, picking up armor and weapons, much like other games. I'm not too wild about the back-and-slash genre, but if you're into it, check it out. Rating: 3.

A game for all systems: Super Tennis (SNES), Faceball 2000 (Game Boy), and Flying Warriors (NES).

Vidiot Report

by George Olschewski

What should be deciding factors in picking that new Nintendo game? Playability- is it user friendly? Graphics- is it nice to look at? And last, but not least- new stuff. What does this have that others don't?

Super Tennis for the SNES is a good sports game. It's relatively easy to learn, and after being trounced once or twice, you'll be on your way to being a Monica Seles or Andre Agassi. Graphically, it's okay. The sound effects do shine normally hear in a tennis match.

The players are all right. They look human and not like midget Smurfs, even if they look like they're 12 years old. How's the game itself? It plays well- most of the controls can be mastered within a week or two. The L and R buttons along the top of the SNES controllers are a little hard to use (there are also singles and doubles games, but I don't consider them games in themselves). Circuit is fun. It goes through a tournament pyramid, with the beginning sets one-game matchups. The semifinals are usually two-game, and the finals are either three or five. To finish the circuit takes a looooooooong time. Look forward to playing an entire day to get from one end to the other. For the ones who can only get in a game here and there, don't worry- it has a password feature. Player vs. computer is a quickie (I can think of better quickies, but I'll leave that to our personal pages). The match can be single-game, three, or five. If you want to get in one really quick game, P vs. C is your best bet. The realism pushes Super Tennis up a little, while the length of circuit play brings it down a bit. A nice game to own if you're planning a nice sports collection. Rating (Scale 1-5): 3 3/4.

Faceball 2000 for Game Boy is a game that is difficult to categorize, because there is no category to put it in completely. First of all, it's put out by the same sick individuals who gave the Nintendo world Tennis. Second, how can you categorize a completely new gaming concept? Let me explain. You are a happy face, like the annoying "Have a nice day" face. You float around an arena setting, looking for other faces. Why? To kill them, of course. Have a nice day. What makes Faceball so innovative is that the game is set in a first-person perspective. YOU are in the game. YOU are blasting the holy hopping bejezus out of everyone else. Okay, you have Faceball in your trusty little Game Boy, and you've played it. Alas, it isn't old fast. Now what do you do? Get your Game Boy-owning friends to get it too, and then you can Game Link them together! Not two, not three, but FOUR people can play at the same time! This is what makes it so cool. You can bust on your buddy when you nail him. You can watch the look of horror as you kill your best friend from behind. This is what makes it great- the interactive factor. And because you yourself see what's going on through your eyes only, and not through the omnipotent television, you get the sense that it's you. Forget the Double Dragon stuff. This is the new breed. Play it alone, and it isn't too great. Play it with a bunch of others (Game Link them or use the four-way Game Link), and the beauty of this simple game comes through. Rating: an easy 3 1/2.

Flying Warriors by Culture Brain is much like the "Double Dragon" martial arts style games with one exception- it trains you in all the martial arts moves before moving on to another stage. This is nice because otherwise, you would have to hit and miss (no pun intended) on what kick and punch did what. This way, you at least have a working knowledge of how you should fight. After that, you embark on your quest, picking up armor and weapons, much like other games. I'm not too wild about the back-and-slash genre, but if you're into it, check it out. Rating: 3.

A game for all systems: Super Tennis (SNES), Faceball 2000 (Game Boy), and Flying Warriors (NES).
Final Analysis

by Jodi Schultz

A tense psychological and sensual thriller set in San Francisco, Final Analysis pinpoints the professional knowledge and experience of a prominent psychiatrist against two mysterious and sickly troubled sisters.

Isaac Barr (Richard Gere), a man of confidence and professional expertise, fully in control of his world; Heather Evans (Kim Basinger), a woman of intelligence and stunning beauty who enters his life and inevitably alters his destiny; Diana Baylor, (Uma Thurman), a troubled girl whose “disturbed dreams” lead to a dangerous mystery; together they create a fantastic nip into the perverted and brilliantly demented minds of Banister and Gere to create an enigma which Gere has to desperately figure out before his life comes crashing down.

Final Analysis is a thriller which includes a cat and mouse game between the characters. Throughout the film, nothing is what it appears to be. Things constantly change for Isaac Barr (Richard Gere), a man of confidence and professional expertise, fully in control of his world; Heather Evans, (Kim Basinger), his brutal husband, was as brilliant as he was in Star 80. Eric was able to play a tough guy without making him a cliche. Although he’s very scary in the movie, you can also understand why Heather stays with him. Eric is a very persuasive actor.

The cinematography and grasp of symbolism in Final Analysis made the movie even more terrifying. A horrific display of dreams correlating with reality that shatters lives made me quiver with fright. Although, I wish the relationship between Heather and Isaac was developed more, I nevertheless enjoyed their intellectual and sexual bondage...bonding.

See this movie you could grab on to now and cuddle later.

Medicine Man needs therapy

by Mark Loughlin

If you’re like me, you’ll go and see almost any movie that Sean Connery is in. His record is extraordinary. For the last five years, he has been in some of the highest quality films on screen such as: Indiana Jones and the Last Crusade, The Untouchables and The Hunt for Red October. Sure once in a while, a Highlander or The Presidio, but, usually Connery is a safe bet.

Unfortunately, Medicine Man, while showing a lot of promise, never quite delivers the satisfaction that it should. Connery plays Dr. Robert Campbell, a reclusive research scientist, working in the rainforest who has apparently found the cure for cancer. When his boss, Dr. Craze (Lorraine Bracco) comes to check on his progress, he is greeted by a less than warm reception by the gruff but ultimately lovable Campbell. After introducing her to caffeinated tree bark and other assorted potions found only in the jungle, the two eventually learn to cope with each other. Together, they have to re-find the correct formula that Campbell lost, that’s right, LOST!

One of the main ingredients in the cancer cure is a certain type of jungle flower that only grows on the top of certain trees that are 100 feet high. Using a complex set of pulleys and rope, the two scientists climb up the trees to collect the flowers in a very exciting scene that breathes life into the film.

Apart from Connery’s performance and Jerry Goldsmith’s score, Medicine Man doesn’t have much to offer other than beautiful scenery and Connery’s ultra hip pony tail. People going to see a jungle adventure film will be disappointed, as those wishing for a science thriller will be disappointed also. It’s more like an eco-drama with a sprinkling of native musical numbers. There was nudity in practically every scene involving the natives, but the film still received a PG-13 rating. This just goes to prove the ratings board’s unwritten rule that nudity involving dark skinned natives in a tropical climate DOES NOT COUNT.

Yet, beneath the uneven plot of Medicine Man lies a powerful question: What if those life-rich rain forests we are destroying each year contain one of a kind curative plants and herbs? Apart from all the oxygen we are losing from the deforestation, we may be destroying all the magic in those rapidly receding areas. Unfortunately, Medicine Man does not contain any magic of its own.

Final Analysis

by Jodi Schultz

A tense psychological and sensual thriller set in San Francisco, Final Analysis pinpoints the professional knowledge and experience of a prominent psychiatrist against two mysterious and sickly troubled sisters.

Isaac Barr (Richard Gere), a man of confidence and professional expertise, fully in control of his world; Heather Evans, (Kim Basinger), a woman of intelligence and stunning beauty who enters his life and inevitably alters his destiny; Diana Baylor, (Uma Thurman), a troubled girl whose “disturbed dreams” lead to a dangerous mystery; together they create a fantastic nip into the perverted and brilliantly demented minds of Banister and Gere to create an enigma which Gere has to desperately figure out before his life comes crashing down.

Final Analysis is a thriller which includes a cat and mouse game between the characters. Throughout the film, nothing is what it appears to be. Things constantly change for Isaac Barr (Richard Gere), a man of confidence and professional expertise, fully in control of his world; Heather Evans, (Kim Basinger), his brutal husband, was as brilliant as he was in Star 80. Eric was able to play a tough guy without making him a cliche. Although he’s very scary in the movie, you can also understand why Heather stays with him. Eric is a very persuasive actor.

The cinematography and grasp of symbolism in Final Analysis made the movie even more terrifying. A horrific display of dreams correlating with reality that shatters lives made me quiver with fright. Although, I wish the relationship between Heather and Isaac was developed more, I nevertheless enjoyed their intellectual and sexual bondage...bonding.

See this movie you could grab on to now and cuddle later.

Medicine Man needs therapy

by Mark Loughlin

If you’re like me, you’ll go and see almost any movie that Sean Connery is in. His record is extraordinary. For the last five years, he has been in some of the highest quality films on screen such as: Indiana Jones and the Last Crusade, The Untouchables and The Hunt for Red October. Sure once in a while, a Highlander or The Presidio, but, usually Connery is a safe bet.

Unfortunately, Medicine Man, while showing a lot of promise, never quite delivers the satisfaction that it should. Connery plays Dr. Robert Campbell, a reclusive research scientist, working in the rainforest who has apparently found the cure for cancer. When his boss, Dr. Craze (Lorraine Bracco) comes to check on his progress, he is greeted by a less than warm reception by the gruff but ultimately lovable Campbell. After introducing her to caffeinated tree bark and other assorted potions found only in the jungle, the two eventually learn to cope with each other. Together, they have to re-find the correct formula that Campbell lost, that’s right, LOST!

One of the main ingredients in the cancer cure is a certain type of jungle flower that only grows on the top of certain trees that are 100 feet high. Using a complex set of pulleys and rope, the two scientists climb up the trees to collect the flowers in a very exciting sequence that breathes life into the film.

Apart from Connery’s performance and Jerry Goldsmith’s score, Medicine Man doesn’t have much to offer other than beautiful scenery and Connery’s ultra hip pony tail. People going to see a jungle adventure film will be disappointed, as those wishing for a science thriller will be disappointed also. It’s more like an eco-drama with a sprinkling of native musical numbers. There was nudity in practically every scene involving the natives, but the film still received a PG-13 rating. This just goes to prove the ratings board’s unwritten rule that nudity involving dark skinned natives in a tropical climate DOES NOT COUNT.

Yet, beneath the uneven plot of Medicine Man lies a powerful question: What if those life-rich rain forests we are destroying each year contain one of a kind curative plants and herbs? Apart from all the oxygen we are losing from the deforestation, we may be destroying all the magic in those rapidly receding areas. Unfortunately, Medicine Man does not contain any magic of its own.
HELP WANTED

- Spring & Summer Internships Available - Wanted: part time, spring intern needed ASAP for "Fashion Illustrator/Designer" and "Research Assistant" (Little Falls). Communication, design, PR, & Metro major wanted for many part-time internships throughout New Jersey during fall, spring or summer months. Interview? Fax or mail your resume & cover letter to: Intern Placement Service, PO Box 1283, Maplewood, NJ 07040. Fax: (201)763-4818.

- Babysitter needed for 2 boys in my Upper Montclair home. Occasional afternoons and evenings. Must be available Friday afternoons. Please phone 559-9800 after 8:30 pm.

- Child care for 2 1/2 year old boy in our Montclair home. Occasional afternoons and evenings. Please phone 509-1980 after 8:30 PM.

- Montclair home. Occasional afternoons and evenings. Please phone 509-1980 after 8:30 PM.

- Babysitter needed for 2 boys in my Upper Montclair home. Occasional afternoons and evenings. Must be available Friday afternoons. Please phone 559-9800 after 8:30 pm.

- Child care for 2 1/2 year old boy in our Montclair home. Occasional afternoons and evenings. Please phone 509-1980 after 8:30 PM.

ATTENTION

- Call 746-2933.

- "Fashion Designer needs part time help at least three mornings a week in Verona. No experience necessary. Call evenings 837-4576."

- Desperately seeking any & all students interested in sharing letters, photos (no polaroids), and friendship with me. I'm a s/w, 31 years old & seeking a partner for 47.8 years. All responses with S.A.S.E.'s & B. For my reference. Please phone 509-1980 after 8:30 PM.

- Same extra $$$ with a dynamic rapidly growing international marketing company. I'll teach you & finance industry interests you, give us a call at: (201) 607-6896. No experience necessary.

- Need money for your organization? Call the Alumni Office and let me tell you how we can help you. To find out more about participating in Phonathon (and making money for your organization), please call ext. 4141 and ask Lisa Bogart. P.S. Dates for this year's Phonathon are March 2-5 and March 9-12, 1992."

- MONTREAL: Spring Super Saver Weekends. $99.00 per person includes taxes. Price includes: Round trip transportation via temperament control luxury motor coach; 2 night hotel deluxe accommodations at the Comfort Inn Suites in the heart of downtown. (Absolutely the best located hotel in Montreal); Free admission to Club Metropolis, the most famous night club in North America; 5 complimentary dinners at the World Famous Peep Pub. Includes all taxes. Campus departure available. Special Bonus: Make reservations by February, your room will be upgraded to a suite and breakfast is on us! Call RELLES ARBLE TOURS, 35 Broadway, Route 1, Lyndhurst, NJ 07076, (201)998-9300 or 992-0940. Departs every weekend. Price does not include $5 security fee.

- National Organization for Women Meeting, 4pm, room 419 in the Student Center. Come help organize our campus chapter, learn about activities for women's history month (3/8/92) and get involved in the pro-choice march in Washington (4/5/92)...."We Won't Go Back!"

- Roommates wanted: Looking for a professional male or female to share 4 bedroom townhouse. House in Verona. $350.00 a month, heat and hot water included. Split utility bills. Call 996-1261.

- Air Hitch 212-864-2000. A FLASH. ***

FOR SALE

- Student Violin with case and bow $95. Call 201-966-2978.

- $100. Student Violin with case and bow $95. Call 201-966-2978.

- Appetite needs $$$. So, when I was like 15 I had this comic book collection right, and I really don't have much use for it now. And you know money's tight and it wouldn't kill me to sell it. Donations accepted as well, just so I don't have to sell my body. 746-9673.

FOR SALE: 1989 Honda Civic DX, 19,000 miles. Asking $6500 (negotiable). Must Sell! 893-5945 (Leave message)

FOR RENT

- Wanted: part time, spring intern needed ASAP for "Fashion Illustrator/Designer" and "Research Assistant" (Little Falls). Communication, design, PR, & Metro major wanted for many part-time internships throughout New Jersey during fall, spring or summer months. Interview? Fax or mail your resume & cover letter to: Intern Placement Service, PO Box 1283, Maplewood, NJ 07040. Fax: (201)763-4818.

- Babysitter needed for 2 boys in my Upper Montclair home. Occasional afternoons and evenings. Must be available Friday afternoons. Please phone 559-9800 after 8:30 pm.

- Child care for 2 1/2 year old boy in our Montclair home. Occasional afternoons and evenings. Please phone 509-1980 after 8:30 PM.

- Montclair home. Occasional afternoons and evenings. Please phone 509-1980 after 8:30 PM.

ATTENTION

- Call 746-2933.

- "Fashion Designer needs part time help at least three mornings a week in Verona. No experience necessary. Call evenings 837-4576."
PERSONALS

-To Lesly, my pain, A Happy Valentine’s Day. Love you, Michael!

-Billy, Happy Valentine’s Day. I’m glad we were still together. Love Always, Michelle

-Gino (AXP) Trichomoniasis II. The Saga Continues...

-Kathleen (Iota) Looking forward to Friday. Love, Frankie Dukes (AXP)

- Shar Shar, Happy Valentines Day - Noelle!! Here’s to a great time on Fri. Love your big sister

- Star Shar, Happy Valentines Day - No Lady and the Tramp? Luv, Bri Bri

- But Star Shar, There’s nothing on T.V. that I want to watch. Bri Bri

- Elizabeth: I love your boyfriend!!! from "I’m too sexy"

- Elizabeth, Happy Valentines Day (babe) Don’t forget our bet!! Chris

- G-Blu, Stop ducking me in Volleyball, you know what I mean... Fuster

- Melodie (Iota) Happy Birthday little! We’ll celebrate your 8-B-day on the 4th.

- Dawn - This weekend starts and so does state of oblivion - We will have a blast! Love you El

- MSC SKI TEAM - It’s been a great season. Let’s make our last race the best. Start getting psyched for regionals. Tanya

- Q. Why do girls throw beer at people? A. They don’t know who they are - NOT!

- Vicki & Susan: We’re too SEXY for this school - Love ya, Nettie!

- JCOV - FQ mean anything to you??

- Jenni (SDT) Don’t worry guys are scum. Love Jani (SDT)

- Tom D. (DChi) I had a blast Sat. Night, it was definitely a “high” light of my week. Love, you know who

- AIX 57 more days... Luv Your cute chains!

- Hey Russ! Beware, that’s my little

-Gale, Happy Valentine’s day honey! I LOVE YOU! Love Always, Beth

- George, I’m looking forward to Cotillion. And... Happy Valentine’s Day! Love, Christy

- Muggy, Don’t forget that you owe the Hot Haw girl and that very tall roommate of ours 2 cases of beer. Yeoydefinitely need to start drinking in the superbowl!! Love ya much - 89

- This shout out is dedicated to the men of Kappa Alphas Psi Inc. Congratulations on the new “soul sounds”. 1969 TM

- Sister Christian - You are so hot! Please call me. I love ya! A fellow High Buck.

- Dawn, Hey, Buck. You’re the best! I’ll help you through it if you help me! I love ya! Love a member of the back room

- Chuck: You’re the best, too bad You’re so ugly! Only kidding. Happy Valentine’s Day. These have been the best two months. Love, Michelle

- Kat (SDT) You’re the best! I love you. Your little Jani (SDT)

- Rob (DChi) I’m really glad we were talking again. I really missed you! Love me (SDT)

- Good luck to the Zeta Class of Sigma Delta Tau. Love the sister

-TKE Final rush party, Thursday, Feb. 13. Meet at revolving doors at 9pm.

- Mary (Freeman RA) Do you scream "Recycle" when you come? Concerned residents

- Parice; Friday will be awesome. Love me

- Kelli (Sigma) CD’s and DJ’s are out tonight. Janet

- Susan (SDT) My knight is looking for me with a friend for you. Love your little little

- Dynastar: Blow me off one more time and you’re going to get fooled!! Decemstarr

- Joe (AXP) #90 - You’re a good friend. Love Suzie

- JJ - Can we switch from peanut butter & jelly on Sunday to pizza? It’s up to you - I don’t want to ruin your schedule!! Love Suzie

- To my “oodles” man: Can’t wait to see you in a tux! Cotillions gonna be great! Love Ya, your geek

- Crash, I love walking with you! Thanks for holding my hand. You’re the best! Zippy

- Skeeter, You’re doing a great job as Sec. but... RWAC

-RWAC: Rebel without a cause.

-Sue - Wood she or Wouldn’t she? That is the question... MT

-MTB - Them Xi Rules, RW

-Geno (AXP) You are so sexy!!!. But no man in the world...OK. Guess who? 2/14/92 maybe?

-Only 8 more shopping days left for the Tone & U.B. weekend.

-Lynn, Well basically, you’re all a bunch of d-ks. But than what you like about us.

-Bleck

-To all of my Iota sisters - Cotillion is going to be so awesome with all of you. Congrats - fire alive and final five. Love Gee

-Sharon (Sigma) We do make a good team. Thanks for everything! Your co-chair

-Carm (AIX) thanks for the big dia, I love you anyway, #128

-AXP - Better late than never. We had a great time!!! Sigma

-Cosmic Charlie Brown out - Awesome job. Nanee

-Beta Nu & Beta Xi: Cotillion is our night to shine! Let’s make it awesome. Zippy

-Smiley, Happy Valentine’s Day to the #1 lover and best friend, even though, you always think that you’re not my one and only - you are.

- Hey seven of spades (AXP) Thanks for the fun.

- Rob, Happy valentine’s day. Love Always, Maria

- Stacey - Good luck Friday. It’s going to be a must. Love Laura

- Alpha Iota Chi - Never forget - our possibilities are endless. I love you all very much!! 899

- Gina & Carol (Iota) I love my family sooo much, you guys are the BEST! I can’t wait to hang out more. Love Christine (Iota)

- The more we learn about men, the more we like our dogs.

- Elidabit - Thanks for always caring!!! I love you, your little

- Sal (AXP) It’s time to just forget our troubles and spend some quality time together, starting with cotillion!! How could we go wrong?

- Theta Xi - Too sexy for our socks. MT

- Mallory, I couldn’t ask for more in a best friend. I love you, BIMBO! Ariel

- MSC Frey Bran, Grow up or get out! Learn how to be men - so maybe I could date one.

- Anessa, Kim & Sham, “Oh what a night” last Thurs. was. Looking forward tonight. Love Gee

- Janet (Sigma) You deserve the best now & always. That’s why you have me. I love you, Lil’ Abner

- SDT, I can’t wait till Friday. We rule, We are family. Love Kim

- George (AXP) Happy Beltane 23rd Birthday. Love AXP

- To the Eta class (DPHIE) You’re all awesome and I love you all. Sisterhood if great. We made it. Love Heather

- Jenn H., Two’s company, there’s definitely a crowd, especially in a Blanton Hall bed. Trish

- Gold (DPHIE) Pledge Congratulations and good luck. I knew you’d do a great job. Love your big

- Chris, Elysha & Jen - Than’s for being honest. Love Rebecca

- Andrew - I love you more and more each day. Forever, Babe

- Aline, your personal has magically been shortened due to the fact that I’m trying to line up this last damn personal.
Calvin and Hobbes

by Bill Watterson

Shoe

by Jeff MacNelly

Life in the Bowl

by Christian Rogers

About you supposed to be doing homework that. I quit doing homework when homework is bad for my self esteem.

Calvin: It seems the answer is I don't know, anyway. I can't even unanswer the question.

Hobbes: The Montclairon/Thursday, February 13, 1992

It's time we started doing homework. I don't need to learn things to live. Why I live the way I am.

My teacher says I need to do homework now. I didn't send the message to Mom.

I don't know enough to make a difference. I live the way I am.

You must be doing a lot of homework this time.

I don't have to be doing anything. I'm not planning. I'm just thinking.

What do you think I'm doing?

I'm thinking what I'm doing.

You think you're doing something else.

Yes, I'm thinking something else.

That's what I'm thinking.

You think I'm thinking something else.

I'm thinking something else.

Are you talking to me?

Yes, I'm talking to you.

My name is Jeff MacNelly.

The good news is that your policy is less about violence and more about filling more areas to identify the good, bad, and ugly.

I see and you're in the corner.

And that's the comics tradition.

You can change your life, by simply crossing a bowl.

Confusfish

© 1992
Mother Goose and Grimm
by Mike Peters

ACROSS
1. Mahal
4. Title of respect (abbr.)
7. Grosho's trademark
12. College in Brooklyn (abbr.)
14. Miss Bryant
15. Month
16. City in Oklahoma
17. Commenced
18. Bring up
20. Making mechanical
22. Green mineral
24. Scrooge, for short
25. As a goose
28. Smell strongly
30. Change the attitudes of
32. Miss Adams
33. Suffix for usher
35. Arrest
36. Rhineland refusal
37. —— spumante
38. Dirt analyses (2 wds.)
39. Apiary dwellers
40. —— one (golf aces)
41. Skeletal
42. Big shot
44. Over and over
52. More's mate
53. Pertaining to birds
54. Debauchee
56. High IQ society
57. Nothing

DOWN
1. Wigwam
2. Lend
3. Half of movie team (2 wds.)
4. Type of school (abbr.)
5. —— impasse
6. Called up
7. Sharp projection
8. Engage in combat (C wds.)
9. Changes chairs
10. Impasse
11. Large beer (glass)
12. Played a better game of basketball
13. City in New Jersey
14. Japanese War
15. Required little effort (3 wds.)
16. Chippie
17. German numbers
18. Changes chairs
19.掀翻其它车子
20. Ex-pitcher Tiant
21. Kennel sound
22. Expressive
23. Nothing
24. Newspaper
25. Professional
26. Ex-pitcher Tiant
27. Gooselike
28. Anaheim athlete
29. Parapsychologist's field
30. Slangy food
31. Beer container
32. Pink wine
33. Type of whiskey
34. Miss Adams
35. Scheme
36. Nelson's mate
37. Suffix for usher
38. Suffix for usher
39. Suffix for usher
40. Suffix for usher
41. Conmen
42. Fasten down
43. Make a speech
44. Vereen and Casey
45. Hindu deity
46. Hindu deity
47. Hindu deity
48. Hindu deity
49. Hindu deity
50. Ex-pitcher Tiant
51. Kennel sound

Answers to Last Week's Puzzler

Look for answers to this week's puzzler in next week's Montclarion.
Permanent Part-time Package Handlers

Our tuition reimbursement package is one of the most important packages UPS delivers.

United Parcel Service knows how difficult it is these days to get through school, academically and financially. While we can't help you get better grades, we can help you by offering one of the most generous tuition reimbursement packages around.

By working 3-5 hours a day, 5 days a week on selected shifts, you can be eligible for educational loans of up to $25,000 a year and tuition reimbursement of up to $2,000 a semester. You’ll also start at $8 an hour, be able to pick a schedule that works around your classes, get paid holidays and vacations, receive company benefits and be eligible for promotions.

UPS also knows that free time is important. As a part-time package handler, you’ll get weekends off! That’s plenty of time to study or recharge.

No wonder we say UPS delivers more than a great job...UPS Delivers Education.

To learn more about this great opportunity, please visit the Student Center on Wednesday, February 19th from 11am to 5pm. Or, apply in person during our regular interview hours at one of the locations listed below.

UPS Secaucus
493 County Ave.
Mon.-Thurs., 9am-11am & 4pm-8pm
Friday, 9am-11am & 6pm-8pm

UPS Saddle Brook
280 Midland Ave.
Tues. & Thurs., 2pm-4pm

Equal Opportunity Employer

---

Tuesday and Thursday Night is Montclair State

COLLEGE NIGHT
9pm – 12am
Admission: $5.50
w/College ID: 4.50
Skate Rental: 1.50

Music by Robert Jackson from The Roxy – NYC

---

Student Escort Service

This service is being sponsored by the Student Government Association & the Residence Hall Association

---

Why waste your time complaining when you can do something about it?

Join us Tuesday, Feb. 18th - 3:00 pm RM 112
Student Center OR 8:30 pm Blanton Hall Atrium

---

The Montclarion
Thursday, February 13, 1992
Iron Mike behind Iron Bars, finally

The bell sounded and the most unlikely of opponents was standing with her arm raised in victory. DING! DING! DING! DING! In a stunning upset! Scoring a win by knockout! Miss Black America Contestant! A beautiful 18-year-old girl, who had the whole world in her corner, did something only one other person had done: knock out Mike Tyson. On Feb. 10, 1990, underdog James "Buster" Douglas took the title away from the former heavyweight champ with a barrage of rights. Exactly two years later, the pit bull from Brooklyn was once again floored by devastating rights, but this time they were the rights of a courageous girl. On Monday, after about nine hours of deliberations, 12 gutty jurors found Tyson guilty of rape and deviate criminal conduct in connection with the alleged attack of the Miss Black America Contestant. Sentencing will be March 6.

I doubt Iron Mike will be behind Iron Bars for too long, but the verdict gives hope that big-name media icons will not go unscathed because of their money or so-called power.

When the verdict was announced, Tyson and promoter Don King were said to have been left expressionless and speechless. To see these two ignorant mouths, who spew nothing but nonsensical, unintelligible crap at every opportunity, silenced makes the decision more gratifying.

I don't want to take anything away from the victim because she and her family went through hell. I'm just glad that these two sorry excuses for sportsmen, who have done so much to disgrace boxing already, are finally on the receiving end of a knockout blow.

When Tyson began his professional career, he had a cast-iron jaw and an incredible hunger to win. This led many boxing experts to believe he would be one of the greatest. It also helped him through hell. I'm just glad that these two ignorant mouths, who spew nothing but nonsensical, unintelligible crap at every opportunity, silenced makes the decision more gratifying.

Just because Tyson has incredible strength doesn't mean he can grab a girl, spread her legs, force penetration and say goodbye when he's done. And the list goes on.

This is where I have the biggest problem. Doctors claim that Tyson is a manic-depressive and he suffers mood swings. This is a bunch of crap! What, are we stupid?! Look at everything he has done. I'm no doctor, but I don't think Tyson is a manic-depressive. I think he is a sick man who should be banned from boxing, treated for whatever he has and punished for the crimes he has committed.

I know it's wrong to convict him on the basis of track record, but he is a dangerous man and a disgrace to the world of sports. Justice must finally be served.

A lot of people will jump on the "racism" bandwagon, saying, "Tyson lost because he's black." Look at William Kennedy Smith. He was arraigned on a rape charge. Hey, there were two African-Americans involved in the Tyson hearing. One of them was going to lose.

I also know a lot of people are saying the victim knew what she was in for, but no means NO! Just because Tyson has incredible strength doesn't mean he can grab a girl, spread her legs, force penetration and say goodbye when he's done. It was time for someone to stand up to him.

After the closing arguments, Prosecutor J. Gregory Garrison said to the victim:

"The fight's over for you, so just loosen up...We kicked his ass."

This was an ass-kicking that was definitely long overdue.

Calling the Shots

If anniversaries mean anything to you, Mike Tyson was convicted for rape Feb. 10, 1991 and lost his title on the same day in 1990 and he married Robin Givens Feb. 9, 1988. I can't wait until 1994.

Another ironic anniversary will be March 6, when Tyson is sentenced. Seven years earlier he fought and won his first professional match against Hector Mercedes.

A number of years back, a boxer named Jimmy Scott was allowed to box in prison. Tyson won't get the same liberty. Is Mike Tyson a sick man? He once performed oral sex on a girl who had been menstruating. You make the call.

I still say Mike should be put in the same room as the man with the biggest meat freezer since Sam the Butcher on The Brady Bunch, Jeffrey Dahmer. Now there's a match made in heaven.

MSC SportsTalk

For all the latest sports info listen to 101.5 FM, WMSC. Call in and talk to the campus experts, Wednesdays from 7:00-8:00 p.m.

Call 893-4256

Hear ye!! Hear ye!!

The Sports King requests that you mail in any opinions on anything in sports to:

The Montclarion
c/o Sports Department
Student Center Annex, Rm. 113
Montclair State College
Upper Montclair, NJ 07043

or drop them off in The Montclarion office. Letters: 100 words or less, must be typewritten. Please include your name, major and telephone number. Letters may be edited for brevity. Deadline for letters will be Monday at 12:00 noon.
Indoor track and field gears up for National Invitational

by Mark A. Belnay

Since MSC's track and field athletes laced up their shoes in the final days of summer, they have broken 10 records. If this is any indication of things to come, MSC's chances of excelling at the division III Nationals at the University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point on March 13-15 appear to be favorable.

On the men's side, junior Dwayne Stevens and freshman Neal Ruiz have accounted for six of the broken records. Ruiz, who was chosen as College Male Athlete of the Week by The Star-Ledge, holds the individual MSC record for the 55-meter dash, has broken the school's long jump record on five separate occasions, and is considered one of the top jumpers among N.J.'s colleges and universities. Ruiz and fellow team members also set school records in the 400 and the long jump which were held in December.

Stevens, a junior transfer, set individual school marks in the 200 and the 400, with times of 22.10 and 48.86 seconds. Stevens is also considered one of the premier 400-meter relayers in the country and along with the talented Ruiz, holds the school record in the 800.

Both Ruiz and Stevens are headed for the National Invitational at the end of the season, as Ruiz qualified in the 55-meter dash and the long jump, while Stevens qualified for the 400.

With 12 members headed to the National Invitations, the team is loaded with talent. Sophomore Mike Scott set the school record for the high jump with a mark of 6'6", also considered one of the premiere 400-man Mike Scott set the school record in the 1600-meter relay.

Not to be outdone, the women's team of Denise Drakes, Carline Roberts, Sherine Titus, and Sharetta Nation has qualified for the National Invitational in the 800-meter relay, to round out MSC's 12 member squad.

Head coach John Blanton says Sharon Linda, a sophomore from Marin Luther High School in Brooklyn, has "really come around" and is proud of her accomplishments this season. Linda will be traveling to the Duke. On Saturday's meets to compete in the 400 in an impressive 58.85 second run.

Drakes, Linda, newcomer Kristen Linder, daughter of Cliffon, and Sharetta Titus, running for Carla Roberts, all combined, ran an incredible 4:00:95 in the 1600-meter relay to qualify for the National Invitations. Also qualifying for the trip to Wisconsin are the Don Germany, who will be competing in the 55-meter dash.

Coach Blanton and his staff would like to thank the entire team for their patience and hard work throughout the season and the belief in one another that has led to the results that have been attained this season. When asked what he thinks the future holds for this group of talented athletes, he replied, "We have a great team that will only get better." Finally, when asked what he feels will happen when the team travels to the National Invitations, Blanton replied, "Hopefully we'll go to the Nationals and hit the Tramp Lotto!"

Women's swim team is defeated in Metros

"Yes, recruiting should be easier this off-season," said McLaughlin. "We're very optimistic about the future of our women's program and hopefully the individuals we're going to acquire after will feel the same way."

In last weekend's tourney, the same girls who have done the job for the Red Hawks all season continued to do the same. Carrie Spender (Diving) and Maritana Kirvacia (Breaststroke) placed strong in their respective events, while freshmen Rebecca Golden and Sara Dobol got their first taste of championship competition. Taking that into consideration, it's easy to see why McLaughlin and his staff are so optimistic about the future of the women's program.

"Our girls have improved a great deal from last year, and they should be even better in 1992," said McLaughlin. "I doubt anyone if anyone can afford not to take them seriously next year."

The men's swim team will be in Long Island for the Metros on Feb. 21-23. Having just completed a 9-2 season, they should be even better in 1992," said McLaughlin. "I doubt anyone can afford not to take them seriously next year."

Basketball team drops to 6-13

by Keith A. Idec

The Red Hawks basketball team, coming off their biggest win of the season over Ramapo last Tuesday, dropped a 57-54 decision to NJAC rival William Paterson College in Wayne on Saturday afternoon.

On the heels of a two-game winning streak, the Red Hawks may have come into the contest playing a little too relaxed. However, MSC assistant coach Dave Walsh disagreed.

"We're not good enough to take anyone for granted," Walsh said. "We came out very loose and by about 10 points the whole game until the end. We also didn't shoot well." The Red Hawks shot 36% from the field, and 55% from the free-throw line.

Senior guard Tommie Patterson did most of the damage for the Pioneers, scoring 16 points and grabbing eight rebounds. Junior forward Lee Mullins led the way for MSC, popping in 18 points. Sophomore guard Golden and Sara Dobol got their first taste of championship competition. Taking that into consideration, it's easy to see why McLaughlin and his staff are so optimistic about the future of the women's program.

"Our girls have improved a great deal from last year, and they should be even better in 1992," said McLaughlin. "I doubt anyone can afford not to take them seriously next year."

Pioneers' path to 70-54 victory

"We have to start playing a smarter game," De Fazio said. "Our girls know what it takes to win and now's the time to start showing that."

Stacy Stace scored 13 points and Kim Barnes added nine assists, but the big story for the Red Hawks was the play of center Shane Terhune. Schafer, who's been hampered by a leg injury the past few weeks, scored 19 points and pulled down six rebounds en route to her finest performance since December.

Hawk Notes... Three of the Hawks final four games will come against teams with a combined 4-23 record this season, which should increase MSC's chances of securing a playoff birth.

WPC hands women's basketball 70-59 defeat

by Jim Klossek

With MSC trailing 47-36 with 15:05 left in last Saturday's game at William Paterson College, it would have been appropriate for a Red Hawk fan to exclaim, "We've got them right where we want them.”

After all, MSC had acquired a reputation last year as being a second half team. When Jeanine Mulhaly hit a jumper with 4:44 left in the game to give the Red Hawks their lead at 55-54, everything seemed to be going according to plan. Except for one thing—some body forgot to tell the Pioneers to play dead. Instead WPC came alive to down MSC 70-59 in an important New Jersey Athletic Conference contest.

The Red Hawks (9-5) are now tied with Trenton State for third place in the NJAC with the Pioneers and Xanad University only a game behind at 8-5. The fact that only two of those four teams will make the playoffs has MSCH head coach Alice De Fazio hoping her team will step into high gear soon.

"I thought we looked better today than we have in the last couple games," De Fazio said, "but we still need to start putting together two solid halves of basketball if we expect to make the playoffs."