SGA planning walkout to protest tuition increase

BY PAULA LADSA
STAFF WRITER

The SGA is planning a series of rallies that will conclude with a student “walkout” on April 15, Tax Day, at 12 p.m. in the Student Center quad against the proposed tuition increase caused by a $2,795,000 budget gap, SGA President Amy Fisher said.

The first rally will be on March 25. Students concerned with the tuition increase will have a chance to speak in front of the Board of Trustees about how the increase will affect them. Fisher expressed her hope that large group of students attend the rally so that their concerns are heard and taken seriously.

The second rally will be on April 8 at the next Board of Trustees meeting. Fisher said another large group of students with signs is needed at the meeting. Fisher hopes to get students interested in speaking out during the meeting at which the press will be present.

Between the second and third rally candidates running for governor will be on campus to educate students about the changes in the budget. Gov. Christine Todd Whitman may also present on campus to speak, Fisher said.

The third rally, to be held on April 15, will be a student “walkout”, where there will be an open forum and members of the faculty will be invited to come out and speak. MSU’s radio station will be present in addition to the local press.

Fisher is in the process of writing letters to the editors of the university asking them to be sympathetic to the students during the walkout. She realizes sacrifices will have to be made by the students and wants the penalties of the rally to be minimized.

“I think the rallies are a good idea, the only people who change things are those who speak up,” Jen Maillet, a speech communication major said.

The rallies are geared towards the state and the MSU administration. The SGA is also trying to organize a letter writing campaign to legislators to voice student concerns.

The state cuts MU’s managed attrition program almost $1/2 million, said Harry Schuckel, Executive Director of MSU’s Budget and Planning Office: In addition, the state did not give MSU the funds for negotiated salary increases which will cost MSU an estimated $2.3 million.

Matthew McDermott, a state treasurer spokesperson, said the reason for the reduced funds was due to research that showed NJ state schools have increased their fund balances.

Continued on p. 5

English department proposes its own GER plan

BY KEVIN P. HANCOCK
NEWS EDITOR

The English department voted to publicly support one of the five proposals given by the University Senate’s General Education Requirement Committee, “with modifications”, yesterday.

“There was overwhelming support” among English faculty members to support the GER Committee’s “Model 5” which is closest to the GER program in use now, said Dr. Janet Cutler, Deputy Chair of the English department.

The department released it’s “Resolutions on General Education” in which it states it’s support for Model 5 with some additions, rejecting other models which propose more drastic changes in the program.

The proposal states, “we consider Model 5 the most balanced and academically sound of the models, we call upon faculty in all departments to support the adoption of Model 5 with modifications”.

Model 5 is one of the five proposals from the GER Committee, headed by chairperson Helen Roberts. The committee presented the results of their two and a half years of work at University Senate meeting on February 26.

The proposals are being distributed to faculty, administrators and librarians with questionnaires to get feedback on the proposals.

“Think that the department wanted to make a statement on the issue because we were concerned about the integrity of the General Education program,” said Cutler. “We wanted to take a stand because we think this is a serious issue.

MSU professor passes away

BY ALAN SMITH
STAFF WRITER

A former Psychology department chair at Montclair State University, died on March 2, a department spokesperson said.

Professor John Seymour, 79, of Cedar Grove, suffered a heart attack, said Jesse Young of the Psychology Department.

Seymour was employed at the college from 1967 or 1987 where his last eleven years were spent as chairperson of the Psychology Department.

“He was a scholar, a gentleman, and a great administrator,” Young said.

The current department chairperson, David Townsend, said that the department expanded greatly under Seymour and added, “he was very influential in the current setting of the program”.

Robert Goggin, of Psychological services at the university, said that Seymour was a prominent psychologist throughout the state and was still practicing at the time of his death.

He was president of the New Jersey Academy of Psychology, the New Jersey Psychological Association, and the Essex County Psychological Association, at various times in his career.

Goggin described Seymour’s death as, “a great loss... he was always willing to give time and energy to others,” and added, “he continues to live inside us through his example”.

Seymour is survived by his wife, Charlotte, and daughter, Claire.
International

Japanese nuclear facility accident exposes 21 to radiation

Two fires broke out Tuesday at a nuclear waste facility in Tokai, Japan, northeast of Tokyo, officials said. At least 21 employees were exposed to small amounts of radiation when the first fire caused a leak. No one was in the facility during the second incident.

No warnings were issued for the area around the plant, and officials said the only radioactivity observed was well within safe limits.

The second fire broke out with an explosive sound, said a spokesman for the state-run Power Reactor and Nuclear Fuel Development Corp.

Another spokesman said the cause of the fires was under investigation, and declined to speculate on what may have caused them or the explosion.

Bomb found outside Hong Kong's legislative building

Police detonated a suspicious package after a bomb scare outside Hong Kong's legislature on Wednesday just hours before a major session on the annual budget was due to get under way, a police officer at the scene said.

"The package was outside the building, not inside," a guard working at the Legislative Council building said.

Police blocked off roads around the Legco building during the morning rush hour. A police officer said bomb disposal experts blew up the suspicious parcel with a robot. "The robot just moved to the back of the building. There was an explosion. There was no smoke, just a bang," a witness said.

The incident occurred six hours before Financial Secretary Donald Tsang was due to present his annual budget to Legco, the last budget before China takes Hong Kong back from Britain on July 1.

U.S. rules out military intervention in Zaire crisis

The U.S. on Tuesday renewed its push for a political solution to Zaire's crisis and continued to rule out an American role in a proposed military intervention force.

"We are not prepared right now to sign on to a multinational force," State Department spokesman Nicholas Burns told reporters.

Burns said U.S. officials would continue to discuss the multinational force idea, which was put forward by U.N. Secretary General Kofi Annan and is backed by Paris. But he said Washington believes the political cause being pursued at the moment is the right one.

"We think that actually what's being done is the best way to help the refugees and to stop the fighting, to pursue the cease-fire and to continue to encourage the United Nations to deliver this humanitarian assistance," he said, adding, "We do not believe there is a military solution to the problems of Zaire."

Reliefs have captured a portion of eastern Zaire, driving Rwandan Hutu refugees before them, and now threaten the government stronghold of Kisangani. They announced other advances Tuesday.

National

Investigators still searching for cause of flight 800 disaster

Federal investigators in New York said on Tuesday that there is "no physical evidence" to support the claim that a missile brought down TWA flight 800.

The statements came a day after the FBI seized a videotape that may show an object speeding toward the jet seconds before it exploded.

The FBI has launched a criminal investigation into two people who claim they have government materials and crime scene evidence showing that a missile was responsible for the explosion, a top law enforcement source said.

Federal investigators still have not ruled out the missile theory entirely.

Testifying before a House subcommittee, National Transportation Safety Board Chairman James Hall said three theories of how the plane crashed a missile, a bomb or mechanical failure, are still "on the table."

Gunner kills three, wounds two in Detroit

Three people were killed and two were wounded when a gunman went on a random shooting spree in Detroit on Tuesday morning before being shot himself by police.

Detroit police say the incident began when Allen Lane Griffin, 21, approached a man on a city street and shot him in the face. He then stole a car and drove to a bank about a block away.

The gunman, who was wearing camouflage, entered the bank firing a shotgun. He ordered people inside the bank to lie on the floor and join him in reciting the Lord's prayer as he shot people. Two bank employees were killed and another wounded.

After a bank employee tripped an alarm, police say Griffin left the bank, grabbing a hostage on his way out. When he killed the hostage, police opened fire, shooting about 200 rounds at him.

Military chief convicted in Wisconsin

A military surplus dealer was convicted Tuesday in Madison, Wisconsin, of masterminding the largest-ever theft of fighting equipment from a U.S. military base.

Among the $13 million worth of items Leo Anthony Piatz was accused of stealing from Fort McCoy in Wisconsin were a tank and 17 armored personnel carriers.

Piatz, 37, nicknamed "Tanker Tony," was found guilty on charges of conspiracy, bribery and conversion of government property. He faces up to 125 years in prison and $2.75 million in fines at his sentencing next month. Five others charged in the scheme face trial in June.

Prosecutors said there was no evidence that any of the equipment ended up in the hands of extremist groups or hostile governments.
Reid to address student concerns at residence halls

by Kevin P. Hancock
News Editor

President Irvin Reid announced that he will be holding a series of residence hall visits in April, where all students will be invited to come and ask any questions.

"My goal is to find out from the students what they would like to see happen here at the university as we move into the next millennium," said Reid.

All students are encouraged to attend the visits, not just those living in the residence halls.

Reid expressed his hope that all students will come out and express their concerns at the meetings.

Supporting Yvonne

A senior Biology student suffered a brain aneurysm this Monday morning. Yvonne Collins, who is scheduled to graduate this year, currently rests in a coma. Her present condition and location was unavailable at press time. The following message, however, is offered by the Student Government, and her friends here at Montclair State to show their support.

Yvonne, we're on the web!

www.campuspress.com
Holocaust survivor Joseph Bukiet, speaking to MSU students.

Holocaust survivor Joseph Bukiet, describing his experiences to MSU students.

Although Bukiet believes that God is guilty of being a bystander during the Holocaust, he doesn’t blame God for what the Nazi’s did. “Heaven was given to God. The earth was given to man. Good or bad is up to us, it has nothing to do with God.”

Bukiet came to America in 1948 after President Truman passed a law that allowed 100,000 refugees to enter the U.S. With only a seventh grade education, Bukiet found numerous jobs over the years before becoming the owner of Bukiet Building Management.

He has no animosity towards Germans born after the war. Even as he eagerly showed the students the tattooed number on his left arm, this short and stocky man with his round-rimmed glasses continuously found time to tell jokes.

Bukiet said that he is proud of the numbers tattooed on his arm. “I am not ashamed of them because he didn’t do anything wrong. He is a survivor.”

Bukiet was invited to speak to the students in a Holocaust and the American Press class taught by Professor Ron Hollander.

"Swimwear Sample Sale" "L Space", a leading swimwear & sportswear company for young women, is holding a sample sale where you’ll get great prices!

where: Clifton RAMADA INN (next to Bumpers Niteclub) 265 Rt. 3 E Clifton

when: Saturday, March 15th

time: 9:00 am to 6:00 pm

We will have a variety of summer clothing including: dresses, skirts, tops, pants, and tons of bikinis!!

Get there early!!

for questions call: 201-754-0404 (leave message)

(no credit cards, please)
Serious, Cont. from p. 1

full-time staff, and total spending but the enrollment of the students has declined or remained the same at schools.

"When school college budgets are cut the first thing schools do is raise the tuition, they don't look for other ways to make up the funds," McDermott said. "Schools can identify saving strategies to compensate for this reduction. It is the responsibility of the administrations to do everything they can before they raise tuition."

MSU has two main sources, tuition and expenditure reduction of current operations, that are substantial enough to make a contribution to the deficit, said Schuckel. "It will be a painful decision to decide where the reductions will be made," Schuckel said. The decision will be left to the individual operational officers.

The SGA wants the administration to realize students are tired of paying so much for a state funded institution, said Fisher. They are sympathetic for the cuts that the university has to endure, but feel students shouldn't have to pay the price for the state's cut. It can come from other areas, it doesn't have to be tuition, Fisher said.

One of the SGA's goals is to create a statement to President Irvin Reid stating that the students are not willing to make up the difference for the administration's budget gap. Reid said he will try to minimize the tuition increase. He will not know the percent of the increase until the Board of Trustees vote on the budget in July.

Fisher said she would love to have students present at this meeting in July, but attempts in the past to have students meet in the summer have not been successful.

Fisher's main objective is to have students make a strong statement against the tuition increase before the summer break.

Many students are voicing their displeasure with the impending tuition hike. Mia Diez, a theater major, said a majority of her sorority, Alpha Iota Chi, will be "walking out" on April 15.

Jason Wills, a theater major, said the tuition increase may be the difference whether he graduates or not.

"The institution does not have many choices other than to raise the tuition if they want to continue to serve the large number of students at MSU," Schuckel said.

Voicing concerns about the budget cut and tuition increases is a state wide effort that was started at Ramapo Valley College. Other schools asked to be involved are, Rowan College, William Paterson College, Kean College, Rutgers University, and the College of New Jersey.
3/5 - A Blanton Hall resident ingested a large amount of medication in tablet form. She was transported to Mountainside Hospital by ambulance.

3/6 - A faculty member fell down the exterior Student Center stairs. He experienced pain in his back and left side.

3/11 - A Blanton Hall resident walked and heard a snap in her ankle, which became swollen. She refused transportation by ambulance, and said that her boyfriend would drive her to Mountainside Hospital.

THEFT

3/5 - A male reported that someone stole his gym bag from his unsecured locker in Panzer Gym.

3/9 - Officers responded to a trouble alarm in the fire panel of Bohn Hall. When they arrived, they found that someone removed a strobe light from the men's bathroom in the 7th floor. The fire alarm repair company was notified, and fixed the light.

ALARMS

3/6 - A fire alarm was sounded at Bohn Hall. When the police and the Clifton Fire Department arrived, they found a 7th floor pull station activated, but no smoke or fire.

3/7 - Officers responded to a fire alarm in Panzer Gym. There was no sign of smoke or fire, but there was some water seen in the fire panel, causing the malfunction. The Montclair Fire Department, however, did arrive.

3/8 - A fire alarm was sounded at Bohn Hall. A third floor smoke detector was activated by a cigarette burning in a wastebasket. The Clifton Fire Department arrived.

3/10 - A fire alarm was sounded at Bohn Hall. When the police and the Clifton Fire Department arrived, they found a 11th floor pull station activated, but no smoke or fire.

3/11 - The fifth floor of Blanton was blanket with smoke, when a faulty exhaust fan from Blanton Cafeteria blew smoke into the atrium. The campus police and the Little Falls Fire Department arrived to evacuate the building.

SUSPICIOUS PERSONS/SUSPICIOUS ACTIVITIES/IMMORALITY

3/6 - A Blanton Hall resident reported receiving several harassing phone calls.

3/7 - A vehicle was stopped in Lot 24 after officers saw the driver and passenger looking into the open tailgate of another parked vehicle. The driver, after being asked by campus security, was found to own both vehicles.

3/10 - A vending machine door was open in Partridge Hall. The money in the machine was brought to Campus Police for safe keeping. It was later returned to REM Vending.

3/10 - A Blanton Hall resident reported receiving a harassing phone call.

3/10 - A Bohn Hall resident found her room unlocked when she returned from a weekend visit home.

3/10 - A Professor reported an unruly student disrupting her class. She reported the problem to Dean Matusow-Ayers and Vice President Wilcox. The student was escorted from the class, and was advised to contact Dean Matusow-Ayers.

3/10 - A female student reported receiving a harassing E-Mail. The possible suspect was identified, but the student wants no further action at this time.

CRIMINAL MISCHIEF

3/6 - Persons unknown knocked over an art object in the Life Hall Art Gallery.

3/8 - Person(s) unknown damaged the tail-lights of three cars parked in Lot 23.

3/10 - Person(s) unknown damaged the wheelchair lift in a shuttle bus parked overnight on Heating Plant Way, since the rear door is unsecured. The maintenance director was notified.

ARRESTS

3/8 - Officers responded to a fight between a male and female in Bohn Hall. The assailants were identified as Michael Green of Port Norris, and Nadion Burton of Paterson. Burton had a visible injury. Green was arrested on the scene and was transported to Campus Police headquarters. Green, however, signed criminal complaints against Burton. Burton, on the other hand, signed an additional criminal complaint of terroristic threats. After further investigation, Green was charged with possession of a concentrated dangerous substance, possession of a hypodermic needle, and two counts of possession of a weapon (knives). Green's bail was set at $5,000, and was transported to Clifton Municipal Jail. Burton was released on her own recognizance.

3/12 - Jerome Armstrong of East Orange was arrested at his dorm room in Bohn Hall on a warrant from Little Falls Municipal Court. Bail was set at $500. Armstrong was unable to post bail, and was incarcerated in the Passaic County Jail.

OTHER

3/5 - Officer respond to the Blanton Hall loading dock, where they saw a car stuck in the mud after driving across the lawn. The driver was issued summons for careless driving, destruction of property, and improper parking.

3/10 - A Stone Hall resident reported that he was threatened by a female desk assistant at Stone Hall. The director of Stone Hall was notified.
Campus Life

Schroeder delivers keynote speech

BY SUZANNE FEIGLE

CAMPUS LIFE EDITOR

The role of women in history and their gaining recognition today's society were just two of the topics former Congresswoman Pat Schroeder discussed Thursday night as the Keynote Speaker for Women's History Month.

After welcoming from both Dr. Ficke, Schroeder took the podium joking, "With all these doctors here, you almost think you're in an HMO!" She then began with a joke from one of her colleagues at Princeton University where she is currently a visiting professor. "I was told today that Congress just passed a new law. It is now a federal crime to clone New Jersey." Schroeder then discussed how to this day, women are treated unfairly in Washington. In 1921, a statue was placed at the base of the Capital Dome signifying the beginning of Women's Suffrage.

Three days later it was put in the basement because "the men of Washington didn't think she was pretty enough," she said. Now, seventy six years later, the statue still is in the basement. "If you want to use good looks as a criteria, I could do a whole lot of house cleaning, let me tell you. Some of the statues we have are ugly! We have statues of everything—buffaloes, you name it, yet no women! What's wrong here?"

While Schroeder pointed out many of the negatives women faced, she remained positive. "I am so glad to be living today. I'm 56 years old. If I was an average woman in the past century, I'd be dead, since women only lived to about 49. And if I lived overseas, my life would be worse because it most likely would be spent in jail. At least now I'm free and loose to be doctors, then we tell them to marry doctors. We, as women, have to decide what we want," she said.

She also discussed two books that will be coming out in the spring that address the topic of discrimination against women. One is a study that all military minds of all time when working on the Underground Railroad, but we are hardly taught any of these things."

Dr. Joan Ficke: a feminist, a humanist

BY LIZ VOLTMAN

STAFF WRITER

As I reach the fourth floor of the Student Center, I'm greeted by the familiar smile of Deb Corasio, the Women's Center Program Assistant. We are both heading for the office of Dr. Joan Ficke, Director of MSU's Women's Center. Inside, Dr. Ficke awaits my arrival.

"You can tell March is here," Ficke says, bearing with anticipation and pride as Women's History Month gets underway. It's so satisfying after all the months of planning and preparation to see everything coming together.

She first modestly sums up some of her impressive achievements. "This marks the fifth year that I have been working for MSU's Women's Center, though my affiliation with the institution spans about thirty years," says Ficke. "One of my friends tells me a ‘lifer’ and that's fine with me," she says.

Ficke received her undergraduate degree in Physical Education and Health from NYU, and, though she received her master's degree and doctorate from the School of Health and Public Health from NYU, she kept her roots at MSU by coaching the women's basketball team. Then, about twenty years ago, she became an MSU faculty member in the Department of Health Professions.

During these two decades, she has held a variety of interesting positions. For example, she has taught GE courses and major courses concerning Health Professions, has been a supervisor for the Cooperative Education program, has been involved with graduate course work, and is Vice President of the American Federation of Teachers, Local 1904. "I've touched upon most of the pieces you can get in my day to day life as a feminist. This is important to me."

Of all the strides Ficke has made at the Women's Center, one that she is most proud of is the hand she had in developing the first annual Sexual Assault Awareness Day, Oct. 1, during only her second month on the job. Raising awareness concerning this issue is one of her most passionate convictions. She explains, "Until women have equity in all spheres of life, they're going to be disadvantaged and this gratuitous violence will continue. But good faith efforts and communication are ways to work towards neutralizing this gender inequity."

Dr. Ficke is a long-time respected figure on MSU's campus. "I admire her for her strength and devotion to MSU. She is committed to empowering many of the individuals that make up the University to be the best they can be, which in turn, makes the University the best it can be," says Corasio, who works most closely with Dr. Ficke.

Dr. Linda Levine, who heads the Women's Studies Department, works on several programs with the Women's Center. "Joan is just an incredible person who generates such tremendous enthusiasm and energy concerning women's issues. She's a joy to work with," says Levine.

When she's not bustling about campus, Ficke, an eternal athlete, is sure to be engaging in fitness and well-being activities such as jogging and meditation. "I know the value of being quiet and centered," she says. She also enjoys walking with her husband of eleven years, Dr. Joseph Moore.

"Joan is a woman with strong convictions. She has such a wide range of interests and the talents to match them. We have a lot of common values and share everything. I've been a feminist for twenty-five years," she says.

"I've been a feminist for twenty-five years," she says.
Dear Career Services... Q & A

Q: Is there any information on the Web Wide for biology students seeking information on careers, and also, are there any ways to find actual job openings on the Web? There are some very interesting and informative sites for biologists and biology majors on the Web, some of which include career information as well as up-to-date information on research and resources for biologists.

A: For example, the Wadsworth Biology Resource Center at http://www.tiac.net/users/8ipmontclair.html offers information on major areas of the field such as general biology, molecular and cell biology, oceanography/marine science, microbiology and even environmental science. This website is an extension of the Wadsworth Publishing Company’s Resource books in the biology area so you can be sure the content is compiled by experts. There are online textbooks for all the major areas of biology and links to other biology related sites. There is an excellent “Career Center” designed for undergraduates considering a career in the biology field and links of information about how to go about searching for a job when you graduate (or even before).

Another useful page is the Cell and Molecular Biology Online page at http://www.tiac.net/users/8ipmontclair.html which one is this more specifically oriented to the area of the biology field. However, it has some nice links for professional societies and organizations, electronic journals, and a fascinating section on current research with links to many prestigious research sites - a great way to get a feel for your field! This page also has a career resources link including resources for undergraduates.

A page written by a recent medical school graduate has lots of relevant information for those studying biology with a view to medical school. It’s called “Erick’s Guide to Medical School Admissions” and can be found at http://www.seas.upenn.edu/8ip/santos/medguide.html. This page is written by a seventh year medical school student who is experienced with the admissions process to medical school having spent two years as a student interviewing applicants to University of Pennsylvania MD/PhD program. There is some very solid advice on this page with a personal touch too.

Also, for intensive job searching there is the Montclair State University Career Services Home Page with lots of links to Internet resources for finding what jobs are out there on the Internet, plus lots of advice on the job application process, from resumes to cover letters to interviews. It’s at http://www.montclair.edu/Pag es/CareerServices/Career.html. Good luck with your job search!

Q: I hear people mention jobs in non-profit and don’t really understand the term. What does it mean and how can I find out about jobs?

A: A non-profit organization is one whose mission is not financial. The main purpose of a non-profit is to carry out some good work or to advance a particular cause. Unlike the private sector of the economy which exists to create goods and services, non-profits are precluded by law from making a profit.

This sector of the economy includes public education, public libraries, social service agencies, foundations, health care facilities, religious organizations, and artistic, cultural, historical and community organizations. Each of these areas can be further broken down into other areas. If you think that working in the non-profit area may be what you are after, come to the Career Library to read more about this area in general and about specific jobs.

As to specific job listings, Career Services subscribes to number of job banks in the arts, recreation, communication, social service, the environment, higher education and more. Come into the office to review these jobs. Also visit Career Services on the Internet at http://www.montclair.edu/Pages/CareerServices/Career.html where you will find listings world-wide.

Check out Life on the Web! www.campuspress.com

The refreshing facts about coffee

BY ROY KENNEY  STAFF WRITER

In the March edition of Men’s Health there was an interesting article on coffee. Somehow the not-so-good for you addiction turns out to be a favorable one. “The studies concerning the ill effects of coffee on blood cholesterol levels were conducted without using coffee filters,” says Harvey Wolinsky, M.D., Ph.D., cardiologist, internist and professor of medicine at Mount Sinai Medical Center in New York City. “Coffee does not cause heart palpitations in a small percentage of the population, which is why it’s not recommended for heart arrhythmia patients.”

If coffee has one great drawback, it’s the fact that caffeine creates a physical dependence, according to Roland Griffiths, Ph.D., professor in the departments of psychiatry and neuroscience at Johns Hopkins School of Medicine. “People who consume caffeine on a daily basis may experience headaches, muscle aches and fatigue if they quit it abruptly,” he says. Just going overnight without coffee can be long enough to induce mild caffeine withdrawal symptoms, though most people start to feel crummy after about 18 caffeine-free hours. It doesn’t matter how much coffee you consume per day-one, three, five cups-you can still become physically dependent on the stuff.

Roasting brings out the flavor of the coffee beans. And the longer they’re roasted, the darker the beans, the richer the flavor of the coffee. We can’t tell you which is the best roast, but we can tell you that American roast is the lightest (or weakest) and that espresso roast is the darkest (or most bitter). But strong taste doesn’t equal higher caffeine content; in fact, a shot of espresso has less caffeine than a cup of regular drip coffee.

To keep your coffee from tasting stale, store your beans in the fridge and not the freezer. You could freeze away some of the bean’s oils, which will make for dull ice. (“Men’s Health Feb­ruary ’97”)
Log On @ MSU
by Rita Bronnenkant

Using the Web as a library

You don’t have to be a bookworm to appreciate the Librarian’s Index to the Internet, http://sunsite.berkeley.edu/InternetIndex/. I was particularly impressed with their collections of links for cultures of the world, law, organizations, and people. For those who think they know it-all, check out the Notable Citizens of Planet Earth biographical dictionary, http://www.itiac.net/users/parallax/. Search the database of over 18,000 names of people from ancient times to the present by name, keyword, date, or combination of these. It’s a handy quick reference.

Now there is NO excuse for being lost - on the road, at least - ever again. Map it out before you go by logging on to Yahoo Maps, http://www.vicinity.com/yahoo/. After you have made your map, you can also get directions, instantly! It doesn’t get any easier, folks.

World peace is something we can all help to create. At the PeaceNet site, http://www.igc.org/igc/peacenct/, you can explore information and work for positive social change in the areas of peace, social and economic justice, human rights, and the struggle against racism.

PeaceNet also claims to be the only unionized Internet service provider in the U.S. The Graduate Student Newsletter, http://www.tgsa.com/altpages/tgsawww.html, provides tips on conducting research on the net and looking for a research topic. How is this for grad school? Duke University has the Global Executive MBA Program, http://www.fqua.duke.eduprograms/gemb/index.htm. Most of it is done via computer from wherever you are. Before you race to send in your application be aware that a requirement for admission is eight years experience in a managerial capacity. I expect to see some MSU alumni there in the not too distant future!

Do you get junk email? I do and the amount seems to be increasing. Well, the Nevada state senate has introduced a bill that would make sending unsolicited ads directly to email accounts a misdemeanor! The bill is modeled on prior legislation that bans unsolicited advertising over fax machines. Since NJ has no such law, I still have to go clean out my email box!

SCHROEDER, Cont. from p. 7.
there is definitely something wrong. Women are paying into Social Security, and aren’t getting anything back. Things are wrong and I’m just too tired to wait much longer for a change. If they [the federal government] are gonna tax us the same way, we should get the same treatment,” said Schroeder.

After speaking, Schroeder answered questions from the audience.

“What was the one thing that you were not able to accomplish in Congress and that could empower,” an audience member asked. “We could not get our colleagues to get involved. It was almost as if they believed people would think they were a quart low on testosterone if they supported us. Tonight, I am so happy to see the ballrooms filled and almost half of the audience are men. It shows that things are changing and I am very happy,” Schroeder answered.

Schroeder’s message for the evening was very clear “Women have to learn politics, watch the media, and when they have a problem—Shout!”
C1C brings The Police and The Doors to MSU

Tuesday was cover band night in the Ratt, an event sponsored by Class One Concerts. Featuring the music of The Police and The Doors, this was a record sold out show for C1C, with audience members totaling five hundred music lovers.

The opening act of The Rent-A-Cops, a.k.a. Ply, Judy Aron, lead vocals, drums, electric guitar; John Mazzarella, guitar; Andrew Harding, bass; Dan Patak, drums) who has frequented the MSU concert scene, rejuvenated the Police album, Singles (“in order”). Playing such tunes as “Can’t Stand Losing You,” “Many Miles Away,” the ballad, “Every Breath You Take,” and a remix version of “Don’t Stand So Close To Me,” The Rent-A-Cops sounded great. Aron picked up her electric blue guitar for “Walking on the Moon,” and even played some drums for “Message in a Bottle.”

A band member explained that no one in the band was extremely partial to The Police, they felt it would be an easy set to throw together. Ply, who has been playing together for almost a year now, didn’t sound “thrown together,” but rather illustrated a promising future. You can catch them on March 26, at The Lion’s Den in NYC.

Headlining the night, The Soft Parade (Joe Russo, lead vocals, tambourine, maracas; Joseph Bilotti, guitar; Ryan Daily, organ, Roy Weinberger, drums) then took the stage, greeted by an extremely eager audience. Twenty-six years after the legendary Jim Morrison’s death, The Soft Parade brought to life the famed eerie and psychedelic sounds of The Doors with what seemed like little effort. Playing such classic tunes as “Backdoor Man,” “Break On Through,” “People Are Strange,” “Love Her Madly,” “20th Century Fox,” “Spanish Caravan,” “Who Do You Love,” “Summer’s Almost Gone,” “Love Street,” “Love Me Two Times,” “Indian Summer,” and “Gloria,” the Ratt was teleported back to 1968 and the audience loved it. The only problem was during “Riders on the Storm,” in which the band experienced some technical difficulties.

Art Educators exhibit; prove worthy of their field

University Gallery held an open reception last Thursday, for “Art Educators of New Jersey Making Art,” curated by Dorothy Heard, artist and art educator who heads the Art Education Program here at MSU. The quality and variety of this show is extremely diverse. The exhibit covers a wide range of media, techniques, and subject matter among them, oil paint, computer graphics, the use of fragmented ready-made materials, etching, stitchery, a focus on landscapes as a metaphor for personal expression, experimenting with light and dark and their shifting dynamics as well as a focus on people as subject matter to bridge conversation between artist and viewer.

Natalie Zimmer of Montclair, participating artist and retired art educator in Montville public schools, stated, “This is a wonderful thing to show students that art educators are able to produce a good quality of work.” Zimmer’s three-piece contributions to the show, Trees, (acrylic on canvas, 1996) Early Autumn, (acrylic on canvas, 1996) and Morning at Stone Harbor, (acrylic on canvas, 1996) prove her dedication to art is not limited to education and illustrate her talent in the field.

Participating artist Cheryl O’Halloran Mcleod is a member of Union County’s Catalyst organization which focuses on the relationship between artists and residents with teachers. Emphasizing the role of art education while incorporating a concept called “the multiple intelligences,” Mcleod stated, “This transforms the teacher by recognizing the intertwining worlds of education. Children learn through spatial and other mediums instead of a focus on linear education to learn such events as the Civil War or even how a calculator works.” Classifying herself as a realist, Mcleod’s contributions to the exhibit are Carved in Stone, (pastel, 1995) Crangord Boat House, (pastel, 1995) and Corn II, Early Shadows, (pastel, 1995).

Arnold Brown, who has worked in the Elizabeth middle school for about twenty years, stated, “This kind of exhibit exposes different types of art teachers as artists also, which is the root of the organization. Art is not just in the classroom.” Brown’s three pieces in the show were my favorite. Five Clarinets, (mixed media, 1996) Practice Room, (mixed media, 1996) and Miller’s Band (mixed media, 1996) are brightly colored jazz depictions mixed with lively musical images.

Another favorite of mine was Anne Van Blarcom Kurowski’s Naomi, (watercolor, 1996) which is a photographic quality depiction of a little girl engulfed in a tie-dyed, watercolored fantasy world. This painting was also won the A.A.P.L. Grand National 1996 Watermedia Peter Matulavage Memorial Award. Katherine Phillip’s My Biological Clock is Ticking IV, (monotype and pastel, 1994) was another one of my favorites. This colorful whirlwind of circles, sun rays, and shapes is a unique illustration, symbolic of the female reproduction cycle.

The sixteen contributing artists are members of the Artist/Teacher Network within the Art Educators of New Jersey (AEN) whose purpose is to increase public awareness of the talents of educators and increase enrollment in school course work by actively exhibiting their own art works. “Members are..."
Nuyorican Soul; for the love of rhythm

By John J. O'Sullivan
Managing Editor

I love Latin Jazz. There, I've said it. I've been in the closet so far as Latin music goes, and I don't even know why. When many people are blasting their Oasis and their Pearl Jam, I'm envious. Try blasting a CD of Tito Puente's or Milton Nascimento's stuff, especially if you're some pasty Irish kid like myself.

Latin and Brazilian music is some of the most passionate, amazing, and the most rhythmically infectious music out there. Latin Jazz, with its layer upon layer of luscious rhythm, with conga, xylophone, mind-blowing trumpet work and drumming, is one of the most rewarding musical experiences to behold. The Brazilian Antonio Carlos Jobim, one of my musical idols/gods, has been one of the most influential musicians in modern music.

Nuyorican Soul’s new self-titled album is a combination, a pastiche rather than a blended amalgam. Some of the songs are pure Salsa, with driving rhythms, excellent batterie, and amazing xylophone work. The personal is a who’s who of Latin, Cuban, Afro-fusion, hip-hop, and scat-voice jazz: Tito Puente, Roy Ayers, Dave Valentin, Peter Daou—there’s an excellent assortment of musicians to listen to.

Some tracks to listen for: “Shoshana” is a great Salsa track. It’s infectious—the kind of song you want to blast while driving down the Parkway in the evening, ready to go out for the night. Great layers of driving drumming with a dazzling xylophone performance by Cal Tjader make the song a wonder to behold.

In a different vein, “I am the Black Gold of the Sun,” a great smooth hip-hop song rolls off the velvet tongue of Jocelyn Brown, who sound a lot like Vanessa daou or Sade. “Gotta New Life,” is a happy little jazz tune, with some excellent flute playing in the foreground by Dave Valentin, and gentle female scatting by Ms Jocelyn Brown and Lisa Fischer in the background. And then there’s the great piano playing by Hilton Ruiz with just brings the song together.

And then, there’s some disco tracks.

DISCO?

Yeah, that’s what I thought. Granted, I’m not the greatest fan of disco, to say the least. I’m still plotting to blow up WKTU. And some of the songs are skip-worthy when it comes to the disco (such as “Runaway.” Barf.). The one, however, that I liked was “Sweet Tears,” which had the typical disco beat in the background, but with excellent vibraphone playing by Roy Ayers. It’s a well crafted song, and worthy of a listen.

Let’s not even mention “Jazzy Jeff’s” entries into the album. Yeah, the “DJ” left his name. To gain credibility? Maybe. But perhaps he should gain some musical talent first, and then we’ll talk about credibility later. He really provides a disservice to this album, and the two tracks where he’s featured, “Nuyorican Soul Intro” and “Jazzy Jeff’s Theme” are definitely skippers.

Although there are a few stinkers in this collection, the rest of the songs make up for them. If you too are a hidden Latin listener, pick it up...just program the CD to skip a few tracks.
No dignity, please.

We’re Irish (Part I)

It’s that time of year again when the world (at least the United States) joins together in the mass condemnation of a people in an act loosely disguised as a celebration of the Irish. Yes, St. Patrick’s Day is fast approaching, and at no other time of the year is there such a concerted effort to negatively stereotype an ethnic group with approval of the masses.

I find it particularly offensive when a religious holiday, which has become a symbol of national pride to Irish worldwide, degenerates into a celebration of inebriation and debauchery. In Ireland, people celebrate St. Patrick’s Day fairly quietly by attending Mass and with small parades held in various cities and towns. It is certainly nothing remotely similar to the spectacle and outright degradation of the Irish people that goes on here, in the land of the free.

This is the only “ethnic” holiday I know of where one can purchase buttons, badges, and leg garters emblazoned with silly phrases such as, “Kiss me, I’m Irish,” “Patrick was a saint, I ain’t,” and so on. It completely offensive to me as an Irish woman that one can purchase Hallmark greeting cards for this holiday with messages that essentially say that it’s time for everyone to drink green beer until they vomit. Even those lovable icons of our childhood, Snoopy and Woodstock, are pressed into service, wearing green “leprechaun” hats with shamrocks on them, hoisting mugs of green beer and encouraging us to drink ourselves stupid. It’s inconceivable to me that the Irish community has not made a larger noise to these purveyors of anti-Irish propaganda that this is inappropriate, unacceptable, and won’t be tolerated.

Can you imagine the uproar in the Black community if, for Martin Luther King Day, Hallmark created a card with Snoopy and Woodstock in blackface, wielding fried chicken and watermelon, wishing one and all “Happy Martin Lurfer King Day?” Somehow, I don’t think any card company would have the bottle to market such a line of cards. They know it’s a racist stereotyping of an ethnic group that would be offensive to many and tolerated by none. Cards like that would never see the light of day, and rightly so. Nor will anyone ever see cards for other ethnic holidays, which depict the given ethnic group in such a negative light. So why is it okay to caricature the Irish, and why do the Irish tolerate that racist treatment?

The Irish have a long history of self-hatred and many make a concerted effort to live up to the negative stereotypes. I have known many Irish – both American and Irish-born – who drink to excess, offering the excuse, “I’m Irish, I’m supposed to drink a lot.”

The self-hatred stems from centuries of domination of the Irish by the British and constantly being told that their language, religion, culture, and ethnic identity are crap and should be done away with. Then, in the time-honored American tradition of toleration and welcome to the “huddled masses,” Irish searching for work were greeted with signs on the gates of factories which read, “No Irish Need Apply.” In fact, no other ethnic group in America, blacks included, have had such hostile refusal of jobs.

Loss of identity and pride is a sure-fire way to send someone crawling into a bottle, so to speak, and too often the Irish are too willing to perpetuate the stereotype than to rise up and fight it back. I know I’m not the lone voice crying out for justice and to tear down the image of the Irish that negative stereotyping fosters, but I wish the Irish would unify themselves to bring this travesty of racism into the harsh light of reality and demand respect – just as other ethnic groups have before us. There’s more to being Irish than getting drunk, painting our faces green, and singing “Danny Boy.”

There is a brilliant and honorable tradition of art, music, history, and language that could not be extinguished by our oppressors of the past eight hundred years. There’s much more to the Irish than meets the eye.

Interested in working for the Editorial Section?

Then here’s your big chance. If you would be interested in writing or working as an editor in the Editorial section let us know. Leave writing samples which include your name, major, position desired, and phone number in Jean-Marie Navetta’s mailbox in the Montclarion office. Or e-mail writing samples and questions to navettaj@alpha.montclair.edu.

Montclarion Mailbag Letter Policy

• All letters must be typed and no longer than 300 words. Letters exceeding this length will be edited to 300 words.
• Please keep letters to a single topic which is relevant to the issues at hand.
• Once received, letters are property of the Montclarion and may be edited for length, content, and libel.
• Letters will not be printed unless they are signed, include the author's name, major, phone number, and social security number. The last two items will be used for verification only.
• Only one letter by an author will be printed each month.
• Letters and e-mail must be submitted by Monday at 6:00 p.m. Any correspondence received after this time will not be considered for publication in that week’s issue.
• Correspondence may be submitted through e-mail to navettaj@alpha.montclair.edu or sent to the Montclarion, Attn: Editorial Editor, MSU, 113 Student Center Annex, Upper Montclair, NJ 07043.
MAIN EDITORIAL

Have your voice heard
All around campus are flyers thread, "April 15th...It's coming." But before April 15th comes there will be March 21st and April 10th. Both of these dates are as, if not more, significant than the 15th. These are the days that you, the student body of MSU, will have an opportunity to have your voice heard by the Board of Trustees and other influential MSU nation makers.

March 25 will present an opportunity for concerned and active MSU students. There will be an open forum for the BOT. Usually a student would have to get his name on a list in order to speak to the BOT, but not on the 25th. It is a great opportunity for students for their everyday concerns expressed to those who usually don't hear from us. And it is an excellent opportunity to voice your opposition to the proposed tuition increase.

However, in order for the rallies to be effective two things are essential. First, all of the students of MSU must get involved. If you cannot attend, sign a petition, have your sister videotape your remarks and give the tape to the SGA or BOT, or write out your thoughts and give them to a fraternity brother. The point is that without your support, the complaint will fall on deaf ears. This campus has a poor track record of attending student rallies. Let's change that this year.

Second, education is essential. And college education is not limited to just classroom work. Before you attend any of the rallies, call the governor's office and have a copy of the budget sent to you. Or better yet, visit the internet site and read the budget on-line. Whatever way you choose to go about it, read the budget proposal. This way when you go to the BOT open forum you will have the facts on your side, and no one will be able to stop you.

This is an important issue that affects all of us, and not just here at MSU. Ramapo Valley College, Rowan College, William Paterson College, Kean, Rutgers University, and the College of New Jersey will also be joining us to voice their concerns and dissatisfaction with proposed tuition increases. And as MSU student Jason Wills put it, "An increase may be the difference between whether or not I graduate." This is a serious issue, and we must be heard.

Be in Student Center room 419 at 4:00 pm on March 25 to have your voice heard. There is no excuse for not participating, tuition will be raised, and then will be too late to complain.

The Examined Life
by Jean-Marie Navetta

My special tribute to Women's History Month

My mom told me an interesting story this week. She stated that the school that she works in had an assembly to celebrate Women's History Month. When she entered the auditorium where the program was held, there were pictures of notable women on the stage. This collection included skaters Kristi Yamaguchi, First Lady Hillary Clinton, and astronaut Sally Ride. Further, during the film presentation, even former vice-presidential candidate Geraldine Ferraro was mentioned.

Mom, not being a political activist, but hardly a pushover when it comes to being fair, was wondering why New Jersey Governor Christine Todd Whitman wasn't pictured on the stage or mentioned at any time during the presentation. After all, she is one of only two female governors in the United States. So after the presentation, she decided to pose the question to a few people standing outside of the auditorium. The security guard who was in the group looked at mom and yelled, "But she's a Republican!" The teachers (according to mom) "looked at me like I had three heads."

I kind of see this as an interesting way to put Women's History Month in perspective. Let's get it clear from the outset - it's great that women are noted for their accomplishments in various fields. I only can hope that they are being applauded for their accomplishments because of what they have done and only coincidentally that they're women.

But apparently Women's History Month isn't for everyone, as the case from my mom's school proves. I've noticed a conspicuous lack of conservative women being honored during Women's History Month. Isn't it a little strange that Gov. Whitman hasn't been mentioned

The Nonconformist
by William J. Gibbs, Jr.

How many of you out there love your car? Many of us have found that over time we have developed an attachment to our four wheeled friends. Those of you who can identify with this should listen up, because the cowardly art of hit and run is alive and well on campus, and no one is immune.

Take a student who we'll call John Doe. John is a student who owns a car he really loves. He spent lots of time and money restoring it, and just when it started taking shape, some heartless human being clips his car in the parking lot and does damage to his rear tail-light and bumper.

When he saw this, he was deeply upset. How could someone do such a thing to his beloved automobile? Even worse, how could they not be adult enough to own up to it?

There was also the story of another student, who we'll call Joe. Joe owned a fairly decent car. It wasn't in perfect working condition, but he was able to drive it. He was a child I spoke as a child, but when I grew up I put it away my childish things."

Parking problems are about more than parking

Parking problems are about more than parking.

The DMV manual advises that if you hit a parked car, you should search for the owner, if you do not find them, leave a note on the windshield. This note is to include the date, time, and what happened, your name, license plate number, and phone number, and the name of your auto insurance carrier and your policy number.

I'll offer an additional solution. MSU should be self-insured like the Township of Montclair. Any damage done to property of self that is found to be a direct fault of the municipality is compensated. Claimants file a report detailing what occurred, what damage was done and estimates for repairs. Then, the paperwork is reviewed and compensated.

Also, campus security cameras should be more strategically placed so that these incidents can be recorded on video. To ensure that the film is visible, more lighting needs to be placed in trouble spots.

My final concern is for the parking agreement here at MSU. Why should they not be liable for the damages? After all, we take a chance parking here. We need our cars and we want them to be safe!

As for the students on campus, grow up! Pay for your mistakes. If you are too chicken-hearted to seek out the owner of the vehicle you damage, leave a note.

We as a campus community need to take responsibility for our actions. We cannot continue acting childish and helpless. Even in the bible it says: "...when I was a child I spoke as a child, but when I grew up I put away my childish things."

The most childish thing that exists at MSU is negligence. Accept your responsibilities. That's what entering the real world is all about.
ANNOUNCEMENTS

SGA PETITIONS FOR EXECUTIVE BOARD AND JUSTICE POSITIONS WILL BE AVAILABLE MONDAY MARCH 10TH IN THE SGA OFFICE, STUDENT CENTER ANNEX ROOM 103 AND ARE DUE BACK APRIL 2ND BY 12 NOON. FOR MORE INFORMATION CALL 655-4202.

CWS WORKERS NEEDED. CONTACT THE SGA OFFICE FOR DETAILS AT EXT. 4202.

FREE PIZZA!!
FOR MSU STUDENTS EVERY WED. AT SGA MEETINGS 4 PM - S.C. 417

UPCOMING EVENTS

EVERY WEDNESDAY
LASO PRESENTS A SALSA & MERENGUE WORKSHOP AT 5:00 P.M. OUTSIDE THE LASO OFFICE. CALL DOUG AT x4440.

CALL THE WMSC REQUEST LINE AT 655-4256. THEY’LL PLAY IT ALL.

HAVE AN AWESOME SPRING BREAK!!!

CLASS I MEETING TIMES

CLUB- Mondays at 8 pm, SC Annex 112
LASO- Tues. @ 5:30, Thurs. @ 2:30- SC 418
MONTCLARION- Tues. @ 4 p.m. -SC Annex 113
PLAYERS- Tues. @ 6 p.m. SC Cafe B
OSAU- Tues. @ 7:30 p.m. SC Cafe C
WMSC- Tues. @ 7 pm, Wed. @ 11 am SC Annex 110
4 WALLS- Wed. @ 5 p.m. SC Annex 113A
C1C- Thurs. @ 4 p.m. SC Annex 117
SILC- Monday @ 4 p.m. SC Annex 121

TUITION INCREASE

VOICE CONCERNS AT THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OPEN FORUM MARCH 25TH AT 4 P.M. IN STUDENT CENTER ROOM 419.

TO GET YOUR EVENTS POSTED, CONTACT JILL LEVINE OR JOY ROBBINS IN THE SGA OFFICE.
My friend, God

BY EDWARD FLANNERY IV
MY BIRTHDAY IS MARCH 18TH

I'd like to tell you about this particular friend of mine. No, really. I have a friend. In fact, I have lots of friends. Of course, I am in a Fraternity, so you might argue that I bought them, but I have them nonetheless.

Anyway, this friend of mine (we'll call him Tim Casey to protect his identity) swears to me that he is God. He is constantly telling me that he is an all-powerful force and I am merely one of his subservient and obeying creations. This is all pretty heavy philosophical theology, and it does raise some interesting questions, all of which I find too boring to mention here.

After further review of the whole situation, I conclude that if Tim is God, we are all in a lot of trouble. God, indeed, is a huge and inexplicable force. I have a friend. In fact, I have many friends (the ones that I pay for) who believe that he is an all-powerful force and I am merely one of his subservient and obeying creations.

One time, he was preaching to me of omnipotence. I got pissed off so I punched him in the nuts. He doubled over like a sack of rotten potatoes. I said that if he were God and an all knowing force, he should have thought of wearing a potato. He thought it would be funny, if he turned on his two blacklights (God is invincible to UV rays) and attempted to wake up his roommate. He did so, and then he started to do the most horrible dance in the history of our lord, Tim. One time, a bunch of my friends (the ones that I pay for) and I were going to a party. Tim had just gotten out of the shower and all he was wearing was a white towel. He is so pale that I couldn't tell where his towel began and ended until I saw his belly button. God has an inny.

As if that wasn't bad enough, this was a terrible moment in the history of our lord, Tim. Tim had just gotten out of the shower and all he was wearing was a white towel. He is so pale that I couldn't tell where the towel began and ended until I saw his belly button. God has an inny.

I asked God if he wanted to be beat up some more. He said that he wanted me to do that. I asked God if he wanted to be beat up some more. He said "NO!" and tried to bolt out of the room. I tackled him after three steps and persuaded to give him dozens of dead-legs. After I got tired, I climbed off his chest and I went to walk away. He said that he wanted that, and once he had enough, he made me stop. Apparently he was suffering for his creations or some shit like that.

I have a lot of problems with this whole scene. First off, I am a Grade A ninny. Tim is the only person I know that I can beat up. Second, it has long been pondered that if God is all-powerful, can he make a rock so heavy that he can not lift it? In this case, why would God make it so that ABSOLUTELY EVERYONE could kick the holy crap out of him? To me, it just doesn't add up. Tim tries to tell me that is a matter of faith. I still don't get it.

As a matter of faith, I still don't get it. I have a lot of problems with theology, and it does raise some interesting questions, all of which I find too boring to mention here.

Word of the Day: defenestration (v) Throwing something or someone out of a window
Microfluft Inc., the world's most incredibly important computer company EVER was founded in and resides in beautiful Trowelsville, NJ. Microfluft's founder, David C. Wyble Jr., created the ultimate operating system ever: Defenestration 97 in 1990 (ironically). Defenestration 97 started off as a program that made fun of one of his computer professors in college: Dr. Ernest Fluftenhoffer. It was an elaborate game, involving his professor, and several blunt objects that could be used to torture his professor. As he was writing this game, he realized that the game could provide a great backbone for an operating system. He made his anvils into dialog boxes, his bows and arrows into a control panel. The image of his professor, in digital form, knows exactly what you want to do before you do it, making Defenestration 97 the easiest operating system to use. He finished it, started marketing it, and named his company, "Microfluft," honoring the professor that inspired the program's creation.

Defen' 97 was such an amazingly simple operating system to use, that it kicked Windows 95's ass out of a window, killed UNIX with an AK-47, and made Macintosh's System 7 cry for its mommy. Bill Gates ran out of money trying to run smear campaigns against it, with slogans like, "Defenestration 97: It sucks really bad." Wyble's company, Microfluft countered with ads like, "Windows 95: Why bother?" Microsoft couldn't counter with a simple answer to the ad, and went bankrupt, trying to worm its way out of the dread question. Gates now flips burgers at "Casa del Burgers" in Whartzville, Arkansas.

Defen' 97 now runs on 99.99999999999% of all computers, and Wyble, a struggling computer geek, is no longer struggling, and lives in a huge house off of Marbles Street in Upper Trowelsville. His company has more money than God. He could buy human beings with the money that he has stored away in his bank accounts. No other computer company can compete with him anymore: His operating system and his software, run nearly EVERY computer in the world, except for three or four.

Defen' 97, however, is flawed with a few annoying bugs. One of the bugs destroys all of your word processing files, and replaces them with high scores lists from various video games. Another bug changes the wallpaper of the Defenestration 97 into a famous painting of dogs playing poker. Microfluft originally hired hundreds of people working help desks, giving advice to cure bugs, that he had to build an office the size of three football fields put together to house them all. He kept the help lines in operation for about three months, having angry people call up, complaining that their 8,347 page thesis was replaced with the top ten players of "Pac Man." After three months, Wyble, who was not only rich, but incredibly cheap, realized something. He thought: "Screw them. I run everything. They don't need help."

He fired the hundreds of people he hired originally, plowed under the help building and put up an amusement park, just for himself, and started to run offensive and annoying ads in campus newspapers berating his customers. You may think, "Gee, that's bad business sense." Granted, you may be right. But when you claim a virtual monopoly on a market, you can afford to change your slogan from "Computers helping people live" to "Screw You."

Wyble now lays half dead on the floor of John's Tavern, with a self-help book laying next to his head. Deja vu all over again? So it seems. Background information is better to crank out when the character you're giving the description of is passed out. They don't argue much. New that I've given you a damn good description of him, let me revive him for you... Wait...no space left. Drat. I guess you'll have to wait to see "Mr. Personality" next week. Count yourself one of the lucky ones.
SPOONS, spoons, everywhere, and not a spoon to eat soup with...

Hey Seth,
I just got this huge ice cream sundae. Yes, you could possibly borrow it, but I don’t know something to eat it with. Maybe a...

SPOON?

Loves, your always faithful and speechless pledge brother, Doyle.

Pat, Spring Break is still going to be great!

Luv ya, Musk!

SPOON BREAK 9999!

Sara,
I can’t wait to spend some quality time with you. Hell, I can’t wait to spend any time with you. I miss you, and your hair a lot. Can’t wait to see you tonight.

Love ya,
John

Doyle, O’Dealy rules!

Love, Musk and Suave

Lola of the Religion and Philosophy Club
You are so very much loved by me!

Kristen (ThetaKX)
Did you know what happens when you mix whiskey and wine together? Or did you forget? I’m sure your “roommates” in ZETA will remember!

Love ya, Caleb (ThetaKX)

Cate,
I love you, always.

Love, Your Baby (SDPK)

Scott (Omega)
I love wine!

Love ya, Kristen (ThetaKX)

Sigma Class of (ThetaK)
You’re doing great, girls. I love you, keep smiling!

Love ya, Kristen (ThetaKX)

To the “Man”
How’s it going’s?

333

Like a SPOON!

Mr. D.D., you’re so great! Star Wars.” I’d rather be star gazing with you! See you Friday 9:00 pm—my house!

Love ya.

Michelle, Healthy Breathing!

Love ya.

Picasso's collection, make love your art?

Sige

Sigma Delta Phi

Congratulations to the Delta Delta Class!

Love, Sisters of Delta Xi

Delto

Rony.

I love you little. You’re doing an awesome job. Stay strong!

Love, your Big Kristen

(DOPE)

Quarters (Phi Sp)

CONGRATS LITTLE!

ISL. Your song by

Tou Class (Phi Sp)

Congrats everyone, welcome to the family!

ISL. Beth

Kim A. (Phi Sp)

Help!

We’re trapped in the storeroom with an empty coffee pot and half a twinner!

ISL. Beth

Musk + Suave (DOPE + DoCh)

Bring it at the Spring Play!

How does it feel to be number 1?

Love ya, Kristen and Scott

To Crotsa - (Phi Sp)

I love you, thanks for everything. You’re the best big.

Your older little, Stacey

Beth, Jackie (Phi Sp)

Hey look! It’s Jack Frost Mountain!

LJ Jen

Crotsa (Phi Sp)

Next time don’t get caught sneaking people in or the rent-a-cop will follow you.

LJ Jen

Michele (Phi Sp)

Congratulations my TALL little! How does it feel to wear letters?

ISL. You little BIG

Jess J. (Phi Sp)

Didn’t the IMH teach you to drive on the road?

LJ Jen

Stacey Renee, Karen (Phi Sp)

MOD!

ISL. LJ Jen’s lucky

Seth, Dave, Floss (TXO)

SPOON!

YIT’s GM 15

Bakamo Band (Phi Sp)

Have an awesome time! While you are the week in the sun, I will be basking in the glow of fluorescent lighting.

LJ Jen

Cindy, Kim K (Phi Sp)

I see Chicken McNuggets falling from Blanton's.

LJ Jen

Karen (Phi Sp)

1st place in the burping contest!

LJ Jen

Get! I guess her mom is proud.

PS SPOON!

Beth, (Phi Sp)

I don’t think of anyone I’d rather be stuck with.

ISL. LJ

Renee (Phi Sp)

I love you too and you’re just as awesome.

ISL. Michele

Kitsch SUCKS!

Renee, Karen, Jenn (Phi Sp)

Sorry for beating you up Wednesday night!

ISL. Michele

Lana (Phi Sp)

“Hold on to your Boobs.”

ISL. Michele

My LJ By SS Jenn, (Phi Sp)

I’m so glad I get to see my big.

I love you Backback.

Your tall little

Sigma Delta Phi

1997-1999 50 Years Strong

My Little Karen (SDPK)

Congrats! Welcome to Sigma! I am so proud of you, Little!

Love in Sigma, Sp (SDPK)

Delta Delta (SDPK)

Congrats girls! Welcome to Sigma Delta Phi! We are Sigma!

Love your Sigma Sisters

ARGH! I’m SICK of TYPING DELTA DELTA THINGS II!

SO HERE IT IS IN LARGE DAMN TYPE:

CONGRATS DELTA DELTA! WE LOVE YOU YASSI YADDA YADDY YADDY

-LOVE,

EVERYBODY!

Sigma Delta Phi,
The Funny Tree
Michelle - Jill - Gino - Melissa - Koryn - Karen
Coop (SDPK)

My big! Thank you for all of your help! You are the greatest! I love you Big!

Love in Sigma Always, Your Little Brot

Jen Kristen, Pam (SDPK)

You guys did an awesome job! We are sigma. Love always your Sigma Sisters

Jeg Sarah, Jess (SDPK)

Congrats on your Little! Yeah!

Love, Koryn (SDPK)

Tou Class (Phi Sp)

Congrats girls you did it. We love you all!

ISL. Karen

To our big Seth,
We love you! Thanks for collecting just Stay strong! Don’t get interested in forks!

Love, your huge f-ing spoon better.

Steph (Phi Sp)

You remembered them all. I knew you would!

ISL. Karen

Beth and LJ Jen (Phi Sp)

We must have little sleepovers more often! You guys rock!

ISL. Karen

Any L. (Phi Sp)

What happened last weekend?

Hmmm Hmmmm, I wonder?

ISL. Karen

Beth, Jackie, Kim, Donna (Phi Sp)

This time next week we will be basking in the sun, drinking our mai tais and picking up mod amounts of
men. I can't wait.
IRS, Cyndi

Stacy Michele, Steph and Marco, Congrats! You did it! It was easy wasn't it? Did you have fun with the bomb?
IRS, Cyndi

susan

Steph, Beth, Ray Hilory
Hey guys! Snow, snow,
snow, your OSU
together.
Love, Cyndi

WHAT??

Happy Early
21st B-Day to Vic,
Cinda
Love, Beck

Vol is going to hell!
Delta Beta I love you!
Beck

Everyone be sure to look at JJO'S
new nipple ring!

Yeah! Just don't pull on it, 'cause
it's still sore.
-JJO'S

Jim and Kristen (SDSA)
Congrats and a kick ass job with.
Delta Delta
Love, Beck

Alisa
It's been a whole year and we still together! We are the old married couple and I'm always right.
I love you, Rebecca

Wendy
Nothing is sadder than the end of a great relationship—except a great friendship.
Dennis

Sigman
Have a great Spring Break! Find lots of cute boys and be safe! I love you guys!
Beck

I love Atlantic City!
The Rail Road
Lea

I love you little! I'll miss you over
Spring Break!
Love, You Big

Jesse
You Becks
Beer. I love
you.
Love, Beth
Good Luck pledging
Dolly Kenji
Love, Raime

Joy smells like icy Hot!
Love, Delta Beta

Big Elizabeth (SDSA)
I love you!
Love, Little

Tigger loves Mickey Mouse.
Delta Gama (SDSA)
I love you guys!
Stacy

Kevin (TXO)
Happy 21st B-Day!
Stacy (SDSA)

Justin (Senate)
Why are you so sky???
????

Sloan

Maggie (TXO)
Don't worry your secret is safe with me (I won't tell Tracy)
Lazy

Sassy (TXO)
Pick your smiley stickin', crusty
bears up from Lauren's apartment.

Joy (TXO)
You the man! I heard you're
"back in the saddle" and off the old horse!
Theta

Boger (TXO)
Pick a winner

Peres (TXO)
You're a dirty boy, clean up after yourself. But the rook go away yet? If not, keep it wrapped.
Love

Little Michele (SDSA)
Congrats! I knew you could do it!
I'm so proud to call you my Little!
Welcome to the oldest and best sorority: Sigma!
Love, Your Big Soror

Lydia

Thanks for all of your help.
You are the best! We have the coolest tree!
Love, your little Soror
Koryn (SDSA)
I'm not psychokel
Soror

Tracy (SDSA)
Thanks for being such a sweetie!
Love, Soror

Stacy (SDSA)
So what's our next step?
Soror (SDSA)

Joy (SDSA)
We think your NGUY bag is hot!
Jenn and Soror (SDSA)

Lea
What happened to your face?
The Sisters of Sigma

Little Vol (SDSA)
You are such a little devil! You are the best!
Love, Soror (SDSA)

Beck (SDSA)
When was the last time you had an organism?
Love, Soror

I can't wait until semi-formal!
The coffee will rule not unlike last year!
Gomma Mo 4S

Katy
Thanks for analyzing life with me.

Lisa

My God, don't you people
talk to one another????
Kristen and Jen (SDSA)
You did a great job! Thanks for all of your time and dedication.
Love, the Boys of Delta
Delta

Hey, Joan
How's my partner in crime? Hey!
Wanna go shopping this weekend? How about a quick trip to Cancun?
And what about the rose ke gave me?
What was his name again?
Enjoy the peeps!

My dad, don't you people
 المالین. WOLES!

Tommy Gunn (TXO)
You wild bitch.

Well everyone have a great Spring
Break and don't get too trashed
and don't cross a street before you
look both ways. OK, and only you can prevent forest fires. If your clothing is on fire, stop, drop, and
roll. If you have to have sex, play safe. It's '90s. Do you know where your children are? And watch out
for flying spoons.
Thank you, JJO'S

Lea

To the AIX pledge muffins,
You guys are doing so well! Stay strong! It's all worth it, I promise!
I love you!
Po Al

Fisk!
I hate it when I can't remember!
Cheetarok

Dear AIX Sisters,
This might be a little late but I just wanted to thank you guys for putting up with me through all my weeks of rehearsal and also for coming to see the show! Even if you weren't there physically I know you were still supporting me all of the way. I love you!
Love, Mia

Cheenie!
I'm here to store your little box!
Mia!

"Ralph!
"Purrfont...Meow...Purrfont...
"Cheetarok."

Have an awesome Spring Break
everybody.
Love, Mia (AIX)

Spoon

Spoonman,
Collecting spoons if he can.
Save Kim.
His 35932799 spoons will hang around.
[a small song known the SPT spoon collection]

Stamps such as for os collecting things goes. If you want a real challenge, try SPOON COL-LECTION! They're great to look at, and you can use them as deadly weapons. Collect spoons
today!
[Sponsored by the Seth & Taylor
memorial spoon-collecting society]

Tommy Gunn (TXO)
You wild bitch.

Well everyone have a great Spring
Break and don't get too trashed
and don't cross a street before you
look both ways. OK, and only you can prevent forest fires. If your clothing is on fire, stop, drop, and
roll. If you have to have sex, play safe. It's '90s. Do you know where your children are? And watch out
for flying spoons.
Thank you, JJO'S

MONTCLARION
Classifieds...

- Help Wanted -

Quality Day Camp in Morris County looking for applicants in the following areas: General Counselors, Swim - LGT or WSI, Music, Drama, Photography, Sports, High Ropes, Roller Hockey, Mountain Bikes, Newspaper. Please call 201-895-3200 for more information.

Undeclared? Looking for exciting career opportunities? Come to COMMUNICATION DAY and learn about the limitless field of Communication Studies! April 4th. Contact the Speech Communications Department, 655-7471 by March 24th.

Driver wanted. Valid license needed. No car necessary. Available to drive mornings 8:30 - 9:00 a.m. & evenings 5 - 7 p.m. Some day shifts possible. Thru first week of April. $12 per hour. Call 201-257-8145.

Part-time Fitness Trainer $6.75/hr. 46 Fitness & Racquetball in Fairfield. Call Mike 227-4000.

Part-time front desk, evenings/weekends. $6.75/hr. 46 Fitness and Racquetball in Fairfield. Call Charlie/Denise 227-4800.

Weekly, $300-500, part-time. Are you enthusiastic, like to make money and have a good personality? Call Tom for an interview. 785-0300.

- Apartment for Rent -

- For Sale -

- Child Care Wanted -

Baby-sitter needed for two children. Weekend hours, own transportation, good pay in Montclair. For more information: Call Maria McCabe at 744-2522.

Baby-sitter wanted for two fun-loving boys, ages 23 months and four. Part-time, primarily afternoons and some evenings. Must be reliable. Hours flexible. Non-smokers only. 744-1843.

The Montclarion is looking for new staff members for next year. Elections will be held on April 8 at 4 p.m.

- Adoption -

AD POLICY

To place a Classified Ad, please call the Advertising Department at 655-5237. The cost per insertion is $10 for up to 30 words, and $20 for 31-40 words, etc.

In Just 18 Weekends...

Earn a Master's Degree in Human Nutrition.

Hi, I'm Claudette Evarts.

As Coordinator of the Human Nutrition Program at the University of Bridgeport, my job is to help you earn a graduate degree in Human Nutrition by attending classes just one weekend a month for 18 months. Our accredited program provides you with basic and clinical nutritional information as well as alternative medical approaches.

So call me and I'll show you how our Human Nutrition program can enhance your current career or create a new one. Here's to your health!

203.576.4667

In Just 18 Weekends...

Earn a Master's Degree in Human Nutrition.

Hi, I'm Claudette Evarts.

As Coordinator of the Human Nutrition Program at the University of Bridgeport, my job is to help you earn a graduate degree in Human Nutrition by attending classes just one weekend a month for 18 months. Our accredited program provides you with basic and clinical nutritional information as well as alternative medical approaches.

So call me and I'll show you how our Human Nutrition program can enhance your current career or create a new one. Here's to your health!

203.576.4667

In Just 18 Weekends...

Earn a Master's Degree in Human Nutrition.

Hi, I'm Claudette Evarts.

As Coordinator of the Human Nutrition Program at the University of Bridgeport, my job is to help you earn a graduate degree in Human Nutrition by attending classes just one weekend a month for 18 months. Our accredited program provides you with basic and clinical nutritional information as well as alternative medical approaches.

So call me and I'll show you how our Human Nutrition program can enhance your current career or create a new one. Here's to your health!

203.576.4667
Softball pumped and prepared for new season

BY DENNIS L. DEMERCURIO
SPORTS EDITOR

Thursday, March 13, 1997

The MSU Women’s Softball team came within one run of winning the NCAA Championship. Undaunted and more determined than ever, the team prepares for another winning season.

In her First season, she coached the team to the NCAA post-season every year since. Coach Kubicka was an All-American second baseman at Trenton, and was part of the first team from that school to win the Division III NCAA Championship in 1983.

Heading to Orlando, Florida today to open up their season, Coach Kubicka took time out of her busy schedule to answer a few questions.

MONTCLARION: How will you prepare to overcome the shadow of last season’s loss in the final game?

Coach Kubicka: There’s a beginning, a middle, and an end. You don’t prepare for a regional tournament when you haven’t had your opening game yet. It’s the same basic philosophy in regards to the fundamental aspects of the game, by making the routine plays every single time that they’ve been drilled, since we began practicing since the end of January.

Whether it’s the opening game in Florida, or the final game in the regional tournament, it’s all going to come down to the same basic routine plays that they have been making all year.

MONTCLARION: What is the difference between this year’s team from last year?

Kubicka: The difference from last year is that we have a very good hitting team and a solid defense. We lost a pitcher that did a majority of our throwing last year, our number one pitcher, Robyn Baron. She came in and got us out of some jams and won some huge games for us. We, as a team, worked on developing what I consider an experienced staff, but not a tournament experienced staff. I think that the development that Sharon Ormsbee has made, is going to show itself down in Florida. Denise Warnock, from her double surgery in her shoulder a year ago, is a new pitcher from last season. Susan McCarville had limited experience last year, but will get more this year. And with the addition of Peggy Anne Cocker, a transfer from Rowan College, of which she was an All-American and I think that enhances our staff. We are deeper, pitching wise. I think that’s a plus. Yes, we lost a very good pitcher, but with the development of pitchers and what we’ve gained can also be offset this year.

MONTCLARION: Has there been significant changes to the team?

Kubicka: We have some changes, as well as some new players. Tara Wiez is new, replacing our second baseman, who transferred from MSU. Marlena Narwot, who had some playing experience, almost more of a utility role last year, should be seeing some time in left field, on a steady basis. She is a senior member of the team. I’ve also got a couple of freshman outfielders that will see sometime out there in the outfield. It’s going to be dictated by who goes out and plays well in game situations.

MONTCLARION: Have you decided on this year’s starting line-up?

Kubicka: With regards to starting, what I normally do is see who we’re playing against before I decide who the starting pitcher is, for example, because I have 2 right and 2 left. Defensively, I’m assuming Marlena Narwot in left field, Jennifer Citarella in center field, Wendy Saladino in right field, Ro Guzzi at shortstop.

“Nothing will be easy. That is the only guarantee you have every year.”

Baseball 2-1 in Florida; score 30 runs in three games

BY JEFF EHRLEICH
ASS. SPORTS EDITOR

The MSU baseball team is in Florida for the beginning of the season, and as of Tuesday night they are 2-1. They blew out Barry University 17-3 for their second triumph of the young season as senior pitcher Mike Mullane singled, doubled, tripled, drove in three runs, and scored twice. MSU had 11 hits in the 10-3 win played on Monday.

On Tuesday MSU played Division I Florida Atlantic University and lost in the bottom of the ninth, 4-3 off an RBI single for Florida Atlantic. Orth suffered the loss, however A.J. Economou (Howell) started and gave up only seven hits over five innings. McCorkle was three for four with an RBI single.

The team has seven games remaining in Florida before they return north to Wilmington College-Delaware on Saturday, March 22. Their first home game is a 2 p.m start on Sunday, March 23 against Johns Hopkins University.

All home games are played on Pittser Field behind Dickson Hall.

Senior Spotlight

ON BRIAN BLOMN

BY DENNIS L. DEMERCURIO
SPORTS EDITOR

Four years of hard work has paid off for swim team captain Brian Blomn.

Blomn will compete in three events of the NCAA Division III Championships: the 200 yard butterfly, 500 yard freestyle and 200 yard butterfly. Blomn currently holds the school records in both the 200 yard freestyle and 200 yard butterfly events.

Blomn, who is from Clifton, began swimming and competing at the age of eight. Upon graduating from MSU with a degree in Physical Education, he hopes to coach a swim team of his own. He’d like to start as an assistant coach here at MSU.

“I have so many good memories of my time here, specifically when I was a freshman. I went to the nationals and placed sixth in the mile,” said Blomn.

When he leaves the team, he believes Kevin Quiones will dive into his lane.

“Definitely,” said Blomn. The Championships will be held on March 18-20, at the University of Miami in Ohio.
Who will win the NCAA Div. I Championship and why?

Robert Stephens
Music Professor
Indiana, because my son is going there next fall.

Rohan Sutherland
senior, business
Kentucky, because I’m a Rick Pitino fan. Ever since he left the Knicks for Kentucky, I’ve liked their style of basketball. They’ll beat North Carolina in the championship.

Tewang Sanjanwala
junior, accounting
I feel Kansas is going to take it. They just have a great team with Jacque Vaughn, Peirce, and Pollard.

Brian Boles
junior, accounting
Kentucky, because they’ve never been blown out before, so I think they can handle whoever they’ll play.

Mike Realpe
sophomore, phys. Ed.
“North Carolina! We’re on a hot streak right now, we’re rolling, we’re looking good. We started off bad, but we’ve got a number one seed. Carolina over Kansas.

Ronnie Santana
sophomore, undeclared
Kansas, because they’re too big. They’ve got a great inside-outside game. They’ll beat Kentucky in the championship.

Tewang Sanjanwala
junior, accounting
I feel Kansas is going to take it. They just have a great team with Jacque Vaughn, Peirce, and Pollard.

Rohan Sutherland
senior, business
Kentucky, because I’m a Rick Pitino fan. Ever since he left the Knicks for Kentucky, I’ve liked their style of basketball. They’ll beat North Carolina in the championship.

Brian Boles
junior, accounting
Kentucky, because they’ve never been blown out before, so I think they can handle whoever they’ll play.

Mike Realpe
sophomore, phys. Ed.
“North Carolina! We’re on a hot streak right now, we’re rolling, we’re looking good. We started off bad, but we’ve got a number one seed. Carolina over Kansas.

Ronnie Santana
sophomore, undeclared
Kansas, because they’re too big. They’ve got a great inside-outside game. They’ll beat Kentucky in the championship.
Men’s basketball falls in first round of ECAC, 66-61

Fowler, Reilly named Honorable Mention All-Conference

By Jeff Ehrlich
Asst. Sports Editor

The 1996-97 men’s basketball season came to an abrupt end last Wednesday, March 5 as they lost in the first round of the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference Tournament to the Mt. Saint Mary College Blue Knights, 66-61. The heartbreaking loss was the final collegiate game for seniors Greg Fowler (Plainfield) and Rohan Kubicka.

Softball, Cont. from p. 21

Cheryl Lopez at first, Tara Wiez at second, Jamie Liscik at third and Jerriilyn Acevedo catching.

I may go into a rotation somewhat, but it’s dictated by the competition.

MONTCLARION: What do you expect of your players?
Kubicka: What I always ask of my players is that they go out and give 100%, and play hard. Along with that, they are human, and there are going to be errors that happen. If we can minimize the physical ones and work on any mental errors that we have right away and we can grow from that.

MONTCLARION: With the construction of a new playing field, the team has yet to conduct a full practice on grass. How is this going to affect the team?
Kubicka: I think we’re ready. The only thing I would have preferred is having a home field we could have practiced on. We have yet to field a ground ball on dirt. The outfield has had some time on grass and dirt, but the infield have not seen the clay at all. That’s a factor. That’s the biggest negative I can see right now, but I think we’re prepared.

MONTCLARION: Has the team progressed since September?
Kubicka: There’s definitely a progression that has been made (since the fall). We started with a week of conditioning which resulted in some torn or pulled muscles, due to some players lack of preparation, and others at the point of fatigue. But now we’re going down to Florida now very healthy, which I’m very excited about. They’ve worked hard for the past four weeks. They have absolutely made progression.

Sutherland (Miami, FL).

The game, played at Knights Arena in Newburgh, NY, saw four lead changes during the final three minutes and also saw the Red Hawks come back from an 11 point deficit. In fact, the Red Hawks first lead was not until Sutherland hit a three point shot with 3:23 remaining to make the score 58-57. Mt. St. Mary then took a one point lead off a jump shot by Tom Fuller followed by another lead change off a tip in by junior forward Raheem Rex (Atlantic City). The MSU lead was 60-59 until Fuller hit a three point shot to give the Blue Knights a 62-60 lead.

Then, after a miss by Fowler, the Blue Knights grabbed the rebound and called a time out with 1:24 showing. After the time out the Blue Knights had their shot blocked by sophomore guard B.J. Reilly (Middlesex) who passed to Sutherland. Sutherland was then fouled and made one of two free throws to bring the Red Hawks to within one point of tying the game. After Mt. St. Mary hit a jumper to give them a three point lead, MSU called a time out with only 22 seconds left.

When play resumed Fowler missed a long jumper and Mt. St. Mary grabbed the rebound. The Red Hawks then had a huge break come their way.

Sutherland was then fouled and made both of his free throws to give the Blue Knights a five point lead that the Red Hawks could not overcome. The final score was 66-61. This was one of those games that give players nightmares and make fans say, “Just wait till next year.”

For the Red Hawks, Fowler had a team high 18 points, nine rebounds, and five steals in his final game. Reilly had 14 points, including 12 from behind the three point line, and four assists. Both of them were named as Honorable Mention All-Conference selections. Sutherland finished with 11 points and four boards. Rex had eight points and seven boards, while John Weipz (Waretown) had six points and seven boards.

The Red Hawks final record was 12-13 (6-12 NJAC.) Fowler averaged a team high 15.6 points per game and 7.4 rebounds per game. Sutherland averaged 12.9 points per game and Weipz averaged 10.4. Reilly averaged 13.3 points per game and led the conference in assists with 6.4 per game. Rex averaged 8.7 points per game and 7.1 rebounds per game.

The Red Hawks finished seventh in the conference and all but three players will be returning next year. Expect the Red Hawks to improve greatly on their conference record next year.

Women’s Basketball, Cont. from back page

watching Rutgers play Mt. St. Mary’s was helpful.

“We saw what they could do the day before against Rutgers, and we saw what Rutgers should have and could have done and applied it to our game.” she said.

The win was attributed to a stingy defense, according to Coach Bradley.

“It was the little things that don’t show up on stat sheets, the details, that we did with confidence. We play with a purpose, and we were focused, and we just needed to have that to win,” said Coach Bradley, “Mt. St. Mary’s averaged 74 points a game and we kept them to 57. That shows what kind of outstanding defense we played.”

Freshman guard Wykemia Kelly said, “We came into the game not being scared and just played our game. Everybody stepped up, especially the seniors. They knew it was going to be their last game, and they were not going out with a loss. We needed the seniors to show leadership on the court, and that’s what they did.”

The victory was followed by more good news as Tuesday at Klingert was named to the 1st Team All-Conference and Villalta to the 2nd Team All-Conference.

Congratulations Red Hawks!
MSU WINS ECAC CHAMPIONSHIP!

by Dennis L. DeMercurio
Sports Editor

MSU entered the Eastern College Athletic Conference Division III Metro New York/New Jersey Women’s Basketball Championship as the second seed feeling somewhat bitter at not having been the top seed.

So, Head Coach Gloria Bradley and her Red Hawks took the top seed away from host Mount Saint Mary College by defeating them 61-57 in the final game held last Sunday.

MSU lost to Mt. St. Mary in the first round last year, and was determined not to let history repeat itself.

In the semifinal game on Saturday, MSU easily knocked off number three seeded Vassar College, 60-49. The Red Hawks then watched and cheered NJAC rival Rutgers/Camden in vain as the Pioneers fell to Mt. St. Mary, 75-58. This had a positive influence on the team.

“They were fed alot of motivation from watching Rutgers/Camden play Mt. St. Mary’s. They really wanted to play against Mt. St. Mary, and not only win it for us, but for the New Jersey schools, the New Jersey Athletic Conference,” said Coach Bradley.

During the final game against Mt. St. Mary, MSU were urged on by players from Rutgers/Camden, much to the delight of Coach Bradley and her team.

“Rutgers could’ve gone home after they lost Saturday, “ Coach Bradley said, “but stayed overnight and came out in full force to support us, which was outstanding.”

The Red Hawks came out sluggish, but soon gained their composure.

“We came out in the first half flat, a couple points behind, until Jill Schultz (West Milford) hit a three-pointer. That eased the tension the team was feeling,” said Coach Bradley. Schultz, a junior guard, had 11 points and three steals.

“Jill Schultz was determined that we were not going to end the season with a loss. If she comes back next year with the same intensity she’s had in the last five or six games, she’s going to be a terror in the conference.” Coach Bradley said.

Senior guard Heidi Klingert (Linwood) named to 1st Team All-Conference.

The Red Hawk freshman were key at the boards, with Lindsay Robinson (Shrewsbury) having 11 rebounds and Collete Canfield having 14. Canfield added eight points as well. Forward Felicia Ingram (S. Brunswick) supplied eight points, too, and came down with 10 rebounds.

Senior forward Tracy Singletary (Keasby) had eight rebounds.

But the most crucial player of the game, so much so that she was named the tournament’s Most Valuable Player, was senior guard Lisa Villalta (Harrison). In the two games played, she had 27 points, 14 steals, eight rebounds, and six assists.

“Lisa had probably her best games of the season,” said Coach Bradley, “She was very focused, no lapses, and at no point did she lose control.”

Coach Bradley said Continued on p.23