Former employee of Wood Food Service sues for discrimination

by Monica Stilpanov

The Montclarion has learned that a sex discrimination lawsuit was filed against Wood Food Service, Inc., MSC’s current food contractor, by a former employee in December 1991.

According to a copy of the complaint filed at the Superior Court of Essex County, Elizabeth A. Rosenberger of Randolph, N.J. is taking legal action “to correct unlawful employment practices on the basis of sex discrimination and relief for breach of contract between her and Wood Food Service.”

She is seeking an undisclosed amount for compensatory and punitive damages as well as damages for humiliation, pain, suffering, emotional distress and loss of reputation.

Shawn Coleman, food service director, was allegedly Rosenberger’s immediate supervisor during her employment at MSC. He had no comment on the case.

Rosenberger has been advised by her attorney not to comment on the case.

Wood’s contract expires in June, and a bid has been submitted to renew its three-year contract with the college. Dr. Barry G. Cohen, assistant vice president for finance and chairperson of the group evaluating the bids, said he was not aware of any lawsuits that have been filed against Wood.

Vice President for Administration and Finance Thomas H. Auch declined to comment on the situation, and said that the group evaluating the bids would make any recommendations to him.

Auch added that he was unsure of when the college would announce its decision on the contract.

According to the complaint, Rosenberger said she began working at MSC as a dietician/marketing manager in August of 1989. Wood Food Service lists the position as Assistant Food Director at Freeman Hall. The position was not titled as such until September 1990 when Rosenberger allegedly was assigned to Operation Manager of Freeman Hall cafeteria, but Wood denies that this was the title of her position.

Wood still claims the position was entitled Assistant Food Director at Freeman Hall.

The heart of the complaint began when Rosenberger took a maternity leave from Feb. 11, 1991 to April 11, 1991. During this time, Brian Luciano performed Rosenberger’s function at Freeman Hall. According to the filed complaint, approximately a week before she was to return to work, Rosenberger was allegedly told that “MSC no longer needed a dietician, so there would be no job for (her) when she returned from maternity leave.” Wood denies this allegation.

Carnival shut down first night due to riot

by Maureen McGowan

A riot broke out Thursday night around 11:30 at the Spring Week Carnival, resulting in the arrest of two local high school students and another juvenile and causing the administration to cancel the Carnival on the first night.

Campus Police said that there were several fights which escalated into a riot situation, and they are still investigating reports of incidents from that night. Members of 11 area police units, including Wayne, Little Falls, Montclair, Verona, Cedar Grove, Clifton and Bergen County, responded to the scene in lot 28 to assist Campus Police in dispersing the crowd and stopping the fighting before any further incidents could occur.

Campus Police said that there had been reports of small fights all evening, but the last fight seemed to be the result of an incident involving high school students from the local area that occurred near the WMSC-FM booth where people were “moshing.”

Derek Pinkham, a WMSC-FM disc jockey who was at the booth most of the night, said he did not see anything unusual, just people moshing. But according to the Campus Police report, one high school student slammed into another high school student and a fight ensued. The crowd grew and the fight moved into the parking lot.

Student and former student arrested and charged with possession of marijuana

by Maureen McGowan

A student and former student of MSC were arrested early last Wednesday morning and charged with possession of marijuana, said Clifton Police.

Egan Lewis, 20, and Ernest Harris, 21, were arrested at 12:05 a.m. and charged with possession of marijuana, using a Controlled Dangerous Substance (CDS) and resisting arrest.

Lt. Carl Zoecklien, commander of the Clifton Narcotics Tactical Unit, said the arresting officers allegedly observed three males standing on the corner of Valley Road and Robin Hood Road in Clifton smoking marijuana. When an officer approached the males and identified himself, the three fled on foot.

Editorial:

Susco speaks on Carnival, page 20

Complaint of Greek bashing, page 18

Arts:

Ziggy Marley interview, page 27

A Chorus Line, page 23
News Briefs

OPEN SESSIONS

The process of scheduling campus meetings for finalists for the position of Vice President for Student Development and Campus Life has begun. All members of the campus community are urged to attend open sessions with the following three individuals:

DR. RUPERT JEMMOTT-Monday, May 4 (formerly acting Vice President for Student Affairs at New York City Technical College, Brooklyn, NY.)

DR. PATRICIA HARWOOD-Tuesday, May 5 (currently Dean of Westminster College at the University of Richmond, Virginia)

DR. BRENTON STEELE-Friday, May 15 (currently Dean of Student Life at the University of New Orleans, Louisiana)

All open sessions will be held from 3:45 to 4:15 p.m. in the Student Center, room 419. Resumes for each candidate are available for review in the office of the Vice President for Student Development and Campus Life, College Hall, room 217. Call Lisa Greene at x4213 for further information.

RESERVATIONS

Deadline May 1-Fifth annual All-Sports Banquet, 6:30 p.m., May 7, Student Center ballrooms. Special guest: alumnus Sam Mills, linebacker, New Orleans Saints. Jackets required for men. Tickets: $15 per person. Mail check to Sport Banquet, Athletics.

CONFERENCE

CERA Conference. (Center for Economic Research on Africa) "Privation Strategies in Africa." 9 a.m.-3 p.m., Kops Lounge. Conference is free to faculty, staff and students. The cost of the lunch is $15. Call x7299.

International

Afghan rebels declared an Islamic government on Tuesday. The change in power came 14 years and a day since the Marxist coup that ignited the civil war. The war may not be over as several different rebel groups seem determined to vie for power. This was evidenced by several clashes between rebel groups as the communist government was laid to rest in a ceremony in Kabul.

Several Mexican government officials and four Pemex Oil officials were charged with negligent homicide and several other offenses stemming from last week’s sewer explosion in Guadalajara, Mexico. Five miles of street were taken out by the blast and 1,470 people were injured. The officials face charges because they failed to fix a leak in a corroded pipe and to evacuate citizens, after civilians complained about a strong odor of gas emanating from sewer lines.

Serbia and Monte Negro proclaimed the "Federal Republic of Macedonia" on Tuesday. Less than half the size of the old six member federation, it hoped to receive all the benefits the previous Republic had in international relations. 10,000 people have died in the last 10 months since Serbia invaded its neighboring republic. The new Yugoslavia Macedonia declared its own independence from Yugoslavia. It was recognized by China but has not been recognized by most nations because Greece fears it’s Northern Macedonina region may be coveted by the new state.

A recent report showed that as much as 90% of the forest in Madagascar may have been destroyed. This is six percent higher than previously thought. A red ring can be seen around the island from space. This is due to mud carried to the oceans after it is washed away from deforested land. The concern is that most of the species found on the island are not found anywhere else in the world.

National

Several earthquakes struck California between Wednesday and Sunday. The first quake, a 6.5 on the Richter Scale, hit Southern California on Wednesday. Two quakes, one on Saturday, a 6.9, and a 6.5 on Sunday, hit coastal North California. Several strong aftershocks were also reported. Fifty-one million dollars in damage was caused by the northern quakes alone.

President Bush and Bill Clinton won convincing victories in the primaries in Pennsylvania on Tuesday. Clinton took 54% of the vote to Brown’s 28%. Paul Tsongas gained 13% of the votes despite leaving the race. President Bush got 76% of the vote to Buchanan’s 24% showing a slight drop in the protest vote. 25% of those polled said they would vote for Perot in the fall. Bill Clinton also got a boost when 64% of the people asked an exit poll if he had the integrity to be president said yes.

National Security Advisor Brent Scowcroft is being scrutinized for his support for farm credits to Iraq. Scowcroft had a consulting relationship with the Atlanta bank funnelling funds to Iraq before he joined the government. He strongly supported $1 billion in farm credits to Iraq. The bank is suspected of conspiring to give $5 billion in unreported loans to Baghdad. Two million dollars of that money is believed to have been used to arm Iraq before its August 1990 invasion of Kuwait. Bank administrator, Chris Drogoul, faces trial on June 2 on charges of conspiracy and fraud.

Last night, riots broke out in Los Angeles when four police officers charged with assaulting L.A. motorists. Rodney King were found not guilty. Rioters looted, set fires, attacked cops with rocks, bottles, and molotov cocktails, and burned cars. The National Guard was sent in for reinforcements.

Regional

Five New Jersey Representatives said they would resist any attempt by House Democrat leaders to impeach a subpoena of the House Banking records. Gallo, Zimmer, Smith, Saxton, and Andrews do not comply with the Justice Department investigation because it will further tarnish the House. They also said that a cover-up could decimate the House’s reputation in the public eye. Representatives of both parties are among this group which favors allowing 39 minutes of records from the former house bank to be disclosed.

Nine people were injured, one seriously, when a car careened off the street into the window of Sam Ash Music on 160 W. 48 St. in Manhattan. The accident is the second in Manhattan in less than a week. Last Thursday, a 74-year-old woman, Stella Maychick, killed five people and injured 26 others when she hit a crowd in Washington Square Park. No charges were filed against her.

Representative Marge Roukema of New Jersey urged to review a case where a West Milford company was denied a contract in favor of giving it to an Israeli subsidized one and was able to make an unrealistically low bid. Kemp Industries said that the $205,000 the government would save by taking the Israeli firm’s bid would be lost by the unemployment compensation that would have to be given for the 50 or so jobs that could be lost by the failure of Kemp to secure the contract.

Officials of the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection and Energy plan to see if they can stem the recent epidemic of rabies among racoons in New Jersey. The oral vaccine will be put in storm drains, roadways, and food baits. Tests will show if they can gain the same success that occurred in parts of Europe and the U.S. where the vaccine has been used since 1987.

CORRECTIONS

It is the policy of The Montclarion to correct all errors. If you spot an error, please call us at 893-5169.

WEATHER

SGA passes bill limiting the amount professors can charge for photocopies

by Michael Cappadona

A bill has been passed by the SGA to give professors alternatives to charging students for photocopied material. In the classroom, Meldred Pellot, SGA legis­lator.

Students have complained about professors charging as much as $30 for photocopy fees and selling books out of the back seats of their cars, said Pellot.

The bill, sponsored unanimously by the SGA, suggested several alternatives to charging students for copies, such as putting material on reserve at the library. It also stated that students do not have to pay more than $5 per class for copies. If charged more than this amount, students have the right not to pay and action can be taken against that professor, said Pellot.

A letter issued by Provost and Vice President of Academic Affairs Richard Lynde states that professors may have unknowingly been abusing copyright laws. One of the laws states that "no charge shall be made to the student beyond the actual cost of the photocopying."

Students had complained to the SGA that Dr. Byung Min of the management department allegedly sold books to students out of the back seat of his car, Pellot said.

"Management Club members used the books as a fund-raiser," Min said. "I never touched the money; the students came to me for the books."

Min added that the club sold the book cheaper than the book store, and that the money would be used for an award given to management students with a GPA of 3.0 or higher. The Management Club could not be reached for comment.

One student, who chose to remain nameless, accused Dr. Chaun-Yu Chen, professor of finance and quantitative methods, of charging students $40 for a book sold out of the back seat of his car.

"The book was nothing more than a few photocopies, published and authored by Dr. Chen," the student said. "The book was absolutely useless." Dr. Chen could not be reached for comment.

SGA may pass bill to reimburse its Executive Board

by George Olschewski

SGA President Anthony Susco has authored a bill that would allow the SGA Executive Board to receive a reimbursement for up to 12 credits during their term of office. The money for the credits would come from the SGA's unappropriated surplus fund if the bill is passed by the Senate.

In order to prevent an abuse of this reimbursement, the Executive Board members would only be paid for six credits at a time in either the summer or fall semester, not even six credits in the spring semester. The Board members must complete the course with at least a 2.0 to receive a reimbursement. The money will not be given to the Board members if any of the conditions are not met.

The total amount that the Board members will be paid each semester is $494.40, which is $82.40 per credit. The total for both semesters is $998.80 per Board member and a total of $3,952.80 for all four members.

Susco said that according to the bill, the Executive Board's duties make it difficult to maintain a job, which might limit candidate's ability to hold a position. This bill would make it easier for the Executive Board members to meet financial needs and other responsibilities.

Several Class One organization members are not in favor of the bill because they feel that Class One executive boards put in as much time as that of the SGA.

Sam Rock, cinema chairperson of the College Life Union Board (CLUB), feels that while the SGA deserves compensation, the executive board of all Class One's should be entitled to compensation as well.

Walter Kuleck, CLUB's president, believes that a question should be asked if students have the money to reimburse the Executive Board's tuition should have been placed on the referendum ballot during the SGA election.

Class One President Joe Seroka likes the bill, which would give professors alternatives to charging students.

Please turn to BILL on page 7

Greek Council holds debate for candidates of Executive Board

by Tara Mulligan

Greek Council Executive Board elections will be held on May 5. The candidates had a debate in the Student Center cafeteria last Thursday. Running for president are Jennifer Fender, from Sigma Tau Nu, Dave Cozzi, from Theta Xi, and Rich Adams, from Phi Beta Sigma. Running for vice president are Susan Herbst, from Alpha Iota Chi, and Arnaldo Cruz, from Alpha Chi Rho. Valedanghning, from Alpha Iota Chi, is running unopposed for secretary. Running for treasurer are Jack Tinnari, from Delta Kappa Psi, and Seth Guzman, from Theta Xi.

One of the main concerns of the Greek Council in Greek unity. Dave Cozzi felt a need to form more Greek unity.

"Cozzi is president of Theta Xi and has held five executive board positions including two terms as president in his fraternity. To obtain unity, Cozzi plans on having close contact with each organization. He also said that social functions are "a very, very big part of unity."

Cozzi would like to see more school money for Greeks and a whole. "This week, I say, "we are at each other's throats. The administration will not take us seriously when we are not taken seriously among ourselves."

Cozzi would like to see the administration on the side of the Greeks, instead of "kicking around that potenti­lly that it (Greek unity) is going to happen," he said, adding, that he is willing to take the first step.

Jennifer Fender, from Sigma Tau Nu, said that the problem with Greek unity is "no one is willing to talk to others." She would like to see an executive round table from each house. Greek Council subhouses are IPC (Interfraternity Council), ISC (Inter sorority Council), Panhel (Panhellenic Council), UGC (United Greek Council) and the Professional House. Fender suggested that more diverse topics be discussed at Greek Council and that the Council should hold seminars. This would "get the administration's respect."

"Without us, this campus would be completely bogus," Fender said. "Greeks are the most active members of the student body." She added that she stresses unity more than anything else, and would like to have immediate communi­cation with the new Student Affairs administrator.

Rich Adams, from Phi Beta Sigma, was unable to attend the Greek Debate because the date was changed from Thursday to Thursday. Adams said he felt a "sense of foul play" over the situation because Carl Zietz, the organizer of the debate and the liaison between the Greek Council and the SGA, is in Theta Xi fraternity and Cozzi is in Theta Xi. Adams said he would like to see the liaison between the Greek Council and the SGA to be someone independent from Greek organizations in order to prevent biases. He also felt this would allow a non-Greek to report the progress of Greeks and the Greek Council.

"It will be a long hard process before there is any type of Greek unity," he said. Adams said he would like to see more suggestions such as UGC, ISC and Panhell in order to establish unity.

Adams said he would also like to form a grievance committee to settle Greek problems within the Greek com­munity. The grievance committee, if passed, would also issue fines for any violation of protocol, attendance or lack of respect to other organizations. This would "deter prob­lems."

Adams proposes to have at least two organizations tell the Greek Council about themselves at each meeting to instill more community service projects. He would like to see worthwhile service projects in the immediate area three times each semester with one person from each organization in attendance.

As a whole, Adams said there is too much segregation and too diverse a mix between organizations. "We need to plant the seed before the tree will grow," he said.

Susan Herbst from Alpha Iota Chi is running for the position of vice president. Herbst is the current SGA vice president and strongly stated that the Greek Council should be separate from the SGA. "The SGA is an advisory and should only advise Greeks when necessary," she said.

Herbst plans on re-instituting a "Go Greek" campaign which would encourage freshmen to pledge.

"On our own and by ourselves, we can do twice as well," said Herbst.

Arnaldo Cruz also did not attend the debate but had comments about Greek unity and other topics discussed.

He said there is a time for competition and a time to work together. "To become unified, Greeks need to show their potential and gain responsibility," he said. The Greek Council was not concerned with the proposal and the executive board passed the bill allowing part-time students on Dean's List

by Dawn Romano

A motion to revise the Dean's List policy to include part-time students has been filed with the College Senate and subsequently withdrawn to be rephrased, said Richard Lynde, vice-president of Academic Affairs.

The motion was tabled at the last meet­ing because its provisions were not clear. It stated that part-time students must be declared and have a minimum of 12 credits, the required GPA, and carried at least six credits in each of two continuous sem­esters.

Traditionally, the Dean's List encour­aged and recognized academic honors only to full-time students who have a GPA of 3.50 or better and take a minimum of 12 credits per semester.

Dean of Student Affairs Edward Mar­tin said that to the best of his knowledge, the Dean's List was not an option for part­time students. "The Dean's List grows out of academic traditions that deal with full­time students. Carrying one or two courses may be difficult, but may not be as chal­lenging as carrying four or five," he said.

Members of the Senate had difficulty reaching a mutual interpretation of the motion as well. They wanted to see the motion written so that the Dean's List is not in any way "watered down," said James Cotter, the only student voting member.

Lynde argued. "The language needs to be tidied up a bit, and also needs to be cleared with the Registrar," he said.

College Senate member Dr. Sue Weston said that the action was prompted by a letter from John T. Adamo, Jr., a part-time second career student and was drafted by Dr. Alicia Savage.

She said that the motion is presently being rewritten and will be resubmitted to the Senate for a vote in early May.

Cotter said that if the motion is passed, it will only serve as a recommendation to the administration and the final decision will then be made by Lynde.

Please turn to DEBATE on page 5
Once you've finished with your textbooks, why pack 'em around? Research shows you'll probably never open them again. Cash them in while they still have market value.

SELL YOUR BOOKS
We buy all books with current market value
The College Store

May 11 - 21 Monday - Thursday
8:30 am - 7:30 pm
Friday (May 15) Saturday (May 16)
8:30 am - 4:00 pm 9:00 am - 1:00 pm

ID REQUIRED

THETA XI NATIONAL FRATERNITY

Congratulations

to the NEWEST initiated

THETA XI members!

WELCOME INTO

THE BONDS!

Theta Xi is a "Too sexy to be a colony" class IV of the SGA
DEBATE from page 3

Council should be able to solve problems such as the drive-in incident, he added.

Cruz said that the Greek Council should not have full autonomy from the SGA, but should eventually be allowed to charter their own organizations. “The Greek Council can be a valuable asset to the SGA if motivated and used properly,” he said. The administration and Greek Council “need to show concern for one another,” he said, adding that he would like to see more administration invited to Greek Council meetings.

Jack Tinari, of Delta Kappa Psi, is the present treasurer of the Greek Council. A popular issue at the debate was the suspension of $3 dues that Greeks pay to the Greek Council for one year. Tinari said he does not want to suspend the dues, but wants to start more programs. He is presently organizing a Greek Card, similar to the SGA card but for Greeks only. Tinari is also proposing a Copy Card for Greeks as well, which would allow Greeks free use of a copy machine for personal use only.

“A strong executive is needed next year to resolve past problems, such as unity and weak committees,” he said, adding that he would like to reduce costs in the long run.

Seth Gusman, of Theta Xi, has been a Greek Council representative for two semesters and is also running for treasurer. Gusman agrees that the dues are too high, but should be maintained in order to implement programming.

If the $3 were taken away, “Greek Council would not be able to put any ideas into action,” he said.

Running unopposed for secretary is Elizabeth Valandingham, from Alpha Iota Chi, who is presently a Greek Council representative. “Greek Council is fine now but could be better,” she said, and agreed that more unity is needed among the Greeks. “If there is a good executive board present, there would be a lot less confusion.”

Valandingham added that the executive board needs responsible people. “Greeks should look at who they are voting for,” she said.

LAWSUIT from page 1

Rosenberger protested the elimination of her position on the basis that the defendants were discriminating against her because of her sex, pregnancy and higher salary than the man who replaced her. Luciano was earning $13,152 a year less.

In April 1991, she was offered and refused the opportunity to return to her old position at a salary loss of $8,152 a year. Rosenberger was out of work from April 1991 until June 1991 before accepting a position with another employer. According to the complaint, at this time, Wood offered her another management position, but she had already accepted another job and was not willing to work for Wood at a salary lower than she was earning prior to her going on maternity leave.
CLUB

WOULD LIKE TO EXTEND ITS THANKS TO ALL WHO HELPED OUT AT THIS YEAR'S CARNIVAL....

Andrea Nemeth
Walter Kulick
Tony Susco
Rob Tranter
Dan "Dano" Olawski
Gina Vasel
Michele Morgan
Chaz Juszczak
Sam Rock
Alison Murphy
Corinne Agins
Scott Santos
Margaret Marszat

Ken Wolpin
Chuck Feiner
Dean Harris
Dean Martin
Phil Calitre
Sergeant Cell
and Campus Police
Marsha Young
Suzie Herbst
Larry, Rick and the maintenance staff
Mike Bomhoff
Father Art

and anyone else we might have overlooked.
Your support was greatly appreciated.

and last, but not least, we wouldn't want to forget to thank the "participants" in the riot for ruining a tradition at MSC which undoubtedly could have been a success.
English article:
MSC celebrates the career of Dean Cohen

by Jorge L. Cruz-Moctezuma

A dinner will be held at the Wayne Manor to honor Philip S. Cohen, dean of the School of Humanities and Social Sciences, on his retirement on May 6.

Cohen has served MSC for 40 years and his deep sense of commitment has served as an inspiration to many. His leadership has enriched the academic level of the School of Humanities and Social Sciences and the entire college in general.

During his tenure here, Cohen has witnessed and been part of some great moments in the history of MSC. His retirement will leave a void, which in some ways can never be filled. "I am going to take with me a lot of memories, experiences, friendships and a feeling of accomplishment," Cohen said.

Cohen is leaving behind a great legacy of projects and programs which will assist future generations of MSC students. He maintains that the future of MSC will have a more diverse student population and a more diverse faculty. "The curriculum is going to reflect this great diversity. I am leaving a lot of programs which will help faculty members to prepare students for the technological and social changes that are going to take place in the 21st century," Cohen said.

"He has not fully defined his future plans; he wants to travel and may write a book related to humanities, the social programs and the changes students are going to face in the next 10 to 20 years, but he feels regretful about his retirement. "It is hard to retire from a place where you have worked for 40 years. On the other hand, it is going to be nice not to have all those responsibilities," he said.

"The Latin-American community at MSC has always had a special respect and affection for him. In addition, Cohen has always demonstrated concern for minority groups. He said that he has two reasons for this special interest. "First, I work with them as colleagues, and second, our minority student body is increasing. If we do not have a program for them and if we do not create a favorable environment for them, we are not encouraging minorities to come to the college. If we do not do that, we are not fulfilling our responsibilities. That is why we have a Weekend College Program," Cohen said.

"Through these words, his commitment has become apparent. He added, "If we do not accomplish our objectives, we would be failing in our recruiting program for minority groups."

All those who have had the honor of knowing Cohen will treasure forever memories of a great person who has enthusiastically dedicated his life to the development of the educational system of MSC.

"It is hard to retire from a place where you have worked for 40 years. On the other hand, it is going to be nice not to have all those responsibilities," he said. "I am going to take with me a lot of memories, experiences, friendships and a feeling of accomplishment," Cohen said.

Cohen is leaving behind a great legacy of projects and programs which will assist future generations of MSC students. He maintains that the future of MSC will have a more diverse student population and a more diverse faculty. "The curriculum is going to reflect this great diversity. I am leaving a lot of programs which will help faculty members to prepare students for the technological and social changes that are going to take place in the 21st century," Cohen said.

"He has not fully defined his future plans; he wants to travel and may write a book related to humanities, the social programs and the changes students are going to face in the next 10 to 20 years, but he feels regretful about his retirement. "It is hard to retire from a place where you have worked for 40 years. On the other hand, it is going to be nice not to have all those responsibilities," he said.

"The Latin-American community at MSC has always had a special respect and affection for him. In addition, Cohen has always demonstrated concern for minority groups. He said that he has two reasons for this special interest. "First, I work with them as colleagues, and second, our minority student body is increasing. If we do not have a program for them and if we do not create a favorable environment for them, we are not encouraging minorities to come to the college. If we do not do that, we are not fulfilling our responsibilities. That is why we have a Weekend College Program," Cohen said.

"Through these words, his commitment has become apparent. He added, "If we do not accomplish our objectives, we would be failing in our recruiting program for minority groups."

All those who have had the honor of knowing Cohen will treasure forever memories of a great person who has enthusiastically dedicated his life to the development of the educational system of MSC.

Spanish article:
La comunidad de MSC celebra la exitosa carrera del Decano Philip S. Cohen

by Jorge L. Cruz-Moctezuma

El primero de mayo del año en curso, la comunidad de MSC efectuará una cena- baile, la cual se llevará a cabo en el "Wayne Manor," y tiene como objetivo, celebrar la exitosa carrera del Dr. Philip S. Cohen, Decano del departamento de Humanidades y Ciencias Sociales. En reconocimiento del cumplimiento de su retiro como miembro facultativo.

El Decano Philip Cohen, ha brindado sus servicios en MSC durante 40 años, en los cuales ha demostrado gran dedicación y nobleza. Su experiencia y conocimientos han sido de gran ayuda para mejorar el nivel académico del departamento que tiene a su cargo, así como el del colegio en general.

No cabe duda que al retirarse deja un gran vacío en la escuela, el cual será difícil de llenar, ya que con él se van grandes momentos en la historia de MSC, como el "Wayne Manor," y tiene como objetivo, celebrar la exitosa carrera del Decano Philip S. Cohen, deja tras de sí, un recuerdo de su tiempo en el colegio, trabajo con ellos como colegas, en lo profesional, y como se mencionó anteriormente, no se puede olvidar su dedicación al desarrollo del sistema educativo de MSC.

Y si no hacemos esto, no estamos cumpliendo con nuestras responsabilidades. Es por esto que tenemos el programa del Colegio de "Fin de Semana." Como podemos apreciar por sus palabras, el Decano Cohen es una persona que merece el respeto de todo el mundo ya que cuenta con una gran capacidad y sobre todo con mucha experiencia. "Si no cumpliéramos con nuestros objetivos, estaríamos fallando en nuestro programa de reeducación," finalizó.

Todo aquel que ha conocido al Decano Philip Cohen, conservará para siempre algo de la grandeza de una persona que ha dedicado su vida con gran entusiasmo, al desarrollo del sistema educativo de MSC.

- PRIMES Conference: Constance Kamii, keynote speaker, on "Reform in Primary Mathematics: The Harmfulness of Algorithms." Admission: $5 in advance; $10 at the door. 8:30 a.m.-3 p.m. Student Center. Contact 893-7012.

5-2 SATURDAY - Diagnostic LSAT. Sponsored by Phi Alpha Delta. Free. 11 a.m.-3 p.m. Sign up outside legal studies office.

5-4 MONDAY - CERA Conference: "Privatization Strategies in Africa." Free to faculty, staff and students. Luncheon cost is $15. 9 a.m.-3 p.m. Russ Hall, Kops Lounge.

4-30 THURSDAY through 5-2 SATURDAY - A Chorus Line. Tickets: $7.50 standard; $6 faculty, staff, alumni and senior citizens; $3.50 students. 8 p.m. Matinee showing at 2 p.m. on 5-1. Also at 8 p.m. on 5-7 through 5-9 and at 2 p.m. on 5-10. Memorial Auditorium.

5-4 MONDAY through 5-6 WEDNESDAY - Dance collage: Student-, faculty- and guest-choreographed works. Tickets: $4 general; $3 students and senior citizens. 8 p.m. Morehead Dance Studio.

4-30 THURSDAY - Joint recital: Sigma Alpha Iota and Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia. Free. 8 p.m. McEachern Recital Hall.

5-1 FRIDAY - Collegium Musicum: Joquin's "Missa Pange Lingua" and other works directed by Roland Hutchinson. Preview of 5-3 performance at 8 p.m. Free. Noon. McEachern Recital Hall.

5-5 TUESDAY - Montclair State Jazz Ensemble directed by Chris White. Free. 8 p.m. McEachern Recital Hall.

5-6 WEDNESDAY - Piano concert by students. Free. Noon. Student Center ballrooms.

- Montclair State Percussion Ensemble directed by Peter Griffin. Free. 8 p.m. McEachern Recital Hall.

5-3 SUNDAY - The Annual Outdoor Jam: Ziggy Marley and the Melody Makers with opening acts The McEarly Brothers and Eye & I. Free. 2 p.m. Amphitheatre. Sponsored by Class One Concerts.

TUESDAY: Spanish club meeting. Noon. Student Center 402. Tae Kwon Do team meeting. 7:30-9:00 p.m. Panzer Gym wrestling room.

WEDNESDAY: Union for Lesbian, Gay and Bisexual Concerns meeting. 4-5:30 p.m. Calcia Fine Arts Building 209. Montclarion general membership meeting. 6 p.m. Student Center Annex 113. Tae Kwon Do team meeting. See above.

THURSDAY: Chi Alpha Christian Fellowship meeting. 7:30 p.m. Student Center 411. Spanish club meeting. 10 a.m. See above.

SUNDAY: Mass. 11 a.m. Russ Hall, Kops Lounge. 7 p.m. Newman Center, Dioguardi Room.
The Montclarion News

Four Walls is coming May 6

Quarterly is looking for students to act as:
- Editor-in-chief
- Literary Editor
- Art Editor
- Treasurer
- Secretary
- General members

For info, come by and bug us in room 113A Student Center Annex

Better watch out!
The Montclarion, huh?

English Majors and Journalism Minors:

Okay, we know the plan. Most fall into two categories, right? For the purist English Majors, the plan consists of writing the critically acclaimed, best-selling novel that James Joyce would have written had he lived a few more years. For the hardboiled journalist, the plan is to write a Pulitzer Prize winning essay on a heart gripping story that has global implications. Of course there are others; you may want to follow the New York Mets around the country and play poker in typical Oscar Madison style or review the opening night of a landmark Broadway extravaganza. No matter. The details of your personal agenda are not of primary importance. What is important is the time between your graduation and your life of outrageous fame and opulent luxury.

Yes, my friends, you'll need a job.

Now, as you know (and your parents have no doubt reminded you), an English degree does not necessarily ensure a job. What you really need (dramatic pause) is experience. Something concrete to shore up your resume beside the old standby: "...I'm a people person."

That's where The Montclarion comes in.

Picture, if you will, waiting in the lobby of your prospective employer along with your peers. They are attired in the latest business fashions (long pointy collars, abstract floral ties, pressed silk blouses) carrying around their graduation present leather attache cases purely for aesthetic purposes. You, on the other hand, sit there equally stylish (more so we'd say), but with your attache case brimming with professional-esque clippings graced with your byline from an award-winning college newspaper. Heh, heh.

Hell, you'll make enough loot to pay back your student loans and afford a telephone in your sparsely decorated apartment.

Plenty of positions are open to meet your individual taste and style. Among them are news reporters, feature writers, sports writers, editorial columnists and arts writers.

Photography students:

You probably started taking pictures with Dad's Kodak 110, right? Then, maybe in the eighth grade or so, your Aunt Florence bought you one of those Polaroid Instamatic bad boys. Pictures you snapped of Fluffy your cat, your little brother being potty-trained and your left thumb as a fledgling artist are, today, family heirlooms, right? Close even?

Oh well, at least we know you love photography. And where better to get a great deal of experience than right here on MSC's very own beloved student-run newspaper? Even if you don't know everything about taking pictures, we've got a really friendly staff here at The Montclarion that would love to help you sharpen your skills.

By the time you graduate, you'll have a portfolio that would make even the most seasoned photographer green with jealousy. Your photos will be seen by over 10,000 people every week and if you're really good, we can even put your name in huge banner headlines each and every week (just kidding about the headline part).
What's in it for me?

Marketing Majors:

You, my friends, are in for quite a shock when you leave the lovely tree-lined campus of MSC, never again to return to your Consumer Behavior class. Despite George Bush's claims to the contrary, this country is in a nasty recession. What does that mean to you? Well, the possibility does exist that you may end up delivering pizzas for Domino's after graduation while pretending the spare room over Mom and Dad's garage is your studio apartment in the city. Scary, eh? The job market is a little tight now, and a little resume booster never hurt anyone. But do you really want to take an internship inflating 1-800-FUTON 4 U balloons just to impress your prospective employer? We didn't think so. Read on.

The Montclarion, the most popular college newspaper on the MSC campus, is looking for an Advertising Manager. This is a position with real responsibility. The Ad Manager discusses ad rates with interested parties, oversees the production and placement of ads in The Montclarion, recommends and trains salespeople, supervises and oversees all advertising and graphic employees, and best of all, earns a tidy commission on all off-campus ads. There is also a need for sales representatives. And we give you our word, no helium is involved.

Graphic Design Students:

Walk into The Montclarion's office and feast your eyes. No, to the right, that's just a beat-up old desk over there. That's right, the computer room. No dusty old Commodore 64's here. We have (pretty close to) top-of-the-line Macintosh IIci's. Four of 'em (lovingly named after the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse). And they're chock full of the latest programs. We've got Aldus Pagemaker and Freehand, Adobe Illustrator and Photoshop. Deskpaint? But of course. We've even got Quark XPress (although noone's figured out how to run it yet).

So if you want first-rate experience and a nice hefty portfolio, hurry on in.

 Anyone and everyone is invited to join The Montclarion. Positions are open to all majors. Call us at 893-5169 or stop by at rm.113 of the Student Center Annex. Who do you contact? Just about anyone really. Feel free to leave a message.

To be more specific ask for the following:

News Writers contact Maureen McGowan
Arts Writers contact Joe Seroka
Feature Writers contact Karen Lee Stradford
Photographers contact Dave Cohen
All others contact Kevin Colligan

The Montclarion is a Class One Organization of the SQA
Transforming Lives... National Teacher Day
Tuesday, May 5, 1992

What did Henry Adams, Louisa May Alcott, Dwight D. Eisenhower, and George Sanchez have in common? They each spent a part of their careers transforming lives—through teaching. On Tuesday, May 5, we celebrate National Teacher Day. It's a day for us to say thanks to those special men and women who have touched and transformed our lives and those of our children.

Thank a teacher!
National Teacher Day
May 5, 1992

Compliments of the Curriculum Resource Center
Office of Teacher Education - Chapin Hall

Permanent Part-time Package Handlers

Our tuition reimbursement package is one of the most important packages UPS delivers.

United Parcel Service knows how difficult it is these days to get through school, academically and financially. While we can't help you get better grades, we can help you by offering one of the most generous tuition reimbursement packages around.

By working 3-5 hours a day, 5 days a week on selected shifts, you can be eligible for educational loans of up to $25,000 a year and tuition reimbursement of up to $2,000 a semester. You'll also start at $8 an hour, be able to pick a schedule that works around your classes, get paid holidays and vacations, receive company benefits and be eligible for promotions.

UPS also knows that free time is important. As a part-time package handler, you'll get weekends off! That's plenty of time to study or recharge.

No wonder we say UPS delivers more than a great job...UPS Delivers Education.

To learn more about this great opportunity, please visit the Student Center on Wednesday, May 13th from 11am to 3pm. Or, apply in person during our regular interview hours at one of the locations listed below.

UPS Secaucus
493 County Ave.
Mon.-Fri., 9am-11am
Mon.-Thurs., 4pm-6pm

UPS Saddle Brook
280 Midland Ave.
Tues. & Thurs., 2pm-4pm

Equal Opportunity Employer

The Global Education Center
Office of the President, Montclair State

The Department of Economics and Finance
School of Business, Montclair State

ERAF
Center For Economic Research on Africa
School of Business, Montclair State

present:

Privatization Strategies in Africa

An International Conference with Panel Presentations by:

Paul Ballard, Head
Industry and Energy Division
Africa Technical Department
The World Bank, Washington, D.C.

Magatte Diop, Vice-President
International Financial Group
Central and West Africa
Citibank West Africa, Dakar, Senegal

Ellen Johnson-Sirleaf, Vice-President
Equateur Advisory Services
Equateur Bank
Washington, D.C.

Belhadj Merghoub, Director
Washington Office
African Development Bank
Abidjan, Côte d'Ivoire and Washington, D.C.

Sam E. Omoruyi, Chief Research Officer
Central Bank of Nigeria
Lagos, Nigeria

Keynote Address by:

Charles Konan Banny, Governor General,
West Africa Central Bank (BCEAO), Dakar, Senegal

Registration in Russ Hall
Economics Department, Room 206
Registration Deadline: April 25

Monday, May 4, 1992
Kops Lounge, Russ Hall
9:30 a.m. - 3:00 p.m.

Conference and Luncheon Fee:
$13.00, with Valid Montclair State I.D.
Payment to Montclair State

This advertisement has been sponsored by the Economics Society of Montclair State, a Class II Organization of the S.G.A.
To Clove or not to Clove? That is the question

by Anthony DiPasquale

When Pam and Celeste were freshmen, they would walk down to the Clove Road Apartments on a Saturday night looking for one of the many parties that were always in full effect. The sidewalk in front of the apartments was jammed with merry makers walking from party to party, blowing off steam from a hard week of classes, anxious to meet new people and share in the experience of a college party night.

Now as seniors Pam and Celeste live in Clove, and like the vast majority of MSC residents, they go home on the weekends, turning the once heartland of MSC into a veritable ghost town.

"Clove Road has changed so much since we first came here!" said Celeste Nacasio a senior living in 202c. "It's so dull now I would rather go home and watch my grandmother eat crackers, than hang-out here on the weekends."

This new kinder and gentler Clove Road is what Residence Life has worked to create over the past few years. By revoking the party policy, forbidding anyone from gathering in front of the apartments, and limiting the number of guests allowed inside to double the number of occupants has changed the Clove Road experience forever.

Kevin Rakowsky, assistant director of Residence Life said there is "a new breed of Clove Road residents" that is more academic and more focused. "Clove is much more competitive now," said Rakowsky.

"We've developed a more civil society with a new system of checking all applicants' judicial files before they are allowed to move in. Any student currently on probation will not be allowed in, and the remaining are assigned by a process of points based on class standing."

Mary Valenti who has been processing Clove Road applications for years remembers the time when the waiting list to get into Clove was very long, and the majority of the people who lived there were seniors. Now it is only about 14% seniors, the rest are underclassmen.

"A while back there used to be a big list when we didn't scrutinize, and Clove went a little wild. As the restrictions began to be put in place (1989-1990) some of the people living there noticed the changes and moved off campus. There were a few open spaces that year, but the following year the demand began to increase and this year it is strong again," said Valenti.

Because of the amount of damages the apartments underwent during the party years, and the amount of documentation piled high on his desk after a Thursday party night, the new Clove seeks to strike a balance for students who want an apartment atmosphere, but still want to be a part of the college community, according to Rakowsky.

"Clove Road is still an attractive option to most students, and is a kind of reward. Many students are happy with the new policies at Clove. They can eat, sleep, and study, and the amount of documentation piled high on his desk after a Thursday party night, the

Yes, definitely. I think it's important for students to interact with each other in a non-competitive setting. Social events on campus are important to let students relax and enjoy college. It shouldn't be all work.

Milene Landa
Freshman, undeclared

"We've developed a more civil society with a new system of checking all applicants' judicial files before they are allowed to move in. Any student currently on probation will not be allowed in, and the remaining are assigned by a process of points based on class standing."

Mary Valenti who has been processing Clove Road applications for years remembers the time when the waiting list to get into Clove was very long, and the majority of the people who lived there were seniors. Now it is only about 14% seniors, the rest are underclassmen.

"A while back there used to be a big list when we didn't scrutinize, and Clove went a little wild. As the restrictions began to be put in place (1989-1990) some of the people living there noticed the changes and moved off campus. There were a few open spaces that year, but the following year the demand began to increase and this year it is strong again," said Valenti.

Because of the amount of damages the apartments underwent during the party years, and the amount of documentation piled high on his desk after a Thursday party night, the new Clove seeks to strike a balance for students who want an apartment atmosphere, but still want to be a part of the college community, according to Rakowsky.

"Clove Road is still an attractive option to most students, and is a kind of reward. Many students are happy with the new policies at Clove. They can eat, sleep, and study, and the amount of documentation piled high on his desk after a Thursday party night, the

Yes, definitely. I think it's important for students to interact with each other in a non-competitive setting. Social events on campus are important to let students relax and enjoy college. It shouldn't be all work.

Milene Landa
Freshman, undeclared

"We've developed a more civil society with a new system of checking all applicants' judicial files before they are allowed to move in. Any student currently on probation will not be allowed in, and the remaining are assigned by a process of points based on class standing."

Mary Valenti who has been processing Clove Road applications for years remembers the time when the waiting list to get into Clove was very long, and the majority of the people who lived there were seniors. Now it is only about 14% seniors, the rest are underclassmen.

"A while back there used to be a big list when we didn't scrutinize, and Clove went a little wild. As the restrictions began to be put in place (1989-1990) some of the people living there noticed the changes and moved off campus. There were a few open spaces that year, but the following year the demand began to increase and this year it is strong again," said Valenti.

Because of the amount of damages the apartments underwent during the party years, and the amount of documentation piled high on his desk after a Thursday party night, the new Clove seeks to strike a balance for students who want an apartment atmosphere, but still want to be a part of the college community, according to Rakowsky.

"Clove Road is still an attractive option to most students, and is a kind of reward. Many students are happy with the new policies at Clove. They can eat, sleep, and study, and the amount of documentation piled high on his desk after a Thursday party night, the

Yes, definitely. I think it's important for students to interact with each other in a non-competitive setting. Social events on campus are important to let students relax and enjoy college. It shouldn't be all work.

Milene Landa
Freshman, undeclared

"We've developed a more civil society with a new system of checking all applicants' judicial files before they are allowed to move in. Any student currently on probation will not be allowed in, and the remaining are assigned by a process of points based on class standing."

Mary Valenti who has been processing Clove Road applications for years remembers the time when the waiting list to get into Clove was very long, and the majority of the people who lived there were seniors. Now it is only about 14% seniors, the rest are underclassmen.

"A while back there used to be a big list when we didn't scrutinize, and Clove went a little wild. As the restrictions began to be put in place (1989-1990) some of the people living there noticed the changes and moved off campus. There were a few open spaces that year, but the following year the demand began to increase and this year it is strong again," said Valenti.

Because of the amount of damages the apartments underwent during the party years, and the amount of documentation piled high on his desk after a Thursday party night, the new Clove seeks to strike a balance for students who want an apartment atmosphere, but still want to be a part of the college community, according to Rakowsky.

"Clove Road is still an attractive option to most students, and is a kind of reward. Many students are happy with the new policies at Clove. They can eat, sleep, and study, and the amount of documentation piled high on his desk after a Thursday party night, the

Yes, definitely. I think it's important for students to interact with each other in a non-competitive setting. Social events on campus are important to let students relax and enjoy college. It shouldn't be all work.

Milene Landa
Freshman, undeclared

"We've developed a more civil society with a new system of checking all applicants' judicial files before they are allowed to move in. Any student currently on probation will not be allowed in, and the remaining are assigned by a process of points based on class standing."

Mary Valenti who has been processing Clove Road applications for years remembers the time when the waiting list to get into Clove was very long, and the majority of the people who lived there were seniors. Now it is only about 14% seniors, the rest are underclassmen.

"A while back there used to be a big list when we didn't scrutinize, and Clove went a little wild. As the restrictions began to be put in place (1989-1990) some of the people living there noticed the changes and moved off campus. There were a few open spaces that year, but the following year the demand began to increase and this year it is strong again," said Valenti.

Because of the amount of damages the apartments underwent during the party years, and the amount of documentation piled high on his desk after a Thursday party night, the new Clove seeks to strike a balance for students who want an apartment atmosphere, but still want to be a part of the college community, according to Rakowsky.

"Clove Road is still an attractive option to most students, and is a kind of reward. Many students are happy with the new policies at Clove. They can eat, sleep, and study, and the amount of documentation piled high on his desk after a Thursday party night, the

Yes, definitely. I think it's important for students to interact with each other in a non-competitive setting. Social events on campus are important to let students relax and enjoy college. It shouldn't be all work.

Milene Landa
Freshman, undeclared

"We've developed a more civil society with a new system of checking all applicants' judicial files before they are allowed to move in. Any student currently on probation will not be allowed in, and the remaining are assigned by a process of points based on class standing."

Mary Valenti who has been processing Clove Road applications for years remembers the time when the waiting list to get into Clove was very long, and the majority of the people who lived there were seniors. Now it is only about 14% seniors, the rest are underclassmen.

"A while back there used to be a big list when we didn't scrutinize, and Clove went a little wild. As the restrictions began to be put in place (1989-1990) some of the people living there noticed the changes and moved off campus. There were a few open spaces that year, but the following year the demand began to increase and this year it is strong again," said Valenti.

Because of the amount of damages the apartments underwent during the party years, and the amount of documentation piled high on his desk after a Thursday party night, the new Clove seeks to strike a balance for students who want an apartment atmosphere, but still want to be a part of the college community, according to Rakowsky.

"Clove Road is still an attractive option to most students, and is a kind of reward. Many students are happy with the new policies at Clove. They can eat, sleep, and study, and the amount of documentation piled high on his desk after a Thursday party night, the

Yes, definitely. I think it's important for students to interact with each other in a non-competitive setting. Social events on campus are important to let students relax and enjoy college. It shouldn't be all work.

Milene Landa
Freshman, undeclared
OSAU raises money for Kitabu Library
by Carl G. Chase

Hoping that improved funding will help serve students better, the Organization of Students for African Unity hosted some 50 students in an Open House, Wednesday, April 29.

Kitabu, the 400-book library survives on 75% of OSAU's budget but should be about five percent, staff members said. Kitabu has a proposed budget of $375 for next year or 91% of the proposed total. Kitabu director and MSC junior Mark A. Williams said the additional money is mostly needed to aid students studying or doing research involving Africa or African-American topics.

Julia Montes De Oca, a sophomore and sociology major, said, "The library needs more, newer books." They need to update the collection.

Kitabu, like OSAU, needs a computer to replace the ancient Tandy with twin 10-inch floppy disk drives and at least $1000 worth of new books," said Erika Chapman, OSAU secretary. Williams said he could remember the last time that machine was working. However, the total funding they are proposing for next year is $375.

"We are also increasing other budget lines," said Chapman. She also added by saying that money is tight in general. Most of the books we carry are not available at Sprague Library," Williams said. He also said that students should not travel to far-away libraries to succeed in African-American studies. "We'll go to the next year's classes and find out what books students need," he said.

Poullette D. Caldwell, a junior specializing in consumer affairs, receives a college-work-study income for her work as a Kitabu librarian. She said that she will work for nothing on it, because she likes the people who use it and she learns a lot herself. "I love the books, especially poems by Maya Angelou," she said.

OSAU raises money for Kitabu Library
by Carl G. Chase

Hoping that improved funding will help serve students better, the Organization of Students for African Unity hosted some 50 students in an Open House, Wednesday, April 29.

Kitabu, the 400-book library survives on 75% of OSAU's budget but should be about five percent, staff members said. Kitabu has a proposed budget of $375 for next year or 91% of the proposed total. Kitabu director and MSC junior Mark A. Williams said the additional money is mostly needed to aid students studying or doing research involving Africa or African-American topics.

Julia Montes De Oca, a sophomore and sociology major, said, "The library needs more, newer books." They need to update the collection.

Kitabu, like OSAU, needs a computer to replace the ancient Tandy with twin 10-inch floppy disk drives and at least $1000 worth of new books," said Erika Chapman, OSAU secretary. Williams said he could remember the last time that machine was working. However, the total funding they are proposing for next year is $375.

"We are also increasing other budget lines," said Chapman. She also added by saying that money is tight in general. Most of the books we carry are not available at Sprague Library," Williams said. He also said that students should not travel to far-away libraries to succeed in African-American studies. "We'll go to the next year's classes and find out what books students need," he said.

Poullette D. Caldwell, a junior specializing in consumer affairs, receives a college-work-study income for her work as a Kitabu librarian. She said that she will work for nothing on it, because she likes the people who use it and she learns a lot herself. "I love the books, especially poems by Maya Angelou," she said.

WMSC invaded by Brownies
Girl Scout Troop on a field trip
by Henry Komorowski

Adjunct Professor Henry Komorowski, his wife, Mary, and Theresa Calleja took their third grade Brownie Girl Scout Troop from Bogota on a field trip to MSC on Thursday, April 23.

The prime objective was to see how a real radio station operates. Thanks to the hospitality of Vin Toscano, this was possible. The girls actually got to see Vin and Tony Conception do their show "Vin and Tone's excellent radio show."

Unknowingly, Vin and Henry had set up the visit for the same day the MSC carnival started. You know the feeling when you have two exams the same day? Vin and Tony looked like they were having two exams at the same time!

Incredibly enough, the visit went off without a hitch. Vin and Tony were patience personified as they explained the hundreds of control knobs and slides and the many other technical items they must master to bring out a radio show. Just before the show, the Brownies also met "D.J." Kristen Stephens. Kristen was not aware the visit was going to occur and yet, she reacted to the Brownies like they were visiting, loved, little sisters.

We were amazed at how well and all the radio staff got along with the Brownies. The Brownies also met "Chatty Cathy" (Kathryn Dean). They really liked her, maybe it was because they could talk to her "eye to eye" she was only about a half inch taller than the tallest Brownie.

About the same time, many of the MSC women in the radio station began to recall some of the fun things they did when they were Brownies. One seemed genuinely disappointed that she was not a Brownie when she was a little girl. Then, the conversation shifted to the guys and they admitted that they were Boy Scouts and that they had enjoyed the experience.

After taking a break for pizza, it was back to WMSC to visit Vin and Tony again. There was "good chemistry" between the students of WMSC and the third grade Brownies.

Health educator talks to women of Webster Hall
by Karen Lee Stradford

"Women need to be aware of their bodies," said Beth O'Leary, a health educator and employee at Planned Parenthood Essex County. O'Leary was invited to speak by Zeta Phi Beta Sorority as part of its project entitled "For Women About Women." O'Leary stressed the importance of women having regular check-ups as well as pelvic examinations and welcomed them to come to Planned Parenthood for a visit. She commented on the skillfulness of all the doctors and nurse practitioners.

"I would trust them with my body," O'Leary said. "They're good and certified people, who go to conferences all of the time to get the most up-to-date information."

O'Leary told the women that if they decided to make an appointment, everything would be confidential and they wouldn't be pressured. She attempted to make her audience realize the dangers that could occur when a woman doesn't take care of her body and gave good reasons why check-ups are necessary.

The best time for a woman to start having annual pelvic exams is when she's 18-years-old," she said. "If she's sexually active at a young age, she should have one earlier." She pointed out the symptoms of some problems: severe bad cramps, a change in menstrual cycle, discharge, bleeding between periods. She also mentioned side effects from birth control pills and advised the women to keep track of their periods.

"The better you know your body the better," she said.

Health educator talks to women of Webster Hall
by Karen Lee Stradford

"Women need to be aware of their bodies," said Beth O'Leary, a health educator and employee at Planned Parenthood Essex County. O'Leary was invited to speak by Zeta Phi Beta Sorority as part of its project entitled "For Women About Women." O'Leary stressed the importance of women having regular check-ups as well as pelvic examinations and welcomed them to come to Planned Parenthood for a visit. She commented on the skillfulness of all the doctors and nurse practitioners.

"I would trust them with my body," O'Leary said. "They're good and certified people, who go to conferences all of the time to get the most up-to-date information."

O'Leary told the women that if they decided to make an appointment, everything would be confidential and they wouldn't be pressured. She attempted to make her audience realize the dangers that could occur when a woman doesn't take care of her body and gave good reasons why check-ups are necessary.

The best time for a woman to start having annual pelvic exams is when she's 18-years-old," she said. "If she's sexually active at a young age, she should have one earlier." She pointed out the symptoms of some problems: severe bad cramps, a change in menstrual cycle, discharge, bleeding between periods. She also mentioned side effects from birth control pills and advised the women to keep track of their periods.

"The better you know your body the better," she said.

Health educator talks to women of Webster Hall
by Karen Lee Stradford

"Women need to be aware of their bodies," said Beth O'Leary, a health educator and employee at Planned Parenthood Essex County. O'Leary was invited to speak by Zeta Phi Beta Sorority as part of its project entitled "For Women About Women." O'Leary stressed the importance of women having regular check-ups as well as pelvic examinations and welcomed them to come to Planned Parenthood for a visit. She commented on the skillfulness of all the doctors and nurse practitioners.

"I would trust them with my body," O'Leary said. "They're good and certified people, who go to conferences all of the time to get the most up-to-date information."

O'Leary told the women that if they decided to make an appointment, everything would be confidential and they wouldn't be pressured. She attempted to make her audience realize the dangers that could occur when a woman doesn't take care of her body and gave good reasons why check-ups are necessary.

The best time for a woman to start having annual pelvic exams is when she's 18-years-old," she said. "If she's sexually active at a young age, she should have one earlier." She pointed out the symptoms of some problems: severe bad cramps, a change in menstrual cycle, discharge, bleeding between periods. She also mentioned side effects from birth control pills and advised the women to keep track of their periods.

"The better you know your body the better," she said.
Do you feel it? The sky is falling, the mountains are crumbling, the oceans boil like a pot of tomato soup. One would expect the end of the world to occur in some Biblical vision, caused either by the wrath of God (you know plague, famine, volcanoes, etc.) or by the stupidity of man (nuclear war, chemical contamination, Carson leaving NBC), that sort of thing. But low and behold fellow archaeologists, we are fortunate enough to bear witness to the complete collapse of modern society right here in our own playpen. As our Craftmatic Adjustable Beds of existence teeter precariously over the edge of the abyss, the rumblings of armageddon are shaking our fair institution and history classes will be able to trace the beginning of the end straight to Reid's Retreat of the Relatively Rehabilitated MSC.

Now, signs of the apocalypse aren't what you'd expect them to be. Nothing obvious anyway. No, the signals of the end of the world come in more subtle, but no less acute forms of hysteria and in the most unexpected places. So, let us journey through the events and peculiar places of the past weeks so that we can come to grips with our ultimate and inevitable demise. Heavy, huh?

The Montclarion
inevitable demise. Heavy, huh?

forms of hysteria and in the most unex-world come in more subtle, but no less acute 28 (a.k.a Excuse to get really drunk and sit peculiar places of the past weeks so that we anyway. No, the signals of the end of the end straight to Reid's Retreat of the Relaare shaking our fair institution and historiof the abyss, the rumblings of armageddon NBC), that sort of thing. But low and behold chemical contamination, Carson leaving (you know plague, famine, volcanoes, etc.)
the S.G.A.
 Violence notwithstanding, the events in lot 28 proved that Greeks, like locusts, congegregate in a quasi-anti-harmonic convertion, to be known henceforth as the "Alphabet Plague." The virus strikes young males and females between the ages of 17-23, the main symptom being a complete loss of identity. Victims wander the campus aimlessly, whimpering and drooling, reciting the Greek alphabet while scratching a massive itch in their fingers. There is no known cure, but the plague can be treated by tilting the victims head such that he/she can see the Greek letter emblazoned on their sweatshirt. Its an endearing thing to watch as the victims eyes bug out of their skull. "I know who I am! HA, HA, HAA! My name is DOTT!" The euphoria is short lived, however, the jumping up and down of the victim causes him/her to forget to look at their sweatshirt, thus immediately losing their identity again. It's a vicious cycle.

So the week continues and the signs of the apocalypse become far more frightening. Case in point; one time SGA legislator and part time Nosstradamus caliper prophet, Sam Rock, made the startling prediction in last weeks Montclarion that the Carnival (of sorts) would be sabotaged by throngs of angry obbering youth. But even the Rock could not have predicted the melee and massacre that ensued. As the thugs of the underworld were trying desperately to gouge each others bellybuttons apart, the pens of the spectacle were trying as desperately to make sense of it all. Here is actual text of actual conversation, translated from the unintelligible, presented to you, the fair and endearing reader, from that fateful night...

"FIGHT!!! Cool!! Its a FIGHT!!"
"WHERE?? I can't see who or what OOF!!"
"WOW!! I think that mob of psychos just killed John. Cool! Look at his guts just pulse like that!!"
"HEY YOU GUYS!! Derek just lit himself on fire while he was being busted for smoking dope in the parking lot! This is GREAT!!"
"I heard the National Guard is here and they just called in the Navy."
"Anyone want a hot dog before they knock the books over? I'm hungry."
"I JUST SAW CHER! She was helping Dean Martin direct traffic!!"
 And so on. Confusion and chaos are the cornerstones of armageddon. The next day, Joe was talking about the infamous "Guy with the Gun." The Reader's Digest version of hisgroove was that if somebody had a gun , why didn't they use it? "Guns aren't for show," he said "Man if you have a gun, shoot somebody, anybody." Oh, this is lovely. And to top the whole couple of weeks before the apocalypse off, the honorable and omnipresent President Anthony Vito Susco, the man solely responsible for changing the way the students at Montclair perceive both rollerblading and masturbation, decided to finally gradu­ate after six years and leave the rest of us floundering in puddles of pitifulness.

So before the end of the world, this columnist would like to mate at least one more time. There's this terribly enchanting creature that glides across the Student Center Quad from Calcia every now and again, with sort of purplish curly black hair and a China doll's face. So, I hope she can be persuaded into a bomb shelter and then hell bring the apocalypse! Farewell, but not goodbye.
Montclair State

Senior Night

MSC students receive special recognition

by Jody Bardin

Twenty-seven MSC students were nominated into the 1992 Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges on Monday, April 27. The awards reception took place in the Student Center formal dining room.

The 27 students that received a certificate and will have a short biography placed into this year's edition are as follows: Jody Bardin, Vivian Botero, Christine Catania, Erika Chapman, Vicki Clark, Michael Cossa, Doreen A. Florek, Janice Hennings, Susan M. Herbst, Herbert K. Kemp, Dawn Lang, Theresa A. Lyons, Christine McNamara, Glen Charles Motola, Andrea Nemeth, Linda J. Nevadomski, Kevin Joseph O'Connor, Yvette M. Ochwat, Evelyn Ojeda, Parag B. Pandya, Demetra Peterson, Karl A. Pisarczyk, Mohammad S. Rahman, Elaine T. Russo and Erika Marie Weinman.

Several of the students brought guests, including parents and friends and they were treated to music by flutists Donny Dworkowski and Nancy Mentch. Also, some refreshments were served.

James Harris, associate dean of students, was the moderator for the award reception. He was joined by Dr. Edward Martin, dean of students who delivered the greeting and Dr. Domenica Desiderioscioli, acting vice-president for student affairs, who delivered the welcome. Dr. Richard Lynde provost and vice president for academic affairs presented the awards.

Harris said, "We (the office of student activities) were delighted to host students, parents and guests who were there and to recognize the outstanding achievement of students in a variety of areas to include scholarship, community service, campus involvement and leadership."

We think that the Who's Who award will indicate to people both at the college and outside the college that this select group of students are future leaders of this society.

The criteria for acceptance into Who's Who includes a 2.7 GPA and 90 completed credits, involvement in extracurricular activities, leadership in these activities, community service, service to the campus and potential for future success.

Students who received this award were either self-nominated or nominated by a faculty member. After the applications were received, the selection committee picked the students who they felt were the most qualified to represent MSC.

Dr. Desiderioscioli congratulated the honorees because it is a special award. She said that it takes a special person to commit time to the community as well as hold down a job and keep up a high GPA. She felt that it was well attended and well organized.
We will be meeting at 11 a.m. in front of the information booth for Delta Xi Delta's circus benefit for the Gay Men's Health Crisis center. Donation of $220 to raise money for AIDS research.

Hi, Alpha Iota will be having bagel sales every Monday from 8:30 to 9 p.m. in the music building. Come out for bagels, we're teaming up!

The Greek Vine is back. Two personals for 25 cents. Give personals to Janet or any other person at the Sigma Delta Phi table.

Buy a Greek Week t-shirt from any sister in Delta Phi Epsilon for $10.

Going Greek will be in the Student Center lobby on 4/30 from 11-3 p.m. Lambda Theta Phi and Delta Kappa Psi will be donating blood and donating the money to AIDS research.

Alpha Iota Chi - 50/50 for community service (Clove Road kids). There will be a trip to the Bronx Zoo until 5/1.*

Alpha Iota Chi will be having a bagel sale from 8-3 p.m. on 5/6 in Partridge Hall.

Sigma Sigma Sigma fundraiser! Help Father Art get out of jail. $1000 bail going to hospitalized children. Father Art arrested on 5/5 at 11 a.m.

Zeta Beta Tau- T-shirt air brushing (letters). See Brian Charyn for orders.

Lambda Them Phi will have an AIDS workshop. Speakers will work with HIV patients.

Theta Kappa Chi is selling personalized magnets.

Delta Chi is selling the REAL Spring Week T-shirt for $11. See a Delta Chi sister.

Delta Xi Delta is selling raffles for $1 for two Medieval fairs tickets. Find our table in the Student Center.

Delm Phi will be having a sisterhood Banquet at 6:30-8 p.m. and ZBT will be going on a ride to Rider College. 5/1

Theta Kappa Chi is having its masquerade ball.

5/1 Delta Xi Delta's sisterhood Banquet at Stanton's

Lambda Theta Phi: will be holding a joint mixer at 8 p.m.

Alex Mu Alpha and Sigma Alpha Iota will be holding a joint mixer at NJIT.

Phi Sigma Sigma will be having a mixer with Alpha Phi, Delta at NJIT.

 Lambda Sigma Upsilon and Mu Sigma Upsilon's fashion show.

Delta Xi Delta will be having a mixer with its big brothers, Kappa Xi Kappa at NJIT.

Theta Kappa Chi is holding its senior banquet at Stanton's.

Delta Xi Delta's get-together with ISC 6:30-8 p.m.

Zeta Beta Tau Nu will be having their 2nd annual semi-formal.

Sigma Delta Phi will be having a mixer with its big brothers, Kappa Xi Kappa at NJIT.

Lambda Phi Omega will be having its 30th anniversary banquet.

Theta Xi will be receiving its national charter and all members will be initiated as brothers of the Gamma Mu chapter.

AXP and AIX will be having a mega mixer at NJIT.

Sigma Delta Phi is holding its senior banquet at Stanton's.

5/11 Delta Xi Delta's get-together with ISC 6:30-8 p.m.

Zeta Phi Beta will be having a program called Fighting Illiteracy at 7:30 p.m. in the Student Center, Room 419.

Zeta Phi Beta will be having a program called Fighting Illiteracy at 7:30 p.m. in the Student Center, Room 419.

Zeta Phi Beta will be having a program called Fighting Illiteracy at 7:30 p.m. in the Student Center, Room 419.

Zeta Phi Beta will be having a program called Fighting Illiteracy at 7:30 p.m. in the Student Center, Room 419.

Compiled by Christine D'Amato
EDITORIAL

Better luck next year

Last Thursday evening, the 1992 Carnival opened. Last Thursday evening, the 1992 Carnival closed.

The Carnival is an annual rite of spring at MSC. It is easily the most anticipated campus event of the year. People of all kinds with different backgrounds and interests, who normally walk past each other without so much as a nod, gather into a parking lot crammed with mobile amusement rides, silly games and greasy food. They come to celebrate with friends, to look forward to the summer and look back over the past year.

For many, this celebration is an initiation into college life. They have been at MSC for almost a year. Their friendships are young and fragile. This Carnival is their first.

For many, this celebration is the last of its kind. Graduation looms ahead. But the flashing bulbs and squealing rides, the swirling movement and chatter of the crowd momentarily deaden their concern. They hold fast, hold tight, to their friends and the life they’ve come to know. They cling to a youthful freedom they will never know again.

This is what the Carnival brings to MSC. In the span of a few days, the best of life at MSC comes alive. We forget the long registration lines and lousy food. We remember what is important. We remember the good things. We remember the times we spent with our friends, the time we spent in love, the time we spent together. Like our time here, the Carnival is short. Like our time here, the Carnival will stay with us after our friends have scattered. It will stay with us after it has gone.

The students have lost their Carnival this year. It wasn’t taken away by a nasty college administration or the blind indifference of state budget cuts. It was taken from us, by us.

We will remember our Carnival of 1992. We will recall planning to spend our weekend there. We will remember when we first heard, early Friday afternoon, that it had been cancelled. We will remember the excitement, the confusion, the fear of Thursday night. We will remember the empty metal husks of parking lot #28, covered with tarps as we passed on Saturday morning.

Hopefully, we will remember these things next spring.
Last week's absence notwithstanding, I have not felt comfortable. Although I have not mentioned it lately, I was unable to suppress my own emotions; this is evidenced by the following paragraph.

Yes, it was a tough weekend for me. I considered suggesting to my friend that neither of us try to control the friendship. I realized that it was okay for me to try to control the friendship, but if I asked her to try not to control the friendship, I would be in essence attempting to control the friendship via her. So, I did nothing except worry and feel uncomfortable. Although I have not mentioned it lately, I still consider vulnerability to be virous. Now I must try to muster up the courage to pull it off; however, I am not certain that I can. Since I am obviously able to publish a paragraph chock full of semantic uncertainties, there is hope.

I imagine that you are wondering why in the hell the esteemed Montclarion would review an album recorded 20-some years ago. I also imagine that at this very moment you are wondering where in the hell I must have been for the last 20-some years of moments. I will answer both questions directly.

I will answer the second question first: I have been elsewhere.

The first-posed question, the question that I chose to answer last, has two or three answers, all of which I will answer in no discernible order. At the onset of this elucidating essay, I want to ascertain my unbridled patriotism. Subsequently, I chose an album with an American flag comprising its cover. Notice I used the word comprising; I did not use the word compromising, although the veritable plethora of American flags displayed patriotically throughout New Jersey compromises the dignity of our flag. An American flag is supposed to receive reverential treatment, i.e. be sheltered from the elements and illuminated if displayed at night. The other day I saw an American flag draped across the back of a Snap-On delivery truck. Anyone who has ever driven behind a truck knows that the back of a truck is a prime venue for graffiti writers.

The other day I saw an American flag draped across the back of a Snap-On delivery truck...this Snap-On guy must be missing a couple of sockets in the toolbox sitting on top of his shoulders.

Perot has never been elected to a public office, he does have a name that is likely to be remembered. In the early 1970's, Perot was quite active in making the plight of American POW's in Vietnam known made to known to the rest of the world. He is a Naval Academy Graduate that had plenty of friends at the Pentagon. He was able to get the Red Cross to take packages to POW's in Vietnam and financed a few trips of his own to the region that he personally could do. He threw a huge party in San Francisco in 1975 with his own money to welcome home POW's and other American troops.

Perhaps he is best known for the rescue of two of his employees in Tehran in 1979. He hired a retired Army Colonel to go into Iran commando-style and rescue them. Yet, does what all of this have to do with politics and the race for the presidency?

The political climate this year enables a man like H. Ross Perot to run for president. People are disillusioned in politics. George Bush can't decide where he stands on issues because he's trying so hard not to lose votes. He blames all of the country's problems on Congress, yet he is the only politician called by the whole country. Only the president is responsible to the country as a whole. Congressmen look out for their own respective districts - if they don't, who will? The issue here is the presidency, and Perot shouldn't be dismissed because he's a businessman, for he's a very wealthy, successful businessman. He's got my attention, but not my vote, at least not yet. Any candidate that motivates my dad to go out and vote will get my attention, because it might not happen again for a while.
Promising news for the homeless

Three cheers for the New York City Commission on the Homeless! The commission in late February released its 118-page report on what the Dinkins Administration can do about the alarmingly-growing problem of homelessness.

Titled The Way Home, the commission offered new and refreshing proposals for the treatment of homeless persons. The report calls for an absolute rejection of outdated social policies that emphasize the provision of homeless shelters: “The commission found that homeless single adults have two primary needs: humane housing and services. Shelters however, provide neither.”

Additionally, the commission recognized the need for varieties of specific programs for individuals, instead of straightjacketing them into the same ineffective shelter programs throughout the city. Thus, the commission divided up its proposed reform strategy into three entirely separate branches of treatment. They are: 1) reception (immediate short-term help), 2) transitional (fostering individuals’ specific ills) and 3) permanent housing. Without effective programs in all three of these branches, efforts for improving homeless situations will be futile.

However, the study insisted that the city administration would not have to revolutionize the system, maintaining that the ability and capacity to provide aid for the homeless is already in place. In other words, there is no need to reinvent the wheel.

What’s really great about the commission’s findings was that the proposals would not cost New York City one extra cent - which is absolutely necessary because all levels of government are practically on the verge of bankruptcy. Without effective programs in all three of these branches, efforts for improving homeless situations will be futile.

The Montclarion

Condoms from previous page

flag lighters (ideal for draft cards) and, yes, the inevitable “ol’ glory” flag condom are all available to the patriotic purchaser. However, since displaying American flags is currently in vogue, I wanted to be sure to jump on the band wagon, hence I chose There’s A Riot Goin’ On as an truly patriotic American rock album. Those old enough to remember the era when both rioting and Sly & The Family Stone were current are sure to recall the patriotic feelings associated with said currency. Twenty-some odd years ago, Sly & The Family Stone was at the top of the charts. Twenty-some years ago, Abbie Hoffman was arrested at the HUAC (House Un-American Committee) hearing for wearing a flag shirt and Ed Franz, a freshman at Virginia Commonwealth University, was sentenced to a year in jail for wearing a flag vest. Today, 20-some years later, Vanilla Ice is at the top of the charts and American flags are being worn by white power skinheads.

The second of my reasons for choosing this album consists of the sad fact that I do not have a compact disc player, that only compact disc remain to be reviewed in this Arts Department Drawer. Yeah, I know that I should enter the real world and obtain a compact disc player, but I am so very fond of vinyl.

So, all you record moguls reading this article should do something to eliminate the dilemma we, I, the writer writing about you and you, the reader reading about a 20-some year old album, find ourselves in. Naturally, it would be improper to send a compact disc player to my house. To avoid any appearance of impropriety, send it to my post office box: P.O. Box 8221 Roselle, NJ 07203. Once again, that is P.O. Box 8221 Roselle, NJ 07203. You could always send an album or some such, I suppose that if you sent stuff to The Montclarion, I could still get my biscuit hooks on it. The point is, send something, something like a zillion record-collecting readers will read it and most assuredly run right out to the record store.

Now, for the review part of this review; another reason for choosing to review Sly & The Family Stone is because I like There’s A Riot Goin’ On for both its aesthetic and its inherently patriotic content. It contains such classic tracks as “Law & Hight,” “Family Affair,” “There’s A Riot Goin’ On,” and “(You Caught Me) Smilin’.” I am not sure if Sly has cleared up all his publicized coke problems, but I think I heard about a new project. Unless Ryko Distrik has re-released it, the chances of you finding There’s A Riot Goin’ On in a record store are slim. However, if for patriotic reasons you really want to help, and you are a real hot babe, come over to my house; I’ll play it for you.
LETTERS

Blame the criminal for the crime

When will we ever learn? I mean really learn. The more I hear people talk about rape, the more I realize that our attitudes haven't changed that much at all. Recently, a member of the N.Y.-based Guardian Angel vigilante group spoke at MSC. He expressed to the audience the need to stop the crime of rape and to prevent oneself from becoming a victim of crime. "Ladies," he said, "should watch what they wear." I am more inclined to believe he should watch what he says.

If we are going to get someone to speak out on crime prevention, then let's get someone who does not perpetuate stereotypical myths about women who get raped. "The way you dress," he said, "can cause unwanted situations." Correct me if I am wrong, but this is 1992, isn't it? Why is it that people must always look to the victim to figure out why the crime took place at all? Maybe I was naive in my thinking that most people understood that a woman's clothing does nothing to encourage or discourage a rape. I really did think that most people knew that.

This Guardian Angel doesn't. His Do's and Don't's list gave him away: "Don't wear skirts too short. Don't show too much leg. If you wear tights, cover your behind. Women can look good and avoid becoming a victim of rape. The only form of power that they are able to exert over a rapist is a man's ego. If she is going to go into a man's locker room, then, well... Ask the victim from Ft. Lauderdale, Florida. If she is going to dress that way, then, well... Ask the Central Park Jogger. If she is going to jog in the park at night, well.... It all brings me back to the Guardian Angel's approach: If you're not going to dress in moderation, then, well... Shifting the responsibility off the rapist and onto the victim is wrong. It assaults survivors of these crimes all over again. In 1986, an editorial appeared in a Florida paper after a jury found a man not guilty of rape because the victim wore a halter top and a mini-skirt. She wore clothes typical of a 22-year-old woman. This jury saw fit to convict the man on charges of kidnapping at knife point, but the way she dressed, well.... They acquitted him of the charge of rape. The editorial, as well as many in this nation, expressed outrage. It stated, "Even a career hooker parading naked down the interstate isn't fair game." Not even a two-bit hooker.

I do not have the answers. I only hope to show, as a message on the wall at a rape crisis center says, "No matter what she has on, who she is or isn't with or where she is or isn't. She is not to blame. The only person responsible for a rape is the man who commits it." It is that simple, that black and white. If individual people started understanding those three sentences, we could stop relying on excuses such as, "I know it's not right that society acts this way, but this is just the way society is." That is the biggest cop-out. Just because the majority believes it does not make the minority wrong.

I, for one, will not watch what I wear. I will continue to dress however I may please, in spite of the Guardian Angel's advice. Just as a man picks a tie for his suit without thinking of its appropriateness, I will pick a skirt to match a blouse. Women need not fear rape based upon the clothes they wear, but rather, based upon the fact that they are female. That is the lone criteria. After all, most victims will know their assailants and most crimes will occur within their homes. A suit of armor will not protect these women. You see, it is not the clothes that need to be changed. It is the attitudes.

Coreen McDonough
English

LETTER...

He's obviously never tried the chicken fried steak

I am writing this letter in reference to last week's article, "New Food Company Bids Taken By Administration." I am very concerned with this issue. The article claimed that the Welfare and Internal Affairs Committee issued an informal survey to over 300 students asking questions about their likes and dislikes of Wood Food Service as well as recommendations for improvements.

Then the Wood Food Service also issues a campus-wide survey which adequately covers all points of dining, service, ambiance, and of course, the food. The service also provides a bi-monthly dining hall committee meeting where all faculty and students are able to address concerns and recommendations. In addition, suggestion boxes are available to diners.

As SGA legislator was quoted in the article as saying, "No positive changes have been made within the last semester to improve service or quality on the part of Wood." I think his committee is blind to the changes that have taken place over the past few semesters.

Among them are the initiation of Free Flow Plus which allows students to use a private debit card which deducts purchases at the cash register without having money at hand, the debut of TCBY's and Dunkin' Donuts in the Student Center, the remodeling of the Freeman Hall cafeteria, Pete's Arena's remodeling and special pizza nights on Tuesdays, numerous holiday and theme specials complete with lavish decor and party favors and juicy neon lighting in Blanton - which improves serving areas. New soda and ice dispensers were added and multiple additions were made to cafeteria facilities as well.

Due to space considerations, this is an abridged list which really only covers a small percentage of the various positive contributions which the Wood Service has given us. I failed to mention before that the food staff is also very approachable and will gladly accept any ideas. I am living proof that they have listened and taken action.

I think that the Welfare and Internal Affairs Committee had better stop comparing the food to the Ritz and realize that hundreds of changes have occurred with new ones pending. Also, students must realize that their food dollar is worth more than they know, since the food service can only allot $1.50 per day for students on the meal plan. That's a lot of food for your money. With all of this in mind, it should be seriously considered that Wood's contract be renewed for the future.

Mark Gochberg
Senior/Nutrition-Dietetics

“I did, in fact, grab the bottle and persuade him not to use it as a weapon or a missile.” — Dean James Harris of Academic Affairs on how he persuaded a student to refrain from the Carnival fracas

"I know that at the major confrontation where I was involved, I saw none of our students [participating]." — Dean Edward Martin of Student Affairs on what he saw while attempting to break up the Carnival fracas

Official Quotes of the Week from page one

You guys did go to the same Carnival, right?"
College Life Union Board would like to Congratulate its elected 1992-1993 Executive Council Members

Executive Board:
- President: Andrea Nemeth
- Vice President: Michele Morgan
- Treasurer: Gina Vasel

Committee Chairs:
- Showcase & Entertainment: Corinne Aging
- Cinema: Walter Kulick
- Membership: Anna Filapek
- Comedy: Scott Santo
- Trips: Andrea Blaki
- Lectures: Margaret Marszat
- Special Affairs: Alison Murphy

Special Committee Chairs:
- Homecoming: Walter Kulick
- Spring Week: Gina Vasel
- Carnival: Andrea Nemeth
- Orientation: Gina Vasel & Walter Kulick

C.L.U.B. is a Class I org. of the SGA

---

Mainstage Theatre Series
Department of Broadcasting, Speech Communication, Dance and Theatre presents...

the Pulitzer Prize and Tony Award-winning musical

A Chorus Line

April 30 – May 2 and May 7-9 at 8pm
May 1 and 10 at 2pm

Memorial Auditorium
Call the NEC Box Office at 893-5112 for reservations.

---

Do you want to be a SMASH at the SENIOR BASH?

then come to

Forever Tan
260 Bellevue Ave.
Upper Montclair

Senior Bash Specials:
10 visits for $40 & 1 month unlimited tanning for $50
Open 7 days a week/ appointments available until midnight

Call for an appointment TODAY 783-0077
FOREVER TAN will beat any Salon’s price with advertised proof

---

The Brothers of Alpha Chi Rho

Would Like to Congratulate Their Newest Brothers,

The Three Stooges

Brendan Jones
“Larry”

Ken Bailyynson
“Moe”

Pete Stevens
“Curly”
Thursday, April 30, 1992

ARTS

One...Singular sensation...

by Sandra Cammerlli

Get ready for dazzling, glitz, and the enchantment of a Broadway musical!! Opening tonight in Memorial Auditorium at 8 p.m., the Mainstage Theatre Series of MSC proudly presents A Chorus Line.

Under the direction of Geoffrey Newman, dean of Fine and Performing Arts, A Chorus Line features a talented team of production professionals. They are: visiting guest artist, Roger Riggie who resides as Choreographer and Associate director, Musical Director - Eric Diamond, Costume and Set Designer - Jose Kendedor, and Lighting Designer - John Figola.

Aesthetically, the production elements contain a mix of both realistic and overly theatrical devices. The costumes are very colorful and vibrant. They lend an artistic semblance to the production. The set, however, is subtly suggestive of a theatre. Opening up the wings and stages of the setting and revealing lights achieve the effect of a production in progress. The mirrors, though a predominant feature of the production, do not assume a realistic appearance. Somehow, they lack visual acuity. The most striking theatrical devices are the lights, music and costumes. These three elements distinctly provide an authentic aura of a Broadway musical.

This musical production features a cast of 23 individuals who comprise the roles of dancers auditioning for the chorus line of a Broadway musical. Every dancer has a story to tell. Thus, through song and dance, the audience gets an onstage glimpse of the oftstage world of a theatre.

Collectively, the musical numbers are dynamic and full of energy. As a group, the cast achieves harmony. Yet, several musical roles seem weak. Individually, many of the performers can’t seem to strike the high notes to coincide with the music.

Despite the minor faults of some of the musical solos, there are several appealing scenes and performances. Michael Finn is outstanding in his portrayal of Zach, the show’s director. He has a clear resonant voice which augments the authority and dominance of his character. In reference to his character, Finn commented stating, “Zach is a very closed person. He has a communication problem.” Also of notable merit is Matthew Horroache whose past roles have included such humorous characters as Charlie Biker in The Foreigner. Not only is he funny, but he can dance too! Horroache’s spirited verve and comic instincts once again shine through in his role of Bobby, an offbeat, young hopeful. Equally as impressive is Gidget Perry who plays Diana. In the number entitled “Nothing,” Gidget performs with vigor. And, Matthew Gikin as Mike gives an enthusiastic and lively tap number.

Three very impressive scenes of A Chorus Line include the story of Paul’s background, the argument between Cassie and Zach, and the audition interview scene which features Roger Mazzeo as Al and Antoinette Doherty as Kristine, his wife.

In the interview scene, Mazzeo and Doherty exemplify a fun-loving young couple. Their portrayals are endearing and adorable! Wilson Mendrita, as Paul, is passionate and full of fervor in his telling of Paul’s past experiences with the theatre business. Finally, the disparity scene between Finn’s character and Madelyn Chusano’s character is clearly defined. Chusano as Cassie earnestly depicts the longing of a dancer’s passion to dance as she refuses to allow a past relationship with Zach to stop her.

In an interview, Director Newman discusses his experience with the cast stating, “This is the hardest working cast I’ve had.” Choreographer Riggie further added, “The kids are really wonderful to work with. I’m very proud of them.” Indeed, as a whole, the cast is singularly superb! The MSC Chorus Line is budding with sensational fresh talent.

This line-up of individuals sparkles with promise of tomorrow’s brightest Broadway stars!! Performances for A Chorus Line are April 30, May 1, 2, 7, 8, and 9 at 8 p.m. and May 1 and 2 at 2 p.m. Tickets can be obtained by calling the box office at 893-5112.

Tucker... 'spontaneous' in Gallery 1/2

Cornelia Tucker, a junior surface design major, is exhibiting her work in the student run Gallery 1/2 this week. The show consists of black and white photographs as well as prints. The prints are both linocutums and collagraphs. Collagraphs are prints made by collaging cardboard and other found objects. When asked what she was trying to express in her prints, Miss Tucker replied, “My work is spontaneous and the designs come from the doodling I’ve been doing in the margins of notebooks my entire life.” She described the prints as an attempt to deal with the creative and logical sides of the brain.

This is achieved as the prints are split in half with geometric shapes on one side (logical) and biomorphic shapes on the other (creative). Like all things, the brain isn’t quite that simple and the two elements begin to intrude on each other’s space. The prints display an overwhelming party of repetition of form and line as well as intricate relationships in pattern. Cornelia uses only two or three colors in each print which are bright and playful.

The photographs she has produced continue in this idea of playfulness. The images are of a silver pitcher, which had been in Cornelia’s family for years. Tucker elaborated about the work by telling a story of a childhood game she used to play. She said, “When I was little, my sister and I would make faces in this pitcher that sits at our family’s dinner table. I would stretch my neck out to see my reflection, but my parents never knew I was doing it.” Each photograph is of the silver with a different image reflected in it. Some have Cornelia photographing herself while others are of her little sister and brother making faces in the family tradition. The reflections are distorted as in a fun house mirror. The exhibit is fun and informal but worth checking out. It is up until May 1st.
Drop-In Center
20th Anniversary

Open House
Tuesday, May 5, 1992

Free Frisbees!
All Day!

Refreshments!

The Art Carved Ring Company will be on campus May 4 – 6 for the last time this semester.

Huge Discounts!

May 4 – 6

Large Variety!

From 10 – 6

Don’t pass up your last chance to buy your college ring.

Art Carved Ring Company is the sponsor of the 1992 SGA Scholarship Award.
Instrumental albums never really did anything for me—until now. Then, people like Joe Satriani and Steve Vai came along and changed my outlook on instrumental albums—or, at least, rock instrumental albums.

Marc Bonilla's debut album EE Ticket is a good album to start off with. It reeks of Steve Vai influence, and if you're a fan of Steve Vai, you would swear it was him unless you looked at the album. Not that that's bad, but hopefully Marc will develop his own signature sound with his second album.

The entrance to EE Ticket is the beginning of a roller coaster ride, complete with the ride announcer telling you to keep your hands in the car at all times. Then, you're off. The opening song: "White Noise," is a peppy, jazzy rock tune with a guest shot on piano by Keith Emerson of Emerson, Lake, and Palmer. The next song, "Mannequin Thing," is a good highway cruising tune. "Afterburner" is a nice song to test a certain law of music—quality of a song is directly proportional to the distance between the floor of your car and your gas pedal while it is playing. Everyone seems to have a love for acceleration, and believe me, this one is a pedal-stomper.

Bonilla also has a flavor for blues, and the songs "Slaughter On Memory Lane" and "Hurling Blues Skysward" show that he's adept at playing it. Blues has been the spinal cord of western music, and these two songs reflect just how much the human spirit can suffer blow after blow and still manage to find the strength and will-power to go on. It's no surprise that these two are the most moving on the album.

An issue I'd like to throw in is that certain record execs and former "album artists" are a little cheered off because due to the CD longbox and jewelbox formats, album art just won't be the same, if it returns in the CD realm at all. EE Ticket tackles that head on. On the CD itself, there is a picture of an Oriental serpentine-type animal holding a guitar pick in one hand. I kid you not, it is one of the best pictures I have ever seen on a CD, and I believe opens the door to a new form of art. Back in the heyday of vinyl, picture discs were the big thing. Now, every CD has the potential of being a picture disc. But I digress.

EE Ticket is in no way ground-breaking material, but it has a few good songs and makes for some good listening. If you're a fan of either Vai or Satriani, give this one a look-see. Marc Bonilla has carved himself a nice niche in the world of instrumental rock, fan of either Vai or Satriani, give this one a look-see. Marc Bonilla has carved himself a nice niche in the world of instrumental rock, and changed my outlook on instrumental albums—or, at least, rock instrumental albums.

It's been a good three and a half years since Def Leppard's last album, Hysteria, and a lot has happened to the band in that time—some members got married, one had a kid, but most of all, guitarist Steve Clark died. Undaunted, Def Leppard still exists, and to prove it, it has released its latest album, Adrenalize. Will this be the "mother of all albums?" will Adrenalize break every rock rule known to man? Probably not. But if it's nice, good feeling rock and roll you're looking for, then look no further. Its opening song, "Let's Get Rocked," seems tailor-made for the MTV and Top 40 fare, and is steadily climbing up the charts. Although "Rocked" reeks of commercialism, and in my opinion, so does the album, it gets the feet tapping, the one hand doing the air drum on the knee, and is a nice song all-around.

The whole album is like that, much like its predecessor Hysteria. The Porcupine Tree collaborated with "Heaven Is" and "Make Love Like A Man," and then slow down into a quiet tune, "Tonight." The best way to describe this song is to compare it to "Love Bites." It's got much the same tempo and the same music quality. One of the best songs on the album is also its longest—"White Lightning," which comes in at just over seven minutes. Steve Clark had a big hand in writing this one, and die-hard Def Leppard fans will recognize it without a problem. In fact, Clark co-wrote more than half the tunes on Adrenalize.

At first, when I heard that Clark died, I thought Def Leppard would break up. I'm glad it didn't. The loss of Clark didn't affect the music at all—it's still upbeat, still rocking. They proved that they could survive. They faced writing roadblocks and the deterioration of their friend. "It wasn't easy trying to be creative while one of us was fading away before our eyes," Def Leppard says in the foldout sheet inside the album case. "Those months before Steve's death were anything but fun. The clinics, the interventions, the worry, the realization that we weren't as strong or as wise as we thought, or that having it all and being on top of your profession didn't mean anything when facing a basic human problem. All we could do was watch and hope and wait. And then, he was gone."

After reading that, I listened to the album. It's amazing how after something as traumatic as a band member dying that they could put together such a good-feeling album, one that when you put it into your cassette player in your car, it just picks you up and has such good music on it. What these guys did is put all their love and friendship of Steve Clark and translated it into music. This one's a good one, a really good one, and I'm proud to put Adrenalize next to my Pyromania and Hysteria albums.
Organization of Students for African Unity proudly presents an evening of Cultural & Spiritual Uplifting
Featuring:
Dance Troupe
Drama Troupe
Members of the Gospel Choir
and
Special Guest:
The Collective
Admission: Free
Date: May 1, 1992
Time: 8:00 p.m.
Place: Morehead Hall, Room 104
Refreshments will be served
O.S.A.I.L. is a Class I organization of the SGA

Congratulations!
Theta Kappa Chi 1992-1993
Executive Board

President Maria Gaita
Vice President Jill DiLorenzo
Secretary Stephanie Banks
Treasurer Joanne Tomaszkawicz
Pledge Mistress Maria Rindos
Publicist Nicole Pollina
Rush Chair Stacy Welz
Social Chair Tanja Chrapko
Alumni Pres. Greta Sturm

Alpha Kappa Psi
National Co-Ed Business Fraternity would like to congratulate Michele Swoboda
for winning the Key Award
and
Christopher Mutone
for winning the True Blue Award

CONGRATULATIONS
to the new sisters of ALPHA OMEGA

The ZA Class is:
Shawna Haff Kim Kerkowski
Jill Helm Susan Kollbocker
Susan Hoffman Jen Meany
Alicia Intromasso Lauren Spatola
Denise Spizziri

Welcome to the beginning of a never-ending sisterhood

Alpha Omega is a Class III of the SGA
Exclusive! A candid interview with Ziggy Marley

By John Tibbetts and Marcus Elias

The following is an interview in two parts conducted in two parts with Ziggy Marley, who is to appear at MSC this coming Sunday. Part I was conducted by John Tibbetts, Part II by Marcus Elias.

Part I

What prompted you to write "Drastic" on your Jahmekya album?

I wrote it because of all the shit that’s going on in South Africa, where I come from, and everywhere else, you know.

Who do you try to reach most with this song?

It’s a message to all oppressors and politicians who make people suffer. That’s who it is for.

How important do you think it is for Americans to get involved politically?

All I know is that people should have a right to bring about social change. We have to right what is wrong for the majority of the people: oppression.

Do you think Americans on a whole are involved enough politically?

On certain issues, yes, but not on everything, you know. The environment, poor people and welfare, and equal opportunity for each and everyone are issues that need to be addressed more.

Statistics say that approximately one third of the world is starving to death, and that two thirds are living below the poverty level. Do you think that Western society is aware of these facts?

The world is growing up; we haven’t reached our fullest. As we grow, things change.

Do you think that Americans on a whole are involved enough politically?

On a different note, how do you go about putting a song together?

I go about it different ways at different times for different songs.

What gives you the idea to write a song?

My own inside, my own thinking, person. That little voice inside of me.

Which comes first, the melody or the lyrics?

Lyrics usually come first.

Who helps you?

My brother and my sister mostly.

How has Rap music influenced your music?

I like Rap music, as well as many other types of music. But, I can’t identify with Rap.

Do you condone the use of marijuana?

If it’s not harmful onto you, you can use it because it is as natural as any other tree on earth. But if it is harmful onto you, then don’t use it! It is not something that is man-made like crack, cocaine, aspirin. Valium, or any of those drugs that people give you in hospitals. It is a natural thing which has grown God-made, so you use it accordingly. There is a purpose for it like any other natural thing on earth. If you can’t find a purpose for it, use it, just don’t abuse it, and don’t let it harm you.

Do you think it enlightens people?

Put it this way, my friend: If all the world, including Saddam Hussein and George Bush, would burn mari­juana there wouldn’t be any wars, like the recent war in Iraq.

What do you expect of your concert here at MSC?

Dancing and enjoyment of the music.

Part II

Why did your music change in recent years?

Time, as well as everything else changes consistently. The world is growing up; we haven’t reached our fullest. As we grow, things change.

On your Jahmekya album, is the song "My Generation" directed towards the generation growing up now, or towards the offspring of our generation?

That one’s about the generation growing up now, but about its offspring as well.

Are you going to use much of your father’s music as an influence in the future?

One of these days we wanna do one of those albums with just our father’s music on it. On the Jahmekya album we covered "Rainbow Country" already.

Why did you change the name Melody Makers to Ziggy Marley and the Melody Makers?

Using the name Marley will attract more people, you know.

Was there any rivalry because of this change?

No, not at all.

---

Just one more thing before you Graduate...

One Mac Classic II

1. The Macintosh® Classic II offers all-in-one design with great performance and flexi­bility-at a very affordable price. The Classic II has a powerful, 16 megahertz 68030 processor, 2 Megs of RAM, and runs applica­tions nearly twice as fast as the original Macintosh Classic.

Fulfill the last requirement for making it in the job world. Purchase a Macintosh Computer.

Come in to the MONTCLAIR STATE BOOKSTORE by June 30th, 1992.

This will be your last chance to order the work tool of the '90's at advantageous student pricing.

Apple, the Apple Logo, Macintosh are registered trademarks of Apple Computer, Inc. Classic is a registered trademark licensed to Apple Computer, Inc.
-Leslie, Happy 22nd Birthday. Love ya.
-Clarice.

-Corinne, Just tell me when the next photo shoot is. I'll bring skiis. tapes to loosen up with. Wally L.

-CAUTION!! Drinking at I.B. BAR causes hives! "How many candies for the hospital with us, thank you for your support and concern. George and Ken

-(Rob(AXP) Thanks for the ride(s). Love G

-The ladies of Zeta Phi Beta would like to congratulate brother Lewis Watson of Phi Beta Sigma.

-SENATE/JOITA Mixer. Tonite. (Don't worry girls, we didn't forget about you)
-Senate

-Hey Mildred! Here's the one I owe you. Louis

-$50.00 Reward for the return of the ArtCaved Ring Sale Banner. Bring this red and white missing Banner to the SCA office. No Questions Asked.

-I hate it when new jacks try to take over the campus. Just remember fellas, we are, and will always be the sh*t on this campus!

-Christine, Kathleen & Claire. I had fun with you guys. Sat. night was pretty interesting.....TJ? Love, Chrisray

-Shar, I missed you though! Cri

-Senate Kill A Key Champ. Did you ever doubt our abilities?

-Cori, are we ever going to have an uneventful week. I love ya, LeighAnn

-Mags, Keep smilin' pumpkin! Wav. Leigh

-Blair, Get us outa here!! Love Charlie

-SENATE, Thanks for asking us to mix with you. Love. The 22 JOITA's

-Sigma Tau Nu, Thanks for your vote, I won't let you down! I love you all. Big Wave

-Pig Roast. SAT. at 12. Keep your eyes open for the event of the year.

-Agent #8: Thanks for the cover up... It was well worth the risk, (what I remember of it). Agent #4

-Agent #4: Risk is where the excitement is! Thanks for the tip with the ice cubes. Love Agent #3

-Agent #1, Where did you sleep???

-Leah, The bird!!! I love ya and I'm gonna miss you! Love Andrea (SIGTAU)

-Boh, Ronald, all I have to say is WOW! You're too cute!!

-Robyns (AXP) I have tracked you in, and I am supporting Admiring

-Angela (DPhe) I will always be here for you! I love you. Love Chantelle

-TKE - Teeterthon was awesome! TriSigma

-Louie (AXP5) You see one in a million - thank you for everything - especially for taking care of me! I love Always, Chantelle

-Kelly & Bredna & Christine. This weekend was such a bliss!! Love, Donna

-Zip, Dan, DiGangi, & Taddles. When are we going to hang out together? We miss you guys - we've never cooked dinner! Love Chantelle & Mildred

-To the abominable doughman - knock it off! -Jenn

-Kristie, Ultimate bonding in Wildwood! -Not! Try VT part two! Love your other half

-Smiley, It's too bad you can't remember Carnival. "They're beat'n on Flounder man" Don't worry, just go to sleep you drunken F---

-Sigma Tau Nu - 4 weeks left. I'm gonna miss you! Love Elke

-Joanne (SIGTAUN)

-Joanne (SIGTAUN) How a weekend! Thanks for being a part of memories I'll never forget! "Takin care of business" -Love CB

-Jeanie, I know that I can come to you and that means a lot to me. Thanks for caring, esp. now when I need it! You're a great friend. Love Becky

-Sigma Tau Nu - 4 weeks left. I'm gonna miss you! Love Elke

-Joanne R. (Sigma) Oh what a weekend! Thanks for being a part of memories I'll never forget! "Takin care of business" -Love CB

-Jeanie, I know that I can come to you and that means a lot to me. Thanks for caring, esp. now when I need it! You're a great friend. Love Becky

-United Greek Coalition Non-Alcoholic?! Thank again, Thurs, April 23rd "Carnival" STOP! LIVING!

-Eat, drink and be merry. Pig Roast Sat. at NOON

-Sheryl (Tri Sigma) I love my little twin to death!

-Michelle, Elephant Shoes! Love PZ109

-Dan(AXP) Just wanted you to know that I love you! Love Jen(DXID)

-Dawnie (Tri Sigma) Way too much grain but glad you went there to stop me from further damage...Thank you! -The DJ

-Poopskie, Just wanted to say hi, pumpkin

-Anessa (AXP) Thanks for fixing my tire Thursday night! If you didn't we would have been stuck there during the riot! Jen (D-Xi-D)

-Joanne (D-Xi-D) Thanks for letting us crash Thursday night & for breakfast!!! You're such a sweetheart! Love Jen (D-Xi-D)

-May 2nd, the return of Pig Roast. Look for info....

-Pounder (TKE) Do us all a favor and never let me have another one of your mixed drinks again. My insides are still on fire. Smiley

-Abbe, Don't worry, everything I would have said about you in my speech you already know! I love you. Love Beck

-Ails(DXID) I'm so glad your bubble has burst! Now we can work on mine! Love your fellow heart, Michele

-Misty, Kristen, Lauren and Dena (SDT) Anyone who wants to take a drive on the parkway. I'm feeling a little lonely! Could I go for a Vinny Bagadonuts! Michele

-Natalie(SIGTAUN) Whatta ya say to me, you, a dozen eggs, and a bunch of innocent bystanders? Love Michele

-Ails(DXID) I'm so glad your bubble has burst! Now we can work on mine! Love your fellow heart, Michele

-Kim C. Sury, & Natalie. Looking forward to Bohn girls? When are we going to flip flop and bedazzle shop? OK, Babybeere. Love the cracksmacker

-Debra C of SDT - When are we going to get Lauren back for breaking my nose and leaving a permanent handprint on your face? Michele D

-Tracy, Dawn, Jill (SIGMA x 3) Too many men! Had an awesome car ride to Glassboro! Love Jen

-To the pledges of TriSigma - No more MODULES!!! Good luck on the test! Get psyched for retreat! Love Jen

-Bail Out Father Art MAY Shhh!!!

-Lambdo Theta Alpha Sorority NO Respect ever.

-Rondos, You're finally going to be pledge mistress. Good luck!

-Congratulations to Theta Kappa Chi's New Exec Bd.

-Brían, Tau Phi Beta, You visit is welcome anytime. That is, as soon as you get the energy to climb the stairs. Kim SDT

-Willy (D-Chi) You still owe me $195!!

-You lost the bet! Kim (SDT)

-Mike (TPhiB) Thanks for saving me from bleeding to death. Donna (AOmega)

-To all those sweating "The Pose", Relax you can always try again next semester.

-To Lou's and Clarke's - Congrats on your initiation. The pose

-Who's house? Joe's, Clarke's, Frank's, Rodney's, Luan's, Willie's, Schwartzers, Lou's and Manny's house.

-Christy (DPhe) We'll meet one day. Your Secret Admirer

-APKsi - the number one lesbian, homos on campus.

-Ok, Balina - personals goddess, we have but one more week ofthis madness. What will we do with all our free time.
HELP WANTED

- CHILD CARE: Care for 2 school age children, light housekeeping, 3-4 days/wk, Upper Montclair. Additional hours during school vacations. Must have car, references. Call 746-9661 after 7pm, anytime weekends.

- POSITION AVAILABLE - For Special Ed./Psychology Student familiar with behavior modification. Part time with 6 year old, friendly, verbal, high-functioning, Alpine Learning Group, Autistic Male Student. Hours: 3:30-7:30pm, M-F. Steady! Occasional weekends. Experience/References preferred. Call 201-420-9196.

- SUMMER CHILD CARE - Loving woman wanted to care for my 2 year old daughter 2 to 3 days per week in my Fine Brook home. Perfect for Education major. Please call Carol - 882-9322.

- CRUISE JOBS
  - $200 - $500 WEEKLY! Assemble product at home. Easy! No selling! You're paid direct. Fully guaranteed. FREE 24 Hour Recording Reveals Details. 801-379-2900. Copyright #N11KDB

- SUMMER TOURS TO EUROPE, AUSTRALIA, AND THE GREEK ISLANDS. 15-19 days. All expenses paid including meals. $1395-$1798. Call Contiki Tours 1-800-950-1037 ext. #2.

- TUTORING: Subjects: Biology, Physiology, Biochemistry, Pharmacology. B.S in Biochemistry, Ph.D. in Pharmacology. 9 year Pharmaceutical Experience. Call (after 6) 772-3143.

- CRUISE SHIPS NOW HIRING - Earn $2,000/month + World travel (Hawaii, Mexico, the Caribbean, etc.) Holiday, Summer and Career employment available. No experience necessary. For employment program call 1-206-545-4155, ext. C554.

- SUMMER JOBS - Cruise Ships - World Travel - Summer - Full Time - Guaranteed paycheck. FREE 24 Hour Recording Reveals Details. 801-379-2952. Copyright #N11KEB

- RELAXING AT HOME, BEACH, VACATIONS. Holiday, Summer and Full-time employment available. For Employment Program call: 1-206-545-4155 ext. C728

- FOR RENT - SUMMER SUBLET NEEDED. University of Virginia law student. Working in NYC needs to sublet your studio or one bedroom apt. from June 1 - Aug. 17. Interested? Call Collect (804)295-9120.

- Rutherford, Large LR,Dr.Mod. EIK, 1/2 Bath, 1 BR's, smiles from camp, cleaned. $1300.00. 507-0279.

- Roommate wanted: to share 3Bdrm apartment in SeaSide Park. One block from beach. For info. call Dan at 777-2988 after 10pm.

- Female Roommate(s) Wanted: Two adjoining rooms available for one or several to share. House is one block from MSC. Call 783-1733.

- LOST AND FOUND - Found Purse - To whomever returned a tan purse: Thank you for returning my purse. May God bless you and save the world's rain forests. Toxic waste. These aren't the legacies we wanted from the "environmental" President. Urge George Bush to attend the U.N. Earth Summit in Brazil in June. Right now, the United States is the only major industrial power refusing to do its part. Ask the president to stop America's role as leading producer of greenhouse gases. Tell him to support the global treaty for reducing carbon dioxide emissions, ban the exploitation of toxic waste, and save the world's rain forests. The President is the only person who can effectively lead the struggle for our planet's future.

- Roommate wanted: to share 3Bdrm apartment in SeaSide Park. One block from beach. For info. call Dan at 777-2988 after 10pm.

- SUMMER SUBLET NEEDED. University of Virginia law student. Working in NYC needs to sublet your studio or one bedroom apt. from June 1 - Aug. 17. Interested? Call Collect (804)295-9120.

- Rutherford, Large LR,Dr.Mod. EIK, 1/2 Bath, 1 BR's, smiles from camp, cleaned. $1300.00. 507-0279.

- Roommate wanted: to share 3Bdrm apartment in SeaSide Park. One block from beach. For info. call Dan at 777-2988 after 10pm.

- Female Roommate(s) Wanted: Two adjoining rooms available for one or several to share. House is one block from MSC. Call 783-1733.

- LOST AND FOUND - Found Purse - To whomever returned a tan purse: Thank you for returning my purse. May God bless you and save the world's rain forests. Toxic waste. These aren't the legacies we wanted from the "environmental" President. Urge George Bush to attend the U.N. Earth Summit in Brazil in June. Right now, the United States is the only major industrial power refusing to do its part. Ask the president to stop America's role as leading producer of greenhouse gases. Tell him to support the global treaty for reducing carbon dioxide emissions, ban the exploitation of toxic waste, and save the world's rain forests. The President is the only person who can effectively lead the struggle for our planet's future.

- Roommate wanted: to share 3Bdrm apartment in SeaSide Park. One block from beach. For info. call Dan at 777-2988 after 10pm.

- Female Roommate(s) Wanted: Two adjoining rooms available for one or several to share. House is one block from MSC. Call 783-1733.

- LOST AND FOUND - Found Purse - To whomever returned a tan purse: Thank you for returning my purse. May God bless you and save the world's rain forests. Toxic waste. These aren't the legacies we wanted from the "environmental" President. Urge George Bush to attend the U.N. Earth Summit in Brazil in June. Right now, the United States is the only major industrial power refusing to do its part. Ask the president to stop America's role as leading producer of greenhouse gases. Tell him to support the global treaty for reducing carbon dioxide emissions, ban the exploitation of toxic waste, and save the world's rain forests. The President is the only person who can effectively lead the struggle for our planet's future.

- Roommate wanted: to share 3Bdrm apartment in SeaSide Park. One block from beach. For info. call Dan at 777-2988 after 10pm.

- Female Roommate(s) Wanted: Two adjoining rooms available for one or several to share. House is one block from MSC. Call 783-1733.

- LOST AND FOUND - Found Purse - To whomever returned a tan purse: Thank you for returning my purse. May God bless you and save the world's rain forests. Toxic waste. These aren't the legacies we wanted from the "environmental" President. Urge George Bush to attend the U.N. Earth Summit in Brazil in June. Right now, the United States is the only major industrial power refusing to do its part. Ask the president to stop America's role as leading producer of greenhouse gases. Tell him to support the global treaty for reducing carbon dioxide emissions, ban the exploitation of toxic waste, and save the world's rain forests. The President is the only person who can effectively lead the struggle for our planet's future.

- Roommate wanted: to share 3Bdrm apartment in SeaSide Park. One block from beach. For info. call Dan at 777-2988 after 10pm.

- Female Roommate(s) Wanted: Two adjoining rooms available for one or several to share. House is one block from MSC. Call 783-1733.

- LOST AND FOUND - Found Purse - To whomever returned a tan purse: Thank you for returning my purse. May God bless you and save the world's rain forests. Toxic waste. These aren't the legacies we wanted from the "environmental" President. Urge George Bush to attend the U.N. Earth Summit in Brazil in June. Right now, the United States is the only major industrial power refusing to do its part. Ask the president to stop America's role as leading producer of greenhouse gases. Tell him to support the global treaty for reducing carbon dioxide emissions, ban the exploitation of toxic waste, and save the world's rain forests. The President is the only person who can effectively lead the struggle for our planet's future.

- Roommate wanted: to share 3Bdrm apartment in SeaSide Park. One block from beach. For info. call Dan at 777-2988 after 10pm.

- Female Roommate(s) Wanted: Two adjoining rooms available for one or several to share. House is one block from MSC. Call 783-1733.

- LOST AND FOUND - Found Purse - To whomever returned a tan purse: Thank you for returning my purse. May God bless you and save the world's rain forests. Toxic waste. These aren't the legacies we wanted from the "environmental" President. Urge George Bush to attend the U.N. Earth Summit in Brazil in June. Right now, the United States is the only major industrial power refusing to do its part. Ask the president to stop America's role as leading producer of greenhouse gases. Tell him to support the global treaty for reducing carbon dioxide emissions, ban the exploitation of toxic waste, and save the world's rain forests. The President is the only person who can effectively lead the struggle for our planet's future.

- Roommate wanted: to share 3Bdrm apartment in SeaSide Park. One block from beach. For info. call Dan at 777-2988 after 10pm.

- Female Roommate(s) Wanted: Two adjoining rooms available for one or several to share. House is one block from MSC. Call 783-1733.

- LOST AND FOUND - Found Purse - To whomever returned a tan purse: Thank you for returning my purse. May God bless you and save the world's rain forests. Toxic waste. These aren't the legacies we wanted from the "environmental" President. Urge George Bush to attend the U.N. Earth Summit in Brazil in June. Right now, the United States is the only major industrial power refusing to do its part. Ask the president to stop America's role as leading producer of greenhouse gases. Tell him to support the global treaty for reducing carbon dioxide emissions, ban the exploitation of toxic waste, and save the world's rain forests. The President is the only person who can effectively lead the struggle for our planet's future.

- Roommate wanted: to share 3Bdrm apartment in SeaSide Park. One block from beach. For info. call Dan at 777-2988 after 10pm.

- Female Roommate(s) Wanted: Two adjoining rooms available for one or several to share. House is one block from MSC. Call 783-1733.
HOME CELEBRITIES NEED THE FAT SUCKED OUT OF THEIR BRAINS, NOT THEIR BOTTOMS. WHAT DO YOU WANT CHANGED? WHERE ARE WE GOING? WE HATE THE WAY YOU TREAT US.

WHAT INTEREST ISSUE? I'VE NEVER BEEN INTERESTED. I'VE NEVER BEEN INTERESTED UP TO HERE.

THAT'S WHAT MOTHERS ARE TO DO. I DONT WANT TO HEAR ANY EXPLANATIONS, SUBTLETIES OR CONTEXT.

I'M GOING OUTSIDE.' '

I'VE BEEN SAVING MY CHANGE FOR WEEKS AND WEEKS, AND LOOK HOW MUCH I'VE GOT. I GUESS I'M GOING TO OPEN A SAVINGS ACCOUNT?

EXERT TIME YOU MAKE A DEPOSIT, YOU CAN THINK,' 'OH BOX, ANOTHER TWO MINUTES AT COLLEGE.'
Mother Goose and Grimm
by Mike Peters

Although the expedition team could not find Amelia Earhart, they did locate Gilligan, the captain and the crew of the Minnow.

Symptom of the Universe
by Michael Kelly

And I think you're a knuckle-head. And you have a big ego, too. And you have a really, really stupid haircut...

Answers to Last Week's Puzzler

The Crossword Puzzler

ACROSS

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>1</th>
<th>Penman</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>7</td>
<td>Responded</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>15</td>
<td>Ingenious</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>16</td>
<td>Fetch</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>17</td>
<td>Rodeo activity</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>18</td>
<td>Pertaining to debating</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>19</td>
<td>Played a part</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>20</td>
<td>Part of NCO</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>21</td>
<td>N.W. state (abbr.)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>22</td>
<td>Aspects</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>24</td>
<td>Cleopatra's killer</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>25</td>
<td>Middle East gulf</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>26</td>
<td>Record of brain activity</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>27</td>
<td>Lively dance</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>29</td>
<td>Tired</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>30</td>
<td>Elasticity</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>33</td>
<td>Depot (abbr.)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>36</td>
<td>Writer Bernard ----</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>37</td>
<td>Mr. Koppel</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>38</td>
<td>Hypothetical substance</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>40</td>
<td>Irritates</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>41</td>
<td>Move slowly</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>43</td>
<td>Playing marble</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>46</td>
<td>&quot;----- la Douce&quot;</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>47</td>
<td>Extinct New Zealand bird</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>49</td>
<td>Capital of Montana</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>51</td>
<td>Signifying maiden name</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>52</td>
<td>Humor magazine</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>53</td>
<td>Enemies of clothing</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>54</td>
<td>Captain</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>55</td>
<td>B.S. retired</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>56</td>
<td>Rare-earth element</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>59</td>
<td>Done who try</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>60</td>
<td>Certain stone-keeper</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

DOWN

| 1 | Skin injury |
| 2 | Hackneyed expression |
| 3 | Indication of a sale item (2 wds.) |
| 4 | Harvard vines |
| 5 | Fender |
| 6 | Energy unit |
| 7 | Dog sound, in comics |
| 8 | Sign gases |
| 9 | Barber shop item |
| 10 | Songbird |
| 11 | German number |
| 12 | Hospital physician |
| 13 | Trial material |
| 14 | Poured, as wine |
| 15 | Game of chance |
| 16 | Indian servant |
| 17 | Certain storekeeper |
| 18 | Mme. Curie |
| 19 | Aroma, British style |
| 20 | Certain sports cars |
| 21 | Fernings for pay |
| 22 | Garment worker |
| 23 | System of weights and measures |
| 24 | Instruction from Jack LaLanne |
| 25 | Sun bather |
| 26 | Certain sacred words |
| 27 | South American country (abbr.) |

Look for answers to this week's puzzler in next week's Montclarion.
PLANNED PARENTHOOD
Essex County
Affordable Women's Health Care

- GYN Exams
- Birth Control Counseling
- Infection Treatment
- Pregnancy Tests

Prompt Appointments - Evening Hours - Bilingual Staff

29 No. Fullerton Ave. Montclair 746-7116
Convenient locations also in E. Orange and Newark

WASHINGTON D.C. DAY TRIP
Saturday, May 9, 1992

Time: Leave MSC at 6am
      Leave D.C. at 8pm

Fee: $2 per person

Transportation: Bus is provided

Call 893-5102 ASAP – SPACE IS LIMITED!

Conservation Club is a Class I of the SGA

225 Stuyvesant Ave.
Lyndhurst • 201-939-3435

WEDNESDAY
250 Stuyvesant Ave.
Lyndhurst • 201-939-3435

WACKY WEDNESDAY
250 Stuyvesant Ave.
Lyndhurst • 201-939-3435

MONTECLAIR STATE COLLEGE
LADIES NIGHT
ALL LONGNECKS $1 TIL 10 PM
$1 DRAFTS ALL NIGHT
$2 SHOTS ALL NIGHT
$4 PITCHERS ALL NIGHT
NO COVER CHARGE & NO PRICE FOR LADIES
NOBODY BEATS BEDROC

THURSDAY MSC
250 Stuyvesant Ave.
Lyndhurst • 201-939-3435

IT'S YOUR NIGHT TO PARTY AS BEDROC PRESENTS:
250 Stuyvesant Ave.
Lyndhurst • 201-939-3435

COLLEGE PUB NIGHT
DRAFT BEER $1
ALL SHOTS $2
60 oz. PITCHERS $5

JELLO SHOTS
$1 ALL NIGHT
DON'T DRINK AND DRIVE

FRIDAY
250 Stuyvesant Ave.
Lyndhurst • 201-939-3435

SATURDAY
250 Stuyvesant Ave.
Lyndhurst • 201-939-3435

BEDROC IS RUN BY COLLEGE STUDENTS, FOR COLLEGE STUDENTS — WITH HIGHER EDUCATION IN MIND.

CLUB PRESENTS...

TRIP TO NJ/NY
KniGTS Game

SALE DATES:
April 27-May 3 in CLUB office

TICKETS:
$12 students
$14 non-students

Sunday, May 3rd, 1:00 pm

at Giants Stadium

C.L.U.B. is a Class I org. of the SGA

Transportation provided. Bus leaves S.C. at 12:15 pm

For more info call X5232 or 201-399-4337 (Andrea)
Men's tennis moves to 7-3 behind fine play of Orlofsky

by Maureen K. McLeer

The men's tennis team soared to a 7-3 record with wins over Upsala, Ramapo, Stevens, NJIT and NYU. The win over Ramapo, Ramapo, and NJIT with scores of 8-0, two big "confidence boosters" came with wins over Stevens 7-2, and NYU, 5-4. According to Coach Fitzpatrick, "These were tough matches and big wins."

The team's third loss came when Glassboro defeated MSC 6-3. "A close match and a tough one to swallow," Fitzpatrick said. Along with this came a lost opportunity when MSC was plagued with a rainout against Rutgers Camden. The team's record of 7-3 is up from last year's 3-5 mark. This is largely due to phenomenal playing on the part of David Orlofsky. Orlofsky is a senior who is going out in style. With a record of 8-2, Orlofsky has provided the team with spirit, maturity and many victories.

The team will bid farewell to two other players at the close of the season. Doug Said, Fitzpatrick's "Utility Man," will be graduating in June. Said often fills in whenever needed, and he usually delivers. Jose Gaspar will also be graduating in June. Gaspar plays sixth singles and came up with big wins over Stevens and NJIT.

"I feel we're really playing well right now," Kane said. "The guys are scoring and doing the right job on defense, so I don't see any reason why we shouldn't be able to make a strong run for the championship."

Kane's dominance in net is key to lacrosse's success

by Jim Klossek

Since lacrosse and ice hockey are not-too-distant cousins, it seems fitting that both place a tremendous amount of importance on defense - goalkeeping in particular. As the Rangers and Devils fight it out (literally) on the ice, the spotlight falls on New York's dynamic goalie duo of John Vanbiesbrouck and Mike Richter and New Jersey's Chris Terreri. After all, when it comes to goaltending in particular. As the Rangers and Devils fight it out (literally) on the ice, the spotlight falls on New York's dynamic goalie duo of John Vanbiesbrouck and Mike Richter and New Jersey's Chris Terreri. After all, when it comes to goalie for Montclair-Kimberly and coach, was minding the sidelines as the Red Hawks shot for their second ECAC crown in five years.

Also from, the current Red Hawk head coach, was minding the sidelines as the Red Hawks shot for their second ECAC crown in five years.

As the Red Hawks prime for their annual post-season encounter with the best that the Knickerbocker Conference and the NCAAs have to offer, MSC's nemesis Ken Kane's role on the team is looming ever larger. The 6'3" junior out of Kinnelon High School will take his .727 save percentage and reputation as a pressure player into the second season forays as the Red Hawks look for their seventh NCAA Division III tournament appearance. Kane's dominance in net is key to the Red Hawks' success.

"Coach Turco always impressed me the way he prepared for every opponent. "Coach Turco always impressed me the need upon us that we've got to want to win the game," Kane said. "To be really successful at anything you've got to want it bad enough. That kind of thinking has made a difference in my life both on and off the field."

As someone close to the team once said (paraphrasing), "As Kane goes, so do the Red Hawks." That appears to be true. If he's half as successful at putting criminals behind bars as the Federal Bureau of Investigation as he is in preventing goals on the lacrosse field, the U.S. had better start building new penal institutions - we're going to need them.

Kane, a psychology major who hopes to work for the FBI one day, has made sure he's prepared for every opponent. "Coach Turco always impressed me the need upon us that we've got to want to win the game," Kane said. "To be really successful at anything you've got to want it bad enough. That kind of thinking has made a difference in my life both on and off the field."

As someone close to the team once said (paraphrasing), "As Kane goes, so do the Red Hawks." That appears to be true. If he's half as successful at putting criminals behind bars as the Federal Bureau of Investigation as he is in preventing goals on the lacrosse field, the U.S. had better start building new penal institutions - we're going to need them.

Kane, a psychology major who hopes to work for the FBI one day, has made sure he's prepared for every opponent. "Coach Turco always impressed me the need upon us that we've got to want to win the game," Kane said. "To be really successful at anything you've got to want it bad enough. That kind of thinking has made a difference in my life both on and off the field."

As someone close to the team once said (paraphrasing), "As Kane goes, so do the Red Hawks." That appears to be true. If he's half as successful at putting criminals behind bars as the Federal Bureau of Investigation as he is in preventing goals on the lacrosse field, the U.S. had better start building new penal institutions - we're going to need them.
Davis quietly and effectively getting the job done

by Michael Frasco

MSC Head Athletic Trainer John Davis is one of those "behind the scenes" guys. But don't be fooled, because he can be found on the sidelines of a Red Hawk football game in the fall, or in the middle of a baseball game in the spring, not to mention other MSC sporting events. These are the same sidelines Head Football Coach Rick Gianncola has taken over and the same dugout from which Norm Schoening leads the baseball team. And while you've most likely heard of Giancola and Schoening, unless you're involved in MSC athletics, you probably have not heard the name "John Davis" before.

However, Davis, 34, has been "behind the scenes" at MSC for seven years, playing a vital role in the athletic program, specifically as head athletic trainer. Athletic training itself may also be foreign to most people outside athletic circles; however, its importance cannot be overlooked.

Briefly, athletic training is a health care profession that deals with the prevention and care of athletic injuries. For example, athletic trainers such as Davis attend as many sporting events as possible, under required doctor's supervision, to be available to an athlete that may need immediate first aid or care in a game situation. As a case-in-point of an athletic trainer's value, Davis recalled a time before his MSC days when a soccer goalie from Amherst College dove into the goalpost while attempting to make a save and severely injured his neck.

Davis attended to the athlete's needs and evaluated him promptly. Knowing that he was there for an athlete was very gratifying to Davis. He said, "I was in a situation where I did what needed to be done."

It is this very proud, but humble, attitude that has been the driving force behind Davis' success. In addition to being head athletic trainer, Davis also teaches several courses at MSC which are mainly athletic training classes in nature. Davis feels that education is just as important as hands-on experience. He said, "I am very much into the educational aspect of what athletics can mean to an athlete and the college as a whole."

The East Stroudsburg graduate is also active in organizations such as the Athletic Training Society of N.J., executive council and a district II secretary and treasurer of the National Athletic Trainer's Association (NATA).

Davis became a certified athletic trainer by the NATA in 1980. It is now 12 years down the road and Davis says he owes part of his political and athletic training success to his student trainers. Davis said that aside from helping out with the injured athletes, the student trainers help out with various jobs such as mailing athletic-related information and taking phone calls.

Moreover, because there is no assistant athletic trainer, Davis has the unenviable task of dealing with injuries from the 450 to 500 student-athletes that participate in the 22 sports here at MSC. As a result of this imbalance, Davis noted that "MSC is almost solely dependent on student-trainers."

"What keeps Davis going? A better question might be, what keeps Davis here at MSC? After all, it is a seemingly monumental task as the attention needed for the student athletes' injuries cannot always be given. In all fairness, only one other college in the state has an assistant athletic trainer—Kean College.

However, about two years ago, Davis had pondered the very question..."

The pivotal goal down the stretch for Kean came off the stick of junior midfielder Gerard Benaquista. "But after they made their run we pulled together again," said Ke and defensive middle Blanton remarked on the team's relative inexperience in settings such as the Penn Relays, where on any given day the athletes can be performing in front of 35 to 40,000 fans. The team of Joe Basa, Dewayne Stevena, Neal Ruiz and Abdul Williams, Ernest Johnson, Wayne Elliot and Dewayne Stevena ran extremely well together with Stevena running one of his fastest splits with a time of 46:20.

The men's 1600-meter relay team traveled to the 98th Penn Relays and did something no other men's team has ever done. It was a case of too little too late for the Red Hawks who dropped to 7-2 on the season and 4-1 in the Knickerbocker Conference.

The loss was devastating for the Red Hawks in the sense that 1) a win would have given them the division lead and 2) it seemed to affect them in their game at Manhattanville last Tuesday. However, the Red Hawks were unable to pass the heat as MVHS came away with a 19-13 decision.

RED HAWK NOTES... After four straight conference titles its credit, MSC will be hard pressed to top this year's Head Coach Doug Aloian's career record now stands at 57-15...The Red Hawks close out the regular season at home on May 5th against the US Merchant Mariners.

Thursday, April 30, 1992

Road spells trouble for lacrosse as it drops two

by Jim Klassak

The Red Hawks had two road games and two losses last week, games they couldn't afford to lose as they neared the end of the season. Before last week's dual losses to Kean and Manhattanville, MSC was riding the wave of a six-game winning streak and an unbeaten road record; now they're hoping to regroup in time for the playoffs.

In last Wednesday's loss to Kean, a comet The Star Ledger billed as "The New Jersey War," but is more commonly known as "The Game," the Red Hawks battled back from a deep deficit late in the game only to come up one goal short, 15-4.

Trailing 12-6 in the third period, the Red Hawks came back. Buch Meyer and Keith Van Ness (four goals apiece) led them to a slim chance of playing athletics professionally. He said, "I really liked the coaching, and I wasn't good enough to play professional ball. This was a time for me to be involved. I knew it was just right for me."

As perfect a fit athletic training has been for Davis, he has been equally compatible here at MSC for the past seven years. So, while you may overlook an athletic trainer in favor of the higher profile jobs such as coaching, that's fine. However, the importance of these "behind the scenes" professionals cannot be overlooked. As Davis says, "I like being behind the scenes. An athletic trainer is difficult to evaluate; we get no wins or losses. But they constantly make the critical saves."

The MSC track and field team traveled to the Penn Relays this past week in order to attain the goals they set for themselves at the onset of the season. In reaching these goals the University of Pennsylvania in front of nearly 30,000 spectators, the team learned that when you reach for the golden ring, you have to grab it and hold on with both hands. To put it simply, the men's and women's teams each traveled to the Penn Relays with one simple thing on their minds: both teams wanted to reach the championship rounds in their respective events. Well, both teams attained this feat, but in turn learned a valuable lesson in doing so: even in defeat, champions can be born.

The men's 1600-meter relay team traveled to the 98th Penn Relays and did something no other men's team has ever done. It was a case of too little too late for the Red Hawks who dropped to 7-2 on the season and 4-1 in the Knickerbocker Conference.

The loss was devastating for the Red Hawks in the sense that (i) a win would have given them the division lead and (ii) it seemed to affect them in their game at Manhattanville last Tuesday. However, the Red Hawks were unable to pass the heat as MVHS came away with a 19-13 decision.

RED HAWK NOTES... After four straight conference titles in its credit, MSC will be hard pressed to top this year's Head Coach Doug Aloian's career record now stands at 57-15...The Red Hawks close out the regular season at home on May 5th against the US Merchant Mariners.

The MSC track and field team traveled to the Penn Relays this past week in order to attain the goals they set for themselves at the onset of the season. In reaching these goals the University of Pennsylvania in front of nearly 30,000 spectators, the team learned that when you reach for the golden ring, you have to grab it and hold on with both hands. To put it simply, the men's and women's teams each traveled to the Penn Relays with one simple thing on their minds: both teams wanted to reach the championship rounds in their respective events. Well, both teams attained this feat, but in turn learned a valuable lesson in doing so: even in defeat, champions can be born.

The men's 1600-meter relay team traveled to the 98th Penn Relays and did something no other men's team has ever done. It was a case of too little too late for the Red Hawks who dropped to 7-2 on the season and 4-1 in the Knickerbocker Conference.

The loss was devastating for the Red Hawks in the sense that (i) a win would have given them the division lead and (ii) it seemed to affect them in their game at Manhattanville last Tuesday. However, the Red Hawks were unable to pass the heat as MVHS came away with a 19-13 decision.

RED HAWK NOTES... After four straight conference titles in its credit, MSC will be hard pressed to top this year's Head Coach Doug Aloian's career record now stands at 57-15...The Red Hawks close out the regular season at home on May 5th against the US Merchant Mariners.

The MSC track and field team traveled to the Penn Relays this past week in order to attain the goals they set for themselves at the onset of the season. In reaching these goals the University of Pennsylvania in front of nearly 30,000 spectators, the team learned that when you reach for the golden ring, you have to grab it and hold on with both hands. To put it simply, the men's and women's teams each traveled to the Penn Relays with one simple thing on their minds: both teams wanted to reach the championship rounds in their respective events. Well, both teams attained this feat, but in turn learned a valuable lesson in doing so: even in defeat, champions can be born.

The men's 1600-meter relay team traveled to the 98th Penn Relays and did something no other men's team has ever done. It was a case of too little too late for the Red Hawks who dropped to 7-2 on the season and 4-1 in the Knickerbocker Conference.

The loss was devastating for the Red Hawks in the sense that (i) a win would have given them the division lead and (ii) it seemed to affect them in their game at Manhattanville last Tuesday. However, the Red Hawks were unable to pass the heat as MVHS came away with a 19-13 decision.

RED HAWK NOTES... After four straight conference titles in its credit, MSC will be hard pressed to top this year's Head Coach Doug Aloian's career record now stands at 57-15...The Red Hawks close out the regular season at home on May 5th against the US Merchant Mariners.
Sports rule the world

What our lives would be like if there were no such thing as sports

Turn on the TV! Turn on the radio! Wherever you are, anytime, anywhere, sports is there... It could be 6 p.m. or 1 a.m. It doesn’t matter, because Sports is what keeps this country from going under.

Many of you are saying, “What’s the big deal? Why should we care about sports?” So, let me assure you, there is a method to my madness.

The other night, I turned on the TV at 1:30 a.m. and there were two hockey games and a baseball game still being televised. Then at the end of the baseball game, Sportscenter was on. Watching all these games at the wee hours of the morning, I began to wonder: What life would be like without sports!

This is a very scary thought. A lot of women would probably say, “It would be great. I’d get to see my boyfriend or husband more.” But, it goes a lot deeper than that.

When I think of life, especially my life, without sports, I think about bacon without eggs, rum without coke, Fred without Ethel...You get the picture.

My life, and I’m not alone here, revolves around sports. I know I’m not the only person who can recite ESPN’s programming schedule. We all know that Roy Firestone is on at 6 p.m. Sportscenter is on at 7 and 11:30 p.m. and also at 2:30 a.m. We can set our clocks by it.

What would you do if there was no ESPN, Sportschannel, TNT or MSG Network to watch? What if you couldn’t turn on Channel 4 during any Sunday in the winter and watch a football game? What if there were no Monday Night Football! One thing is certain: more babies would be conceived on Monday night.

Have you ever thought about this? We’d be forced to watch those old movies Channel 5 shows every Sunday, or reruns of Please Don’t Eat the Daisies or Father Knows Best. How boring! This is killing me!

But without sports, there would be no such thing as a baseball hat. I would be wearing either a beret or a cowboy hat. My shirt would either be a plain white T-shirt, something tie-dyed or a concert shirt, like Van Halen. My sweats would be plain blue and I’d be wearing something like moccasins on my feet. Can you imagine how ridiculous I’d look?

A lot of you are saying, “I’d still be wearing sneakers.” Is that true? I don’t think so. Running is a sport. Aerobics is a sport. What else besides sports are sneakers used for? They are comfortable, but so are moccasins or docksidekicks. I don’t know about you, but I buy sneakers for playing basketball or baseball, not because they are comfortable.

It doesn’t end here. Not only would our wardrobe change, but our language, or lingue, would also be altered. We all use terms like “In your face” and “Striking out” everyday. How would you talk about sex if there was no such thing as baseball? What the hell-good do the birds and bees do? It’s best described by using baseball terminology.

We all say, “I struck out” or “I made it to first base.” Of course, there is the most popular, “I hit a home run,” which is usually followed by a few high-fives, another thing that wouldn’t exist if it hadn’t been for sports.

Healthy bodies would also be non-existent because weight-titting and aerobics are sports. Without them, our exercise would be limited to walking, swimming and working menial labor jobs. And since we’re lazy, the women would say, “It’s a better way that doesn’t make you sweat.”

Now that I’ve got you interested in the question of “Life without Sports,” I ask you to look at it this way.

I came to school today wearing a red-and-white 76er baseball hat, a Mizz tshirt, blue sweats that said “Kentucky Basketball” and Converse hi-top sneakers.

Of course, we could run, but without sneakers, it would be pretty difficult. A world with little exercising would result in fewer bikinis and tank tops and more people who look like Tom and Roseanne Arnold! That’s a really scary thought!

If you did happen to work out and sweat a little, what could you drink? I guess water would have to quench your thirst; Gatorade couldn’t. It would be useless. Of if we were hungry for “The Breakfast of Champions,” people would say, “What a champion!”

No more Wheaties: Sure, it sounds funny, but can you imagine life with no Final Four, no Super Bowl, no World Series and no cheerleaders? Life would be so boring.

Stephen Jones, an accounting major, agrees that sports is very important.

“Without sports there would be no fun. No gaming. Nothing to talk about,” he said.

“I can’t imagine not being able to say, “Did you see Canseco’s blast?” A lot of men and women would say, “It’s a better way that doesn’t make you sweat.”

BASEBALL from page 36

three-run homer and a two-run shot, while Dixon smashed a double, a triple and knocked in two for MSC. Martinez contributed five hits to the MSC cause. Senior left-hander Paul DeSimone (4-2) was the winning pitcher for the Red Hawks.

MSC began its four-game streak on Friday by defeating Ramapo College 7-2 in Mahwah. This NJAC contest was called after eight innings due to rain and lightning.

Sophomore pitching sensation Drew Yocum was one for MSC, lifting his record to 5-0. The left-hander’s ERA currently stands at an astounding 0.72.

The Red Hawks return home to Pinter Field for three games this week after playing 11 consecutive games on the road. Today MSC plays host to Jersey City State at 3:30 p.m. Eastern Connecticut comes to Upper Montclair this weekend for games on Saturday (2:00 p.m.) and Sunday (1:00 p.m.).

Road games include: Monday versus Rider, 7:30 p.m.; Tuesday versus Montclair State, 7:30 p.m.; and Wednesday versus New Jersey City State marked the return of centerfielder Steve Antonucci, who missed four games with a sprained ankle...After games with North Carolina Wesleyan, the NJAC playoffs begin on May 8.
Softball team dives into NJAC playoffs

Kutchinski's head slide lifts MSC over Kean

by Al Iannazzore

Only the strong survive. It's all about winning. It's a question of who wants it more. The NJAC Softball Tournament began on Sunday and the Red Hawks showed they wanted it more as they eliminated the Kean Cougars from the playoffs with a 3-2 come from behind victory.

What a difference a year makes. Last year, MSC, under first-year Head Coach Ana Kubicka, surprised everyone by finishing second in the conference, at 4-4. However, the Red Hawks were eliminated, for the first time ever, in the first round of the NJAC Tournament by Ramapo.

This year, the Red Hawks, a much better team, surprised everyone by finishing the NJAC's, but they upset the Cougars, the nation's 14th ranked team, in the opening round. Now, MSC is headed back to the NJAC Championship Tournament. Unfortunately, catcher Kristi Kutchinski injured her receiving hand on the game-winning play.

She's injured on the play

MSC (15-13) was trailing 2-1 in the top of the seventh, with runners at second and third, when Kutchinski ripped a shot up the middle. The Kean second baseman backed the ball and tried to throw Kutchinski out. However, the sophomore catcher, not known for her foot speed, dove head first safely into the base.

On the play, Sue Stoff scored the tying run, and Jennifer Pilin motored home all the way from second base to give MSC the 3-2 lead. Kutchinski's game-saving dive proved costly, though, as she dislocated her ring finger and sprained two others.

MSC Head Trainer John Davis, who had to pop Kubicka's finger back in place, said she will possibly miss today's game against Stony Brook. Davis also said Kubicka is questionable for this weekend's NJAC Tournament in Trenton.

Luckily for MSC, there is one player who is extremely healthy. Senior pitcher Lois Frye, named the NJAC Female Athlete Co-Player of the Week, went the distance and allowed eight hits against Kean. She upped her record to a shaky 9-10, despite owning a sparkling 1.84 ERA. Frye also chipped in with two hits and an RBI on the day.

MSC's win avenged a doubleheader loss to Kean earlier in the week.

Kubicka said she was glad to be playing in the opening round, in the top of the seventh:

"I was looking forward to playing against them on Sunday," she said. "On Thursday, we were supposed to have a home game [against Kean], but because of the rain, our field was unplayable. I had to make a decision and I decided to play them in Union." Getting the players to go to Kean was a task in itself, Kubicka said. She had to search through a computer to see where each player was. Kim Drager, MSC's shortstop, had an exam she couldn't be excused from. So she had to drive herself to the game. She arrived just 15 minutes before the start. Kubicka said that the whole situation was trying.

"The game had to be played before Sunday," she said. "It's like we had to push our backs against the wall. It all started with the fact that it was supposed to be a home game."

Any conference game on the road is tough, very tough.

MSC dropped both games, 3-1 and 3-0. Frye was the losing pitcher in the first game, while Michele Serio took the loss in the second. Serio's record dropped to 2-5. Frye had four hits and the lone RBI for MSC in the twinbill.

The Red Hawks showed a lot of pride by coming back after losing that doubleheader to Kean. This team did not want the season to end and now it won't.

MSC is headed to Trenton to face the nation's number one ranked team, the TSC Lions, in the double elimination championship tournament. Also playing in the NJAC Final Four will be Glassboro and William Paterson, sixth and 11th in the country, respectively.

The Lions will most likely throw their ace at MSC in the Friday game, but on this team, there are two aces. Trenton is 37-2 and its two starting pitchers, Becky Koenig and Erine Grove, are 19-1 and 18-1, respectively. Kubicka knows it will take a good effort in order to knock off TSC.

"We need to go down and play clean softball," she said. "We can hit Becky. We've been hitting the barrel better of late. Defensively, we must play cleanly."

RED HAWK NOTES...MSC won a doubleheader over Hunter College Tuesday, 8-0 and 7-1. Lois Frye went the distance in the first game, for her 10th win. In the nightcap, MSC came from behind as Kim Drager broke out of her hitting slump with a two-run double off the left-field fence. The winning run scored on a wild pitch. MSC has played only seven home games this year. It will be at home today for a doubleheader against Stony Brook beginning at 4 p.m.