SURGEON GENERAL'S WARNING: Breathing in The Student Center May Result in Bronchitis, Headaches, Sore Throat, And Skin Irritation

Is "Sick Building Syndrome" to blame for illness in the Student Center?
(Colligan, p.5)
Calle-in-Chief

I have just returned from flight 655 from hell. Well, Dallas actually, but close enough. The flight home was just the coup de grace culminating a horrendous trip.

Dallas is like Newark without the flavor.

The most interesting part of the trip was to be a visit to the West End Mall. It was here that I became aware of the peculiarities that exist in Texas. Let me explain.

As I searched for the perfect $1.99 souvenir to bring home for a certain SGA secretary I had promised a postcard to, I came across a little item called a "bullie". A "bullie", as far as I can tell, is used to store things in. This is not peculiar in and of itself. It is what this novel item is made of that completely threw me off.

For those of you who have not traveled to Texas and seen it for yourselves, I'll let you in on it...politely. A "bullie" is a bull's scrotum sac. (What has my column come to?)

But wait...it get's worse!

Upon expressing my dismay at the fact that the sales clerk was handling these "bullies" as he would, say, a can of string beans, he proceeded to show me a walking cane. You guessed it- it was a bull's penis.

"We Texans don't believe in wasting," he said.

I guess I'll waste no more words on the subject.

On a serious note, Dean Martin's transfer to Professional Studies came as a serious blow to the future of the students of MSC. Through his years of service to the students, Dr. Ed Martin has proven his dedication and loyalty to all of us. The stories are endless about how he helped this student or that student on matters that ranged from the simple to the truly impossible.

Is this how the administration "restructures"?

At the expense of the students' needs?

I don't doubt that Dr. Snipes who has been appointed acting Dean of Students will do his best to serve the students in the same capacity that Dr. Martin did. This transition will neither be easy nor quick. In the meantime it is the students that will need to "adjust".

To Dr. Edward Martin I extend a heartfelt wish of happiness in all his future endeavors that I'm sure all MSC students share with me. The daily gridlock we as students face was alleviated by your friendly presence.

I extend my sincere best wishes to Dr. Snipes in his new position and look forward to meeting with him at his earliest convenience to discuss how we at the Montclarion can build a long lasting relationship with him.

So, there you have it. We started with bull and we ended with bull.

Happy Trails,

George Calle

Can breathing in the Student Center make you sick?

An unexplained pattern of physical ailments, ranging from migraine headaches to bronchitis, afflicting office workers within the Student Center has prompted the college to hire an outside environmental firm to determine if contaminated air is to blame.

INVESTIGATIVE NEWS UNIT
STORE BY KEVIN COLLIGAN

"The directors of Career Services and Cooperative Education contacted me when I became the acting director," said Ford, who was named Student Center director this past March, "and I met with them to hear their concerns." Ford said the respective directors informed her that several employees suffered constant headaches, runny noses, bronchitis more often than ordinary and expressed concern that it might be due to the air quality.

Workers have suffered "strange allergic reactions, weird feelings and soreness in the throat, headaches and skin rashes," said Lauren Plentz, the Assistant Coordinator of Cooperative Education.

Beverly Ververs, the coordinator of Career Services said "I've had bronchitis five times over the last eight years. I've never had bronchitis before working here." Lynn Davies, a counselor in Career Services, also complained of bronchitis, which she had not suffered before working in the office. Workers also mentioned a secretary in the office had died of lung cancer.

"We're drawing the logical conclusion that something must be wrong with the air," said Plentz.

Sick Building Syndrome

Throat irritation, headaches and skin rashes are symptoms that have been consistent with "Sick Building Syndrome" according to Dr. David Robertson a professor in the Department of Environmental, Urban and Geographic Studies. The term Sick Building Syndrome, according to Robertson, was coined in the 1970s to describe buildings that became unhealthy after the energy crisis prompted sealed windows and recirculated air.

Ververs' and Davies' repeated bouts of bronchitis may also have been caused by Sick Building Syndrome, according to Robertson. "Bronchitis is an inflammation of the bronchial tubes," he said, "and recirculated air could irritate [the bronchial tubes]." Robertson doubted, however, that any contamination of the Student Center's air could be responsible for lung cancer; "Cancer is a twenty year disease."

Contamination Control Engineering Inc. is handling the testing for the college. The environmental firm conducted a "general indoor air quality survey" Monday, according to Tony Damato, one of the two testers. "The testers did a series of tests, crawled into the ventilation unit, tested outdoor air quality and tested our filters," said Ford. The Student Center has a high velocity air system, said Ford, which filters which are changed every three months. Newer buildings have more advanced systems with automated systems that account for spores, bacteria and other harmful material that may become trapped in air filters. "We don't have that," said Ford, "but we do what we can to assure that the air flowing through the Student Center and the annex is air that is good for people to breathe."

Ford said the college should have the results of the tests in about two weeks. "If there is a problem we'll deal with it," said Ford, "People have anxieties about the air quality and we want to relieve people."

Better late than never

Employees in the Career Services and Cooperative Education offices expressed relief that testing was underway. "We are very happy the testing is being done," said Ververs. Many, however, were frustrated with the length of time it took to have some action taken.

"We have been trying to get something done about the air quality in here for at least five years," said Marlyn Kinch, Assistant Director of Career Services. Kinch said repeated complaints and requests for action were made to Jef Rosenblum, "I just hope they give us the results," said Ververs.

The Montclarion was unable to contact Rosenblum before press time.

English Major loses requirements, gains counseling

by Brian Falzarano

After three years of development and a year and a half of student consultation, there could be a new curriculum for English majors as early as the fall of 1994, the chairman of the English department said, stating that it will not effect present English majors.

"We'd like to get the whole proposal, including the curriculum core, through the Curriculum Board by Sept. 1994," said James Nash, chairman of the English department. "I think it will attract some students who otherwise would not be interested."

This new program will increase advising and consultation on the part of the faculty in helping students select courses for their major.

From talking to students, many would consider it. "I don't like English, but I might consider it, because the major I want has too many requirements, and they're all closed," said sophomore Marcella Valente.

However, it would not convince everyone to become an English major. Sophomore Michael Robert, when told of the program and asked if he would be interested, said, "Not really. I think it's a good program, but I plan to major in Economics."

Under the new proposal, Nash said that English majors will only have to take one required course, The Pursuits of English, a 200 level, three credit course that will be different from the way most courses at MSC are taught.

This class will meet for two 90 minute sessions per week and will mainly deal with lectures, and the synthesis and critiquing of writing, as well as encourage student opinion of how well the course is taught. A group of professors will alternate class teaching.

This does not make being an English major that much easier. They'll have to take at least four literature courses on topics such as genre studies, but does not have any specific requirements. "They'll get in-depth experience (within the major)," Nash said.

Besides this, there will be more new classes, but 90 percent of the schedule please turn to page 9

Six Tau Phi Beta members arrested for disorderly conduct

by Kathy Martucci

Ten people were arrested early Sunday morning after a scuffle broke out at a house in Montclair owned by MSC students, said Chief of Police, Thomas Russo.

Six of the ten people arrested were members of the Tau Phi Beta fraternity. Dean Harris is waiting for more information from the Montclair Police before possible administrative action is considered.

After receiving numerous phone calls from citizens in the area complaining of a large disturbance, Montclair Police arrived on the scene to find a large group of men in the driveway and on the sidewalk, “combatting each other physically,” said Russo. Four people were arrested for disorderly conduct and one of the four were taken to Mountainside Hospital in Montclair for wounds to the head and hands.

When the police went inside the house they observed eight kegs of beer and two garbage cans full of empty jello shots. The Tour Commander broke up the party and ordered everyone to leave.

According to Shannon Trautwein, 22, a member of the fraternity and a resident of the house, four people were asked to leave and were then escorted outside with, “no physical activity.” They then allegedly threw bricks through the windows of the house.

Dr. Carl Snipes named acting Dean of Students

• Dean Martin transferred to Professional Studies

• Gail Martin transferred to Professional Studies

by Glenn Steinberg

Dr. Edward Martin, Dean of Student Affairs, was relieved of his position on Friday and now is in the department of Professional Studies.

Dr. Domenica Desiderioscioli, Vice President of Student Affairs, said, “Dr. Martin has been transferred to the School of Professional Studies.” She also said that Dr. Carl Snipes, the Dean of Academic Advising, will become the acting Dean of Student Affairs.

Irvin Reid, president of MSC was not available to comment on the situation, and Desiderioscioli would not give any specifics on the matter.

“As with other individual personnel matters it is the administrative policy not to discuss details,” Desiderioscioli said.

Snipes, who also was unavailable to comment on the situation, has been unofficially replaced by Gail Feinbloom of Academic Advising.

According to Feinbloom, she was asked to become the acting Director of Academic Advising, and she agreed to do so, though she is not sure when she will actually start her new position.

Feinbloom said that she assumes she will take over as soon as Snipes leaves for his new position as Dean of Student Affairs, though she does not know when this will happen.

Feinbloom also said that nothing is official as of yet, because nothing has been signed.

While Snipes has been on vacation for the past 10 days, Feinbloom said she has been acting as “director in training,” and that Snipes will return on Monday.

When asked to comment on the situation, Mr. James Harris, Dean of Student Activities, expressed some displeasure with the decision that he was not considered for the position of Dean of Student Affairs, though he added that it will not affect his job performance.

“I am totally committed to fulfilling my job according to my job description and making sure that student development and campus life is the best we can have,” Harris said.

Harris did say that he will continue to serve in his position as an associate dean, though a deanship would be very attractive.

“My own assessment is that I’ve shown dedication, loyalty and skill in my stay at MSC,” Harris said.

Saplings saved as SGA legislator alerts Conservation Club of improper planting

by Bonnie Dexter Greenspan

The SGA and the Conservation Club joined forces last week to effectively resolve an on-campus environmental concern.

Last Monday, SGA member Mike Crudele noticed that the recently placed saplings in front of the new Humanities Building had been planted with their roots wrapped in burlap and thick rope. Crudele, a senior and first semester SGA member, who also works at Ploch’s Garden Center in Clifton, was worried that the burlap and rope would not decompose quickly enough, and would impede the growth of the trees.

Crudele immediately took his concerns to Michelle Lardieri, president of the Conservation Club, and Rick Leto, SGA Director of Internal Affairs.

Lardieri then contacted Johnathan Forsell, who is the Agricultural/Resource agent at Rutgers Cooperative Extension of Essex County, and asked his advise. Forsell faxed a letter to Lardieri at the Conservation Club office, agreeing with their conclusion.

The fax read, in part: “We recommend removal of all rope regardless of its biodegradability and removal of burlap. Even if the burlap is natural fiber, it takes time to degrade and provides resistance to root development.”

With fax in hand, Crudele called Jerry Quinn, Director of Facilities Planning at MSC who, when informed of the potential problem, immediately inacted steps to correct the situation.

“I relayed (the problem) to the firm that had done the job and they arranged to fix it,” said Quinn.

“We appreciate the help that they (Crudele and Lardieri) gave us in finding this problem,” he added.

Quinn’s assistant, Ed Oberhoffer, notified Lardieri that the situation would be corrected by Monday, November 1.

“It was great working with him (Quinn),” said Leto.

“He made sure that everything went the way it was supposed to.”

Crudele and Lardieri’s inspection of the trees on Monday established that everything had been resolved to their satisfaction.

“My own assessment is that I’ve shown dedication, loyalty and skill in my stay at MSC,” Harris said.

Flood in Freeman basement source of mysterious stench

by Sean Daily

A smell that has been recognized by the residents of Freeman Hall is a result of on-going problems with the kitchen water supply. The smell is caused by stagnant rainwater in the basement of Freeman Hall and the outside stairs leading down to it normally handled by two drains clogged since summer. The puddles that have resulted have become filled with dead leaves and dead fruit flies. John Kimmler, Chef Manager of Freeman Hall, has stated that the smell hadn’t affected food delivery or the food.

Complaints about the smell, which has been described by patrons of the cafeteria as smelling like “toilet water” and “manure,” were voiced in open forum about four weeks ago, and the SGA launched an investigation. Rumors began to circulate about six feet of water in the basement, raw sewage being dumped into the basement and rats.

Added to this was a plumbing line that, on October 27 began leaking and broke while Facilities people were waiting for a plumber.

Doug Cooper, Assistant Director of Residence Hall Facilities, said that it was a line connected to the dishwashing machine, though a reliable source states that the kitchen toilets also ran into this line. The line was not connected to any other part of the dormitory, and the water was immediately shut off.

As a result, lunch was served on disposable paper plates and plastic utensils, and the water level was not added to.

Another mishap occurred on October 28, when an exterminator sent to kill the fruit flies in the basement began exterminating during lunch. The flies escaped into the kitchen and began to die on the serving line and in the food. With this, John got permission to close down, and lunch was cancelled for that day while the staff threw out the food and cleaned up.

According to Cooper, none of the rumors were true.

"There’s no way there can be six feet of water down there," he said, saying that the layout of the basement would prevent it. He also said that the Facilities people found no indication of rats in the basement.

He said that Facilities had placed a pump in the basement to take out the rainwater, and that a plumber and exterminator were beginning work while the interview was being conducted. The repairs, including fixing the pipes, extermination, powerwashing and repainting would come to $8,000.

He also added that the smell wasn’t coming so much from the basement water as from wet dust in the basement and clogged drains in the kitchen, to which Kimmler replied, “Absolutely not. That amazes me.”

Cooper also asked for cooperation.

“What you had is a lot of different areas contributing (to the water in Freeman Hall basement), and the only thing I can say is if the students at Freeman Hall and the SGA can be cooperative for a couple of days, we’ll get the situation taken care of. We’ll be back on regular chain, and we’ll get it all done," Cooper said.

James Cotter, president of SGA, had another point of view.

“You have residents in there who paid a tremendous amount of money to live in Residence Life and paid for a meal plan, and if they live in substandard conditions they should have the ability to either petition Residence Life to get their money back for substandard conditions or do something along those lines. It’s a travesty,” Cotter said. He also said that the conditions in the basement constituted a health hazard.

Repairs to the drains are scheduled to begin this week. Extermination was finished over the Halloween weekend, with no further incidents in the cafeteria.

Trautwcin was one of the six residents arrested for maintaining a house of nuisance. He was kept in police custody overnight and was let out on, “his own recognizance,” Trautwcin said.

The issue was brought up during Tuesday night’s Greek Council meeting where Dean Harris expressed his feelings of concern for the reputation of Greeks in general.

“Montclair State does not maintain fraternity houses,” Harris emphasized more than once. He also stated to the other representatives from other fraternities and sororities that under such circumstances they can be sued personally alsoon with the SGA and possibly even Montclair State.

“The house is not run by the fraternity,” said a member of Tau Phi Beta, despite what was stated in the challenger in NJ state history to unseat an incumbent governor.

Former NJ governor Thomas Kean was on hand at Whitman headquarters for her 12:30 a.m. victory celebration.

Whitman’s campaign promise to roll back taxes by 30% played a major role in her success.

Taxes were the main concern that NJ voters expressed as they exited the polls in what has been characterized as an average turnout.

Giuliani, on the other hand, in a highly racially charged contest ran on a street sense, tough on crime platform.

Giuliani, who had previously served as a prosecutor, took every opportunity to discredit mayor Dinkins on his weak handling of the Crown Heights incident.

The 1993 election reflects the waning popularity of President Clinton. Yesterday’s GOP victories are representative of the American public’s change of heart on Clinton’s ‘changes’. Once again, Americans have decided, it’s time for a change.

Pie is truth. I haven't written in weeks.

This article is for Paola, who at the Loop last Thursday, told me to stop being President for a while and start being Appetite Cotter again. I used to be cool, she hinted, and President for a while and start being Appetite Cotter again. I used to be cool, she hinted, and the former chair of the English department, another professor in the department, the English program is hardly unique.

She started.

"Rumor has it that this very establishment has perhaps the most profound pie in all of land known as New Jersey. We have come on a quest for truth. Truth, it seems, is hard to come by these days."

"That's wonderful," she said flatly. "What kind of pie do you want?"

"The kind is unimportant, so long as it rings true. The apple should taste like apple and the cherry like cherry, don't you dig?"

"Sure, fine. What kind of pie do you desire?" she asked more firmly.

"Do you realize the untruths that are circulated these days? Rumor has it that the SGA President is the anti-christ. He's planning on freezing every organization's budget, buying a blue Pinto, and heading west with some sorority girl to grow olives on a commune outside of Santa Cruz."

"Look. Do you want the damn pie or not?"

...but this was not the experience we were after. We slimmered instead, this hand of urchins, into the Jeep, and flew down the yellow lined asphalt in search of pic that we could've fed the tribe with the pic of our unyielding hope for nirvana.

of this semester will be part of next fall's curriculum, as it takes time to get new courses approved, Nash said. Also, Nash said that some topics courses, such as the spring's Literature of Baseball, may become regular courses.

Under this format, students can concentrate in film, writing or another aspect of the English program, as well as sample other programs. Larry Schwartz, a professor in the English department, and the former chair of the subcommittee of this project, thinks that this will be beneficial to those who take advantage of this opportunity.

"That allows students to pick and choose an English major of their own devising," he said.

Another professor in the department, Paul Arthur, added, "Students will have a lot more opportunity."

However, getting into graduate school after entering this program may be a problem, since this curriculum may not coincide with what some graduate schools are looking for.

"It could (hurt students going on to graduate school)," Arthur said. "But what we're (the faculty) hoping is that students will alert advisors about graduate plans."

Nash said the department will help the student towards his goal if that goal is graduate school, by giving them a more traditional course load, similar to what majors in the department are getting now. Also, he says that they will "try to blanket the student with advisement."

The professors are looking forward to when this change comes into effect. It will be welcomed, as the old system became trite to them. But this plan is not the first of its kind; Rutgers has a similar program.

"MSC is hardly at the cutting edge," said Arthur. "We were looking to provide flexibility. Although it seems to be a radical model and we are expecting controversy, this new English program is hardly unique."

Nash added to that, saying, "The department is reflecting what is going on nationally. Our faculty is changing; people are bringing in new talents and enthusiasm."
How does MSC deal with racial and ethnic relations

by Tanya Dakivar

Do you think your school is segregated?

100% of MSC students asked said that they thought this school was, in fact, segregated. 75% of students from other colleges also felt the same. Not by water fountains, mind you, but by the students' own choice.

African-Americans click together, Latinos click together, Chinese and Oriental students, Indian students and so on ad infinitum.

In fact, it is not limited to race or ethnicity. Some students felt that fraternities and sororities even encourage sitting only with Greek members in the cafeterias. He said, "As soon as you walk in the cafeteria, you know where you should and shouldn't sit. They make you feel uncomfortable, as if you weren't a member, you just weren't good enough to sit there."

This kind of comment can be taken two ways; one, as an insult and therefore not worthy of serious thought or, two, a valid comment that can help us all understand how others perceive us. Since over 75% of you said that you had friends of all different cultures and races, why is it not evident on this campus? Is this subconscious? Quite a few of you felt this was the case. It's just something that happens. "People tend to be more comfortable around people of their own race."

Why is that? Is it something you've experienced or something you were brought up to believe?

Do you see racial tension on campus?

Although almost everyone interviewed has experienced racial tension either directly or indirectly at some point in their lives, not one person thought it was a problem on campus. Everyone agrees that by the time a person gets to college, he is mature enough to make his own decisions about different races. (So, will someone please explain to me why every week I'm reading something new about some racist or sexist charge in the Montclarion?) The students interviewed said that they, personally, do not see racism as a problem on campus. I was curious to see how many other schools employed a multicultural requirement like Montclair does. One student was sure that her school did, 4 students were sure that their schools did not, and the rest said that they had no clue. I also asked how many minority teachers each student had had in their college career. One student had said about 35 - 40% of her professors were of different ethnic groups while the rest had either never had a minority teacher, or at most 2 (maybe three) in college.

According to a report dated Sept. 21, 1993, 6 new African Americans and 3 Spanish staff members were hired. At MSC (Interestingly enough, 6 were assistant professors, 2 were instructors and one was a recreational specialist.) 63.8% of all Graduate and Undergraduate students at MSC are Female, while 36.2% are Male (as of 9/15/93). Of all Graduate students, 440 are of an ethnic group besides White/ non Hispanic, 6,456 are and 592 are unreported.

It really was great to see all the diverse cultures here at Montclair. They ranged from American Indian/Alaskan to Latin American to Black/non Hispanic to Asian/ Pacific Islander and so on. This leads to my next question.
How do you feel about affirmative action?

91% of you said that you did not particularly agree with the idea of Affirmative Action. Most of you said that you believed a person should be given a job or admitted to a school because of his or her qualifications, not because a quota needed to be filled. I must say there were quite a few people who had mixed feelings about this. On the other hand, the ones that were for it were adamantly for it maintaining that who had mixed feelings about this. On because a quota needed to be filled. I must say there were quite a few people because of his or her qualifications, not that you believed a person should be affirmative action?

Racism, Whose Responsibility? Fault is it anyway?

When asked, 100% of all students replied that the responsibility of teaching children about racism lies in the home. Approximately 10% said that school should play some part in teaching about racism, since some parents tend to be prejudiced themselves. The majority however, think that mathematics should be taught at school and morals at home. Everyone agrees that the most influential people in a child's development (whether the influence is good or bad) are the parents. Their ideas and beliefs, if not taught, are heard and sometimes followed by the children.

Why are people racist?

Although everyone agrees about the family's responsibility, the majority doesn't think that family beliefs are the main cause of racism though they do play a part. Most people say it's a mix between fear and ignorance. People fear what they don't know. People are afraid to lose their power. Once one is established as the best, the top, they don't want to be any less. In their struggle to stay on top, they do what they can to insure that no one will be a threat. Once they realize that there is someone who can "equal" them, whether this person is of the same ethnic group or not, they get scared. And a person who is scared is not a pleasant person to deal with.

"PEOPLE HATE THOSE WHO MAKE THEM FEEL THEIR OWN INFERIORITY." (Lord Chesterfield 1994 - 1773)

Some say it goes back to slavery. Okay, maybe that explains why some African - Americans "dislike" White Americans but then why is there racism and prejudice among White Americans? Whether to African Americans, Chinese Americans, Spanish Americans, Arab Americans, Jewish Americans, Indian Americans, Italian Americans, Americans usually have something to say about everyone else.

According to Samuel Johnson, "Every man has a right to utter what he thinks truth, and every other man has a right to knock him down for it." Unfortunately, that doesn't accomplish much.

Violence is not the answer. Plain and Simple. We've already tried that. It only shows our lack of maturity and brains when we have to resort to physical revenge.

A lot of students when asked about Malcolm X. replied that they believed all the Malcolm X hype was just that. HYPE. Most said that there was a degree of people out there who really believe in it, but the majority just follow. A couple stated concerns that if people really claimed to believe it, why hadn't they said something BEFORE the movie came out? One MSC student just replied, "I just wanna know why white people wear Malcolm X ??" Most people adhere to the teachings of Martin Luther King, Jr. and that Malcolm X should not be as strong an influence as King.

What is available to MSC students who are interested in programs for minorities?

I went around campus to check out what was available for interested students and I was totally shocked at the number of clubs and programs available to minority and non minority, students alike. Since most students don't know what's available, there's a list on this page. Check into it! I just want to tell you about one program in particular. I walked into an office on the 4th floor of the Student Center last week not knowing what to expect. What I found was one of the nicest, most dedicated, most interesting guys I had ever met. Mark Myers is a Graduate Student here at MSC and coordinator under Dean Harris of the Multi-Cultural Student Mentor Program. This Mentor program was founded in 1988 by Dean Harris and Dr. Jackson (Intra Collegiate Academic Programs - College Hall). Its goal is to help Freshman of all different cultures (it's initial goal was to help Latino and African American students but now all are invited to participate) make their transition into college. After that, it's to help keep their sanity while they're in college and to encourage them to stay in college and graduate. This program, before 1988 was like a Big Brother program and continues to be like that. (Only now, women are encouraged to participate as well.) What happens is this a faculty or upperclassmen member (Mentor) is paired up with a student (Mentee) and is their own personal advisor. (I guess they realized that we all don't get along with our Academic Advisors?) These mentors are more than academic advisors, they are dependable people who do not judge you according to what color you are, what nationality you are, what religion you practice, or your financial status. Your advisor ultimately becomes one of your closest friends. This year, there are 115 Mentors and 120 students. It is basically a one on one relationship. It's close and comfortable, friendly and informal. Usually the Mentor Program sets up 3 or 4 programs, speakers or workshops a semester. It also offers students Psych services, Tutorial Center services, Academic Alert and so on. If you have any questions or are interested in signing up, contact Mr. Mark Tyrone Myers (Student Activities Office - 4th floor - Student Center - extension 7609) and I guarantee he'll be more than happy to help!

Ah, the cafeterias of MSC! The dieter’s friend. Domineering students who are the greatest incentive to graduate in four years. All can be content with their culinary needs if they comply with their rules. If you are one of the few unfortunate on-campus residents on a regular basis, do yourself a favor this weekend and take advantage of the a-week-deal meal plan cost. No how’s your appetite? Do you know the best way to boost your appetite? You must have a satisfyable appetite. We don’t.

Doug Cooper, the Assistant Director of Residence Hall, tells us that an awful lot of time explaining away a stench-permeated hallway filled with water. The drains that are supposed to be clogged since summer and now the puddles are filled with water. The water line broke. It ran to the dishwasher, not - as - toilets. And then, um, uh, we had an exterminator begin to act like a lizard. And then, um, uh, a bunch of flying bugs took synchronously to the lunches. But other than that we’re doing fine and with a little hard work, we’ll have everything under control.

If only students could explain away late term papers their way. The state of the Freeman Hall cafeteria is deplorable. The SGA legislators “investigating” the situation demand a resignation or two. There is no place in the residence hall that is treated with such contempt and indifference (short of the

The 3rd time's a charm

When I saw your 10/21 issue of the Montclarion it disturbed me. I picked it up in the Student Center and read the front page, “Dethroned.” Needless to say I was pissed off. Your paper is published at and for Montclair State, just in case you forgot. Granted Montclair State lost the football game, but they do not need their own school paper to throw it in their faces. I have two roommates who are on the football team and the time and energy they put into football deserves more respect and feeling then your paper apparently has. They are not perfect, but who is! I do not remember seeing a headline about George Calle losing his second consecutive run for the SGA Presidency. I do not want to make this a personnel attack. All I want is for you to treat people, your own school teams and others in the same light as you treat yourselves, and remember what school your writing for. I hope that you do not try to pick this letter apart in the hopes to cloud the point made in it. Just take the point made and work on it.

Seasonal Help Wanted

Part-Time Work Launching Apple’s Newton™ MessagePad™

If you’re a student who’s interested in computer technology and good with people, this job is for you! Apple Computer needs students to demonstrate the Newton MessagePad in retail stores during November and December. Qualified students will be invited to join us in a full-day Newton training session this coming weekend. While you don’t have to be a computer science major, you will need to:

- Be an upperclass or graduate student
- Work 14-20 hours per week evenings and weekends through December 24
- Have a car to drive to demonstration locations
- Be comfortable with people and computers

You’ll earn an excellent student salary plus a bonus at the end of the program. You’ll also receive discounts toward buying your own Newton MessagePad, and there’s potential for additional part-time work next year. During this campaign you will be representing Apple Computer and the Newton MessagePad; however, you will contract with American Passage, so please call American Passage at (800) 487-2434, ext. 9406 by this Friday, November 5th to see if you qualify.

Comedy courtesy of Sigma Phi Rho

by Joanne Pringle

On Thursday, Oct. 28, laughter and hip-hop bounced off the walls of Memorial Auditorium. Sigma Phi Rho Fraternity Inc. sponsored the event which featured Uptown Comedy Club and rap artists Lords of the Underground.

Uptown Comedy Club's "Traveling" group "The Posse," entertained the audience with rib cracking jokes. The Posse included host Monteria Ivey, Rhonda Fowler, Tracy Morgan and Macio all of whom are regulars on the weekly televised comedy show.

Rappers Lords of the Underground rocked the stage performing their latest smash hit "Chief Rocka" and "Funky Child." They concluded the concert with two positive messages which were the MSC audience was #1 and the rappers emphasized the importance of keeping the peace.

Sigma Phi Rho Fraternity Inc. president Tim James responded at the end of the program, "We were obliged to present the campus community with an alternative social engagement." Once again they served the community with safe fun and enjoyment. Do not miss out on their next event.

Review: "Splendor in the Grass"

by Annette Williams

Once again, the department of Broadcasting, Speech, Communication, Dance and Theatre has given us another exceptional performance! Splendor in the Grass is the first performance of the 1993-94 season of the Studio Theater Series. It is F. Andrew Leslie's stage adaptation of William Inge's Academy Award-winning screenplay.

Review: Purrr by Hollyfaith-hardrocking

by Marcy Schirloff

They're not just another Atlanta band. Hollyfaith is a hard rocking, soul searching group influenced by the Beatles, Black Crows and the Screaming Trees. They deal with issues of life, death, friends and loneliness.

"What'samatta" (track #9) with you? Go out and buy the CD. If you're into the serious band "Purrr" provide free listings of your A&E events if you drop a note off to Kelly Schah, the A&E editor, by Friday at noon.

The Prophet gets a new logo next week!

by Kevin Schaefer

Welcome, loyal readers, to another wonderful PROPHET BIGG installment. First thing’s first. Next week, with my luck, I’ll premier some sort of logo or other. The winner in the “Design a Prophet Logo” contest was Stefan Pollak. His award-winning logo will be featured for the rest of the semester.

Congratulations, Stefan. You won a brand new Chrysler Cordova and you can pick it up in my office!

If Stefan’s logo is unable to fulfill its duties, the second place design, submitted by Keith Idee, will be crowned. News...

River Phoenix died this week as an unknown cause at the time of this writing. Popular speculation is that the death was either caused by either cocaine and/or valium. It seems a shame that such a young man would have been stupid enough to find no other use for his money than to put it up his nose or whatever.

River Phoenix had a promising career at 23. He has done some fine films that you should check out if you haven’t seen them. They include Stand By Me, Running on Empty, My Own Private Idaho, Explorers and Indiana Jones and the Last Crusade.

Fredrico Fellini also died this week. His directorial credits include La Strada, D wides Vida, The Clowns and many more. He was known as the greatest Italian film director.

Get set for Look Who’s Talking Now! You know, I get a sick feeling in my stomach just thinking about it. I liked the original, thought the second was a typical bad sequel and I prayed there would be no third. Obviously, there is no God, and if there is, he sure isn’t listening.

I saw Tim Burton’s The Nightmare Before Christmas, I enjoyed it. It gave me that Rudolf-Christmas-special-feeling and I will no doubt end up as such with the catchy tunes that everyone remembers. “We’re on the island of misfit toys…”

Finally, some PROPHET notes. To *EL Squid, no worries, mate! Lighten up. To Jane, you are wonderful. Sorry the pigs got blown. To Sarah, thanks for trying. I mean that. To the Sons of the PROPHET, just keep setting me straight and I will play you a tune on my new banjo! To the rest of you, in the immortal words of Chachi Areola, “Wa, Wa, Wa!”

Review: The Joy Luck Club (five stars)

by College Press Service

When you think about Oliver Stone, usually movies like Platoon or Scoreface come to mind, not interior stories such as the film version of Amy Tan’s book The Joy Luck Club.

Go figure, then give credit where it’s due. The Joy Luck Club is sad, hopeful, delicate and beautifully filmed, a movie you shouldn’t miss, but be sure to bring plenty of Kleenex. It’s a real heart-tugger, and you know you’ve seen one when a good number of the men in the theater are surreptitiously wiping their eyes and sniffing discretely in handkerchiefs.

The movie follows the book closely, but the action is rearranged in a more straightforward manner in order to relate the tales of four Chinese women who struggle through various ordeals to come to America, their Mah-Jongg club, the troubles their U.S.-born daughters face and how the women are more alike than not.

Tan’s book is about the triumph of spirit. It’s rare when a movie matches a novel’s spirit, but The Joy Luck Club does.

the Rolling Stones.

“It's just rock and roll,” she laughed.

“We’re pretty lucky, actually,” reflected Jones about the band. “It’s pretty natural, and we’re all good enough musicians to do whatever we want.”

Russo is indicative of the wealth of talent within Sun-60. He handles his share of the vocals, plays lead guitar and tickles the keyboards in addition to his songwriting. He said that, unlike Jones, he finds more of his inspiration to write in literature than in the stress of the band relationship.

“For me, I think I get most of my inspiration from books, from stories,” said Russo. “It’s not much at first—I kind of half-consciously write, constructing the songs in my head. Plus, being on the road, the reading helps chew up a lot of miles. It leads you back to a lot of other thoughts.

It is apparent that he has brought his work ethic to play in Sun-60’s success. In addition to the new CD and video (which debuted on MTV’s 1/20 Minutes), the band recorded a song for the soundtrack of Married an Axe Murderer, the Mike Myers film, and will be back on the road again in late October, probably playing straight till Christmas.

Jones said that her background lends itself to clubs.

Splendor in the Grass is a touching story of teenage love and growing up. It is set in a small town in eastern Kansas during the 1920’s. The play shows us how the ambitions of a father for his son and the demands of the late 1920’s changed the lives of so many people.

The entire cast did a fantastic job. There was amazing chemistry between Deanie Loomis, played by Stephanie Koempel and Bud Stamper, portrayed by Mark Jameson.

The plight of these two star-crossed lovers touched the hearts of all. The cast did a wonderful job making the audience believe that Bud and Deanie were really in love and that Bud’s father, played by Jason Yudoff, was pressuring Bud to follow his own ambitions. The moral of this play can be a lesson learned by all.

The director, Robert Vaccaro, is an MSC graduate school alumna. She did an excellent job. Judith Teitelbaum, the costume designer, made each character so much more real with the authentic costumes. The set was designed by Amy Horvath and the lighting designer was Tomoko.

This week, I would like to lend some helpful hints in order to spruce up your wardrobe without spending your life savings.

Black, like always, is a great color to invest in because it goes with just about everything. To take advantage of the clothes you already own, my suggestion is to die the black clothes from last season. Excessive washing takes a toll on the vibrancy the fabric possesses. The dye (RIT) costs about four dollars a box and can be purchased at almost any drugstore. The process is simple and the directions are given within the packaging. Your clothes will look brand new. If you like the results, the dye comes in a myriad of colors.

Another way to save some money is to look to vintage clothing stores. In the October issue of Eile, it was reported that Donna Karan (DKNY) has a new line inspired by the thrift store image as well as street style. Thus, you could follow the example of a well known designer, spending less money for the result. Other designers have also incorporated patchwork styles in the their fall clothing. Many of these vintage clothing stores are easily located in the Soho section of New York City.

Saving money is easy if you follow the current styles and stick to classics. This way, every season you might have to purchase one or two items to keep your wardrobe up to date.

Another way to save some money is to look to vintage clothing stores. In the October issue of Eile, it was reported that Donna Karan (DKNY) has a new line inspired by the thrift store image as well as street style. Thus, you could follow the example of a well known designer, spending less money for the result. Other designers have also incorporated patchwork styles in the their fall clothing. Many of these vintage clothing stores are easily located in the Soho section of New York City.

Saving money is easy if you follow the current styles and stick to classics. This way, every season you might have to purchase one or two items to keep your wardrobe up to date.

Red Hawks sack Trenton State, 16-0

Bargiel’s 5 1/2 sacks, Martress’ 150 yards dominate Lions for 5-2 MSC

by Brian Falzarano

On a damp, rainy Saturday, there were 1,224 people in the stands at Trenton State’s Lions Stadium. Besides wondering why they were sitting in a downpour, they may have been asking themselves two seemingly different, but related questions.

First, they could have asked themselves if MSC would break the shackles of a two-game losing streak.

Secondly, they may have asked themselves if Jeff Bargiel could play up to his

Women’s soccer seeks to break school record

by Nick Gantais

The MSC women’s soccer team finished what was one of the most successful seasons in the program’s history last night.

The Red Hawks played away at Kean College in Union last night and the results were not available at press time.

MSC’s 9-8-1 record going into the Kean game put head coach Peter Latapara’s team in a position to break the school record for wins. The nine victories the Red Hawks had entering last night’s game tied the school record.

Football

5 1/2 sack game against Trenton State last season.

The answer to both questions was an emphatic yes. Bargiel dominated the Lions offense again, posting 10 tackles and five sacks, one for a fourth quarter safety, to lead the Red Hawks (5-2, 2-1) to a 16-0 triumph over the Lions.

Head coach Rick Giancola was understandably pleased. “The weeks are always a little longer when you have to come back off of a loss (24-21 to Ferrum College on Oct. 23). I thought Saturday’s night.

MSC fullback John Culver is dragged down by a Trenton State defender in the Red Hawks’ 16-0 win over the Lions on Saturday in Ewing Township.

The touchdown was set up after a fumbled punt by Lions’ punt returner Scott Dickson was recovered by John Alvarado at the Lions’ 20 yard line.

Back to Martress and his “quest” for glory. He had his fourth 100-yard game of the season, yet has not snared the attention he deserves. No matter. Giancola is more than pleased with the play of one of the NJAC’s best backs.

“Gerry’s probably the most honest tailback we’ve had. He’s workmanlike and he gives you his best every time out,” Giancola said.

But once again, among the elements of rain, wind and cold, it was the defense that led the Red Hawks to victory. No kidding.

They held Trenton State to 181 yards of total offense, and stifled quarterback

Kirk Ballard (three of 10, 21 yards).

Do you want an idea of how much the Red Hawk defense dominated? In the fourth quarter, the Lions drove down to the MSC 12 yard line, before Bargiel derailed them, sacking Ballard for a loss of nine yards.

From that point on, finishing the game was only a formality, as it was clear that the Red Hawks would win. It was Ballard who helped the Red Hawks get on the scoreboard. On the first drive of the game, Ballard was intercepted by linebacker Frank Franco at the TSC 23 yard line and returned it for a touchdown, to give MSC a 6-0 lead, before Scott Rubinetti missed his sixth extra point of the season. The weather could have been the reason for it, though.

MSC’s offense was not to be mistaken for the San Francisco 49ers’ on this day, however.

Darren Volkert completed only four passes in 10 attempts, for 37 yards. Despite an invisible passing game due to the conditions and gaining 183 yards on the ground, Giancola was very pleased with the play of his offense.

MSC student enjoys mix of books and bodyslams

by Keith A. Idee

The worlds of academia and professional wrestling seem to be universes apart. It's simple, books and bodyslams are on opposite ends of the spectrum.

Yet Chris Ford, 19, of Rutherford has combined the two into a neat little package. A "small package" for those familiar with the lingo. The dean’s list student at MSC moonlights as a professional wrestler on weekends to help pay his way through school.

"I think my fascination with professional wrestling began when I was about knee-high," said Ford. "I have an older brother, and his friends used to pretty much pummel me whenever they came over. Now, at least I get paid to take a beating." Ford added, pointing to a large purple bruise on his forehead that resulted from his match the night before.

During the week, Ford studies hard to maintain his 3.45 overall GPA and trains to stay in shape for upcoming matches. On Saturday nights, he becomes Dangerous Devon Storm, a sinister villain in the squared circle.

"While I was growing up, I always thought that being a wrestler would be a cool way to make a living," said Ford said. "But most people really don’t know how to go about getting into the business. I just got lucky."

During the spring of 1991, when Ford was just 16 years old and not yet graduated from Rutherford High School, he met Iron Mike Sharpe through a friend. Sharpe, a former international wrestling star, allowed Ford to join his school for professional wrestlers in Bricktown. Two months later, Ford stepped into the ring for the first time as a professional in a battle royal at Sharpe’s gym.

Since then, Ford has worked as an independent wrestler and has performed at shows for five different organizations. He's now literally learning the ropes at the East Coast Professional Wrestling School in Lake Hiawatha.

Going in and out of character is the thing that Ford enjoys most about his job. "There are times when I just don’t feel like leaving the locker room," Ford said. "But then I hear my music, I put on my shades and I become Dangerous Devon Storm. The fan reaction really gets me pumped and I’m ready to go at it with my opponent."

The transition from Chris Ford to Dangerous Devon Storm is what his friends and family find most interesting. "My friends always tell me that they can’t believe that it’s me out there," Ford said. "I do a lot to get the crowd to respond to me in a negative way, and it’s just so different from anything that I’d normally do. But that’s the job."

Ford was quick to point out that his girlfriend, Beatrice Pazos is the person who notices the change most.

Ford’s parents, Ernie and Judy, have always supported their son in whatever he’s done. They attend every match that Ford has and have grown to appreciate what he does. But at first they were a little skeptical about their son being a professional wrestler.

"I was just so afraid that he’d get hurt, and I still am," said Judy Ford. "But, he enjoys it and his grades haven’t slipped, so I guess it’s alright."

Ford, 6’2” and 230 pounds, is bigger than the average man, but is not considered big for a mean and nasty heel that throws people around the ring.

"I’m known for my acrobatic style," Ford said proudly. "I’m not the traditional bad guy that’s like some big monster. I use my agility to my advantage with high-flying moves. Those types of moves excite me when I watch a match, so I that’s why I do it."

Ford is happy working as an independent, but he has sent his tapes to promoters of the larger and more financially secure wrestling organizations.

The smaller organizations that he currently signs contracts with present cards primarily at local high schools and at small training gyms in what are known as house shows.

Red Hawks settle for ECACs after NCAA snub

by Keith A. Idee

The MSC men's soccer team settled for the last of the aforementioned three when it received the first seed in the ECAC Metro New York/New Jersey Division.

Soccer Championship, which will be played this weekend at Sprague Field.

The Red Hawks (11-7-1, 5-3-1 NJAC) were sitting on the bubble for the NCAA Tournament for three weeks, but that bubble bursted when MSC dropped a 3-1 decision to Upsala College last Monday at Sprague Field.

This season marks the first time since 1989 that MSC did not receive an NCAA bid. This was also the first time Rob Chesney has not taken his team to the NCAA tournament in his three years at MSC.

Although he was obviously disappointed by not making the NCAA’s, Chesney believes that his team can find solace in the ECAC tournament.

"We can definitely salvage the season by winning the ECAC tournament," said Chesney. "It’s not going to be easy, but I think we’ve got enough talent to win it."

The Red Hawks will play an opening round game against the United States Merchant Marine Academy (10-5-3) on Saturday at Sprague Field at noon.

The other teams in the field are Drew University (11-4-0) and Vassar College (9-7-1). Those two teams will also meet in an opening round game on Saturday at noon, in Madison.

The winners of the two opening round games will meet in the championship game on Sunday at noon at the home site of the highest remaining seed.

In the bleachers... by Steve Moore

"I know this must be hard, ma'am, but take another look. You’re positive it’s your husband?"

Jets finally withstand gut check

The Jets had their chance at glory Sunday afternoon at Giants Stadium. The chance to prove that they are a quality team. The chance to prove that they are more than just squatters at another team’s stadium. The chance to prove that they have the ability to beat a good football team in a game that actually meant something.

It was up to them. They could continue to play second fiddle to the Giants in the eyes of the metropolitan area fans, or they could salvage some pride, steal some headlines and keep themselves in the AFC East race.

Their second-half collapses against the Eagles and Raiders and their lackluster effort against the Bills provided critics and onlookers with all of the skepticism they could channel entering the New York football showdown.

But for once in their disappointing history, the Jets collectively stepped up and refused to let themselves and their fans down.

Over the past few weeks, Bruce Coslet stated over and over that the Jets were a good football team. Yet, he couldn’t back it up by pointing to the win column.

On the Giants 4th and 10 play from the Jets 11 yard line with 24 seconds left in the game, Leon Hess’ boys proved Coslet to be right.

Volleyball

Despite the loss, the future looks bright, as veterans like junior setter Yocasta Garcia and junior outside hitter Anneliese Fejan return, as well as promising freshman middle hitter Krista Castelu.

In the fact, the entire MSC team will return next season. This year’s team did not have one senior.

Head coach Anita Kubicka is especially impressed with the younger members of her team.

“The young players have done a great job, and got better and better as the season progressed,” said Kubicka.

It seemed as though MSC could pull this match out, because at one point it was tied at one set apiece. Then, the Pioneers went on to squeak out the third set and proceeded to blow out the Red Hawks in the fourth and final set.

In losing to WPC for the second time this season, Fejan, who is MSC’s single season leader in kills (197) and hitting efficiency (.258), had 13 kills. Junior outside hitter Jayne Janish added 10 kills in the loss.

Before the downer against WPC, MSC squeaked out a five game match against NJAC-rival Jersey City State, (15-11, 10-15, 11-15, 8-15, 11-15). This win was very crucial, as it helped MSC solidify the fifth seed in the NJAC Championships.

In what may have been the most exciting match of the season, Fejan and Garcia, two of MSC’s constants this season, led the way. Fejan, an exchange student from Austria, contributed 11 kills, while their number one setter, Garcia, contributed an astounding 20 assists.

While MSC did not win any championships this season, it has gained confidence in its ability and have gained respect in the NJAC.

This season, besides being remembered as possibly the season that put them on the “volleyball map” in the metropolitan area, was one in which MSC set 21 team and individual records.

That in itself is enough to give anyone high hopes for the 1994 season.
Seeking Solace?

The MSC men's soccer team will play in the ECAC Tournament this weekend after not receiving a bid to the NCAA tournament (Ide, p. 25)
