New policies prevent weapons from entering party

Measures enacted by a new MSU campus party policy, including the use of metal detectors, prevented several weapons from entering a Student Center ballroom party last Saturday, and helped ensure the safety of 500 partygoers, Campus Police said.

Weapons including razor box-cutters, and knives were found on the floor of the Student Center, just outside the entrance to the ballroom where walk-through metal detectors were set up and manned by Campus Police, said Lieutenant Paul Cell. The weapons were apparently left behind when partygoers realized that they would have to go through the metal detectors, said Lt. Cell.

There were no arrests made.

The party, which was co-sponsored by Sigma Gamma Rho Sorority Inc., and Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity Inc., experienced no major incidents the rest of the night.

"Two people were treated for intoxication, one needing ambulatory care," said Lt. Cell. "Also the main door to the Student Center Annex was smashed by a beer bottle."

The new MSU party policies have enacted a number of changes in the way ballroom parties are run, and have helped cut down on the number of violent incidents at them, said Lt. Cell. The new policies were put into place after a stabbing incident last semester at a similar party.

"The new policy was designed by students, staff, administration, and Campus Police after numerous meetings, to ensure the safety of the parties," stated Lt. Cell.

The new party policy that has been put into effect for all Student Center ballroom parties, held by all organizations, consist of several new security measures.

Now, only MSU students and their guests are allowed to enter the party. "The old policy allowed anyone from any college into the party unescorted," said Lt. Cell. Each MSU student is allowed three guests that have to sign in prior to entering.

S.I.L.C.’s budget frozen by SGA because of violations

Student Government Association Treasurer John Cvelic temporarily froze the budget of the Student Intramural Leisure Council on Thursday, February 20, because S.I.L.C. did not hold elections for their executive board, as specified in the SGA Constitution, according to SGA President Amy Fisher.

S.I.L.C. was confronted by the SGA and their budget was frozen as a precautionary measure. "We wanted to prevent any problems that might have arisen," said Fisher. "We noticed a lot of inconsistencies, they (S.I.L.C.) lost the system of checks and balances that the organization needs."

S.I.L.C. will be holding executive board elections on Monday, March 3, where SGA Attorney General Greg MacSweeney will be present to supervise, as required in the SGA constitution. A memo to S.I.L.C. informing them that their budget was frozen because of "a lack of who was being held accountable for all finances," said Cvelic. "Their system was changing week to week. This especially applies to S.I.L.C. because they pay their members. There was always different signatures on their purchase requests."

Because of their lack of an organized executive board, there was some confusion about who signs their purchase requests. S.I.L.C. Treasurer Kevin McClease, was signing in place of S.I.L.C. President Andre Fryson, while S.I.L.C. Secretary Marty Cross was signing in place of McClease as Treasurer for the entire spring semester, McClease said.

Cvelic said the freeze on S.I.L.C.’s budget is a precautionary measure. "Two people were treated for intoxication, one needing ambulatory care," said Lt. Cell. "Also the main door to the Student Center Annex was smashed by a beer bottle."

The new MSU party policies have enacted a number of changes in the way ballroom parties are run, and have helped cut down on the number of violent incidents at them, said Lt. Cell. The new policies were put into place after a stabbing incident last semester at a similar party.

French bill aims to stop illegal immigration

France's lower legislative body is to take up a bill on Tuesday, that aims to curb illegal immigration and employment. A great debate has been started by the bill.

Opponents of the legislation have filled the streets of Paris to protest in recent days, including tens of thousands of protesters on Saturday.

In the face of this opposition, which has called for civil disobedience among protesters, the government has compromised on the bill's most controversial measure.

The bill had stated that French citizens hosting visitors would have to report their guests' movements to police. Now it has been proposed that it be up to the visitors themselves to check in when they change their residence.

Opponents claim that immigrants should not be "presumed guilty".

Funeral held for Chinese leader

Chinese leader, Deng Xiaoping, who died last week at 92, was delivered to Babaoshan cemetery by motorcade past thousands of mourners on Monday, reported the official Xinhua News Agency.

The motorcade brought the leader down Beijing's Avenue of Eternal Peace for the last time as his body was delivered to be cremated at the cemetery where many of China's revolutionary heroes are buried.

Deng's chosen successor, Jiang Zemin, and other Chinese dignitaries bowed three times before Deng's body in a traditional show of respect as it lay surrounded by flowers in the General Hospital of the People's Liberation Army, before being moved to the cemetery.

Peru willing to make concession to rebels

Peru's president, Alberto Fujimori, is reportedly willing to make a major concession for the release of more hostages being held by Marxist rebels in Lima.

Negotiators held a fourth round of talks on Monday, aimed at finding a peaceful resolution to the conflict.

The Marxist rebels are currently holding 72 VIP's hostage at the Japanese ambassador's residence.

Several of the injured were foreign tourists, visiting the famous tourist attraction.

Memorial for Cuban shoot-down victims to be held

Friends and relatives of four men that were killed, when planes of their Cuban exile group Brothers to the Rescue were shot down by Cuban fighters, plan to hold a memorial for their slain loved ones.

Several others, including young children were injured in a stampede of people that followed the shooting.

The incident is one of the most tragic events in the history of Cuba, but the United States and an international aviation organization has reported that the planes were in international airspace.

Relatives and members of the exile group plan to gather Monday in Miami to remember those killed, in a memorial that will include aircraft identical to the ones that were shot down flying in formation, and dropping flowers at the site of the downing.

The incident is considered a deeper freeze, prompting Congress to pass tougher anti-Cuban legislation.

Bomb found at Florida synagogue

Two children were found playing with a pipe-bomb that they had discovered at their local synagogue last Saturday.

The device was taken outside the Jacksonville Jewish Center, by two adults, who found the children, where police came and disarmed the bomb.

Relatives of the victims have called on the US-Cuban relations into a deeper freeze, prompting Congress to pass tougher anti-Cuban legislation.

One dead, six wounded in Empire State Building Shooting

A man opened fire on the observation deck of the Empire State Building Sunday, killing one, and wounding 6 before taking his own life, authorities said.

The gunman, a 69 year-old Palestinian, was taken to a hospital where he died more than 5 hours later.

Several others, including young children were injured in a stampede of people that followed the shooting.

The incident is considered a deeper freeze, prompting Congress to pass tougher anti-Cuban legislation.

No evidence has been found yet to link the two events. Police state that they are still uncertain who is responsible for planting the device.
The latest meeting of the Student Government Association was marked by the passage of a discussion of a student protest on April 15 to respond to the state budget proposed by governor Christie Whitman. In addition, a Class One charter was granted and two Judicial Branch Justices, a Cabinet member, and two legislators were appointed by President Amy Fisher.

After a closed session was called, discussion was held regarding a proposed student strike for April 15, in protest of the Whitman’s state budget. The plans for a student strike began at Ramapo College, and it has branched out to other public colleges and universities in the state, in an attempt to make April 15 a “statewide day of protest.” Further plans at other schools include a possible march to Trenton on April 24.

No definite plan of action has been set yet for MSU, but the SGA will be working on one in the upcoming weeks.

WMSC had their Class One charter renewed by the legislature. WMSC, the college radio station, is located at 90.3 FM, and features a variety of types of music, according to the organization.

Lauren Shapiro was appointed by Fisher to become the Director of Class II and III Affairs. This cabinet position acts as a liaison between the SGA and the numerous Class II and III organizations. Shapiro will be responsible for informing Class II and III organizations of SGA procedures, and is rewaried to keep a programming grid of events sponsored by these organizations.

Matthew Varisco and Amy Saber were also appointed by Fisher to become justices on the Judicial branch. This branch of the SGA, which had been vacant, oversees the actions taken by the other branches and determines the constitutionality of the bills passed by the legislature.

In addition, George Calle, the former assistant to the president, and Karen Cardell, were appointed to be legislators. This appointment was done in an attempt to increase involvement, according to Fisher.

The five GER program models presented included a range of alternative plans, including a plan similar to the one in use now. All of the models presented require a 58 credit General Education program, the same amount of credits required by the program now in place.

Some changes to the current GER program that were presented include, making the GER program a four year process, by requiring certain classes, certain years, so GER courses cannot be completed in two years.

A comprehensive wellness requirement was proposed to replace the physical education requirement that is currently in place. This would allow the requirement to be fulfilled by courses covering mental health as well as physical.

Other changes including, testing out of foreign language, and computer requirements, and broadening the oral education requirements were proposed.

The final and complete proposal will be distributed to faculty, administrators, and librarians on March 11. The recipients of the proposal will be asked to evaluate the models, give suggestions, and rank them.

Their budget is a precaution. “Once they have a meeting and hold legitimate elections with the Attorney General present, they will be able to have checks issued again.”

According to Cvelic, S.I.L.C. claimed they did not know that the Attorney General had to be present to hold elections. “They were given Class 1 policies, including chartering and financial procedures,” said Cvelic.

When a budget is frozen, no paperwork is processed and no checks are written, said Cvelic. However, S.I.L.C.’s programming will continue, as they are currently running intramural basketball. The organization needs to have checks issued to pay their referees and scorers, who receive $8 per game, which typically last less than an hour. The referees and scorers are undergraduate students and members of S.I.L.C. The students will get paid for work already performed, but not until the budget is restored, according to Cvelic. The students are paid under the 1099 tax form.

S.I.L.C.’s budget includes $10,400 listed under “Contractual Staff,” according to the SGA. This contractual staff is the payroll line to pay the referees and scorers. The contractual staff lines amounts to 61% of S.I.L.C.’s total annual budget, which is paid by student fees. S.I.L.C. has spent $3,310 of their payroll budget as of Wednesday, February 26, said Cvelic.

S.I.L.C. representative Kevin McClease feels the SGA has other motives and wishes to take the intramurals program away from the students. “They’re trying to make us look incompetent, so they can give S.I.L.C. to Campus Recreation,” said McClease. “The SGA hasn’t seen for themselves what we really do.”

A new walk-in metal detector was purchased, and is stationed outside of the entrance to the ballroom that each person must enter.

At 7 p.m. on the date of a ballroom party, the entrances at Quinn and Clove Roads are closed and manned with police to ensure that everyone entering campus is an MSU student.

Finally, the number of officers present at the party has increased, and there is now a maximum capacity of 500 people for a ballroom party. When that limit is reached all campus gates are shut down, disallowing anyone to enter campus who wishes to attend the party.

Saturday's party was the third one to have the new security measures in place. Previously, there was only one incident of a weapon being recovered because of the metal detectors, according to Lt. Cell.

"With all the help and cooperation, both on the part of Sigma Gamma Rho, Phi Beta Sigma, and the Campus police staff, the party was a great success," said Andrea Rouse, a representative of Sigma Gamma Rho. Rouse also hopes that in the future having two metal detectors will be possible in order to have long lines move quicker and the party run smoother.

present in the room, Lt. Cell said.

No narcotics were found at the scene, and an investigation on the case is underway. Campus police declined to comment further until the investigation is complete.

The situation raises serious questions about safety in the residence halls.

"It's scary," said Blanton Hall resident Eric Alders. "It's scary to think that someone like that can be allowed into the dorms, and there is no screening method to prevent it. What if a shooting did happen, even if Campus Police were there, they don't even have guns."

Margaree Coleman-Carter, Director of Residence Life, commented on the incident, "Well, I'm shocked, and very disappointed that someone would bring something like that into our community. They did not take into account what kind of effect this would have on the residents."

Coleman-Carter also expressed her satisfaction that someone was brave enough to call and report the situation to police. "I would strongly encourage people to continue to report things that are unacceptable (in residence halls). To me, this was just mindless."

This is the first incident of its kind at MSU in approximately 8 years, according to Coleman-Carter.

Questions were raised about whether an attempt will be made to present the proposal to the students. "All our efforts (to present the plan to students) in the past have only netted two or three students," said a University Senate member. The GER committee did state that it has presented the plan to the Student Government Association for their evaluation.

The committee expressed its wish to get feedback from the campus community on the GER proposal, so it can come to a plan that everyone agrees with before it is voted on.

"This is something for the benefit of our students, it has to be something the whole campus buys into," said Roberts.

RECYCLE YOUR MONTCLARI0N!
The Women’s Center and the Women’s Studies Program have announced events which will highlight Women’s History Month. Many influential speakers will be on campus to educate students of the importance of women in the world.

Activities will begin on Monday March 3, when University President Dr. Irvin D. Reid will issue a presidential proclamation at noon in the Student Center Quad. After the flag raising, Career Services will present “The Challenges for Women in Health and Science,” from 12:30 to 2p.m. in Student Center Room 411-414.

One of the month’s highlights will be the keynote address delivered by former United States Congresswoman Patricia Schroeder. A visiting scholar at Princeton University, Schroeder will speak on “Equity: The Elusive Target,” on Thursday, March 6, at 7p.m. in the Student Center Ballrooms. The event is free and open to all.

Schroeder was first elected to Congress in 1972. She won twelve general elections and retired undefeated earlier this year. The Colorado Democrat held numerous leadership positions, including chair of the Armed Services Subcommittee on Research and Development, chair of the Select Committee on Children, Youth, and Families, and Deputy Whip of the Democratic Caucus.

She sponsored legislation ranging from the Family and Medical Leave Act to the National Child Protection Act, the Child Abuse Accountability Act, and the Violence Against Women Act.

Schroeder, who earned her B.A. from the University of Minnesota and her J.D. from Harvard Law School, is the recipient of many awards. Last year alone, she received 17 major accolades including the Harry S. Truman Citizen of the World Award for distinguished public service, the Civil Libertarian for Life Award, the Barry Goldwater Human Rights Award, and the Public Leadership Educational Network Mentor Award. According to a recent profile in Ms. magazine, Schroeder “is a woman warrior who for more than twenty years has fought battles in the most difficult, most male-dominated areas of all - politics, the United States Congress, the House Committee on the Armed Services. And she has done right by us for every one of those years.”

Healthy Living

By Dr. Kathy Duncan, MD

February is designated “Heart Month” by the American Heart Association and MSU. On February 14th a lot of you gave and received expressions of the heart, but how many of you MSU students really stopped to think about your own heart or any other part of your body for that matter?

It’s difficult to think seriously about your body when it’s working well, but the habits you develop today are important way for us to give to our community.” Another member, Lorri Wilson agrees, “Just think about giving. Donated blood could be responsible in saving your life some day.”

All those involved in the event say that holding drives like these here at MSU lead to great personal satisfaction. Successful donors were rewarded with tasty eats afterward, but for an important reason. Donors need to replenish vital nutrients that are lost because of the donation process. Fruit juice is required to raise the blood sugar levels in the body.

Besides this one, Alpha Phi Omega is sponsoring two more blood drives in April. Look out for upcoming details.

Alpha Phi Omega contributes to local blood centers

Michele Romaine

Assistant Campus Life Editor

Last Thursday, February 20, Alpha Phi Omega sponsored their second blood drive of this semester. The multi-cultural, national service fraternity organized this event with the commitment to helping those in need of blood donor services. Although any amount of donations was considered beneficial, they hoped to do as well as their last drive, which raised over fifty pints of blood. All donations were given to the Blood Center of NJ, in East Orange.

As I watched perspective donors go through the mandatory medical evaluations necessary to be a donor, there were a few who were deferred. Some of the examples were due to students being on anti-biotics and other prescription medications. Since colds are so common throughout our campus, it is no wonder! Registered Nurse Joy White gave me another reason for deferment, and it is a dietary problem. “Women especially are at risk of having a low hemoglobin, due to the lack of protein in their diet.” As one female student was told that she was not eligible to donate because she was taking antibiotics, she left the ballroom very disappointed. “It is a great honor to donate blood. It makes me feel that I am doing something of value,” I was happy to know that the campus organizations care enough to run these kinds of events. “I’ll just try again, soon.”

Members of Alpha Phi Omega realize how vital it is to contribute to our local blood banks. Tracey Goldsberry reminds us of this by stating, “One pint of blood is enough to save two lives. This drive is an important way for us to give to our community.”

Another member, Lorri Wilson agrees, “Just think about giving. Donated blood could be responsible in saving your life some day.”

MSU Police present “Stay Alert, Stay Alive”

BY VICTORIA TENGENS
ASSISTANT CAMPUS LIFE EDITOR

Stay alert, stay alive; that should be your main objective when outside of your house. Although you may feel safe on campus, MSU has a higher crime rate then some of the local cities in New Jersey. Lieutenant Paul Cell warned at the self defense lecture sponsored by The Women’s Center on February 26. Lt. Cell and Fran Bellapianta provided some very important tips and demonstrated some defense techniques.

Awareness is the most important protection against an attack. First thing to remember is that “you don’t want to be clueless,” stay alert, walk with your shoulders back and your head up. Be aware of your surroundings, the most common reason an attacker will pick you is if he/she sees you as “easy prey.” A common misconception is that you should not make eye contact with someone that scares you, however you should do just that so that the person knows that you are aware of them.

Another tip is “don’t look afraid,” attackers pick up on that and know you are vulnerable. If your instincts tell you “don’t do it,” it’s important not to do it.” Stay away from routines, attackers often watch and know your routes, park in different areas and walk a different way to the campus or wherever you go regularly.

Levelheaded, staying level-headed is a key protection device. If you are being attacked or there is the threat of an attack, remain as calm as possible. Breathing is very important, it keeps your energy and helps you to keep your head. Screaming requires breathing so when you are attacked scream, a lot.

Initiate a defense plan, you do not have to be paranoid, just think about it. The key word, make as much noise as possible. Screaming not only attracts attention and breaks your attacker’s concentration. Although for years screaming is the key word, make as much noise as possible. If you have the opportunity to make a move at first, look for the right time and act.

Vocal

“If your instincts tell you not to, it’s important not to do it.”

Chlamydia screen can be done on all sexually active females less than 20 years old. Unintended pregnancy can be easily prevented by planned contraception. Women planning pregnancy should take a multivitamin containing folic acid, because this has been shown to significantly reduce a particular birth defect. Other disease found in this age group include: tetanus, hepatitis B, measles, and rubella; which are all preventable by immunizations.

Finally a brief note on diet and exercise. Limiting fat and cholesterol does wonders for your heart. The National Cancer Institute recommends five daily servings of fruits and vegetables. Exercise is very important to your heart. Aerobic exercise at least 3-4 times a week is another way to keep your heart healthy. Set your heart going now to keep it going later on! Copies of the USPSTF recommended interventions are available free of charge at the Center of Health Services and Wellness Programs.

Class One Concerts brings Weston to MSU for free show

BY BRENDAN WHELAN
STAFF WRITER

Weston, Shades Apart, Kid With Man Head, and American Standard played a free show in the Student Center Ballroom this past Tuesday, sponsored by Class One Concerts.

The evening started with MSU students and surrounding community grooving to the tunes of American Standard as their lead singer, Bill, entertained the dozing sound men with a belly dance. Even with their shortened set (due to a lack of time because of technical difficulties) American Standard prepared the crowd of 300 people for the incredible night of entertainment ahead. Everyone should run out and pick up a copy of their CD, Pis and Vinegar. Kid With Man Head was next to take the stage.

Twenty-fourth Annual Student Academy Awards competition

ASSOCIATED PRESS RELEASE

The twenty-fourth Annual Student Academy Awards competition is now underway, with applications available and regional coordinators in place to accept entries. The competition is sponsored by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences and the Academy Foundation.

For the program, the country is divided into three regions and students must first compete in the appropriate regional competition. Winning films from each of the three regions will then compete as national finalists. These films will be screened at the Academy’s headquarters in Beverly Hills, California, and voted upon by the Academy membership, the same film artists and craftspeople who vote to select Oscar Statuette-winning films.

Region Two encompasses the state of New Jersey. Films may be entered in one of four categories: alternative, animation, documentary, or dramatic. To be eligible, films of 16mm or larger must be produced within the curriculum of an accredited college or university, in a student-teacher relationship, and must have been completed after April 1, 1996. Entries must be received by April 1, 1997.

Students ultimately selected as national winners will be flown to Los Angeles to participate in a week of industry-related activities and social events that will culminate June 8 with the awards presentation ceremony at the Academy’s Samuel Goldwyn Theater. Cho exhibit at Al Di La

BY CHARLENE COLLINS HAUG
STAFF WRITER

A new exhibit at Al Di La restaurant premieres the first one-person show of works by Theresa (Jung Ohk) Cho. The art exhibit is a cooperative effort between Montclair State University’s Main Gallery and Al Di La. Ms. Cho is a BFA printmaking major.

Ms. Cho’s paintings and prints are full of color and movement, punctuated by chine colle imagery and recurring personal symbolism. The artist’s sense of color and her use of the printmaking medium is influenced by her background in calligraphy. “I was inspired,” she says, “by traditional oriental art. When working with calligraphy on hand-made paper, the colors are subtle, the black settles into beautiful variations.” Indeed, printmaking seems well-suited to this approach. In Peach Grove, the lines of the peach trees suggest the artist’s familiarity with calligraphic brushwork. The colors radiate with warm tones, dominated by yellow and orange. Ms. Cho explained that this piece reflects childhood memories of walking through peach grove with her mother.

One can see the importance and personal relevance of the imagery in this series of prints. Says Ms. Cho, “The symbolism relates to a traditional Korean form of dress, called a hanbok. My mom’s generation always wore the hanbok. The dress is used to represent my mom’s dance. Her generation was not allowed to dance in public, and when they lived with my grandmother, so my parents couldn’t dance. But, when my grandmother left the house, sometimes my mother would call over friends and invite them to dance. This memory stands out in my mind.” Red Square and Future incorporate the hanbok symbol and demonstrate the artist’s beautiful use of lush, dark colors and strong forms.

Dominick Anfuso, owner of Al Di La restaurant, says, “It is inspiring to have original works of art on the wall. The restaurant takes on a different note, it gives another dimension to the place.”

Cho’s collection, Dance of Color, is on display at Al Di La restaurant, 539 Bloomfield Ave., until April 30.
The Force is strong with this one, The Empire Strikes Back

BY CHRISTOPHER NAVETTA
HAN SOLO’S STUNT DOUBLE

Twenty years ago, a young unknown filmmaker by the name of George Lucas set out to create the most advanced, most humanistic science fiction epic to ever hit the big screen. He succeeded. Three years later, he did it again, surpassing his previous groundbreaking masterpiece.

In 1980, the much-anticipated sequel to Star Wars was released, dubbed The Empire Strikes Back. It picked up almost three years after the first story had ended, and introduced not only its characters to unparalleled danger and adventure, but fans and moviegoers around the world one of the greatest sci-fi works of all time. On Friday, February 21, theaters all over the country saw the re-release of this masterful space opera.

Like the original re-released almost a month ago, it was full of new computer-generated special effects, new footage, and a few extra surprises. The story, although known practically word-for-word to this writer and many other fans across the globe, proved to be as timeless and universal as ever. The omnipresent struggle between good and evil, especially when it involves light sabers and Millennium Falcons always seems to work. Empire brings the personas introduced in Star Wars into, as Lucas put it, the worst possible situations in their lives. Before this, however, we are able to experience, through them, a greater understanding of the Force and what it means to be a Jedi, the unexpected love between a princess and scoundrel, and meet an entire host of new aliens and travel to exotic lands from the icy plains of Hoth to the dismal slimy mudholes of Dagobah.

The principles of Mark Hamill, Harrison Ford, and Carrie Fisher reprise their roles from Star Wars each with added depth and conviction, and are complimented by the likes of Billy Dee Williams as Han Solo’s long-time friend Lando Calrissian, and the little known Jeremy Bullock as the enigmatic and feared bounty hunter, Boba Fett, who has since that time reached the status of a cult icon.

Another major player in this episo­de is that of Yoda, the 900-year old Jedi master puppeteered by long­time colleague of the late Jim Hensen, Frank Oz. Oz brings a realism to the latex and strings character that to this day makes the small Dagobah resident more believable than many actors will ever achieve.

Empire enjoys a plethora of spruced-up scenes, courtesy of the special effects wizards at Lucas’ production company, Industrial Light and Magic. New footage of the Wampa snow creature who attacks Hamill’s Luke Skywalker adds to the chilling scenes on Hoth, while CGI backgrounds add a completely new dimension to Cloud City, a mining facility and urban center floating high above the planet of Bespin.

Another computer-generated treat is Darth Vader’s trip from Cloud City to his Star Destroyer, which actually includes some outtake footage from the final installment in the Star Wars Trilogy, Return of the Jedi. These shots, combined with a digitally re-mastered sound mix and musical score bring the film to a new level for old fans and present a cleaner, more up to date look for newcomers.

Empire, in the long run, is a success in almost all respects. While Lucas caught some flack for not fixing all the quirks and mistakes of the first Star Wars as he originally set out to do, he seems to make up for it with its sequel. Not to ruin it for anyone, but I think there might be some relation between Luke and Darth Vader, and it always seemed to me that Luke kissing Leia was like a brother kissing his sister. One can only wait for the March 14 release of Jedi, and hope for some answers.

A letter from the editor...

With the end of my glorious (and I might add, extremely long) college career nearing, I am forced to think about the future of my beloved arts & entertainment section of the Montclarion. Even though I have acquired quite a few talented writers for the section, I still have yet to find a courageous individual to take over my position of arts editor (the arts assistant position will also be available as well) here in the basement of the Student Center and time is running out!

Not wanting to see the section dissolve (which is what will happen), I am imploring you, the students of MSU, to find it in your hearts to come work at the Montclarion. No experience is necessary, I am quite willing to teach the perspective editor all they need to know (I don’t bite!). There are many wonderful and fun benefits to being the arts editor and it is (in my opinion) the best editorial position here at the Montclarion. So please, don’t let the arts disappear! Come down to the Montclarion or e-mail me at Perry@alpha.montclair.edu. Good luck with midterms and enjoy the rest of the semester.

Benefit concert for NJ Community Water Watch

n Wednesday, Feb. 12, a benefit concert was held for the NJ Community Water Watch at the Yackety-Yak Cafe. Co-sponsored in part by the Conservation Club, WMSC, and numerous fraternities and sororities, the club was rocked for over three hours by the bands Loser, Resin Hits, and The Noise.

Loser (Rick Smith, drums; Mike Barton, bass; Carl Haupt, vocals, guitar) started the show with some covers and performed a good deal of their own material. Covers included material such as Smashing Pumpkins’ “Rat in a Cage,” and Seven Mary Three’s “Water’s Edge.” Standouts of original material included the “Loser Song,” and “Mission Terraform Mars.”

The Rezin Hits (Josette, lead guitar; Michelle Hannah Leigh, guitar, vocals; Kevin O’Brien, drums, vocals; T.R. Gwyen, bass, vocals) then took the stage to perform a set composed mostly of their own material, and kept the audience amused by quoting Simpsons material. Interspersed with original songs, they performed a few covers including, Gene Simmons’ “(Living In) Sin in the Holiday Inn.”

Closing the night, The Noise (Frank Reilly, drums; Joe Bass, bass; Mark Donohue, guitar; Pete Quilla, guitar; Clifford, vocals) performed brand new songs along with some of their older material such as “Ramona,” and “Car Crash.” To end their set, they rocked out with a Replacements cover, “Johnny’s Gonna Die.”

A great time was had by all, and the event raised almost $400 for the NJ Community Water Watch.

WKTU makes comeback, donates to AIDS research

BY VANESA L. SCOZZARRO

or those of you who haven’t tuned your radio dial to 103.5 FM lately, and listened to the new sounds of New York City’s WKTU, you are missing out on some great music.

The station came back on the air February 10, after over a decade of being replaced by several other stations with different formats of music. Back then, KTU played everything from disco to club music, and in the past year they’ve come back strong, playing the same old format, yet spicing it up with some newer styles of music.

To celebrate their success, KTU threw an anniversary party Valentine’s Day in the Roxy Night Club in New York City. They invited several recording artists such as Livin’ Joy, No Mercy, Collage, and several other new and talented performers. That night, over 3,000 people filled the dance floor of the famous night club, formerly known as Club 1018, and you can be sure we all had a dynamic evening dancing the night away!

The speakers were blasting songs that I hear everyday on KTU, along with some classics that I grew up listening to. Everyone was having a great time dancing, watching the performers, and meeting new faces. People of different ages, races, and backgrounds came together to celebrate the success of the radio station.

This radio station has brought back so many memories for me and millions of other listeners. The station donated $20,000 to the LifeBeat for Heartbeat Foundation for AIDS Research. This was a powerful way of bringing out AIDS awareness and showing that the music industry can make a difference in terminating this deadly virus.

The free market and multiculturalism suppress empowerment of diverse groups

In response to last week’s column, “The true reality of multiculturalism,” I want to say that in a culture weaned on the vulgar misnomers “Judeo-Christian” or “Protestant” ethics, blaming the victim for poverty is all too common regardless of race or ethnicity. Remember, the market tells us that if things are not going our way here, we should relocate or retrain. It is us and not the system that has failed, or so says the culture.

Regardless of ethnic origin, we have all been shaped by European socio-political and literary forms. This is not bias, it is history. When we speak of human rights, democracy, or equality, we are echoing the sentiments of the Enlightenment and bearing witness to the changes set in motion by colonial powers.

Of course, we live in a world of diverse reactions to this situation. One would have to be cloistered, dead, or truly ignorant not to notice. Therefore we all should be “multiculturally aware” long before we enter the university. If at this point we cannot respect differing opinions, we do not belong at this school.

But “multiculturalism” is used, along with the “free market,” to suppress the empowerment of diverse groups. Emphasis on root differences rather than enlightened human rights is divisive. It creates a “white” culture which claims all humanism for itself. People who are transferred or relocate “as needed” are not concerned with long term local viability; voter apathy increases. Groups which squabble or accept victim blaming are ripe prey for those who rule and who profit from diversity.

Is it a free for all at MSU?

I arrived on campus around 10:30 this morning. I was not very surprised that I could not find a parking space. Instead of trying to follow someone to their car as they walked to it I went up near Blanton Hall. The first person I saw asked if I was coming to work. She said “yes” and I offered her a ride to her parking space. She could not locate her car and it turned out she doesn’t even go to MSU. She was up on campus to use the computer lab. Wow, I thought, how is it that I pay for these services in my tuition and then a person who isn’t even a student of MSU takes up a space in our computer labs? I read an article about this in a previous Montclarion but I didn’t know this happens often.

I remember waiting for a computer during finals last semester. How many of the people using the lab at that time were students of MSU? How come no one checks for student I.D. when you walk into the labs? I wouldn’t mind, I pay to go here so I have one. How can these people get on campus with our top notch security guards at all the entrances to the school? I mean the guard at the gate I come into on Valley Rd. just waves everybody to go through. These facilities are not free to me or you, so why should they be to anyone else? Something has to be done.

P.S. And she wasn’t even parked close.

“Selfish solutions” will not solve the parking system problems at MSU

It is very rare that I will ever question one’s opinions or their right to express them. But I cannot describe how annoyed I felt after reading William J. Gibbs Jr.’s “solutions” to our parking system in the February 13th issue of the Montclarion.

The only issue that Mr. Gibbs and I are in agreement on is that our parking system is, in fact, ridiculous. But then Mr. Gibbs skews off into a description of his own “perfect world,” where residents get all the benefits of first class while commuters are thrown into coach. After all, in his article he says, “They do their share by driving 300 miles a week to school.”

I have read and re-read Mr. Gibbs letter over a dozen times, and each time I just laugh harder. He thinks that your 110 mile journey home compares to the 300 miles I put on my car in a week driving to school? He thinks that the few times you’ve been late to class compare to the dozens of times I’ve been late because I’ve had to park in Lot 23? And I won’t even touch on his migraine theory because that was true, every student who has any type of medical condition would need an emergency parking spot right next to their room.

Mr. Gibbs’ “solutions” are both selfish and irrational. And his reasoning behind them unfounded. Thank God that he was not one of the Founding Fathers of the United States, or our system of checks and balances would never have existed.

Six strikes are you out?

The Student Intramural Leisure Council (S.I.L.C.) had its budget frozen last week by SGA Treasurer John Cvekl. The reason: this action was taken because S.I.L.C. had no elected Executive Board and there were “always” last minute purchase requests,” according to Cvekl. However, as soon as the “legitimate elections with the Attorney General present,” their budget will be unfrozen and this would be a huge mistake.

This is not the first strike against S.I.L.C. to occur. It is more like the sixth or seventh, and that incompetence should not be rewarded with privatization of the members who helped create the present problems. For instance: S.I.L.C. had problems scheduling for use of the basketball courts in Panzer gym and could barely use the courts for practice. The field used for flag football is not properly marked and would be turned away from S.I.L.C. leagues.

This is due, in part, from the fact that many of the people in charge of S.I.L.C. also play on teams in S.I.L.C. By both running and participating in the league, these individuals assure the team selection process should be much fairer than that. S.I.L.C. games are officiated by students who play for S.I.L.C. leagues more than one week prior to sign-up deadlines. And are they anywhere other than their own Panzer gym or a corner in Blanton Hall? Certainly more can and should be expected of people in charge of S.I.L.C. leagues.

There are reports that teams have actually cheated on being S.I.L.C. members, and that their team is in — and others are excluded from it. The team selection process should be much fairer than that. S.I.L.C. leagues are officiated by students who play for S.I.L.C. leagues more than one week prior to sign-up deadlines.

Whatever the SGA decides, the current 120 paying members of the current E-Board must be able to vote on how to deal with S.I.L.C. This is due, in part, because S.I.L.C. has proven to be a recipe for disaster. Independent referees who are well versed in league rules and procedures should be used for S.I.L.C. games. And S.I.L.C. should work with the Campus Recreation Department to use the gym from gym times to uniform contractors.

The other option is to give S.I.L.C. an additional $1,000 for the upcoming election. Also, the way S.I.L.C. handles its budget must be changed. Students should have part of their fees returned and that’s a clear conflict of interest, and has proven to be a recipe for disaster. Independent referees who are well versed in league rules should be used for S.I.L.C. games. And S.I.L.C. should work with the Campus Recreation Department to use the gym from gym times to uniform contractors.

The only two options for dealing with S.I.L.C. are to vote the league, referee league games, and participate in league games. That’s a clear conflict of interest in the league, and has proven to be a recipe for disaster. Independent referees who are well versed in league rules should be used for S.I.L.C. games. And S.I.L.C. should work with the Campus Recreation Department to use the gym from gym times to uniform contractors.

The other option is to give S.I.L.C. over to the Campus Recreation Director. Steve Redrup is more than willing to take on the role, and all the problems would be solved.

The second option is the only two options for dealing with S.I.L.C. The first is to clean house from top to bottom. Students should have the right to vote on who plays with his team at 9 p.m. and referees another at 10 p.m. cannot be impartial. It is clear that unfairness creates favoritism and animosity during the season. It is not clear that the current system is better.

The Nonconformist
by William J. Gibbs, Jr.

In the February 13th issue of the Montclarion, the Main Editorial was entitled “Enough is Enough”. It discussed the immaturity of some of the students at MSU when it came to defacing school property with graffiti. I totally agree that graffiti is immature. But saying that their behavior is similar to that of a high-school student would be a complement to these delinquents. Behavior such as this is far more comparable to the elementary school level. Writing on objects is just plain childish. How cool is it for an adult to be writing their name on the wall? How hideous would it look to see your mom and dad writing their anniversary date on the side wall of the Student Center? Well, college students doing graffiti art all over our campus is just as stupid. If you want to be an artist, do a painting and hang it in the Metropolitan Museum of Art. The buildings and sidewalks of our campus are not a canvas for aspiring artists!

Even worse is the pastel colored sidewalk chalk that many organizations use to post messages about upcoming parties and events. Oh sure, they want to reach a large scale crowd with small scale effort. Sadly, these students do not realize how their “chalking” takes away from the beauty of our campus. We are lucky to have such a pretty campus, nestled in the mountains, with its tree-lined cobbledstone walkways, Spanish architecture, and beautiful green grass. Pastel colored sidewalk chalk takes this beauty and transforms it into that of an elementary school playground. I want to walk to class, not play hopscotch!

Maybe your organization has a party they want to promote, but there are better means of getting the message out than chalk on our walkways and even on our buildings. Yes, just last week there was chalk on the wall surrounding the entryway of Freeman Hall. While this building may not be among our more visually attractive buildings on the campus, chalk only makes it look worse. We live in dorms at MSU, not prison cells.

Also, I have seen pink and blue pastel chalk residue from prior postings on the outside walls of the Student Center. Thanks to the chalking, the building exterior is now stained. How dignified does that look? That section of wall will probably need another coat of paint because of this careless method of publicity.

Therefore, I offer my solution to this problem:

Post a colorful sign or a banner stating your cause. There are several places where you can get temporary “bar style” plastic signs made that stick into the ground. Post in a place where a majority of students will see it. This will not only keep the beauty of the campus, but it will also increase the turn out for the event. A well placed sign is going to attract much more attention than some gaudy chalk on the walkway. Also, rain cannot wash out a plastic sign as quickly as it can chalk. Plus, people will not walk on the signs, fading them like the chalk. Flyers are also nice, make them colorful and place them on the new information boards outside. That is what their purpose is. Tape them down well so they do not blow away. If people tried these methods, they’d realize that a little effort goes a long way in both getting people to come out to events and making MSU a better looking place to live.

Wild Jungle Chickens?

by Edward Flannery IV
Finishing School Graduate

One time when I was little, I put a grape flavored vitamin up my nose. I had to go to the doctor to have it removed. I don’t take grape vitamins anymore. That was pretty embarrassing. I’m not even going to tell you where I got a Flintstone vitamin stuck, but I will tell you, if that vitamin were a real cartoon, he would have been pissed. I bet cartoons never get vitamins stuck in strange orifices. Do cartoons eat vitamins? I know that cartoons eat. I guess that means that cartoons go to the bathroom too. Person­ally. I would prefer not to picture such things. I did get caught marking a fire hydrant once. I didn’t get in any trouble, and no doctor had to dislodge anything from my body, so I guess everything turned out okay. I think that it is pretty cool how dogs mark their territory. I wish I was allowed to do that. Unfortunately, my room­mate screamed at me the last time I took a leak in the corner of our room. He suggested that I put kitty litter around the room to absorb my pee, but he said it real sarcastically, so I don’t think he really meant it. I do not understand kitty litter. Do wild jungle cats use anything simi­lar? I would like to get a small farm in the jungle. The climate seems to be good for growing stuff. Look at how big those trees and stuff are. I bet I could grow some kickass tomatoes, and other vegetables. I think jungle veggies would be huge if I did everything right. I also plan to capture some wild jungle chickens and learn to raise them in captivity. My diet might be a little deficient, but I could probably stock up on a ton of vitamin supplements, but no grape ones.

Perin Erey, also known as “Dancing Bear Marauder” at work, was having a rather annoying day. Perin works at WORLD WIDE EXTREME WRESTLING FEDERATION as a pain-delivery technician at the WRESTLING POWERDRome located in Zaxxon, NJ. Well, that’s what she prefers to call her position—she’s actually a professional wrestler, who specializes in the “Beat the piss out of your opponent while listening to ‘Truckin’’ tradition in fighting.

Today, she was scheduled to fight against Tim “Scrawny Irish Kid” Casey, who, even with his “IRISH POWER” would be no match for Perin’s rabid and vicious supermove: the Jerrytown. But, her bosses in the WWWF told her that she had to throw the fight, in order to bring about a really cool good guy/bad guy plot twist. She was going to go on from being the champion of Grateful Dead Enthusiasts, to the evil and terrifying RECORDING INDUSTRY SELLOUT. They told her to burn her Grateful Dead Collection in the ring, and start listening to John Tesh, to follow along in their disgustingly plot twist.

Perin would have no such plot twist occur with her character, so she started to beat the piss out of her bosses, her trainer, her make-up personnel, her best friend and tag-team partner Ron “FIRESTARTER” McFeely, her limousine driver, Bob, her mother’s cousin’s former roommate, and some old guy in the audience. (Fortunately, she didn’t notice that a cameraman taping her beating the piss out of everyone, and broadcast it to the entire wrestling-watching world, making her a superheroine to all Grateful Dead fans great and small.)

She then went into the ring, put poor Tim “Scrawny Irish Kid” Casey into the worst headlock ever done onto any human being, crippling him from now to the hereafter. She then beat the piss out of the referee, and flung it into the audience, and left the arena. “I need a beer,” was the only thought that could creep into her mind. She did have a rather far drive ahead of her, but she made it to her favorite watering hole, John’s Tavern in Trowelsville, NJ. It was there where a dorky space-alien invader from Zugarti X-15 named Edgar Boobsbry would try to pick her up and make her his “lady queen chick.”

Let me be your hunka hunka burnin’ love,” said the alien king.

“That’s it. I’ll get some over-time for this one,” said Perin “Dancing Bear Marauder” Erey. She picked up the alien invader, slammed him on the ground, and then performed her dread move: The Jerrytown. She got up on a table, lunged at him, and knocked the piss out of him. She then took his head, and banged it into the ground 15 times. She then slammed a chair into his head. Needless to say, Edgar was in pain.

“Chick-oo, err, eh, look at de perdy birdz,” he said to Robert, who was incredibly bored, and who was looking for a good time, decided that this was a cause for a good, old-fashioned, bar brawl. Robert tagged Perin’s hand, and started to randomly hit patrons in his bar. He had his tip money for the day, so he figured he’d have some fun. He started to throw tables, Perin randomly beat people—it was amazing! She saw some idiot wearing a Star Trek uniform. He looked at her with a suave “James T. Kirk” look, she looked at him with a “I’m going to kick you in the crotch” look. She then kicked him in the crotch. He no longer had the “James T. Kirk” look on his face. It was replaced with the “Ow, I’m in serious pain” look.

Although Robert and Perin were getting a kick out of the whole bar brawl, somebody in John’s Tavern didn’t like it one bit, so he called the police. The police restrained Perin and Robert, and dragged them into a police car. Perin took out a time sheet, and logged an hour of overtime on her daily schedule. Robert, although frowning as usual, tried to make himself realize that he had a really great time.

The next day, Robert was released, and forced to read a book called “Don’t Bludgeon Your Fellow Man,” by Dr. Mark Foupberg, which he used to bludgeon Jack J. O’Connell with, who had a rather bad day, who the Zugarti X-15 got even with for their leader’s bludgeoning.

Confused? You better be. This is nothing. This is just the beginning. Although the time stream got a little messed up while you were reading this, you have actually gotten to the beginning of the story. Congratulations. You’ve made it this far. Stay strong, and don’t stress. This is the easiest part of the story. At least that’s what the voices in my head tell me...

Has the author, John J. O’Sullivan, completely lost his mind? Does he need more coffee? Will he have everyone else from the Montclairion in the story line by the end of the semester? How the hell should I know? I’m only a waste-o-space box! I’m lucky that I know this much. Read next week to find out...Lame ass!
To the steady crew.

See you out there.

From the field, MSU shot 35 percent (21/60) to CNJ’s 39 percent (22/56). At the free-throw line, the Red Hawks hit 42 percent (5/8) while the Lions sank 75 percent (3/4), but from behind the arc, MSU hit 32 percent (4/12) to CNJ’s 31 percent (4/13). While the percentages may have been in the Lion’s favor, the numbers show how close the game actually was.

Freshman forward Lindsay Robinson (Shrewsbury) had 11 rebounds, seven points and five steals. Jill Schultz (West Milford), a junior guard, and Kelly had 11 rebounds, seven points and 15 assists.

It was a balanced game, and we played strong,” said Coach Bradley.

On Monday night, the Red Hawks traveled to Rutgers/Camden for a third time this season, the second in two weeks, to face the Pioneers to decide which team would face the Rowan College Profs in the first round of the NJAC tournament. In what might have been her last game for MSU, senior guard Heidi Klingert (Linwood) came off the bench to score a season-high 26 points.

“Klingert scored eight straight points and five steals. Jill Schultz (West Milford), a junior guard, and Kelly had 11 rebounds, seven points, and 15 assists. Jill Schultz scored 12 points. Freshman forward Lindsay Robinson (Shrewsbury) also had 11 rebounds, seven points, and five steals.

While tutoring Kelly about ball handling, she became “red-shirted” last season, Villalta said. She learned a lot from the sidelines.

“After I’m gone, Wykemia (Kelly) will definitely step up. She has matured so much since last year. She had such a heavy load as a freshman when she had to fill my position when I injured my knee last year. And she really performed.”

Kelly was named New Jersey Athletic Conference Rookie of the Year last season.

“This year, she’s worked with me and has improved greatly since we’ve been playing together,” Villalta said.

While tutoring Kelly about ball control and the responsibility of the point guard, Villalta said that she has learned from her underclassmen as well.

“She puts a lot of pressure on me during practice, and that makes me step up my game. When I step up my game, she steps up, and so on. This makes the whole team pumped up and perform on another level. We know each other so well we can predict each other’s actions,” Villalta said.

ON LISA VILLALTA

BY DENNIS L. DEMERCURIO

At the end of the season, MSU says goodbye to one of its key basketball players, senior guard Lisa Villalta.

Former all-county, all-conference, and all-state player from Harrison, NJ, Villalta will graduate with a degree in Health and Physical Education next fall.

Villalta wants to teach in a high school and coach basketball. In fact, she’s already landed an assistant softball coaching position at her former high school.

“I used to play softball as well as basketball in high school,” said Villalta, “but I got recruited for basketball here at MSU.”

Villalta has been an essential part of the Red Hawk’s women’s basketball team, and filling in her shoes will be an arduous task.

“Villalta was named New Jersey Athletic Conference Rookie of the Year last season.

“This year, she’s worked with me and has improved greatly since we’ve been playing together,” Villalta said.

While tutoring Kelly about ball control and the responsibility of the point guard, Villalta said that she has learned from her underclassmen as well.

“She puts a lot of pressure on me during practice, and that makes me step up my game. When I step up my game, she steps up, and so on. This makes the whole team pumped up and perform on another level. We know each other so well we can predict each other’s actions,” Villalta said.

This ability allows for uninterrupted flow of game play when either player substitutes for the other.

When she became “red-shirted” last season, Villalta said she learned a lot from the sidelines.

“I got to see things from the outside that a player normally don’t see. I could see what mistakes were being made and how they were being made. When I got back on the court, I made the right adjustments.”

In January, when the women’s basketball team traveled to Antigua, Villalta was excited at the idea of playing outside.

“I love playing outdoors. I hadn’t done it nearly two years because of my knee injury.” Villalta said.

She will be participating in a summer league this year and, if she’s a better player under the sun than she is under a roof, there’s no reason to believe she can take her team all the way.

MSU finishes 3rd in the Metropolitan Wrestling Tournament

Three Red Hawks qualify for NCAAs

BY DAWN D’EROSA
SPORTS INFORMATION OFFICE

The College of New Jersey wrestling team won eight of ten weight classes and did not have a wrestler finish lower than second place. The Lions easily won the 1997 Metropolitan Conference Wrestling Tournament, outscoring second place York College, 209.5 to 110.5, at MSU’s Panzer Gymnasium on Sunday afternoon.

The host Red Hawks finished in third place, scoring 103 points, and had one winner, Scott Stepe (Wanaque) at 177 pounds. MSU, however, received two wild card selections and will send three wrestlers to the national tournament.

TCNJ also received two wild card selections, and with its eight winners, will have 10 wrestlers at the NCAA Tournament.

Additionally, TCNJ saw head coach Dave Iccnhower, who is in his 21st year with the Lions, win the 1997 Metropolitan Coach of the Year Award, and 158-pounder Dan O’Cone (Lavalette) win the Most Outstanding Wrestler Award for the second straight season. At 126 pounds, Anton Atterbury (Budd Lake) of the Lions was awarded with the 1997 Metropolitan Senior trophy.

All winners at each weight class get an automatic bid to the upcoming 1997 NCAA Division III National Championships, which will be held March 7-8 at Ohio Northern University in Ada, OH. The coaches then selected eight “wild card” participants. Of the eight “wild card” participants, two are from MSU. 134-pounder freshman Justin Nuddick (Linden) and heavyweight sophomore Barrett Cervetto (West Creek). remaining in the game the score was knotted at 44, then a minute later the Raiders hit a three point shot and never trailed again.

For the game, Jeron Rayam of the Raiders led all scorers with 23 points. Weipz had a Red Hawk high 16 points followed by Fowler who had 13. Fowler also had a team high 11 rebounds and five assists. Rex had 12 points and nine rebounds while Reilly and Sutherland both had 10 points.

The Red Hawks shot 40 percent from the field and a horrible 12 of 19 from the free throw line. The Red Hawks were 11-12 following the defeat and knew that in order to have a shot at qualifying for the ECAC tournament, they would have to finish at .500.

The Red Hawks came out of their two game funk and tamed the College of New Jersey Lions by winning 85-71. The Red Hawks outscored TCNJ 51-39 during the decisive second half including a 17-10 run that put the game away.

Four Red Hawks scored in double figures including Reilly who had an absolutely incredible game. He scored 22 points and dished out six assists while shooting seven for 14 from the field including five for 11 from behind the three point arc. Sutherland scored 19 while shooting eight for 16 from the field. Weipz had 12 points including seven straight during one stretch of the second half. Rex had 12 points while coming off the bench and grabbed five rebounds. Fowler scored nine points and grabbed a game high 11 off the glass.

Overall the Red Hawks had a very solid game. They shot 44 percent from the field and greatly improved their free throw shooting connecting on 15 of 17 attempts. They grabbed 44 rebounds compared to 37 for the Lions. Their win evened their record at 12-12. They will just have to wait until the bids for the ECAC Tournament are handed out next week. Let us hope that next week Head Coach Nick Del Tufo gets that important phone call from the ECAC telling him that his Red Hawks have indeed made the post-season.

Defeat The College of New Jersey, Rutgers/Camden to secure fourth place

BY DENNIS L. DEMERCURIO
SPORTS EDITOR

The MSU Women’s basketball needed two wins and one loss by Rutgers/Camden or one win and two losses by the Pioneers to easily secure fourth place in the New Jersey Athletic Conference. But the Red Hawks never do things the easy way. Rutgers/Camden split their week, and MSU did the same by falling to Rutgers/Newark, 59-46, but upset The College of New Jersey in a squeaker, 52-51. This caused both teams to be tied 11-7 in the NJAC and a third meeting between these two team to see who will face the Rowan College Prof tonight.

They headed into last Wednesday’s game against Rutgers/Newark feeling confident knowing they had already defeated the Pioneers once this season. However, the confidence was nowhere to be found on the court.

“It was a nightmare.” said Head Coach Gloria Bradley.

The Red Hawks shot a dismal 24 percent (14/58) from the field, 57 percent (15/26) from the free-throw line, and 23 percent (3/13) from the three-point arc. The Pioneers, without a chance for the post season, played a tough defensive game and shot 34 percent (20/59) from the field, 60 percent (17/28) from the line, and 67 percent (2/3) from the arc. The numbers added up to a crucial MSU loss.

Last Wednesday, February 19 the 12-12 Red Hawks (6-12 NJAC) played the 10-14 Rutgers-Newark Raiders (6-12 NJAC) at the Golden Dome in Newark. Although MSU had a 37-31 advantage at the half, once again they couldn’t hold on to the lead. They ended up losing 84-69 as they were outscored 53-32 in the second half.

Following their defeat the Red Hawks headed home for their final game of the regular season on Saturday at Panzer Gym. They rebounded from the defeat and blew out the 14-10 College of New Jersey (10-8 NJAC) 85-71 as sophomore point-guard B.J. Reilly (Middlesex) had a sensational night. He scored 22 points and handed out six assists for a new MSU record of 150, breaking the old mark of 147 set by Keith Roberts during the 1993-94 season.

In Wednesday’s loss at Rutgers-Newark, the Red Hawks scored 37 points in the first half and grabbed 26 rebounds. Reilly scored nine, senior guards Greg Fowler (Plainfield) and Rohan Sutherland (Miami, FL) scored seven, and sophomore forward John Weipz (Waretown) also scored seven. Raheem Rex (Atlantic City) had five points and six boards during the half. The Red Hawks shot 41 percent from the field and made seven of nine free throws. They appeared to be on their way to their twelfth victory of the season, but the second half proved otherwise. They came into the second half with a six point lead, but came out with a 15 point loss.

The starting line-up for the Red Hawks went five for four from the field, showing what kind of an off night the team had. “The one positive thing we learned from this game was that we couldn’t shoot any worse” said Coach Bradley.

About the only highlights for MSU were freshman forward Felicia Ingram’s (S. Brunswick) 17 rebouds and sophomore guard Wykemia Kelly’s (Pateron) 13 points.

Going into Saturday’s game against the College of New Jersey, senior guard Lisa Villalta (Harrison) said, “I need to step up. My job as point guard is to get the ball to those who can score. I think if I do my job, step it up, that will make the rest of the team step up, and we can win the game.”

And that they did, playing a solid game against CNJ, with little fouling (only four free throws against them) which has been a consistent problem for MSU this year. Ingram had just three points all day, the last being a free throw she hit with 1:48 left in the game. As the Red Hawks defeated the Prof’s, 52-41.

Going into Saturday’s game against the College of New Jersey, senior guard Lisa Villalta (Harrison) said, “I need to step up. My job as point guard is to get the ball to those who can score. I think if I do my job, step it up, that will make the rest of the team step up, and we can win the game.”

And that they did, playing a solid game against CNJ, with little fouling (only four free throws against them) which has been a consistent problem for MSU this year. Ingram had just three points all day, the last being a free throw she hit with 1:48 left in the game. As the Red Hawks defeated the Prof’s, 52-41.

“The (Rutgers) scored 26 points off of 30 turnovers,” Coach Bradley said, “and we only scored on five of 26 offensive turnovers.”

The starting line-up for the Red Hawks went five for four from the field, showing what kind of an off night the team had. “The one positive thing we learned from this game was that we couldn’t shoot any worse” said Coach Bradley.

About the only highlights for MSU were freshman forward Felicia Ingram’s (S. Brunswick) 17 rebouds and sophomore guard Wykemia Kelly’s (Pateron) 13 points.
