Computer glitch fouls up registration for students

by Marla DeSilva

About 600 students, 200 of them seniors scheduled to graduate in May 93, did not receive their registration notices this month due to a computer error, said Acting Registrar William Welsch. As a result, when registration began on Tuesday many students had to wait up to two hours on lines beginning at Rm. 126 in the Student Center and continuing out the door by the MAC machine, up the steps and out into the Student Center Quad.

The error stems from a computer program which has been used for the past four years and is designed not to deliver the notices. Due to "a bug" in the program language many students graduating in May were also not sent their registration cards, Welsch said.

Letters were sent out informing these students to pick up a registration card at the Office of the Registrar by Friday, Oct. 9. Some students however, like Mark Fanelli, received the letter late while others did not get one at all.

"It doesn't surprise me. It's expected from this school," said Fanelli, 21, a math major.

Many students said the process of getting the registration cards was time consuming, like theater major Jill Appelbaum, 20, who had to wait 20 minutes on line.

"I'm annoyed. They messed up big time," said Appelbaum. Assistant Registrar Denise DeBlasio said every year two ads are sent out to The Montclarion. The first one informing students that registration is coming and cards are being sent out. The second ad states that registration cards have been mailed and students should contact the Office of the Registrar if they have not received theirs.

Both ads were hand delivered by someone from the Office of the Registrar to The Montclarion but neither of them was printed, DeBlasio said. She said editor-in-chief Kevin Coligan admitted to the error and said it would be printed this week.

"It's late but at least the underclassmen might benefit from it," said DeBlasio.

"The problem may have resulted due to the fact that the free announcement was erroneously sent to the executive board," said DeBlasio.

TKE found not guilty by 21-20 vote

by Sean Carrol

On Tuesday, Oct. 13, the representatives of the Greek Council found the fraternity Tau Kappa Epsilon not guilty on the charge of hazing by a narrow vote of 21 - 20.

Life Valandingham, Secretary of the Greek Council and a member of the Alpha Iota Chi sorority, explained that the Judicial Court functions just like a court of law. Both sides of the case are presented along with any physical evidence that is pertinent to the case. Also, representatives from the other fraternities and sororities are not allowed to discuss the case with their respective organizations until the Judicial Court is held.

Several Greek organizations offered no comment on the matter while others, including Sigma Delta Tau, agreed with the decision. The SGA also has no comment at this time.

Pat Algieri, president of TKE, thanked the Greek Council for having a fair trial and thanked everyone who was stuck by them through the whole situation.

Bohn Hall getting $750,000 in new dorm furniture

by Glenn Steinberg

Bohn Hall residents are getting approximately $750,000 worth of new dorm furniture.

The residents will be receiving new beds, desks, chairs, wardrobes, lounge furniture, and furniture for the study cubicles.

The beds started arriving on Aug. 31 and the rest of the furniture began arriving Sept. 16.

The lobby in Blanton Hall is being used as storage space for the furniture that will be going into approximately 300 rooms which house about 600 people.

According to Sherrill Cantrell, director of Bohn Hall, the plan is to get all of the beds in the rooms before they start moving the rest of the furniture in.

The reason for all of the furniture being in Blanton Hall's lobby is because, "The furniture is being received quicker than it can be installed," said Cantrell.

It is being placed inside of Bohn Hall because there simply is not enough room inside of Bohn Hall to store all of the furniture.

Cantrell says that the beds should be completely moved in by early next week, and it is expected that it probably will not be until the end of this semester that the rooms in Bohn Hall are completely furnished.

One reason for the big delay is that there is use of only one of the elevators in the sixteen story building.

According to Cantrell, it has been between 15-20 years since Bohn Hall has received new furniture and the reason for getting new furniture is due to simple wear and tear.

Cantrell was involved in picking out the color scheme of the furniture.

INTERNATIONAL

An earthquake hit Northern Egypt, rocking the city of Cairo, the second most populous in the world. It registered 5.9 on the Richter scale and killed at least 350 people and injured about 3000 others.

Rebel Serbs reportedly carried out air attacks on two Bosnian cities despite a new U.N. Security Council moratorium on military fights in the former nation of Yugoslavia. New rounds of ethnic cleansing in the north also drove thousands of Muslims and Croats from their homes. With winter coming the push for food, water and electricity has intensified in the beleagured city of Sarajevo.

Iraqi police seized a U.S. bomb disposal expert working on the disputed Iraq-Kuwaiti border. The land which Chad Hall was working on was mandated from Iraq to Kuwait in May this year. Hall was released after subsequent threats by the American government.

A very tenuous relationship between Apartheid supporters and the African Group Inkatha was struck in South Africa to counter the recent deal made between the African National Conference and the white government of P.W. De Klerk to resume transition talks.

NATIONAL

Presidential candidates Bill Clinton, Ross Perot, and President Bush squared off in a debate on Sunday. Bush said, "I don't think the country is coming apart at the seams," as Bill Clinton said the opposite earlier in the campaign. The debate did not cause any radical shift in the polls. Clinton leads with about 50% to Bush's 35% and Perot holds anywhere from 7% to 15%.

Head of the Federal Reserve Board, Alan Greenspan, said election year politics will not prevent him from cutting interest rates further if it is needed to stimulate the sluggish economy.

A bill facing President Bush puts him in a very precarious position. If he signs it, taxes would go up for upper income individuals, big corporations, securities brokers, owners of diesel powered recreation boats and workers who make a job related move. If he vetoes the bill, federal funds will be denied to hurricane Andrew victims, children paralyzed by polio shots, the self employed, and workers attending night school receiving help from their employers. Let's see what he does, could be interesting.

Vice President candidates Al Gore, Danforth J. Quayle the III, and Admiral Stockton squared off in a debate on Tuesday. This debate was also slated to have little effect on the public's opinion.

LOCAL

The city said it will stand behind a federal court ruling that said the NJ State test for promotion was biased against minorities. Over 45% of whites passed the test that only 25% to 30% of Hispanics and blacks passed. The finding ruled that many questions were more familiar to white officers than minorities.

New Jersey Governor Jim Florio and Ohio Governor George Voinovich forged an agreement to curtail trashsmugglers from dumping Jersey garbage in the mid-west state. In 1990, about 500,000 tons of our garbage were dumped in Ohio despite our state’s records showing 113,714 tons being officially shipped.

An 18-year-old Peekskill, N.Y., woman heard a loud crash Friday night. When she went outside she found a hole in the trunk of her car. A 22 pound meteor had struck her vehicle. The rock made a foot-deep crater in the driveway. It was not said if her insurance would cover the damage.

The New Jersey Masterplan is bringing new hope to its cities and forests. The plan is designed to stop the spread of urban sprawl by redirecting growth back towards the cities by accepting a financial focus on the now economically declining population centers, giving people more opportunity, hoping to give them a better life where they already are.

MSC produces new publication for neighbors

by Steve Gateward

MSC office of Public Information has a new monthly publication for the surrounding community called Neighbors, said Phyllis Miller director of Public Information. The newspaper, with a circulation of 200,000, is designed to inform the residents of Montclair, Upper Montclair, Little Falls and part of Clifton about campus events. It costs approximately $3,000 a month to print the paper. Neighbors replaces Front Row which was a calendar that told about upcoming events on campus. Neighbors not only tells the surrounding community about events on campus but also stories featuring faculty and students. “People who live down the street get no information about the great things that we do on campus,” said Miller. When the paper originally was published it had a circulation of 100,000, but due to many requests the circulation was doubled. The first issue came out in July and seven more issues are expected to come out later this year.

Along with Neighbors the office of Public Information prints Insights, a faculty and staff paper, and Carpe Diem, an alumni and parents of students paper.

Garufi has been suspended from MSC indefinitely, and has been officially charged with assault.

Garufi did not care to comment on his suspension but said about the assault “I feel really bad about it. I didn’t realize my own strength.” He also said, “People were coming up to me that I hardly knew and congratulating me.”

The victim refused comment on the attack.

The court trial will take place on Oct. 28, 1992 in Little Falls.

Civil Rights Chief speaks on minorities and television

by Pete Quilla

“It’s the first time I’ve ever stood in a line this long,” said Verena DelaAsuncion, as she sat on the steps outside of the Student Center at the end of the line. Registration which was scheduled to end at 4 p.m. on Tuesday, ended at 4:20 p.m. “We were only twenty minutes behind,” said Welch.

Fitzgerald, 22, said the Registration Office has no idea what they are doing. There are people with less credits - some with 30 - who are before seniors with 100 credits, he said.

Welsh said despite the computer problem seniors were still registered according to the amount of credits they had. Some students did not get the classes they wanted for reasons other than the computer error.

The computer program was fixed as soon as the problem was discovered, said DeBlasio.

Picture MSC as a forest; home to a plethora of soaring, leafy, chipmunk-housing, squirrel-speckled, shade-producing, tasty trees. Ya' know, like the ones they toppled for the new library.

There's the large majestic redwood in the center of campus that sprouts from an awe-inspiring mound of fertilizer - that's the administration. Over yonder, there's a sickly spread of bent and twisted crab apple trees -those represent the cafeterias.

Growing in the rockiest of soil, far from the bright sunshine of the aforementioned redwood, are a few broken-down, termite-infested, dry-rotting oaks -yes, those are the dormitories and residence halls.

Okay, now with all that wood, MSC needs a few peckers.

That's where The Montclarion comes in.

Soliciting/Trespassing

10/6/92 A resident from Bohn Hall called headquarters to report two females selling magazines. They had walked past the front desk of Bohn Hall without stopping. The officer found them on the 7th floor and they admitted to selling the magazines. They were brought in for questioning and it was determined that they had trespassed, thus, two arrests were made. They were both non-students.

10/9/92 A student reported that man was selling Bibles and other religious materials. He was stopped and was found to have had no identification, but stated to be working for Chapel Sales, Inc.

Trespassing

10/7/92 As a student was getting dressed in the Women's locker room she heard a noise. When she turned around a white male was staring at her. The man ran towards the rear of the locker room and out the door. A check was made with negative results. The door was believed to be ajar earlier. A composite could not be made.

Suspicious Vehicle

10/7/92 A non-student reported that he and his four-year-old daughter were exiting the campus by the Clove Road Bridge in his truck, a blue vehicle pulled in front of him. The man put his truck in gear and then put his arm in front of his daughter to protect her, anticipating that the blue vehicle would hit his truck. As he looked up, the person put his arm out the window, gave him the finger and drove off. The man drove down Clove Road to try to get his license plate number but when he put his truck in gear the gear box broke. He tried to get someone to help him but no one came to his aid. While walking to Clove Road, another vehicle came by the two and threw a wire toward him that hit him on his head. Then a notebook was thrown at him and hit him on the shoulder. It took him 45 minutes to walk home, after a low truck picked up his truck.

She told him that she did not know any Gregory and asked who was the English teacher. He could not give the name. She said that he would be on campus to see her tomorrow. The caller's voice is the same person that has called her before.

10/11/92 A Clove Rd. Apartment resident broked up with another Clove Rd. resident in April of 1992. When the female returned to school in September '92, she found that the male went through her items and took a letter that she had written to a male friend in Michigan, who then received a phone call from an unknown actor threatening to kill him. The male Clove Rd. resident admitted to calling the person from Michigan and threatening him.

Investigation Report

Possession of Firearm on College Grounds/ Suspected Cruelty to Animals

10/9/92 An officer heard a loud bang as he was running on the track behind the Field House. He thought the noise was from the backfire of a car. He saw a student talking with a man and his dog on the field. After the officer left the field the man and the dog left as well. He noticed that the man was carrying a clear plastic bag with visible blood in the bottom and contained a dead dog body. The man put the bag in his back seat and before he closed his car door he pulled out another plastic bag and removed a small object from within and put it under the seat. The officer thought the man was a black part and could have possibly been a weapon. The man's license plate number was taken for information. A student who was talking to the man was questioned but he did not want to give any information when he found out that he was an cop.

Harassing Phone Calls

10/11/92 A student reported that while she and her roommates were going for the weekend she received several harassing calls from her ex-boyfriend.

The manager of the game room will speak with the Desk Assistant about the incident.

10/13/92 Officers reported to Russ Hall in response to an alarm in Room 206. Upon arrival, the door to the room was secured but the alarm was sounding. A faculty member was advised of the situation and said that the alarm would reset itself in 10 minutes. This did occur.

Disturbed Female

10/7/92 A Blanton Hall resident was in the infirmary when Nurse Jones called headquarters for assistance. The resident admitted that she was under psychiatric treatment and that she did not want to return to her dormitory because of roommate problems. Her roommate was very inconsiderate by playing loud music, opening the window even when it was cold, and was basically making her life very uncomfortable. Her doctor was contacted about the situation and let headquarters know there was nothing to be alarmed about. The Assistant Manager of Bohn Hall was called to reassign the female's room.

Breaking those ol’ Greek stereotypes

by Vinny Carchletta

Who am I describing when I say, “These people are alcohol abusing, sexist, who do nothing at college but get drunk, haze and buy their friends?”

I am sure that the people you think I am describing are the Greeks. If this is true, I feel sorry for you. You are passing judgement on the entire Greek system and each member of it. It seems that we all know the stereotypes that the Greeks have obtained. That’s all they are, stereotypes. I am here to break them. I am here to inform you about us.

Today, there are more individuals in the Greek system than ever before. I am sure you would be surprised to see who actually is Greek. Did you know that seven out of ten people listed in Who’s Who are Greeks? Forty-three of 50 of this nation’s largest corporations are led by Greeks. If this is true, I feel sorry for you. Today, there are more individuals in the Greek system than ever before. I am sure you would be surprised to see who actually is Greek. Did you know that seven out of ten people listed in Who’s Who are Greeks? Forty-three of 50 of this nation’s largest corporations are led by Greeks. I could go on and on, but I think that you are getting the point. Greeks are all over this campus. If you take a walk from College Hall to Blanton Hall during a school day, I am sure that you will see a Greek. Greeks are politically aware and active. Just look at the SGA, a good percentage of your representatives are Greek. Also, look at the Greek Council. Their accomplishments and improvements on campus are indisputable. The Greek Council consists of 40 Greek Organizations. These Organizations are diverse and form a solid Greek Community. In this community exist National and Local Fraternities and Sororities, both Professional and Social. These are caring and determined men and women of all races, ethnic groups, and creeds who work together to provide service and community to this campus. Just two weeks ago Rich Adams, president of the Greek Council and a brother of Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, held a Bush-Clinton debate and forum during the Greek Council Meeting. Representatives from both parties spoke and answered questions, opening our eyes to many issues that a college student is unaware of. Also, the Greek Council granted $400 of its own money to Sigma Gamma Rho Sorority, Inc., which in turn, they donated to the Hale House. This donation was voted on and unanimously passed by the Greek Organizations.

The Greek System contributes both to the campus as well as the surrounding communities. The Greek Organizations perform numerous philanthropical and community service events every semester. Thousans of dollars are raised and distributed to a large number of charities yearly. For example, in December of 1991 Delta Kappa Psi Fraternity and Delta Phi Epsilon Sorority visited Our Lady of Hope grade school in East Orange. They held a Christmas party for the underprivileged children of the school and distributed presents to all the children. Also, on May 14, 1992, Alpha Iota Chi Sorority and Lambda Theta Phi, CLUB and LASO (2 Greek and 2 Non-Greek Organizations) held, “Hands Across MSC,” which was held in memory of all the victims of the L.A. riots. Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity and MSC’s Residence Life brought food and clothing to the homeless of Penn Station in New York City. This effort was combined with other New Jersey schools as well as our own Truck Team and WMSC. Kappa Alpha Psi will again visit these people during the semester, maybe you can help.

Alpha Phi Omega, a Professional Co-Ed Service Fraternity has adopted the section of Route 46 closest to the campus as part of the N.J. Adopt a Highway Program to keep N.J. highways clean. They also hold annual blood drives and many more service projects. I could go on and on with lists and pages of the services that the Greeks at MSC and other schools have done.

The Greeks have a positive effect on this campus and the community. The terrible stereotypes should not ruin the good name of the Greek Community. Stereotypes are deadly. It’s seen daily what prejudices do to individuals of certain races, creeds, and social statuses. That is why now, more than ever, this communication gap between the Greeks and the community must be killed.

They know that no one is perfect. They don’t expect you to be and I hope you don’t expect them to be. No organization is perfect and none ever will be. I hope that I opened your eyes and please keep them open. Compare the good to the bad. You will see that the Greeks are only human and so are you.

Love songs, nothing but love songs
After last Sunday night's presidential "debate," it was quite a relief to see the second string of the presidential teams verbally slam-dance without the smug intrusion of camera-hungry, moderators.

Witty insights into Fay Vincent's employment status aside, we at The Montclarion believe the American people would be better served if presidential contenders were allowed to actually debate, rather than recite pat answers to obvious questions at the prompting of frustrated school marms. Why sit through a medley of Bush's and Clinton's greatest speeches (interspersed with Perot's Uncle Jesse Duke-esque homespun humor) more fit for a late-night, K-Tel, 8-track offer than for the basis of the American people's choice for president? We're talking about the leader of the free world, not a bubble-wrapped bonus gift accompanying your combination Garden Weasel/Tummysizer.

On Tuesday, Quayle and Gore unfortunately slipped into some silly school-boy "did so/did not" simultaneous soliloquies, but at least they showed some substance while trading barbs and attempting to draw blood. We saw two people dealing with the present, the unexpected; just as they must, should they attain the positions they seek.

Admiral Stockdale, Perot's number two man: well, at least he didn't have a stroke.

Hands across the Student Center
Stumbling to the SGA office to reconcile a parking ticket dispute, one might have the brief delusion they had stepped through some strange portal in time and ended up at the DMV. Lines for registration stretched beyond belief, with the one desirable side effect being on-delusion they had stepped through some strange portal in time and ended up at the DMV.

The customary, class-coveting, campout caravan, however, was made more unbearable by the sheer numbers of students snaking through the Student Center Cafe could pick up a plateful of lukewarm starch n' sauce.

Beware all yellow-belly, Kleenex-clutching Dems!

I'm Right!!!

by Matt Swartz

It's been a while, but I'm back. Warning to all left wing liberal Clinton/Gore wanna be's, Matthew J. Swartz is back about what the hell's going on? Between reading most of The Montclarion, its new rag of a magazine, The Anarchist Syndicate and that propaganda Clinton TV booth, I can see I came back just in time. My goal, as the premier writer of commentary at The Montclarion is to give a more realistic and factual opinion on current events which I have noticed are not well represented by other writers. First of all, Always Right is a cheap imitation of my column last year, Tim's Thoughts go on forever like a rambling child, Record Irrelevance is just an imbecile, a pot head, and even a Femi-Nazi! God, this paper needs me!

This week's article will be based on people I believe deserve a positive mention and those people who deserve a negative mention. To start off on a positive note, I want to say thank you to President Reid for his hard work on improving our campus. I can't wait to use our bigger and better library. By the way, I'm still glad we got rid of those ugly trees and annoying squirrels. What a small price to pay for a big, beautiful, steel and brick building. I also send out congratulations to Rush Limbaugh, his new TV show and awesome radio program (Dittos Rushie); Eddie Murray for being the only productive Met player this year; the Olympic basketball team for kicking some ass over in Spain and bringing home the gold; the United Nations for attempting to keep world peace, especially in Eastern Europe and attempting to feed the millions of starving Somalians. A special honorable mention is also in order for President Bush and Vice President Quayle for their family values theme, which, if listened to and followed, would deeply improve our society. A society which lacks moral values in certain aspects such as drug use, crime, rape, murder, lack of work ethics (too many people on welfare) and 1.5 million abortions. Calm down people, I'm pro-choice and I choose life. Except for cases of rape and health related reasons, abortion is wrong in my opinion.

But I realize it must be kept legal for obvious reasons. If society had higher morals and better family values, abortion would not even be an issue. But until then, let the argument rage on.

The negative mentions begin with that bald headed bitch, Sinead O'Connor. The servitude of her to inflame most of the free world by her ignorant actions. I'm Jewish and even I was insulted by her hate crime. Not only is she the butt of everyone's joke, and her singing sucks, now she's preaching hate against Catholics. What if David Duke tore up a picture of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Then what would you people say? She is a symbol of hate and ignorance and we should ban her from the USA. By the way, we still owe her a kick in the butt for not playing our anthem, what a bitch!

Magic Johnson and his huge ego deserve another negative mention. Before you call me undisciplined or worse, realize I have an educated background in health which may not make me a doctor, but it makes me qualified to talk about AIDS. The risk is real, but there is still a risk to the dozens of people he will play against each night. He should just retire, stay retired and spend the rest of his limited life preaching against casual sex and spending time with his family. If he did that ten years ago, he wouldn't be in this situation now. That's right, he respected women, believed in monogamy and safe sex, wouldn't have caught the AIDS virus and wouldn't have begun. His ego made him catch the disease and now his ego may cause him to give others the disease and possibly damage himself even more! I think.

She's a holly jolly transvestite, and he's got a runny nose

In 1967 Question Mark and the Mysterians signed a recording contract with Wade Records. Shortly thereafter they released their soon to be number one single "0698." Question Mark was the stage name of a short otherwise insignificant Texan also known as Ron Perot who would not be heard from again until 1973 when his much publicized royalty fight was decided. It seemed that Wade Records were not forthcoming in royalty payment of Perot's aforementioned one hit wonder. This of course is the famous Perot v. Wade, 410 U.S. 113 (1973) decision that made Perot a household name. Curiously, bringing up these little known facts for absolutely no reason whatsoever, I have nothing to say about the questionable past of otherwise insignificant Texan Perot, except to note that it does not seem to be one of proper preparatory presidential premise, that is being simply insignificant and not a candidate that I take seriously.

Twenty five years later in 1992, I question the aforesaid Question Mark (ad Perot's) questionable candidacy, it just raises too many questions, questionable commentary not withstanding. Questions that I do take seriously today are sure to follow this quite impressive and self serving segue. I question why

Quivering lips, no Bush

I am writing this letter in response to the numerous anti-Bush comments published in the newspaper. I won't go into a deluge of personal insults about Bill Clinton, or as I refer to him, the lying cheating, tax-dodging slick husband of a bitch. I'll just give some of the facts.

Slick Willie has said that the only way to reduce the deficit is a massive tax increase and he has already called for $154 billion in higher taxes. He's also proposed $230 billion in additional government spending. Guess where he'll get the money? Slick Willie's new taxes and regulations would tax away two thirds of all business profits, money that would otherwise be invested in new plants, more jobs and increased growth. He also opposes the Balanced Budget Amendment and a broad based capital gains cut. You can figure out for yourselves what Slick Willie will mean to the small businesses of this country.

Slick Willie doesn't just want to put his hands in Jennifer Flowers' pockets, he wants to put them in your too. As Gov. of Arkansas Slick Willie raised taxes 128 times. As Slick Willie's new Dr. Fixit, he shot himself in the foot. As Slick Willie's new Dr. Fixit, he shot himself in the foot.

You can figure out for yourselves what Slick Willie will mean to the small businesses of this country.

Slick Willie has handled the entire draft dodging issue has also been a disgrace. How can a man who deliberately dodged the draft be a viable Commander in Chief? The fact of the matter is that Slick Willie used his high society strings to dodge the draft while sending a low income replacement to serve in Vietnam. Slick Willie has proposed, which are paid for by you the taxpayer, the President's programs offer hope and opportunity to all Americans, by employing people—not governments—to make the important choices in life.

Magic is one of the greatest basketball players ever and I thank him for all the years of entertainment, but now it's time to step down like a real man, like Larry! A hoo to the New York Mets for such a terrible season. An even louder boo to Murphy Brown and the rest of the elite culture in Hollywood for their overbearing and hypocritical attacks on Vice President Quayle. If they really want to help, why don't they donate some of their fat paychecks to our society, which in their opinion is in the middle of the second Great Depression. They talk a lot and even do a few special shows, but when it comes to giving up some of their perks or even to laugh at us and say it's Quayle's fault. Just say no to Murphy Brown and her liberal buddies who have no grasp on the real world.

Don't forget to send in your comments about my article, because we all know you read my article first and you think I'm the best and I'm Right. Next week, Solving the Drug Problem!

An explosion of originality and imagery

by Sean Carrol

On Oct. 12, Class One Concerts held their second Open Mic Night of the semester in the Student Center Ballrooms. As with previous open mic nights the acts ranged from essays and poetry readings to stand-up comedy and musical performances.

The evening began with Homer and Jon, brothers who performed the song "Franklin's Tower" on an electrified acoustic guitar. The music was somewhat inaudible the music and was an appropriate opening act.

Concerts held their second Open Mic Night on Oct. 15 and was an explosion of originality and imagery. The evening began with "Member of the Tribe." The cast feature Elyse Wolf as the lead, Costanza Combs as the lead, and Jennifer Thaler as Mortimer, and Jennifer Celia as a mute.

Finnas, who plays the narrator, Greg Gallo, does a fine job of presenting the story to the audience. He has a strong presence on stage which is captivating. Biehl and Worm are cleverly staged. Finally, "Captive Audience," along with two covers, "Identity" and "Freebird" by Lynyrd Skynyrd. While "Freebird" was performed well it was also somewhat grating with the far-too-long solos. The last act on Open Mic Night was a two-piece group calling themselves Joshua and Jeff. They played a medley of instrumentals including a mini-Seattle set of Nirvana's "Smells Like Teen Spirit" and Pearl Jam's "Alive."

While most of the music was somewhat enjoyable the prelim of the night somewhat tedious. A better variety of acts would improve Open Mic Night and would better establish the coffeehouse tradition that it is striving for.

When the moon hits the sky...

by Sandra Cammillieri

Try to remember the last time the moon was full, the sky was a brilliant illumination of stars, and you fell in love...It won't be too hard to conjure up amorous thoughts for this month because romantic illumination will be harmoniously bringing together tunes in many of their courtships through. Despite this, however, they have a subtle chemistry which makes up for the dramatic overplay.

Dalo gives an exquisite portrayal in his role of the actor that sets up a pseudo-abduction. Dalo's performances and movements are cleverly staged. Finally, Matthew Hoonhoroe is quite jovial especially in the number titled "Plant a Radish." Here, Hoonhoroe and Combes perform a euphoric song and dance routine.

Under the direction of Tim Herman, the production team includes musical director Eric Diamond, set design by John Figola, costume design by Leslie Littel, and light design by Matt Nowak. Of all the production elements the moon is most appealing. It is a sonorous blend of the piano (played by music director Eric Diamond), the percussion (played by Judy Aron) and the harp (played by Robin Gordon Carter). Each of these musicians harmoniously brings together takes that light, whimsical, and romantic.

In a recent interview, Tim Herman commented about the production, stating, "We're doing this to have a good time." If The Fantasticks has some enduring and exuberant scenes, for an evening of entertainment, come out and do some romantic star-gazing!

Performances for "The Fantasticks" run from Oct. 15-17 and 22-24 at 8 p.m. with matinees on Oct. 16th and 25th at 2 p.m.

Of Mice and Mohicans

by Mark Loughlin

High school students around America will be doing somersaults for Gary Sinise’s new adaptation of the book report favorite, Of Mice And Men. Starring John Malkovich as the simple Lenny and Sinise as his watchful keeper, George, the film boasts a very capable cast that treats the material with respect and tenderness. Joe Morton, John Terry, Sherilyn Fenn, Ray Walston and Noble Willingham all turn in fine performances. But the film, like the book, belongs to Lenny, played by Casey Siemaszko. Realizing that George is abstaining permanently she tries for the more interested Lenny, who would later strike her pretty, soft hair than roll in the hay or ponder the universe with the lovely lady. You probably know the rest. If you’re looking for surprises, this is not the film to see.

What makes Of Mice And Men better than the average adaption of classic literature is the simplicity of its telling. It is all very straightforward, with a nice, clear script by Oscar winner Horton Foote, and even handed direction by first time director Gary Sinise. He fills the screen with beautiful images and gets good performances from his cast. If there are any real complaints, they would not be in the production itself, but in people’s expectation of what it should be. Afficionados of the book may not like some of the performances for some reasons. Some people say that Malkovich is not large enough to play Lenny. Those people will soon forget that once he is on the screen. His performance is great and should come up again at Oscar time. Some people say that the last 30 seconds of the ending was sentimentalized (I won’t tell what they did). I was one of the ones who enjoyed it and thought it wrapped things up nicely. These are very small grievances. For the most part it is an exemplary production. Since most people already know the story, this experience will be more like a pleasant reunion with characters than the usual blind date.

The Last of the Mohicans

by Kevin Schwoebel

First there was the book, written by James Fenimore Cooper. A good read. And now, director Michael Mann brings Last of the Mohicans to the screen. Mann’s better known accomplishments include the creation of Miami Vice and the film Manhunter. The film is set during The French and Indian War, a.k.a. The Seven Years War. The French were trying to gain control of the British colonies. Daniel Day Lewis (My Left Foot) stars as the quintessential hero, Hawkeye, the child of colonists raised by a Mohican father. Chingachgook (played by real-life Native-American activist Russell Means). The natural son of Chingachgook is Uncas, played by Eric Schweig. The other main characters are Cora Munro (Madeline Stowe) and Magua, a vengeful Huron played to the top by Wes Studi (Dances With Wolves).

The film ran smoothly through two hours, with few lulls in the action. Mann spent the beginning of the film establishing the historical context of the film. It is important for a historical film to set up the period or else you won’t get it. This film takes place during a war that very few people know anything about, so it was very necessary to explain through dramatical means the relationships between the French and English, the English and the American colonists, and the American colonists and the Native-Americans, etc. Although you have to wade through all these set up, you eventually understand and appreciate their presence. This film’s historical accuracy is excellent as is the sprawling scenery.

I was very impressed with both the sound effects and the cinematography. The tomahawks make a nice “whack!” as they enter a human chest. The scenes in between Hawkeye and Cora. The actions of both Uncas and Cora’s younger sister seemingly more powerful relationship between Uncas and Cora’s younger sister. Realizing which lighting was by fire or candle light looked exactly perfect: dark, shadowy, etc. I even liked the score, up until the point when a piece which is sung towards etc. I even liked the score, up until the point when a piece which is sung towards Overall, Last of the Mohicans is a truly epic film. It should be placed up there with Glory, Platoon, Dances With Wolves, and the other greats.

No longer an alternative

by Alex Castino

What the hell is this? A greatest hits album by the Red Hot Chili Peppers? What is this worlds coming to? Would not expect a box set from the New Kids on the Block (by the way, what happened to NKOTB?) anyway, it is a little distressing to see a collection of the RHCP appropriately titled What Hits? Let's face it, people, in 1992 the RHCP are a household name. They are no longer that perspective things. Lollapalooza t-shirt or your mother have changed when your 10 year "alternative" to the Top 40, they have this collection of the RHCP, happened to NKOTB along with "Backwoods," "Fighthappened to NKOTB: What is this? A few of the more accessible tracks from Mother's Milk are present, including "Knock Me Down," "Taste The Pain," and Stevie Wonder's "Higher Ground." The only track from Blood Sugar Sex Magik is "Scar Tissue," "Under the Bridge." "Fartman" is the movie you wonder which wowed. It also contains the results photographers! The Arts Section will publish a photo that will be called the Picture of the Week. Anyone who has an MSC related picture that is humorous, bizarre, etc. should submit their photos to The Montclairian, Student Center Annex room 113. Place in Arts mailbox. just a couple of quick items... This week on Star Trek: The Next Generation a third member from the original cast will make a special appearance. James Doohan will reprise his role as that lovable ships engineer "Scotty" in the episode. He follows DeForest Kelly ("Bones") who appeared in the series pilot and Leonard Nimoy ("Spock") who appeared in a two-part last season... There was a special showing of a working version of Disney's Aladdin which wowed audiences. Disney says that this was the only video format. It is the job of the editors and proofreaders to correct these mistakes, so get yourself together. You obviously don't know anything about the newspaper business, couch potato.

Lovejoy on the Age of Electronic Media

by C.W. Sprottfield

Montclair State College is proud to present Art Forum, a series of events presenting various artists from architecture to sculpture to screenwriting, sponsored by the Fine Arts Department. This Fall 1992 schedule is alive and kicking.

The intimate, theatre-like room was the backdrop for a short film and lecture on "Art, Artists and Technology", crossing sculptural and photographic to interweave with the cinematic.

The schedule for the remainder of October is as follows: Oct. 15: Harry Winth, talking about the responsibilities all designers have concerning the environment.

Oct. 22: Nancy Paladino on "High Tech" digital and computer technology has opened the door for designers to participate in what was once a video engineering forum.

All lectures are held in West on Thursday at 3 p.m. They are free and open to the public, provided reservations are made through the French Studies department at (201) 654-3925.

Fresname Volker thrown into the fire as MSC's quarterback

When Darren Volker decided to come to MSC to play football, he didn't foresee a lot of playing time in his freshman season. That outlook has suddenly changed. When starting quarterback Steve Busan went down with a season-ending knee injury against Kean on Saturday, Volker moved into the number-one spot.

Head coach Rick Giancola likes what Volker can bring to the Red Hawks offense. "Darren's a good athlete. He's given us added mobility. He can also throw the run effectively," said Giancola.

Volker, a 6' 220 pounder from Roseland (Seton Hall Prep), has a strong and accurate arm, but lacks game experience. Although he is in a pressure situation against William Paterson this Saturday, Giancola doesn't want to lay too much on Volker's lap because it's his first start.

"Our biggest challenge is to try not to give Darren too much too soon. He fits nicely into our offensive scheme, but I don't want him to feel that he has to carry the whole load by himself," said the Red Hawks' tenth-year head coach.

Field hockey defeats William Paterson 4-3, snaps nine game losing streak

by Keith A. Idee

The MSC field hockey team ended its nine game losing streak by defeating William Paterson 4-3, at Sprague Field in Upper Montclair.

Captain Marriann Dava's crossing pass to Jen Tracey led to capitalize on it. As a result, they won the first match 15-6, the Red Hawks scored goals for the Red Hawks. The victory improved MSC's record to 2-10 (1-5 NJAC).

In action prior to the tournament, the MSC field hockey team to a 0-0 tie until the waning moments of the NJAC battle that took place on Tuesday, Oct. 6. Although their record doesn't show it, the MSC field hockey team has really made strides this season. The team came into September both undermanned and inexperienced. The fact that they've been able to win two games is an accomplishment in itself.

The Red Hawks will play three times this week including two conference matchups.

Volleyball still searching for winning ingredients

by Nicole Festa

The MSC volleyball team continued its rough stretch after they lost to Kean in the Hunter College Invitational Volleyball Tournament on Saturday. After losing the first match 15-6, the Red Hawks tried to rebound in the second. Although forcing Kean to score two extra points, the Red Hawks failed to capitalize on it. As a result, they dropped the second match by the close margin of 17-15. Thus, the Red Hawks were eliminated from this heat out of three tournament matches.

MSC also dropped matches to Hunter College (1-15,10-15) and Scranton University (9-15,17-15) in previous tournament matches.

The three tournament losses dropped the Red Hawks' record to 2-15 (0-3 NJAC).

In action prior to the tournament, MSC dropped a conference game to Stockton State 3-1, on Tuesday, Oct. 6.

With only five games remaining, one can only hope for a win against any of the five scheduled opponents. This was not exactly the type of optimistic view the volleyball team wanted in the beginning of the season, but it also has not exactly been the type of season they wanted either. Instead, it has been a season filled with many frustrating losses, and unfilled expectations. However, this is not the time to throw in the towel completely. The Red Hawks still have two important games this week against Delaware Valley on Saturday, Oct. 17 at 1 p.m., in Panzer Gym. The Red Hawks then hit the road to take on conference rival Ramapo College on Tuesday, Oct. 20 in Mahwah. A win is desperately needed by the volleyball team, and hopefully they can achieve this long awaited goal this week. We'll keep our fingers crossed!!

N.F.L. Picks: Week 7

George Calle, Managing Editor:

2. L.A. Raiders -7 over x-Seattle. The Seahawks suck.
4. Atlanta +11 over x-San Francisco. The 49ers suck.
5. San Diego +2 over x-Indianapolis. The Colts suck.

Rob Campos, Editor-In-Chief of the Anarchist Syndicate:

1. N.Y. Giants +2 over x-L.A. Rams. The Rams have managed to hang around in most of their games.
2. Kansas City +4 over x-Dallas. Take the points in what should be a tight game.
3. Houston -1 over x-Denver. The Broncos once again showed that they are not as good as their record (4-2) on Monday night in Washington.
4. x-Chicago -3 over Tampa Bay. The Bears cannot afford to fall any farther behind Minnesota.
5. x-Chicago -5 over Tampa Bay. Ditka. Period.

Keith A. Idee, Sports Editor:

1. x-L.A. Rams +2 over N.Y. Giants. Although they aren't abundant in the talent department, the Rams have managed to hang around in most of their games.
2. Kansas City +4 over x-Dallas. The points in what should be a tight game.
3. New England -14 1/2 over x-Miami. Marino and Co. could make this one ugly by halftime.
5. x-Chicago +11 over x-San Francisco. The 49ers suck.

Kevin Schwoebel, Prophet Bigg:

2. L.A. Raiders -7 over x-Seattle. My poor, poor Seahawks.
3. x-Miami -14 1/2 over New England. Marino and Co. could make this one ugly by halftime.
5. x-Chicago -5 over Tampa Bay. Ditka. Period.

Bob Wintermute, Managing Editor of the Anarchist Syndicate:

1. N.Y. Giants -2 over x-L.A. Rams. I'm going against my better instincts on this one.
2. x-Seattle +7 over L.A. Raiders. The Kingdome will be the deciding factor in this one.
3. x-Miami -14 1/2 over New England. I'm telling you-another potent season in the works.
4. x-Chicago -5 over Tampa Bay. If the Bears lose this one, call the ICU for Ditka.
5. x-San Francisco -11 over Atlanta. I thank the Jets for taking a week off, so I could pick S.F.

Jets crash in the Land of Losers

Three years ago New York Jets fans were chanting "Joe must go" in hopes that if head coach Joe Walton was fired the Jets could become contenders.

Well, Joe has been gone for nearly three seasons and it doesn't look as if anything has changed. After making strides in 1990 and playing .500 football as well as making the playoffs in 1991, the Jets have seemed to take steps backward in 1992.

The Jets had everybody sold on the concept that they would be winners in '92. They started off fine, finishing the pre-season 5-0. Then they came crashing back to reality.

Losing 17-10 to Atlanta in Week 1 was unexpected, but acceptable. Then things just kept getting worse.

Pittsburgh's Barry Foster looked like Barry Sanders as the Steelers made the Jets look silly in Week 2. San Francisco made them look even worse in Week 3.

Going into Week 4, the feeling was that the Jets would win one because they were playing the troubled Los Angeles Rams. Think again. Not only did they lose, but they only managed 10 points against a hurting Ram defense. Then came New England in Week 5. Someone upstairs liked the Jets in the Land of Losers.

Keeping the Rams winless amid a hospital to only six points. What's even more impressive is, that the Colts were inside the Jets' 25 yard line seven times, and could only manage two field goals on the Jet defense.

However, watching the Jet offense was like watching a seminar on what not to do.

When the Jets had an opportunity to go for the win late in the fourth quarter, Bruce Coslet seemed satisfied to just kick a field goal and go into overtime. Hey Bruce, live a little. Take at least one shot at the end zone before settling for the tie.

Again, third-year running back Blair Thomas was ineffective. When General Manager Dick Steinbergh selected Thomas with the second overall pick in the 1990 draft, the Jet thought they were getting the best player available.

What they've gotten thus far is a player with potential who has become indecisive and prone to fumbles. The Jury is still out on Thomas because he's got plenty of football left in him, but so far it's been Flop City.

As far as Browning Nagle goes, give him time. He has all of the physical tools that make up a good quarterback and he's going to take his lumps while learning the finer points of the game. The finer things include reading defenses, calling audibles at the proper times, and getting rid of the ball instead of taking a sack. These things are all part of the learning process and they take time to understand.

In all fairness, the Jets have been hit hard by injuries in the young season. Two of their top three defensive players have been sidelined. Defensive end Jeff Lageman will miss the remainder of the season and defensive end Dennis Byrd will miss two months as well. Also, Browning Nagle, Rob Moore, and Al Toon have all missed game time due to various injuries.

This bye week couldn't have come at a better time for the Jets. It will give them time to heal some nagging injuries and give them an extra week to prepare for the suddenly beatable Buffalo Bills.

It seems that the playoffs are not probable, but respectability is still possible. The Monday night game with Buffalo is the time for the Jets to make a statement to the league. They desperately need a win and now that Buffalo has come back to earth, the game has become winnable.

If the Jets lose against Buffalo, they're one step closer to a higher first round pick, but that shouldn't be a consolation to a team that was supposed to make the playoffs.

Calling the shots......

Has anyone noticed the great job that Willis Reed has done to fill the void left at forward by Terry Mills? Reed has picked up three players to fill three backup positions in the last two weeks.

For Jayson Williams and center Dwayne Schintzus were both first round draft picks in 1990 and have round draft picks in 1990 and have come winnable.

It seems that the playoffs are out of the question. After last year's disappointing finish, the Red Hawks are looking to get back to the elite status that they once held.

However, it could be a tough order to fill. Some of the best players in the Braves' agency mess that could arise this winter. Some of the best players in the Braves' agency mess that could arise this winter. Some of the best players in the Braves' agency mess that could arise this winter.

MSC defense stifles Kean 27-7, for second straight win

Quarterback Banas is lost for season with career threatening knee injury

by Michael Frasco

MSC won for the second consecutive game Saturday when it defeated Kean College 16-3 in a New Jersey Athletic Conference game before 2,134 fans at Zweidinger Field in Union.

Behind the strength of its defense, which limited Kean to just 90 yards rushing and 76 passing while throwing for a 20-yard gain to Tremaine Wimberly. His right knee was hit by the helmet of nose tackle John Walker and Neil Ruiz, the Red Hawks evened their record at 2-2.

In the process, however, MSC lost its starting quarterback, Steve Banas, to a season-ending knee injury. Banas, a junior, was injured with just a slight lead and Banas gone, MSC needed a big play to Banas: Three torn ligaments. gain some breathing room. It got just that when Ruiz took the second half kick 94 yards down the MSC sideline to give MSC a 13-3 lead. Scott Rubiniotti's extra point attempt was blocked. The Red Hawks then continued going with the running attack, a plan that usually works well when senior tailback John Walker is the one taking the handoff. Walker, who last week set MSC's all-time rushing mark with a 151-yard effort against Ramapo, added to his record by gaining 220 yards on 31 carries. For his efforts he was named to the Metro Honor Roll.

The Montville product carried seven consecutive times for 66 yards to the Kean 16 yard line. Volker then scrambled nine yards to the nine, and stepping up a Rubiniotti 25-yard field goal to push MSC's lead to 16-3 with 3:44 left.

Before the Walker score, Kean (3-1, 1-2 NJAC) had put together its only significant drive in the second half. After moving the ball 65 yards to the Red Hawk 15, Keans quarterback John Poznanski's pass was intercepted at the 5 by linebacker Duane Grade. But Grade fumbled the ball back on him, which gave Kean a second chance at the 19 as center Ben Constella recovered.

However, the MSC defense rose up and stopped Kean on a third-and-goal at the two, as Poznanski was sacked by linebacker Dwayne Savage for a loss of 10. Kurt Wieboldt's field goal attempt at 29 yards was then blocked by linebacker Jon Yenesel. The only points came on a 24-yard field goal by Wieboldt with 14:50 left in the second quarter, which gave the Red Hawks 3-0 lead.

MSC first scored on a Walker run of 25 yards, which was set up by a 44-yard pass play. This capped a two play, 37-yard drive in the first quarter, to give the Red Hawks a 7-0 lead with 9:20 remaining.

Red Hawk Notes... Bana's injury is the same as the one suffered by his predecessor, Ed Baffule, against Union in the 1989 NCAA division III playoff that ended his career.

MSC assistant coach increased his team-leading tackles to 30, with 12 in the Kean victory. Thompson also forced a fumble and deflected a pass on the way to earning honors, at the NJAC Defensive Player of the week. TheMSC defense gave up just 2 points in its first two losses, but has allowed only 10 points in its current two-game winning streak.

Women's tennis places sixth in NJAC tournament

by Karen Plumead

The MSC Women's Tennis team scored 20 points to put themselves in sixth place in the NJAC in the Oct. 2-3 tournament. The star of the tournament for MSC was Jen Dubrowks, who played hard and advanced to the final. Dubrowks was defeated by Koy Jones of Trenton State. Although Dubrowks was eliminated, her win was good for top spot in MSC's six-year women's tennis history.

Dubrowks's seven game winning streak in the NJAC was broken by this loss. She was named to the NJAC honor roll, though, for her play. Alison Vort and Traci Sprague also played well in the tournament. Vort energized the court with her third place win in the singles division.

On Oct. 9, the MSC women were defeated 9-0 on the road against Kean University. Head coach Bob McLaughlin stated, "Kuttro is top notch in tennis, so we expected the loss." The coach felt the girls played well considering the competition they were up against.

Stunning Report: William Paterson

This Saturday's homecoming game figures to be payback time for MSC, as it will play host to WPC at 7:00 p.m. at Sprague Field.

Last season the Pioneers defeated MSC for the first time in seven halves of soccer. "The E. Conn, game was a real big win, it seemed to lift our team," said Chesney.

Since that victory MSC has outscored their opponents 22-6, outshooting them 152-42. Neubart, a sophomore forward, has six goals in six games and goalsies Williams has had a goals against average of 1.00 per game.

Bucci has been one of the keys during the streak and for his efforts he was named NJAC Player of the Week. The modest junior sweeper, who scored two and assisted another last week in two shutouts, has much to credit to his teammates. "We have a healthy set of teammates. "We have a healthy set of teammates. We have a healthy set of teammates. We have a healthy set of teammates." It's been a dream run for the Red Hawks, who scored two and assisted another last week in two shutouts, which gave credit to his teammates.

How long has it been since MSC's Men's Soccer Team has lost a game? H. Ross Perot was not a candidate for president of the New York Jets thought they were a playoff team! You could get cold beer at the KeanKearl! No, it has been not that long, but the Red Hawks are on a roll. With two wins last week, the streak stands at six in victories in a row.

"Dominick is very dangerous. He has nine goals, mainly on dead ball plays, so he must be doing something right," said head coach Rob Chesney.

Eric Neubart and Carlos Hanze each added one goal and Mark Williams recorded his third consecutive shutout in the convincing victory.

MSC hosted Ramapo on Wednesday, Oct. 7. The turning point in this NJAC match was the opening top-off West. "We jumped on them early and put them away," said Chesney. Again Bucci, Hanne and Neubart scored as did Jim Williams.

Defensive tackle Larry Thompson's 12 tackles led a stingy Red Hawk defense.
