SGA cash-box looted: no sign of forced entry

by Greg Mac Sweeney

The SGA office was broken into on Monday evening and the “petty cash” box was found on the floor with its contents emptied. An estimated $250-$280 was thought to be in the cash box at the time but the exact amount is not yet known.

SGA Vice President Natalie Vacarro found the cash box on the secretary’s office floor at approximately 10:00 p.m. when she returned to her office to pick up some homework.

Vacarro said she found the main door to the office open and thought it was “unusual.” She then proceeded to check all doors in the office and found that the SGA’s secretary’s office door lock was locked but the door was left open, Vacarro said.

The secretary’s office was where Vacarro said she found the cash box laying on the floor and the contents emptied. The cash box holds money for stamp sales and money from sales of the discounted parkway tokens. The parkway tokens are sold to students at a discount and the SGA picks up the loss on the sales.

Vacarro did not think any money was missing from the box at first and Campus Police was about to call off the investigation but a note was found from SGA paid office worker Chantelle Buckalew stating that the remainder of the parkway tokens were sold and that a few SGA banquet deposits were in the box also. The note was left on the secretary’s desk.

Vacarro stated that only the SGA executive board has keys to the office but also said “everyone and their mother has a key.” Vacarro was referring to the Student Center maintenance who has access to all Student Center rooms.

The last SGA member was thought to have left the office at approximately 7 p.m. SGA secretary Evelyn Walters had the day off. Her desk was locked and was untouched.

“It’s really scary that it happened. You’d like to think you can trust everyone who uses the office,” Vacarro said.

Vacarro said she usually returns home after her class that ends at 10:00 p.m. but on Monday she had to return to the SGA office to pick up some homework that she needed for a class that she had early the next day.

“It’s a good thing I came back or the office would have been open until tomorrow morning,” Vacarro said.

Walters was contacted immediately at home to find out how much money was in the box but since she had the day off she was unsure of how much money should have been in the box.

The “petty” cash box usually contains money from stamp sales, token sales and other miscellaneous cash taken in during the day.

Since Walters was not in on Monday the cash box was put in a different place because Walters was not there.

Campus Police currently have no suspects. Campus Police is continuing the investigation. Anybody with information on the break-in can call Campus Police at 655-5222.

“It’s really scary that it happened. You’d like to think you can trust everyone who uses the office,” Vacarro said.
Rollerblading set to be banned in residence halls next year

The April 30, 1994 injury of a female Blanton Hall desk assistant uncovered behavior that should have “never gone on,” according to Margaree Coleman-Carter, Director of Residence Life. To protect themselves from lawsuits, Residence Life intends to make the law against roller-blading more salient by adding it to the students’ Spring 1994 handbooks.

Shelly Jackson, Director of Blanton Hall, informed Carter that Daren King, four D wing resident assistant, “ran a program on roller-blading.” King distributed flyers inviting residents to attend a lounge meeting where he explained roller-blading was only permitted if the resident was planning to skate out to the quad. Students are allowed to gear up in their rooms but “absolutely no laps,” are permitted in the corridors, according to Carter. This meeting took place after the injury of the female resident and King didn’t want to comment on the situation. Fourth floor manager Lisa Shinder, absent from her memorandum addressing problems with her residents stemming from this same matter.

According to Residence Life, roller-blading was never permitted so there is no “ban.” Carter stated it is “dangerous, and (Residence Life) does not condone roller-blading.”

At approximately 12 a.m., junior, Hillary Scull slipped on a water puddle while roller-blading to her room after visiting a friend in the four D wing. Scull was doing fine until a “wet spot from the janitors closet fouled (her) up.” There were no warning signs posted around the wet spot to signal caution. The water came from a leaky pipe that was causing problems at that spot for several days. Scull fell backwards and “landed full weight on (her) right wrist.” Residence Life had no knowledge of the water problem in the four D wing.

Scull was transported to Mountainside Hospital, Montclair, by friends Trish Bhash and Brian Smith. There, doctors put her arm in a sling. She arrived back on campus at six a.m. Thursday. Despite her accident, Scull doesn’t think roller-blading should be “taken away” from residents.

Residence Life “didn’t bother to put it in the handbook” because there was never a need to post such stipulations before, said Carter. Roller-blading has just recently become a very popular sport on campus. This amendment to the handbook will be “added next year.” Meanwhile, Carter’s office is issuing literature to resolve the vagueness in roller-blading policy.

Although Scull has not filed suit and has no intentions of suing MSC, Carter’s concern is with future accidents posing great “liabilities for Residence Life Organizations.”

MEDICAL

On April 19 a female College Hall employee tripped and received an arm and head injury. She complained of head and neck pain and the Montclair Volunteer Ambulance Squad responded and transported her to Mountainside Hospital, Montclair.

On April 21 two male softball players collided during an intramural game. One of the player's elbows struck the other's face. The one player received a cut to the face and was transported to Mountainside Hospital.

Also on April 21 a female reportedly hit her head in the Student Center. She complained that she felt light-headed and dizzy and was transported to Mountainside Hospital.

CRIMINAL MISCHIEF

In Lot 28 on April 19, a female student found her tire slashed upon returning to her vehicle.

Upon returning to his vehicle on April 20 in Lot 22, a student found his front grill missing and a screwdriver sticking out of the headlight.

On April 21 on Clove Road, AT&T workers reported that they found a damaged telephone box with all the wires pulled out. The damaged box caused problems with the phones in the Clove Road Apartments.

A student found both license plates stolen off of her car upon returning to her car on April 21 on Lot 25.

On April 23 in Lot 24, a patrolling officer found the passenger side window of a vehicle smashed. A large rock was found inside the car.

THEFT

A vehicle was reported stolen from Lot 27 on April 19. The theft occurred between 9:30 p.m. on April 18 and 12:10 p.m. on April 19. The car was recovered by the Irvington Police Department and the owner was contacted.

On April 19 there was an attempted auto theft in Lot 14. The victim found his passenger door open, the interior light on and also found a small piece of metal in the ignition.

A female College Hall employee reported that her wallet was stolen from her purse when she left her purse unattended for about five minutes while she was out of her office. She left her purse under her desk.

A female Mallory Hall employee reported that her money and credit cards were stolen out of her purse which she left in her locked office while she went to get some lunch. There was no sign of forced entry.

In Lot 20 on April 20, a wheel and spare tire were stolen from a vehicle.

On April 21 a vehicle was reported stolen from Lot 24. The victim said he saw his vehicle being driven away by an unidentified individual.

Also on April 21 a female student in College Hall reported leaving her purse unattended for five minutes and upon returning found her purse stolen.

Between April 22 and 23 in Lot 20 the driver's side window of a vehicle was smashed and a CD player, radar detector and 50 CD's were stolen.

Also between April 22 and 23 in Lot 20 a the driver's side window of a vehicle was smashed and a radio, CB radio and a pair of Roller-blades were reportedly stolen.

On April 23 in Lot 20 a vehicle reportedly had its left rear tire stolen.

On April 25 the SGA office was reportedly hit by a rock.

CLUB, a major programming force

by Sam Rock

College Life Union Board is a Class One organization of the SGA dedicated to providing the campus community with social, recreational and educational activities.

The organization consists of six standing committees. Showcase and Entertainment provides the campus with novelty acts such as magicians, hypnotists and other unique and original acts. This year, the Showcase and Entertainment committee sponsored Sumo Wrestling, Human Bowling, Lip-Sync and the upcoming Alpha Experience, a glimpse into virtual reality.

The Cinema Committee of CLUB sponsors various films for the campus community and the annual drive-in movie program, which is featured during Spring Week. This year, the Cinema Committee of CLUB sponsored Army of Darkness, Made in America and Point of No Return. The films at this year’s drive-in movie program, to be held on April 27, will be Grease and Dazed and Confused.

The Lectures Committee of CLUB provides the campus with speakers of varying topics. This year, the committee sponsored Dr. Jack Levin, a criminologist, and on May 2, Barry Drake will be giving a lecture on 60s rock music.

The Trips Committee of CLUB is dedicated to providing trips for MSU students at a nominal cost. This year, the committee sponsored a trip to the Franklin Mills Mall in Pennsylvania.

The Comedy Committee of CLUB provides the campus with several comedy shows throughout the year. This year, the committee has sponsored seven comedy shows, including “Fun University” at Memorial Auditorium and Rob Magnotti of Uptown Comedy Club fame.

The Historian Committee of CLUB takes pictures at all CLUB events and assembles them into a photo album at the end of every year to keep as a permanent record of the organization’s activities. These photo albums are often used over the summer breaks at the New Student Orientation programs to recruit new members and let them know exactly what our organization does.

CLUB also has two semestery committees, Homecoming and Spring Week. Homecoming is sponsored during the fall semester. During Homecoming Week, a large part of the campus community participates in a week-long series of activities. The week culminates in the annual Homecoming Parade, in which many campus organizations build floats and choreograph dances and skits to show to the campus community and to alumni and residents of the surrounding towns as well and the annual Homecoming football game, sponsored by the athletic department.

Spring Week, which is usually held in the first week of April of each year, is also week in which there are several activities featured. During Spring Week, CLUB sponsors various types of events each day of the week. This week used to end with the annual Spring Carnival, but in 1992 a major riot broke out at the event. As a result, CLUB did not sponsor a Carnival in 1993. This year, for Spring Week 1994, (which is from April 25-May 2) CLUB is planning to sponsor Springfest from April 26-30, a variation on the former carnival which will feature rides, games and novelties.

With 28 members and a newly revised constitution, College Life Union Board will be able to keep up its tradition of providing quality programming at nominal cost to the campus community. CLUB meets every Monday at 4 p.m. in room 417 of the Student Center. Everyone is encouraged to attend. Anyone that can not make the general membership meetings may come down to CLUB’s office, room 112D in the Student Center Annex, or call 655-5232.

The Kirby Company is makin’ the grade

by Alexandra Prats

The Kirby Company, based in Cleveland, Ohio, is continuing its Annual College Scholarship Program, “Makin’ the Grade.” Designed as an alternative to dead-end summer jobs, the program emphasizes time-management, communication skills and professionalism in a real business setting.

The program is funded jointly by independent distributors, divisional supervisors and the Kirby Company. Scholarships range from $250 to $1000. Last year, over 700 college recruits from the United States and Canada competed for 108 scholarships, totalling $72,000.

Participants train with the company to sell their product, a combination vacuum, rugshampooer, floor waxer and electric broom. It switches from a canister to an upright and includes all the necessary attachments.

After being trained in the art of selling a multi-purpose floor cleaner, students work as independent Kirby dealers. Full and part-time positions are available doing home demonstrations. Monthly scholarships are awarded in June, July and August and are based on sales performance. There are no prerequisites for the position and all majors are welcome.

For more information, you can contact the local distributors. The Essex County distributors are located at 27 West St., Bloomfield and 63 Somme St., Newark. If you would like more information about the scholarship outside of the local area, contact the Kirby Company at 1920 West 114 St., Cleveland, Ohio 44102-2391 or call (216)288-2400.

According to Greg Koenig, director of sales administration, “Makin’ the Grade” participants not only earn money for tuition, but find a meaningful career opportunity without previous business experience. “Kirby distributors provide these students with a direct route to a good career opportunity.”

A complaint to the Governor

“Try” is a tricky word. “Will” is a better one.

If you still don’t understand, let me give you an example. For those of you who have cable television, you remember last year’s controversy about “cable de-regulation” in which broadcasting companies would have to compete with other companies to keep their channels on cable. Well, between the possible tuition increase and the proposed abolition of the Department of Higher Education, it would seem that the same principle would work. Schools would have to fight each other to remain viable, or be forced to raise its own tuition, or shut down. This is just another step forward under the umbrella of “privatization” of services, which does not guarantee better results.

What really irks me is that there has been a general compliance with all this by the silence of students. There was a big ad in the Montclarion concerning possible actions that could be taken to show student opposition to the increases. There was a protest at Bloomfield College that same week and there should have been more people there.

My personal motto has always been that to be a good citizen, one must keep his or her mouth open. No matter how hopeless a certain issue may seem to be, or how powerless you may feel, you always have your voice and your conscience as your weapons. My father always taught me if you’re going to be knocked down in a fight, you fall with your arms swinging. Don’t be silent. Be firm, persistent and perhaps a little rude and someone will listen to you.

SAT scores should not be equated with atrocities

I found Grover Furr’s letter (April 21, SAT) quite disturbing. He is correct in his assertion that SAT scores alone are not a good measure of college success, but he is wrong when he says that high school grades are.

I was a student who would never have had made it to college on my grades alone. I ranked 655 out of 730 in my class, but managed to get an exception to Rutgers on my SAT scores and a few mediocre semesters at community college.

But what I find more disturbing is his comparison of the misuse of the SAT scores with the slaughter of millions of people by a demenitated madman or the lynching of Blacks by unruly mobs.

The SAT is a tool misused by some of those in positions of authority to advance their own agenda. I suggest that Grover Furr check his own agenda.

No joke in suicide

Dear Editor:

I’m not usually one to complain, but I found your bottom of the comics page (pgs. 24-25) quip, “What’s the problem with Kurt Cobain? He’s always shooting his mouth off,” in the April 14 issue of the Montclarion to be tasteless and insensitive.

Suicide is not something to poke fun at regardless of the situation. Kurt obviously had serious emotional, as well as physical problems, which eventually became too much for him to handle, and he chose to end his life. Viddently, yes, but that was his choice.

The most shocking part of the whole incident is that the Montclarion is in fact a college paper. College students comprised much of Kurt’s and Nirvana’s fans, thereby causing a sense of loss to all who “knew” Kurt through his music. To make light of such a loss is appalling. Let Kurt rest in peace, free of the pain that this world caused him.

Sincerely,
Michelle L. Smolinski

No more busting on the purple dough boy

Dear Editor:

I know people usually write the Montclarion to cry and whine about the lousy conditions at MSC, but not I. I was absolutely moved with [George Olschewski’s Couch Potato] defense of Barney in last week’s issue. It’s high time we ceased “Barney Bashing” and embraced the ideals that he teaches. In a time when violence and hatred poison the minds of young children, we should welcome the extent to which Barney stresses love.

Devil’s Advocate

By Michael O’Leary

In last week’s Montclarion, Professor Furr entered in his opinions on the topic of the possible bias of the SAT’s. While he accused that tested of having a bias he provided absolutely no proof whatsoever that it did indeed have one. Oddly enough, my last column way back on March 21 talked about the SAT’s and I logically evaluated the sections of the test. For the math section I said, “I challenge anyone to find ‘cultural bias’ in numbers.” Professor Furr did not come close to meeting that challenge in his letter. For the English section I said, “This part of the test was made to see how well the student can understand basic sentence structure and how well they can decipher what the writer is trying to communicate, not to exclude any group of students.” Again, Professor Furr did not disprove that sentence.

In his letter he stated that the scores “predict” race more accurately than that student’s performance in college. He decided not to attempt proving that those with higher SAT scores were better prepared for college, but instead made a comparison of SAT scores and family incomes. While this is true, it’s a major jump in reasoning to assert that simply having more money means an automatic high SAT score. I believe I have a logical explanation as to why this is so. Schools are funded by property taxes (family incomes), so schools in richer neighborhoods have more money to spend on education. Also, richer schools are not plagued by violence the way other schools are. Both of these mean it is easier to provide an education in a richer school, thus leading to better SAT scores.

Now, Professor Furr, and anyone else who believes that there is a certain ethnic bias on these tests, I challenge you to make a logical argument, one based on pertinent facts and reason (not name calling and shallow accusations) that you are correct. Professor Furr, I suggest you try to find a back issue of the Montclarion to see where I am coming from, then look at the letter you provided and see if you have truly proven your point. If you can do it, I will gladly change my position on this issue. If you cannot, then please do not waste our time providing us with accusations which you seem unable to back up.
Welcome, loyal readers, to the ongoing saga of celebrity interviews, direct to you under the glorious title PROPHET BIGG!

Q- In one of your songs, you speak of "rock messiahs" and the song goes on to say, "there'll be another one next week, so enjoy it while you have it." Is that, in any sense, talking to yourself?

Henry Rollins- No. It's not talking to me. It's about the rock and roll situation. People sometimes find themselves with people around them going, "You're great, you're great, you're great!" and the original idea of why he picked up a guitar in the first place kinda gets lost in this storm of hype, money and the incredible amount of adulation. They become clouded out of people who get really huge really quickly of their families individually. We meet them. Everyone asks me who I wrote it about and I will never tell.

There is a new movie coming on the scene called With Honors. It stars a great ensemble of people including Joe Pesci, Brendan Fraser, Patrick Dempsey, Moira Kelly and others. It is directed by Alex Keshishian. The film is excellent. Definitely a must see.

I had a chance to talk with Fraser, Dempsey, Kelly and Keshishian about the film and themselves. This week - an interview with Brendan Fraser; next week - Keshishian, Dempsey and Kelly.

Q- What was it like, working with Joe Pesci?

Brendan Fraser- He's a great guy. A real generous actor. He's non-artificial. His past is real important to him. He doesn't make choices that are extraneous or unnecessary in his work. It was a honor to work with him and besides, he knows all the good Italian restaurants. Us, R.E.M., everybody. Like, you get to a guy's house and the floor is warm, and you're like, "Why is the floor warm?" And they're like, "Well, Michael Stipe slept there last night. I put up every band that plays that club." I think it's good for a band to go out in the world and take it on the nose for a few years. Do some indy albums. Find out where they're at. Go do shitty gigs in small clubs. Where you have to struggle to get the monitors to work, to get some respect. All that has kept my perspective on keel. You can't generalize what happened to Kurt Cobain - why he did what he did. The band was around for a long time in a van before they got big - a long time before they were even recorded. But, I think media on the level of Nirvana can be harmful, unless you have a real grip on it.

Brendan Fraser and the PROPHET discuss Joe Pesci, music and With Honors

B.F.- I did that afterwards, actually.
B.F.- I filmed School Ties in Massachusetts, 1991 to 1992 and then went straight into Encino Man. But the order of their releases, for some cosmic reason, they rushed Encino Man out first. I guess in the long run it worked to my advantage. I think if School Ties had come out first then Encino Man, it would have been like, "Oh god, he had such a nice start. What is he doing?"

Q- Are the Encino Man days over?
B.F.- I hope not. Gosh, I love doing goofy comedies. They're such good fun. And they serve a purpose to me. I think its really good to work in opposite polarities of what's expected of you.

Q- Right away, in let's say, 20 minutes you can tell that With Honors is a film about a lesson in humility.
B.F.- Ah. You can get it in the first 20 minutes, or at the end. You bring up lessons. I think that lessons are prevalent and absent in this film. Prevalent because Monty (Fraser) thinks that all the lessons he needs to know are going to come from a book of from someone pontificating behind a podium in a lecture hall.

Q- We've spoken about Joe Pesci, can you say something about the rest of the ensemble?
B.F.- Absolutely. Patrick [Dempsey] and Moira [Kelly] and Josh [Hamilton] and I forged a family. We don't meet any of their families individually. We meet these few people together. And the bond that they've created is one that pets and strokes itself (laughed). They need each other, they're aware of each other's limitations. It's a community. It's a family. We were introduced to each other a week or two before filming. So we had the chance to get in trouble or whatever college students do. I guess you could call it a rehearsal period. We just sort of indulged in different books, exotic beers (laughed).

Brendan Fraser and the PROPHET discuss Joe Pesci, music and With Honors

We spent time in Chicago and Harvard before we started filming. We kinda had to get in and outa Harvard really quickly because they really didn't want as there.

Q- They didn't want you there?
B.F.- No. Not really. The teamsters did. They wanted to work.
Q- So the majority of the film was shot in Chicago?
B.F.- And Minnesota. Yeah, that's the thing about filmmaking. It wasn't really showing all the time either. But then again when it was snowing you could really tell the difference.
Q- What's coming up for you?
B.F.- I have two films in the can right now. I just finished one here in New York called Scout with Albert Brooks, directed by Michael Ricci. We played baseball and went to the psychiatrist's office for a couple of months. It's about a phenomenal baseball player and he comes to play for the Yankees. Along the way, he surprises a lot of people with his eccentric behavior. He needs to be certified by a psychiatrist so that he won't do anything embarrassing that will be a detriment to the team. First of all, I regret that the mysterious fourth man will not be joining me this week. Neither will the second or third man, for that matter. Due to hectic filmmaking over the past couple of weeks, along with the usual end-of-the-semester chaos, the three of us were not able to get together to do the review we had planned on (it's going to be a good one too!). So, this week, I saw Bad Girls with my girlfriend Lynn. It stars Andie McDowell, Drew Barrymore, Mary Stuart Masterson, and Madeline Stowe. It's basically a story about four prostitutes in the old west who decide to give up that life and start running a sawmill.

Contrary to what most expect from this film, it is neither a cheap exploitation of women (Bad Girls? Come on!) nor is it a "women's Western." This is an action movie from beginning to end, the only really characteristics of it being that it was a good movie as the male protagonist/cowboy-in-distress.

As a woman's movie, this film is a total failure. Lynn felt unsettled afterwards due mostly to the injustices the women were subjected to in the film. There was much suffering, but no catharsis. Aside from that, her unease was probably also due to the fact that the three screenwriters for this movie were all male. Perhaps the most disturbing aspect of the film was that it was showing all these injustices as if to say "look how much better we are now" when, in fact, women don't feel equal at all.

The movie was obviously formulated to make money. Take the Western genre, which is very popular now, add a lot of action and some of the biggest female testament to another movie called Airheads. That's coming out soon. It was directed by Michael Lehman (Heathers). I worked with Adam Sandler, I saw him do SNL [Saturday Night Live] a week before it, but I missed Pearl Jam.

Q: See that - even Brendan Fraser can't get Pearl Jam tickets.

B.F.: I can get...(laughter). Actually, that would have been a zoo to get in to see Pearl Jam. You ever been to a taping of SNL? It's crazy in there. You have, like, all these pages...if you stand up in your seat, they maul ya'. Anyway, Airheads was last summer. I worked with Adam.

Q: - worked with Chris Farley.

B.F.: He's a looney tune. Adam and he have this running thing going where they try and out shock each other. Stuff they do I can't repeat with your tape recorder going (laughter).

Q: How did you develop the character of Monty?

B.F.: Monty, I think, is an amalgamation of every student that I ever knew who felt he had a deadline to meet. You know, who had a nose around his neck if he didn't do it. Someone who used to have fun, but now is taking himself very seriously. But, of course, it's the woman he's in love with who tells him this stuff which further confuses him. I think I recalled being in an academic environment most of my life and remember the types of people who belonged in those types of institutions.

Q: - how did you get a long with Gore?

B.F.: I'm a Seattle boy. I lived in Seattle before it was "cool." Suddenly I'm hip. I went around on a mountain bike with rag socks before everyone on the runaway in Milan did. I've been listening to blues lately. Some company who's, like, buying stuff and re-releasing it. Q: - Is that Rolly's company?

B.F.: No. It's his company.

Q: - He has a company that does that. B.F.: Yeah. He's getting all this cool stuff. He's one intense individual. He's cool. He ran a spot that said "Guns are the tools of the weak. You can disagree with me if you want to, but you're wrong."

Stay tuned for part two next week!

The Couch Potato Update

by George Olschewski

Jackie Mason, Mel Brooks, Rosie O'Donnell, and Robin Williams all agree-politically correct is killing comedy. There are instances where “PC” should be applied, but, like in everything else, it loses its effectiveness when it is overdone or taken to the extreme.

Outside of the “Seven Words You Can’t Say On Television,” the Big Three have pushed the envelope between programming and “PC” without much hoopla. But what if it was to be taken too far? The following is an excerpt from an article featured in last week’s issue of Entertainment Weekly that is too good to miss, and is reprinted here with permission:

Chers: Bartender Sam relentlessly hits on harmaid Diane? Sexual harassment.

F-Troop: Old West soldiers make handsome profit off trade with Indians? Typical example of white men exploiting Native Americans (We won’t talk about how Chief Wild Eagle is played by Italian Frank deKova.).

I Dream Of Jeannie: Man keeps woman in bottle to do his bidding? ‘Nuff said.

The Honeymooners: Ralph constantly harangues wife, threatening, “One of these days, Alice, bang, zoom!” Domestic violence, even when verbal, is not excused by the occasional “You’re the greatest” remark.

Bonzo Buddies: “Two men who dress like women? You’re not suggesting this is deviant behavior, are you?”

Love Lucy: Housewife, left alone all day while her celebrity husband goes to a nightclub, gets into mischief. Of course she does; the male-dominated workforce offers her little hope of a fulfilling career outside the home.

The Addams Family and The Munsters: Two minority families are shunned by “normal” people. They should be embraced for their differences as Monstro-Americans.

My Favorite Martian: An alien from outer space helps a bumbling human? Sorry, but other planets have been receiving our TV signals for years and their inhabitants know better than to bother with us.

A little tidbit, if you will, to ponder, “You don’t understand, I did not have a good time.”

Pitching propels MSU to eight straight and school win No. 1,000

by Brian Falzarano

Forget about hitting. It's pitching and defense that have been key.

Keeping that in the forefront, it becomes easier to digest how MSU has won it's past eight games and reached the elite 1,000 win mark. They have reassessed the fact that they are one of the top teams in the nation and a certifiable threat to make some noise in the NJAC and NCAA tournaments.

MSU reverted to its classic offensive form, hitting five homers to lift them to a 17-9 pasting of Western Connecticut (15-3-1) on Tuesday.

Drew Yocum (2-0) got the win, pitching 5 and 1/3 innings to tie the MSC record for consecutive wins with 11 in a row. Last year, the senior lefty was 9-0.

What Schoenig was referring to was the debacle against Kean on April 17, in which they blew an 8-3 lead in the ninth inning and lost 12-8. His pitching staff has settled down significantly, which has given them wins over some good competition.

Not all of the competition was good. On Monday, MSU drubbed Ramapo; 17-1, in 5 and 1/2 innings. The game, called because of darkness, was never, in question. The only question was what inning the Red Hawks would blow out the Roadrunners (0-19, 0-9), who have lost 27 games in a row. In case you were wondering, though, it occurred in the second inning.

Up 2-0, MSU sent 16 batters to the plate, scoring 10 runs on a mere four hits. Their offense came thanks to a Roadrunner pitching staff that probably went to the Ricky "Wild Thing" Vaughn pitching camp. MSU walked an astounding seven times (13 in the game) in the inning, the fifth largest single inning total in NCAA history.

Rob DiLaurenzio (3-for-4, four RBI), a senior second baseman who has played well of late, had two hits and two RBI in the inning, while catcher Mike Micucci (3-for-4, three RBI) added a two-run single. DiLaurenzio's recent surge makes the Red Hawks that much more difficult to pitch around.

"His offense is starting to come around," said Schoenig of his senior co-captain, who is hitting .282 with three home runs and 22 RBI while leading off. "He's become more consistent."

So has the Red Hawk pitching staff. Good outings by such hurlers as T.J. Costello and Chris Rampone have helped set a reborn tone of confidence in this maligned staff. Having the third-best defense in the NJAC certainly helps that.

"When you have successful pitching, you have to have successful defense," Schoenig noted. "You could throw the ball well, but if it's not caught, it doesn't mean a thing."

Van Dunk making most of his opportunity

by Glenn Steinberg

Five years. 60 months. 1,826 days.

That's the amount of time that Harold "Butch" Van Dunk took off from playing baseball before returning to the game last year.

Van Dunk, a senior and starting center fielder for MSU, started his athletic career in college as a football player. But after one season, he stopped to concentrate on academics, only to return to athletics in 1993. Except this time it was on a baseball diamond, not the gridiron.

For the majority of last season, Van Dunk didn’t see much action, but he made the best out of whatever action he did see. Starting in only 10 of the 44 games he played, he hit .370 (20-for-54) last year with four stolen bases and played nearly flawless defense.

According to MSU coach Norm Schoenig, he was placed in the starting lineup last year just before the Mid-Atlantic Regionals started, mainly due to his excellent fielding ability.

"We had to make a change in center field," said Schoenig.

He said that Van Dunk is considered his best defensive outfielder, displaying an outstanding arm and great speed.

Van Dunk agreed that Schoenig needed his defense, and added that his offense was a bonus.

"In the limited time that I played, I feel I did what was asked of me," said Van Dunk. "I drove in key runs, had some nice hits and played well defensively."

Schoenig agreed. He said that Van Dunk did some good things offensively, but he was mainly concerned with his defense. Due to his outstanding performance in the Mid-Atlantic Regionals and the College World Series last year, the senior was named to the All-Tournament teams for both the regionals and the World Series.

"His excellent speed allows him to play more shallow," Schoenig said. "He catches up to balls hit in the gap and those hit in shallow center field.

This year, Van Dunk picked up right where he left off. He is currently tied for the lead in the NJAC in doubles with 12 and is tied for second in triples with four, leading MSU in both categories. He is also batting .351 and has started in all 25 games. The Pemberton native said he is more comfortable in the field and at the plate.

"I've come a long way and I'm swinging a hot bat," said Van Dunk.

Though he is hitting well, he thinks he can swing the bat better than he is now, realizing that he still needs to improve.

"I need to improve in base stealing and hitting," said Van Dunk. "I have decent power, but I need to hit the ball hard everyday I'm at the plate."

Schoenig said that Van Dunk's offense has picked up, shown by his jump from No. 8 to No. 2 in the lineup. The seventh-year coach also said that he hits in the gaps well and the jumps that Softball rebounds from struggles to win 7 of 8
Baron hurt, but Warnock and Lopez carry MSU toward the playoffs

by Keith A. Idea

The MSU softball team must have breathed a collective sigh of relief when this past week's schedule didn't include any of the NJAC heavyweights that made the Red Hawks' lives miserable the previous week.

As a result, the Red Hawks were able to put together an impressive string, winning seven of eight games in four doubleheaders to up their mark to 22-14 (2-6 NJAC).

"We were hitting the ball better," said MSU head coach Anita Kubicka, who is one win shy of 100 over her four-year career. "That and the fact that we played some weaker competition helped us out."

In their most recent conquest, the Red Hawks knocked off NAIA power Georgian Court, 10-0, to split a twin-bill in Lakewood on Tuesday. MSU exploded for seven runs in the top of the seventh inning behind junior second baseman Jenn Flinn's three-run triple. Flinn also stroked an RBI single in the win.

Fresman right-hander Cheryl Lopez earned her third victory of the season by pitching a three-hitter against Rowan, 5-1. Lopez, who started her first game of the year last Thursday, has been a welcome surprise for MSU.

"She's been very composed for a freshman," Kubicka said. "She been consistently getting the ball over the plate and getting hitters out."

Lopez' presence on the mound was required after sophomore workhorse Robyn Baron was forced to remain inactive with a torn ligament in her shoulder that will require surgery after the season. Baron is expected to return for the NJAC playoffs, however.

Denise Warnock has also been a key in MSU's recent surge, winning five games this week to improve to 8-5 on the season.

The effectiveness of the new two-pitcher rotation has been crucial because sophomore right-hander Michelle Serio quit after last Tuesday's doubleheader loss to Rowan College, citing a lack of innings pitched as her reason.

MSU dropped the first game of the set to Georgian Court, 9-1, snapping its six-game winning streak.

In earlier action, the Red Hawks swept doubleheaders from FDU-Madison (17-6, 9-1 on Monday), Ramapo College (11-3, 9-1 last Thursday) and the University of Scranton (13-2, 11-0 last Wednesday).

RED HAWK NOTES...The NJAC playoffs begin this Sunday with the preliminary round games. MSU has received a first-round bye, so it will not participate in the tournament until next Sunday (May 8) in the quarterfinals.

Schoenig keeping 200th career win in perspective

After listening to MSU coach Norm Schoenig, it is easy to infer that he prefers to be typical rather than topical.

"That's not a bad thing, though. After all, that approach has left him second to only Bill Dioguardi's 290 wins in school history. He won his 200th game as skipper of the Red Hawks with a 15-7 win over NJAC nemesis William Paterson in Wayne last Thursday."

"Most people would be so elated that their head would have to be greased just to get it through the door. Others would hit a bar to have a couple of beers."

Not Schoenig. He derives satisfaction from winning and recollecting about those involved in helping him become one of the most successful and prominent Division III coaches in America.

"It was very satisfying because it was a pivotal game in the NJAC," Schoenig said. "It was very nice to win the game from a personal standpoint, but we're all in this for the baseball team. The importance of the game had conference ramifications."

Schoenig, in his seventh year at MSU as the head man, took over the position from Fred Hill, who is presently the head coach at Rutgers University. Instead of basking in the limelight, he prefers to let others soak in his sunlight.

Al Langer/Montclarion

Freshman Rosalie Guest puts on the brakes after rounding first base following a base hit in one of the Red Hawks' seven victories this past week.

Lopo, who started her first game of the year last Thursday, has been a welcomed surprise for MSU.

"She's been very composed for a fresman," Kubicka said. "She been consistently getting the ball over the plate and getting hitters out."

Al Langer/Montclarion

Schoenig became the second coach in MSU history to win 200 career games on April 21.

"The assistant coaches, they're the essence of our program," said Schoenig of Frank Eufemia, Rick Giancola, Charlie Honeker, and Rich O'Connor. "When you get real good baseball players, who are good people, and outstanding coaches, you're going to win some baseball games. I'd like to thank all of the players who have been in the program through this time and the coaches."

That's typical of Norm Schoenig.

Red Hawks win "New Jersey War"

Winners of eight in a row to battle for ECAC and Knickerbocker crowns

by Maureen K. McLeer

MSU's lacrosse team is trying to prove that they still have more left to show onlookers. In two wins this past week, they showed an ability to control a game both offensively and defensively.

MSU (8-1, 7-0 Knickerbocker Conference) is preparing for the upcoming ECAC tournament, when they will play at Sprague Field on Friday. They warmed up for that by issuing Kean College a 21-14 beating in the annual "New Jersey Lacrosse War" last Thursday.

Playing against a zone defense, Matt Klank had five goals and two assists, while Mike Bruton added four goals and Keith Van Ness, Jim Nugent and Frank Morano each had hat tricks.

"I thought they played to keep it close and not to win," said Alsofrom. "They showed us enough respect. I was looking not to pound them, but to win convincingly and continue our good play."

Defense also was big, with Chris Knight and goalkeeper Dan Van Ness taking charge. MSU has played well under new defensive coach Heath Piscarcik.

Despite playing this well, the Red Hawks are still wondering if they'll make the NCAA tournament. You wouldn't think that would be the case, but Alsofrom isn't shocked.

"It's going to be rough," said Alsofrom. "We'll be in consideration, but we'll play in the ECAC tournament this weekend. We're hoping to win it all. Then, we'll wait and see if the NCAA (bids are announced in two weeks) takes us."

In beating an overmatched Manhattanville (1-9) team, 18-3, all MSU wanted to do was avoid embarrassment. They were up 15-1 at the half behind a solid offensive effort, giving Alsofrom a chance to look ahead and avoid embarrassing a team with many problems.

"I wanted to keep everybody happy and from getting injured," he said. "By the fourth period, only certain people could score, people who haven't scored all year."

EDITOR'S NOTE: The results from yesterday's game versus Pace University for the Knickerbocker Conference title were unavailable at press time.

Moore or less, boxing stinks

The events of last Friday night in Las Vegas clearly signify all that's wrong with boxing.

Two guys putting forth half-hearted efforts and picking up millions after perpetrating a fraud at the expense of the fans of the sweet science. Unfortunately, that has become the norm, rather than the exception.

Granted, Evander Holyfield, who has since retired due to a heart condition, had to contend with that near ailment, even though he was unaware of it at the time. But he didn't want it like he did back in November against Riddick Bowe. Or like he did against George Foreman the second time around.

Although he has had a fine career, his best efforts were obviously behind him.

And Michael Moore was no symbol of motivation either. He had begged for a shot the title for the last three years, compiling an impressive 34-0 record to back up his claim of worthiness.

He finally got his shot, and he approached Holyfield like he was the deadliest puncher since Mike Tyson in his prime. On one of Holyfield's better nights, Moore's tentative strategy would have been justifiable. Friday was not one of those nights, however.

Moore, who neglected to finish Holyfield off despite seemingly having several opportunities, now sits atop the heavyweight divisions with the WBA and IBF belts.

About with Lennox Lewis, the WBC champion, looms in the air now that Holyfield is out of the picture. If not, Bowe is waiting in the wings, ready to pound the cautious Moore.

But more importantly, who cares?

Both were prevalent with John Carlson on the mound for MSU as it made history by winning at Rowan in the first game of a doubleheader, 7-4, to reach the millennium mark in wins. Carlson (3-2) gave up four earned runs over 5 and 2/3 innings to notch the win. Jason Scavalla cracked a three-run homer (3) in the sixth inning to give the visitors a 5-1 lead that could not be overcome.

In the nightcap, Chris Rampone went 6 and 2/3 innings, allowing only two earned runs in guiding the Red Hawks to a 13-3 beating of the Profs. Besides Rampone (5-1), Rowan (10-16, 4-6) was victimized by a balanced MSU hit parade. Butch Van Dunk, an integral part of MSU's success this season, was 3-for-5 with two runs scored and four RBI.

Also, DiLauroello slapped a homer and John Pallino added three RBI, tying him with Ralph Yezza for the team lead in that department (33).

"The offense continues to do a fine job, especially with runners in scoring position," said Schoenig.

As with Carlson and Rampone, Costello turned in one of his better performances of the season. The sophomore settled down after a shaky first inning to retire 15 batters in succession to thwart Jersey City State's bid for an upset, 10-1. Costello (2-0, 3.10 ERA) went six innings before submitting to the bullpen, giving up only four first-inning singles and striking out seven.

Catching Trenton State could be difficult. The Lions (23-4, 11-1), who split a doubleheader with MSC a couple of weeks back, pose a potential threat to the Red Hawks' hopes to be the top seed in the NJAC. "They've got an edge on us because they've played a few more games than us," said Schoenig. "I would certainly like to see them lose one so we could catch them."

That could unlock the combination to give MSC a possible shot at the NJAC regular season crown.

he gets off the bag when stealing a base have improved, but he must continue to do so.

"He's done what he's expected to do," said Schoenig. "He could play better. He could steal more bases, use more gap power and his jumps have to improve."

According to Van Dunk, he is confident in his ability, both offensively and defensively. "My confidence level is 10 times of what it was," he said. "The biggest difference between this year and last year is knowing I'm going to play. It definitely helps."

Schoenig said that he continues to do well and improves everyday. "He's a great player," said Schoenig.

Not bad for someone who took five years off from the game.\n
