GROW UP!

Dean of Business Administration finds innovative, yet illegal ways to park. (Nucera p. 3)
Bohn residents left in the cold

by Kristina Mathison

Students in the A-Wing of Bohn Hall had to endure the unusually cold weather for several weeks without heat.

Director of Facilities Doug Cooper said that the heat was returned to all but 40 rooms yesterday.

"The problem," Cooper said, "is that the A wing pipes deteriorated." The rooms that still have no heat were offered space heaters until Friday when the problem will be completely fixed.

"Forty rooms were effected by a pipe that would have required extensive welding to fix. We have instead ordered a part that will allow us to avoid the welding."

During the summer, when the heat was turned off, the water driven system took on air and the pipes got clogged. When the heat was turned back on in the fall, water running through the system built up and damaged the pipes. The state requires that the heat be turned on by Oct. 15, but due to the cold weather, Cooper turned the system on early.

Anne Marie Cawalho, a sophomore, said "Despite all of the problems we're having with the heating, I appreciate [Cooper's] thoughtfulness in putting the heat on early."

The problems began shortly after the heat was turned on when students' rooms began showing signs of potential flooding on the seventh floor.

Air that got trapped in the pipes rose to the upper floors while the water running through the system was forced down to the lower ones.

Another student commented that although he also appreciates the heat being put on early, he wished that the equipment had been thoroughly inspected before anything was done.

"Private Parts" not a problem at MSU

by Katherine Marrucci

Just recently to hit the media, Pam Antonelli, a public librarian, in Weslaco, Texas was informed to submit a letter of resignation or risk being fired and humiliated the next morning. What did this mother of three adult children, with a degree in Library Sciences and years of dedicated service to her small, southern community do to deserve termination from a career she loved? She ordered a sexually explicit book for the library.

Antonelli purchased Howard Stern's autobiography, "Private Parts," for the library because it was a New York Times best-seller. It was popular and patrons were asking for it. After her employer instructed Antonelli to remove the book, which she did, he soon gave her news of her future unemployment with the library.

Could something so outrageous happen in New Jersey? Does censorship exist behind the renovated walls at MSU? How are the decisions made about what books are appropriate for the students?

Norman Stock, MSU's Acquisitions Librarian, explained that books are selected for the library by faculty members, stating that after all, the teachers are "subject specialists." The library staff together prefer to order material that has some reviews to confirm its educational quality. Stock adds that the books ordered are intended to "support the curriculum."

As for the non-existent "Private Parts" on campus, Stock feels there is, "no problem with its sexual content," offering his opinion that if a teacher requests it, "we'd probably order it." However, Stock makes his point clear again, "We as a library would like to see a review."

Pam Antonelli during a recent appearance on Donahue has confirmed her pressured resignation and commented that she will accept representation from the ACLU and Howard Stern himself. Staff of the campus library, including Stock, have agreed that the punishment was harsh, and Stock concludes that "Private Parts," "sounds like something we should probably get," because of its increasing popularity.

The general consensus of students living on campus regarding crime is one of sympathy for the unknown victims and confidence in their immunity to such violence.

Everyone who reads newspapers or listens to the news, knows that crime is alive and well in society. Fortunately, crime at MSU has not escalated to such a level.

For dorm residents, this is largely due to Residence Life and the policies they create for our safety.

"Safety and security have always been primary issues with this department," said Margaree Coleman-Carter, the director of Residence Life.

"Many students view these halls as a home away from home and we do our best to preserve that atmosphere."

As part of the effort to do so, Residence Life has established rules of behavior and necessary precautions that have been observed on campus for years. Among them are check-ins and overnight security.

Due to the fact that this is an open campus and a large majority of crime at MSU is committed by visitors or strangers who simply walk onto campus undetected, every student is given an I-card. This card must be presented to the desk assistant when entering any building. Although this procedure is not readily accepted during the day by students, the general attitude changes at night.

"Punching in" makes sense if it’s at night or if you are going to another dorm," said one Webster Hall resident.

Another method of protection is the ‘persona non grada’ list in every residence hall. Throughout the semester, names of people who are not permitted in the residence buildings are added.

It is comprised mostly of students with no affiliation to MSU or students whose housing has been terminated and who pose a threat to the environment. The people on the list are, under no circumstances, allowed back in a residence building.

There are strict regulations regarding alcohol and drug abuse in the dorms. According to the Residence Life Handbook, possession of alcohol will result in automatic probation for one year.

A second offense can result in the termination of housing- which is the most severe disciplinary action. Resident students that are found using, in possession of, or selling drugs will be suspended from the dorms and possibly face criminal charges. MSU reserves the right to check contents of purses, bags, or boxes if there is cause for suspicion.

Every student is responsible for himself or herself and each other. Very often crimes, such as theft, are witnessed by students but rarely reported. Downtown, most severe disciplinary action. Resident students that are found using, in possession of, or selling drugs will be suspended from the dorms and possibly face criminal charges. MSU reserves the right to check contents of purses, bags, or boxes if there is cause for suspicion.

Every student is responsible for himself or herself and each other. Very often crimes, such as theft, are witnessed by students but rarely reported. MSU maintains a crime free society. MSU is a community and should mirror society, but not in that way.
MSU settles for $125,000
by Sheila Patnode

MSU's former director of public information received $125,000 on Aug. 3 for a lawsuit he filed against MSU in Aug. 1992 for alleged employee discrimination against color.

The suit listed former Vice-President for Institutional Advancement Jesse Rosenblume, Director of Communications Phyllis Miller and Director of Communication Relations and Special Events Julie Marcini.

As part of the settlement, Ivan Tolbert, who originally asked for $1.6 million, released the university employees named in his suit from any liability.

The case was settled so that MSU could avoid a trial which would have tied up approximately 25 employees for about two weeks, said Grey Dimenna, New Jersey deputy attorney general.

Tolbert was informed in Nov. 1992 that he would not be reappointed to his position for the next year. He left MSU in Jan. 1993 to take a position with the Virginia state government, according to Dimenna.

"The university does not spend a lot of money on law suits," Dimenna said. "There aren't that many. About 90 to 95 percent of all lawsuits are settled without trial."

Dean has no parking, or standing, in lot 14 fiasco
by Kimberly Nuerra

Acting Dean of Business Administration Dr. Phillip LeBel was not ticketed when he parked illegally after he found his reserved parking space in lot 14 to be occupied.

During the week of Sept. 19, Lt. Postaski of campus police said LeBel asked campus police to have a car that was illegally parked in his reserved space, towed.

Police said they could not tow the illegally parked car because the tow truck would take 20 to 30 minutes to arrive at the site and also there was only a reserved sign posted by the dean's space, not a tow-away sign.

Hence, LeBel illegally parked, too. He did not only block the car in his space, but other vehicles as well.

The owner of the vehicle who parked in LeBel's space was fined $15, said Postaski. Even though LeBel illegally parked too, he was not fined because his reserved space was occupied.

Postaski did not know if LeBel was told to park behind the vehicle or if there were any other available spaces for LeBel to park temporarily. In addition, Postaski said many other people, including graduate assistants and visiting faculty, park in faculty lots, therefore, parking is limited.

LeBel said he hopes the administration will seek a "way to find improved overall parking." Although, LeBel said, "I don't know what the solution will be."

LeBel has a history of illegal parking. Two years ago, while LeBel was chairman of the economics and finance department, his car was towed by Freeman Hall.

Consequently, he paid a $55 towing charge. LeBel said he complained many times about not enough parking. Furthermore, LeBel said he now knows how it feels to be on the other side.

Carpe Diem covers MSU
by Jeff Zarrillo

For two years now, the broadcasting students at the university have been showing off their talents and entertaining the people of New Jersey at the same time on "Carpe Diem," a student-produced television show airing on the Cable Television Network (CTN).

Students have an opportunity that does not come along too often, the chance to get a feel for what their major or field is about while still in college. Patricia Piroh, the producer and director of the show, said, "Students are introduced to a form of professionalism." The students working on the show, "must rise to the level of producing on a tight schedule."

Broadcasting majors benefit from the show in other ways as well. According to Piroh the show is, "an outline for students' work to be seen." Laura McGuire, a 21-year-old senior broadcasting major states that the contributions you make to the show makes you more confident going out into the 'real world' after graduation. McGuire says that, "It's a great accomplishment to see your work on television."

Piroh said that even though many students "seize" the opportunity to have their work displayed on the show, she would like to see even more of the majored students involved and realize the kind of opportunities available.

Not only do the students benefit from having the television show, the university does as well. Piroh said, "It gives the university a chance to show just what the students can achieve here (at M.S.U.)."

Also, Piroh said that, "The show connects with the community on some level, by either covering community events or shows, or just telling them what's going on."

Therefore, when viewers watch the show, they are in fact, connecting with the university. The university can also benefit by using the show as what Piroh calls, "a recruiting tool," a way to get students to apply for admission to the university.

Now in its second season, "Carpe Diem" airs every Friday at 8 p.m. During its first year, the show aired on every third Thursday of every month at 5 p.m. and 2 p.m. Piroh said the improved time slot is the result of, "the quality of work and that students are willing to make it happen quickly."

She added that, "There would be no show without the students."

Students have the freedom to do what ever types of projects they want. Piroh says that all students have to do is come to her with a well planned, well thought-out idea and be willing to produce a project of good quality, and she will give them the opportunity.

Broadcasting Coordinator and "Carpe Diem's" Executive Producer, Dr. Lawrence Lomordo, also has a vision for the show. He says that, "my objective is that when viewers see the show, at the end they are surprised that this is produced by students in an academic environment. Students, who are in fact, 'seizing the day.'"
Missing pot of gold
by Victoria Galdes

The Chapin Fund, referred to as a pot of gold for MSU students, is an emergency student loan fund made available through grants from the Alumni Association. Any student may apply for a loan; however, funds are not always available, and nobody knows how much money is available.

Helen Matusow-Ayres, dean of students, said since August, she has given 11 students loans averaging $200. She said that mostly students with financial aid receive loans because she knows that the loan will be repaid.

Students usually have one or two months to pay back the loan, but every situation is different. Money is not handled through Helen and she said that she has no access to know how much money is available. When a student applies for a loan, she has to call the Alumni Office for verification.

She said that the fund is maintained by students repaying their loans.

Holly Stevens from the Alumni Association also does not know how much money is available in the Chapin Fund. She said that the Dean and the Alumni Office do not have contact.

Sherry Jefferson from FSCA said that the fund is maintained by the FSCA but by financial aid. She also does not know how much money is available.

Director of Financial Aid Richard Randall said that there is money available and that students had, in fact, received loans yesterday. Money is being reserved for work-study students whose checks have been delayed because of the work-study freeze.

If a student’s loan is not repaid, a freeze is put on their records. He does not know how much money is available.

The Chapin Fund is a “revolving fund.” The fund is made available by Alumni donations and so the search for the rainbow to find the pot of gold continues.
MSU announces first capital campaign goal

by Lisa Voltman

MSU is in the process of enhancing the welfare of their faculty and students, especially concerning global education. One of the most evident steps is the $8 million capital campaign goal, which is being subsidized by private donors.

Since the government’s support in these areas are dwindling, donors are becoming essential in regard to the university’s livelihood. The university is currently half way to reaching the $8 million mark, and although this is the first capital campaign goal MSU has ever rendered, they are receiving a positive response.

The three main objectives in MSU’s efforts to improve their forum of global education to prepare students, are to incorporate more academic programs that will allow MSU students to keep up with worldwide needs in business, technology and society as a whole, to drastically improve campus facilities so students can access new information and technologies more easily and to administer merit scholarship and graduate fellowships and endowments for professorships, chairs and visiting scholar programs.

Irvin D. Reid, president of MSU, reasons that “As a senior university in the state of New Jersey, we must be able to meet today’s challenges.”

Three co-chairs are spearheading the campaign: John Tugwell, chairman of the board and Chief Executive Officer of National Westminster Bancorp, Rose Cali, a member of MSU’s executive committee of the Board of Trustees and Angelo J. Genova, Esq., a senior partner of the law firm of Genova, Burns, Trimboli & Vernoia in Livingston.

MSU is trying to live up to their new university status by banishing the impression of the term “university” as being a marketing tool. As Laura Yessis, an MSU junior, majoring in biology, explains, “Much too often, other issues get in the way and the overall improvement of the university is placed on the back burner.”

President Reid concludes that, “The result (of this campaign) will be the success of our graduates as good citizens participating in this ever-changing world.”
Montclair University Alumni Association
Undergraduate Scholarship and Service Award
Application

DEADLINE FOR APPLICATION: DECEMBER 2, 1994

Social Security Number ___________ Date Submitted ___________

Check proper choice. This is an application for: Undergraduate Scholarship ☐ Undergraduate Service Award ☐

Mr/Ms __________________________________________________________________________________

First Name ___________________________ Middle Initial ___________ Last Name ___________________________

Permanent Address ____________________________________________ Street ___________________________

City ___________________________ State ___________ Zip Code ___________

Permanent Phone Number ___________ School Phone Number ___________

Temporary (School) Address ____________________________________________

Credits completed ___________ Credits in progress for spring semester and summer session ___________

Cumulative G.P.A. as of this semester ___________

Cumulative G.P.A. at the completion of the following semesters: ___________

Freshman 1st ___ Freshman 2nd ___ Sophomore 1st ___ Sophomore 2nd ___ Junior 1st ___ Junior 2nd ___

Academic major ___________________________ Expected date of graduation ___________

High School Attended ____________________________________________

School Name ___________________________ City ___________________________ State ___________

Extracurricular Activities at MSU, type and level of participation: ____________________________

Extracurricular activities in the community, type and level of participation: ____________________________

FINANCIAL AID RECORD: Indicate sources of tuition support. Give approximate % of support.

YEAR ________Fresh. ________Soph. ________Junior ________

New Jersey Scholarship ________ Other Scholarships ________ Loan ________ EOF ________ BEOG ________ Personal Earnings ________ Family Support ________

REFERENCES: Please name at least one MSU faculty member in your field of study, as a reference, whom we can contact in support of your application, especially with reference to your service to the University.

1. ____________________________________________________________________________

NAME ___________________________ ADDRESS ___________________________ PHONE ________

POSITION ___________________________

2. ____________________________________________________________________________

AFFIRMATION: I hereby affirm that to the best of my knowledge the information supplied in this application is complete and accurate. If selected as a recipient, I agree to permit the Alumni Association to interview me and publicize the award.

SIGNATURE ____________________________________________________________________________

A number of Montclair State University Alumni Association Scholarships have been established to recognize the achievements, service, and leadership of Montclair’s outstanding students. In a MAXIMUM of 200 words TYPE an essay that tells us how your accomplishments and future goals reflect these qualities. Please attach that essay to this application.

The Montclair State University Alumni Association supports the Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity policy of the University. These awards are made to students based on merit, regardless of race, creed, sex or national origin.

The Alumni Association Scholarship recognizes students who have maintained high academic standards while actively involved in college and community activities, and the Undergraduate Service Award recognizes students who have achieved high levels of performance in service to the college and community, while maintaining strong academic proficiency. Full-time students who have completed 58 undergraduate semester hours with a minimum of two semesters in full time residence by September 1995, are eligible for the scholarship.

A certificate and approximately one semester’s tuition will be awarded to the scholarship recipients. Applications should be returned to the Alumni Relations Office, 34 Normal Avenue.
Homecoming kicks off
by Michael Lampe

Ah, Autumn has arrived. The leaves are turning, the air is getting colder. It's Homecoming time! Montclair State's campus has been decorated with posters, flyers and billboards announcing the Homecoming/FallFest activities that have, and will continue to shake the campus over the course of the week.

Monday night MSU kicked off its annual homecoming week/FallFest with a series of events that will culminate in the traditional Homecoming parade and football game on Sunday, October 15.

College Life Union Board (CLUB), the sponsor of this year's Homecoming schedule, has ten events planned over the six-day period. "It promises to be a great week. The entire week's programming carried a price of about $10,000," said CLUB Treasurer Onix Noa. "That is less than we spent last year and this year we have much better programming. Participation has been phenomenal."

The week officially kicked off Monday night with the Homecoming King & Queen pageant. Over 300 MSU students gathered in the Rathskellar to watch representatives from various organizations campaign for the much coveted titles of King and Queen.

The show, which was scheduled for an 8 p.m. start, got under way a half hour late as students tried to pack themselves into the Rat. The turnout was so large that the room's partition had to be opened. SGA Director of External Affairs and CLUB member Michael J. Roessner served as the emcee of the evening's event. Roessner's manic persona made him the perfect choice to keep the evening exciting.

As the audience was settling into the room, sorority members made the rounds passing out flyers and soliciting votes for their respective sisters. "Vote for Chrissy," "Kim for Queen." I hadn't seen that many rowdy Greeks together since Michael Dukakis ran for President.

Although this was not a strictly Greek event, Greek letters floated everywhere (I felt like I was floating in a bowl of Greek alphabet soup.) However, students from all aspects of the campus community showed up for the pageant; to watch and participate. To my amazement, the bar was packed three deep. People drinking in the Rat, outstanding! And no one was smoking. (Well, almost no one, don't tell.) The Rat's alcohol service reported one of its most successful nights.

The showcase, which consisted of a talent competition, question and answer section and contestant essay, proved to be very entertaining. Contestants sang and danced, performed sketches and even lip synced to Little Rascals songs. Homecoming was definitely under way.

Tuesday night the Rat was packed once again, this time for a comedy show. Several different comedians entertained the crowd of ninety or so for over two hours. The evening ended with a riotous performance by comedian Brad Lowery. Again, the Rat's alcohol service had a successful evening. Over the course of the two nights there were no incidents in the Rat. The events continued last night with a Lip Sync contest with a first prize of $200. The contest was followed by a showing of Jurassic Park in the Calica Auditorium.

"Homecoming," according to CLUB Homecoming Chair Bernadette Cerami, "is a chance to honor the accomplishments of the students who came before us, and to set an example of school spirit for those who will come after.

Cerami took the position in June and has been preparing for this week ever since. "This year's event is much more organized than the previous events. Homecoming has pulled people and organizations together and generated an awesome amount of school spirit. One of the goals was to get all the Class Ones involved. We did a pretty good job of representing the entire student population." She continued, "In the past, Homecoming has not personified the spirit of MSU, this year we turned that around."

Wednesday afternoon saw the campus alive with activities. Organizations were on the lookout for members, friends, and relatives to vote for them. The University Band put on a special performance for the occasion. It was a great day to be a Bobcat.
This May 8th will be the 50 year anniversary of Liberation Day - the day in 1945 when the remaining survivors of the Holocaust were freed from the concentration campus and from Hitler’s wrath. Livia Sabo Krancbert is one of the fortunate few who eluded death and can tell her story, unlike the millions that perished.

Mrs. Krancbert’s emotion-filled eyewitness account was sponsored by Lambda Tau Omega on Tuesday. She brought the 25 member audience back in time to the concentration camps scattered throughout Germany and Austria, reliving the horror while the audience choked back tears.

Livia Sabo was born in Romania 75 years ago. She went to school, spent time with her family and played with her sister like any other little girl. Her father moved to the United States in 1938 to establish a job and find a home for his family. Prepared to emigrate in 1942, the Sabo family was detained due to a change in the U.S. immigration laws concerning children under 21 years of age.

Then, in the early 1940’s, Hitler’s veil of hate descended over Europe. Distributing pictures of parasites, Hitler’s men told the German masses that those images were the Jews. They told the masses that the Jews were subhuman and were to be abhorred. Livia recalled her “first encounter with hate” in 1942 when a schoolmate she had been tutoring all year on her free time before classes grabbed Livia’s books and threw them down on the floor, shouting, “Pick them up, Jew Dog!”

On May 14, 1944, 15,000 Jews from Seget were marched into cattle cars with all the possessions they could fit into one suitcase and packed in “like sardines with 100 to 115 per small car, without any windows.” Pails were placed in each of the four corners of the cars as toilets, but after an hour of use, they were spilling over and waste collected in puddles beneath their feet. Livia and her fellow captives spent four days and four nights on the train until they arrived at their destination - the infamous concentration camp Auschwitz.

Upon their arrival at Auschwitz, the men and women were separated. Each group was then separated into two more groups. One group for the old, the sick, the crippled and the mothers. The other group was the young, strong, the single. The male and female “undesirables” were sent to the gas chambers immediately. Among this group was Livia’s mother.

The remaining Jews were sent to the shower rooms where they were ordered to strip down. Their hair was cut to the roots, they were hosed off with water, sprayed with a poisonous insecticide DDT, and given ragged, threadbare dresses to wear.

The gas chambers that killed the first set of prisoners looked exactly like the shower rooms, except that instead of water, they were blasted with deadly gas. The gas killed people in five minutes, and before their bodies even got cold, their mouths were searched for gold teeth and bridges, then they were tossed into an incinerator.

A man by the name of Dr. Mengele performed heinous experiments on cripples and invalids. He was personally responsible for the deaths of three and one-half million Jews. In the gas chambers, he piled the bodies as high as the ceiling. He threw people who were still alive into the burning incineration pits, watching arms and legs straining to get out, the searing heat bursting their bellies open. During other sweeps through Jewish towns, Mengele ordered all crying children shot. The SS men tossed babies into the air “and shot them like birds in flight.” Living quarters for the spared minority were bunk beds designed for four people, but no blankets. Meals consisted of a thin slice of bread made of sawdust and potato peel soup for breakfast, and one cup of black coffee and a bowl of broth for dinner. They were given one bowl to keep for the duration at the camp. If they lost it, they didn’t eat. The women went an entire year without water. A group of about 100 women found a pail of muddy water and attacked each other for just one lack. Later that day, the water “died up into mud from the scorching sun.”

Every morning “roll call” was taken, and the prisoners were counted and recounted. During the winter people froze to death during roll call in the negative 10 degree cold. In the summer, people died of sunstroke from the heat. Their bodies would blister in the sun. Mengele would weed out the blistered bodies and have those people killed.

The flesh from the thighs and calves and the muscles from the women that were killed were used as material for shoes, bags, and clothing. Buckets of flesh were used as fertilizer. The flesh was going to be used as a commodity for the German war effort, but the horse flesh was more valuable.

The people left were divided again into two groups: the ones to work in textile factories and those to await death. Livia and her sister Rose were in the latter group. Everyday during roll call, the doomed group went through “daily selections.” Fifty naked women were lined up in a parade in front of Mengele. Dr. Mengele looked for the fleshy naked women without blisters, and separated the 50 into two lines to the right they were spared until the next roll call, to the left they died by gas chamber.

In January of 1945, Auschwitz had to be shut down due to a major blizzard.
CAMPUS CALENDAR

TONIGHT
- 3:00 p.m. Art Forum Lecture by Martin Smith, sculptor, Calcia Hall, Room 135.
- 7:45 p.m. Chi Alpha Christian Fellowship Service, Student Center, Room 411.
- 8:00 p.m. Field Hockey: MSU vs. FDU-Madison, Sprague Field.
- 8:00 p.m. THEATER: "Deathtrap", Memorial Auditorium; $7 for Faculty, Staff, and Alumni, $4.50 with Student ID. For tickets, call 5112.

FRIDAY
- 1:00 p.m. Homecoming Pep Rally, Student Center Quad.
- 6:00 p.m. "Background Noise" with DJ Nik Allen on WMSC, 101.5 FM.
- 8:00 p.m. Men's Soccer: MSU vs. Stockton State, Sprague Field.
- 8:00 p.m. THEATER: "Deathtrap", See TONIGHT for details.

SATURDAY
- 10:00 a.m. 5K Run, Dioguardi Track; $5 entry, $3 with Student ID.
- 12:00 p.m. Homecoming Parade, Valley Road to Mount Hebron Road.
- 7:00 p.m. Football: MSU vs. William Paterson, Sprague Field.
- 8:00 p.m. THEATER: "Deathtrap", See TONIGHT for details

SUNDAY
- 11:00 a.m. Mass: "B" Building, Faculty Lounge.
- 6:30 p.m. Mass: Newman Center.

MONDAY
- 7:00 p.m. Volleyball: MSU vs. NYU, Panzer Gym.
- 8:00 p.m. Field Hockey: MSU vs. Manhattanville, Sprague Field.
- 9:00 p.m. ATΩ Interest Meeting, Student Center, Room 418.

TUESDAY
- 12:00 p.m. Reports presented by Center for Global Education grant awardees, Student Center, Room 217.
- 6:00 p.m. DJ Kathy Dillon spins Northern New Jersey's Best New Music on WMSC, 101.5 FM.
- 12:00 p.m. LECTURE: Deena Linett, author of The Translator's Wife, will examine the creative process in fiction writing. Sponsored by the Women's Center; for more information, call 5154.

WEDNESDAY
- BREAST CANCER AWARENESS DAY
  - Women's Center Will distribute literature. T-Shirts are available through the Center for $16.
- 12:00 p.m. LECTURE: Deena Linett, author of The Translator's Wife, will examine the creative process in fiction writing. Sponsored by the Women's Center; for more information, call 5154.

NEXT WEEK
- THURSDAY: 8:00 p.m. Public Telescope Night, Outside Richardson Hall. For more information, contact Mary Lou West at 7266.

---

Come write for us.

The MONTCLARION continues its search for a full staff of writers and reporters for all sections. If you have experience or you want to have experience call:

- Sheila, News: x5216
- Heather, Life: x5282
- Ron, Editorial: x5241
- Kelly, Arts: x5241

---

MONTCLARION
IBM's tech tour arrives

by Chris Hinck

Have you ever had to write a paper for your eight a.m. class and gotten kick­ out of the computer labs at 10 p.m. with a mere 8 pages to go? At that moment, having a computer in your dorm sounded like nirvana.

This Tuesday, a Personal Computing Technology Tour was on campus. IBM, International Business Machines, came to MSU to display their latest techology and at the same time to sell a machine or two.

"It's a nice opportunity for students and faculty to get a hands-on look at the new hardware from IBM," said Nancy Vargas, Supervisor, Academic Computing Labs.

Helped by Barbara Silverstein, who is the IBM representative for all of the colleges and Universities in New Jersey, I was introduced to IBM's impressive product line. This line included desktop and laptop PCs, called the ValuePoint and the ThinkPad, respectively.

The ValuePoints are powerful multimedia machines due to their fast processors and CD-ROM drives. The ThinkPads came in all varieties of powers and prices, the least expensive being The Student Notebook ThinkPad 340 costing a surprisingly low $1499. This surprised me due to IBM's reputation for high prices to match their high quality. The Student Notebook ThinkPad has a 486/50 MHZ processor. It has a passive matrix monochrome screen and four megabytes of RAM. Its 125 meabyte hard drive stores the abundance of built-in software. This package also includes a built in fax/modem to call local BBS's (bulletin board systems) or MSCnet.

The top of the line ThinkPad is everything you'd want in a desktop, but you can carry it with you to class. This unit has 8 megs of RAM and a 486/75 MHZ processor. It has a 10.3 inch color screen that can be seen at any angle and a built-in TrackPoint II, a pointing device that looks like an eraser head stuck between the "G," "H" and "B" keys to move around your cursor. This pretty little package was not given a price tag at the Tour, however when I called IBM PC Direct, IBM's mail order division, I was given a price of $6,113.28 and that's after your 4% student discount. Needless to say, many of us are not going to get that one until after graduation.

With technology emerging at an ever increasing rate, many students and faculty were glad to have this chance to see what was being offered. "I was impressed by the computers available," said Tom Tracy, a Sophomore who attended the tour.

As computers become less and less expensive, it will become easier for students to afford to do their papers in their dorm or with a notebook, where ever they want. So, in that next cram session when you're trying to type an eight page paper in eight minutes, remember IBM and the possibilities available to you when you use a computer of your own.

The Homecoming parade will be held at noon on Saturday. According to Noa, seventeen floats have been entered in the contest. The organizations have been working for weeks building the props and rehearsing their routines. It promises to be a great day. Following the parade there will be a tailgate party in the Rat from 3­ 7 p.m. At 7 p.m. Homecoming concludes with the Football game against William Patterson. The half­time show will feature an awesome fireworks display. After the game the winners of the King & Queen contest and the parade will be announced.

"This year's Homecoming has been outstanding," commented SGA President Sal Anderson. "Publicity has been excellent. The daytime events worked very well and coincided nicely with the SGA referendum (Which were being held in the Student Center all this week). Monday night proved how successful the Rat can be. Everything came off without a hitch." He continued, adding, "The overall success will ultimately be measured on Saturday at the parade and the game. But it should be great."
We live in a society which is more concerned with what we do than who we are. We make life choices based on social criteria which place value on external things and not on internal things. How many of us have made life decisions based on the belief that it’s what we’re supposed to do, rather than it’s what we want to do? How many of us have chosen careers because the pay and benefits are good, not because we want to follow our heart’s desires?

Getting a well paying job with benefits seems to be the thing to do in this society. It’s the brass ring on the merry go round of life, the American dream. But is it really all it’s cracked up to be? Yes, a good job pays the bills, gets you what we believe and why we be­lieve it. While I don’t have a problem with this choice, I’ve always been interested in other than a fascination with the subject. I’ve always been concerned with what people believe and why they be­lieve it. While I don’t have a problem with my choice of major, it seems other people do. The typical reaction I get when I tell people about my major is “what are you going to do with that?” The question is then followed by that funny look. The look that says I’m not being practical. I’m supposed to go to college to get a good job with benefits.

After all, that’s why people go to school, RIGHT? Why do I feel like such a weirdo when I tell people I went back to college for the sake of learning something, or finishing what I started, having dropped out in the ’70s. I’m going to school to expand my awareness and be a better person. Why is it that becoming a better person doesn’t seem to count in the “real” world?

As I grew up in my middle class Jewish household, one of the few things my fa­ther used to tell me was that it was very important in life to get a good job with benefits. He worked at a government job for 35 years until he retired at age 55. My father hated his job. Monday through Friday morning he’d catch the 7:30 a.m. train from our home in the New Jersey suburbs to arrive at work in downtown Manhattan by 9:00 a.m. He would leave work at 5:00 p.m. and be home by 6:30. Not only did he hate his job, he also hated to commute. That’s 11 hours a day, 5 days a week of unhappiness. At the age of 50, my father had a heart attack and he’s had two by-pass surgeries since.

I recently asked my father if he could have chosen any career without worrying about practicality, what would he have chosen? His response was: “Margo, I always wanted to be a musician.” When I asked him why he never pursued it, he said, “It’s not practical.” My father went to college and became an accountant. A sad, frustrated accountant. Who told him to give up his dreams? Who tells us all to give up our dreams? My father has the soul of an artist. He loves to quote Shakespeare and listen to opera. I see him as a sensitive creative man shackled by a value system which has done him no good.

For those who can afford it, the pur­pose of college seems to be to provide the means to the end of “What am I going to do with my life?” As I wrote this article, I became curious as to what my fellow students on the campus of MSU would say if I asked them the question: “Why are you in college?” So I strolled around the campus and asked a random 22 stu­dents that question. Here are the results of my very casual and unofficial survey:

Thirteen students said they were in college for the purpose of getting a better job. (A better job meaning one that will make more money.) Two of these 13 students said their parents told them they had to go to school to get better jobs. Three students said they went to college with specific goals in mind, such as teacher or lawyer. Three students said they went to college for the purpose of getting both an education and a good job. Three stu­dents stated that getting an education was a goal in itself. Like me, they chose to attend college for the purpose of broaden­ing their horizons and awareness.

After my survey, I decided to call my father and ask him a few questions about his decision to go to college. He said he went with the specific goal of becoming an accountant. He said that most people of his generation chose to go to college with a specific job in mind. I asked him why he chose to be an accountant and he responded, “There was nothing else I thought I could do.” Apparently, what he really wanted to do (be a musician) didn’t count, so among the choices of “supposed to do’s” my father settled for an accountant.

Settled.

Do we settle for things because we don’t have enough faith in ourselves? There are times when I have a lot of faith in myself. When I believe if I pursue my interests, without any specific goal other than the interest itself, I will create a career that’s just right for me. There are other times when I’m afraid. I feel the pressures of practical­ity (rent, car repair, etc...) squeezing out the hope, the optimism, the faith. What’s ironic to me is that in terms of my father’s career he considers himself very lucky. From his point of view he made a good living and has a great pension and excellent medical ben­efits.

So what am I going to do with my life? Well I guess I’ll continue to do what I’ve been doing all along - living and learning.
Saving the Earth starts small

by Danielle Simone Massara

By this time, everyone should have some awareness of emergency concern. Most people have some knowledge of our resources are slowly disappearing, and our garbage is growing at an unbelievable rate. This directly affects every single one of us. We live on this planet, so it is our responsibility to preserve it and take care of our environment. However, even when some of us are concerned with contributing to the benefit of our world, we may get overwhelmed with the day to day rush. Some people say, "Well, I would really like to help save our planet, but I'm too busy with school and work to get involved with any major movements."

Even though the hours during the day seem to be lessening, our problems are still growing. However, there are simple ways to change our daily routines that will help preserve our planet and do not require a large amount of time. Here are some easy steps each of us can take toward alleviating the problems that we, and Mother Earth are faced with.

The word "CONSERVE" can be used as an acronym to stand for these environmental awareness tips. We can begin with the letter "C" to stand for conservation of water. Never leave water running. Fix leaky faucets and only use water when necessary. Save rain water to reuse for watering houseplants. Don't be wasteful! NEVER litter and especially do not pollute our precious waters.

The letter "O" stands for oil. Many people are unaware that it takes only one quart of motor oil to contami-
ON SALE NOW!!!

STONED AND DETHRONED IN '94

Very Special Guests
Love Spit Love
Also Appearing
Velvet Crush

Montclair State University
Memorial Auditorium
Wednesday, November 2nd
Doors open 7pm - Show 8pm
$5 MSU Students - $10 Non-Class 1 Concerts of the SGA
World Food Day recognizes children in poverty

What is hunger? Well it's more than a comparison of who does or does not have enough to eat. It is an issue of failed beginnings for millions of American children. The American Dietetic Association (ADA) defines hunger as "discomfort, weakness, or pain caused by lack of food". The reasons for hunger are complex yet they arise due to insufficient income, family or community resources.

Harvard University's Physician Task Force on Hunger in America estimated in 1985 that 20 million people, or one in every 12 citizens, suffered from hunger. In New Jersey, nearly a million people lack food security, half of which are children. According to this estimate it would take five sold out Giant Stadiums to seat all of the hungry children in N.J. on any given day.

What happens to a child born into poverty and hunger (one every 29 minutes in N.J.)? You can observe the lack of physical growth that results from hunger, but how can we measure the emotional impact? Their social skills remain underdeveloped and their concentration level decreases ultimately resulting in academic failure. They get angry and lose hope. You know what it feels like to skip a meal: you become lethargic and irritable. Imagine this gnawing feeling day-in and day-out plus the uncertainty of not knowing when you'll eat again. No child deserves to live like this.

Hunger and malnutrition contribute to a number of negative health consequences as well. For example, the infant mortality rate is closely linked to inadequate quantity or quality in the diet of the infant's mother. The United States ranks 17th among developed nations in preventing infant deaths. The infant mortality rate for African-American babies is higher than that, ranking 27th in the world, including Cuba and Costa Rica.

One government program entitled the Women, Infant's and Children Program (WIC) enables pregnant women and children up to the age of 5 to receive adequate nutrition with the help of food stamps. While it costs only $800 for good prenatal care inclusive of WIC participation, the average cost of caring for an infant born with low birth weight due to malnutrition is $8000.

Since the 1980's, there have been drastic federal cutbacks in food assistance programs. More than one-third of the increase in poverty among families with children since 1979 would not have occurred if government programs had as much impact today in removing families from poverty as the programs did in 1979.

We must take up the responsibility of caring for the children of our nation. Support local government programs such as WIC, school lunch and breakfast programs, child care food programs and the food stamp program. Don't discriminate. Every human being deserves the right to food security, especially in this prosperous country we call home. Take care of our children and they will take care of you.

What can I do?

• Volunteer at a local soup kitchen.
• Eat lower on the food chain - one less burger a week.
• Walk for hunger in a crop walk (organized on World Food Day at local churches across the country).
• Drink one less soda a day and donate the money to an organization such as UNICEF.
• Look for Check Out Hunger in America tickets at your local supermarket check out counter.

What's being done?

The following are some non-profit, non-government funded community outreach programs in New Jersey.

Food Banks are large food distributors for various group feeding sites such as food pantries. They get their food from producers, manufacturers and retailers. The Community Food Bank of New Jersey located in Hillside, distributes between 10 and 14 million pounds of food annually.

Food Pantries are private community based organizations. They rely on donations from food banks and from the community-at-large. Pantries provide mainly non-perishable foods to households in need.

Soup Kitchens are local organizations that operate primarily on donations. They are generally open to the public and offer daily or weekly meals in which participants gather for a congregate meal. Tony's Soup Kitchen in Montclair located at First Congregational Church serves a hot home-cook meal daily at noon.
Pathways To The Future

The Career Experience
by Ronald R. Rittenhouse

My experience at Montclair State has been ruled by a conscious attempt to avoid the bureaucracy. Every now and then I do, however, get an itch to get involved with something, but mostly I ignore the craving and it goes away. For about a year or so I contemplated going into the co-op office - just to see what it was all about. Last year I was hearing a lot about co-op, every month or so I received a letter from the office telling of the great opportunities available, and then there were co-op student representatives coming into my classes, selling their tales. They said it was easy to get involved and that the experience was invaluable. I said, "Yeah, right."

In the back of my mind, though, there was a voice that was screaming - "What are you going to do? You need to get a job, but what do you have to offer?" the inevitable question echoed "English? What are you going to do with a degree in English?" With all this in my mind I decided that I needed to some form of experience or else I would never be given a chance in the job market.

So I went to the co-op office thinking that if it was going to be a major hassle I could just leave. However, to my surprise, there was no hassle. I told the receptionist that I was interested in co-op, she gave me a form to fill out and sat me down to watch a video. After the video a co-op advisor gave me a student profile form to fill out and I took a gander at the job books. After I turned in my profile, I started signing up for jobs. I wrote my name down for almost every job that wanted an English major and some other interesting jobs, periodically checking in to see if there were any new listings. Within two weeks I received a call and set up an interview.

The worthwhile experience begins when you go on interviews. Unlike the interviews for the handful of part-time jobs I've had, the interviews I went on through co-op were real world experience. The interviewers asked those infamous interview questions, like "What do you have to offer us?, Why would you like to be with us?, Where do you see yourself in five years?" My second interview proved to be the charm, I was confident and showed an interest, and I was offered a position.

I spent my summer at the Williams Center for the Arts where my duties were writing press releases, drafting letters, and assisting the Executive Director. I was part of a team, participating in the "real world" not in hypothetical classroom theory. The experience paid off well: I gained confidence in my ability to perform in the professional world, my computer literacy improved, I made a great reference, and I now have the all-important work experience. When I look in the classified ads, I know with a degree of certainty, what type of job I want to go after, and how much I am qualified to do. If I had not taken co-op this past summer I would not have a clue as to what I would be doing after graduation.

GRADUATE & PROFESSIONAL SCHOOL FAIR

Wednesday
October 19, 1994
11:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m.
STUDENT CENTER BALLROOMS A, B & C

Plan to attend:
"The Admissions Process" 11:00 a.m.-12:00 noon

Representatives from the following schools will attend:

Banuch College
Bloomburg University
City University of New York Grad. Center (C.U.N.Y)
Columbia Univ. School of Social Work
Columbia Univ. Teachers College
Fairleigh Dickinson University
Fordham Univ. Grad. School of Arts and Sciences
Fordham Univ. Grad. School of Social Service
Hofstra University
Hunter College Dept. of Urban Affairs
Iona College-Rockland Campus
Medical College of Pennsylvania & Hahnemann Univ
Monmouth College
Montclair State University
New Jersey Institute of Technology
New School for Social Research
New School for Social Research Grad. School of Management & Urban Policy
New York Medical College Grad. School of Health Sciences
New York Univ. College of Dentistry
New York Univ. School of Education
Pace University
Pace University
Rutgers University
Seton Hall Univ. Dept. of Public Administration
UMDNJ-School of Health Related Professions
UMDNJ-School of Osteopathic Medicine
Upstate Medical University
University of New Haven
Wurzweiler School of Social Work
Yeshiva University

Sponsored by
Career Services
655-5194
Students came out Wednesday night to perform and watch the Lip Sync contest put on by CLUB in the Rat.

McDonalds of Little Falls Rt 46 East Welcomes Back MSU Students

STOP IN FOR THESE GREAT SAVINGS

• 99¢ Lunch Specials
• Value Meals Starting at
  $2^2$ Breakfast
  $2^2$ Lunch
• Buy one get one FREE with “NSDC” card
  - Available at Student Government Association and valid all year!
• 3$ All you can eat Sunday Buffet
• We’ll accept any competitor’s coupon.
• Coupons on back of all sporting event tickets.

• 24 HOUR DRIVE THRU SERVICE

$1^2$

Any Breakfast sandwich
McDonalds
Little Falls
12/31/94

Now Hiring, flexible schedules around your classes. Also, call us to help sponsor your college event. We offer huge discounts for large orders.

Friday's at
The C.G.I.

Party with Tau Phi Beta
"The Bulls"

$5 Pitchers of Beer
and $1 Shoot Specials
ALL NIGHT

Happy Hour Specials
$1.50 Bar Drinks Till
11 PM and $2.00 Bar Drinks till 12AM

$3.00 Admission
$2.00 Admission with Greek Letters or College ID
Proper ID Required

30 Pompton Ave (Rt. 23) Cedar Grove, NJ 201-239-8911

The most exciting STAR TREK event of 1994 will not be televised!

DEEP SPACE NINE
THE NEXT GENERATION
Starting in October

Available at:
TIME WARP COMICS AND GAMES
584 Pompton Ave Cedar Grove NJ 07009
Ph: 857-9788 Hours Mon-Fri 11-9 Sat-Sun 11-4
ENTERTAIN YOUR IMAGINATION
“Simplify, simplify.”
Henry David Thoreau

“Hey, that’s not a bad idea.”
AT&T

AT&T Universal MasterCard. The credit, cash and calling card. All in one.
The AT&T Universal MasterCard. No annual fee—ever. Access to cash at over 350,000 locations. Plus an AT&T calling card. Because life should be contemplated. Not complicated. Call 1-800-438-8627 to request an application.
For whom LeBel tolls

The Fantasy...

Parking has long been a problem on MSU’s campus. Now finally, after years of students and staff alike scratching their heads on what to do, a solution has come from the administrative ranks of MSU itself. Park where you want! Block throughways! If you can’t get your favorite spot, make one close to it! Dr. Phillip LeBel, Dean of Business Administration, is who we have to thank for this amazing new concept.

The Reality...

Parking in reality is a major problem, and yes, we’ve all heard the “Clove Road Defense”, but unfortunately the faith in the shuttle system isn’t quite there yet. So we press on and do what we have to. In a pinch, some even opt for the $15 parking special. Dr. LeBel’s parking of his vehicle on the road is not your average parking story. Here’s what happened.

LeBel has a spot reserved for him. He pulled up, saw a car in his place and parked his car behind the vehicle in the middle of a lane in the lot. The MONTCLARION was at the scene and saw several spots available in the area. He did not even receive a ticket. Can you imagine the fuss that would ensue if a student decided to park in the middle of the road? Can you say tickets? Towing? You better believe it. The MONTCLARION thinks LeBel should have at least received a $15 special.
Guns are the answer!

Recently we've had a few incidents at this university of ours in which we had some violent episodes involving some of our students. You probably read about it in the _Montclairion_. I am really just plain fed up. This violence and crime must stop, and I mean now. MSU is ranked first in overall crime, which is outrageous. We are second in car thefts, and second to violent crimes. CAN YOU BELIEVE THAT? MSU is ranked number one university, as you should too. How in God's name are the students that live on campus? Do you feel really safe knowing that the police department which is here to protect us really can't? If you disagree with me then you should wake up and SMELL THE COFFEE! We shouldn't have to put up with all of this nonsense. What has to happen before we realize that our rights are being violated?

Peter Kazella
Junior

R-E-S-P-E-C-T, that's what the talent show means to me

"Trace your history and please do not be surprised if you end up in Africa"

I am writing this letter as a student concerned about race relations on this campus. Please do not perceive my letter as one that bashes other races, but as one that demands respect.

First of all, Homecoming is a time for all students on this campus, not just white students, or black students, etc, to get together and show some school spirit. If we all agree upon this, then keep this in mind as you read the rest of my letter.

At the Homecoming King and Queen talent pageant some friends of mine and I witnessed something that needs to be talked about. The African and Latin American students that attended showed an ample amount of respect for our white peers. I can honestly say that not one rude remark was made about the white contestants as they performed, even if it was having sorority sisters sing a song with profanity while drinking beer through a funnel. Although this is not the kind of talent one would expect to see at a "talent" pageant, it was viewed with respect.

However, as soon as Damon Pearson, an African American male, got up on stage to perform a song with some class and dignity, a lot of the white students in the audience began to talk and make rude remarks. He did not receive the same respect that he gave to his opponents or to the members of the audience. Such behavior persisted when I got up on stage to display talent that included both culture and creativity, I was not given the respect that I deserved. One white male even had the audacity to blurt out, "Take that shit back to Africa" (or something to that effect.) All I have to say to that man is, trace your history and please do not be surprised if you end up in Africa. Maybe you blurted out what you did because you did not understand what I was doing, but if you would have asked me after the show, I would have been happy to rescue you from your ignorance and explain to you what I was doing.

Finally, another offense at Homecoming Queen, Blanca DelRio, a Latin American, was disrespected in the same manner as my partner and I were. She was displaying "real" talent, a dance from her culture, and on the other side of the stage there was a white male shouting out "Shake it baby!" as if he were in some go-go bar. If this is not blatant racism and disrespect to one's person and one's culture, then can someone please tell me what is?

Even though this is a predominantly white university, the events that are held on this campus are not just for white students. It is a shame if some of us think they are, but hey, it's reality. I do not want you to change your ways or the way in which you think, but when an African or Latin American student (or any other non-white student) decides to take part in an event on this campus, we do not ask that you like us, but we definitely demand that you give us the respect that is due.

In conclusion, this is not a race bashing letter, so do not take offense to it. But if indeed you do take offense to it, then it is obvious that you were one of those students who were being rude and disrespectful.

Peace,
Tracy A. Smith

Those darn pamphlet pests!

Last week after exiting my classroom, I had the most unfortunate occurrence of meeting the meek, repugnant, pathetic eye sore who was pandering near the steps of our own MSU student center. Upon closer review, I noticed the outrageous newsletter in his slaty hands - "The Militant." Behind him were a multitude of pamphlets containing such anti-American concepts as Socialism, Marxism, and Communism. Except for the multitude of pamphlets containing such anti-American concepts as Socialism, Marxism, and Communism. Except for

With all respect to our great Constitution, I also believe he has the right to think, feel and speak his mind. If, however, this is how he feels, maybe he should leave. After all, since we do not seem to have any problem with letting people into our country, I am certain we will not have any problem letting them out.

Let it be known, that it is because of our government, and because of the nation we live in, that this fiend was able to stand there and above this crap down our throats!

Michael P. Rubino
Junior
How to interview with the Fortune 500 without even getting out of bed.

OK, graduate-to-be. You can get up early or you can get Career/NET. It's simple: You give us your resume in a personal profile on the disk we provide. And we guarantee to deliver it to 10,000 employers (including the Fortune 500) in exactly the form they're looking for. Your Career/NET enrollment kit—a preprogrammed disk and a booklet of step-by-step instructions—is $99.95.* To be in the next nationwide distribution to employers, order today. Call 1-800-682-8539.

*Plus $4.95 for shipping and handling.
There are no words to describe the chaos which unfolded at last night's SGA meeting.

I have never (and coming from a 5th year senior that's saying plenty) NEVER been so speechless over an SGA meeting. Sure, the SGA has botched our before, but nothing has ever even come close to last night. Attila held more civilized and organized meetings!

For those of you who have experienced SGA gridlock and verbal diarrhea in the past, quadruple anything you've seen before. For those of you who have never had the pleasure, I assure you it is as much fun as visiting your proctologist.

Only one piece of legislation was discussed at this now infamous meeting and even that wasn't resolved. You may ask yourself, what kind of issue would provoke over two-and-a-half hours of debate and end up with every third person in the room at each other's throat?

SGA legislator Onix Noa proposed a financial bill on the floor of the legislature which, if passed, would allocate the funds that would allow CLUB to "send four every third person in the room at each other's throat? Who and how many were the "people pursued" to support any action the U.S. took against countries that were communist or deemed so?" (Italics are mine.)

Fleischman gives a highly questionable account of the meaning of the epithet "politically correct." Though the writing is a little hard to decipher, it seems to claim that "PC" is a label maliciously applied to "anyone who is trying to build a more suitable [sic] and humane world without totally relying on the ideas of capitalism or conservatism." Why bother with all that language; why not just tell the general consumer of print that people who call them that are bad guys, and those who call them that are bad guys?

Fleischman opposes pairs of words such as "free press" vs "propaganda machine", and "allies" vs "satellite countries." In the context of the piece we are to accept that these terminologies are examples of the "special pleading" fallacy. The gist is that both sides are up to the same mischief, but the U.S. finds a euphemism for its own conduct while assigning a pejorative term to that of its enemy. Again, the question is begged: is that really so?

Even if we grant that the U.S. government produces propaganda, and that we suffer a kind of censorship by the press, does this equate to the notorious censorship of the press characteristicly imposed by communist regimes? As for Fleischman's equilibrium of allies and satellites, would anyone assert that Holland was a satellite country? Would anyone deny that Hungary was?

But there is special pleading here, alright. It's in the very tendentiousness of the article: by a neat trick of omission all the blame falls on one side. Though it masquerades as an impartial essay on the abuse of language, it is itselfa factional political barangue. Its message is not "language is misused" as it pretends, but "American government, military agents and rightists misuse language." Nowhere is there any suggestion to the reader that communists and other leftists ever even resort to the misuse of language; let alone that they have distinguished themselves in the field. An unsophisticated reader could come away with a very distorted impression.

Fleischman is entitled to write propaganda of course, as long as he's candid and scrupulous. But if he's disingenuous or careless about his purpose he deserves to be accused of the same "misuse of the English Language" that he affects to criticize.

---

Point of ORDER!

Submitter: Rick Leto

There are no words to describe the chaos which unfolded at last night's SGA meeting.

I have never (and coming from a 5th year senior that's saying plenty) NEVER been so speechless over an SGA meeting. Sure, the SGA has botched our before, but nothing has ever even come close to last night. Attila held more civilized and organized meetings!

For those of you who have experienced SGA gridlock and verbal diarrhea in the past, quadruple anything you've seen before. For those of you who have never had the pleasure, I assure you it is as much fun as visiting your proctologist.

Only one piece of legislation was discussed at this now infamous meeting and even that wasn't resolved. You may ask yourself, what kind of issue would provoke over two-and-a-half hours of debate and end up with every third person in the room at each other's throat?

SGA legislator Onix Noa proposed a financial bill on the floor of the legislature which, if passed, would allocate the funds that would allow CLUB to "send four every third person in the room at each other's throat? Who and how many were the "people pursued" to support any action the U.S. took against countries that were communist or deemed so?" (Italics are mine.)

Fleischman gives a highly questionable account of the meaning of the epithet "politically correct." Though the writing is a little hard to decipher, it seems to claim that "PC" is a label maliciously applied to "anyone who is trying to build a more suitable [sic] and humane world without totally relying on the ideas of capitalism or conservatism." Why bother with all that language; why not just tell the general consumer of print that people who call them that are bad guys, and those who call them that are bad guys?

Fleischman opposes pairs of words such as "free press" vs "propaganda machine", and "allies" vs "satellite countries." In the context of the piece we are to accept that these terminologies are examples of the "special pleading" fallacy. The gist is that both sides are up to the same mischief, but the U.S. finds a euphemism for its own conduct while assigning a pejorative term to that of its enemy. Again, the question is begged: is that really so?

Even if we grant that the U.S. government produces propaganda, and that we suffer a kind of censorship by the press, does this equate to the notorious censorship of the press characteristicly imposed by communist regimes? As for Fleischman's equilibrium of allies and satellites, would anyone assert that Holland was a satellite country? Would anyone deny that Hungary was?

But there is special pleading here, alright. It's in the very tendentiousness of the article: by a neat trick of omission all the blame falls on one side. Though it masquerades as an impartial essay on the abuse of language, it is itselfa factional political barangue. Its message is not "language is misused" as it pretends, but "American government, military agents and rightists misuse language." Nowhere is there any suggestion to the reader that communists and other leftists ever even resort to the misuse of language; let alone that they have distinguished themselves in the field. An unsophisticated reader could come away with a very distorted impression.

Fleischman is entitled to write propaganda of course, as long as he's candid and scrupulous. But if he's disingenuous or careless about his purpose he deserves to be accused of the same "misuse of the English Language" that he affects to criticize.
REVIEW: the comedy-thriller Death Trap

by Frank Reilly

In our lifetimes there are certain realities to be learned, such as death, taxes, etc. Well, after checking out the Mainstage Theatre’s production of Ira Levin’s comedy-mystery Death Trap, I remembered an important one: I’d forgotten a while back: never assume anything! This show’s got more twists and turns than Monte Carlo racetrack.

Which brings me to a problem: how does one go about explaining this play without giving away the plot? In chatting with Jim Ligons, the director, I learned that when this play first appeared on Broadway in 1977, the big critics (Clive Barker, et al) also had a problem writing reviews without giving it away. So I guess I’m not alone.

So okay, I’m gonna try and give you a rundown without getting flaming arrows shot at me from the gang at Mainstage.

Death Trap is a play within a play, about a play (sort of). Y’see, the main character Sydney Bruhl (Tim Fiorello) is a washed up playwright who hasn’t had a hit in so long, he doesn’t know what bothers him more, lack of prestige or lack of money. So he’s trying to get back in the big leagues. Ever at his side is his loving wife and confidant Myra (Maria Ryan). Though a bit uptight and nervous (who could blame her with the company they keep), she’s a nice enough gal.

Into their lives walks college student Clifford Anderson (Gregory Amend), a wanna be playwright and guy Friday who winds up being Sydney’s assistant (go figure) and alleged cohort in a manuscript (Death Trap).

I will not say more than that except things are made a bit more complex by the presence of their psychic, German neighbor Helga ten Dorp (Florence Ann Lapiccia) and Sydney’s rather dull but possibly el-sneako lawyer (Chuck O’Conner).

All the ingredients for a good murder-mystery are here, adultery, money, jealousy, double crossings and revenge! However, in all candor, some of the comedy scenes fall flat and some of the death

Coming up...

The MONTCLARION will provide free listings of your A&E events if you drop a note off to Kelly Schab, the A&E editor, by Friday at noon. You can also reach her at her e-mail address: E5303011@apollo.montclair.edu

EVERY WEDNESDAY

MUSIC – Live, at the Rathskeller – watch local bands perform! Maybe you’ll discover the next hot group to hit the airwaves.

Thursday, Oct. 13

MUSIC – Luis Miguel will be performing at Radio City Music Hall Oct. 13-15.
THEATER – MSU Theater Series presents Ira Levin’s comedy/thriller, Deathtrap. It runs Oct. 13-15 and 20-22 at 8 p.m. and Oct. 15 and 21 at 2 p.m. Tickets are $9.00 standard; $7.00 for senior citizens.
COMEDY – Sinbad will present his solo comedy act live at the State Theatre in New Brunswick. There will be two performances at 6:00 p.m. and 9:00 p.m. Tickets are on sale now for $29.00 and $15.00 and may be purchased from the State Theatre Box Office located at 15 Livingston Avenue in New Brunswick by calling (908)246-7469 or at TicketMaster locations by calling (201)507-8900 and (212)307-7171.

Sunday, Oct. 24

CHILDREN’S FARE – “Garfield’s Furry Tales” will be presented at 1 and 3 p.m. in Memorial Auditorium as part of the School of Fine and Performing Arts’ Great Events Family Fun Series. All tickets are $10 and special group rates for birthday parties are available. For more information or tickets, call the MSU box office at (201)655-5112.

MUSIC – The Mainstreet Band performs at the Cambridge Fashion Show at 7 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 15. Tickets are $10 standard; $8 for senior citizens and the show starts at 7 p.m. For more information, call (201)655-5112.

Sunday, Nov. 14

FILM – The Last Temptation of Christ. This highly controversial film was directed by Martin Scorsese. Part of the Montclair Protestant Foundation’s Free Film Series, it will be shown in room 178, New Humanities and Social Science Building at 7 p.m. Discussions after the film will be led by Rev. Dr. Robert Price of the Montclair Protestant Foundation.

REVIEW: Ed Wood

by Robert Leftfer

Once again director Tim Burton (Beetlejuice, Edward Scissorhands, The Nightmare Before Christmas), has offered moviegoers a chance to understand and relate to the eccentric side of life with his new biographical film, Ed Wood. Recent inductee to the “Celebrity Hotel Room Trasher Club,” Johnny Depp takes on the title role as Hollywood’s infamous “Worst Director of All Time” while Sarah Jessica Parker plays Dolores Fuller, Wood’s equally talentless girlfriend, who struggles to understand and accept him.

The film opens when Ed is at the age of 30 - broke, a closet transvestite, a dreamer who has passionate aspirations of making blockbuster films, but unfortunately doesn’t have the talent to even make mediocre ones. Sadly, things don’t change much for Wood.

The movie chronicles the more successful period of Wood’s life (before the horror porn and alcoholism) as Ed befriends and recruits various little or no talent “freaks” to make his three most famous films, Glen or Glenda, Bride of the Atom and Plan 9 From Outer Space. Ed’s entourage proves to be as incoherent as his movies. Bill Murray gives a suave and comical performance as Bunny Beckenridge, Ed’s confidant whose only wish is to go to Mexico and get a sex change. George “The Animal” Steele, ex-WWF wrestler, is cast perfectly for the role of the bumbling and unintelligible Tor Johnson. And Jeffery Jones, whom member of our generation will most likely remember as that idiotic principal from Ferris Bueller’s Day Off, stars as the debo-nary, but phony psychic, Criswell.

One of the more praise-worthy performances is Depp’s. He truly makes Wood a likeable person and a convincing artist with a vision. Most entertaining are the movie-making scenes in which Depp, clad in a orange sweater, is filled with the same vigorousness as Wood, never taking time to reshoot scenes filled with obvious mistakes (for example, Tor Johnson not being able to walk through a door properly).

continued on page 23
Ed Wood continued from page 22

But the actor who steals the movie is Martin Landau who gives a stellar performance as Bela Lugosi in his last years when he was a Hollywood has-been and a morphine addict. Landau dominates every scene he is in, making Lugosi seem so mysteriously intriguing, and yet at the same time, so humanly limited.

Ed Wood tries to offer all a movie should to an audience. The scenes range emotionally from depressing (Ed pondering in bed if he'll ever really become anything) to hilarious (Bela battling a giant rubber octopus on the movie set after displaying a fit of Tourret's); to terrifying (Bela detoxing from morphine); to thought-provoking (Ed receiving advice from Orson Welles on how an artist can't compromise his vision); to uplifting (Bela re-creating his movie lines with a passion on a Hollywood street); to, for Ed professing his cross-dressing fetish on his first date with future wife Kathy, played by Rosanna Arquette.

Yet there is something missing from Ed Wood for it to be called a great movie. Perhaps it is impossible to make a great movie. Perhaps it is impossible to make a great movie about such bad movies. Most likely Burton didn't set out to make his masterpiece, but just wanted to pay homage to someone who helped open up the doors for him in the world of movie-making. Burton may capture Wood's life with style and pizzazz, but the truth is this film may be best viewed, like Ed Wood's movies, on video instead of the big screen.

Death Trap continued from page 22

scenes suffer major over-acting. This may not necessarily be the fault of the actors; it is a comedy-thriller and may well have been written like that.

In fact, all the actors were extremely good, except Lapidussa who, I thought, put on a supreme performance (if she would ease up on the accent a tiny bit!). I also thought the set design was excellent; the lighting and sound also. Kudos to the rest of the crew.

Other interesting trivia about this endeavor, the costume design supervisor Amy Horvath is a recent graduate of MSU. There is also Jim Legos who is in his second year directing Mainstage and teaching BFA directing. The man who choreographed the fight scenes, Rick Sordelet, will be choreographing the half time event at this year's Super-Bowl.

Anyway, I had more than a couple of what-the-hell-is-going-on-here's and unflappable as I am, was on the edge of my seat more than once. So I highly recommend Death Trap if you want to see one of the last great mind-benders. Just leave your second-guessing at home.

Mainstage's next production will be The Taming of the Shrew.
C.L.U.B.,
Conservation Club,
and
S.I.L.C.
Bring to you a:
White Water Rafting Trip
At: The Poconos
Friday, October 21st-Sunday October 23rd
ONLY $29 per person!!!!!
$47 for non-students
Seats for the trip are on a first-come, first-serve basis (limited amount of seats).
For more info or to reserve a seat, call the C.L.U.B. office at x 5232, or stop in at any of the tri-sponsor organizations.

FREE TRIP FROM CLUB
“Have a Heart”
The newest Talk show on T.V. will be aired LIVE, and we are giving you the opportunity to go... FOR FREE!!!!!
All you gotta do is go to the FREE CLUB office or:
call MIKE ROESSNER FREE at x5232 for a good time.
The FREE trip will be on October 20th and the FREE bus will leave at 2:45 to return by 5:30.
!!! ALL FOR FREE !!!

CLUB IS A CLASS ONE ORGANIZATION OF THE SGA
TOWN PUB
378 Broad St., Bloomfield
743-9557

COLLEGE NIGHT MONDAY NIGHT FOOTBALL
THURS.- W/ SURROUND SOUND
75¢ Drafts $1 DRAFTS \ ALL
$5 Pitchers 10¢ WINGS \ NIGHT
$1.50 Drinks all nite $1.50 PITCHERS
Shot specials
D.J. Music

25¢ DRAFTS!

25¢ DRAFTS!

MONDAY NIGHT FOOTBALL
W/ SURROUND SOUND

$1 DRAFTS \ ALL
10¢ WINGS \ NIGHT

25¢ DRAFTS!

25¢ DRAFTS!

VERONA INN

VERONA, NJ

ESTABLISHED 1947

FAT TUESDAY
Coldest Beer in the hemisphere...Hottest wings on the planet!
Your Mugs: Bring in your favorite mug, trophy, bedpan-whatever & we'll fill it for $1.50
OUR WINGS:
Unlimited wings 25¢
NO PETS ALLOWED!!!

MSU THURSDAYS

$4.00 Pitchers DJ Funkmaster KEVIN
$4 Coors Light Hourly shot specials
Cheap Beer...
... great tunes!
Shirt and shoes required!!

SKI AND LEARN DURING WINTERBREAK 1995!
JAN. 2-13, 1995

TWO CLASSES AT:
MT. SNOW SKI RESORT
MT. SNOW, VERMONT

COURSE #1
MSU SCHOOL OF PROFESSIONAL STUDIES, DEPT. OF HOSP.

SKI & RESORT MANAGEMENT
PERL 349 - JAN. 2-13 AT MT. SNOW
THIS UNIQUE CLASS COMBINES CLASSROOM TRAINING IN HOTEL, VOLUME FOOD SERVICES, RECREATION AND TOURISM MGT. WITH A REAL AND SIGNIFICANT WORK EXPERIENCE!!
LABORATORY FEE INCLUDES:
11 NIGHTS DELUXE CONDO LODGING, 10 DAYS LIFT TICKETS, AND OTHER SPECIAL FEATURES!!
$369 PLUS TUITION

COURSE #2
SKIING - ALL LEVELS
PEGN 266 - JAN. 2-6 OR 8-13
INCLUDES: LIFTS, LESSONS, DLX. CONDO, FOR 6 DAYS AND 5 NGTS., OR 5 DAYS 4NGTS. $299-279

REMEMBER - THESE CLASSES ARE SOME OF THE ONLY REMAINING CLASSES TO BE OFFERED THIS JANUARY. THEY MAY QUALIFY FOR CREDIT AS REQUIRED COURSES WITH SPECIAL PERMISSION FROM YOUR DEPARTMENT. FOR FURTHER INFORMATION ABOUT ALL DETAILS AND REGISTRATION CONTACT: DR. JACK SAMUELS AT 655-7073
"THE FAR SIDE"
By GARY LARSON

While their owners sleep, nervous little dogs prepare for their day.

"Calvin and Hobbes"
by Bill Watterson

While their owners sleep, nervous little dogs prepare for their day.

"Calvin and Hobbes"
by Bill Watterson

"THE FAR SIDE"
By GARY LARSON

"Calvin and Hobbes"
by Bill Watterson

"Calvin and Hobbes"
by Bill Watterson

CULTURAL IDIOCY QUIZ ANSWERS

1. E.T.: The Extra-Terrestrial
2. Alien Nation
3. Aliens: The Unidentified
4. Close Encounters of the Third Kind
5. A Moment in Space
6. Roswell II
7. Humanoids from another Planet
8. The War of the Worlds
9. Mars Attacks
10. Mars, Planet of the Apes
11. Alien Nation
12. King Size
13. The Brain
14. "What?"
15. "What?"
16. "What?"
17. "What?"
18. "What?"
19. "What?"
20. "What?"

"The Answers!!"
Cultural Idocy Quiz

Alien Life Forms

DIRECTIONS Name the movies in which creatures from outer space perform these acts:
1. Make bicycles fly
2. Incubate young in humans' chests
3. Hold summit with earthlings at Devil's Tower
4. Turn people into lifeless pods
5. Proclaim
6. Papal stage brings new life to old folks
7. Brings a dead deer back to life
8. Do Jimmy Durante impressions
9. Terrorize Antarctic research team
10. Use camouflage to hunt Arnold Schwarzenegger
11. Form cop team with human officer
12. Remain dead in trunk of car
13. Ooze and expand to cover an entire town
14. Help residents of New York tenement save their home
15. Derive chemical energy from human orgasms
16. Do Jimmy Durante impressions
17. Come to Earth to obtain water for dying planet; become addicted to TV and alcohol instead
18. Pose as FBI agent to track down vicious alien who invades human hosts
19. Observe race relations in Harlem
20. Resurrect dead people to conquer Earth; fly paper plate-shaped saucers

Your Real Horoscope

by Ruby Wynner-lo
A.A.B. Prominent Astrologer

Aries (Mar. 21-Apr. 19): Visits to the produce department become less and less frequent as you are continually outwitted by the cunning banana. The grocer is deaf to the taunting cackles of the yellow devils.

Taurus (Apr. 20-May 20): Gravity becomes your nemesis when you are forced by circumstance to tote a burdensome parcel of sticks and twigs up a steep incline.

Gemini (May 21-June 21): Don't be surprised if your fundraising for conservative causes earns you nothing more than a clammy ill Bennett, and not the promised lingering kiss from economist Thomas Sowell.

Cancer (June 22-July 22): You strive to lead a Christian life, but your afterlife destination is determined by playing Satan in a game of Whack-A-Mole.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Chalk up financial troubles to the position of Mars and the effects of the silent "E."

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): You're delighted to awaken to the sound of chirping birds until you realize that their muffled twitter is emanating from inside your colon.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 23): Good penmanship is the key to defeating Illegiblo, the slop monster.

Scorpio (Oct. 24-Nov. 21): Deft conversational employment of the term "akimbo" earns you thousands of tons of quality veal.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): The relaxation ordinarily provided from lounging in a spa will be impeded by the unexplained, spontaneous appearance of deadly fluorine gas.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): The delicate scent of s'mores wafts into your office, reminding you of the lazy afternoons spent canoeing on Camp Pocket, and of how you and Alan Schmidt brutally snuffed out the young life of that fat kid in your cabin.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Your television acting career will hit high gear as you are paired with Nastassja Kinski in a steamy police drama. You'll find your calling as a class 2 career vig deliverperson.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 23): Good penmanship is the key to defeating Illegiblo, the slop monster.

Scorpio (Oct. 24-Nov. 21): Deft conversational employment of the term "akimbo" earns you thousands of tons of quality veal.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): The relaxation ordinarily provided from lounging in a spa will be impeded by the unexplained, spontaneous appearance of deadly fluorine gas.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): The delicate scent of s'mores wafts into your office, reminding you of the lazy afternoons spent canoeing on Camp Pocket, and of how you and Alan Schmidt brutally snuffed out the young life of that fat kid in your cabin.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Your television acting career will hit high gear as you are paired with Nastassja Kinski in a steamy police drama. You'll find your calling as a class 2 career vig deliverperson.

Ruby Wynner-lo dedicates this horoscope to the memory of the late Tony Randall. We'll miss you, Tony.
Ideas that SEGA™ didn’t like.

by John J. O’Sullivan

Not unlike 99.9999999% of residents here at Montclair, I am a SEGA™ nut. You will always find me in my room with my little control pad playing endless games of MKII™, Eternal Champions™, Sonic III™, and Barney’s Fun and Games™. So I being the ever so nice guy that I am, figured that I’d give SEGA™ some ideas for some really cool games that I’d play for hours. I even gave them press releases, to make their job very darn easy. But, to my distress, THOSE BASTARDS TURNED MY PROPOSALS DOWN! I was outraged! All of my hard work and dedication for NOTHING! Well, at least they can be used for a column (frown). Read them below, and see what you’re missing on your Genesis™ system!

Brady Kombat™: “Nothing, nothing, nothing, nothing, nothing can prepare you for BRADY KOMBAT™! America’s most well-known family battles it out to find out who is the most powerful martial arts fighter. Amazing finishing moves are packed into this overly bloody, family-oriented cart, like the “Sunshine-Day-Vomit-Decapitation” move, where Jan, songstress of hell-fire, sings the overly-sappy Brady song ‘Sunshine Day’, until her opponent vomits their head off. Neat-O! Only the best “Brady Brawler” will be able to defeat the evil ninja/maid Alice, who with her “Vacuum-O-Death” and “Mystery Meat of Doom” holds the neighborhood in terror. Brady Kombat™: Go out and buy 49 today!”

Virtura-Racer™: Montclair Parking Edition – “The challenge goes beyond the race in the special MSU edition of Virtura-Racer™! Finish the race in beautiful Upper Montclair, NJ and try to find a parking space for your one-o’clock class. Numerous obstacles will be in your way, such as: cars, people, potholes, pot-heads, and various small cuddly creatures (50 points for the stuffed bear!). Try to get to the spot before the evil “spot vultures” come and take it from you. An exciting and VERY challenging (bordering upon impossible) game!”

Toe-Jam and Earl Get Real Names™: “Everyone’s favorite mutants from outer-space come back in this action-packed cart! In this episode, they venture to the local court, to get their names changed, since they really hate their names. (Can you imagine being named ‘Toe-Jam’? That has to suck.) After they change their names, they must find the computer programmer that named them “Toe-Jam” and “Earl” and they must kill him using the “Sunshine-Day-Vomit-Decapitation” move. A fun treat for all!”

So just think, fellow Montclarites. YOU WILL NEVER, EVER play these games, because of those really naughty people at SEGA™. Start a letter writing campaign, and sooner than later, you may actually be performing the “Sunshine-Day-Vomit-Decapitation” move on Greg! Bye now!

John J. O’Sullivan’s motto: “Early to bed, early to rise...oh forget it, get me another beer.
Classifieds...

Room and Board in Montclair in exchange for babysitting. Drop and pick up four year-old at corner bus station. Some evenings. Babysitting. Call Monick at (201) 698-8012 day.

Immediate openings for part-time drivers for Fairfield messenger service. Must have a clean driving record. Hours are flexible - can work around your class schedule. Minimum $7.50 per hour. Call (201) 277-9315.

Part-time health food store, flexible hours, Cranford, NJ. Knowledge or interest in nutrition necessary. (908) 276-4270.

English tutor needed for 13 year old child. Must be good with children. Call 227-1851 a.m.

Part-time telemarketing. Seeking enthusiastic people to compliment our staff. A.M., afternoon, and p.m. shifts available. Salary and commissions, average $8-$12 per hour 227-8802.

SPRING BREAK ’95 America’s #1 Spring Break Company! Cancun, Bahamas, Daytona & Panama! 110% Lowest Price Guarantee! Organize 15 friends and TRAVEL FREE! Earn highest commissions! Call at (800) 32-TRAVEL.

Babysit Glen Ridge toddler. Transportation provided. Weds. 3:30-7:30 thru Dec. 14th. $20 weekly 429-9655.

African-American Montclair Mom seeks babysitter for two boys, three and six months. Two to three days/wk. 8:30-5:30. Must be a driver, non-smoker and experienced. Call 509-2132.

Montclair - Room in private home - male college student - non/smoker - light kitchen privileges - parking available - $80/week - available now - 746-3809.

Needed: driver with own car to take four 12 year-old girls from Montclair school to homes every Monday 3:45-4:30 p.m. and every third Friday 5:30-6:15 p.m. Excellent references required. $15/trip. Call 744-3943.

Seeking reliable, organized, responsible individual for after-school childcare. Responsible for 4-7 children ages 9-14. Responsibilities include helping with homework, transporting to/from after school activities, etc. Mondays-Fridays approximately 2:30-5:30. Salary between $6 and $10/hr. Must drive own car. Call 746-3451 after 7 p.m.

Two rooms for one or two female students. Located in Upper Montclair, within 10 min. walk to the college. Bus to New York and Newark three houses away. Light kitchen privileges. Call 744-8925.

Non-smoking, professional female seeks same to share spacious, newly renovated two-bedroom apartment. Very convenient location. Call (201) 812-6234.

PT receptionist for fast-paced office. Must have pleasant phone manner, good organizational skills and transporation. Please call (201) 857-3100. Ask for Chris or Diane.

Child care needed after school and some evenings. Must have experience, references, and car. Please call Marcy at 509-7358.

Spring Break ’95. Cancun, Bahamas, Jamaica, South Padre, Margarita Island, Panama City, Daytona Beach. Breakaway tours is now hiring campus reps to sell our trips. Travel free + earn $$$! Call 1-800-214-8667 or 1-908-828-4688 (NJ). Trip discount just for applying! Let’s go MSU!!!

STUDENT FITNESS MEMBERSHIPS

30 DAYS for just $25

College Students Must Ve Full-Time Undergraduate, 18-25 Years, and Show Current I.D. Card

227-4000

YOGI BERRA’S FITNESS & RACQUETBALL CLUB
333 FAIRFIELD BUSINESS CAMPUS, ROUTE 46 WEST, FAIRFIELD, N.J. 07004

- Free Weights
- Daily Aerobics Classes
- Treadmills-Exercise Bikes
- Stair Climbers-Rowers
- Saunas, Whirlpools
- Racquetball
- Wallyball
- Tanning Salon
- Use of Facilities 7 days Per Week
- No Long Term Commitment
- Clean, Spacious Locker Rooms and Workout Areas
To Pinky:
Don't let those jealous bitches upset you. If you don't know already some jealous girl is sweating your style. I won't mention any names, but she lives in BOHM!
Back the F up!
PS - Thanks for the dance! You really can move. From, you know who (XXXOXOXOX-OX)

April - Didn't Calle kick you out of the paper???? - Rich (Roommate)

Tanis (AIX) - hey Sigma remember Nu's were first so you can be my friend - love ya, Michelle #123

Chrisie - AIX - I wonder where they're going? It must be a "tree" thing. Love, your big #123

Detats - AXP - Are you confused? That's what I thought. Good luck!!! Michelle - AIX

Ooookkkkkkkkkkkkkk Maaagoooo!!!!! You've done it again!!!!!!!

Vic and Elmo have moved. The House of Pain is in 409 Bohn. Sorry Smoke! -Victor

Big shout out to my big brother dave. Why Penguin?????

Tricia and Kristen (AIX) thanks for your creative sexual fantasies!

Good luck with pledging Kristina & the rest of you guys! Love always, Elmo.

AIX pledges and Sisters RULE! Good luck to all the Senate pledges (Stay Strong)! -Elmo Emily, You're the greatest lunch date! -Casanot.

Dion (Blanton Hall) Why are u creeping around with that fake & phoney girl? Do you like artificial things? U need a real woman. Not somebody that buy things to add on to their looks. U need me! I'm real all the way!

Secret Admirer

Conservation Club General meetings Tuesday @ 3:30 Rm 120 of the Student Center.
Denise - are we ever going to get out of here? -Barb

Kevin & Denise: Thanks for making the shuttle to Clove so much fun. You really cheered me up. Barnes & Noble anyone? -Barb

Sandy - The weenie will be cashmere again.

I remembered how good it used to be this weekend. Didn't you tell me to go for the best? -Rizzu

AIX Tau Pledge Class - Stick together & study hard! I love you guys! Love, Sister Kristen #153

AIX #154, I love you & let's have a beer. We've only got a couple of papers to write.

Love, #153

Carrie (AIX) - When are you coming in my All-Terrain Vehicle Again?

B- Sorry I've been so crabby! I love you! Love, Kristen

Stay Pepper - You're the best big ever! Love, Kristen

Michelle (Sigma) - I miss you, big! Love, Kristen

Carrie - AIX - Lite Ice, Blue Whales & where are the cadets? We need a road trip to W.P. real soon! -Michelle #123

Chrisie & Eileen - AIX - The "pseudo tree" hanging out Thursday was fun. You guys are the best.

Michelle #123

Puddin' Head Jr. - Thanks for bonding & fumigating! You're the best, don't change for anyone! -Puddin' Head Sr.

Sal - Are you and Mike an item now? I'm jealous!

Secret Admirer

Mike Night buddies — Can we tango next week?

-Ice Cream

Iggy (Delta Kappa Psi) - You look better without your "attachments". I love your underwear! -JC (Sigma)

Jean (Sigma) - I love you my "Prez".

-Coruso

To Delta Kappa Psi - I love you guys! Thanks for not "clownin' around". Let's kick some ass Saturday. Go locals!

Love ya! Coruso.

Anne Marie (SDT) - Rematch. Ma and Kathy vs. you and "Joe". Be there to redeem yourself. -Joanne (Sigma)

Mike (Delta) - Anything else missing from your room? Oh, by the way, if we don't get our money by Saturday, THE PIG IS DEAD!!! -Jo, Ang & Mich. - (Sigma)

Andrea S. (SDT), You're a great person! Best of luck to you.

Love, Joanne (Sigma)

I love Onyx!

Don't stress AIX pledges! It'll all be worth it! -#154

Ari, you have an admirer in 4 Walls. Guess who sexy?

Love ya! Your Secret Big

To Delta Kappa Psi Class - You kick A$$!!!

-Ice Cream

I'm crazy about you guys and value your friendship. Let's do sushi again, or should I say fumigate? Love, Maria (Editor-in-chief, 4 Walls)

Mike Night buddies— Can we tango next week?

-Ice Cream

Iggy (Delta Kappa Psi) - You look better without your "attachments". I love your underwear! -JC (Sigma)

Jean (Sigma) - I love you my "Prez".

-Coruso

To Delta Kappa Psi - I love you guys! Thanks for not "clownin' around". Let's kick some ass Saturday. Go locals!

Love ya! Coruso.

Anne Marie (SDT) - Rematch. Ma and Kathy vs. you and "Joe". Be there to redeem yourself. -Joanne (Sigma)

Mike (Delta) - Anything else missing from your room? Oh, by the way, if we don't get our money by Saturday, THE PIG IS DEAD!!! -Jo, Ang & Mich. - (Sigma)

Andrea S. (SDT), You're a great person! Best of luck to you.

Love, Joanne (Sigma)

I love Onyx!

Don't stress AIX pledges! It'll all be worth it! -#154

Ari, you have an admirer in 4 Walls. Guess who sexy?

Love ya! Your Secret Big

To Delta Kappa Psi Class - You kick A$$!!!

-Ice Cream

I'm crazy about you guys and value your friendship. Let's do sushi again, or should I say fumigate? Love, Maria (Editor-in-chief, 4 Walls)

Mike Night buddies— Can we tango next week?

-Ice Cream

Iggy (Delta Kappa Psi) - You look better without your "attachments". I love your underwear! -JC (Sigma)

Jean (Sigma) - I love you my "Prez".

-Coruso

To Delta Kappa Psi - I love you guys! Thanks for not "clownin' around". Let's kick some ass Saturday. Go locals!

Love ya! Coruso.

Anne Marie (SDT) - Rematch. Ma and Kathy vs. you and "Joe". Be there to redeem yourself. -Joanne (Sigma)

Mike (Delta) - Anything else missing from your room? Oh, by the way, if we don't get our money by Saturday, THE PIG IS DEAD!!! -Jo, Ang & Mich. - (Sigma)

Andrea S. (SDT), You're a great person! Best of luck to you.

Love, Joanne (Sigma)

I love Onyx!

Don't stress AIX pledges! It'll all be worth it! -#154

Ari, you have an admirer in 4 Walls. Guess who sexy?

Love ya! Your Secret Big

To Delta Kappa Psi Class - You kick A$$!!!

-Ice Cream

I'm crazy about you guys and value your friendship. Let's do sushi again, or should I say fumigate? Love, Maria (Editor-in-chief, 4 Walls)
C.L.U.B. presents...

Homecoming/Fall Fest ’94

-Thursday, Oct. 13th-
  Homecoming King and Queen Voting......Student Center......10-3 p.m.

-Friday, Oct. 14th-
  Pep-Rally............................................S.C. Quad.....1 p.m.
  Men’s Soccer vs. Stockton.......................................................8 p.m.
  Floatbuilding...........................................Lots 22&23......9 p.m., 2 a.m.

-Saturday, Oct. 15th-
  5K Red Hawk Classic Run........................Field House......10 a.m.
  Homecoming Parade..................................................Field House......12 p.m.
  Field Hockey vs. Trenton..............................................1 p.m.
  Volleyball vs. Stevens.....................................................1 p.m.
  TAILGATE............................................................Rat........3-7 p.m.
  Football vs. William Paterson.................................7 p.m.
  -Halftime Show, Fireworks, Cheerleaders
  -Post Game: Announcement of Parade Winners and Homecoming King and Queen

CLUB IS A CLASS ONE OF THE SGA

HAUNTED HAYRIDES

Starting October 7

ACRES OF HORRORS
GHOSTS, GOBLINS, CREATURES OF THE NIGHT, FRIGHTEN YOU OUT OF YOUR SKIN
LAUGHS, THRILLS & CHILLS FROM 7 P.M. TO 10 P.M.
FREE SPIDER CIDER & DEADLY DONUTS AT THE WITCHES CAULDRON
GROUP DISCOUNTS AVAILABLE

REMEMBER THAT HORRIBLE THING THAT LIVED UNDER YOUR BED WHEN YOU WERE 8?
HE WORKS FOR US!

CALL FOR RESERVATIONS
201-838-0100

HAUNTED HAYRIDES AT SUN TAN LAKE
106 Route 23 North, Riverdale, New Jersey
Red Hawks squeeze by Albany, 1-0

Men’s soccer has won six consecutive matches

by Brian Falzarano

They were inconsistent in their first six games. Now that they have won five matches in a row, they are a consistent team that could be reckoned with this year.

So goes the journey of the Red Hawks. You would be lying if you said it has not been a long and winding road. At least, it seems that way. But they paved a smoother path for themselves over the course of their six-game winning streak.

MSU earned its latest win up in New York against a tough Albany team by a 1-0 final.

Erik Neubart, who is now the Red Hawks (9-4, 3-2 NJAC) career scoring leader, tallied the only goal of the contest with 17 minutes remaining to give them the win. The senior back defender Kiernan Griffin from six yards out and blasted a shot between the left goalpost and goalkeeper John Jacobs.

Red Hawk netminder Mike Rodgers had five saves for his second shutout of the year.

Neubart now has 12 goals this year (28 points). For his career, he passed John Ioannu’s three-year total of 131 points by tallying two assists against Rutgers-Newark last Wednesday.

“He deserves it,” said Coach Rob Chesney of his record. “He earned it.”

But this week the hard times were over and the Red Hawks squeezed by Albany, 1-0.

They had to overcome being outplayed in the first half by Albany, a team that was ranked. Although Albany was unable to score, the Red Hawks were not up to par. Fortunately for them, they did not play themselves out of the game and Albany was unable to put them away. It was time to make some changes before it was too late.

At the intermission, Chesney decided to make an adjustment. To start the second half, he went with five midfielders, adding junior Dennis Mancero, who played well according to Chesney, to the mix.

Another adjustment was putting freshman defender Steve Patton on the top goal scorer for Albany. Making only his second start of the year, the Walkill Valley native was effective for MSU, shutting down Albany’s top goal producer.

As in the past when they were a sub-.500 team, Chesney was pleased with their effort. They have given up only four goals in the past six games. The defense’s improvement has been crucial.

“We have guys that have settled into their positions,” said Chesney, who declined to mention any names other than Carlos Hanze, who has played well at midfield in place of Melikin Noriega.

“The same group of guys have played well.”

Maybe they are just scratching the surface of their potential.

RED HAWK NOTES: Noriega played on Saturday on his injured hamstring. According to Chesney, it wasn’t the best thing he could have done.

“He didn’t aggravate it, but he didn’t help it,” said Chesney of the junior back from Hackensack. But the coach noted that hamstring injuries take time to heal.

Last Wednesday, MSU defeated Rutgers-Newark, 4-1 at Sprague Field. Steve Paduan scored his first two goals of the season. Hanze (second) and Julian Roca (first) added goals in the win.

Rodgers has 31 saves in 10 starts this year, putting up a 1.55 goals against average in the process.

EDITOR’S NOTE: The results of last night’s game versus Ramapo College at Sprague Field were unavailable to us at press time.

Things starting to look up for women’s soccer

by Joe Amoroso

MSU’s women’s soccer team has suffered its share of adversity this season. But this week the hard times were just a distant memory.

So they seemed. They struggled greatly on Tuesday against NJAC foe Richard Stockton, coming up on the short end of an 8-1 loss.

MSU (4-8-1, 2-4 NJAC), which saw its two game unbeaten streak snapped against the Ospreys, got its scoring from versatile senior Keri O’Meara.

The Red Hawks opened the week with an upset shutout victory over NJAC rival Kean College 2-0 at Sprague Field on Saturday afternoon.

Freshman midfielder Dana Rumpleton scored her second goal of her collegiate career to put MSU on the board with a 22-yard shot on pass from senior Keri O’Meara and junior Jen Polifrone with 14:30 remaining in the first period.

With a 1-0 lead on the board, the Red Hawks never looked back, the defense anchored by freshman goalkeeper Judy Lynn Schiavone. The Lyndhurst native stopped the Cougar offense, posting eight saves for her first career shutout.

With 20 minutes left to play, junior Renee Harraka notched her 10th goal of the season off a throw-in form Sophomore Chris Bohan to put the Red Hawks up 2-0 and seal the victory.

“We were ready to play,” said assistant coach Fernando Barboto, “Kean is a good team. The win was a real good one.”

Fresh off their victory, the Red Hawks hosted the Bears of Drew University on Monday night, and found themselves in for a real dog fight.

Drew jumped out to a quick 2-0 lead behind a pair of first half goals from Meredith Doll, but the Red Hawks never let up despite playing without two starters, who were sidelined by injury.

Harraka cut the Drew lead in half with a goal with 3:00 to go in the first period on his injured hamstring.

As in the past when they were a sub-.500 team, Chesney was pleased with their effort. They have given up only four goals in the past six games. The defense’s improvement has been crucial.

“We have guys that have settled into their positions,” said Chesney, who declined to mention any names other than Carlos Hanze, who has played well at midfield in place of Melikin Noriega.

“The same group of guys have played well.”

Maybe they are just scratching the surface of their potential.

RED HAWK NOTES: Noriega played on Saturday on his injured hamstring. According to Chesney, it wasn’t the best thing he could have done.

“He didn’t aggravate it, but he didn’t help it,” said Chesney of the junior back from Hackensack. But the coach noted that hamstring injuries take time to heal.

Last Wednesday, MSU defeated Rutgers-Newark, 4-1 at Sprague Field. Steve Paduan scored his first two goals of the season. Hanze (second) and Julian Roca (first) added goals in the win.

Rodgers has 31 saves in 10 starts this year, putting up a 1.55 goals against average in the process.

EDITOR’S NOTE: The results of last night’s game versus Ramapo College at Sprague Field were unavailable to us at press time.
Red Hawks plead no offense
Gain only 97 yards in 16-7 defeat at Kean

by Glenn Steinberg

It took the Red Hawks four games to reach the .500 mark and now it will take them at least one more game to reach that plateau once again. MSU fell short of winning their first conference game of the season by losing to the Kean Cougars, 16-7, in their NJAC opener in Union before 3,114 fans.

Saturday’s game marked the first game that freshman quarterback Brian Cooney has started this season for the Red hawks. Coach Rick Giancola said the move was made to start Cooney over senior Darren Volker because they needed to get more offense going.

“I thought we needed to get more spark in the offense,” said Giancola.

The Red Hawks (2-3, 0-1 NJAC) started off quickly by scoring on their first drive, though it turned out to be their only score of the game. After having two runs stopped by Kean (4-1, 1-1), Cooney hit wide receiver Dion Bernardini on a 63-yard touchdown pass on third-and-17. Scott Rubinetti’s extra point made the score 7-0.

Their celebration from the score did not last long, however, as the Cougars marched 80 yards downfield in 5:15. Quarterback Mark Cummings found receiver Anthony Robinson on a six-yard touchdown pass in the back of the end zone. That gave MSU a 7-6 lead after Dan Garrett blocked kicker Cosmo Amato’s extra point.

Early in the second quarter, MSU had a chance to increase their lead after Garrett recovered a Kean fumble on their 24-yard line. But Rubinetti missed a 43-yard field goal attempt. This miss came after Mike Green was stuffed for a two-yard loss and Cooney threw two incompletions.

On the afternoon, MSU’s offense struggled. They had factors going against them: starting tailback Neil Ruiz missed the game due to personal problems, the offensive line provided shoddy protection and receivers dropped many catchable balls. For the game, MSU only put up 97 yards of total offense, including -11 on the ground.

Cooney was ineffective, as well. He completed only one-of-nine passes for 27 yards in the second half, and was four-of-18 passing for 108 yards in the game. On the whole, MSU only gained seven first downs. But Giancola did not think his quarterback’s performance was all that terrible.

“After the game, I thought his performance was fair,” said Giancola. “After (watching) the films, I thought he played good.”

Other problems the Red Hawks had offensively were field position and the Cougar defense. Whenever they would force a fumble, it seemed as if they were always inside their own five-yard line. Then having to face a formidable eight-man front did not give MSU enough men to block. Therefore, many plays resulted in a loss of yardage or incomplete passes.

Kean went up 9-7 with less than a minute gone by in the fourth quarter after Amato kicked a 19-yard field goal. MSU’s offense still unable to muster any kind of scoring, Cummings again hooked up with Robinson on a play similar to the one they scored on before. This one went for only two yards, but it gave the Cougars a 16-7 lead.

This loss makes MSU’s next game, against William Paterson that much more crucial to salvaging their season.

“Our backs are against the wall,” said Giancola.

For women’s soccer duo, it’s a family affair

by Joe Amoroso

Brothers and sisters often have very little in common. When a common thread is found, it is even more rare that two siblings are fortunate enough to take part in the same activity at the same time and place. This season, the MSU women’s soccer program was the place for one such rarity.

Fernando and Pam Barboto have each been playing soccer since childhood, but have not been involved in the same program at the same time. All of that changed, however, when Fernando was hired as an assistant coach of the Red Hawks women’s soccer team. His sister Pam, a freshman, decided to come out for the team.

MSU soccer has been a fixture in the Barboto’s Paterson home since 1988, when Fernando arrived here and joined the men’s squad. He redshirted that year, but the midfielded had a distinguished career despite being hampered by knee injuries throughout his career.

After hanging up his MSU jersey in 1992, Barboto continued his soccer career with a stint in 1993 with the North Jersey Imperials, a professional team. This year Barboto, now 24, made his return to Sprague Field. But this time it was on the sidelines as a coach when his former teammate, Rob Chesney, took over as head coach of the women’s soccer team.

“Fernando is a good coach,” said Chesney. “He has knowledge and he loves the game, and knows how to get it across to the players.”

While her brother was playing for MSU, Pam was busy making a name for herself at DePaul High School in Wayne. After earning four varsity letters as a starter, Pam opted to follow in her brother’s footsteps here at MSU.

The 18-year old history major is currently starting at midfield for the Red Hawks and is quick to voice the benefit of having her brother with her on the field.

“Having Fernando as a coach has been great,” said the freshman midfielder. “When we get home after the games, he encourages me like a brother as well as corrects my mistakes like a coach.

Fernando was quick to comment on how his sister’s presence has an influence on him.

“I have to control my emotions,” he said. “When she gets pushed or something, I want to yell, ‘Hey, that’s my sister.’ But I can’t do that. On the field, I am her coach first.”

When Pam first joined the Red Hawks, she chose a jersey with the number 10 on it, the number her brother wore in his days as a Red Hawk. One has to wonder if this was Pam’s way of thinking her brother.

“He taught me everything I know about soccer,” said Pam.
Co-captain speaks of field hockey’s problems

by Kara Hartman

The MSU field hockey team had a winning season five years ago. In the 1990 season under the coaching of Debbie Ballaway, they were the ECAC champs. Today they stand 0-7-2 (0-4-1 NJAC) without a lot of optimism.

According to co-captain Jennifer Tracey, “It’s tough for the seniors and some of the juniors because we were 6-9-2 (last season) and we thought, ‘Oh great! We’re getting there!’”

How does a team go from ECAC Champs to four losing seasons? The field hockey team which has only 14 players (leaving just three substitutes) is forced to play with many injuries. Their sweeper, Tahira Mohammad, is playing with bruised ribs and their center halfback and co-captain Katrina Anderson suffers from shin splints. They’ve also had to create a goalie. Kelly Hanaway, the team’s present goalie, never played the position before but agreed to so that the team would be able to play.

The Red Hawks also lack moral and financial support.

“The only fans that you get are family members,” said Tracey. Because MSU is a Division III school, there are no scholarships for any sports. The only money the team receives is meal money (for away games) and equipment money which has been slow-coming. This is the first time in at least five years that they have received new goalie equipment. Their present uniforms date back to the same time. According to Tracey, “We’re lucky if we get an announcer - we’re lucky if we get lights (for a night game).”

There haven’t been many highights this year. As Tracey looks back on the season she says, “That’s sad - I can’t even think of any.” The biggest disappointments have been the Vassar Tournament and the William Paterson game.

MSU opened their season in the Vassar Tournament in New York expecting a sweep and finished 0-2, losing 2-1 and 1-0. Then on Sept. 24, MSU faced William Paterson at home and hoped to win as they had last season.

Injuries and inconsistency, according to co-captain Jennifer Tracey (left), are reasons MSU may have four consecutive losing seasons. Their defense has been one of the rays of sunshine for the Red Hawks. Tahira Mohammad has been very respectable this season.

They wound up losing in overtime 2-1. The problem in addition to lack of support and players, is that the team just doesn’t click. The defense is strong but the offense is inconsistent. They have only scored two goals this season.

Because of the injuries, many of the players can’t practice. Lately, there have only been about seven players practicing, and most of them are on defense.

Looking ahead to the future there are some players to look out for. Allison Severino, a sophomore, and Meredith Kane, a freshman, could be strong forces next season.

That is exactly what the Red Hawks need right now.

RED HAWK NOTES: Mohammed has been playing well. Another of the walking wounded, she set a new MSU single season record against Rowan on Oct. 4 with 32 defensive saves.

There are only three players of the Red Hawks who have scored. Kane and CHRISTY BROGLEY have managed the only two MSU goals this year, while Anderson managed an assist on one of the tallies.

Another item about Brogley: She is running for Homecoming Queen. Hanaway has been respectable with a 2.33 goals against average.

vonDoehren wins at Drew Invitational

by Damon Churchwell

A cross country runner loves nothing more than being out in front with nobody in sight. Micheline vonDoehren had that opportunity this past Saturday and made the most of it.

vonDoehren, a senior from Port Jervis, N.Y., finished 22nd in 19:45, surpassing Ramapo’s Bonnie Andres to record her first collegiate victory at the Drew University Invitational. The way she has run of late, it is unlikely that it is her last.

Although vonDoehren had considered not running because of feeling ill, she managed to muster up enough courage to win the race.

“I wasn’t feeling strong,” said the senior runner. “I kept wondering if I was going to collapse.”

Breaking from the pack early on, she spent the majority of the race in the lead, able to look back and not see any other runners. Her illness didn’t seem to affect her running. In fact, it may have fueled her desire to finish the race even more.

When asked if she was excited about her win at Drew as she was about her second place finish in the highly competitive NJAC/W Championships, she said she was not.

“I like to be pushed, and need to be challenged,” said vonDoehren. Tougher competition is an incentive for her, something of a kick in the rear.

As for her success thus far, vonDoehren attributes her success to personal focus, motivation, physical strength and the support of her coaches, Noreen Cassidy and John Brennan. Cassidy has shown great confidence in her abilities and Brennan was the one who got her to run for MSU.

Brennan had recruited the Port Jervis native for the Red Hawks. While vonDoehren had run often on her own, she had never run cross country. The closest she had ever come to running competitively was running the mile on high school team.

However, she plans to continue distance running for the rest of her life.

“It’s not just a three month thing,” she said.

Having competed in road races in her spare time, inexperience won’t be a major burden for vonDoehren. Imagine what she might be doing if she was experienced.

Women’s tennis downs Upsala to finish 7-3

by Nick Gastaifis

MSU found a way to cap off one of its best seasons ever with one of its best wins of the season.

The Red Hawks women’s tennis team, coming off of a fine showing in the NJAC/W tournament, capped off their 1994 season with an impressive 7-0 victory.

They swept all of the singles and doubles matches to improve their record to 7-3 (2-2 NJAC). Then on Sept. 24, MSU won its last match, 6-0, losing 2-1 and 1-0. Then on Sept. 24, MSU faced William Paterson at home and hoped to win as they had last season.

They swept all of the singles and doubles matches to improve their record to 7-3 (2-2 NJAC) this year. Coach Brian McLaughlin used Upsala’s lack of skill against them, playing 12 of his players during the course of the match.

“We used as many players as we could,” said McLaughlin.

Of the 113 games played in the match, MSU won a whopping 108 of them. McLaughlin said that cutbacks in the Upsala athletic department could have led to the lack of competition of his opponents.

Wendy Saladino (10-3, best record among singles) won her match at first singles, bageling her opponent, 6-0, 6-0. Senior co-captain Lisa Hand, playing in her final match, did the same at second singles.

Their season was to have ended this past Monday at New York University. However, due to facility problems, the match was cancelled. For those of you who did not know, N.Y.U. plays its matches on top of its athletic building in Greenwich Village. Any hopes for it being rescheduled are slim because N.Y.U. players had class conflicts.

RED HAWK NOTES: The match against FDU-Teaneck was also cancelled because the Knights were unable to field a complete team.

Some MSU leaders: The doubles team of LAURIE HOFFMAN and KELLY VORT were 6-1, MSU’s best record for any of their doubles teams that regular play. LISA HAND and Saladino were a respectable 4-3.

McLaughlin is pleased with the coverage his team has received. As opposed to past years, when people were not even sure they were a team. He also credited last week’s backpage of the MONTCLAIRON with showing that they have arrived.

“People used to come by and wonder if we had a women’s tennis team,” he said. “I hope those days are over.”
On the Ball
by Brian Falzarano

Get over it, Jet fans

It was supper time in the Jones house when the father, Dennis, started to carve the ham. His wife, Linda stood by him, gazing adoringly at him as he sliced the food that would go into the mouths of their two kids, Mark and Tiffani. After they said grace, they all started to pass the mashed potatoes and bread around the table, smiling as if they were a happy family.

Mark then decided to ask his father a question.

“What do you think of this year’s Jets, Dad,” said Mark.

“What do you mean, the Jets,” asked Dennis in jest.

“Do you think they will be a playoff team this year,” Mark said, in the naive belying his 14 years.

“You’ve got to be kidding,” said Tiffani, with Linda chasing her up the stairs soon afterwards.

“This has nothing to do with music, Dad,” said Mark. “I really think the Jets have a good team.”

“Good, schmood,” said Dennis. “They are so inconsistent. They could have the All-Pro team and still go 8-8. Please. (Takes a deep breath) Could you please let me eat in peace.”

“But the Jets have a lot of talent,” said Mark. “Ronnie Lott. Rob Moore. Art Monk. They have veteran leadership and a great deal of ability.”

“All right,” said his father. “They have talent. But have you watched the Houston Oilers lately? They have nine All-Pros and still cannot win a playoff game, let alone win a Super Bowl. Look at them now - the way they have played this year, they should be in the Canadian Football League.”

“You’re missing the point, the son,” said Mark. “Didn’t you watch the game on Sunday?”

“Yes I did,” said the father. “What’s your point?”

“My point,” said the son. “Is that the Jets have a lot of heart. Did you see the way Boomer came in and led them to a win.”

“He did it,” said the father, raising his voice. “AGAINST THE COLTS.”

“Fine,” said Mark. “Just don’t jump on their bandwagon when they make the playoffs. They’ll beat Buffalo again, beat Miami, beat Minnesota and Green Bay, Heck, maybe they’ll even go to the Super Bowl (his eyes getting wide).”

“Make the playoffs,” said Dennis, laughing. “Go to the Super Bowl. I’m willing to say that the only bowl the Jets will go to again is the one that I just got off of before. You’re ridiculous, son.”

“And you’re impossible,” said Mark, leaving the table after realizing his argument was lost.

“Leave the boy alone,” said Linda. “You encourage him to be creative and to be an individual. And then you stifle him and his views. Just leave him be.”

“I know,” said Dennis. “I would just like to see the boy like a real team. Like the Cowboys. Or the 49ers. Or the Giants. And have some common sense.”

Mark came back down stairs and said, “Maybe you’re right, Dad. But at least respect my opinion. After all I can dream, can’t I.”

“I do respect your opinion, son,” said his father. “They then hug each other in a heart-tugging moment. At this point, his father whispers in his son’s ear the following:

“If you think the Jets could be a Super Bowl team, you must be dreaming.”

The aforementioned conversation was meant as a public service announcement to Jet fans. Your team may be 3-3. Maybe they beat Buffalo. But you can hold me to this - they are no better than an 8-8 team. In fact, I don’t even think they are that good. Lets face it, they have 6-10 written all over them.

Thank you for your time, Jet fans. Now proceed through the rest of this season with caution.

Fearless Forecasts

BRIAN FALZARANO, SPORTS EDITOR: (7-13)

New England +1 over Jets. Draw your own conclusion.

Arizona +1 over Washington. Buddy deserves a beating.

Buffalo -10 over Indy. Colts running out of gas.

Saints +4 over Chargers. Saints will be Super in Dome.

GREG MACSWEENEY, EDITOR-IN-CHIEF: (7-12)

Dallas -9 over Philly. Sure, why not?

Buffalo -10 over Colts. You bet.

San Francisco -6 over Atlanta. S.F. is back on track.

N.E. +1 over Jets. Without Parcells, the Patriots are Patsies.

CHRIS HINCK, MANAGING EDITOR: (6-5)

Rams +3 over Giants. The Giants suck.

Dallas -9 over Philadelphia. It’s a big spread, but they’re amazing.

Jets -1 over N.E. Hometown favorite.

Cincinnati +14 over Pittsburgh. Pittsburgh won’t cover.

Washington +1 over Arizona. Cardinals are still recovering

THE PROPHET: (12-7)

Giants -3 over Rams. Need win after embarrassment at L.T.’s retirement.

N.O. +4 over San Diego. Could Saints be ones to put out the Chargers fire?

Dallas -9 over Philadelphia. Might as well have one easy win.

N.E. +1 over Jets. Yeah, well... why not?

GLENN STEINBERG, ASSISTANT SPORTS EDITOR: (10-6)

Giants -3 over Rams. Giants will break their losing streak.

Miami -4 over Raiders. Raiders suck.

Buffalo -10 over Indianapolis. Colts suck.

N.E. +1 over Jets. Jets really suck.

Fearless Forecasts

Glenn Steinberg, Assistant Sports Editor: (10-6)

Giants -3 over Rams. Giants will break their losing streak.

Miami -4 over Raiders. Raiders suck.

Buffalo -10 over Indianapolis. Colts suck.

N.E. +1 over Jets. Jets really suck.

Red Hawk Sports Week

Field Hockey:

Thursday, Oct. 11	FDU-Madison at MSU *
Saturday, Oct. 15	Trenton St. at MSU *
Monday, Oct. 17	Manhattanville at MSU
Wednesday, Oct. 19	MSU at William Paterson

Football:

Saturday, Oct. 15	William Paterson at MSU

36th Annual Homecoming

Men's Soccer

Saturday, Oct. 14	Richard Stockton at MSU *
Wednesday, Oct. 19	Vassar at MSU *

Volleyball

Saturday, Oct. 15	Stevens Tech at MSU #
Monday, Oct. 17	NYU at MSU #
Tuesday, Oct. 18	MSU at Jersey City St.

* - at Sprague Field, # - at Panzer Gym, @ - at Red Hawk Courts

If you want to know the scores of your favorite MSU athletic team, dial the MSU Sports Hotline for up to date results in Red Hawk Sports at 655-7645.

PARTING SHOTS

Just a couple of thoughts. Didn’t WARREN MOON look good against the GIANTS on Monday night. Once he gets his team to the playoffs, though, you can watch him choke the way he did when he was a HOUSTON OILER.

I guess I was wrong about NOTRE DAME. Hub. Don’t fret yet, Fighting Irish backers. They’ll take it out on BYU this Saturday.

My pick for the Heisman Trophy is NAPOLEON KAUFFMAN of WASH­INGTON.

Just because there is no one else. See you in seven.
Offense punchless in tough 16-7 loss at Kean on Saturday (Steinberg p.33)