5-13-1993

The Montclarion, May 13, 1993

The Montclarion

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.montclair.edu/montclarion

Recommended Citation
https://digitalcommons.montclair.edu/montclarion/674

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the Student Newspapers at Montclair State University Digital Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Montclarion by an authorized administrator of Montclair State University Digital Commons. For more information, please contact digitalcommons@montclair.edu.
Roaches check into Bohn, will they check out?

by Glenn Steinberg

Bohn Hall has a reputation as being one of the more unsanitary dormitories on campus and is legend for its collapsing shower stalls, drainage problems and lack of basic amenities such as shower curtains in its communal bathrooms. Complaints of residents concerning the insects and simple invertebrate, ripped shower curtains and sinks full of dirt and food remains were received during the middle of the semester and acted upon. Exterminators were summoned to the twenty-one-year-old building, bathrooms were cleaned and shower curtains replaced in response to the complaints, said Cooper.

Unsanitary conditions, however, continued even after the repairs. According to Cooper, repairing the bathrooms is simply not enough. "Repairing it [the bathrooms] would be just like putting a band-aid on it; it would just be like covering it up, not fixing it," said Cooper.

The underlying problem with Bohn Hall, said Cooper, lies in the fact the building was poorly constructed using substandard materials. At the time, construction was done quickly and cheaply, resulting in prematurely-aged buildings.

Cooper said the college must replace the old drains, walls and floors to substantially improve Bohn's bathrooms. Repairs will simply not last in the shoddily built building.

SGA hires new attorney at law

by Glenn Steinberg

The Student Government Association's (SGA) search for a new legal attorney ended on Tuesday.

The SGA selected Joseph Mecca as the new attorney because "he best suited our needs," said Rich Kunze, Vice President of the SGA.

The process of looking for a new attorney started with five law firms applying. After interviews with all five firms and after deliberations with this year's lawyer, the SGA Executive Board, an attorney was chosen.

The job of the legal attorney is to provide legal advice on matters such as higher education and contracts, anything out of the courtroom such as libel and up to last year, free legal advice to students. Due to budget constraints, this service did not prove cost-effective and the free legal service has been eliminated for next year. Mecca will just serve as legal council to SGA next year said Kunze.

Antron Shancupp, this year's lawyer has been with the SGA for the past seven years. Kunze said that he has done an excellent job as far as legal advice, but since they are revamping the service, they decided to look into other law firms.

Shancupp is an MSc professor in the department of Law and Taxation in the School of Business.
News from around the WORLD

International

During this past week, a report by six leading economic institutes predicting that the country’s gross domestic product will shrink as much as 2% this year, marking the worst recession since World War II and saddling Germany with high unemployment and its biggest budget deficit in modern times. In the same week, the metalworkers’ union went on strike in eastern Germany, demanding 26% pay increases. Nearly 40,000 of them had walked off the job by the weekend, and union leaders threatened to call out a total of 350,000 if employees don’t show some flexibility.

In a nationally televised address 11 days after his strong showing in a national referendum, Yeltsin declared that those who do not share his aims “should simply leave,” and called for new parliamentary elections by the fall. The President’s prediction of a battle with the parliament over his new draft constitution, which would do away with the conservative Congress of People’s Deputies, was immediately fulfilled: parliamentary leaders introduced their own draft designed to restrict the power of the President.

In an effort to limit the number of voters turning out in the election, Khmer Rouge rebels killed more than 20 people in raids on various Cambodian cities and against units of the 20,000 member U.N. peacekeeping force. On Monday guerrillas seized the airport in Siemreap and wounded five Indian soldiers in Kampong Cham province. During a rocket attack in the province of Banteay Meanchay, a Japanese policeman was killed and eight Japanese and Dutch peacekeepers were wounded. These turn of events have increased fears for the safety of U.N. personnel. Fifty volunteer election supervisors outside Phnom Penh have left their posts, and have seized high-tech equipment and hundreds of pounds of explosives. According to the Washington Post, U.N. officials say three attempts were planned, first a remote-controlled car bomb set to detonate as Bush arrived in Kuwait City, a second car bomb near a theater where Bush received an honorary doctorate, and last, a suicide attack by a man wrapped in explosives. Clinton officials are debating how to retaliate if strong enough evidence traces the plot back to Baghdad.

Last Thursday, two murders took place, both by postal officers. The first took place in Dearborn, Michigan, by Larry Jaison who was upset at losing a promotion to a woman and killed one co-worker and wounded two others before killing himself. The other murder took place in Dana Point, California, by Mark Richard Hilbum who returned to the post office from which he had been fired and killed a letter carrier and wounded a clerk. Hilbum was arrested at a bar on Saturday morning and is also suspected of killing his mother, whose body was found at her home the same day of the post office murder, and of shooting four other people before he was apprehended.

Some G.O.P. Senators are threatening a filibuster against Clinton’s new campaign-finance proposal. The plan calls for some public financing of campaigns, and would bar big donors from dodging contribution limits by funneling funds through a presidential candidate’s political party. The problem is that the proposal is heavy on concessions to reform-shy Democratic leaders and on retreats from Clinton’s pledge to reduce the maximum contribution by a political-action committee to a congressional candidate from $5,000 to $1,000.

National

U.S. Intelligence is trying to find the beginnings of an alleged plot to assassinate former President Bush during his last month visit to Kuwait. Officials in Kuwait have arrested 16 people including 11 Iraqi nationals, and have seized high-tech equipment and hundreds of pounds of explosives. According to the Washington Post, Kuwaiti officials say three attempts were planned, first a remote-controlled car bomb set to detonate as Bush arrived in Kuwait City, a second car bomb near a theater where Bush received an honorary doctorate, and last, a suicide attack by a man wrapped in explosives. Clinton officials are debating how to retaliate if strong enough evidence traces the plot back to Baghdad.

Regional

On Tuesday, a Federal court ruled that the City University of New York had violated Dr. Leonard Jeffries’ right to free speech when it removed him from his position as chairman of the black studies program department at CUNY last year when he was charged with delivering a racial speech. The court left Judge Kenneth Conboy of Federal District Court in Manhattan to decide whether Jeffries should be reinstated or not. The jury is still deliberating on whether or not he should receive any monetary damages.

In sports news, the New York Yankees have just split a four game weekend series with the first place Detroit Tigers. The series left the Yankees just one and a half games out of first place. The other New York baseball team, the New York Mets did not fare as well. They dropped their series with the expansion team, the Florida Marlins. The series left the Mets eleven and a half games behind of the first place Philadelphia Phillies.

The Atlantic Division Champion New York Knicks opened their best of seven series against the Charlotte Hornets on Sunday beating them at Madison Square Garden 111-95.

Weather

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Day</th>
<th>High</th>
<th>Low</th>
<th>Forecast</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Thursday</td>
<td>65</td>
<td>43</td>
<td>Partly cloudy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Friday</td>
<td>69</td>
<td>45</td>
<td>Cloudy, some sun</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Saturday</td>
<td>72</td>
<td>40</td>
<td>Sunny, some clouds</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sunday</td>
<td>68</td>
<td>37</td>
<td>Partly sunny</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Monday</td>
<td>71</td>
<td>48</td>
<td>Sunny</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Paul Danefsky is not the Arts and Entertainment editor as stated in last week’s masthead.

Who can join The Montclarion? Any undergraduate student with an interest in any aspect of journalism or newspaper production.

How do you join? Come to room 113 in the Student Center Annex and speak to an editor. Or, if your schedule is tight, call ahead at 893-5169 to set up an appointment with an editor.
The Montclairon
Campus Police Report

Compiled by Kelly J. Schab

Suspicious Activities
4/27 A female Blanton Hall resident was approached by a white male while coming out of the bookstore. He asked her to become a masseuse for him but when she asked him for forms of identification, he only gave her his phone number. She thought that this was suspicious and reported it to the police.

4/30 The remains of two animals were found in a circle of rocks. Scratched in large rocks were the words: "I kill cops daughters," and "Keep the past in the past." The incident is still being investigated for the possibility of cruelty to animals, ritual acts and hazing.

5/10 A female Bohn Hall resident saw a white male with red curly hair sitting on the floor in one of the aisles of Sprague Library. When she came close to him, he began masturbating vigorously. This was the second Monday that she has seen him.

Theft
4/28 An anonymous letter was received by campus police that detailed the theft of baseball tickets from the mail room. The two suspected thieves work in the mailroom. The tickets were received in a damaged parcel and the two suspects claim that they couldn't locate the owner. The investigation led to the identification of the victim who will sign a complaint in Montclair Municipal Court.

4/30 It was reported that one of the trailers used by a contractor had been damaged by lot 30.

5/5 A female found that someone had spray-painted her car while it was parked in lot 14 between 3:30 and 9pm.

5/8 A male resident of Blanton found that someone attempted to steal his Pontiac Firebird. There was damage done to the steering column, and the stereo and radar detector were stolen.

Assault
5/4 Officers arrived at Webster Hall and found a male restraining a female on the ground. The female is a resident of Webster and the male is a student. They had a verbal confrontation and the male was holding her down because she was trying to assault him. Neither wanted to file a criminal complaint against the other. The dorm director advised the male not to return.

Harassment
5/7 A resident of Blanton Hall complained that she received a threatening phone call. The caller threatened to hurt her and damage her car. Her car was secured in a faculty parking lot and she was escorted to and from her car by campus police officers.

 Attempted Theft of a Motor Vehicle
5/8 A male resident of Blanton found that someone attempted to steal his Pontiac Firebird. There was damage done to the steering column, and the stereo and radar detector were stolen.

5/11 At 3:30 am, an officer patrolling lot 28 observed two males exiting a parked car and entering another. Another male was laying across the seats in the parked car. This led to the arrests of three individuals, Michael Malone, Jon Jensen and Dwane Johnson, all non-students. They had been visiting a female resident of the Clove Road Apartments. They were all charged with the attempted theft of a motor vehicle and conspiracy to steal that vehicle.

Careless Driving
5/10 A female resident of the Clove Road Apartments was observed driving in a careless manner from lot 17 onto College Ave. passing the "Do Not Enter" sign. A summons will be issued.

SHAPE UP AT Yogi's
Yogi's, one of the largest racquetball facilities in the New Jersey Area, has expanded!
We've added a complete Free Weight Center, a premier Aerobic Studio offering daily exercise classes for men and women, and a new and larger selection of the latest in Exercise Bikes, Treadmills, Step and Rowing Machines!

For Students Only
$25 for 30 days!

• No long-term Commitment!
• Unrestricted use of the facilities every day of the week!
(Open til 11:00 p.m. weekdays - 9:00 p.m. weekends)

Be Popular!

"Incompetence!!"

"Too many personal attacks!!"

Dunkin Donuts Mini's

"Undeserving!!"

The Montclairion
duz slander

893-5169 • Join The Montclairion • 893-5169
The Montclarion
Thursday, MAY 6, 1993

THE COLLEGE STORE WANTS TO GIVE YOU:

FREE BOOKS!

SELL US YOUR UNWANTED TEXTBOOKS AND YOU MAY BE ELIGIBLE FOR A BOOK SCHOLARSHIP WORTH $25, $50 OR $100*

*(SEE OFFICIAL DETAILS)

CASH FOR BOOKS

MAY 13 - 25, 1993

Official Details

1.) Free book promotion lasts May 13 to 25, 1993. 2.) Promotion open to all current M.S.C. students, faculty and staff. 3.) Employees of The College Store ARE NOT eligible. 4.) You will receive one ticket per book sold while supplies last. 5.) No individual may receive more than one prize. 6.) A valid M.S.C. ID and current class schedule is required to claim prize. Book scholarship is for Summer 93 or Fall 93 courses only! 7.) Prizes must be claimed by October 1, 1993. 8.) No cash will be given. Prizes are not transferable. No substitutions of prizes and no cash redemption will be allowed. 9.) The College Store reserves its right to rescind offer at any time.
Welcome, loyal readers, to this very special installment of PROPHET BIGG! As a treat for you, in this last installment of this year, I give you Amy Fisher: The Musical. The "mock-opera" based on over a year's worth of hyped-up "news" about the teen tragedy is playing now at the off, off Broadway Wings Theatre in Manhattan. When myself and my charming companion arrived at the theatre, we were given a program and a "Test Your Amy Fisher I.Q." test, which we found simply hilarious.

The creators of the show, Bill Wheeler, Morgan Leavere and C. Crissy Sachs, were nice enough to send me two complimentary tickets to the show and allowed me to ask questions of the cast after the show...

Prophet: Are you guys really big Amy Fisher fans? How did you develop a musical from this?

Bill Wheeler: No. I sort of developed from Vulgaredo: A Tasteless Review (Which was performed before Amy Fisher) which is a bunch of sketches and songs about current events. And at the time, the Amy Fisher story was real hot. So, I wrote a story about it, a sketch, you know. And it evolved into a musical. So, that's how we came up with Amy Fisher: The Musical.

P. So, when Bill approached you guys and said, "Get this. We're gonna do Amy Fisher: The Musical," what did you do?

BW. Well, they had quite a laugh over it. (Laughter)

P. And then you said, "No, no, no. Really?" (Laughter)

Patrick J. Kinsella (Eric Naburg, Amy's Attorney): Well, before her sentencing, it was getting so ridiculous. Everyday, the whole summer, she was on the cover of every magazine, every newspaper. It was just so pathetic that it wasn't real any more. It was just a big joke, and it fit perfectly into what Vulgarities is. It was vulgar how it was becoming such an obsession.

Ellen McQueeney (Amy Fisher): And they just keep giving us more and more material. (Laughter)

P. So, has the show gotten longer as a result of the never-ending material?

Cast. Yes.
May 20, 1993 marks the last episode of Cheers, and while I'm not sad it's going, I'm not too pleased, either. Cheers has been a mainstay in NBC's lineup for the past decade, and when a show that's this successful goes off the air, it leaves a big gap to fill. Not only does the powers that be at NBC have to find a show to fill the timeslot, but they also have to worry about flattering the audience with a complete and total bomb, like a television version of Ishtar.

All in all, there is still life in Cheers, even after the taps run dry. Good shows with a long run behind them can look forward to a happy life in syndication. That's how Cheers will be reborn, and have an even stronger following than now. When M*A*S*H was on CBS, I rarely watched it. Then again, some of the shows were a little over my head back then. After the two-hour finale, I began watching it on Channel 5 when I had nothing else better to do (like homework), and that's when I really began to get into it. Now, I attempt to watch it whenever I can, but I stop by my girlfriend's house after work. I have to fight for which show to watch. She's a big Cheers fan.

So, now Cheers is in syndication. I wonder just how big the following will be as the years tick by. Lucille Ball became ever more legendary as the original I Love Lucy was syndicated. Likewise for The Honeymoons, The Tonight Show (specifically the Best Of series), and last but not the only thing in syndication, Star Trek. Trek fans flock conventions wearing pointy ears, Starfleet uniforms, and doing the Vulcan hand salute. I suppose huge fans of Ralph Kramden would wear Raccoon Lodge hats, but can you imagine a roomful of people wearing Kamikazes? The Magnificent Turban or red hair and pencilled eyebrows is a far cry from Lucy.

I'm going off on a tangent here. My point, plain and simple, is that Cheers has a permanent shelf in the Great Television Library, along with many other notables, not just those mentioned above. I never really got into it, but like M*A*S*H, I have plenty of time to catch up. I'm gunning myself, but if you figure that Cheers has been on for 11 years, multiplied by 26 episodes a season, you come up with only about a year left at MSC, which will be a sad day for some, and a cause for celebration for others. Well, you're not getting rid of me that easily! I'll be back!
I never did like coming up with headlines. So there.

Listen and dig. You can tell the end is near. The end of the Spring semester swarms around your feeble head like so many gnats festering in a pool of stale rainwater. The pounding heat, the inevitable sweat that drenches your forehead, weight your body down like a slab of molten lava thrown from the center of the earth.

Wow.

Listen and dig. Many of our fellow urchins will be passing across the abyss, leaving behind this mountain of mystery nestled between Clifton, Little Falls and Montclair. They will be entering the netherworld, a place liberated by night. There are no loafers or art students or poets here. The elephants fly by night. There are no loafers in the House of Toast. According to the Law of Conservation of Matter and Energy, there is no more water in the universe now than there was 10 billion years ago.

This might be difficult with Harriet in your head. How you justify yourself in court is an entirely different matter. Hopefully, by then you'll have become a wealthy industrialist who can hire high profile attorneys. If you majored in English or History or something and don't have a job by the time the incident goes to trial, well, do your time quietly. 18 months isn't forever you know...

Make sure your 4, 5 or 6 years at Camp Montclair were all that and a bag of chips. If not, the days are numbered my fellow urchins. Dig that. Happy G-Day.

The world knows you're coming. So let's behave accordingly shall we?

Paint your face. No, better yet, paint your entire body one color. Red or green or something. Go into your Mother's closet. Grab the smallest pair of pantyhose you can find and pull them over your face. Cut a small hole to breathe through, and twist the top into a pom-pom. Put on a pair of combat boots and nothing else. Oh and get a couple of Cabbage Patch dolls or something. Paint your face. No, better yet, paint your entire body one color. Red or green or something.

The next step is to run man, run like a rabid animal across the room and into the kitchen and french kiss every single worker in there. Make it passionate, even if they resist. Moan and belch and make hideous noises with your amputis.

When the Campus Police arrive, gaze at them with unabandoned astonishment that they'd even consider arresting you. Pretend that you are unaware of the fact that you're red and naked with your mother's pantyhose over your head. How you justify yourself in court is an entirely different matter. Hopefully, by then you'll have become a wealthy industrialist who can hire high profile attorneys. If you majored in English or History or something and don't have a job by the time the incident goes to trial, well, do your time quietly. 18 months isn't forever you know...

Make sure your 4, 5 or 6 years at Camp Montclair were all that and a bag of chips. If not, the days are numbered my fellow urchins. Dig that. Happy G-Day.
CONGRATULATIONS TO THE
THETA ZETA PLEDGE CLASS!
WE WELCOME YOU ALL TO BROTHERHOOD!

NICOLE FESTA            CHAD SMITH
ANDREA INGENITO         SUSAN TARPEY
JIMMY PEDRAZA           CASSANDRA WETZEL
DAVID SILVA

A SAD GOODBYE TO ALL THE GRADUATING SENIORS
OF ALPHA KAPPA PSI.
YOU WILL ALL BE TRULY MISSED!

HEATHER ABRAMS         JIM KILLEEN
LYNN BROWN             ANGELA MCKINNEY
AMY CHIOVARI           LISA MESSINA
MIMI CHOON             CHRIS MUTONE
KARA CORLETT           ANDREA NEMETH
JENNIFER DORN          MARTIN POST
KEVIN DUNNE            PATTY RAUSCHMAYER
CASWELL EWAN           TEJAL UPADHYAY
FRAYANDA GLOVER        LORI WAKEFIELD
GERARD GOMEZ           LAURA WALL
ROSA GONZALEZ          BEVERLY PARIS

• CONGRATULATIONS TO CASWELL EWAN, RECIPIENT OF THE TRUE BLUE AND BRONZE AWARD. YOUR FRATERNITY SPIRIT AND DEDICATION IS GREATLY APPRECIATED!
• CONGRATULATIONS TO HEATHER ABRAMS ON RECEIVING THE KEY AWARD. YOU ARE AN OUTSTANDING BROTHER!
Coral reefs in peril: who is to blame?

by Anne Caldiaro

Their colors reflect an underwater rainbow. Corals masquerade as mountains that at a glance appear to be rocks, trees and grasses blowing in the wind. After evolving over thousands of years, these ancient calcified skeletons have now become endangered. Biologists are debating the extent of global damage and are unsure of the coral reefs greatest enemy.

Coral reefs comprise a large ecosystem which house many marine creatures such as fish, mollusks, sea anemones and octopuses. Their biological diversity compares with that of rainforests. Any major threat to them could cause an ecological tragedy. A major asset of the corals is toxic warfare. In a constant competition for space, some corals engulf their rivals and by using specialized digestive juices, rid themselves of their competitors. Others grow tentacles which have the ability to sting their neighbors. These toxins have the promise of becoming possible treatments for major human diseases such as cancer and AIDS. Many scientists feel this hope could be shattered by the same animals it would save. Human assaults like global warming, overfishing and pollution are probable causes. Others propose that human destruction is minimal compared to natural forces in nature like lack of sunlight due to rising water levels and hurricanes.

Scientists generally agree that human activity is putting stress on some reefs. Determining the extent of the damage to this fragile ecosystem will be difficult because few have looked at reefs all over the world to compare the damage and individual stressors.

Recently, corals have been turning white and dying. Corals are nourished and colored by carbon compounds produced by algae. This algae dies when water temperatures rise, possibly, because of global warming. The overfishing of natural predators for the destructive crown-of-thorns starfish is also a probable cause.

Coral reefs, the most ancient and fragile of animals have survived many catastrophes throughout time. But, if they are forced to live with continuous serious stressors, the beauty of the coral reefs may die forever.

From sludge to crystal clear water

by John Kodjak

Imagine a world with crystal clear rivers and oceans smelling clean, fresh and teaming with fish and other life. This fantasy may soon become a reality as researchers find new ways of treating sewage. The present system barely alters the sludge before it’s dumped into our rivers and oceans. The result is foul-smelling rivers without fish and oceans that are a health hazard. But there is hope for change.

The key is using biological methods instead of the steel and concrete structures that are so prevalent today. In Arcadia, California, Monterey, Virginia and many other places in the United States, biological waste management systems are successfully being used. These systems take longer to process the sludge, but the result far outweighs the added time. The result is in about ten days black-stinking sewage comes out as crystal clear water. Untreated sewage is passed through a sequence of marshes each with its own job in decomposing the sludge. Microorganisms living in the marshes feed on waste. These tiny creatures are the power, house behind the whole process. In addition to sludge, microorganisms have also been found effective in detoxifying hazardous industrial waste as well, although further research needs to be done. Besides microorganisms, the marshes are home for a variety of birds, fish and other creatures—all needed for the marsh to survive. Biological waste management systems do not only benefit rivers and oceans, but also provide a habitat for many species of wild life. These systems are a dream that is rapidly becoming a reality.

Scientific warning, warning, warning...

by Dawn Kelly

The Scientific Community has issued a "World Scientist's Warning to Humanity." The "Warning" is an appeal to people of all nations to "take immediate action to halt the accelerating damage threatening humanity's life support systems." The 1573 scientists from 649 countries are urging us to work towards sustainability, particularly in the areas of energy, transportation, international security and agriculture. Among those concerned scientists were 99 of the 196 living winners of the Nobel prize in science.

Digable swimmable oceans?

by Lynn Landano

A dip in the ocean sounds right about now with the end of the semester and finals upon us. But if we continue to neglect and abuse our oceans and beaches as we have in the past, this image may not remain a reality.

In 1991 alone, the International Coastal Cleanup collected 3.7 million pounds of garbage along the world’s beaches. One of the most common forms of debris found is plastic. The Center for Marine Conservation collected over 34,000 six pack holders found in their 1991 cleanup alone. This is only a portion of the garbage found on the beaches and in the oceans every year.

Combine this with organizations and corporations that dump waste in the oceans (approximately 41,000-57,000 tons of toxic organic chemicals and 68,000 tons of toxic metals, according to the Environmental Protection Agency). It adds up to one huge problem.

New Jersey alone lost an estimated $1 billion dollars in 1988 from beach closures. The Washington State department of fisheries estimated $3 million is lost annually on pollution related restrictions on fishing. This is to say nothing of the many marine animals that die annually from the filth that human beings are dumping in their homes.

This year is the 20th anniversary of the Clean Water Act. The goals of that act, to make all the waters in the United States "fishable and swimmable", are still a long way off.

Also in 1993, the Magnuson Fisheries Conservation and Management Act, the Marine Mammal Protection Act and the Endangered Species Act are up for reauthorization. For nearly 20 years, these laws provided the foundation for ocean protection in the U.S. The present administration has a unique opportunity to positively influence these reauthorizations by revitalizing the conservation principles of these laws. Let your Representative and your President know you want to preserve the beaches and the ocean. Write a letter.
You Can

Be a Reporter or Just Look Like One

at the

Montclarion School of Journalism

• Learn to nod intelligently during those pesky interviews

• Learn to interpret your hastily written handwriting

• Learn to skirt the libel laws to annoy enemies while avoiding lawsuits

• much more

Clip and return to rm 113

☐ Yes, indeed! I do want to become a reporter for the Award-winning Montclarion.
In fact, here's my phone number. Please let me know when The Montclarion training sessions will begin next fall!

phone # ____________________________

☐ Please cancel my subscription to The Montclarion
Farewell to our dearly departing

Karen Lee “Who should replace Jay Leno” Stradford, Campus Life Editor
Tanya “Pocohantas” Nielsen, Copy Editor

A happy reshuffling to:

Kevin “Sein Fein” Colligan, Editor-in-chief to Editorial Page Editor
Keith “Keef-o-rama” Idee, Sports Editor
George “Dog Days” Calle, Managing Editor to Editor-in-chief
Amy “the Yam Eater” Post, Production Editor to Managing
Kelly “the Schabster” Schab, News Editor to Arts & Entertainment Editor

Kevin “Never Critize Prophet Jumbo” Schwoebel,
Asst. A & E Editor to a position yet to be formally announced

Christina “the finest damned editorial editor we’ve ever had” Tischio, Editorial Page Editor to whatever the hell she damn well pleases

Sam “Get a Piece” Rock, Copy Editor

Welcome back to:

Greg “Where be da keg” MacSweeney, Assignments Editor
Glenn “Don’t call me Glennifer” Steinberg, News Editor
Raul “the Weiner King” Rivera, Photo Editor

Chris “wit da shoes” Weber, Campus Life Editor

Gordon “can make explosives out of old shoelaces” Patterson, Production Editor
Project Bohn under Construction

When a campus like MSC sets out to achieve a goal, their haphazard ways of attaining status may cause one to wonder where the leaders of this institution’s mind’s are.

With new atriums being built to decorate the new, (yet, well needed) library, the wonderfully new donut hole for Campus police, and of course the well used Access Road, with these responsible editions to our college, why are six hundred students living in a skyrise tenement called Bohn?

Cockroaches reign there, amidst tom shower curtains, confirmed worgs crawling throughout hallways, and wasted, rotted food clogging sinks. This has been going on for many years, continuing in what was thought of as an endless cycle of disintegration.

Until yesterday.

Upon hearing this surprising news, Doug Cooper, Assistant Director of facilities, will contract an exterminator right away.

Yep, we understand. Make room in the bed for our friendly creepy crawlers known to carry vice. Nothing is going to be done.

He continues to enlighten us with a point that had gone unnoticed. “The buildings are made cheaply, repairing won’t do them much good”, and that, “repairing the bathrooms, would be like putting a band-aid on it, not fixing it.”

With this information, the only solution seems to point to a bulldozer. Perhaps we could borrow one tilling the ground to make room for the new gardens?

Alas though, fellow oppressed, a band-Aid will have to do. Over the summer, the renovation of Bohn will begin. The showers will turn to stone, with added fixtures, but as of yet, no word on any permanent riddance of the insect population.

The B and C wing bathrooms, under a one million budget, will be done by August.

As experienced students, we know what that means. Move over A, the rest of the dorm needs to be showered.

The Bohn Projects could use a little paint too. And how about a little soap and water in those enticing, like electricity fixed in the afternoon, not in the middle of the night, disconnecting all alarms.

Perhaps a little bit more care to where State and Student money goes, Bohn would be filled with people and not empty rooms. Perhaps, with a little planning, dorm life could be more enticing, like electricity fixed in the afternoon, not in the middle of the night, disconnecting all alarms. All this and more could be accomplished if we could just find out where the heads of our administration are.

Any volunteers?

The whole idea is to promote IFC and to have Fraternities come out and have a good time Joe Ellis pg. 1
Letter...

Hold your Breath for Clinton

My family was beaming and huddled around the TV set. President Clinton's apparent face occupied the screen. Poignant words sailed through his glistening teeth and echoed throughout the room. "Immedi­ately action is being taken to restore the envi­ronment, the homeless are being housed, jobs will now open for the unemployed, healthcare will be made available to those in need, our nation's hungry will be fed, and everyone will be given an equal chance at ob­taining an education." My eyes lit up, my heart sped, my family hit the floor. Stepping over my dumbfounded father, I peered out the window. The sun was shining and the earth was emitting a healthy glow. A wave of optimism filled the air. Smiling, I awakened from my dream.

When I think about the present condi­tion of America, what we've become, I can't understand the feeling of despair. Noth­ing is improving or so it seems. I am truly concerned with the welfare of present gen­erations and those to come. It appears we, as a nation, need to give our government a crash course in life support mechanisms.

Let's stop and think about some simple strategies towards transformation. Firstly, we can reinforce some positive thoughts about our country for a change. Remember our founding theme...Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness? Secondly, we need to empower each individual by giving them an equal voice in our democracy. Individuals and stable environment in which to live. What it really comes down to is getting our government leaders to channel their energy into developing a successful life support system for our country. You can't expect a sick, hungry, homeless, unemployed, uneducated individual to work in a group effort with healthy, well-fed, housed, em­ployed, and educated individuals. It is es­sential that we take care of the immediate needs of our society before change can come.

In dealing with such an immensely diverse society, we should expect aberrations. But I believe our collateral worries - crime, drugs, violence, and so on will greatly decrease when a feeling of equality is established between individuals.

So am I pointing fingers? Not neces­sarily. If you recall, we live in a democracy. We are all victims, but we can help each other become survivors.

The urination of the monster spills column is, you pug? We have genius trim­mers, or sheep, or sheep, or sheep. The sheep have to ask if they can ask a question. Yes, I realize this is policy. But it is also stupid and you look ridiculous. "Ah, excuse me, point of order..." Merely apop­thegmatic statements are not enough. I could only attain that status, I too, could be the recipient of all my hate and may you rot in the excellent. The SGA is a scummy place to work, I gave everything here. But being a lowly, handicapped handicapped person..."

To the editor,

Recently, I have become aware that our new library is not accessible to the handicapped. Despite the millions of dollars that were spent on this ramp, there are plans to construct a ramp on the side of the stairs, to be done as soon as possible. The area for the proposed ramp is still littered with concrete rubble, with no evidence of any attempted excavation. (The last time I checked wheelchairs didn't come in off­road models.)

A simple wooden ramp could easily be built at little expense to temporarily sub­stitute for the promised permanent ramp. I am appalled that this overt violation of the Civil Disabilities Act, which states that all newly constructed buildings must be handicapped accessible. The lack of regard shown for our small, yet present, handicapped minority is very disconcerting. I hope that this situation will soon be re­solved as so not to shame our supposed "equal opportunity" institution.

Very Sincerely,

Pericles John Lantz II

Iron Heel

By Christina Tischio

This is a rare moment for the Editor of the Editorial page to get to speak her own mind. I have sat here, listening to the fools of this campus complain about the trivial. "Oh, my personal ability to get in. Come on guys lets all get along." Please, people. You are sheep. Why don't you stop trying to work things out and hate each other? I hate a lot of people and it feels awfully good. Like nice juicy sex, you dry uneventful idiosyncrasies. Ha. Once upon a time, life needed order. The idiots above created poli­tics, government. It wasn't me, I would have been the one cutting the stakes to pin you to. And it was thought to be good. Never, never is mass thought good. Individualism will reign.

Out of this muck filled monster came urination, as all monsters must do, and that was named SGA. Needing to attend our recent Montclarion) budget meeting as well as the Montclarion, would have to endure. The sheep have to ask if they can ask a question. Yes, I realize this is policy. But it is also stupid and you look ridiculous. "Ah, excuse me, point of order..." Merely apop­thegmatic statements are not enough. I could only attain that status, I too, could..."
HOW COULD YOU?
DROP 25 POUNDS

SELL YOUR BOOKS
We buy all books with current market value

THE COLLEGE STORE
May 13 - May 25, 1993

Monday - Thursday 8:30 AM - 7:30 PM
Friday 8:30 AM - 4:00 PM
May 22, Saturday 9:00 AM - 1:00 PM
( ID REQUIRED )

Books Are Cash - Guard Against Theft
Plan C is in effect. A turning point in MSC history is at hand. The weasels have themselves to blame. Nothing will ever be the same. Before you celebrate your victory, wait for our checkmate. Victory, wait for our checkmate.

Carrie, Rachel, Carm, you should stand alone. Than be in first and stand alone! The other sororities need a golf course to go driving along. nice! You made Saturday night memorable. Love always, Jana Leigh SDT - We'd rather not be in first and have friends than be in first and stand alone! The other sororities with a name like SDT, you should stand alone.

To all the suite mates, thanks for being so wonderful. We hope we're all together next year. Love You! Kathie

To the AIX E-board: Carrie, Rachel, Carm, Bryan and Jobes - I know you will all be Alco/lent! I'm very proud. Love and Sisterhood, Merkel. "Alumni Advisor"

Rick L. - Fuck you.

To My Big-Gro (Mr. President). Thanks for being there during pledging. Your little spanky

To Quick and Eazy - Thanks for a great year. You guys really came through for me. I love you guys. Sex Kitten

Being a sex kisten, how far did they cum?

To the Epsilon Class (AXP) Thanks for a helluva year. See ya in the fall.

To the Misfits - I know we've had our ups and downs, but thanks for being there.

Laura - Congratulations, woman, on Mise Theta Kappa Chi 1993 - #69

Well, with a number like that, how could you lose?

Theta - Thanks for all you love and support - especially at the formal. Proud to be your Mise Thetial Psycho #72

Carl Z. - Fuck you.

To the men of the Theta Formal - next time try to stay up a little longer.

Jana - Thanks for being a great roommate. I love you lots! We'll always be sisters - best friends. Love Kathie Stop I can't stand it.

Dawn and Vic - All I can say is "Thanks." JM And wanna get to know each other better?

Annette - Enough with your Big mouth, everyone knows who you are! Hard of Hearing

Get a hint, Annette?

DD - How many niles did you break? VQ

Chris and Jill - How does it feel to be a hero? The most impressive stunt couple, M and M

Keesie in Secretary...

Suck Rod.

Shugg (Long Lost Senator) Welcome Back! So glad you're in US! Love your Theta Fan

Lost: Alabama hat... NEED it bad! help! I'm starting to lose it!

To the 1993 Greek Week champs - the dynasty is over and it's just beginning Chrissey, I love you double. Can't wait for the long, hot summer.

To my little Christine and grand Kneesy - I love you both so much and I am going to miss you lots! Thank for always being there for me! I'm forever here for you! Love Gila Nelly (Theta) and Anthony (D-Chi) Thanks for the free show after the formal. Hey, how come no one invited me?

Phil (Senate) Congratulations Prez. I know you can keep on top. Love your brothers

PZ 111 - Thanks for a great weekend. Christine

Pierro (Theta XI) They're not peanuts. VJ Oh, God. And I ate so many of them.

To Chessie - Get it, got it, good! Hal - is that skin or wallpaper?

Laura (Phi Sigma Sigma)

Welcome home! You're gonna love it! Love Stacy

Don't cry Delta Chi, there's always IFC! Nost

Dawn (ZXO2) You are so beautiful.

But a sunset is better.

Laura (Phi Sigma Sigma)

Thanks for listening to me. Sorry I didn't go out with you guys. Next time...

To the Epsilon Class - Congratulations. Best of luck always. Love Brady.

Tim (D-Chi) So what if we didn't make it to the championship... I had a great time anyway!

Laura

AsianIENTATION meeting in fourth floor bathroom today. Trip to Chipendales afterwards.

Fill a little sausage for me, please.

Melissus - Welcome home! You're gonna love it! Love Stacy

Don't cry Delta Chi, there's always IFC! Nost

Dawn (ZXO2) You are so beautiful.

But a sunset is better.

Laura (Phi Sigma Sigma)

Thanks for listening to me. Sorry I didn't go out with you guys. Next time...

To the new brothers of Delta Chi - Congratulations, especially to my one and only Billi Love Melanie (Tri Sig)

Billy (Delta Chi) I'm glad it's finally over. Well, come back, I've missed you enough. I love you! Love Melanie (Tri Sig)

Jeff Q. (TKE) We didn't need a golf course to go driving along. when I ride I don't use a saddle anyway, and we didn't need a band for the music to play all night. You made Saturday night memorable. Love always, Jana Leigh you’ll never know who put pennies, buddy!
finally speak to us when we were all in room 424. Love big one and for an excellent job done and winning your first raffle rant, too bad it wasn’t worth bad happened!”

to teach me how to puck
you over the summer!

tips tickle me pink.

drool factor is perfected).

don’t walk, to the class non,

drool factor is perfected).

don’t walk, to the

To Doug-Happy birth-

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Doug-Happy birth-

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,

To Kelly,
TO PLACE A CLASSIFIED AD, PLEASE SEND THE AD (25 WORDS), ALONG WITH A CHECK OR MONEY ORDER FOR $8.00 PAYABLE TO THE MONTCLAIR TO: THE MONTCLAIR 113 STUDENT CENTER ANNEX, MONTCLAIR STATE COLLEGE, UPPER MONTCLAIR, NJ 07043, ATTN. CLASSIFIEDS. Deadline for Thursday edition is the Friday prior.

child care

Loving, energetic non-smoking sitter needed for two almost 3-year-old girls. References, own transportation essential. Mondays 11-9pm, Wednesdays 3-9 pm, Thursdays 3-9pm. Must be available all times listed. 201-743-9549.

SUMMER POSITION: for student who enjoys children to care for 4 1/2 yr. old in our Upper Montclair home. Saturdays 9am-2pm, Monday 3:30-7:30, Tue & Wed evenings 4pm-8pm, Fri 3-7 pm. Ref's required. Call 783-3908.

SUMMER CHILD CARE

Part-time/ flexible hours. Responsible, energetic, experienced for happy 8 yr. old in my Montclair home. Non-smoker with references and own transportation. 783-5014.

help wanted

MOTHER'S HELPER NEEDED 4-7 pm Mon-Fri. for smart, easygoing, 11 yr. old boy. Must drive, own car preferable. Please leave message on tape 746-8876.

CHILD CARE-Student to care for 7 & 9 yr. old in MPLUID: 3-6pm, M-F. Must have car. Call 783-9904 after 6pm.

Babysitter: Pick-up/babysit two children in Montclair, Monday-Friday, 5 pm to 7 pm, starting June 1. Call 746-7180 Ext. 859.

RALASKA SUMMER EMPLOYMENT - Fisheries. Can $400/ week in canneries or $4,000+ month on fishing boats. Free transportation! Room & Board! Over 8,000 openings. No experience necessary. Male or Female. For employment program call 1- 201-545-4155 ext. 85096.

OFFICE WORK EARN 10.00 to 15.00 per HR. Heavy phone work could qualify for Continuing Education credit. Don't miss this one. Call 201-808-6696 (Maryann).

SECURITY - U.S. OPEN GOLF TOURNAMENT. Temporary security personnel are needed to staff prestigious golf tournament. Transportation will be supplied from Nutley corporate headquarters to site. Possibility of permanent employment. If you have a verifiable background and are drug free, we are interested in meeting you. Please apply in person Monday-Friday between 10:00am-3:00pm. Bring forms of ID. Interviewing only on: PROFESSIONAL SECURITY BUREAU, 43 River Road, Nutley, NJ 07161-0555.

TUTOR WANTED- Two evenings per week for 3rd grade girl. Located in Montclair. Duties include helping with homework. Interested parties please call 746-5656.

HELP WANTED - full time $10 per hour. We need (18) people who are courteous and well spoken to work as customer relations representatives (no experience needed) flexible hours-call Ken or Dan for Apt. at 639-4700.

MCAT - fisheries. Cam $600+ per month on fishing boats. Free weekends in canneries or $4,000+ month. Available 7/1-9/1. Call Ken or Dan for Apt. at 746-0316.

SITUATION WANTED: Certify Nursing Assistance and home health aid to care for elderly live in or out. Call 201-879-0857.

LOOKS LIKE A Vivarin night.

It's 10 PM. You've crammed for finals all week. Took two today. And now you've got to pack an entire semester's worth of Philosophy into one take-home exam, in one night. But how do you stay awake when you're totally wiped? Revive with Vivarin. Safe as coffee, Vivarin helps keep you awake and mentally alert for hours. So when you have pen in hand, but sleep on the brain, make it a Vivarin night!
DiLaurenzio defies the odds on the field

Red Hawk infielder hasn’t let physical obstacles stand in his way in athletics

by Michael Frasco

"Rob is outstanding. He is our most versatile player and has excellent discipline as a leadoff hitter. He’s somebody we have to have in our line-up," said Schoening. Schoening should be very thankful to have such an outstanding player in more ways than one.

"I'm a hard worker. I have a lot of desire, but I don't ask for anything," said DiLaurenzio. Schoening played for the team, but had no ask for another. Both DiLaurenzio and Jason Scavalla awakened the most versatile player and has exhibited all season. By never being overconfident, and may not help the MSC baseball team, is all about. The junior from Hazlet is one of those players who are willing to sacrifice everything to get his team a victory.

After all, DiLaurenzio walked on to the team as a freshman back in 1989 and midway through the season the team became the starting second baseman.

"I always wanted to play college baseball," said a humble DiLaurenzio.

MSC Sports Information Director Al Langer assessed DiLaurenzio's case in a different perspective. He said, "For a walk-on to play for MSC and start mid-year through his freshman year is remarkable."

"He's a 23-year-old Business student with his strong leadership skills and that he never had any thoughts of not playing baseball."

"I'm taking my own risk playing a sport. I'm just glad I'm healthy," he recited.

Mrs. DiLaurenzio said she and her husband both support her son playing baseball, although they are concerned. "We can't tie him down. We let him do what he wants and support him like we do all of our kids," she said.

"We're nervous, though, I won't lie," she added.

DiLaurenzio doesn't need any special medical attention as a result of his condition. He gets his normal physical evaluation every year and nothing else.

Clearly, DiLaurenzio has overcome much adversity to reach high levels of success on and off the field. He describes himself as a "normal guy" who does what he has to and doesn't seek much in return.

His success story is inspiring and touching and speaks for itself. DiLaurenzio wouldn't want it any other way.

In the bleachers...

"The Scarlet Knights are not the Scarlet Knights anymore. We're here to play for our lives, and that's what we're doing," said Senior Rob Rampone.

Rampone led the Red Hawks to victory, and the MSC baseball team has been winning without such a large percentage (.491 %).

"I'm thankful to have such a talented group of baseball players," said the team's coach, Al Langer.

MSC baseball can get the job done, but will it?

by Brian Felzarano

They say pitching is 90 percent of baseball.

Until recently, the MSC baseball team has been winning without such a large percentage from its pitching staff.

Enter Todd Sak and John Carlson. All right, they're not Roger Clemens and Frank Viola. But on Saturday and Sunday, respectively, both turned in superb efforts in stopping Rowan and William Paterson.

"I wore some added protection to cut down. We let him do what he wants and support him like we do all of our kids," she said.

"We're nervous, though, I won't lie," she added.

DiLaurenzio doesn't need any special medical attention as a result of his condition. He gets his normal physical evaluation every year and nothing else.

Clearly, DiLaurenzio has overcome much adversity to reach high levels of success on and off the field. He describes himself as a "normal guy" who does what he has to and doesn't seek much in return.

His success story is inspiring and touching and speaks for itself. DiLaurenzio wouldn't want it any other way.

"I'm taking my own risk playing a sport. I'm just glad I'm healthy," he recited.

Mrs. DiLaurenzio said she and her husband both support her son playing baseball, although they are concerned. "We can't tie him down. We let him do what he wants and support him like we do all of our kids," she said.

"We're nervous, though, I won't lie," she added.

DiLaurenzio doesn't need any special medical attention as a result of his condition. He gets his normal physical evaluation every year and nothing else.

Clearly, DiLaurenzio has overcome much adversity to reach high levels of success on and off the field. He describes himself as a "normal guy" who does what he has to and doesn't seek much in return.

His success story is inspiring and touching and speaks for itself. DiLaurenzio wouldn't want it any other way.
ENLIGHTENMENT IN NEW JERSEY?
FREE MEDITATION WORKSHOPS

Experience happiness, mental clarity, and enlightened states of mind.

Monday 7:30PM - 9:00PM
May 17
Friday 7:30PM - 9:00PM
May 14
Saturday 11:00AM -12:30PM
May 8, 15 & 22

The Unitarian Church, 67 Church Street, Montclair, New Jersey
(Workshops are specifically designed for those 18 to 29)
For additional information please call: (609) 722-8343

MODELS NEEDED
FOR FASHION AND GLAMOUR PHOTOGRAPHY

• NO EXPERIENCE NECESSARY
• LOOK YOUR BEST
• GET A FREE COPY OF EVERY PHOTO
CALL AND LEAVE MESSAGE
[201] 942-1179
MAKE-UP CONSULTANTS ALSO NEEDED

LSAT · GMAT · GRE · MCAT

Take a FREE diagnostic LSAT, GMAT, GRE, or MCAT ... and compete for a $2000 graduate scholarship.

A Great Offer...
Find out how you'll score on the LSAT, GMAT, GRE, or MCAT with no obligation. These free diagnostic tests are full-length exams, and you will receive a computer-generated score report of your performance on the spot. Students who take free diagnostic tests at specially designated administrations (April 24 and June 19) will also be eligible for the American Community Service Competition. Sponsored by American Express, the American Community Service Competition will award ten students $2000 scholarships to the graduate school of their choice. Call today to sign up!

...from the company offering the best test prep:
The Princeton Review offers the most personal and effective preparation for the LSAT, GMAT, GRE, and MCAT. With small classes (8-12 students) grouped by ability, and thoroughly trained instructors, The Princeton Review will help you maximize your score. We offer the most up-to-date material, and no one understands these tests better than The Princeton Review. Don't let these tests stand between you and graduate school; call us today for information.

To find out more about our courses or register for a free test, call today:

800/876-3107
Classes are held near you -- call today!

The Princeton Review

"ANGEL RAY" SOUTO, cartoonist & illustrator.

"all kind of drawing"

• COMIC STRIPS
• POSTERS
• LOGOS
• ILLUSTRATIONS
• DESIGNS
• ETC...

BLACK & WHITE AND COLOR.

CALL: (201) 491-54-81 BETWEEN 01:00 PM AND 02:00 PM
MONDAY - WEDNESDAY AND FRIDAY ONLY.
The glory days of boxing seem long gone; will they ever return?

Championship prize fights that actually lived up to billing are a distant memory. The number of quality fighters that are engaged in the minds of boxing fans seems to be diminishing. Why, you ask? Because the politics of boxing today have ruined the sport. People don't want to wait years before seeing the best two fighters step into the ring against each other. Patience is a virtue, but the state of boxing is bordering on the ridiculous.

Promoters like Don King and Bob Arum continue to struggle for supremacy and in the process try to rid boxing of its' last beer to an overweight, out-knowned bar in America will serve.

How does winner-take-all sound? It's not realistic to expect someone to receive no money if the opponent is a fight, but percentages of purses to winners and losers is an intriguing concept.

It has got to work before it gets better. You need to look no further than this Saturday night's fight on HBO between Heavyweight Champion Riddick Bowe and Jesse Ferguson to back the previous statement. The champion is going way beyond the call of duty in taking on all comers with this fight.

Surely Tucker didn't mind, because he still walked away with slightly over $1 million. If anyone rushes to Tucker's defense over his lack of effort, look at the tape of the fight.

How does winner-take-all sound? It's not realistic to expect someone to receive no money if the opponent is a fight, but percentages of purses to winners and losers is an intriguing concept.

It has got to work before it gets better. You need to look no further than this Saturday night's fight on HBO between Heavyweight Champion Riddick Bowe and Jesse Ferguson to back the previous statement. The champion is going way beyond the call of duty in taking on all comers with this fight. Ferguson is basically the one-hit wonder of boxing. He defeated Mr. Overrated, Ray Mercer, which was not beyond the call of duty in taking on all comers with this fight. Ferguson is basically the one-hit wonder of boxing. He defeated Mr. Overrated, Ray Mercer, which was not a major accomplishment. Now he gets a shot at the title. What gives? Either Ferguson is better than everyone thinks, or Rock Newman and Bowe are avoiding a fight with Lewis for as long as possible. Let's face it, wins over Ferguson and Michael Dokes do not make up a glorious reign as champion for Bowe.

And what's even more bewildering is that Bowe has yet to step into the ring with Lewis. After the Tucker fight opinions quickly changed on Lewis. From what this writer saw, if Lewis fights the way he did on Saturday night, Bowe would own him.

Bowe probably does want to fight Lewis. But he won't say so. It's all about politics. Promoters nor managers want to give in to one another, so the mediocre "Rip You Off" (pay-per-view) shows still exist.

The fans of the sport need to speak out. Don't pay for over-priced sparring matches, whether it's at the gate or on television. Hit the books and stop putting dollars into the pockebook.

There are other options for your entertainment. With out cooperation from the paying customers, promoters could be forced to produce good boxing cards once again. The losses enough money, "only in America" could take on a whole new meaning for Don King.

It's been one hell of a ride
Beat columnist bids farewell to MSC track team

On May 20 the most renowned bar in America will serve its' last beer to an overweight, out-knowned bar in America will serve.

On May 20 the most renowned bar in America will serve its' last beer to an overweight, out-knowned bar in America will serve.

On May 20 the most renowned bar in America will serve its' last beer to an overweight, out-knowned bar in America will serve.

On May 20 the most renowned bar in America will serve its' last beer to an overweight, out-knowned bar in America will serve.

On May 20 the most renowned bar in America will serve its' last beer to an overweight, out-knowned bar in America will serve.

On May 20 the most renowned bar in America will serve its' last beer to an overweight, out-knowned bar in America will serve.

On May 20 the most renowned bar in America will serve its' last beer to an overweight, out-knowned bar in America will serve.

On May 20 the most renowned bar in America will serve its' last beer to an overweight, out-knowned bar in America will serve.

On May 20 the most renowned bar in America will serve its' last beer to an overweight, out-knowned bar in America will serve.

On May 20 the most renowned bar in America will serve its' last beer to an overweight, out-knowned bar in America will serve.

On May 20 the most renowned bar in America will serve its' last beer to an overweight, out-knowned bar in America will serve.

On May 20 the most renowned bar in America will serve its' last beer to an overweight, out-knowned bar in America will serve.

On May 20 the most renowned bar in America will serve its' last beer to an overweight, out-knowned bar in America will serve.

On May 20 the most renowned bar in America will serve its' last beer to an overweight, out-knowned bar in America will serve.

On May 20 the most renowned bar in America will serve its' last beer to an overweight, out-knowned bar in America will serve.

On May 20 the most renowned bar in America will serve its' last beer to an overweight, out-knowned bar in America will serve.

On May 20 the most renowned bar in America will serve its' last beer to an overweight, out-knowned bar in America will serve.
Vines fires WPC past Red Hawks for NJAC tourney title

by Brian Falzarano

As Brian Vines stepped to the plate for MSC, the tension mounted. The bases were loaded with two outs and the runs needed to take the lead. Vines delivered, and the Red Hawks were left to reflect on a disappointing end to their season.

The confidence should also be required to reach these lofty goals. Only time will tell, but predictions often don't hold. The Trenton win was impressive considering the state of some post-season magic. With the two-pitcher rotation of Denise Warnock and Michelle Serio, a solid defense and a potent offensive attack led by Kristi Kuchinski, Kim Drager and Jennifer Flinn, the Red Hawks after Friday's tournament opener against Rowan. Neil Johnson showed up again for another strong showing in his 13th inning to lead the Profs to a 3-2 win over MSC. Drew Yocum started for the Profs and took a no-hitter

continued on page 23

MSC's quest to return to Division III World Series begins

After being ousted from NJAC tourney, Red Hawks seek glory in NCAA's

by Keith A. Idee

The long journey towards the Division III College World Series begins this morning at 10 a.m. for the MSC softball team. That's when the Red Hawks (28-9), who are seeded second in the NCAA tournament's Mid-Atlantic Regionals, will take their path to the World Series. The finals will be held at the Bogue-Warner Sports Complex near Millikin University in Decatur, Illinois beginning on Thursday, May 20.

The Red Hawks enter the NCAA's on a down note after a disappointing showing in the NJAC tourney. Trenton State easily won the tournament and defeated MSC, 4-0, in the first-round game last Friday. Since this tournament was also a double-elimination, the Red Hawks were still alive. MSC went on to defeat Rowan, 3-0, on Saturday but was bumped from the tournament by William Paterson. The win over Rowan boosted MSC's confidence because the Profs had swept a double-header from the Red Hawks on April 13.

The confidence should come in handy because Rowan is one of the roadblocks in MSC's path to the World Series. MSC, ranked No. 7 nationally in the Division III coaches poll, has a good chance to pull off some post-season magic. With the two-pitcher rotation of Denise Warnock and Michelle Serio, a solid defense and a potent offensive attack led by Kristi Kuchinski, Kim Drager and Jennifer Flinn, the Red Hawks are sure to make some noise in the tournament.

Predictions often don't hold much water, but this team is certainly talented and deep enough to win the entire tournament. Of course, it's going to be a long and bumpy road to the title land. Some favorable bounces and luck will also be required to reach these lofty heights. Only time will tell, but these next two weeks should be Showdown with success for MSC. RED HAWK NOTES...

Kuchinski, who was named the co-Player of the Year in the College Division by the New Jersey Inter-collegiate Spring Coaches and Sports Media Association, along with Trenton State coach Marie Cerrano...Kuchinski was also named to the All-NJAC's Division one team, as were teammates Flinn, Shannon Malone and Keri O'Meara...Warnock was named to the New Jersey Inter-collegiate Spring Coaches and Sports Media Association, along with Trenton State coach Marie Cerrano...Kuchinski was also named to the All-NJAC's Division one team, as were teammates Flinn, Shannon Malone and Keri O'Meara...Warnock was named to the New Jersey Inter-collegiate Spring Coaches and Sports Media Association, along with Trenton State coach Marie Cerrano...Kuchinski was also named to the All-NJAC's Division one team, as were teammates Flinn, Shannon Malone and Keri O'Meara...Warnock was named Rookie of the Year by the NJAC...MSC's 28 wins are all against the most by an Anita Kubicka-coached team in the three years since Ubic as head coach. The team is hitting at an outstanding overall clip of .369, while opponents are only hitting a mere .267 off of MSC pitching...MSC finished the season with a 12-2 mark at its own Quarry Fields.