From the editor's desk...

Calle-in-Chief

45-0-1! YES! YES! YES!!! I Love you all equally! Ladies and Gentlemen, it is official, the hysteria is in full bloom! I am, of course, referring to the SGA legislature's vote approving The Montclarion's appropriation for a brandy new laser printer. YEEEEEEEEEESSSSSSSSSSSSSSSSSSS!!!

Now that I've taken my body out of Michele's mouth,(nevermind, you had to be there-I'm sorry Mich) I would really like to thank all of this year's SGA for the level of professionalism they showed and a HI-DI-HI-HO to all the new legislators who are truly one of the greatest assets this campus has. Welcome aboard and see you all at the leadership conference. (After last year, I didn't think I'd ever say that and mean it but I do.)

Once again there is trouble brewing around the world. That crazy Yeltsin. Doesn't he know there's a pennant race in da Bronx? Nevertheless, tanks are cruisin' round Red Square like a bunch of guidos on Bloomfield Avenue on a Friday Night. (Don't laugh- I was one of them.) Seriously though, pray that they can work out their differences peacefully. That's still the Russian Bear we're talking about. A teddy bear maybe, but a teddy bear with nuclear warheads nevertheless. Maybe Hillary-ious has a solution.

Speaking of draft-dodgers, "Please mommy, make 'im go 'way!"

On the homestream, I would like to apologize for the tardiness of The Montclarion last week. It was totally unintentional and unavoidable. The presses went down at our printer therefore delaying the long anticipated arrival of this publication. All of you whose life was altered by the deficiency of their early morning comics, (You didn't think I thought you picked up the paper to read my column did you?) can rest easy. It was a fluke. Won't happen again.

And in other news...Dialogue between The Montclarion and the powers that be continues and, with any luck, should help to iron out the lack of information we and the rest of the student body recieve. Keep your fingers crossed or as they say in the movies, "see you in court...".

Have a great week, enjoy the rest of The Montclarion and remember, I didn't vote for him!

George Calle
Editor-in-Chief

P.S. Beware the keeper of the cheese!

Women's groups speak out against President Reid for role in Miss America Pageant

by Glenn Steinberg

Irvin Reid, President of MSC, was a preliminary judge at the Miss America Pageant which took place this past weekend, and is now receiving criticism for his decision to be a judge.

According to Dr. Joan Ficke, Director of the Women’s Center, Reid’s decision has the wisdom of your assuming such a duty in a forum which asks women to conform to stereotypical concepts of female beauty.

Reid, who was chosen to be one of the preliminary judges by the executive director of the pageant of whom he knows, said that he agreed to his position because of the changes the pageant has made over the years.

He believes that the emphasis on the swimsuit has been overemphasized in the past but feels that it has changed, stating that he has not watched the pageant in about 10 years.

Reid said that he does disagree with the swimsuit competition and it should put more emphasis on their talent and their ability to communicate to the people of America.

Reid did say that 40% of the pageant is based on talent and 30% is based on an interview which is conducted with the participants and that he is only 70% satisfied with the way in which the pageant is judged.

Other judges along with Reid include the art critic of New York Newsday, Janice Berman, the 1978 winner of the Miss America Pageant, Susan Perkins and Jeanine Parks, reporter for Entertainment Weekly.

The winner of this year’s pageant was Kimberly Clarice Aiken, 18, of South Carolina.

Alumni Association to offer Scholarship

by Greg Mac Sweeney

A new scholarship is being offered this year by the MSC Alumni Association to MSC undergraduates who have had to overcome difficult circumstances during the pursuit of their education.

The new $1,000 "Carpe Diem" scholarship will recognize students who achieve academic success, service to the community, colleagues, faculty and staff despite hardships that they have suffered, said Hollie Stevens from the Alumni Association.

"We’re trying to reach out to the students who need it the most," Stevens said. "This scholarship is for the students who have persisted and worked hard for their education.

Along with the one Carpe Diem scholarship, approximately 25 Undergraduate Scholarship and Student Service Awards will be awarded, Stevens said.

According to Stevens, there were only about 50 applications for the 25 Undergraduate Scholarship and Student Service Awards given out last year.

The deadline for the Carpe Diem Scholarship is November 15 and the deadline for the Undergraduate Scholarship and Student Service Award will be February 15. For more information contact the Alumni Association at 655-4141.

C-Store supervisor arrested for allegedly stealing from register

by Kevin Colligan

The supervisor of the college convenience store (the C-Store), Margo Reed, was led out of the Student Center in handcuffs last Wednesday after Campus Police arrested her for allegedly stealing from the store’s registers and register bank. An investigation into C-Store employees is ongoing according to Campus Police, and may result in more arrests.

An employee within the Student Center requesting anonymity who was present during the arrest said Reed shouted, "They’re going to get all of you," as she was led away by police. Sgt. Debra Newcombe, an arresting officer, disputed the eyewitness report saying Reed said only "I’ll be seeing you."

Reed refused phone calls from the Montclarion.

"I don’t know [if more arrests will be made]," said Richard Ammerman, director of the College Store and Reed’s direct supervisor. Ammerman originally called in the Campus Police to assist an on-going internal investigation into C-Store thefts. He would not comment on the internal investigation, what prompted it, or his request for police assistance; "I feel a comment at this time would jeopardize the investigation."

Campus Police, likewise, declined to comment due to the "ongoing investigation."

Security cameras were installed in the C-Store on Sept. 16, a day after Reid’s arrest. Two cameras are plainly visible over the registers. An anonymous source has indicated that a third, concealed camera, was installed in the rear office of the store where the register bank is located. Ammerman would neither confirm nor deny the existence of the third camera and declined to link the cameras to Reid’s alleged theft.

Ammerman would comment on Reid’s employment status.

Reed is scheduled to be arraigned on the charge of Theft 2C20-3A in Little Falls Municipal Court on September 29.
NOTICE TO ALL CURRENTLY ENROLLED STUDENTS WHO WILL BE RETURNING IN THE WINTER SESSION 1994 AND/OR SPRING SEMESTER 1994

Registration for the Winter Session and Spring Semester 1994 will occur simultaneously between October 12-28, 1993.

All students who are enrolled for the Fall 1993 and who are eligible to return for the Winter or Spring 1994 will have a Registration Appointment Card mailed to them during the week of September 27, 1993.

Undergraduate students who are currently enrolled for 12 or more credits will be assigned an in-person registration appointment date and time. Undergraduate students who are currently enrolled for fewer than 12 credits and Graduate students will be assigned a range of dates during which they should submit their registration form and Appointment Card to the Office of the Registrar.

Cards will not be generated for students who are on the January 1994 Graduation list. Students who are graduating in January and who wish to register for Winter or Spring 1994 courses should contact the Office of the Registrar at 655-4376, for direction.

Students who do not fulfill their Basic Skills requirements, who have an outstanding financial obligation to the College, or who have an outstanding high school transcript with the Admissions Office will not be sent their cards. These students must report to either the Basic Skills Office, the Business Office, or the Admissions Office to obtain their card.

You must have this card in order to register. No one will be permitted into the registration site without a Registration Appointment Card. Registration forms submitted to the Office will not be processed without the Registration Appointment Card attached.

PLEASE READ THE WINTER SESSION/SPRING SEMESTER 1994 SCHEDULE OF COURSES BOOK CAREFULLY!! It will be available on September 27, 1993. It will contain the list of Winter and Spring 1994 course offerings.

You should use the registration form that is in the Schedule of Courses book. It is for both Winter and Spring registration. The Registration Appointment Card, together with this form, will serve as your personal packet.

Advisement should be obtained prior to registration.

SGA NEWS: A full boat in the big room
by Gail Corrigan

President James "Appetite " Cotter swore in five new legislators which has boosted the legislators body to sixty new members- maximum capacity.

President Irvin Reid addressed the SGA and welcomed the students to a new academic year. Issues such as the completed construction, MSC becoming University status, as well as the need for more student involvement were discussed.

Guest speaker Dan Leisman from Food Services explained a program in which MSC mugs will be sold for three dollars in the cafeteria and will be able to be refilled for .75 cents anywhere, whether it be coffee or soda. In conjunction with Karen Wilson, President of the Conservation Club, the program’s goal is to cut back the amount of wasted paper on campus.

Ross Peterson, Director of Services, noted that the Parkway tokens will be available soon to the students at a discounted price. Free condoms will also be available to the students in the SGA office soon, and art carved rings, will be on campus from Sept. 22-30.

Sal Anderson, a student member of the Board of Trustees brought up the important issue of changes on campus if MSC becomes a university. The SGA has begun a question survey in which students will be able to voice their opinion university status. Legislators will be available by the SGA office, and scattered around campus with questionnaires.

Steven Khalaf, Director of programming, stressed the need to buy tickets for the upcoming Cypress Hill/House of Pain concert.

The issue of banners being hung by Fraternities and sororities in the student Center Cafe was addressed by several members of the SGA.

At this time banners are not allowed due to fire hazards on the Ad Hoc committee will be created.

Rob Laratta, a leader in the fight to bring alcohol back to the 92-93 year, stressed the need for people to utilize this privilege. The Ratt will be coming up to a review soon, and if a substantial amount of people are not using it- the decision to close may be made.

The bill for the Montclarion to purchase a new printer in which to output the newspaper passed 45-0-1.

Also the bill for WMSC-FM to replace outdated equipment passed 38-0-0.

The Psychology behind the Citibank Classic Visa card, and the emotional security of the Photocard. The Citibank Classic Visa® instills in students feelings of safety, security, and general wellness not unlike those experienced in the womb. Therefore, it is the mother of all credit cards. ¶ Some experts attribute these feelings to the Citibank Photocard, the only credit card with your photo on it. A voice inside says, “This is me, really me.” (As opposed to, “Who the heck is that?”—a common response to the photo on one’s driver’s license.) It’s an immediate form of ID, a boost to your self-image. ¶ Of course if your card is ever lost or stolen and a stranger is prevented from using it, you’ll feel exceptionally good (showing no signs of Credit Card Theft Nervosa). ¶ Other experts point to specific services, such as The Lost Wallet® Service that can replace your card usually within 24 hours. Or the 24-Hour Customer Service line, your hotline, if you will, for any card-related anxiety whatsoever. ¶ Further analysis reveals three services that protect the purchases you make on the Citibank Classic Visa card, at no additional cost. 1. Buyers Security® can cover them against accidental damage, fire or theft, for 90 days from the date of purchase (preventing, of course, Insecurity). 2. Citibank Lifetime Warranty® allows one to extend the warranty for the expected service life of eligible products up to 12 years. 3. And Citibank Price Protection assures you of the best price. You need only see the same item advertised in print for less, within 60 days, and Citibank will refund the difference up to $150 (hence no Post Purchase Depression). ¶ Special student savings are particularly therapeutic. There’s the free Citibank Calling Service® from MCI to save up to 26% on long distance calls versus AT&T® (You’re encouraged to call Mom and Dad regularly preventing Parental Non-Support®). And a $20 Airfare Discount® on any domestic flight. (Case studies indicate that a Fear of Flying is overcome when Spring Break in sunny Florida is a possibility.) Not to mention the low variable interest rate of 15.4% and no annual fee for college students. ¶ Suffice it to say, you’ll have a credit card you can depend on while building a credit history. So call 1-800-CITIBANK, extension 19, to apply over the phone (students don’t need a job or a cosigner) or to have your photo added to your Citibank Classic Visa card. ¶ If we say that a sense of Identity is the first component of the Citibank Classic Visa card, a sense of Security the second, and a sense of Autonomous Will from your newfound financial independence the third, don’t be crazy...Call.

The Monarch® Notes Version:
The Citibank Classic card gives students peace of mind, protection against Freud—or rather fraud—a low rate and no fee. Apply today. Call 1-800-CITIBANK, ext. 19

DROP-IN CENTER TRAINING SESSION

September 26th

655-5271

Located between Math/Science and Student Center

APPLICATION DEADLINE TOMORROW September 24

The Drop-in Center, (an information, referral and peer counseling service) is staffed entirely by student volunteers. The caliber of service offered to the student body cannot be maintained without you. If you want to help people, learn more about yourself, and do something constructive with your time, this could be the toughest non-paying job you have ever loved. While the training is rigorous and the commitment level high, the experience will be carried throughout your life.

The Drop-In Center is a good place to grow for students of all majors. We will teach you the lost art of listening as you learn by doing.

In-service instruction will include; on-campus referrals, bus and rail routing, psychological referrals, health referrals, sexual health referrals, and publicity.

The following list of workshops will be offered to those who train and make staff during the semester in order to increase staff awareness on these issues.

1) Suicide Intervention
2) Sexual Assault
3) Feedback
4) Facilitating Loss and Grief
5) Human Sexuality
6) Campus Security
7) Alcohol and Substance Abuse

A Service of Your Student Government Association
Dear President Irvin Reid,

We would like to express our concern about your participation as a preliminary judge in the Miss America Pageant. While recognizing that the format of this pageant has changed in recent years, we nonetheless feel that its premise is antithetical to the dignity of women that we have worked to promote in our classes and through the activities of the Women’s Center. Any contest that requires women to parade before a group of judges in bathing suit and evening attire reinforces and perpetuates the objectification of women in our society.

While we understand that your role as a preliminary judge was limited to interviewing the candidates on a wide range of social and intellectual issues, we question the wisdom of your assuming such a duty in a forum which asks women to conform to stereotypical concepts of female beauty.

In light of your past support of a variety of issues affecting women and Women’s Studies, we fear that you have now sent the MSC community, and especially our students, a mixed and disturbing message about women’s roles.

Sincerely yours,
The Women’s Studies Advisory Board

An open letter to President Irvin Reid

"President Clinton has asked the American people to make sacrifices to help ease the budget deficit and revitalize the economy. With everyone being asked to do their share, the question being asked is why should Israel be exempt?" (Mitchell Baird, former AIPAC staffer, No. California Jewish Bulletin, May 14).

"What has also not gone unnoticed is Israel's reluctance to even begin thinking about helping the Clinton administration cut its foreign aid budget, something the president desperately needs to do given the current domestic climate and new foreign policy challenges that have developed. Our relations with the U.S. cannot be a case of 'wham, bam, thanks, Sam,' if they are to be genuine and lasting." (Hirsch Goodman, Editorial, Jerusalem Report, July 1).

Indeed, "Wham, Bam thanks, Sam," does describe the relationship between Israel and the U.S. But the question that Mitchell Baird and Hirsch Goodman suggest is being asked on Capitol Hill must never have exceeded the level of a hushed whisper. On June 17, with 3/4's of the House, not to mention the President, V.P., most of the Washington press corps and the AFL-CIO deep in its pocket — and the Middle East peace movement asleep as usual — the Israel lobby conducted its annual raid on the taxing American public.

In what has come to be an increasingly secretive Capitol Hill ceremony, the House of Representatives overwhelmingly approved a $13 billion foreign aid bill (H.R. 2295). Although it shaved $800 million from last year's total appropriation, it maintained economic and military and economic bonuses.

The House did send a clear message to the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO) that the fruits that were achieved on the West Bank and Gaza, and which are due to the provisions of the Oslo Accords, had been achieved.

The current bill is written so as to disguise the actual total above $3 billion that Israel is scheduled to receive, but it is estimated to be an additional $1.2 billion. According to the Near East Report (June 7), Obey hailed the bill as "the restoration of an orderly process in authorizing and appropriation." Presumably, he considered the Bush administration's unwillingness to totally proceed itself in the front of the Israel lobby to be disorderly conduct.

If it's not bipartisan politics that is destroying Washington's ability to make sound decisions, then it is the influence of special interest groups. To put the numbers in layman's terms, the money that the United States allocates to Egypt each and every year would have been enough to cover New Jersey's 1989 budget deficit that caused Florio to raise taxes up to 7%. Write letters to your elected politicians explaining your willingness to make sacrifices and their lack of ability to make sacrifices to interest groups that fund their campaigns. Capitalism would not be so bad if our public servants were not so corrupt!

Surely you, Irvin, surely you spin doctors could have done a better job than the "70%" solution. In case our readers have not read the printed words some twelve-and-a-half pages back, the president of the University College did indeed rationalize his participation in explaining that the contest relies 70% upon talents and interests.

Does this man, leading an institution dedicated to the idea that his partially college-educated constituents would over time grow and develop contestants glued themselves to the bottom of their bathing suits? Are we supposed to believe that these women have been chosen on the basis of their ability, and not just so happen to look mildly attractive in clingy evening gowns? Among the biology department to rig some kind of study linking in communication skills to cup sizes a few letters into the alphabet. We expected to believe that these women have been chosen on the basis of their ability, and not just so happen to look mildly attractive in clingy evening gowns?

We “R” ready for RU-486

by Frank Fleischman III

Recently, a study done by the National Academy of Sciences reported that the Food and Drug Administration need not do any testing of the RE-486 abortion pill administered to women during their first trimester of pregnancy. The FDA did want to do numerous tests and set the incredibly distant date of Jan. 1997 for its approval. Unfortunately, this was the end of that long, drawn out time that RU-486 has entered the arena of political debate through its controversial purpose of inducing abortion, it has been discovered that the pill seems to be effective in the treatment of breast cancer and certain tumors. Unfortunately, the pill has the stigma of the “abortion pill” and certain “profile” elements in this society have tried to silence any reasonable debate by invoking the “immortality” of abortion and by trying to argue that if the pill is approved, abortions will increase, or that these pills will be available as birth control.

At this particular time, the idea of RU 486 being used as a birth control doesn't seem plausible. In any case, a doctor will be required to prescribe the pill. That will cut down on the use of pills by teenagers or as birth control.

The Food and Drug Administration has always had a rigorous testing process for any new drug. However, there is already ample evidence that the drug is safe at least in the first trimester of pregnancy. According to the National Academy of Sciences, the pill has been used successfully in Europe. In France, Britain, and Sweden alone, 60,000 women have used the pill successfully in the first trimester. That fact doesn't even touch upon the pill's uses for cancer treatment. This kind of evidence should be reviewed by the FDA and the recommendation should be to by-pass unnecessary testing.

The only tests that the FDA should be conducting on the drug should be for dosages. That should not take until 1997. The Food and Drug Administration had better start listening to the evidence, and start the process in motion for approval. In this case, America can't wait for something that it needs.

Be sure to remember come November (Florio revisited)

November (Florio revisited)

by Vinnie Stampone

Here we go. Another September has rolled around and you know what that means. The beginning of the semester, the beginning of fall, and yes, the beginning of another bitter political battle. Last year we sat through months of Bill and George interviews and commercials and countless editorials. Voter registration and turnout in the 18 to 25 year old range was of record breaking proportion. While we were not the deciding factor in a closely contested presidential election we were certainly heard. That brings us to the present.

In case you haven't heard we now must decide between Jim and Christine. Once again the “young” vote will be heard in this upcoming battle. It's been four years since we were bombarded with the “DUMP FLORIO” bumper stickers. The anti-Florio sentiment is still there but has been steadily decreasing. Many of you knowledgeable readers know plenty about Florio, but little of Whitman. Let me introduce you. She is a lifelong Republican who because of her family and economic ties has a lot of connections. She has little political experience. She received only the lackluster support of the National Organization for Women (NOW). She is in favor of weakening some of the toughest drunk driving laws in the country. Florio invoked some of the toughest laws in the country, now Whitman wants to weaken them. Why? Florio also introduces some of the toughest gun control laws in the country, now Whitman wants to weaken them. Why? Whitman talks about Florio's taxes and how regular people are struggling. Does this explain why Whitman declared her multi-acre mansion complex as farmland to save a few dollars on property taxes? Does she explain why someone with a family income of a few million dollars a year tries to cheat the “regular” people out of a few dollars?

Welcome, loyal readers, to yet another extra-special installment of PROPHET BIGO! I have many a tale to tell about my recent adventures in Manhattan. It’s a three part story, but we’re gonna take parts two and three first and part one will be in next week’s installment. So, here we go...

*Part 2. After finishing my lunch in part one, I rushed some twenty blocks to talk to Alex Winter (Bill and Ted’s Excellent Adventure, The Lost Boys) about his new film Freaked. In addition to Winter, I was pleased to speak with the co-writer, co-director and co-producer of the film, Tom Stern.

Q: When did the two of you meet?

A: Alex Winter - We met at N.Y.U. Film School and we made a film together. Ten long years ago.

Q: Do you consider this film to be in the same vein as Evil Dead or Army of Darkness?

A: Tom Stern - We’d be honored if it did.

Q: That’s for sure! The first version of Freaked was more like Evil Dead. The end product is more of a comedy.

A: Sam’s (Raimi, director of Evil Dead I and II, Army of Darkness) movies are kinda weird, genre wise. But in terms of cult status, it would be great if Freaked found a following.

Q: Who is your target audience with this film?

A: Tom Stern - We really didn’t think about that genre wise. But in terms of cult status, it would be great if Freaked found a following.

Q: Is it true that you two have done some videos and which ones?

A: Tom Stern - We'd be honored if it did.

Q: Is it true that the two of you met in Washington Square Park?

A: Uhh, yeah. Actually, we picked him and then asked which was the most uncomfortable.

Q: When did the two of you meet?

A: No. There isn’t one slated right now.

Q: What expectations do you have for the film?

A: Don Rickles as the president (laughter). With Don Rickles as the president (laughter).

Q: One more question. Alex, you worked with Corey Feldman (on Lost Boys) when he was younger. When you see him now, don’t you just want to slap him?

A: Yeah. He shrinks me and Keenan down and we go into the president’s colon and give him a high colonic (laughter).

Q: What expectations do you have for the film?

A: Purely sexual (laughter). No. It’s good, even after having him in a make up chair having individual strands of hair glued to his face for five hours everyday we are still talking. That was one of the most uncomfortable of all the makeup jobs that anyone had to go through.

Q: Is that why you picked him?

A: Uhh, yeah. Actually, we picked him and then asked which was the most uncomfortable.

Q: Do you consider this film to be in the same vein as Evil Dead or Army of Darkness?

A: Don’t feel ignorant. We did "Taste the Pain" by the Chili Peppers but the song was a flop so we have no memory of seeing the video and an Ice Cube video.

Q: Do you consider this film to be in the same vein as Evil Dead or Army of Darkness?

A: That was a 60 minute college film, live action kindacartoon. We tried to capture the energy of Fleishman and Warner Bros. cartoons with a lot of silly gags. It was a lot of fun.

Q: What do you see?

A: I see it somewhere between Army of Darkness and Freaked.

Q: What expectations do you have for the film?

A: Tom Stern - We really didn’t think about that genre wise. But in terms of cult status, it would be great if Freaked found a following.

Q: How long did it take to shoot Freaked?

A: It's got enough gross-out stuff in it that hopefully little kids will like it. But we noticed when we showed it to the more normal suburban teens that they take offense to a lot of the stuff because they are real self conscious and always feel the joke is on them (laughter). They got real hostile and started yelling at the screen and stuff. It was really funny.

Q: How long did it take to shoot Freaked?

A: Yeah. No. Our ideal schedule was for six weeks (laughter). If I ever see him now, don’t you just want to slap him?

Q: One more question. Alex, you worked with Corey Feldman (on Lost Boys) when he was younger. When you see him now, don’t you just want to slap him?

A: I haven't actually seen any of those guys since I made that film. All I can tell you is that when we made the movie he was a snot nosed 14 year-old who, along with the other snots kicked a bunch of dirt in my death scene and scratched my retina. I was, like, blind in my left eye for six weeks (laughter). If I ever see Corey Feldman again in person, I'll beat the crap out of him!

we noticed a lot of activity under the arch. We exited the cab and found out that a Coca-Cola commercial was being filmed there. While my companions were only slightly interested, my Prophet sense was tingling. I alone moved around the barrier 'till I found a better view and ended up standing behind a short, bald African-American who quickly spun around and asked if I was staying around for a while.

"Sure," said the Prophet.

"Do you have any experience as an extra?" said the man.

"Sure," said the Prophet.

"Okay, well I need you right over here..." And the man escorted me on to the "set" and told me where to stand and what to do. And there I stood doing what I was told. In between takes I was speaking to the lady I was standing next to who informed me that the commercial was being directed by none other than the renowned John Singleton (Boys in the Hood, Poetic Justice)! I kindly asked the woman to point him out and sure enough it was the short, bald man who had selected me.

Very exciting. I walked over to him when shooting was done and thanked him for selecting me. And then, as I was talking to him about upcoming projects who should walk up but Gary Oldman (JFK, Bram Stoker's Dracula, True Romance)!

After spending several minutes talking to them, Mr. Oldman had to leave and Mr. Singleton had to do some more work, so we parted ways.

It was a truly exciting day. But not as exciting as these Prophet notes. To Squid and Richard: thank you for taking the cab.

To the cast of Glass Menagerie: Bonito! And a BIGG hello to Jane and the brand new Son of the Prophet, Jerry!

The Glass Menagerie

by Kelly Schab

Symbolism abounds in Tennessee Williams's "The Glass Menagerie" and to convey the message of the playwright, a competent acting company is needed.

Players, the organization performing Williams's eloquent play, does a fine job in telling the story of a dysfunctional family trying not to kill each other in St. Louis.

Tom (played by John Koeppl), the narrator of the story, is an adventure-starved young man who takes after his long-gone father. Amanda (Judith Leporati), is Tom's busy-body mother who lives in the shadows of her social butterfly past and Laura (Jennifer Egan) is Tom's older sister, a painfully shy young woman who suffers from a lack of gentleman callers.

As the performance I saw was a preview, there were a few kinks in the system that needed to be smoothed out, but I'm certain that they will be gone by the time this gets to print.

Koeppl conveys the restlessness of Tom very well: one almost itches to travel along with him.

Leporati is very charismatic and expressive as Amanda. She brings the busybodyness of the character to life.

The painful shyness of Laura is well represented by Egan who looks as diminutive as a mouse on stage. Greg Amend as the gentleman caller is charming as he tries to give confidence to Laura.

The direction by Kathryn Cirrincione artfully captures the bitter-sweetness of the story with sensitiveness to the characters' unrealized dreams and brings a tear to the eyes of the viewer.

The Couch Potato Update

by George Olschewski

Due to a foul-up on the part of the Arts editor, last week's Couch Potato was not run in its entirety. Here's part two plus this week's apologies to the Potato.

Does this mean that kids are going to do this all the time? Of course not. TV Guide recently had a crossfire on the benefits of children watching Beavis and Butt-Head. One parent said that the two protagonists are bad examples, burn things, mutilate small animals, and promote sexist attitudes. This is what MTV does to young minds. Not nice things to be pouring into the heads of our future leaders.

Kids wrote back. Give us a break, they told the parents and do-gooder. B & B satirizes the supposed MTV generation. They are the antithesis of everything MTV is. Their world exists in sound bites and rock videos and babes and other things that "don't suck." Huh huh huh huh. We are also intelligent enough to know that it is all just harmless fun.

My message to kids and parents alike...role models are what you make of them. I agree with both Charles Barkley and Karl Malone. Both make valid points. But let me say one thing in closing: if parents and special interest groups and everyone else that has a beef about television and rock music and video games and Dungeons and Dragons put as much energy into raising their children as they do in trying to get Beavis and Butt-Head off the air or suing Ozzy Osbourne for music lyrics, maybe half of the "problems" they're screaming about wouldn't exist.

See you next week.

Here's this week's Potato in its entirety.

It's been said that actors always go in threes. Last week, Numbers One and Two died-Raymond Burr and Herve Villechez. Raymond Burr is more well-known to most MSC student's parents as the all-star lawyer Perry Mason, which still airs in its original black and white format on WTBS. After Perry Mason, Burr also starred in another series (oddly enough, still in the law profession) in Ironside. Burr played a lawyer that was shot and crippled, but to the dismay of his assistant, he still lived, hence the name Ironside.

It wasn't until recently that Burr got back behind the desk as Perry Mason in a string of telefilms, and although he knew he had cancer, and he knew that his days were numbered, he always had the feeling that he might bear it. To prove just how stubborn he was, he signed a contract with NBC to make 12 more Perry Mason telefilms. Now, that's a guy with balls.

Herve Villechez, on the other hand, had perseverance to deal with his dwarfism, but it was not without its price. The dwarfism brought with it health problems, and he had to take a handful of medications to keep him running up to par. His only well-known role was Tattoo on the late 1970's to early 80's series Fantasy Island. Ricardo Montellanz, long-time friend and co-star as Mr. Rourke on F I, was extremely upset at finding out about Villechez's death, and the circumstances that surrounded it.

He was tired of things- lack of acting roles, not being taken seriously for roles, his illnesses that came with the dwarfism, and his girlfriend. Yes, he had a girlfriend, an attractive one at that. He didn't want her to end up taking care of him, and he thought she could do a lot better. All this was on a cassette tape that Villechez himself recorded... just before he committed suicide.

Death by natural causes is one thing, and it's always sad to read about an actor kicking off to the Great Beyond. However, this is the second time in ten years that a dwarf committed suicide. The first one was David Rappaport, star of CBS' The Wizard, which ran in the early 80's, as well as the movie Time Bandits. The show and the movie were moderately successful, and The Wizard had a decent run on television. However, he committed suicide for many of the same reasons as Villechez did.

It's a shame that both actors, who were extremely talented in my opinion, had to meet such tragic ends. However, in an industry dominated by sex and violence, talent takes a back-seat to ratings. Villechez and Rappaport were not study Fabio look-alikes. However, I would lay down money that these two, while short in stature, could out-acct many of today's 'stars.'

Here's to all the little people who made big splashings in acting. You don't deserve the ridicule. You deserve respect.

See you next week.

DROP-IN CENTER:
Providing peer counseling for over 20 years

Montclair State's Drop-in Center, a peer counseling, information and referral service, sponsored by the Student Government Association, is now accepting applications for its fall training session. The application deadline is September 24. Students who are interested in volunteering their time to provide assistance to the campus community can "drop in" and apply. The Drop-in Center is the rustic cottage located between the Student Center and Richardson Hall.

The training will begin with full day session on Sunday, September 26 from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. This extensive training is presented by professionals in the counseling field. The experimental and participatory training entails learning effective listening, peer counseling and crisis intervention skills.

The Drop-In Center has been providing the student so Montclair State with valuable information, referals and confidential peer counseling for over 20 years. The Drop-In Center is staffed by student volunteers. The volunteer peer counselors make the required 12 hour a week commitment without receiving any academic credit or money. The director of the Drop-In Center said, "volunteering is an extremely valuable and rewarding experience in itself. Staff members enhance their future career development through the ongoing training which entails state-of-the-arts workshops throughout the semester on critical issues such as health, grief and loss, sexual identity, substance abuse, suicide, sexual assault and eating disorders. Training to be a peer counselor enhances listening skills essential in all aspects of daily life."

The door of the Drop-In Center are always open to students who need to talk with someone. Students can also call 655-5271 for peer counseling, information or referals. The Drop-In Center stocks a wealth of informtion. The pamphlets offered are helpful for expanding personal knowledge as well as for papers and presentation. The Drop-In Center also provides bus schedules, maps and directions. The Drop-In Center posts all campus happenings and special events. According to the staff, the goal of the Drop-In Centers is to be of assistance in any situation. This may not always be possible, so if they can't help, they know someone who can.

SIMPLE LEVEL: Name the video games described.

1. Orange bi-ped with trunk jumps around on a pyramid
2. Insane man scales building and evades dropped flowerpots
3. Yellow circle devours dots and runs from multi-colored ghosts
4. Squat Italian tries to rescue damsel from barrel-throwing ape
5. Energetic amphibian attempts to safely cross street
6. Nondescript diamond-shaped thing shoots at advancing multi-legged arthropod
7. Juvenile gorilla tries to rescue his imprisoned Papa
8. Space jet strafes elaborate floating space platform

INTERMEDIATE LEVEL:
Match these character descriptions with the game in which they appeared.

1. Flying ostriches
2. Gun-toting archeologist
3. Mouse in security guard uniform
4. Clown with ball
5. Pig with bows and arrows in a hot air balloon
6. Light cycles
7. A walking fried egg
8. Bear with a wizard's cap

CULTURAL IDIOT LEVEL: Answer these videogame trivia questions.

1. What was the first videogame to incorporate laser disc technology?
2. What year did Robortron take place?
3. Name the two enemy creatures in Dig Dug and describe their appearance.
4. The game Donkey Kong had a sequel. Name it.
5. What type of graphics do games like Tempest and Star Wars use?
Aries: (Mar. 21-Apr. 19) Be frank in your relationships, because Frank is a great guy, and you're a weasel-faced jerk.

Taurus: (Apr. 20-May 20) You quit your dentistry job to become a poet, but find that all you can write are limericks about flossing and ugly tartar.

Gemini: (May 21-June 21) A game of musical chairs will turn tragic when a poor loser shatters the "Pop Goes the Weasel" record, and shoves a large shard into your spine.

Cancer: (June 22—July 22) Don't underestimate the power of a good cry in its ability to make you look like a sissy.

Leo: (July 23-Aug. 22) The stars are kind to you this week. They will make you delicious cocktails and rub your sore shoulder.

Virgo: (Aug 23-Sept. 22) When a group of young punks calls you "Egghead," display your maturity by ignoring them. They set you on fire anyway.

Libra: (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) The stars say you'll learn the true meaning of friendship when a clown kicks you in the stomach, causing you to pee blood.

Red Hawks diffuse No. 3 Blue Bombers, 29-0

MSC shuts out Ithaca for second straight win over nationally ranked teams

by Brian Falzarno

If defense wins championships and offense wins games, then what does special teams do?

While the defense shut the Blue Bombers down and the offense put up points, Scott Rubineti and Daryl Pellegrino made the difference as the Red Hawks exploded for a 29-0 victory over No. 3 Ithaca, which came in a 19 point favorite.

After last week's victory over No. 21 Cortland State, no one should be shocked by MSC's (2-0) win over a nationally ranked team, even the Blue Bombers, whose loss to MSC was only its second in their nine meetings (MSC last won in 1966.)

"Obviously we're happy with it; anytime you could beat a quality team it's a great win," special teams coach Rich O'Connor said. "I think other people were a little more surprised than we were. We were well prepared and were very confident going in."

Head coach Rick Giancola shared O'Connor's sentiments. "Everyone seems so surprised at this win," Giancola said. "This wasn't a game to compare the two programs. The programs are on par. I am a little disturbed at the fact that a lot of people didn't give us a chance to win the game."

Onlookers are now aware that MSC can beat any one team at any time; especially one ranked as high as Ithaca (1-1).

An overcast day was the setting for this battle which was as exciting as advertised. Things started off inauspiciously for both sides.

The Blue Bombers went three and out on their first two possessions, gaining five net yards in the process, while the Red Hawks were also forced to punt twice.

What occurred next changed the entire complexion of the game and set the tone for things to come.

After Pellegrino's second punt pinned Ithaca on their own 20 yard line, the Blue Bombers began their drive. Running back Todd Kornick carried for eight yards and caught a pass from quarterback Ron Smith for a gain of nine to put Ithaca at its own 37 yard line.

On second and 10, Volker looked to pass. With his receivers blanketed by Ithaca defenders, Volker sprung loose like a leaky pipe. He proceeded to turn a near-sack and three near-tackles into a chin-dropping 24-yard scramble to the Ithaca one yard line.

Running back Jerry Martess (21 carries, 105 yards) dove in from the one to give MSC a 7-0 lead with 4:10 left in the first quarter.

Following an unsuccessful drive by Ithaca which resulted in an Ed Mahoney punt (7 punts, 37.9 yard average), MSC got the ball on its own 24 yard line.

Volker then completed a nine yard pass to Tyrone Rolls and Neil Ruiz (15 carries, 69 yards) broke free on a 31-yard run to the Ithaca 36 yard line. Volker threw incomplete passes on the next three plays, giving Pellegrino yet another opportunity.

Despite getting off what seemed to be only a 30-yard punt, Pellegrino left Ithaca on its own six yard line. Against a defense as stingy as MSC's, which allowed only 222 total yards, many of which were meaningless, Ithaca was in no man's land. Pellegrino did this routinely.

"We go into the game every week trying to win the kicking game," said Giancola of his senior punter and Rubineti, who tied a school record with three field goals. "They did an excellent job."

O'Connor said, "Having two kickers is a great thing. Our unit as a whole played so well."

On the very next play, fullback John Culver rumbled in from two yards out to give MSC a 16-0 lead. Rubineti missed the extra point, but the Red Hawks were already pulling into the driveway for their second win.

The Red Hawk defense was huge once again. Linebackers Jose Hernandez and Mark Gatto had 12 and nine tackles respectively, while defensive back Keith Davis had seven tackles and one pass defensed. It is the linebackers, though, that seem vastly underrated.

"Our defense was outstanding; we were flying around the football all day," said Giancola. "Our linebackers probably don't get the credit they deserve because our unit as a whole play so well."

Making a big win enormous were Rubinetti with a 36-yard field goal in the third quarter and a 24-yarder in the fourth, as well as Ruiz, who had a 14-yard touchdown run to cap the scoring.

RED HAWK NOTES.....Franco was last week's Star Ledger Male Athlete of the Week.....Bargiel was Co-Defensive Player of the Week in the NJAC.....In the first Division III Lambert polls, MSC was ranked second. Washington & Jefferson ranked first.....Martess is on pace for a thousand yard season.....Rubinetti, perfect on four field goal attempts this year, is 14 of 18 in his career at MSC. He had a career high 50-yard field goal last season.....Smith, the Ithaca quarterback, was 10 for 27 for 111 yards passing. It is the second time that MSC has not allowed an opponent to complete more than 50 percent of his passes.....Some early NJAC rankings for the Red Hawks: MSC ranks first in scoring defense (3.5 points per game) and turnover margin (2.5). Martinez is third in rushing (217 yards), while Volker is second in QB rating (118.3) and Pellegrino is second in punting (35.4).....Newark natives representing MSC in the Pride Bowl are senior triple-captains John Culver and Keith Davis. The opponent will be FDU-Madison (2-0), who upset No. 15 Lycoming in their last game, 21-20.
MSC ready to take on Rowan, despite key injuries

by Keith A. Idee

Consider this an early mid-term week for the MSC men’s soccer team.

Games seven, eight and nine of a 19-game regular season schedule will be played from tonight through Wednesday and MSC head coach Rob Chesney believes that this is a big test week for his team.

On Saturday night, the Red Hawks (4-1-1) will visit Rowan College to participate in an NJAC battle of nationally ranked teams.

The Profs, No. 12 in Division III, will provide MSC (No. 18) with all they can handle. “They present a huge challenge for us,” said Chesney. “We don’t look past any of our games, but we are prepared for Saturday.”

Chesney’s team will have to take on Rowan without two of its top five players due to injuries. Sophomores Melkin Noriega (back) and Alex Zapata (midfielder) will miss the entire week of action and possibly more.

“We have to play through these injuries,” said Chesney. “I’m hoping that we’ll have the two guys back in 7-10 days.”

The Red Hawks have done an admirable job thus far playing through the injuries.

Last Wednesday night, MSC fought No. 5 and defending national champion Kean College to a 1-1 tie at Sprague Field.

Kean started the scoring on Charlie Ciolino’s corner kick in the first half. After trailing 1-0 for most of the game, the Red Hawks tied the score on junior Ricardo Jaramillo’s breakaway goal late in the second half.

The game ended in a tie when it was called due to lightning with 8:14 left in the first overtime.

Chesney obviously would prefer a win, but was pleased with his team’s overall performance. “We played poorly in the first half, but after we talked at halftime, things went pretty well,” he said.

In addition to the injured players, MSC played the Kean game without starting back Hugo Munoz. The senior was serving a one-game suspension for being ejected from a Sept. 11 loss to Bates College in the final of the Blue Jay Classic tournament.

After the Kean tie, the Red Hawks shut out Jersey City State College, 12-0 on Friday night at Sprague Field. “Jersey City’s a young team and we jumped on them early. The game was a good opportunity for us to see what some of our younger players are capable of,” said Chesney, who is 33-10-1 in his two-plus seasons at MSC.

REDHAWK NOTES....

After its strong showing last week, MSC jumped from No. 25 to No. 18 in the Division III national poll.... Erik Neubart leads the team in points scored (11), points (24) and game-winning goals (4).... In its six games MSC has outscored opponents 31-5... Starting goalie Mark Williams has given up only five goals in 386 minutes on the field (1.17 per game).... Jaramillo and All-American back Dom Bucci are tied for the team lead in assists with six apiece.... This week’s opponents also include Eastern Connecticut (tonight) and Rutgers Camden (Wednesday.)

Volleyball hits stride with two wins to move to 5-3
by Nicole Festa

As we move through the school year, things become more and more dependable. One thing that can be depended upon is the consistency of the MSC women's volleyball team.

This was thought to be a transitional season for the Red Hawks, who are coming off of a 3-25 season in 1992. With only five returning starters, things could have gotten troublesome. But MSC head coach Anita Kubicka said, "The 1993 Red Hawk volleyball team has all the ingredients necessary to be a winner."

After losing two matches in a row, the Red Hawks have bounced back to win two of their last three to boost their record to 5-3, moving them past 1992's win total. Their most recent effort was a 15-7, 15-4, 15-12 win over Stevens Tech this past Saturday.

In previous action, MSC hung tough, but dropped a 12-15, 15-13, 15-12, 11-15, 5-15 decision to Western Connecticut this past Thursday, despite being up two sets to one.

Prior to that, MSC swept Delaware Valley, 15-7, 15-12, 15-12. Sophomore Angelique Irizarry and junior Yocasta Garcia sparked the effort. Garcia, who is fifth in the NJAC with 4.7 assists per game, was outstanding with 16 assists.

At this point, there is no doubt that Anneliese Fejan is one of the NJAC's premier players. Fejan is in the NJAC top ten in four categories: hitting efficiency (first, .381), kills (fourth, 2.6), aces (first, 1.5) and digs (sixth, 1.0). Other major contributors have been Garcia, Jill Janish, and Krista Gastelu.

Football's blowout: A surprise, not an upset
by Brian Falzarano

Most of us label an upset as a major occurrence. The Jets over the Colts in '69 was an upset. Buster Douglas over Mike Tyson was an upset.

MSC defeating Ithaca was not an upset. Nevermind that Ithaca has won a national championship and MSC has not. In Division III, there is more parity than meets the eye.

Last week, the Red Hawks defeated then No. 21 Cortland State, 17-7. And now they have defeated the No. 3 Blue Bombers. To me, the only thing shocking about MSC winning is how handily they did it.

Ithaca ran for 427 yards against Albany State the previous week, but I don't see where Albany State could present a major test for anyone. It is not as if Ithaca has Barry Sanders and Thurman Thomas on their team.

Another thing for all of you who practically obey the national rankings. They don't mean a thing on the field. The Nebraska Cornhuskers are a perennial top-10 team, yet when they play another team with any semblance of a pulse, such as Florida State, Colorado or Oklahoma, they become the equivalent of a Pee Wee League Team.

My point is that a team can beat upon North Texas and South Dakota Tech all they want and win by outrageous scores. It is irrelevant because they didn't beat a quality team.

Around campus, the buzz is that MSC shocked the college football world. Students were revelling in the fact that our team won a big game, but were still stunned. Not to jump on a bandwagon, but I thought it would be a close game.

My reasoning for this is that MSC has a tremendous defense and a capable ball-control offense, complete with a savvy quarterback, quality running backs, and game-breaking wide receivers.

Also, their kicking game is as fine as they come. My opinion was one of the few that actually gave the Red Hawks a chance to win. However, I must admit, even I was surprised at the outcome.

But it's not like they were playing one of Nebraska's cupcake opponents. At least Ithaca belonged on the field with the Red Hawks.

Once so close, now so far away: Yanks need a minor miracle

The Yankees haven't been in a pennant race since 1986, when they finished second to the Boston Red Sox. So it's taken the organization and its fans nearly seven years to realize just how heart-breaking the experience can be.

Expressions of desperation were the norm for the Bombers this past week as New York slipped further and further behind the suddenly-revived Toronto Blue Jays.

It's down to the final handful of games and the Yankees currently stand five games back of Toronto, the most they've been all season.

What's even more discouraging is that the Yankees will have to rely on help from others to overtake the Blue Jays in what would require a complete turnaround in play for both teams.

Even if the Yankees were fortunate enough to sweep this weekend's three-game set in Toronto, they'll still be constant scoreboard watchers.

Actually, the Yankees have been constant scoreboard watchers for nearly the past four months. Their problem has been that they've never been in the driver's seat. And they've had their opportunities. Boy, have they had their opportunities.

If the Yankees do get an opportunity to take over first place within the next 10 days, there's obviously no guarantee that they'll take advantage of it.

In fact, they probably won't. But fans will at least want the chance to have their hearts broken just one last time this season.

The key (pardon the pun) for the Yankees down the stretch, besides help from other teams, is to have four starting pitchers to turn in the types of performances that Jimmy Key has all season. Easier said than done.

Yet, if the starting pitchers can get the Yankees into the seventh inning with a chance to win a game, it would be a huge improvement.

Jim Abbott, Sterling Hitchcock and Mark Hutton have been well below average over the past two weeks. Scott Kamieniecki, who was brilliant for about two months, has had problems with a hamstring injury and struggled of late.

So, who can the Yankees count on for quality outings when they need them most? One can never be certain, but it looks as if Key and newly-acquired Frank Tanana will be the only symbols of consistency.

However, if the bats of Don Mattingly and Danny Tartabull heat up, the Yankees may need less help from their starting pitching than they think.

The next ten days are what the soon-to-be-abolished two-division formats are all about. Fans can't ask for much more than to have their teams alive going into the season's last week.

As thoughts of the post-season dance through the minds of Yankee fans, they shouldn't get their hopes up too high. Because as intriguing as baseball in the Bronx past the first week of October is, it's probably going to have to wait.
