Dauder orders Class One budget meeting

by Anthony R. O'Donnell

SGA President Francois Dauder has announced a modified plan to determine budget figures for Class One organizations. Under the new plan, officers of Class Ones will meet prior to appropriations review in order to "make a pact" about budget spending.

According to Dauder, Class One officers will have to bear new responsibility in how budget figures are determined. "In the past they've never had to face each other. Most of the time they don't see each other. Class Ones will have to participate in the process," he said.

Dauder said that this new stage in the process will help to address concerns and criticisms about amounts given to some Class Ones.

Under the existing procedure, appropriation committees of Class Ones were required to participate in determining budget spending of their counterpart organizations. "No one has ever taken the initiative to bring the overall concerns to the Class Ones," said Dauder.

Under the existing procedure, appropriation committee chairman Brian Cosgrove said that Class Twos and Class Three organizations, SGA appropriations committees.

Appropriations chairman pledges "drastic changes"

by Anthony R. O'Donnell

On the eve of Class One budget review, SGA appropriations committee chairman Brian Cosgrove said, "I anticipate drastic changes in Class One budgets (made) with the full support of the rest of the SGA Executive Board."

Cosgrove promised a more meaningful review of Class One budgets than has been provided by previous SGA appropriations committees.

Citing poor funding for Class Two and Class Three organizations, Cosgrove pledged to work toward more equitable spending of SGA funds. "(Class One) Organizations have gotten larger and larger and are not programming to the general student interest; they are programming to a select group or individual member preferences. For example, OSAU will only program what their individual members want to program. When's the last time a Class One polled the students on what their interest was?"

Cosgrove said that Class Twos and Class Ones are required to submit budget proposals to the SGA Executive Board for review by the treasury and SGA president. The Executive Board then issues a counter proposal which they discuss in a private meeting with representatives of the Class Ones in question. If the officers agree to the counterproposal, then that budget will be submitted to the appropriations committee for review. In the event of a disagreement, the original proposal will be forwarded.

The appropriations committee then reviews the budget and will make recommendations to the SGA legislature regarding the acceptance of, or desired changes for, the budget in question. The legislature then determines what treatment to give the budget.

Dan Lipper, a SGA legislator and Constitutional Review committee member, said, "I think Francois (Dauder) is just making work for himself. I didn't think this will change anything when all is said and done."

The modified procedure will add the step of Class One representatives' review and debate before submission of budgets to the appropriations committee. When asked whether this step was a usurpation of the constitutionally mandated right of, or desired changes for, the budget, Lipper said, "I think Francois (Dauder) is just making work for himself. I didn't think this will change anything when all is said and done."

The modified procedure will add the step of Class One representatives' review and debate before submission of budgets to the appropriations committee. When asked whether this step was a usurpation of the constitutionally mandated right of, or desired changes for, the budget, Lipper said, "I think Francois (Dauder) is just making work for himself. I didn't think this will change anything when all is said and done."

Repairs improvised for Dickson computer lab

by Lorren Magnus

A few weeks ago, the Dickson Hall computer lab was inconvenienced by a leaking ceiling caused by the wind, rain, and snow of recent storms. Maintenance assured that it would be no time before these hassles were taken care of and repaired. Also promised was a possible long-term solution to this harrowing problem. Despite this, recent speculations have maintained that even though Rooms 281 and 282 are now safe, Room 280 is still plagued by these water problems.

An MSU faculty member who wished to remain unidentified, said that maintenance has been late with repairs and that it took them two and a half weeks just to come up with a temporary solution, one of which prohibited four computers from being used.

The solution, put forth by maintenance when the problem first occurred, entailed a painter's tarp and a brown gutter being placed over those four computers in order to catch the leaking water. Therefore, those computers were unusable and further inconvenienced lab users.

Last Friday, according to the source, maintenance brought a different solution to the lab, but not necessarily a better one. This time maintenance put a catchment (a yellow sack hanging from the ceiling) and a hose in the ceiling to catch the leaking water. Therefore, those computers were unusable and further inconvenienced lab users.

(Approved text)
International
China Seeks to Control Internet: The Internet is just beginning, but the Chinese government already issued a set of rules to regulate its use - the latest in a series of moves to assert control over the flow of information in the country. Rather than cut access to the Internet, the rules appear to stem the electronic information through officially controlled ports that can monitor its flow.
Earthquake Kills 200 in the Yunnan Province: Measuring in at 7.0 on the Richer scale, the earthquake destroyed an estimated 186,000 homes, killed 200 people and sent as many as 300,000 people fleeing from damage. As the military mobilized for rescue work in the area, China appealed for international assistance.
First American Casualty in Bosnia: Bosnia has claimed its first American victim, Sgt. First Class Donald Allen Dugan, of Ohio. Dugan died last Saturday, and as of this moment, the cause of death doesn’t appear to be a land mine as first reported, according to a NATO statement issued Monday. The investigation is on-going.

National
Cold Wave Grips the Nation: As far as the Deep South, sub-zero temperatures hold the country in an icy grip, threatening citrus crops in Florida and causing 55 deaths to date. Temperatures are expected to moderate by the end of this week.

Governors’ Plan for Medicaid and Welfare Enters New Budget Talks: The nation’s governors have endorsed bipartisan proposals for overhauling the Federal welfare and Medicaid programs, sparking new communication between the White House and Congress. The proposals are said to be “middle ground,” providing coverage for the needy, allowing states much more flexibility in establishing their own standards for coverage. Although questions concerning reductions of benefits to children and the elderly have been raised and debated, a bill under discussion, it may be the first step towards a positive dialogue on the federal budget agreement.

Women’s Groups Unite in Washington: Organizers of the Feminist Expo aimed at a new generation of women in their 20’s and 30’s in their goals to preserve affirmative action during a weekend-long event in Washington. Attending the gathering were most of the feminist movement’s “old guard”: Gloria Steinem, Molly Yard, and Eleanor Smeal. Other topics discussed included racial and class issues, and social programs for the poor. The event aimed to “galvanize a whole new generation,” according to one organizer.

A New Era of Crime Surveillance: In their efforts to fight crime, American law enforcement authorities are not only watching but also listening, with technologically advanced equipment installed in streets and alleyways. The equipment includes video cameras and listening devices that pick up high-decibel gunfire in public areas. A suburb of San Francisco and a Baltimore neighborhood are currently experimenting with this project, but officials in most large urban areas are interested in implementing it. “The great thing about this is, if somebody commits a crime, we know almost instantly,” said a San Francisco police official. While most citizens’ groups welcome this new “neighborhood watch,” civil libertarians are concerned that the technology can appear to steer the electronic information through officially controlled ports that can monitor its flow.

U.N. Faces Cutbacks: The U.N. will have to lie office, he is likely to be measured on how his economic program in the Americas,” according to a diplomat. The main ingredient of the European integration plan, monetary union, may not meet its deadline because of slow economic growth in some countries and the inability to meet strict economic criteria in others. This realization has thrown a monkey wrench into Germany’s ambitious plan for total economic integration.

Rусский Не Сыт, Не Слышит: As many as 40,000 soldiers are stationed in the Chechen region, but rebels move about freely and are openly defiant of them. Although there have been sporadic attacks and clashes between soldiers, rebels, and villagers, the Russian troops are said to be demoralized and waiting to be called home.
U.N. Faces Cutbacks: The U.N. will have to cut 10 percent of its staff in New York City and seven other cities in the next two years.

The Montclarion is published weekly, except during examinations, summer and winter sessions. It is funded in part by student fees distributed by the Student Government Association, Inc. of Montclair State University. The views expressed in the opinion section, with the exception of the main editorial, do not necessarily reflect the views of The Montclarion.

Advertising Policy
DEADLINES
The deadline to submit advertising to The Montclarion is noon on the Monday immediately preceding the issue you are advertising in.
BILLING
The Montclarion is distributed on Thursdays, and invoices and tear sheets are mailed the following Monday (tearsheets for pre-paid ads must be requested). Thirty (30) days are given for payment after the insertion date, after which a 15% finance charge is levied, to given for payment after the insertion date, sixty (60) days, when accounts are referred to an outside collection agency.
AD RATES
Full page: $310.00
Half page: $200.00
Quarter page: $125.00
Eighth page: $80.00
Classified: (up to 30 wds.) $10.00
Call the advertising office at 655-5237 for a complete listing of discount packages.

Advertising Tel. 655-5237
Main 655-5169 Fax 655-7804
113 Student Center Annex
Upper Montclair, NJ 07043

Anthony R. O’Donnell ............Editor-in-Chief
Tom Tracy............................Managing Editor
Michael Roessner...................Treasurer

Kristina Mathison.................News Editor
Jean-Marie Navetta............Editorial Editor
Victoria Caldes...................Arts Editor
Erica Duncan...................Campus Life Editor
John J. O’Sullivan.................Humour Editor
Nick Gantafis.............................Sports Editor
Bob Czechowitz..................Sports Editor
Raf Ricci............................Asst. Editorial Editor
Erin Perry............................Asst. Arts Editor
Suzanne Feigel....................Asst. Campus Life Editor
Greg MacSweeney..................INU Coordinator
Brigitte Weigel....................Photo Editor
Tim Casey.........................Asst. Photo Editor
Jason Alders.......................Cartoonist

E-mail: SOLDATTOL@montclair.edu

ADVERTISING MANAGER
Kevin Schwoebel

GRAPHIC AND PAGE DESIGNER
Dr. George Petty

FACULTY ADVISOR
Dr. George Petty

The Montclarion is a student publication, and opinions expressed herein are those of the individual writers and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Editorial Board or the Student Government Association, Inc. of Montclair State University.
Budgets, con't from p. 1

of the appropriations committee's review power. Dauder described the Class Ones' review as an effort to achieve advance accord on budget figures. "Appropriations will proceed regardless. We want to get as much fat off that budget before appropriations has to deal with it."

Second-year legislator Lawrence Ramsey said, 'I don't see it as a usurpation of the appropriations committee's power. They can agree to what they will beforehand; nonetheless we will make our (the legislature) decision at the appropriate time.

"I think it's a good idea that the (Class One) organizations come together to decide how the pie is split up. My only concern is that the lions might prevent the lambs' getting their fair share," said Ramsey.

Class One, con't from p. 1

Class Threes depend on the unappropriated surplus pool for funding, which has "dwindled over the years," he said. "The fact is that the SGA gets half a million dollars and every cent of that goes to the Class Ones, so there's nothing left over for Class Twos and Threes."

Appropriations committees of past SGA legislatures have fulfilled their responsibilities in a perfunctory manner, said Cosgrove. He asserts that this will not be the case in 1996. "I'm not willing, as members in the past have been, to just arbitrarily give the students' money out without regard. I'm going to do things in committee that generally haven't been done before," he said. "I plan on cutting the spending that has shown to fund ineffective events.

Greg Freyer, a SGA legislator and Class One organization member, said, 'Even as a Class One member, I believe we can do more with less. Instead of an increase we're willing to take $2,000 less. "There's a lot of excess fat that can be cut off in organizations like mine," said Freyer.

Cosgrove anticipates a less-than-enthusiastic reception for the role he intends to play in the appropriations process. "I would imagine I'm going to get a lot of static from Class Ones as committee chair."

Union likely to set strike deadline on Friday; Contract talks stall

by Greg MacSweeney

The American Federation of Teachers will meet this Friday night to discuss the possible setting of a strike date and other alternatives for a solution to the ongoing one and a half year contract negotiation, said AFT Local 1904 President Dr. Catherine Becker.

The latest contract was offered to the union approximately two weeks ago, said Becker.

"The latest offer is outrageous. It is not a fair and equitable way to operate," said Becker.

Becker would not confirm that a strike date will be set on Friday night, but she added that it is a possibility and the subject will most likely be discussed.

A "Strike Headquarters" is currently being set up in the basement of the Newman House. Equipment and additional phone lines will be installed over the next few weeks if there is no settlement.

"There's a lot of excess fat that can be cut off in organizations like mine," said Freyer.

Cosgrove anticipates a less-than-enthusiastic reception for the role he intends to play in the appropriations process. "I would imagine I'm going to get a lot of static from Class Ones as committee chair."

Join the Montclarion. General Membership meetings are every Monday @ 5 p.m. in rm 113 Student Center Annex. No experience is needed.
Retired MSU Spanish Professor
Dr. Norman Fulton dies

by Tom Boud

The MSU academic community is holding a special ceremony in honor of former MSU Spanish professor Dr. Norman Fulton. Fulton died on Jan. 10, 1996 in Cordoba, Spain after a long illness. The ceremony will be held on Feb. 14 at 3:45 p.m. in Room 178 of Dickson Hall.

Adele White of Personnel Services said that Fulton served in the Spanish Department from September 1972 to December 1984. According to MSU faculty sources, Fulton served as chairperson from 1972 to 1981.

Fulton started the Hispanic Community Program Internship in Law in 1977 which provided Spanish interpreters for needy, non-English speaking clients.

Fulton also established La Biblioteca De Autores Espanoles (Library of Spanish Authors) in the Sprague Library as a tribute to Spain’s literary heritage. "He was very fond of literature as well as contemporary Spanish theater. He was instrumental in collecting volumes for the library," said Spanish professor Dr. Joanne Engelbert. "He had a very wonderful wife who is now living in Spain. We miss Amparo (his wife) very much."

Spanish professor Dr. John Zahner also reflected on Fulton. "His main contribution was his administrative expertise, which has never been matched. He was effective as chairperson, and he always did his best. He was always interested in the well-being of the department. He was there to rally the troops, and enjoyed what he did."

German professor Dr. John Moore reflected on Fulton from the standpoint of personal friend. "He was very witty and outspoken. He was adamant about maintaining academic standards and did not hesitate about criticizing people who did not maintain them. He was a very charismatic person because he could win over anybody if he wanted to. He was also very popular with students because he took interest in their activities."

Legal Studies Chairperson Marilyn Taylor reminisced about Fulton from her days in the Spanish Department. "Dr. Fulton provided very strong leadership and began a lot of successful things. At one point, he was responsible for overseeing 20 faculty members. Dr. Fulton was very supportive of the Hispanic Community Program Internship in Law which provided much needed Spanish translators for people with legal problems. He put this program into place which is now part of our Paralegal Studies Program."

"He taught me a lot of leadership and administrative skills. He was a very encouraging and supportive person in good times and bad times. I remember him very fondly because of how helpful he was to me," said Taylor.

Anybody wishing further information about the ceremony can call Dr. Taylor at 655-4196 or Dr. John Moore of the MSU German Department at 655-7504. Richardson computer lab flooded

by Joseph A. Cervqueira

Eighteen computers in the Richardson Hall computer labs rooms 107 and 108 were damaged when the second floor was flooded with water after a pipe burst, said Cliff Gillman, assistant director for Academic Computing.

According to Ed Oberhofer, associate director of Facilities Maintenance, the flood was caused by a radiator pipe that burst. He said that the damage had no relevance to the recent storms and has since been repaired.

Gillman said that the pipe that burst was on the second floor of Richardson Hall in a faculty office. Subsequently, the water unexpectedly seeped through the floor into the computer labs in room 107 and 108, which are located directly below the office.

Gillman also said that a couple of machines were damaged in room 105 as well. "Total damages done to all of these computers are unknown at this time, and won’t be available until they dry out and are tested," he said.
water. They also removed the tarp to free up the four previously confined computers, but it is still potentially dangerous should the ceiling tiles fall again.

The source also revealed that the company brought in to refurbish Russ Hall, is the same company that built Dickson Hall and possibly caused the leakage problems in the first place.

"Control Construction did the construction in Dickson Hall, and currently they are doing the construction in Russ Hall," said Planning Assistant Director of Facilities George Mellon.

Mellon said that the problem is caused by a leak in the extension joint between the taller and smaller buildings. "The water has been migrating through the wall and into the classrooms. It could be a problem with the construction of the building," he said. "We’ve been working on the problem in Dickson Hall for a year and a half to find the cause."

"We’ve been working on the problem in Dickson Hall for a year and a half to find the cause."

Volunteers Needed for Alumni Phonathon

by Liz Volman

The Alumni Association is looking for volunteers to make calls during their Annual Fund Phonathon, which will run nightly from Feb. 19 - 22 until Feb. 26 - 29, in order to raise funds for MSU.

The state provides less than 60 percent of the university’s operating funds, and 75 percent of undergraduates receive some sort of financial aid. Therefore, the private support given by alumni, faculty, staff, parents, and friends of MSU is essential. And helping with the Alumni Phonathon can be an advantageous experience for all sides involved.

"Working with the Alumni Fund Phonathon is a great opportunity for a lot of reasons. Students work side by side with faculty, staff, and alumni to gain support for the university and that support benefits us all," said Deborah Winger, MSU’s Annual Giving Coordinator.

It is because of fund raisers like these that MSU can open its doors to so many students. Along with scholarships, the money raised will help provide faculty support, research for student/faculty projects within the community, as well as university support through materials and programs. Therefore, it is critical that volunteers come out since their help plays such an integral part in making the Alumni Phonathon a success.

"Not only does the phonathon benefit the school, but it's a way for alumni and students to get to know one another in an environment that's both fun and exciting," she said.

Each night will start with a complimentary dinner which will be served from 5:30 p.m. Then, after some basic guidelines are explained, calling will begin and will continue until 9:00 p.m. Every night, a $25 prize will be awarded to whoever raises the most money that night.

First, second, and third place prizes will be awarded to the organizations ($250, $100, and $50 respectively) and to individually ($100, $50, and $25 respectively) who raise the most money overall. Plus, free "volunteer" t-shirts and other prizes will help to make this phonathon fun, as well as worthwhile.

This is a great chance to give back to our university which offers so much. To sign up involved in the Alumni Annual Fund Phonathon, either stop by the Alumni House which is located right off-campus at 34 Normal Ave., or call 655-4141 for further details.

Cliff Gillman, assistant director of Academic Computing, claimed that maintenance is working on the problem to catch the water. Gillman said, "and I have been assured that maintenance will be bringing in a contractor to try and find a long term solution. Maintenance is doing the best they could possibly do to solve this problem."

Maintenance could not be reached for comment at press time.

News/Thursday, February 8, 1996
SGA mid-term review: 4 out of 7 ain’t bad

by Cherl Melone

The SGA has succeeded in coming through on 60 percent of their campaign promises, a study by the Montclarion shows.

In April 1995, all of the SGA Executive Board pledged to serve Montclair students by promoting many different programs. The following is a list of the E-board promises and the results.

• Promise: President Francois Dauder claimed that he would like to offer a "free elective which would inform students of the different organizations on campus." Dauder proposed to make the Freshman Seminar class mandatory for students instead of optional.
  • Result: To date, there is no free elective for students and the Freshman Seminar class remains optional.

• Promise: Vice-President Julio Marenco vowed to "attempt better control of the SGA meetings. In previous years, some SGA meetings would run from 4:00p.m. until 11:00p.m., and I did not want to continue this trend," said Marenco.
  • Result: The latest an SGA meeting has run this semester is 8:51 p.m., said Marenco.

• Promise: Vice-President Marenco said he hoped "to enact a student self-defense program that would be funded in part by the SGA and would be free for students."
  • Result: The SGA did not enact the student self-defense program because the campus police already have the same program. Instead, "we will give the program free publicity and possibly a donation if it is approved. That was one thing that pretty much got taken care of for me."

• Promise: Secretary Lauren Pytleski said she would work hard to make students want to be involved on campus.
  • Result: Pytleski spoke twice last semester at the Second Career Students Orientation, and plans to speak three times this semester in an effort to familiarize both weekend and night students about different activities on campus. "I want this to be a seven-day-a-week school, not four or five," said Pytleski.

• Promise: Pytleski wants to give the SGA Scholarship Fund more exposure. "We had 12 scholarships offered last year to all undergraduates and would be free for students."
  • Result: The SGA's budget has dropped from $575,000 last year to $535,000 this year, even though student fees were raised. Loake maintains that although "some of the Class One organizations were cut, I think." Legislator Tom Tracy feels that the E-Board has done an adequate job. They haven't done anything extra special, they are just doing their job."

"I am basically pleased about the E-boards performance, but I think communication could be better," said legislator Tom Wischmann, "for example, I just found out that the Spring Conference will be held on February 9. It will be a big waste of money because many legislators already have other plans."

The SGA has succeeded in coming through on 60 percent of their campaign promises, a study by the Montclarion shows.
Arctic cold greets African-American celebration

by Matthew Connolly

Last Thursday, a crowd braved biting cold winds to witness the flag raising that marked the beginning of a schedule of educational and social events throughout February, African-American Heritage Month at MSU.

President Reid read a proclamation declaring the aims of the program and expressed his hope that through the various events all people may gain a greater understanding of each other. A traditional African libation ceremony followed where thanks was given to all those who helped pave the way for African American Heritage Month to exist. After each persons name was read, the gathering chanted a reply in Swahili to show their affirmation.

Upon raising the flag, President Reid joked "Couldn't we find a warmer month than February for African American Month!" The laughing group then dispersed into the Student Center to seek shelter and sustenance.

Later everyone gathered in the Student Center Ballroom to hear Dr. Leslie Wilson explain the origins of African Heritage Month. He emphasized how as part of the struggle against oppression and for liberation, African Americans sort support comfort and strength from their roots. He told how Marcus Garvey developed the black, red and green flag, that had earlier been raised, to represent the skin color, the blood shed and the land. And how Garvey also wrote an anthem 'Land of our Fathers' to give further identity to the African history. Wilson went on to say that as Africa is regarded as the birth place of Man then everyone is African. That we should stop looking at things in terms of black and white and look forward to an African unity. A video presentation followed entitled 'Black Excellence-Leaders.' In this, leaders in the black community told of their personal struggles to overcome poverty and segregation to achieve success.

Douglas Wilder, the first black governor in the US told how as a student he saw laborers digging in a ditch and it hardened the desire in him not to slip in his studies to strive to do his best. Mary McLoud Bethune's story of how she went from picking 250 pounds of cotton a day at age nine to advisor to president Roosevelt was also aired. Marian Wright Edelman described her struggles against racism and segregation as a civil rights lawyer in the South. She said she kept on struggling, kept on being a pest to get things done. She went on "Blacks have already overcome slavery and segregation so we should never give up but have pride." James P. Comer, writer of 'Maggie's American Dream,' the story of his mothers life, perhaps captured the essence of the days events best when he quoted the Langston Hughes poem 'I too, am American.'

Storytelling African style

by Anthony O'Donnell

"There are two sides to every story," said storyteller Jamal Koran in his presentation of "African Roots to African-American Fruits." The event was held in the Student Center ballrooms at 1:00 p.m. yesterday, as part of OSAU's ongoing celebration of African-American Heritage Month.

Koran eased the audience into an intimate exchange with African song and percussion then told a two-sided story. The point of view was of a king who challenged a village to win a debate or be enslaved. "But it must be a silent debate!" the king cried.

An old woman accepted the challenge then went blow-by-blow with the king. He held up an open hand, she a fist; she thrust up two fingers, he drew out a spoiled sandwich, she a hen's egg. "I cannot believe it," the king said, "you have beaten me in the debate!"

The king then recounted to his queen how he had held up an open hand meaning "I will scatter your people like my fingers," and the woman had held up a fist saying "my people will remain united and strong;" how he showed two fingers meaning two gods: him and the god of heaven, and she showed one for the one true God; how his rotten sandwich symbolized the decay he would cause her people, and how her perfect egg symbolized the freshness and constant rebirth of her people.

The woman's account to the villagers was different. Her fist was a punch to respond to the slap of his open hand; her one finger was to protect her. Three Stooges style -
Dear Career Services,

Q: I read in the newspaper that the hospitality/tourism industry is one of the largest in the nation. How can I find out about jobs within that industry?

A: The best place to start researching the diverse jobs within the hospitality/tourism industry is the Career Library in Career Services. You'll soon discover that literally hundreds of jobs for all skill levels exist within food service, lodging, and travel, the three main segments of the industry. As in any field, the more training, education, and experience you acquire, the greater your chances for advancement.

Whether your passion is cooking, selling, teaching, business management, or writing, jobs utilizing these interests exist within the industry. As you begin to identify potential positions, you'll find information about educational requirements, typical duties, salary ranges, employment and advancement prospects as well as the addresses of professional associations, programs and training centers.

Once you have a clearer idea of appropriate areas to research further, take advantage of Career Services' Alumni Network, which might provide the name and phone of an alumn in the hospitality industry who has volunteered to do information interviews with interested students.

The best way to pick a minor is to identify an area of study that either interests you a lot or helps to make you more employable. With some thought about your future, 18-24 credits can really work.

continued from pg. 7

from his poking her eyes; and as for the last round, "he pulled out his lunch, so I pulled out mine!" the woman cried.

Koram emphasized the student's need to appreciate both sides of any question. "Scholarship and research are about finding out about the other side," he said.

"Stories come from every here," said Koram. "If I were Jewish I would tell Jewish stories; if I were Irish I would tell Irish stories. I happen to be an African-American/African storyteller." But Koram acknowledged his willingness to adapt interesting materials from other traditions into African-styled stories.

Write for Life. Contact Erica or Sue for more information at x-5169

Koram told a poignant myth story on the origin of beauty in the world.

A young man an a woman each sacrificed themselves out of compassion for the other's suffering. While fatally trapped the heat of their embrace melted them into a sweet oil which amazed onlookers then rubbed onto their bodies in the belief that it must be magic. These people were said to have become beautiful as a result, and that is how beauty was thought to have come into the world.

At the end of the story Koram addressed the audience, saying "It's not known what became of those people, but looking around this room I think you must have had ancestors who came from that village, because you look marvelous!"
The Real World
by the students of the Co-operative Education Program

by Glory A. Ozdogan

Co-op—Cooperative Education—has been a God-sent for me. Since my transfer to Montclair State from Bergen Community College, I have been vacillating between two paths: a Ph.D in Psychology or MSW, a Master's Degree in Social Work. The former is a long and arduous road and it is necessary in order to have a private practice. The latter, MSW is a shorter path that allows one to start a practice with only a Master's Degree. Co-op gave me the opportunity to make my final decision, as

The last day of Fall '95, when walking on campus after submitting my term papers I was so drained that I missed the feeling of elation I usually experience when finishing my semesters. Yet, I realized how changed I was after the "co-op" experience. I had accumulated invaluable information/knowledge that I could not possibly have acquired otherwise.

My co-op was with the "Community Mental Health Services." From the first first day, I was treated like a member of the staff, attending morning staff meetings, treatment meetings, clients' meetings, staff training sessions and so on. The first few days I was disoriented by the pace of the events taking place; it was not long before I learned to adjust to the flow of the daily schedule. Remembering all the staff and clients' names was a challenge. I walked around with a notebook glued to my hand, jotting down every bit of information.

I had access to clients' files and treatments in order to familiarize myself with their mental health and with the establishment's rules and regulations. I attended and participated in the workshops and I was appreciated for my enthusiasm, and eagerness to learn the workings of the "services" and for establishing a very good rapport both with staff and clients. I worked very hard to please my superiors, co-workers and clients while learning to adjust to the new environment. I felt that I was given a bonanza of experience and I felt compelled to reciprocate with my best. I had sessions of supervision which helped me grasp the mechanisms of the Community Mental Health Services-Partial Care facility. I learned about the vocational, the community re-entry, the token economy, the discipline and the daily routines.

Before long, as per the job description, I was assigned three clients and was given the title of Mental Health Assistant. My three clients were very different people so I had to develop different approaches in order to be able to "reach" them. On Fridays, I assisted a staff member in the "special events" which are outings to various museums, to bowling, to apple picking etc. I was taught to enter data, and was asked to make a small presentation of the statistical data that compiled. When the CMHS went on a retreat in order to renew the yearly program, I was invited to join the staff. When my suggestions were appropriate they were adopted. I learned to write clients' progress notes which are specific in their style. I was given ample time to familiarize myself with the DSM-IV and clients' condition. I was given research papers concerning Mental Health Facilities; and, I realized that the establishment where I was doing my co-op was a copy of the model described in the literature. Co-op made me realize that I was not cut out to become a social worker but a psycho-analyst and I am more suited for an academic career. Without co-op I would have never known for sure where I stood.

Among the co-op requirements were weekly reports written to a designated faculty member. I was lucky to have Dr. J. Schwartz who was very receptive to my concerns. These weekly reports, although drudgery to some, to me were priceless. They were the medium with which I could vent my concerns, opinions. Co-op overall was a necessary experience after the academic teaching of the classroom. A community mental health center doesn't work like a textbook or a research paper. It is a different approach and it is meant to be expedient.

I enjoyed my status as a trainee student because I worked with cooperative and friendly people that made me feel at ease. I was given exactly what was promised in the job description. Although I realize that I cannot forsee for myself a future in social work, I learned so much, in a cordial and interesting environment, that I decided to continue working in the same establishment for an additional full time semester.

Co-op has been a windfall: I have acquired valuable experience, learned professional behavior, clarified my career goals, received credits and was reimbursed the cost of those credits. Now please, you tell me, isn't Co-op a God-send?
Food Focus: Students and Faculty turn out to work out

by Ann Margaret Kane

Located in the lower level of Panzer Gym, the Wellness Program Fitness Center has recently seen a large turnout of students and faculty. Opened last September, the Fitness Center is part of the Wellness Program at Montclair State University. Although, the center has been opened since last fall, many people were unaware that the fitness center existed. However due to on campus mailings and word of mouth referrals, the facility has been frequented by a two-fold increase of students.

Headed by Fitness Director Coni Peterson, the center offers aerobic classes, free weights, nautilius equipment and cardiovascular equipment, such as treadmills, stationary bicycles and starimasters. The facility, funded for educational reasons such as treadmills, stationary bicycles and starimasters. The facility, funded for educational reasons also gives students a chance to learn about health and fitness through working out.

"The gym is excellent," said Anthony Giovatto, senior physical education and health major. "It's a good alternative to the Field House which was small and crowded," added Giovatto.

"There's heat here and a lot more machines than in the Field House," said David Sailor, senior accounting major.

A welcomed improvement from the Field House, the center is staffed by graduate assistants Maggie Rind and Jennifer Heider. Other staff members include several upper level undergraduate students who are ed. majors or majors in a related field.

"We help to show students how to use the equipment," said Jennifer Heider, graduate assistant and Fitness Facility Manager. Most of the students take advantage of the staff's help.

"The staff is very helpful," said J.P. Holland, junior anthropology major. Holland comes to the gym daily and works out with a buddy.

"I'm not a gym junkie but the facility is useful for me," said Fabienne Bigaud, junior music therapy major. The staff has been helpful for many students like Fabienne who are not frequent gym goers and are unfamiliar with proper equipment usage.

Although the center is serving the needs of many students, Rind, graduate assistant and also Fitness Facility Manager would like to see more. An aerobic studio and updated free weights are on the top of Maggie's list. "I would like the other aspects of the Wellness Program to become more involved," said Rind.

The six aspects of the Wellness Program include: Physical, Spiritual, Emotional, Social, Intellectual and Occupational. "For example students from various majors can get involved with Wellness Focus, the center's newsletter," added Rind.

The center, free of charge to students, is open Monday through Friday at selected hours. "I can afford to work out at a health club, so I exercise at the center," said Elizabeth O'Brien, junior music therapy major. At fifty to sixty dollars a month plus initiation fees at health clubs, students are getting a bargain.

"I come every day and I love it," said Alicia Williams, freshman theatre major.

Due to the extreme cold and snowy weather, outside activity becomes difficult, the center is ideal for exercising during the winter months. The facility's hours are: Monday-Thursday from 6:30-9:00 am and 11:30-1:30 p.m. and 6:30-11:00 p.m. On Friday's the facility is opened from 6:30-9:00 am and 11:30-1:30 p.m.

The benefits of regular exercise go beyond physical, as the six aspects show. So start exercising by taking a walk over the Fitness Center. Now there's no excuses!
L.A. Guns Boots Singer—Where's the teased hair?

Two weeks ago, I paid $11 (plus a $2.50 service fee, thanks Ticketmaster) to see the glam rock gurus of the '80s. L.A. Guns at the Birchill nightclub on February 2. I want my money back.

I was psyched to see the show. Doors opened at 8:30, I was there at 8 p.m. As soon as I entered the club, I made a bee-line for front row center. I then proceeded to stand in the same spot for two hours and 45 minutes because I was determined to shake hands with Phil Lewis and Tracii Guns, singer and guitarist of L.A. Guns respectively. Before I left the club that night, little did I know, my goal for the evening was an impossibility.

After an excruciatingly long wait, the lights dimmed and from behind the screen that was obscuring the stage came a blazing guitar solo executed by Mr. Guns himself. Then, the screen started to rise, the crowd was on the verge of exploding. As the screen continued to rise, I saw each member of the band in their ready positions looking as if they were about to explode themselves.

The screen had finished its ascent upwards just as Tracii finished his solo. Then it was only a quick four count from the drummer that was needed to get the show started. And after hearing the first few chords from the guitar, I knew they were opening with 'No Mercy' the first song from their first album. It was also within hearing those first few chords that I noticed something was terribly wrong.

"I don't think that is Phil Lewis," I thought to myself. The guy who was singing looked nothing like him.

He had dreads and shaved eyebrows. But what confirmed my suspicions was the fact that this guy could only sing in a barely audible low register, while Phil Lewis could scream like a banshee over the loudness of the band.

I was crushed! What was L.A. Guns without Phil Lewis. Picture Kiss without Gene or Paul, picture the Ramones without... anything.

They played a few old hits near the beginning of their set including "Never Enough," "Sex Action," "Rip and Tear," and "One Way Ticket to Love." This was obviously done to please the fans. But after they had done their duty, they proceeded to 'treat' us with some new material.

Each song was just one heavy, angry dirge after another and basically boring. "Where are the sexual innuendos, the bluesy riffs, the catchy choruses? Where's the teased hair?" I thought to myself in horror.

The audience didn't seem to mind the band's new direction, but then again the audience was mostly comprised of drunks who just wanted to mosh to anything heavy. As this was the case, I decided to move to the rear of the club and continued to watch as L.A. Guns, a band who was once on the forefront of the 'golden age' of rock and roll, surrendered themselves to the '90s.

by Ben St. Jaques

by Loreny Socas

An exhibition of paintings by Greg Whitecliffe opened last Thursday, February 1, at the Main Gallery with great success. Whitecliffe pays homage to his land and ancestry through his contemporary New Zealand Maori paintings. The show includes over a dozen paintings in oil depicting highly stylized portraits and images resembling traditional Maori sculptural forms. Although the work displays a custom that is centuries old, the abstract forms are sure to attract and please the modern eye.

At the Art Forum Lecture which preceded his opening reception, Whitecliffe introduced his audience to some aspects of the cultures he feels he is so fortunate to belong to. Like New Zealand, Whitecliffe is bi-cultural, having both European and Maori blood. He values his maternal ancestors, many of whom were English court painters, but it was his Maori ancestry and traditions which provided the creative impetus for his most recent work.

Whitecliffe can proudly trace his Maori ancestors back to the first Arawa tribe from Hawaikiai that reached New Zealand by canoe in the eleventh century. In the tradition of Maori thought, Whitecliffe's colorful paintings of his courageous ancestors are much more than painted forms on canvas. According to the Maori, such representations of one's progenitors come to be inhabited by their spirits, imbuing each work of art with a supernatural force. Supplied with these cultural insights, one can enjoy a more profound experience of Whitecliffe's work.

One of his more breathtaking pieces, Paraki Miriana Wikiriwhi is a memorial portrait of the artist's great-grandmother. Unlike most of the paintings in this collection of work, Whitecliffe uses liberate rather than impulsive brush strokes to masterfully interpret hollows and lines on her skin; they are the impressions of experience and time. The eyes of the ancient woman seem to express a peaceful, yet sorrowful feeling. It is almost as if the artist is portraying his own sadness and longing for his great-grandmother through his art.

Whitecliffe explained in his lecture that the Europeans were embraced by the Maori when they arrived in New Zealand. This harmony between the two cultures is paralleled in his art.

The artist chooses oil, a traditionally European medium, to imitate the natural pigments that are found on Maori artifacts. Accordingly, his palette consists of colors which resemble the most highly saturated primary and secondary colors found in nature. His impasto on handmade paper technique yields a surface texture of scattered, irregular peaks, which lends to the works an earthy, organic feel. In combination with this texture, the natural sheen of the oil paint reflects light like a mass of sparkling jewels.

To be ensconced in such spiritual and chromatic harmony is truly a worthwhile experience; the installation of Whitecliffe's work in the Main Gallery of Life Hall is indeed superb and currently on display...don't miss it!

Whitecliffe's Maori portraits: paintings with a supernatural force

Next week, my goal for the evening was an impossible feat.
Female Artists singing, writing and producing

by Jodi Kavel

Women's role in music has changed drastically throughout history, and continues to evolve as we speak. Women are no longer relegated to be mere back-up singers for prominent male acts. More and more women are choosing to write, sing, produce, and even market their own albums.

The Women Students' Organization (WSO) featured a "Women in Music" theme, showcasing the work of their members' favorite female artists in all musical genres.

Jean-Marie Navetta kicked off the listening session with a song entitled, "Light of Some Kind" from Ani DiFranco's 1995 album, Not A Pretty Girl.

Ani DiFranco writes and records all of her own music, and publishes her albums on her own record label, Righteous Babe Records. A self-proclaimed bisexual, DiFranco is a strong feminist whose music straddles the two genres of folk and punk.

Christy DiChristina, president of the WSO, enlightened the predominately native speaking English group, with Gloria Estefan's recent Spanish albums. Estefan's cultural diversity, incorporates Indian ragas and Gaelic chants, to create a unique cross-cultural sound. We listened to the 1984 album, The Serpent's Egg. Lisa Gerard, the lead chanteuse, just released a solo album entitled, In The Mirror Pool.

I brought the 1994 Natural Ingredients album from my favorite girl ensemble band, Luscious Jackson. The female equivalent of The Beastie Boys, Luscious Jackson combines rap and sampling to create a groove so strong it's nearly impossible not to just get up and dance! Luscious Jackson received some recent publicity when the song Here appeared on the clueless soundtrack. The video received a good amount of air play on MTV, but the band is still relatively unknown.

Sharon Kenney offered Crass, a female punk band from the '80s to our awaiting ears. The song, 'Bata Motel' from the Penis Envy album was fought with feminist ideals, citing typical "girl" stereotypes and tearing them down with venomous lyrics.

Liz Voltman added Sarah McLachlan's song, Good Enough to the mix. From McLachlan's third album, 1993's Fumbling Towards Ecstasy, "Good Enough" deals with relationships, but with a twist-it is written by a female from the male's point of view. McLachlan has also received some recent notoriety with the song, 'I Will Remember You' from The Brothers McMullen soundtrack.

We all broadened our musical knowledge by sharing the music that inspires us. Some of us even discovered some new favorites! Though each sampling was diverse in its genre, the message was the same: Women can rock just as well as men!

The WSO hopes to have another listening session with a song entitled, "Not A Pretty Girl." "Good Enough" deals with relationships, but with a twist-it is written by a female from the male's point of view.

Luscious Jackson received some recent publicity when the song Here appeared on the clueless soundtrack. The video received a good amount of air play on MTV, but the band is still relatively unknown.

Some say change is good, which I agree with. But some change is bad. Very bad. I don't do well with bad changes.

We've had some great, superb changes here at the Montclairian.. finally! However, I lost my font, Paisley. Tom tried to get it back for me, but it didn't work. Thanks again for trying, Tom. I'll survive, and I'll get over it eventually, but my column just doesn't seem to be the same. My new font, which isn't necessarily permanent, is Amphi Normal. I wouldn't call my column normal.

I did get some really cool compliments about my column last Thursday when I went to visit my friend Pompadour. Having nothing to do, I called him, because we always sponge well together. He told me to come on over. Pompadour was having a party. Although I missed the main course, some kind people saved some salad for me. I like salad.

My friend Holly likes salad, too, but today after class, while we were walking to the Rat to get some coffee (which I don't normally drink-
Black Sheep unfunny script and poor direction

by John Springman

Black Sheep is the second film pairing Saturday Night Live veterans Chris Farley and David Spade. Their first collaboration, Tommy Boy, was a road comedy that was predictable but consistently funny from beginning to end. I've seen it and enjoyed it several times, both at the theatre and on video. Black Sheep is a light comedy in the same vein, but one viewing is enough. Farley and Spade have their moments but are sabotaged by an unfunny script and poor direction.

Farley is Mike Donnelly, the loser brother of gubernatorial candidate Al Donnelly (Tim Matheson). Mike is an eager but inept campaigner for his older brother, and proves to be such an embarrassment that an aide (David Spade) is assigned to keep him out of trouble. Mike and his baby-sitter go off to the woods to hide, setting up assorted comic situations in the wilderness before the two emerge—ta-da—to save the campaign.

The funniest parts of Black Sheep are scenes with physical comedy, such as when Farley and Spade try to drive a bat out of their wilderness cabin. Otherwise, the script by Fred Wolf has no memorable comic lines and gets so wrapped up in campaign machinations that if forgets to be a memorable comic lines and gets so wrapped up.

One thing that worked in Tommy Boy was great chemistry between Farley and Brian Dennehy as his father. Wolf's script attempts to duplicate this for Black Sheep by putting heavy emphasis on the relationship between the two brothers, but fails in this regard because Farley and Matheson have only one scene together. The movie also errs in trying to make Mike a mentor to a deprived young boy. Barley ten minutes into the movie, Mike and his new friend share special moments together as sickly sweet music declares their newly forged bond. This relationship is simply a manipulative dramatic invention, it's not something earned or developed.

Director Penelope Spheeris (Wayne's World) didn't earn her paycheck for Black Sheep. Scenes end abruptly and pointlessly. One example is an episode in which Mike is fooling around with some teenagers who are drinking and smoking pot. He dances around with a bottle of beer and a joint, praising the joys of intoxication, when the shot suddenly cuts away, we hear the smashing of the beer bottle. Mike utters an anti-drug line, and the scene abruptly ends. To be fair to Spheeris, this couldn't have worked. By the story's logic, Mike should be anti-drug, but according to his character, he's obviously pro-legalization. Spheeris tries to have it both ways and fails in the attempt.

The most interesting thing in Black Sheep were three of the supporting actors: Gary Busey, Tim Matheson, and Bruce McGill. Busey plays yet another crazed Vietnam vet. Matheson and McGill, as the governor's assistants, are interesting because both also appeared in the first and the best of the movies starring Saturday Night Live alumni: National Lampoon's Animal House.

Black Sheep reaches it low point at the climax of the film: Mike falls on top of the female governor (Christie Whitman-type politician played by Christine Ebersole). The joke is that she's a foul-mouthed ball-breaker in private.

Players' Cabaret Night explodes with music & songs

by Victoria Cadillac & Erin Perry

On Monday, February 5, Players held their first Cabaret Night this semester. The mic was open for all artists, including singers, musicians, and poets. Sean Hale and Ian Penny hosted the evening with flamboyance and wit.

Players packed the Rat with an enthusiastic and large audience. Unfortunately, a writer who was assigned to review Cabaret Night failed to. Erin and I are tired of reviewing almost every event that happens on campus. Maybe, you were at Cabaret Night. Hopefully, you enjoy reading the Arts section. Put two and two together, Arts needs writers, or sooner or later all the articles are going to look like this.

Players Cabaret Night was very successful, which says a lot about the commitment and spirit of the organization. Most campus events go unattended. We find it pathetic how apathetic our campus is. We congratulate Players and apologize that no one was there to review their event.
Problems found with Paternoster’s puffing policy

Not once in Joe Paternoster’s profound article, “Let Smokers Puff in Peace” which called for equal rights for oppressed smokers did he mention the rights of those other living, breathing, sentient, human beings who chose not to pollute their lungs, mouths, throats, teeth, nostrils, finger tips, and clothing with tobacco smoke. We are not arguing whether a Muslim should be forced by law to practice Catholicism just because he is a resident of the United States. We are talking about how non-smokers have no choice but to accept the putrid by-product of another carcinogenic habit just because that smoker feels that his inalienable rights are being encroached upon by the Gestapo (which is hardly an analogy someone should use when making a serious argument in defense of smokers.)

Yes, I agree with Paternoster on several things. Namely that a smoker was conned into his habit by tobacco companies indoctrinating the youth of America with the glorified image of smoking so that smokers find it difficult to break the habit. So, as a junkie needs his government-supplied methadone, a smoker must be allowed to continue to smoke until he willingly decides to end his enslavement. I also agree that if the non-smokers don’t want the grade-A carcinogen of second-hand smoke in their faces, then the smoker must have a more suitable area to smoke in besides the outside of a department building in the cold all alone. Yes, a designated student smoking lounge is not asking a lot. The smokers pay student fees as well.

Mr. Paternoster should try a little introspection before he goes bashing legislation against needless pollution which is far from innocuous, as you say, through the EPA reports. If you really must smoke, that’s your choice. Eat right, work out, don’t smoke, die anyway, right? But then what is life? Slave to material things and pleasing the material sense of the life and obtain equanimity, compassion for others, and a higher taste spiritually. Or else, live it up and step on others as you’re doing it. Exhaled smoke is a by-product of your filthy habit and you still insist on it being your right to smoke in public, while I can do nothing but succumb myself to being a recipient of this second-hand smoke in my lungs and on my clothes.

Well, Joe Schmoe insists that it’s his right to have a few beers in public of which the by-product of a few Budweisers is urine so you, as an innocent recipient of his by-product from a habit he can’t break and which is his right to be practiced anywhere he wants, must suffer yourself and he pissed on. You get the idea. Well, maybe this analogy is a bit too harsh. I do not want to argue with Mr. Paternoster, really. I just want to help others be more considerate of their fellow species, and other species for that matter. But animal rights is a whole different ball game. I am a firm advocate of freedom of speech and I appreciate Mr. Paternoster’s willingness to practice it while taking classes at MSU.

Jeffrey Parisi
Graduate studies
I am writing to inform you of my dissatisfaction with our present Class One organizational structure. As the heads of our Student Government and thus our corporation, I am asking you to please explain to me and the rest of my fellow students at MSU the following:

Under what pretense of fairness does the SGA continue to use our student fees to fund two ethnic cultural organizations such as the Latin American Student Organization (LASO) and the Organization of Students for African Unity (OSAU)?

All other similarly cultural/ethnic/gender/religious based organizations on campus do not have Class One status. Why do LASO and OSAU?

Ideally, SGA Executive Boards of the past have explained it away by admitting that any other similar organizations may apply for said status as well.

This is not realistic.

The legitimate service organizations (the Montclarion, La Campana, WMSC, etc.) are seriously underfunded and stretched to accomplish campus-wide services as it is. Any increase in the number of Class One organizations will immediately strain the financial stability of these service-oriented groups.

There is no more specific need for LASO or OSAU to get Class One funding than there is a specific need to similarly fund a Sri Lankan Androgynous Left-Handed organization for Midgets (SLALOM).

Since I have been told and agree with the idea that LASO and OSAU serve to create a better awareness on campus about certain peoples that are underrepresented in our society, I propose that the SGA Executive Board bring about a new Class One which could serve this purpose - a Multicultural Class One, if you will.

LASO and OSAU could then be placed equally with all the other similarly based organizations outside of Class One status. the approximately $60,000 which those two organizations would free up could then be used in part to set up the Multicultural Class One and, at the same time, to alleviate the need for any student fees increase that may otherwise be necessary.

The Multicultural Class One could then serve to educate the campus on the need for tolerance, harmony, and understanding of other cultures and groups among us while making money available for that purpose to become available to all equally. Cultural understanding and respect is not reserved for the few. If systematically funded for one group, it should be guaranteed for all.

Your present policy is at best misguided and at worst bigoted and illegal in its discriminatory stance.

I, for one, will petition the Board of Trustees to waive my SGA fees for my next semester and I will seek counsel to further explore my legal rights if you do not take a substantive action to remedy this.

I will not allow my money to be used in a way that is discriminatory in nature.

Justice awaits your reply.

Dear SGA Executive Board,

I am writing to inform you of my dissatisfaction with our present Class One organizational structure. As the heads of our Student Government and thus our corporation, I am asking you to please explain to me and the rest of my fellow students at MSU the following:

Under what pretense of fairness does the SGA continue to use our student fees to fund two ethnic cultural organizations such as the Latin American Student Organization (LASO) and the Organization of Students for African Unity (OSAU)?

All other similarly cultural/ethnic/gender/religious based organizations on campus do not have Class One status. Why do LASO and OSAU?

Ideally, SGA Executive Boards of the past have explained it away by admitting that any other similar organizations may apply for said status as well.

This is not realistic.

The legitimate service organizations (the Montclarion, La Campana, WMSC, etc.) are seriously underfunded and stretched to accomplish campus-wide services as it is. Any increase in the number of Class One organizations will immediately strain the financial stability of these service-oriented groups.

There is no more specific need for LASO or OSAU to get Class One funding than there is a specific need to similarly fund a Sri Lankan Androgynous Left-Handed organization for Midgets (SLALOM).

Since I have been told and agree with the idea that LASO and OSAU serve to create a better awareness on campus about certain peoples that are underrepresented in our society, I propose that the SGA Executive Board bring about a new Class One which could serve this purpose - a Multicultural Class One, if you will.

LASO and OSAU could then be placed equally with all the other similarly based organizations outside of Class One status. the approximately $60,000 which those two organizations would free up could then be used in part to set up the Multicultural Class One and, at the same time, to alleviate the need for any student fees increase that may otherwise be necessary.

The Multicultural Class One could then serve to educate the campus on the need for tolerance, harmony, and understanding of other cultures and groups among us while making money available for that purpose to become available to all equally. Cultural understanding and respect is not reserved for the few. If systematically funded for one group, it should be guaranteed for all.

Your present policy is at best misguided and at worst bigoted and illegal in its discriminatory stance.

I, for one, will petition the Board of Trustees to waive my SGA fees for my next semester and I will seek counsel to further explore my legal rights if you do not take a substantive action to remedy this.

I will not allow my money to be used in a way that is discriminatory in nature.

Justice awaits your reply.

E-mail the Montclarion staff!

You can now send your comments and suggestions to the Montclarion staff via e-mail.

All accounts are on alpha@montclair.edu.

News: MathisonK
Editorial: NavettaJ
Campus Life: DuncanE
Humour: OsullivanJ
Arts: CaldesV
Sports: CzechowiczR
This summer the University of California's Board of Regents voted to stop admitting students, hiring professors, and awarding contracts on the basis of race and sex. The Board has decided, instead, to admit up to half of the applicants based on "special circumstances." These circumstances include whether a student has shown persistence and determination, needs work, is from a socially or educationally disadvantaged environment, or has a difficult family situation. Needless to say, problems abound.

When the ban was passed in July, critics were quick to respond. The loudest criticism was that "diversity" would suffer. It seems that diversity on college campuses, and only on college campuses, means skin color and ethnicity. Now it certainly doesn't mean the exchanging of different ideas, at it originally did. But how has affirmative action helped the college definition of diversity, especially for blacks, at UC? In 1984, fifteen percent white, sixteen percent Asian, seven percent Hispanic, and four percent black. In 1994, the numbers were forty nine percent white, twenty nine percent Asian, thirteen percent Hispanic, and four percent black. So, at least here, affirmative action has not helped blacks at all.

Now, instead of being race based, the process will be class and dysfunction based. "The idea of measuring 'dysfunctionality' is a... nightmare," said Jerome Karabel, a professor of sociology at Berkeley. Will the admissions department have a chart describing what is worse: sexual abuse beats physical abuse, but physical abuse and divorce beat sexual abuse? And as Keith E. Widaman, a professor and member of the Regents' task force, said, "What teenager doesn't think they come from a dysfunctional family?"

Despite the problems that will come from rating which dysfunction is worse, the Board's move away from race and sex in admissions is a good one. The point that colleges are at now seems to be the exact opposite of what affirmative action was intended to do. "Some students who don't meet minimum academic requirements are admitted solely on the basis of race," said California Governor Pete Wilson. It has also led to some perverse ideas on racism and sexism, as illustrated by Jesse Jackson's unbelievable response to the Regents' vote. After the decision he said, "To ignore race and sex is racist and sexist." Obviously, a change is needed.

However, there is a better way than the change proposed by the Board of Regents. First, all students should be admitted based on grades, test scores, and essays. Second, there should be no interviews and no race or gender boxes to check on applications. Third, there should be no names on applications, only social security numbers. No assumptions would be made because of last names. This is the best way to insure that discrimination does not take place during the admissions process.

For once everyone will be equal, that is, judged by the same standards. The best, brightest, and most deserving will be admitted, regardless of race and sex. To ignore race and sex in admissions, hiring, and contracting is neither racist nor sexist. It is simply the fulfillment of one man's dream and America's promise.
Oregon voters and the first mail-order U.S. government

After Oregon Democrat Ron Wyden captured the nation's first vote-by-mail congressional election, he hailed his victory as evidence that the Republican Congress is forging ahead with an agenda that is much too radical and extreme for the average voter. He must be correct, for what else could motivate the average voter to elect a politician who walks that fine line between liberal democracy and socialism?

For starters, it appears that the mail election was a success. It produced an enormous "turnout" with more than 65 percent of Oregon’s registered voters mailing in their ballots. Many citizens lauded the convenience of the mail-order ballots. In addition, it was estimated that the mail election saved the state of Oregon some $1 million.

Now to Wyden’s credit, even if it was nothing less than a gimmicky political tactic, he did refuse to continue the barrage of negative ads against his opponent Gordon Smith. He openly challenged Smith to do the same and polls showed that Wyden’s decision helped him win undecided voters. Perhaps politicians could look to this election as inspiration to get their campaigns out of the gutter and encourage apathetic voters to participate in the American democratic system.

But this point aside, just what happened in this election? And perhaps more importantly, just what did the voters of Oregon do to the rest of the nation?

Although Wyden is the first Democrat elected to the Senate from Oregon since 1982, Oregon is widely considered to be a moderate state. Particularly, the state has supported Democrats in the last two presidential elections and it has a Democratic governor. Even the state’s senior Senator, Republican Mark Hatfield, is now infamous as the guy who was the deciding vote against the Balanced Budget Amendment.

Even though Oregon claims 45 percent registered Democrats and 36 percent registered Republicans, Wyden squeaked by with only a 48-47 percent victory over Smith. Despite this and Smith being branded as a radical hard-core conservative, it was still that close.

Smith spent more money than Wyden, but all the organizations of the Left bonded in full force. The Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee said they ‘will be counting on the entire Democracy family, Democratic National Committee, White House, constituency groups, and elected officials to help the Oregon Democratic Party get the needed money to finance the voter contact, volunteer effort and get-out-the-vote operation throughout the state.’ President Clinton mailgrams were sent out to undecided voters on the heels of his rosy State of the Union speech and Vice President Gore campaigned in Oregon for Wyden. And it was still that close.

As a representative in the House, Wyden has voted against the Balanced Budget Amendment, welfare reform, and the death penalty. He has voted to raise taxes on 16 different occasions (National Taxpayers Union rated him one of the biggest spenders in Congress). He voted against mandatory sentences for crimes committed with guns, but would instead choose to abolish the Second Amendment altogether. Wyden even voted to send U.S. troops to Bosnia, but on a NWO TV station, he couldn’t even locate Bosnia on a map! In addition, he couldn’t identify the Prime Minister of Canada or even venture a guess as to the cost of gasoline and milk!

If this is going to be the trend in November, 1996, then I have some advice for the Republican Party. Either begin shifting to the ideological center or hire a public relations staff that will make voters think you’re shifting. Because liberal politicians like Wyden is the last thing this country needs now.

Sometimes the school uniforms just don’t fit

I spent my pre-adolescent educationally formative years wondering if our brown-clad teachers, with giant rosary beads dangling from their necks, did have any hair under those habits. From a distance, they all looked the same and so did we. All the girls in this Catholic school were identically dressed: ghastly gray jumpers, pink blouses (with those ever-present stains under the arms) and bowties—the same good girls were good and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential. The uniforms had nothing to do with it. They were merely a formality that we didn’t question and the others, well, they lived up to their potential.

The problem with trying to impose mandatory uniform policies in public schools may not lie so much with the students. Some of them might actually welcome not having to compete with the fashion plates. The school dance (if there is still such a thing) would be the place to show one’s stuff. No, the problems will most likely be with the parents. They are the by-products of those rebellious and tumultuous decades of tie-dye (the originals), platform shoes, and “Stairway to Heaven.” They didn’t do uniforms then and they won’t do them now.

President Clinton has a lot of other pressing issues on his agenda that badly need addressing. His challenge to “all schools to teach character education” shouldn’t be taken lightly by any means. But Mary Ellen Schoonmaker and I, having both had our fill of hiking up our plaid skirts to make them shorter when the nuns weren’t around, are pretty sure that the answers could come from a place devoid of saddle shoes and droopy knee socks.

“There is only one thing in the world that is worse than being talked about, and that is not being talked about.”

– Oscar Wilde
Find the listed words in the diagram. They run in all directions—forward, backward, up, down and diagonally.

AfterBackCoastDownEarthHeavenOutWayWestWind

1996 Humour, Thursday, February 8

WARD
E E A W S P L R E E A X T Q
N J G C Z W T Q I N J G D A X
U R O L J G R D G A X V S P N
K I F N E V A H C A Y X V S
Q O L J H E C A T X T K V T R
P N L J H F D B R F S S N Y X
V T R P O M K I A Y A W E O G
E D B Z X W U T E K O D T W R
Q O N L J G M F D C N N U D
C A Y X W V O T S R U A P I O
O N L K J H I G T F E L B F W

Find the listed words in the diagram. They run in all directions—forward, backward, up, down and diagonally.

The 15 musical acts listed below sang at least once with a beverage in the title. Name all the songs, then go out and pet yourself a Yuzu-Haven.

1. The Eagles
2. Jimmy Buffett
3. Snoop Dogg
4. Space
5. Rupert Holmes
6. Tom Jones
7. Frank Sinatra
8. Looking Glass
9. The Clancy Brothers
10. Andy Gibb
11. UB40
12. Herman's Hermits
13. The Beach Boys
14. Tom T. Hall
15. The Doors

Hip-Hop Generation X Layover Crossword Puzzle

ACROSS
1 Wine word
4 Fantasies
10 Booker T. & the MG's
13 Speedy
18 Love to
23 Lucasfilm
19 Sweet-smelling pouch
20 Clean of waudville
21 Brewer or Wright
22 Popular '50s vocal group
24 Caribbean Queen
25 Mountain nymph
26 Energy units
27 Mountain
28 Mountain
29 Mountain
30 Family vehicle
31 Carol or passing
32 Trickle of
36 Covetness
38 Italian entre white gem
40 Gull
42 Spoon-bender Geller
44 Spoon-bender Geller
46 Mills of the late 19th century
48 French
50 First name
51 Multitalented creator of "Star Wars"
56 Climbing World
57 Walter of the "Cleopatra" site
58 Forsyth's Presley movie
59 Spanish one of the Fisher, for one
60 Rock star
61 Capital of the "Capital" state
62 Poesy
63 Palaeolithic name
64 Actor Kilmer
65 Demonic
66 Shrub
67 Make a footloose manner of
68 Touch up
69 Bottle of
73 "Get By" (old song)
74 Literary collection
75 Insurance
76 Coverage star
77 Five numbers
78 Covertness
79 Exile islem other-in-law
80 Comedian
81 Author
82 Opera set in Memphis
83 Tuba
84 Greek
85 Trickle of
86 Black or brown
87 "A" of the "A"
88 Hole in one
89 Hole in one
90 Bestow operatic
91 Stay
92 Stay
93 Exile islem other-in-law
94 Have as one's hometown
95 "Handle"
96 "Cabinet"
97 Please
98 Once more
99 "Grendel"
100 Perry's creator of "Star Wars"
101 Moreno
102 Hitching post?
103 "Jupiter"
104 Item for money"
105 Judge to
106 "One of the" Chimeras
107 "Treats" Hale
108 "One of the" Chimeras
109 One of the Fisher, for one
110 "The" site
111 Capital of the "Capital" state
112 One of the Fisher, for one
113 "Antique auto" supra
114 "Trivial Pursuit"
115 "Tausendfach"
116 "Vacation"
117 "Junior"
118 "Swing"
119 "Comes closer"
120 "Popeye" panhandle
121 "Cabinet"
122 "Treats" Hale
123 "Cabinet"
124 "Treats" Hale
125 "Treats" Hale
126 "Treats" Hale
127 "Treats" Hale
128 "Treats" Hale
129 "Treats" Hale
130 "Call a spool"
131 "Cast a spell"
132 "Cast a spell"
133 "Scarcity"
134 "Scarcity"
135 "Scarcity"
136 "Scarcity"
137 "Scarcity"
138 "Scarcity"
139 "Scarcity"
140 "Scarcity"

DOWN
1 Wine word
5 WW II locale
10 Capital of the "Capital" state
15 "Wet" Brittle
19 "Doll"
20 "Treats" Hale
21 "Treats" Hale
22 "Treats" Hale
23 "Treats" Hale
24 "Treats" Hale
25 "Treats" Hale
26 "Treats" Hale
27 "Treats" Hale
28 "Treats" Hale
29 "Treats" Hale
30 "Treats" Hale
31 "Treats" Hale
32 "Treats" Hale
33 "Treats" Hale
34 "Treats" Hale
35 "Treats" Hale
36 "Treats" Hale
37 "Treats" Hale
38 "Treats" Hale
39 "Treats" Hale
40 "Treats" Hale
41 "Treats" Hale
42 "Treats" Hale
43 "Treats" Hale
44 "Treats" Hale
45 "Treats" Hale
46 "Treats" Hale
47 "Treats" Hale
48 "Treats" Hale
49 "Treats" Hale
50 "Treats" Hale
51 "Treats" Hale
52 "Treats" Hale
53 "Treats" Hale
54 "Treats" Hale
55 "Treats" Hale
56 "Treats" Hale
57 "Treats" Hale
58 "Treats" Hale
59 "Treats" Hale
60 "Treats" Hale
61 "Treats" Hale
62 "Treats" Hale
63 "Treats" Hale
64 "Treats" Hale
65 "Treats" Hale
66 "Treats" Hale
67 "Treats" Hale
68 "Treats" Hale
69 "Treats" Hale
70 "Treats" Hale
71 "Treats" Hale
72 "Treats" Hale
73 "Treats" Hale
74 "Treats" Hale
75 "Treats" Hale
76 "Treats" Hale
77 "Treats" Hale
78 "Treats" Hale
79 "Treats" Hale
80 "Treats" Hale
81 "Treats" Hale
82 "Treats" Hale
83 "Treats" Hale
84 "Treats" Hale
85 "Treats" Hale
86 "Treats" Hale
87 "Treats" Hale
88 "Treats" Hale
89 "Treats" Hale
90 "Treats" Hale
91 "Treats" Hale
92 "Treats" Hale
93 "Treats" Hale
94 "Treats" Hale
95 "Treats" Hale
96 "Treats" Hale
97 "Treats" Hale
98 "Treats" Hale
99 "Treats" Hale
100 "Treats" Hale
101 "Treats" Hale
102 "Treats" Hale
103 "Treats" Hale
104 "Treats" Hale
105 "Treats" Hale
106 "Treats" Hale
107 "Treats" Hale
108 "Treats" Hale
109 "Treats" Hale
110 "Treats" Hale
111 "Treats" Hale
112 "Treats" Hale
113 "Treats" Hale
114 "Treats" Hale
115 "Treats" Hale
116 "Treats" Hale
117 "Treats" Hale
118 "Treats" Hale
119 "Treats" Hale
120 "Treats" Hale
121 "Treats" Hale
122 "Treats" Hale
123 "Treats" Hale
124 "Treats" Hale
125 "Treats" Hale
126 "Treats" Hale
127 "Treats" Hale
128 "Treats" Hale
129 "Treats" Hale
130 "Treats" Hale
131 "Treats" Hale
132 "Treats" Hale
133 "Treats" Hale
134 "Treats" Hale
135 "Treats" Hale
136 "Treats" Hale
137 "Treats" Hale
138 "Treats" Hale
139 "Treats" Hale
140 "Treats" Hale

1. The Eagles
2. Jimmy Buffett
3. Snoopy Dogg
4. Space
5. Rupert Holmes
6. Tom Jones
7. Frank Sinatra
8. Looking Glass
9. The Clancy Brothers
10. Andy Gibb
11. UB40
12. Herman's Hermits
13. The Beach Boys
14. Tom T. Hall
15. The Doors

Something To Drink

The 15 musical acts listed below sang at least once with a beverage in the title. Name all the songs, then go out and pet yourself a Yuzu-Haven.

1. The Eagles
2. Jimmy Buffett
3. Snoopy Dogg
4. Space
5. Rupert Holmes
6. Tom Jones
7. Frank Sinatra
8. Looking Glass
9. The Clancy Brothers
10. Andy Gibb
11. UB40
12. Herman's Hermits
13. The Beach Boys
14. Tom T. Hall
15. The Doors
Poop. Say it many, many times. It's a great word.
Rise Above The Crowd With Residence Life...

Resident Assistants/ Facilities Assistants

Interest Meeting/ Mocktail Party
Wednesday, February 14, 1996
7-9 PM in the Bohn Hall Lounge

Benefits:
• Single room at reduced rate
• 14 Meal Plan waiver
• Stipend
• Leadership experience

Applications available starting Tuesday, February 13 in all Residence Director’s offices and the Office of Residence Life.

Application Deadline: 4pm, Thursday, February 22.

“The only limits are those of vision.”
Classifieds...

Free T-shirt + $1000. Credit Card fund-raisers for fraternities, sororities, & groups. Any campus organization can raise up to $1000 by earning a whopping $5.00/VISA application. Call 1-800-932-0528 ext. 65. Qualified callers receive Free T-shirt.

Baby-sitter needed for Sunday morning, 8:30-1:00. Two children 4 and 6. Bloomfield area. Please call 338-5565.

Attention all students! Over $6 Billion in public and private sector grants & scholarships is now available. All students are eligible. Let us help. For more info., call 1-800-263-6495 ext. F50962.

Attention Spring Breakers! Book now! Jamaica/Cancun/Bahamas $499. Florida $129. Organize groups and go free. Endless Summer Tours 1-800-234-7007.

Part-time baby-sitter needed for 2 children in Montclair home. Ages 3 & 1. Non-smoker, own car preferred and references needed. Tuesday full day preferred & other hours. Will work with schedule. 857-7667.

Cool summer jobs!! Students needed! Earn up to $12/hr. + tips working at Resort Hotels, Theme Parks, Ranches, & River Rafting companies nationwide. Call Resort Services 1-206-971-3600 ext. R50961.

Spring Break '96. With only 1 week to live-don't blow it! Book now! Florida & Padre $109, Bahamas $359. Jamaica/Cancun $399. Organize a group-travel free!! SunSplash Tours 1-800-426-7710.

International Calling Card, Low Rates to all countries. Japan $0.69/min., Mexico 0.21, Taiwan 0.86, UK 0.50, Singapore 0.74, Hong Kong 0.78, France 0.59, India 1.36, more. Call 1-800-624-1632 for Info.

Can you read and speak any foreign language? Earn $15/hour, required: pleasant sounding voice, proper education, authentic sounding accent and spirited presentation. Males/ Females encouraged to apply. Call (201) 882-5065.

Part-time childcare needed for 6 yr. old twins in Montclair. Mon., Wed., Thurs., 3:30 - 7:00 PM. Person must be responsible and love children. Drivers license, car & references a must. Call 509-0556.

Looking for male students to participate in language study at Montclair State. Will use questionnaire to select test subjects. Subjects completing experiment receive $5 compensation. Call Eric Green. (201) 278-7782.

PAID & UNPAID INTERNSHIPS

Over 1200 NJ Internships detailed in NJ Internships Guide. Contacts, descriptions, everything you need to get the internship you want. Only $24.95 + tax, shipping. Call (800) 331-5076.

Just in case you decide to buy the books this semester.

It's everywhere you want to be.

VISA

International Calling Card, Low Rates to all countries. Japan $0.69/min., Mexico 0.21, Taiwan 0.86, UK 0.50, Singapore 0.74, Hong Kong 0.78, France 0.59, India 1.36, more. Call 1-800-624-1632 for Info.
SPECIAL BITCHING ALERT: I KNOW THAT PLEDGING IS STARTING, AND I KNOW HOW MUCH THAT ALL OF YOU LOVE YOUR PLEDGES AND WHAT NOT. BUT, PLEASE DON’T GO TOO INSANE WITH THE PERSONALS. I HAVE A LIFE… OKAY? MAYBE I DON’T, BUT I’D LIKE TO TRY TO HAVE ONE THIS SEMESTER. SO PLEASE, FOR THE LOVE OF GOD, CUT DOWN THE AMOUNT OF PERSONAL BULLshit.

STAY STRONG, DON’T STRESS!

CALLING PIANA, NAVE, SOBIASED, ETC… WHERE ARE YOU?

DEAR TRICIA (N*119)
HA HA HA! HOW ARE YOU? HAPPY BIRTHDAY!

LOVE, UPLISON 68

MELISSA C. (SIGMA), TRY TO STAY SANE WITH FERRIS BUELLER’S TEACHER! BEST OF LUCK TO YOU!

LOVE, LAUREN S. (AIX)

WEMBLINA (AIX)
WHERE’S THE DOOR? I WANT TO LEAVE!

LOVE, THE PROUD DUCK CUP OWNER

HEY JACKIE, I HOPE NOBODY FELL ON THE FLOOR I WAXED.

HEY BABY, WHERE ARE YOU?

THANKS FOR DRIVING ME HOME THURSDAY NIGHT!

PS - NICE DANCE

Ladies and Gentlemen, the Sigma Delta Tau section:

AND ‘ROUND, AND ‘ROUND.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,

SPECIAL BITCHING ALERT.

STAY STRONG, DON’T STRESS!

CALLING PIANA, NAVE,

SPECIAL BITCHING ALERT: I KNOW THAT PLEDGING IS STARTING, AND I KNOW HOW MUCH THAT ALL OF YOU LOVE YOUR PLEDGES AND WHAT NOT. BUT, PLEASE DON’T GO TOO INSANE WITH THE PERSONALS. I HAVE A LIFE… OKAY? MAYBE I DON’T, BUT I’D LIKE TO TRY TO HAVE ONE THIS SEMESTER. SO PLEASE, FOR THE LOVE OF GOD, CUT DOWN THE AMOUNT OF PERSONAL BULLshit.

STAY STRONG, DON’T STRESS!

CALLING PIANA, NAVE,

SPECIAL BITCHING ALERT: I KNOW THAT PLEDGING IS STARTING, AND I KNOW HOW MUCH THAT ALL OF YOU LOVE YOUR PLEDGES AND WHAT NOT. BUT, PLEASE DON’T GO TOO INSANE WITH THE PERSONALS. I HAVE A LIFE… OKAY? MAYBE I DON’T, BUT I’D LIKE TO TRY TO HAVE ONE THIS SEMESTER. SO PLEASE, FOR THE LOVE OF GOD, CUT DOWN THE AMOUNT OF PERSONAL BULLshit.

STAY STRONG, DON’T STRESS!

CALLING PIANA, NAVE,
DID YOU HEAR THE LASTEST?

The DROP-IN CENTER located between the Student Center & Richardson Hall is having a Spring Training for all those interested. YOU BETTER HURRY & DROP-IN to fill out an application before the deadline on February 16, 1996. Training is on February 18, 1996. Don't wait until the last minute!!!

A SERVICE OF THE S.G.A.
Every Friday

LADIES 18 TO PARTY, 21 TO DRINK

Friday Night Enter To Win A FREE Neon Beer Sign

Every Friday DJ John Cicacle Spins The Ultimate Rave
Industrial • House • Euro • Club

All Ladies Over 21 DRINK FREE 8PM - 12AM

Because Our Best Customer, Joe Gaccione, will pay for your tab from his own pocket!

PLUM CRAZY

SA LO ON

620 VAN HOUTEN AVE., CLIFTON, NJ 201-773-7865

TIJUANA TUESDAYS

$1.00 Tequila • $2.00 Sol Beer
$2.00 Margaritas plus....
All-U-Can-Eat Make Your Own Tacos....FREE!!!!

Your Campus Needs You!!

- Intercollegiate Athletic Council
- Blue Ribbon Committee - 2 Non-Greek Reps
- Food Advisory Committee
- Disciplinary Committee
- Disciplinary Appeals Committee
- Montclair State University Collaboration Committee

There are immediate openings in these committees and your MSU community needs you!! Give a little to your campus so that it can give back to you.

Contact Francois Dauder in the SGA office, Room 103 of the Student Center Annex or at 655-4202 if you are interested in knowing more about these committees and wish to get involved.

Also, The Board of Trustees of MSU Student Alternate position is now available. This is a non-voting position. Over the course of the next three months, the elected student will sit on the Board of Trustees Meetings and at the beginning of the Fall '96 semester, will serve in the position of voting member if qualified. For more information on this position and its requirements, please contact the SGA office.
MSU continuing to struggle; loses to Stockton St.

by Nick Gantalski

The MSU Red Hawks couldn't contain the New Jersey Athletic Conference scoring leader this past Saturday as they dropped another conference game, this one coming against the red hot Ospreys of Stockton State.

Guard Carl Cochran put on a show for the 150 estimated fans, scoring 27 points to lead his team to a 68-52 victory in Pomona. Cochran, who was named NJAC Player of the Week last week, scored 19 points in the first half as he made five of five from the three point line giving his team a 35-27 halftime lead. The Red Hawks (8-12, 5-9) did the best they could to adjust to the style of play Cochran displays. Despite their attempts, Cochran still bettered his 22.1 point average by connecting on a perfect seven of seven three point tries and 10 of 12 field goal attempts.

Things were looking bright for the Red Hawks, at least for the first 2:46, as they lead 6-0. No more than 30 seconds later, Stockton (17-3, 12-2) tied the game thanks to Donald Folk who hit two consecutive three pointers and finished the game with 10 points. Stockton's Marty Small, the NJAC's leading rebounder had a double-double grabbing 13 boards and scored 12 points.

Freshman forward John Weipz (Tinton Falls) also struggled, as he scored only two points in 31 minutes of play. Jones' shooting touch was missing as he connected on only 1 of 5 attempted shots.

Although it doesn't seem apparent, the Red Hawks played solid defense with 17 of their points coming off turnovers. At the end of the first half, MSU trailed 35-27, and in the second half they were only outscored 33-25. With four games remaining on their schedule, the Red Hawks are hoping to finish with a .500 season.

Rowan is still left on the schedule along with Jersey City State, William Paterson and Rutgers-Camden. Two of their remaining four games are home games. In order for the Red Hawks to finish the season strong, Jones and Sutherland must contribute more than nine points and two points in over 30 minutes of play.

Both Jones and Sutherland have proved all season long that they can play with the rest of the competition in the NJAC.

Lay off O'Donnell

by Nick Gantalski

I know the Super Bowl is almost two weeks old, but I can't help not writing about how the Pittsburgh Steelers jumped ship on their quarterback Neil O'Donnell. O'Donnell, a New Jersey native who played his high school football at Madison High in Madison, obviously had a bad game when his team lost to the Dallas Cowboys.

He threw two crucial interceptions that basically cost his team the game. Ironically, Larry Brown of the Cowboys picked off both O'Donnell passes to earn Most Valuable Player award. The part of jumping ship comes into play when teammates of O'Donnell continued to trash him after the game was over about how his mistakes cost the Steelers a Super Bowl. One player in particular stands out in my mind the most, Rod Woodson. Woodson, who stands as one of the finest defensive backs in NFL history, missed almost an entire season due to an injury and surprisingly suited up for the big game. Woodson made comments about O'Donnell's eye-sight and also what he was looking at when he threw to Brown's side of the field. I'm sorry, but if it wasn't for O'Donnell, the Steelers would never have been in Arizona on Super Bowl Sunday. O'Donnell did more for that team than Woodson ever did and yet Woodson has the audacity to rant and rave over O'Donnell's mistakes. Woodson spends nearly an entire season on the sidelines, and has no evidence of proving that he assisted the Steelers in going to the Super Bowl, opens his mouth and cries how his quarterback blew the game. All I want to say is 'Woodson go home, where you've been all season long.'

One more thing on the Super Bowl before I leave for the week. What's the deal with Emmitt Smith going to Disney World? Brown won the MVP award not Smith. It almost seems as if the NFL coaches, fans and players believed Brown wasn't good enough or famous enough to be awarded the MVP. Come on, give the man respect, he's making a name for himself.

They still call me Bob the Guy

by Bob Czechowicz

Tim Thomas of Paterson Catholic and Shaheen Holloway of St. Patricks in Elizabeth are arguably two of the best high school seniors in the country. So, it's no wonder that every sportswriter in the country, including myself, is dying to find out which school these two players will be attending next fall.

They have both said that they would love to play together next year, however, the only school that they both have on their lists is Seton Hall. Wouldn't it be great seeing Seton Hall in the Final Four next year? Holloway said that if Thomas would commit to Seton Hall, he would do the same. The way I see it, Holloway should do what he wants and if Thomas and himself end up at the same school, great. Grand. Extravagant. Stunning. No, but seriously, if they end up at the same school, they will definitely make an immediate impact.

A couple of weeks ago, I was entering an elevator in the illustrious lobby of Bohn Hall. Upon entering, I was greeted to the words of, "You made a fool of yourself." One of my friends thought I was a fool saying that UMass would win the National Championship. Now, I'm not a psychic but I never traveled into the future to get a sports almanac from the year 2000, but folks, let's be serious, UMass is now 22-0 with not many tough games left. If they ride into the tournament with an undefeated record, I only have two words to say: look out.

It looks like it's going to be another NCAA Tournament dominated by the high seeds. I really don't see any sleepers emerging late in the season. The only teams that are doing good now are the teams that are supposed to be doing good. Duh. However, come tournament time I wouldn't be surprised if some team of unknowns from East Bumblefish made the tournament interesting.

This weekend I am going to see Rutgers get thrashed by the Villanova Wildcats.

Well, we're 3 weeks into the spring semester and I would like to announce that they still call me Bob the Guy.
Red Hawk Sports Week

Grey box denotes home game

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>THURS.</th>
<th>FRI.</th>
<th>SAT.</th>
<th>SUN.</th>
<th>MON.</th>
<th>TUES.</th>
<th>WED.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MSU</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Men's Basketball</td>
<td>At Rowan</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>William Pat.</td>
<td>8:00 p.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MSU</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Women's B-ball</td>
<td>At Rowan</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>William Pat.</td>
<td>6:00 p.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MSU</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Men's Swimming</td>
<td>Kean/ESU</td>
<td>Tri-match</td>
<td>6:30 p.m.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MSU</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Women's Swimming</td>
<td></td>
<td>Women’s Metro Championships at USMMA</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MSU</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Indoor track</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The Montclarion's Athlete of the Week

NAME: Chris Rea
YEAR: Junior
POSITION: 190LB
HIGH SCHOOL: Weehawken

Rea won all 3 of his matches at the Super 6 Tournament last weekend at Trenton State College.

Red Hawk Scoreboard

- Men's Basketball: loss to Stockton St 68-52
- Women's Basketball: win over Stockton St. 78-64
- Wrestling: loss to Binghamton 39-10; loss to Cortland State 46-12; loss to SUNY-Oswego 30-14

Do you have an opinion about the section? Then E-Mail the sports editors at: gantaiflsn czechowliczr

MONTCLARION 27
MSU falls flat in Super 6

By Nick Gantaifis

Last Saturday the MSU wrestling team travelled to Ewing Township to participate in the Super 6 at Trenton State College. Despite the success of late by the Red Hawks, MSU was completely flat as they dropped all three of their matches finishing the day in a disappointing manner.

In their first match, MSU fell to Binghamton 39-10, as Chris Rea (Weehawken), and Barrett Cervetto (West Creek) were the only winners. Rea, wrestling at 190 defeated Mark Gonzalez 17-0 to give MSU one of their only highlights in their loss to the nations 21st ranked team Binghamton.

In their second match of the day, MSU was blown out by Cortland State 46-12 as only two MSU wrestlers posted victories. Both Mike DeLuca, (Lyndhurst) wrestling at 118, and Rea won by forfeit, giving MSU their only points against a solid and strong Cortland State (15-3).

The last and final match of the day for the Red Hawks was against SUNY Oswego (16-7-1) which proved to be easier for MSU despite losing 30-14. DeLuca, Rea, and Cervetto all had victories in their weight class, with Rea finishing the Super 6 with a perfect 3-0 record. DeLuca decisioned Craig Kaper 9-2, while Rea and Cervetto posted technical falls in their bouts. Rea defeated Al Bush 16-0, and Cervetto topped Matt Sobolski 19-2.

The Super 6 was represented by Trenton State College, Renn, Binghamton, SUNY Oswego, MSU, and Cortland State. There were a number of nationally ranked individuals at Saturday's Super 6, with many squaring off with one another. Trenton State's 118 pound sensation Anton Atterbury, ranked #1 in the nation in his weight class, was decisioned by Binghamton's Jason Goldman, who is ranked #8, 7-6. Atterbury's loss was his first of the season, giving him an overall 10-1 record. In MSU's match against Binghamton, DeLuca faced Goldman in what would be a strong showing by DeLuca. DeLuca, who is nationally ranked at #4, was decisioned 2-1.

DeLuca, who is having a strong season, has shown all season long and throughout his career that he can wrestle with the best. Rea and DeLuca have displayed their talent all year and look forward to post season matchups.

S.I.L.C. Intramural League
Basketball Standings

X-Men 37, Get Busy 45. Get Busy was led by Jrv Callendrus' 13 points. Kevin Bemby and Jason Green also chipped in 10 apiece. Chris Jackson led X-Men with 10.

Alcoholics 28, Purculators 76. The Purculators were lead by the 15 points of both Terrance "Terry" King and Anthony Peopes. R. Meyer and Jason Sterner both chpped in with 12 for the Alcoholics.

Pigs Feet 37, All-Town 41. Marty Cross led All-Town with 17 points while Bill Watson contributed with 9. Pigs Feet were led by Chris Smith's 11 points.

Bombers 36, Red Eyes 40. Juice 32, Delta Chi 45.

Women's basketball bounces Stockton St.

by Bob "Ehno" Czechowicz

Last Saturday, the Montclair State women's basketball team took a trip to Pomona on the Osprey of Stockton State College. They left triumphantly, winning easily 78-64. Entering the game, Stockton had an overall record of 10-8, with a 6-7 mark in the conference, while Montclair came in with a 12-6 overall record and a 10-3 NJAC record.

MSU had five players in double figures, one of them being Jill Schultz (West Milford), who had 17 points on 5 of 8 shooting from the floor. She also connected on 6 of 8 free throws, and one of her field goals came from behind the three-point line.

Other players in double figures were Heidi Ringer (Linwood) with 19, Kim Kovar (Hazlet) with 13, Tracy Singletary (Keasbey) with 12, and Wykemia Kelley (Peterson) with 14. Wykemia scored seven of her 14 points during a run that gave MSU a 35-25 halftime lead. Kelley also dashed out 9 assists and pulled down four rebounds. Kim Kovar lead the team in rebounds with twelve, and also blocked seven shots.

Stockton State outrebounded the Red Hawks by a margin of 47-43, but MSU was able to capitalize off of Stockton's mistakes, having 27 of their points coming off of Osprey turnovers.

Leading the way for Stockton was Cory Musselman with 21 points, followed by Ann Mohrhauser with 17 points.

Stockton's record is now 10-9, and MSU's is 13-6. The Red Hawks are looking strong as the season is winding down.

Up next, the Red Hawks travel to Rowan on the 10th in a conference matchup. Tip-off is 2:00 PM.

MSU Wrestlers recently competed in the Super 6 at Trenton St.