New guidelines to force aid refunds

Dept. of Education says students who are not making the grade may be forced to return their financial aid

By Milton Olave
Special to The Montclarion

The Financial Aid Department is cooperating with the Department of Education to mandate new guidelines that will make students pay a refund to the Department of Education if they decide to withdraw without letting school officials know.

Due to new guidelines under which the Department of Education is operating, the Financial Aid Office will request a last date of attendance within 30 days of the end of the semester if the grades of the student show and “F,” “Withdrawal,” or “Incomplete.” This information will then be used to determine whether a Title IV financial aid recipient must provide a refund and, if so, the amount of the refund.

“I have been woken up at 6 a.m. in the morning by running machinery on several occasions. Is it because we’re college students that we don’t deserve the same rights as citizens?” - Cheryl-Lyn Brazaitis

College Hall’s bells ring on time once again

The bells were shut off purposely for ringing at the wrong hour

By Amanda Iwanoff
Assistant News Editor

Ever since Daylight Savings Time, the bells on top of College Hall had not been functioning properly until last week when they were put back on schedule.

These bells, which are visible when standing on either side of College Hall, are supposed to chime every hour on the hour as well as chime the Alma Mater at noon and at four o’clock.

“Before last week, however, neither the hour or the Alma Mater have been audible because the mechanism that keeps track of the timing has been kept off due to Daylight Savings Time. “Just like anything else that is always there and then stops without notice, the bells stopped chiming and we didn’t even realize it,” said Cindy Barnes, Alumni of Montclair State.

According to Barnes, the bells have been shut off purposely for this time of the year. Wilderotter said that the new guidelines by the Department of Education would not be a problem because only 1% of the population withdraws unofficially.

Michael Kasmier, a junior and Webster Hall resident, said Bobbie Marquez, a Stone Hall resident, that they were purposely shut off because they were ringing the wrong hour.

“College Hall’s bells do run on a schedule, and until that schedule was fixed, we shut the system down,” said Miller.

However, not even Miller seems to really be sure if the bells are back on track.

Despite a City of Montclair ordinance prohibiting excessive construction noise before 7 a.m., construction on the Richardson Hall Annex has repeatedly begun after the set time, according to students residing in Stone and Webster Residence Halls.

“They start pounding away before 7 a.m. As the trucks arrive you wake up immediately, and this lasts throughout the day. You can’t take a nap in the day because it is too disturbing. You can’t even hear the TV when the windows are closed and we can’t keep the windows closed with the heat,” claims Bobbie Marquez, a Stone Hall resident who complains that the noise serves as alarm clock in the morning.

Stone Hall’s Residence Assistant, Sherri Olgleshish, says that now she has gotten used to the disruption and hopes they will finish soon so people can get on with their lives.

“It has been going for a while, if they could do it after class time that would be great because I have a class in Richardson and we can hardly hear the professor. I just hope they will get it over with soon,” said Olgleshish.

Even Petlonen says the noise begins before it is light out.

“They start at about 6:20. I can’t open my window without hearing loud industrial noise. I find it very distracting to do my homework in my room and it is impossible for me to study here in the day,” complained Petlonen.

Stone Hall residents were not the only ones who are disgruntled, a few Webster Hall residents also voiced their opinions on the situation.

“I have been woken up at 6 a.m. in the morning by running machinery on several occasions. Is it because we’re college students that we don’t deserve the same rights as citizens?” - Cheryl-Lyn Brazaitis

See Refund on P.4

See Noise on P.4

WAKE UP: Life goes on around the Richardson Hall Annex construction as students are forced to take a detour by Stone Hall. The construction has generated numerous noise complaints from residents.
New House Speaker named for GOP team

Republicans are all but certain to name Rep. Bob Livingston as the next House Speaker in a closed-door caucus meeting Wednesday, but it is still unclear who may capture any other spots on the GOP leadership team.

Livingston is poised to succeed House Speaker New Gingrich, who opted not to seek re-election as speaker after Republican setbacks in the Nov. 3 midterm elections. Gingrich plans to resign his seat in Congress as well.

The Louisiana Republican who announced he would challenge Gingrich before the speaker took himself out of contention has all but locked up the speaker’s gavel. Other would-be speaker candidates either considered running and decided against it, or withdrew from the name of party unity.

The biggest Republican leadership fight remaining is over the fate of Texas Rep. Dick Armey as majority leader, No. 2 job. Armey’s challengers—Reps. Jennifer Dunn of Washington and Steve Largent of Oklahoma —say the struggle is a fight for a “new face” on the Republican Party.

Clinton visits Asia to address crisis

President Clinton is going to economically battered Asia with the message that the key to recovery lies in Japan, which is struggling to emerge from its worst recession since World War II. The journey will take him from ornate palaces in Tokyo to military training fields in South Korea. The final stop will be the Pacific island of Guam where he will spend several hours before returning to Washington.

The trip, which began yesterday, was delayed and then rearranged, dropping a visit to Vietnam, after the weekend showdown with Iraq.

The first stop is in Tokyo where Clinton is expected to speak about economic differences with Japan.

National economic adviser Gene Sperling said Clinton would emphasize “how critical the resurgence of growth in Japan is to the economic revitalization of the region.” The world’s second-largest economy, Japan supplies 70 percent of the economic power in Asia, Sperling said.

Clinton’s trip comes two days after Prime Minister Keizo Obuchi unveiled a $196 billion package of spending and tax cuts to revive Japan’s recession-bound economy.

U.N. Inspectors continue watch to Iraq sites

U.N. inspectors resumed monitoring suspected arms sites in Iraq on Wednesday after a halt of more than two weeks and a showdown that forced them temporarily out of the country.

Some six U.N. vehicles accompanied by a dozen Iraqi cars set off from U.N. headquarters in the eastern outskirts of Baghdad to sites that are being monitored.

The Baghdad Monitoring and Verification Center has resumed full-range activities,” Caroline Cross, spokeswoman for U.N. inspectors in Iraq, told The Associated Press.

The inspectors are looking forward to “a productive and professional relationship” with Iraq, Cross said.

She would not say where the monitors were heading or reveal what disarmament activity they intended to carry out.

Strikes plague Zimbabwe

Most industries and businesses across Zimbabwe shut down Wednesday as workers headed for the second in a series of one-day strikes to protest economic policies.

The Zimbabwe Congress of Trade Unions, representing 90 percent of the nation’s labor unions, is protesting a 67 percent hike in gasoline prices that has triggered increases in commuter fares and food production costs.

Troops and riot police backed by helicopters patrolled townships across Zimbabwe, after the weekend standoff with the government over the issue of workers shutting down to protest economic policies.

U.S. News

President Clinton is going to economically battered Asia with the message that the key to recovery lies in Japan, which is struggling to emerge from its worst recession since World War II. The journey will take him from ornate palaces in Tokyo to military training fields in South Korea. The final stop will be the Pacific island of Guam where he will spend several hours before returning to Washington.

The trip, which began yesterday, was delayed and then rearranged, dropping a visit to Vietnam, after the weekend showdown with Iraq.

The first stop is in Tokyo where Clinton is expected to speak about economic differences with Japan.

National economic adviser Gene Sperling said Clinton would emphasize “how critical the resurgence of growth in Japan is to the economic revitalization of the region.” The world’s second-largest economy, Japan supplies 70 percent of the economic power in Asia, Sperling said.

Clinton’s trip comes two days after Prime Minister Keizo Obuchi unveiled a $196 billion package of spending and tax cuts to revive Japan’s recession-bound economy.

The Zimbabwe Congress of Trade Unions, representing 90 percent of the nation’s labor unions, is protesting a 67 percent hike in gasoline prices that has triggered increases in commuter fares and food production costs.

Troops and riot police backed by helicopters patrolled townships across the capital, Harare, and the main provincial centers.

In Harare, troops guarded bus stations after the government said it would protect employees wishing to show up for work. But only a few state-owned and private taxi vans were operating.
Three new administrators to advance university

New additions include Directors of Web Services, Alumni Relations and Annual Funding

By Heather Langan
Special to The Montclarion

The Division of Institutional Advance­ment recently welcomed three new adminis­trators to its team, according to Vice Presi­dent for Division of Institutional Advance­ment Cindy Meneghin, newly named Director of Web Services, and Barbara Krusko, Director of Alumni Relations, and Barbara Krusko, Director of Annual Funding, were selected out of a nation­wide search.

"These positions are vitally important to enhancing the capacity to present the programs we need," said Dr. Waters.

Cindy Meneghin, new Director of Web Services, Marla Grundt, Director of Alumni Relations, and Barbara Krusko, Director of Annual Funding and giving were selected out of a nation­wide search.

"These positions are vitally important to enhancing the capacity to present the programs we need," said Dr. Waters.

Cindy Meneghin, new Director of Web Services, was hired in September as Montclair’s first web manager. Her duties are to main­tain Montclair’s web site and help create tools for faculty to use web communications and resources.

"We are looking for someone with communication skills and knowledge of computers and technology," said Waters.

Meneghin was previously Montclair’s Web manager and has held positions as a technical editor and senior technical editor also at Princeton.

Marla Grundt, Director of Alumni Re­lations, was hired in early August. Grundt is in charge of relations with the alumni of Montclair, keeping them up to date, meeting their needs, and bringing their support back to Montclair.

"I am very excited to be here," said Grundt.

She plans to develop a five year plan for best ways to reach alumni, to enhance pro­grams that already exist, and to do more work with other departments, she said. Grundt has previously worked as Director of Alumni Relations of Dwight-Englewood School in Englewood.

Barbara Krusko, Director of Annual Funding, started August 31 and has two roles in her new position: Director of Annual Funding and Director of Alumni Annual Funding.

Krusko is in charge of raising money for our scholarships and general support for the university through programs such as Phone­A-Thon and Parent’s Day.

"Annual funding raises money where it is needed and given out by greatest needs," she said Krusko.

"This year we received $16,000, last year we only received $21,000," she said.

Krusko and Grundt work closely to­gether, especially during the alumni Phone­A-Thon in the spring where students volunteer to call alumni for donations.

One of her past positions included be­ing Director of Annual Funding at Iona Col­lege in New Rochelle, N.Y.

To fulfill these positions there was a national search. After sifting through all the applications and interviews, there were approx­imately four finalists plus finalists. These three were hired from these finalists, said Dr. Waters.

"We are a wonderful university and we are moving up...the sky is the limit," said Dr. Waters.

 Loving Planet Earth

All of Smith’s efforts are not only to improve the Recreation Department, but to improve the existence of recreational activi­ties on campus as a whole for the students.

“I think the recreation department offers a good amount of activities and they should offer more each semester. For example, this semester they are offering pool and step aerobics. The programs are good and are steadily improving, and I think that the new director will keep having more great ideas in the future,” said Nick Nicotella, 22, Phys­i­cal and Health Education Major.

Overall, Smith realizes that there are things about the department that the students are demanding a change in, such as the fitness center. “I have to do the best I can with the budget that I’m given,” says Smith.

“I go to the gym to lift only to find that the free weights are bent in the middle. The gym definitely needs im­provement.” said Jason Razillard, 17, Undeclared.

Overall, Smith is determined to of­fer more special events and games to the students with the help of yet another idea. Smith is looking into possibly starting a recreation board to get input from students and find out what they are looking for.

“Until we can build a reputation of hav­ing a strong campus recreation program, we have to go out there and get the students to come out. Until then, I think that the Uni­versity is becoming more committed to cam­pus recreation. I’d like to see this program grow to be something that students who graduate from here will remember as some­thing that made their college experience better,” says Smith.

Squeaky Clean: Jason Gowers, Geo Club Treasurer and Dr. Gregory Pope, the club’s advisor, scrub paint from a large rock adjacent to Mallory Hall, restoring it to its original state as part of Geography Awareness Week.

Dept. of Recreation names new director

By Amanda Iwanoff
Assistant News Editor

By Amanda Iwanoff
Assistant News Editor

The Department of Recreation recently named a new Director after the former Di­rector of Recreation, Steve Redrup, who left the position due to a new child and an offer for a position at the University of Minnesota where he worked as the Sport Club Program Director for about three years.

The new director, Steve Smith, came to Montclair about two weeks ago from the University of Minnesota where he worked as the Sport Club Program Director for about three years.

"I am very excited to be here," said Smith.

Smith is looking to get everyone, on and off campus, involved in the sports clubs, the fitness center, and even recreation nights within the residence halls.

Currently, the recreation department offers only one intra­mural sport, flag football, and four sport clubs which include men’s hockey, rugby and volleyball and the new women’s ice hockey club which will have their first prac­tice on November first. Smith attributes the lack of student participation in recreation to the time schedules at which the sports have been offered at, and the simple fact that most students don’t know when events are happen­ing. However, more programs such as basketball, volleyball and tennis are being tentatively added to the list of athletic ac­tivities for the spring semester.

One of the most important groups Smith is looking to get right now is the campus residents only because I have been told that students always complain that they are bored and that there is nothing to do on the week­ends, but I want everyone to take part in some kind of activity, whether they are a commuter or a resident," said Smith.

Smith wants to make a recreation sched­ule to accommodate everyone, whether they live here or not. A way of doing that is to offer activities at different times. We can keep the eight o’clock activities in Panzer for the residents and add in earlier activities for those who commute and might not want to come back during the evening.”

Smith is looking positively at the future of the Recreation Department here at Montclair, and he is not doing all of his plan­ning alone. He is assisted by two graduate students, Suzanne Landis, who has been assisting with Fitness and Aquatics for the past two years, and James R. Whitney, who just recently joined the team to assist with intramural activi­ties.

"He seems re­ally focused on getting the students involved. He’ll bring a whole group of new ideas that we can use to boost participation.

James R. Whitney
Intramural Activity Assistant

He (Smith) seems really focused on getting the students involved. He’ll bring a whole group of new ideas that we can use to boost participation," said Whitney, discussing Smith’s new look for the programs. “I like the way he believes that by word of mouth, more people will get involved.”

According to Smith, his ideas to expand the recreation program are simple. “This program needs to reach the entire MSU community, and the only way that is going to happen is by word of mouth. Join a club, work out in the fitness center, and if you like it, tell a friend. If you don’t like it, let me know and I’ll work to improve it. I also want to get more student programs involved, possibly the SGA and the Greek communi­ty,” says Smith.
Refund

CONTINUED FROM P. 1

Some students may have to return aid

a Student Government Legislator, agreed with the new guidelines by saying, “If some­one makes a commitment to the Financial Aid Office for a service and they do not com­plete the term, I believe that they should pay for the term.”

Student Latoya Hall disagreed with the new guideline by saying, “This is not fair because sometimes students stop coming to class because of personal problems and other matters.” However, she agreed that students should notify school officials that they are going to stop attending. Professors would have to identify when the last day of attendance of the student would have been, that way a correct judge­ment can be made as to how much the student should refund the Department of Edu­cation. Attempts made to talk to Education De­partment professors were unfortunately unsuccess­ful.

Bells

CONTINUED FROM P. 1

Despite the bells’ silence, many did not notice

Hall. I don’t have a class near there, so I guess I never realized,” said Mary Weatherholtz, 22, theater major.

The few that do know about the bells seemed to only realize by incident. “I didn’t realize there was a bell on top of College Hall until last week. I was walking by and it just started ringing,” said Corey Harman, 18, undecided.

Although these bells seem to go by un­noticed by many, their history and signifi­cance shouldn’t. According to Cindy Barnes, there are actually two bells on Col­lege Hall.

“The bell you see when you are stand­ing on the steps of College Hall is a one hundred year old California Mission Bell. This is the amplified bell that you hear chime on the hour. The bells you hear play the Alma Mater are the Carillon Bells, which are actually recorded,” said Barnes.

Not only are the bells pleasing to the eye for those who notice them, but the sound of the bells have been reason to rejoice in past decisions concerning our university.

“We all wanted to know if Montclair State was approved for a university status, and the bells were played as a signal that we won,” said Phyllis Miller.

Recently, the Alma Mater has also been played to signify the university being granted permission to be a doctoral insti­tute.

The bell that is actually visual to the community was donated by Dor­othy Westcote, a 1936 Montclair State graduate, for her fortieth class reunion in 1976.

Parent-Infant program awarded grant from state

Funding will help the 90 families in which graduate students care for children three and under

By Amanda Iwanoff
Assistant News Editor

The New Jersey Department of Health and Senior Services recently awarded a $455,316 Grant to Toni Spiotta, director of the Parent-Infant Program.

The program, which has been funded by this grant since 1981, was designed to pro­vide services to families who have a child with a disability.

“One of the things the university wants is for students to leave with a real dedica­tion to creating an equitable society. This program is trying to achieve creating a change in the lives of the children involved so that they feel included in society,” says Spiotta.

The Parent-Infant Program caters to these children, ages three and under, by sending trained university students to work with them on a one-on-one basis. These graduate students serve 90 families in the twelve towns that the program has been as­sessed to on the western part of Essex County.

“Last year we had twenty-five families to work with. This year the program almost quadrupled in size, giving us the ninety families that we are working with now,” said Spiotta.

In the past, the student-staff would meet with the children outside of their homes. The staff now goes directly to the child’s home, keeping the children in their own natural environment.

“Sometimes more than one staff worker gets assigned to a family, depending on the nature of the child’s disability,” said Spiotta. The Parent-Infant Program also hosts a parent- support group twice a month for the parents who are involved with their children in the program. The group meets on Sat­urday mornings and a playgroup is set up for the children of these parents, even if the parents other children are not in the program.

“It takes place on campus at the Demonstration School, next to the Clove Road apart­ments. According to Spiotta, the parent support group is a great way for undergraduate stu­dents to get involved.

“I’m looking for volunteers to help with the playgroups from 9:30-11:30 on Sat­urday, two weekends a month,” said Spiotta. The program runs year round and just started its off-campus work last July.

Attempts to contact parents were unsuccess­ful.

Spiotta has been part of the MSU com­munity for the past 25 years. She began as a teacher at the Demonstration School, and currently she is Director of both the Parent-Infant Program, and the Psychocultural Educational Center.
SAVE THE DROP-IN CENTER

We have always been here to help you, now we need your help.

Please VOTE
Nov. 23rd and 24th
in the Student Center

OR LOSE THE DROP-IN CENTER

The Drop-In Center will lose its building without your VOTE.

The Drop-In Center offers peer counseling, information, and referrals.
(A service of the Student Government Association.)
By Kristen Anderson

T

The focus of this year’s health fair on Wednesday Nov. 11 was geared toward wellness - a definite welcomed break from the theme of disease already plaguing our everyday lives. Besides focusing on the more positive side of health issues, the fair also strongly addressed the potential of non-traditional treatments for medical and emotional illnesses not commonly practiced in mainstream society and, therefore, often not fully understood. The idea was to make people aware of alternative and complementary treatments and how they each function to heal the body, mind and soul.

Numerous tables were set up which addressed more mainstream concerns about health. Information on how and where to set up an appointment to get HIV testing and the areas of non-traditional treatments for body, mind and soul.

When the next blood drive was going to be, was just some of the important information readily available. Included in the tables were several informative pamphlets, newsletters, etc. that one could take home and read over on his/her free time. Also, people running individual tables were extremely available and willing to answer questions about their particular area of expertise. However, the best way to learn about or fulfill curiosity was to try that which sparked the curiosity. So that is the exact way I went about spending my time at the health fair - trying everything I possibly could.

I started off my visit to the fair looking at information on the tables about herbal therapies that offer complementary and alternative approaches to traditional medicine. According to the information (was that to educate the people on the nine most popular herbs” used in such circumstances. These included Echinacea, St. John’s Wort, valerian, garlic, chamomile, peppermint, ginkgo and kava. Information on areas such as the history of all sides, effects, interactions, and contraindications were available on all the herbs.

The next table I stopped by covered the importance of vitamin supplements exactly which were vital for every person to incorporate into his/her daily diet. According to the information on nutrition, the most important supplements to take for maintaining health are vitamins C, E and a multivitamin or mineral supplement. It also supplied information on supplements such as glutamine and DHEA for such purposes as weight gain and sexual enhancement.

After picking up some information at other tables I finally made my way to the interaction of the day. Unfortunately, there was so much to partake in that I was unable to try everything. The virtual medical station was set up late and packed up early before I could even get any information about it.

The physical fitness section allowed a person to have his/her personal physical health evaluated. There were several stations to the process starting with blood pressure, fat measurements, a cardiovascular endurance test. The idea was “to make people more aware of their health limitations” said Dr. Tobin. Monitoring how exercise affects the body are seen to be more dramatic in response than if only blood pressure alone had been taken,” Dr. Tobin explained. As with all the evaluations and free samples available, Dr. Tobin clarified that the fitness evaluation was not set up to diagnose any ailments but to act as a referral service for those in need of more help. However, taking part in this test could help lead to the detection a problem that may have otherwise been left unnoticed.

Besides the fitness evaluations there were several other opportunities for learning about health, all also about alternatives/ complementary/alternative therapies. I was able to have my posture evaluated and discovered that what I thought I would need to work on a for a perfect back, I found out my back is in utterly horrible condition. Not that I am going do anything about it of course, but it is useful to know, and even somewhat skeptical about how sticking pins in your body can make you feel better. I still don’t understand the way the machines work, but I did it for the purpose of stress relaxation and I felt completely relaxed as if sitting in a lawn chair with cushions stuck out of both my ears. At the energetic healing display I learned about chakras, and how to use a pendulum to evaluate whether the energy of the chakras of a particular thing is positive or negative. Negative energy can be removed from any item or place by making a circle in a clock wise motion while saying “996, I thank you, God.”

And, of course, I had to try the free back massage. Although I could have tried the healing touch energy massage, the line was too long to wait in. I stumbled out of trying this form of massage. Although I could have tried the healing touch energy massage, the line was too long to wait in. I stumbled out of trying this form of massage.

I left the health fair with a newfound appreciation for alternative/ complementary therapies. Personally speaking, I learned some things about my own body at the fair, something I might never have known other than the health fair had allowed for such a free evaluation to be available. I also tried acupuncture for the first time since I thought it was a little bit uncomfortable and even somewhat skeptical about how sticking pins in your body can make you feel better. I still don’t understand the way the machines work, but I did it for the purpose of stress relaxation and I felt completely relaxed as if sitting in a lawn chair with cushions stick out of both my ears.

The energetic healing display I learned about chakras, and how to use a pendulum to evaluate whether the energy of the chakras is to find which is the best one for whatever your particular needs are. People have altered the medication and use alternative/complementary therapies. Personally speaking, I learned some things about my own body at the health fair - trying everything I possibly could.

It calls a “Management Control Unit” at the the prison in utterly horrible condition. Not that I am going do anything about it of course, but it is useful to know, and even somewhat skeptical about how sticking pins in your body can make you feel better. I still don’t understand the way the machines work, but I did it for the purpose of stress relaxation and I felt completely relaxed as if sitting in a lawn chair with cushions stick out of both my ears. At the energetic healing display I learned about chakras, and how to use a pendulum to evaluate whether the energy of the chakras is to find which is the best one for whatever your particular needs are. People have altered the medication and use alternative/complementary therapies. Personally speaking, I learned some things about my own body at the health fair - trying everything I possibly could.

The energetic healing display I learned about chakras, and how to use a pendulum to evaluate whether the energy of the chakras is to find which is the best one for whatever your particular needs are. People have altered the medication and use alternative/complementary therapies. Personally speaking, I learned some things about my own body at the health fair - trying everything I possibly could.

The energetic healing display I learned about chakras, and how to use a pendulum to evaluate whether the energy of the chakras is to find which is the best one for whatever your particular needs are. People have altered the medication and use alternative/complementary therapies. Personally speaking, I learned some things about my own body at the health fair - trying everything I possibly could.

The energetic healing display I learned about chakras, and how to use a pendulum to evaluate whether the energy of the chakras is to find which is the best one for whatever your particular needs are. People have altered the medication and use alternative/complementary therapies. Personally speaking, I learned some things about my own body at the health fair - trying everything I possibly could.

The energetic healing display I learned about chakras, and how to use a pendulum to evaluate whether the energy of the chakras is to find which is the best one for whatever your particular needs are. People have altered the medication and use alternative/complementary therapies. Personally speaking, I learned some things about my own body at the health fair - trying everything I possibly could.

The energetic healing display I learned about chakras, and how to use a pendulum to evaluate whether the energy of the chakras is to find which is the best one for whatever your particular needs are. People have altered the medication and use alternative/complementary therapies. Personally speaking, I learned some things about my own body at the health fair - trying everything I possibly could.
no congregate meals, religious, educational, psychological, or vocational programs available to prisoners in the Control Unit. Some of the control units usually exacerbate the problems of mentally ill prisoners and cause the emergence of psychoses in previously healthy prisoners. According to Dr. Stewart Grassian, Professor of Psychiatry at Harvard Medical School, after extended periods in the isolation of control units some prisoners begin eating parts of their bodies or even their feces and many report hallucinations.

The control unit is not a place to become "penitent" as the word penitentiary would imply, rather it is a place to struggle for one's sanity and sometimes lose. Some prisoners stay in New Jersey's control unit for as much as 3 to 5 years and one has been there for 11 years, this due primarily to his radical politics. I visited this prisoner once, his name is Ojore Lutalo. He did in fact break the law to support his political views who commit the same crimes as they brought out numerous students, faculty and off-campus residents. Voices were heard, comments were shared and graces of smiles spread throughout the room. The speakers were able to lecture, answer questions, share different views, relate different arguments and clarify misconceptions. Each event revolved around an Islamic subject, but also dealt with the effect of other cultures, societies, and us as individuals. The event held on Monday, Nov. 9, co-sponsored by LASO, was about Islamic Roots in Spanish History & Culture, in collaboration with OSAU, A Free Dinner & Introductory Videos about Islam, and "Islam: The Only Cure for Racism.

The events proved to be very successful as they brought out numerous students, faculty and off-campus residents. Voices were heard, comments were shared and graces of smiles spread throughout the room. The speakers were able to lecture, answer questions, share different views, relate different arguments and clarify misconceptions. Each event revolved around an Islamic subject, but also dealt with the effect of other cultures, societies, and us as individuals. The event held on Monday, Nov. 9, co-sponsored by LASO, was about Islamic Roots in Spanish History. It attracted many of the Latino students as well as many of the Muslim students. The speaker, Dean AhIF, provided visual aids to enhance his lecture in order to emphasize what he is trying to relate to the public. He spoke about the discoveries in language, math, and science that were contributed by Muslims in Spain and how these discoveries evolved to what we have today. Many thought that it was very interesting to learn how many things we use now in the present and much of what we say and subjects we study are descended from Muslim roots. A free dinner was also sponsored by the students of the association on Monday, Nov. 11, which allowed students to correlate and render ideas, thoughts, and reflections about Islam, the University itself and so on. The event held on Thursday, November 12 about racism, brought out many emotions, related different views, and allowed the students to discover how Islam approaches that subject. The speaker Imam Hamza Abdul Salsam, provided an outlook of how Islam revolts against the idea of racism. He clarified the idea of how Islam is a peaceful religion and explained the freedom of conscience, which is laid down by the Quran.

The Muslim Students Association put a lot of effort in organizing their events, not only did they provide refreshments, pamphlets, and a free dinner, but they also tried to bring out lectures that not only concerned the benefit of Muslims, but the benefit of all students at MSU. Their good intention was to provide a wider outlook of Islam that will not be forgotten, for "God does not judge according to your bodies and appearance, but He scans your hearts and looks into your deeds."

---

Inspiration...

By Dr. Rob Gilbert

The two rules of university life

In order to graduate from Montclair State University, it won’t be easy...

- to stay up late and finish that paper
- to get up early the next morning and get to your 8 a.m. class
- to study on Friday and Saturday nights
- to put up with all the traffic on the Parkway
- to act interested in class when you are really bored.
- to travel through a snow storm to get to class on time
- to be the only non-major in a major's course
- to keep showing up for class even when you are discouraged
- to find a parking space on campus
- to fail the first exam and then to start to work harder than ever
- to make the transition from high school to college
- to have more than one exam on the last day of finals.
- to do your best on a quiz even when you're unprepared.
- to learn to write well
- to take a course you didn't want to because the one you wanted was closed
- to keep working on that confusing problem until you solve it.

To hear Dr. Gilbert's daily motivational messages, call Success Hotline at 737-4690.
The evening was successful and very professional...

- Anton Wheeler, SGA President

Harvest Ball presents evening of celebration and learning

By Rhoda Donat
Staff Writer

This past Sunday, Nov. 15, marked the 31st celebration of the Organization for Students of African Unity (O.S.A.U.) Harvest Ball. The evening was designed to celebrate the contributions of fathers, mothers, sisters and brothers as a family. It also serves as an early Thanksgiving celebration where those in attendance can pay tribute to individuals, past and present, who have contributed to their success.

With Will DeVone, a brother of Phi Beta Sigma, the evening began with Litigation by Phillip Johnson. Litigations are a way of paying homage to individuals who have made a positive impact on our lives. After the name of an individual was stated, water was poured from a cup (as elements of the earth), which symbolized giving back. This was performed as it was pronounced after the pouring of the water, which means “we are in agreement.” Among the names that were cited were Harriet Tubman, Malcolm X, Martin Luther King Jr. and Eli Whitney.

The evening ended with a soulful dance by the O.S.A.U. Ayoluwa Dancers. This group was composed of five female dancers dressed in an assortment of African outfits. At one point, they danced to a beat from the Caribbean.

Next was the presentation of the purpose, which is, “To honor our ancestors and the struggles they endured to bring us thus far. To promote and harmonize us and to unite our families and community in a loving, sharing and creative environment where we may learn, so that we may teach.”

The evening, which was one of celebration and learning, did not end there. It was also filled with poetry from the members of Phi Beta Sigma and the Kitabe, a division of O.S.A.U., which focuses on African-American literature. Among the poets were Kwaku Ama, Femi Snipes and Taruna Grizzle. The poetry was followed by the introduction of the guest speaker, Dr. Lafrances Rodgers-Rose by Dr. Sandra Collins.

Her presentation was “electrifying,” stated Student Government Association President Anton Wheeler. “No matter her speech you were able to see her character. She exemplified a scholarly intellectual and the overall epitome of the finer womanhood.”

The main focus of Rodgers’ presentation was the structure of the family - how it was, how it has changed and the impact that the transition has had on the existing family structure. She painted a picture of family structure of the past describing a scenario where children were taught in the ancient African Traditions. In the home, the value of respecting elders, education, worship and of life was taught by example and was greatly stressed upon. These things, which made life pleasant, are slowly fading away, however, in the picture of today’s society.

A soulful dance to Caribbean music was performed by the O.S.A.U. Ayoluwa dancers because these values have not been transcended into many modern day families. The impact of her presentation was deep. It ended with a plea to return to the traditions of African-American practices and bring back the priceless expressions, which make society function at its best.

After her presentation, Earl Gayle II blessed the food and we were invited to dine. There were many tasty varieties in this potluck style dinner. Some of the dishes on the menu included yellow rice, Haitian beans and rice, macaroni and cheese, turkey, collard greens, roast beef, salads and desserts. It portrayed a Thanksgiving meal.

After the guests, they were entered by a step exhibition. In African America, tribes used drum to communicate messages to other tribes during time of war and peace. Step team exhibitions bring this symbolism to life by using the whole body to imitate the sounds similar to those of the drums used in Ancient Tribal Africa. In doing so, they convey a message of community, togetherness and service in paying homage to our ancestors. The performance was a collaboration between the brothers of Iota Phi Theta and Phi Beta Sigma, the sisters of Swing Phi Swing Social Fellowship and Zeta Phi Beta and Shariff Elquin, a.k.a. Reef. The evening ended with a soulful presentation by the organization gospel choir.

“The evening was successful and very productive, an event that everyone should have been able to appreciate. I was particularly proud of the effort put forth by members of OSAU. They did a fine job,” stated Wheeler.

MINDOVERWORLD

By Dr. Susan Herman

Managing your Mind part 1 of a 2 part article

Creating a positive mental attitude is the first step to that you feel you can actually succeed in every area of life. This attitude is something that can’t be developed overnight. It must become an ingrained habit.

We all feel better when we can be in control of things. Unfortunately that is seldom possible and we have control over our own mind. That is the one thing we can command.

BEGINNING THE PROCESS

This is the beginning of a commitment that you will use to motivate and encourage yourself. An example of this is: I believe that I can directly control my success and my habits so that I can develop a positive mental attitude. This takes a lot of work and needs your wholehearted commitment. Find a phrase that you can use to counter discouragement and to fight putting things off. Some helpful phrases are “I can do this,” “I will do it when I feel like it” and “I can do it.”

Using Lists

Part of creating a structure can be helped by the use of lists. When pressure begins to build, the tendency is to feel anxious and disinclined, which is the opposite of a positive mental attitude. Try this. Make a list. Include everything that needs to be done and another list, including homework, class assignments, grocery shopping, laundry and even part time. Then make a weekly schedule, listing all of your tasks within the weekly schedule.

This will help you to be more organized, less overwhelmed, and remember everything that you need to do. It is likely that you will find that you have enough time to fit everything in. If not, it is important to rethink your tasks to fit your own time.

Creating a Structure for Your Goals

Setting short and long term goals for yourself are very important. You need to have long term goals to help give yourself a general direction. For example, one long term goal might be to do well in your classes. You should be specific about what that means in terms of study, papers, exams, etc.

Determine what you want to accomplish. Express your goals positively. Set a date for accomplishing each of your goals. Then you need a step by step plan that you can put in writing. It is important to put all of this down in writing, which is another way of positively affirming your commitment to your goals.

Next you need to set short-term goals for each day related to your main goal. Each day you should read your plan aloud and go over everything that you can do in the day. You should picture yourself as having achieved your goal so that you can create a positive attitude. Writing your daily goals helps to maintain your motivation.

For about two years, I honestly thought that it was the best career for me. After all, I love my job and that I'm going to continue making a significant difference.

As soon as I started college, I began to take classes within my psychology major. I continued this major and began to consider psychology as a direction for a career choice. While most of my friends were struggling to decide on a major, I thought I had my whole life figured out by freshman year. I began to dream about getting my doctorate and I was looking forward to having my own office with a sign that stated “Dr. Bibbo.”

For about two years, I honestly thought that it was the best career for me. After all, I loved psychology and I hoped to help people throughout my career.

I enrolled in Cooperative Education because I wanted a better understanding of which career in the mental health field is most suitable for me. Psychology is a very vast field and can take you in many directions. I also wanted to build my resume and start networking with professional contacts. This semester, I'm working as a mental health co-op in a psychiatric ward at a geriatric hospital. Most of the patients have serious psychiatric problems such as schizophrenia. Some of my duties consist of counseling the patients as well as assisting with extracurricular activities. I was excited when I first started this job since it gave me the opportunity to expand my book knowledge while gaining a valuable new experience.

I wish I could write here that I absolutely love my job and that I'm going to continue working for my doctorate in clinical psychology. Instead, after some time, I began to have doubts about a career in the mental health field.

When I first saw the patients, I felt intimidated and a little awkward. I was never around people who were seriously mentally ill and I didn't know how to act around them. However, working in a psychiatric ward is very emotionally demanding. It is very sad to see people in that kind of condition day after day. I wish I could help these patients, but most of them have conditions that are incurable. For me, this brings up a lot of mixed feelings of frustration and helplessness. No matter how hard I try, I don't seem to be making a significant difference.

Through the help of my faculty advisor and co-op counselor, I realized that working in a psychiatric ward may not be the best career choice for me. But, there are other careers, even in the mental health field, that will be suitable for me. I'm happy that through co-op I was able to see the reality of a psychiatric ward - a reality that I would never completely grasp through my psychology books.

Does it interest you?

By: Stephanie Materazzi
WINTERSSESSION
AT MIDDLESEX COUNTY COLLEGE
EDISON, NEW JERSEY

3 Weeks of Concentrated Learning
December 28, 1998-January 15, 1999
Earn college credit in three weeks!

• Explore the wonders of the human mind through Psychology courses
• Chart a course in mathematics with Statistics or Calculus
• Introduce yourself to Computer Applications or Learn to "Surf" the Internet
• Examine history from Plato to NATO
• Bathe in the beauty of Rembrandt and Van Gogh in Art History
• Learn about Business Organization, Business Math, or Business Law
• Engage yourself in the joys of Spanish
• Try your skill at racquetball or swim in our heated pool
• Develop your talents in Drawing or Ceramics
• Acquire the foundation for effective public speaking

All this and much more
at MCC’s WINTERSSESSION

All classes meet daily December 28 through January 15, except January 1.
Most classes run mornings, Monday through Friday.

COME IN OUT OF THE COLD.
Registration begins November 23.
Call (732) 906-2523 for information.

The WINTERSSESSION workload is heavy. You should expect to spend, for a single course, about as much time in and out of the classroom on a weekly basis as you would carrying a full-time load in a normal 14-week semester. If you have time to invest, WINTERSSESSION could be perfect for you. Please consult with the appropriate academic official at your College to verify that the course you plan to take is transferable.

The new Lanos. Low down price. All out car.

$8,999
Lanos 3-door manual at $8,999
Nicely-equipped for $11,699*
Lanos SX shown is $11,699. Base Nubira SX $12,500. Nubira COX shown is $13,810. Base Leganza SX $14,790. Leganza CDX shown is $18,910. Prices are 1999 MSRP, including $250 destination charge, as of 9/98. All car prices exclude taxes, license, title, optional equipment, document preparation, registration, finance charge and smog test (where applicable).

Introducing Daewoo. Exceptional Value, Automatically.
You’ll be pleasantly surprised by how much car you’ll get for your money with Daewoo. That’s because each of our cars comes well-equipped with features others may consider options. And, since each car has just one price, there’s no sales pressure. No hassle. It’s easy.

Our 3 Day Test Drive.
We know you can’t get a real feel for a car from just a 10 minute test drive. That’s why we let you borrow a Daewoo for up to three days with unlimited mileage. Take it to the city. Take it to the country. Take it around campus and show it off to your friends.

We’ve Got You Covered.
Each one of our amazingly reliable and comfortable cars is so well-built, we can cover them for the first 3 years or 36,000 miles† on all regular scheduled maintenance. Even oil and wiper blades are included.

Even On The Road.
You’ll also get Daewoo Priority Assistance (24-hour roadside assistance) for the first 3 years or 36,000 miles should you need it.

To make it even easier, you can even take a look at all of the new Daewoos and get detailed information on our website. How’s that for convenient? Just click and go. Or learn more about Daewoo by stopping by any Daewoo Store or talking to a Daewoo Campus Advisor.

Daewoo of St. James
587 E. Jericho Turnpike
(516) 979-0111
ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT

By Victoria Tengelics

Carolina and University of Indiana. I rehe­ser previous position at Penn State, before didn't have any art in it. It was pretty much which she taught at University of North my first painting at ten, but that was just me the business so it was very haphazard. I did kind of sensed there is some passion out there in the world. I learned not to worry about them, really aggressive. I was involved still lifes a few years after graduation. In my case I was using them to just learn how to paint and use them to learn about color and about shape and composition. In my case I was using them to just something lovingly and beautifully.

And to use it kind of as a background for the little images that you see there that would pop out and all of the kind of extreme emotionality of the earlier paintings, the figurative ones, but down to the little size of the little images and through your foreground, where the dream seems to inhabit and that became really fun.

Montclarion: What influenced you to become a professor?

Heffernan: If anybody who is going to read this is an aspiring artist there are a lot of things that you can do to make money and to keep your interest in art going. I had been doing decorative painting, where I would go to rich people's houses and I would paint murals or paint colors on their walls and it was fun to see how rich people lived and how amazing their houses were and I had this rendering skill so I could do that kind of thing. Just to back up, I had gotten a Fulbright Grant to Berlin, West Germany, at the time it was West Germany. It was a really great year because I was out of graduate school and I was spending my whole time painting and sleeping and using sleep to generate ideas. There would be a kind of light and I would pop out and all of the kind of extreme emotionality of the earlier paintings, the figurative ones, but down to the little size of the little images and through your foreground, where the dream seems to inhabit and that became really fun.

Montclarion: What influenced you to become a professor?

Heffernan: If anybody who is going to read this is an aspiring artist there are a lot

"Frasier Fair" holds more than testosterone for audiences

By Kara Richardson

Managing Editor

Stevie Pultz's songwriter tour put the finishing touches on his growing reputation as a singer-songwriter rather than the glitz of a full-on tour production. The back to basics approach was Pultz and his manager's idea. The performers were welcomed at The Bottom Line in Manhattan on Tuesday, No­vember 10. The tour featured eight songs. Steve Pultz (who wrote with Jewel on her last album), John Doe, Pete Droge and Glen Phillips (the former Toad the Wet Sprocket front man) has been dubbed "The Frasier Fair" by the music business because it seems to be a male ver­

Frasier Fair by the music business because it seems to be a male ver­

The former frontman played Toad songs

By Kara Richardson

Managing Editor

"Frasier Fair" holds more than testosterone for audiences

Steve Pultz's songwriter tour put the finishing touches on his growing reputation as a singer-songwriter rather than the glitz of a full-on tour production. The back to basics approach was Pultz and his manager's idea. The performers were welcomed at The Bottom Line in Manhattan on Tuesday, November 10. The tour featured eight songs. Steve Pultz (who wrote with Jewel on her last album), John Doe, Pete Droge and Glen Phillips (the former Toad the Wet Sprocket front man) has been dubbed "The Frasier Fair" by the music business because it seems to be a male version of the Frasier Fair. No one would have thought of calling the tour "Frasier Fair" if the Rolling Stones moved around the country putting on a tour that was called "Frasier Fair." The tour was called "Frasier Fair" to draw attention to the fact that the songs were written by a man and not a woman. The tour was a success and the songs were well received. The tour was a success and the songs were well received.

Frasier Fair

By Kara Richardson

Managing Editor

"Frasier Fair" holds more than testosterone for audiences

Steve Pultz's songwriter tour put the finishing touches on his growing reputation as a singer-songwriter rather than the glitz of a full-on tour production. The back to basics approach was Pultz and his manager's idea. The performers were welcomed at The Bottom Line in Manhattan on Tuesday, November 10. The tour featured eight songs. Steve Pultz (who wrote with Jewel on her last album), John Doe, Pete Droge and Glen Phillips (the former Toad the Wet Sprocket front man) has been dubbed "The Frasier Fair" by the music business because it seems to be a male version of the Frasier Fair. No one would have thought of calling the tour "Frasier Fair" if the Rolling Stones moved around the country putting on a tour that was called "Frasier Fair." The tour was called "Frasier Fair" to draw attention to the fact that the songs were written by a man and not a woman. The tour was a success and the songs were well received. The tour was a success and the songs were well received.

"Frasier Fair" holds more than testosterone for audiences

By Kara Richardson

Managing Editor

"Frasier Fair" holds more than testosterone for audiences

Steve Pultz's songwriter tour put the finishing touches on his growing reputation as a singer-songwriter rather than the glitz of a full-on tour production. The back to basics approach was Pultz and his manager's idea. The performers were welcomed at The Bottom Line in Manhattan on Tuesday, November 10. The tour featured eight songs. Steve Pultz (who wrote with Jewel on her last album), John Doe, Pete Droge and Glen Phillips (the former Toad the Wet Sprocket front man) has been dubbed "The Frasier Fair" by the music business because it seems to be a male version of the Frasier Fair. No one would have thought of calling the tour "Frasier Fair" if the Rolling Stones moved around the country putting on a tour that was called "Frasier Fair." The tour was called "Frasier Fair" to draw attention to the fact that the songs were written by a man and not a woman. The tour was a success and the songs were well received. The tour was a success and the songs were well received.

"Frasier Fair" holds more than testosterone for audiences

By Kara Richardson

Managing Editor

"Frasier Fair" holds more than testosterone for audiences

Steve Pultz's songwriter tour put the finishing touches on his growing reputation as a singer-songwriter rather than the glitz of a full-on tour production. The back to basics approach was Pultz and his manager's idea. The performers were welcomed at The Bottom Line in Manhattan on Tuesday, November 10. The tour featured eight songs. Steve Pultz (who wrote with Jewel on her last album), John Doe, Pete Droge and Glen Phillips (the former Toad the Wet Sprocket front man) has been dubbed "The Frasier Fair" by the music business because it seems to be a male version of the Frasier Fair. No one would have thought of calling the tour "Frasier Fair" if the Rolling Stones moved around the country putting on a tour that was called "Frasier Fair." The tour was called "Frasier Fair" to draw attention to the fact that the songs were written by a man and not a woman. The tour was a success and the songs were well received. The tour was a success and the songs were well received.

"Frasier Fair" holds more than testosterone for audiences

By Kara Richardson

Managing Editor

"Frasier Fair" holds more than testosterone for audiences

Steve Pultz's songwriter tour put the finishing touches on his growing reputation as a singer-songwriter rather than the glitz of a full-on tour production. The back to basics approach was Pultz and his manager's idea. The performers were welcomed at The Bottom Line in Manhattan on Tuesday, November 10. The tour featured eight songs. Steve Pultz (who wrote with Jewel on her last album), John Doe, Pete Droge and Glen Phillips (the former Toad the Wet Sprocket front man) has been dubbed "The Frasier Fair" by the music business because it seems to be a male version of the Frasier Fair. No one would have thought of calling the tour "Frasier Fair" if the Rolling Stones moved around the country putting on a tour that was called "Frasier Fair." The tour was called "Frasier Fair" to draw attention to the fact that the songs were written by a man and not a woman. The tour was a success and the songs were well received. The tour was a success and the songs were well received.

"Frasier Fair" holds more than testosterone for audiences

By Kara Richardson

Managing Editor

"Frasier Fair" holds more than testosterone for audiences

Steve Pultz's songwriter tour put the finishing touches on his growing reputation as a singer-songwriter rather than the glitz of a full-on tour production. The back to basics approach was Pultz and his manager's idea. The performers were welcomed at The Bottom Line in Manhattan on Tuesday, November 10. The tour featured eight songs. Steve Pultz (who wrote with Jewel on her last album), John Doe, Pete Droge and Glen Phillips (the former Toad the Wet Sprocket front man) has been dubbed "The Frasier Fair" by the music business because it seems to be a male version of the Frasier Fair. No one would have thought of calling the tour "Frasier Fair" if the Rolling Stones moved around the country putting on a tour that was called "Frasier Fair." The tour was called "Frasier Fair" to draw attention to the fact that the songs were written by a man and not a woman. The tour was a success and the songs were well received. The tour was a success and the songs were well received.

"Frasier Fair" holds more than testosterone for audiences

By Kara Richardson

Managing Editor

"Frasier Fair" holds more than testosterone for audiences

Steve Pultz's songwriter tour put the finishing touches on his growing reputation as a singer-songwriter rather than the glitz of a full-on tour production. The back to basics approach was Pultz and his manager's idea. The performers were welcomed at The Bottom Line in Manhattan on Tuesday, November 10. The tour featured eight songs. Steve Pultz (who wrote with Jewel on her last album), John Doe, Pete Droge and Glen Phillips (the former Toad the Wet Sprocket front man) has been dubbed "The Frasier Fair" by the music business because it seems to be a male version of the Frasier Fair. No one would have thought of calling the tour "Frasier Fair" if the Rolling Stones moved around the country putting on a tour that was called "Frasier Fair." The tour was called "Frasier Fair" to draw attention to the fact that the songs were written by a man and not a woman. The tour was a success and the songs were well received. The tour was a success and the songs were well received.
ally good students. BFA's were almost like grad students and the grad students were really smart, so it was just like talking to peers and it was fun and I just kept it going.

Montclarion: Have you ever shown your work in a gallery?

Heffernan: There’s two galleries in New York that show my work, PPOW and Little John Contemporary. I’m having two shows, both of those galleries are showing my work in March, so it’s going to be a double show. Then there’s a gallery in Chicago that shows my work and a gallery in Kansas City and Florida and San Francisco.

Montclarion: What is your favorite thing about art?

Heffernan: The best thing about art is that it helps you make sense of your own experience. It gives you a forum for making sense of your experience, it’s not logical sense, but it’s a way finding a metaphorical equivalent for your experience, so it’s better than therapy.

Montclarion: What advice would you give your students?

Heffernan: Be curious. Open your brain. There’s just so much lethargy in students. I have a six-year-old and I would volunteer in his kindergarten every six months or so. I would watch the six-year-olds, and the teacher asks one question and twenty little hands go up. They’re all trying to talk over each other and they’re so excited to give their experience. By the time you get to your age 20 all of that enthusiasm has been beaten out of you and there is just so much lethargy, so much apathy. What I was saying was just force yourself to have a feeling about something. The way that you have a feeling is to pose a question to yourself. The way that you have a feeling is to pose a question to yourself. I just came from a lecture by one of the faculty, Nancy Goldring and you’re looking at someone else’s world. There’s a moment when your mind is blank because you’ve been in someone else’s world. If you are not curious your mind stays blank and you are like, “Oh, that’s a foreign country, that’s a foreign language,” but with curiosity you can start to bring your own experience or questions to that world. Suddenly, you ask the first question and suddenly find yourself as a part of their world and it’s through your own curiosity that you can become part of their world and its curiosity that helps you experiment with materials and with styles and the whole gamut of tools. Curiosity is the crux of it and energy level.

Although her work is not currently showing in the area, I had the chance to view some of her recent works. I found her use of still lifes as a background interesting. The minimal pictures give the impression of looking into someone else’s world. There’s a moment when your mind is blank because you’ve been in someone else’s world. If you are not curious your mind stays blank and you are like, “Oh, that’s a foreign country, that’s a foreign language,” but with curiosity you can start to bring your own experience or questions to that world. Suddenly, you ask the first question and suddenly find yourself as a part of their world and it’s through your own curiosity that you can become part of their world and its curiosity that helps you experiment with materials and with styles and the whole gamut of tools. Curiosity is the crux of it and energy level.

Heffernan stressed the necessity to get excited about life and art. She will definitely become a great asset to MSU and to her students.

STUFF TO SCOOBY DOOBY DO...

Thurs, November 19
Nunsense, Memorial Auditorium, 8 p.m.

Flatus, Maxwell’s, Hoboken, New Jersey

Fri, November 20
Nunsense, Memorial Auditorium, 1 p.m. & 8 p.m.

El Merengazo “98” w/ Orquesta Karu & Los Home Boy’s, Student Center Ballrooms, 9 p.m.

Sat, November 21
Nunsense, Memorial Auditorium, 8 p.m.

Superfreak, Jersey Sports Cafe, E. Rutherford, NJ

Sun, November 22
KISS, Meadowlands, E. Rutherford, NJ

Mon, November 23
Tori Amos/The Unbelievable Truth, Stabler Arena @ Lehigh University, PA

Tues, November 24
The Temptations/ The Spinners, Westbury Music Fair, NY

Wed, November 25
Party hard, you have the next four days off!!!!!!!

If there are any exciting and worthwhile events you know of that would like to be placed on this calendar, feel free to contact Lynette at x 5241.

You are invited to:

THANKSGIVING Celebration of thanks and dedication of food drive collection

Hosted by the MSU Campus Ministry Council which is the professional group of campus ministers and advisors to the chartered student religious organizations of the SGA, Inc. Serving in cooperation with Student Development & Campus Life.

• Dedication of Food Drive Collection
• Light reception will follow

Monday, November 23, 1998
beginning at 12:15 pm
Student Center Ballroom A
for more information call 746-2323
By Laura Lifshitz
Staff Writer

Recently, one of New Brunswick’s favorite concert spots for local bands, the Budapest Cocktail Lounge (affectionately known as the “Buda”) held a show featuring Here’s the Bullet (which revived the days of early U2 and Simple Minds), The Seaters (power pop, sweet then-lollipop-lyrics and an aura of Buddy Holly) and the headliner 7 Minds. Things were running unusually late at “Buda” and finally at 12:45 a.m. 7 Minds went on. Dealing with a thinning crowd, Anthony Dinallo (bass player), Chris Adubato (guitar), Whelan Mahoney (tenor sax), Casey Burd (lead vocals/ trombone), Eric Hemion (lead vocals/keyboards), and Jon Kulhay (trumpet) went launching us into SKA world in less then 0.2 seconds.

The band is from the Jersey Shore and has been together for five years, two years as AWOL and three as 7 Minds. Destined to convince me they are not just a SKA band, dealing with the small stage space and dy­ing DJ, and this magnetic band pulled me the South Pole to theirs - the north!

“Dial 463,” the appetizer to the 7 Minds main course, blasted us into space with their energetic horn opener any SKA fan knows and loves. Casey (lead vocals/trombone) was the most aggressive and stillest trombone player this reporter has ever seen. The drummer was top rank, he keeps the thrash beat relentless and steady. The 3-part horn ensemble was good, but the trumpet and trombone drowned out the poor sax player!! The best vocal, “You gotta find out for yourself where you’re going. Is this the way the Lord is showing?” introduced the song with a theme deeper then your basic fun loving SKA song. The ending vocals were extremely credible. Of course Mr. Trombone is so off the hook that he can only be called “Contagious” was almost as contagious as 7 Minds themselves! There could be one person in the whole bar and this band would still play out. They amused themselves maybe even more then the crowd, which made them charming. The 7-piece band, compromising with space, would not stop doing their thing even if the crowd was not engrossed in a big pit of sweaty skankin.

This song bordered on heavy and jazz/ SKA, depending on when the horns ventured into it. Take away the horns and let the 3-letter word SKA fall away, and dive into the jazz beat from the drummer.

During “Supersitious,” the band showed a friendship almost as tight as brotherhood. The drummer dazzled with a thrash punk sound, and an emphasis on the hi-hat tittering in the world of jazz. The vocalists finally displayed some stronger two-part harmonies, and they pulled it off well. The bass player added necessary funk and soul mixed in with horns to make it unforgettable. The local favorite, “Coffee,” was next, letting the men be little boys with their quirky humor. The song was based purely on the dire need for a cup of Sanka. The lyrics were amusing but were hard to distinguish (partly sound, partly due to the scruffy vocals). “I don’t like my habits, and I don’t like my life but when I drink my coffee I’m just like the Barney Fife!” sang 7 Minds. I loved the porno ‘70s sound from the guitar, and the energetic horn harmonies were a plus. The trumpet player displayed technique with the incorporation of some great slurs on his behalf, and the drummer was unforgettable as always.

“Seaside Tony,” their newest song and a local favorite, was a great summer anthem for shore residents. It referred to the out-of-town guide hitting Seaside for the night. The song was heavy with a great lead-in from the guitar and drums. The keyboard was probably the best musical effect in the song- as it imitated a typical song you may have heard on WKTU. The drums were balancing in the worlds of hip-hop and thrash/ punk. The horn harmonies were played well, but they never changed up. They were too overplayed.

These guys are much more musically diverse then expected. With the right marketing and radio play hopefully people will realize the band does more then sing a song called “Coffee.” Unfortunately they may be too diverse for some, but in my case I found them to be very entertaining and I look forward to seeing them again. Check these guys out at www.7minds.com and get all the news on these very cool guys. Their CD, No Time, also displays the diversity the guys have musically.
swf (single widowed female) seeks attractive (or not attractive) by mate. Likes include surfing the web, murder mysteries, or just hanging around. Call Rosie. Short term relationship preferred.

NUNSENSE

November 15 at 2 p.m.
November 20 at 1 p.m.
November 12, 13, 14, 19, 20, & 21 at 8 p.m.

A MUSICAL COMEDY

Book, Music, and Lyrics by Dan Goggin

Memorial Auditorium

Call (973) 655-5112 for reservations

The Ringside Pub

WEDNESDAY NIGHT BAND SCHEDULE

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>December 2</th>
<th>December 9</th>
<th>December 16</th>
<th>December 25</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Love Puppies</td>
<td>Dogvoices</td>
<td>BIG ORANGE CONE</td>
<td>The Nerds</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

REMEMBER:

- 50¢ Domestic Mugs • 8:00pm until 10:00pm
- 75¢ Domestic Mugs • 8:00pm until 12am
- $1.00 Domestic Mugs • 12pm until Closing

NO COVER!

The Ringside Pub - 379 Bloomfield Ave. Caldwell, NJ 07006
(973) 226-6781
The Voice of Montclair State

Do you feel that teachers with limited ability to speak English hinder a student's education?

"A professor can know a subject inside and out, but if they can't relay the information to the students in the class, it does not benefit them. We pay for a quality education and the only way that this can be accomplished is if the faculty can teach us the subjects in a manner that we can understand."

—Patrick Massis, Underclassmen

Wedding the amount of money most college students are paying already for their education, there should be some kind of language translation service. Ideally, it's somewhat a matter of personal tastes. Basically, if a teacher is supposed to be teaching English students, the teacher should be able to speak English. Plain and simple. "Case closed."

—Vinie Mussozino, No major given

"For myself, learning English as a second language was very hard but, because I had teachers who spoke it well, I was able to pick it up very easily. If I had teachers who only spoke Italian, I probably would not have learned how to speak English. We need good teachers who know the language well and are capable of sharing that knowledge with others."

—GraziaLiCahil, No major given

"Teaching requires effective communication, if students can't understand what the teacher is saying, how can they learn? Why am I paying for a teacher to teach when I have to learn the information on my own? I think that this is something that needs to be addressed because students are at a great disadvantage when a teacher cannot speak English."

—Jacqueline Jeziers, Psychology

"Excuse me, what did you say? Could you repeat that once again, I couldn't quite understand what you've been saying... Time is money and as a student I have very little time to waste either of them. If you're going to teach here at MSU, or at any college level, it is best that you know English."

—April Marie, No major given

This Week's Question:

What organization do you feel should occupy the current home of the Drop-In Center and why?

LET YOUR VOICE BE HEARD!

Call 655-7616 or e-mail VellucciJ@alpha.montclair.edu to respond.

SQA Referendum Turns Poor Planning Into Competition

On Oct. 23, students will vote in a referendum of the Student Government Association that asks what organization should be presently the home of the Drop-In Center, a building quietly tucked between the Student Center and Richardson Hall.

While students go to the voting booths next Monday they will be asking themselves to choose between two hard-working student organizations. The question that those students should really be asking themselves is why they are being asked to make this decision in the first place.

This referendum is nothing more than a Band-Aid solution to a wound that is a result of poor planning on the part of the university administration in an attempt to get EMS up and running. While EMS is now operational, they are still faced with the problem of not occupying adequate quarters to run their organization. This referendum should have students disgusted and dismayed. Two student organizations have been pitted against each other, fighting over office space and bathrooms and the like, and one cannot help but blame the need for this referendum on the administration's lack of vision and, more importantly, their lack of ability to act on that vision.

The administration played a big part and put an alarming amount of time, money and effort into helping EMS Chief Hynes in organizing an emergency medical unit. Their failure to give EMS a proper home, however, has led the SGA to present a question to this university that should not have to be answered.

The students are now being asked to debate the importance of two quality organizations, not merely their requests for office space, but their relevance and service to the campus community on the whole, in hopes that they will be able to make the decisions that MSU administrators were unable and afraid to make.

At we believe that the Drop-In Center serves its purpose to MSU students and should not be brushed to the side in an effort to simply provide better quarters for EMS. In all of the frenzy surrounding this issue, where one organization claims that they need sleeping quarters and the other needs 24-hour access and one needs better fire routes and so on, many have forgotten the services that both of these organizations provide to the surrounding community. The paperwork and the numbers are, unfortunately, all that seems to remain now. In an effort to be fair to all involved in this on-going debate, the purpose of these two organizations has been pitted to choose between two hard-working student organizations. The question that those students should really be asking themselves is why they are being asked to make this decision in the first place.

The referendum is nothing more than a Band-Aid solution to a wound that is a result of poor planning on the part of the university administration in an attempt to get EMS up and running. While EMS is now operational, they are still faced with the problem of not occupying adequate quarters to run their organization. This referendum should have students disgusted and dismayed. Two student organizations have been pitted against each other, fighting over office space and bathrooms and the like, and one cannot help but blame the need for this referendum on the administration’s lack of vision and, more importantly, their lack of ability to act on that vision.

The administration played a big part and put an alarming amount of time, money and effort into helping EMS Chief Hynes in organizing an emergency medical unit. Their failure to give EMS a proper home, however, has led the SGA to present a question to this university that should not have to be answered.

The students are now being asked to debate the importance of two quality organizations, not merely their requests for office space, but their relevance and service to the campus community on the whole, in hopes that they will be able to make the decisions that MSU administrators were unable and afraid to make.

At we believe that the Drop-In Center serves its purpose to MSU students and should not be brushed to the side in an effort to simply provide better quarters for EMS. In all of the frenzy surrounding this issue, where one organization claims that they need sleeping quarters and the other needs 24-hour access and one needs better fire routes and so on, many have forgotten the services that both of these organizations provide to the surrounding community. The paperwork and the numbers are, unfortunately, all that seems to remain now. In an effort to be fair to all involved in this on-going debate, the purpose of these two organizations has been pitted to choose between two hard-working student organizations. The question that those students should really be asking themselves is why they are being asked to make this decision in the first place.

The referendum is nothing more than a Band-Aid solution to a wound that is a result of poor planning on the part of the university administration in an attempt to get EMS up and running. While EMS is now operational, they are still faced with the problem of not occupying adequate quarters to run their organization. This referendum should have students disgusted and dismayed. Two student organizations have been pitted against each other, fighting over office space and bathrooms and the like, and one cannot help but blame the need for this referendum on the administration’s lack of vision and, more importantly, their lack of ability to act on that vision.

The administration played a big part and put an alarming amount of time, money and effort into helping EMS Chief Hynes in organizing an emergency medical unit. Their failure to give EMS a proper home, however, has led the SGA to present a question to this university that should not have to be answered.

The students are now being asked to debate the importance of two quality organizations, not merely their requests for office space, but their relevance and service to the campus community on the whole, in hopes that they will be able to make the decisions that MSU administrators were unable and afraid to make.

At we believe that the Drop-In Center serves its purpose to MSU students and should not be brushed to the side in an effort to simply provide better quarters for EMS. In all of the frenzy surrounding this issue, where one organization claims that they need sleeping quarters and the other needs 24-hour access and one needs better fire routes and so on, many have forgotten the services that both of these organizations provide to the surrounding community. The paperwork and the numbers are, unfortunately, all that seems to remain now. In an effort to be fair to all involved in this on-going debate, the purpose of these two organizations has been pitted to choose between two hard-working student organizations. The question that those students should really be asking themselves is why they are being asked to make this decision in the first place.

The referendum is nothing more than a Band-Aid solution to a wound that is a result of poor planning on the part of the university administration in an attempt to get EMS up and running. While EMS is now operational, they are still faced with the problem of not occupying adequate quarters to run their organization. This referendum should have students disgusted and dismayed. Two student organizations have been pitted against each other, fighting over office space and bathrooms and the like, and one cannot help but blame the need for this referendum on the administration’s lack of vision and, more importantly, their lack of ability to act on that vision.

The administration played a big part and put an alarming amount of time, money and effort into helping EMS Chief Hynes in organizing an emergency medical unit. Their failure to give EMS a proper home, however, has led the SGA to present a question to this university that should not have to be answered.

The students are now being asked to debate the importance of two quality organizations, not merely their requests for office space, but their relevance and service to the campus community on the whole, in hopes that they will be able to make the decisions that MSU administrators were unable and afraid to make.

At we believe that the Drop-In Center serves its purpose to MSU students and should not be brushed to the side in an effort to simply provide better quarters for EMS. In all of the frenzy surrounding this issue, where one organization claims that they need sleeping quarters and the other needs 24-hour access and one needs better fire routes and so on, many have forgotten the services that both of these organizations provide to the surrounding community. The paperwork and the numbers are, unfortunately, all that seems to remain now. In an effort to be fair to all involved in this on-going debate, the purpose of these two organizations has been pitted to choose between two hard-working student organizations. The question that those students should really be asking themselves is why they are being asked to make this decision in the first place.
A Disgurate to the Presidency: The Impeachment of Bill Clinton

President Clinton deserves to be impeached. He has committed perjury, withheld evidence, obstructed justice, and abused his power of office. Among these crimes, there are other questionable actions taken by the president that are not the subject of his impeachment, such as claiming to be a slave owner. A Chief law enforcement officer of the United States should be taking. I know that there is a man, judging by his countenance, cannot agree with my blatant assertion.

I would guess that many of your minds on the current Clinton scandal go something like this: “Yes, the president had sexual relations with an intern. Big deal. And, yes, he may have lied about it. But all presidents have lied in the past and they all have done things as bad or even worse than this. I wish all of those evil Republicans would just leave him alone and Ken­neth Starr would stop this sex-crazed inves­tigation. He is doing a good job as presi­dent and the economy is good. There is no reason to impeach him.” Of course, this mindset is totally wrong, but I don’t think that there is a way to change the average American who doesn’t have time to follow the scandal scrup­ulously that this whole investigation is “just about sex.” I would like to urge all of you who still support the president to read this column with an open mind. I am sure that many of you who fit this description care about the truth. This is not a case of being so supposedly “tolerant” and “open-minded,” so you should have no problem with my arguments.

The truth is that this investigation is not really about sex at all. It is about perjury, witness tampering and obstruction of jus­tice. This investigation started when Attor­ney General Janet Reno, a Clinton ap­pointee, found that credible evidence existed of criminal activity. It is only a part of the president. Clinton was asked under oath, in January, during his depo­sition in the Paula Jones case, if sexual relations existed with Monica Lewinsky. He denied the charge and then admitted it later, publicly and to the grand jury, in August. This is perjury, flat out, un­less, of course, you are like the president, a Rhodes Scholar and Yale Law School gradu­ate, and your mind is fuzzy as to what the word “lies” means. Take this into account about the president didn’t confess because he had a moral awakening. He confessed only after he knew the evidence was mounted against him, like the semen-stained dress. Only after he knew he was caught and there was no way out did he admit that he may have “misled” people.

The president and his spin doctors like to go around saying that this investigation has cost the American people forty million dollars and that this is a fault of a “sex-crazed investigator.” But the truth is that Bill Clinton could have saved the country and the world a lot of pain and suffering if he had simply told the truth in his sworn deposition, we wouldn’t be in this mess to­day. And he could have even admitted that he lied back in January after the deposition, and there would have been no reason to waste money looking into the question. If he hadn’t claimed every bogus privilege that he could come up with, almost all of them being rejected by the Supreme Court, this would have been over long ago. And remember this: President Clinton can fire Kenneth Starr anytime that he wants. The truth is that he has been against Starr has done nothing wrong and he has no reason to fire him.

Now, on to the claim that “they all did it.” This is perhaps the most powerful and persuasive argument and mindset of all of the Clinton apologists. The truth is that, al­though some presidents have had affairs in the past, not the vast majority haven’t, and none of them have been as unethical as President Clinton has. As sad as the news is, other presidents have had affairs. No president, though, has lied under oath about it. No president has had friends who were potential witnesses against him flee the country when they were sub­ject to Congressional investigation into po­tential illegal fundraising. No other presi­dent has flagrantly obstructed a federal in­vestigation the way that President Clinton has by continually refusing to turn over evi­dence. No other president has demanded the Lincoln bedroom the way that Clinton has, making it a playpen for campaign fund­ing. No other president had a friend come to him in a time of need, as Kathleen Willey did, and then try to make sexual ad­vances on her in the Oval Office. And then, on top of that, deny it later.

No other president, including President Nixon, who was also highly unethical, has made a mockery of his closest advisors as Clinton has, sending them out to lie for him and putting their reputations and character on the line, all to protect himself. President Clinton has, sending them out to lie for him and putting their reputations and character on the line, all to protect himself. President Clinton has, sending them out to lie for him and putting their reputations and character on the line, all to protect himself. President Clinton has, sending them out to lie for him and putting their reputations and character on the line, all to protect himself. President Clinton has, sending them out to lie for him and putting their reputations and character on the line, all to protect himself.

“Then there are the women that one will say that this is only because President Clinton has more enemies than previous presidents. This is another false claim. Every president has had enemies and some have had worse than Clinton.

I hate to tell you how many people’s lives Clinton has ruined and all of the legal fees he has cost people from his wrongdoing. Are these the real actions of someone who so cavalierly to claims “feel people’s pain”? Ponder this for a brief moment: If Bill Clinton is telling the truth about all of the charges mounted against him, then count­less people are lying. Do you really believe that every single one of these people is also lying under oath just to destroy the Presi­dent of the United States? Every single one of them? Do any of you know a woman by the name of Dolly Kyle Browning? She swore, under oath, that she was told, “We will destroy you” by a high-profile Clinton campaign worker feared that she would talk about her alleged sexual relationship with Bill Clinton.

I would like to make a plea to those of you who still support the president. I know you that the Republicans and Kenneth Starr are just out to get President Clinton. Believe me, it is not about that. It is about his lawbreaking activity. It is about loving one’s country and not wanting to see it’s highest office, once held by men like Wash­ington and Lincoln, to be occupied by an ingrate. He has absolutely committed “high crimes and misdemeanors,” the qualifications for impeachment.

Don’t sacrifice your integrity by pre­tending to believe that the president didn’t lie under oath. It doesn’t mean that you are a bad Democrat if you come out and sup­port impeachment. It just means that you think for yourself and you are willing to put your principles before the president that you rec­ognize the difference between right and wrong, respect the Constitution and love your country. Remember, that one to one to the moral high ground, call their Congressional Representatives and Senators and put the pressure on them to do what is right and see to it that President Clinton is removed from office.

Sin Lee’s Chinese Restaurant: Poor delivery services that can’t be ignored

I don’t know how to start this any other way but to say that Sin Lee’s Chinese Restaurant must be dealt with! For years, residents of this campus have called this place to take advantage of the five dollar combo deals that Sin Lee’s offers, but we students have all suffered their dreaded late delivery!

It seems that one can find all of the numbers of pi by hand before the food arrives on campus. It seems that that the hungrily you are when you call and place your order, the later that it gets there. On top of this, they have the au­dacity to expect full price even if it’s been close to two hours and the food’s cold.

Many of us have just kept our mouths shut over the years and accepted the food quickly, often a few comments at the delivery guy who, most times, doesn’t seem to care. Oth­ers are reluctant to call Sin Lee’s but yet will do so as a last result, often kicking themselves while they wait for the message, “Your order is here.”

Then there are the few who have decided to just boy­cot Sin Lee’s - more power to you!

And let us not forget those made orders that never came. These poor souls were under the impression that the food was on the way, only to have to attack the nearest candy machine and wonder why. Arent you tired of this? Don’t you feel disrespected when you call the phone and whoever is on the other end picks up the phone again. “It should be there in a couple of minutes?”

How many more times do you want to call there hungry, and lose about three pounds sitting in your chair with your stomach growling like a pitbull, antici­pating your food’s arrival?

I, for one, have had enough. If we as students don’t try to stop this abuse, how can Sin Lee’s possibly provide its shoddy delivery service. This school is possibly the biggest money maker for Sin Lee’s. We should be treated well in return.

Willet Fanfan
Biochemistry/Molecular Biology
SGA Legislator

United Parcel Service: Delivering future opportunities to MSU

I feel compelled to respond to Mike Dixon’s article about UPS in the Feature section of The Montclarion on October 22, 1998. Incidentally, it should have been in the Opinion section. United Parcel Service has paid out more than $60,000 in tuition reimbursement to MSU’s students who worked at UPS last year. We provide jobs for students who are in need of financial aid and are also support­ive of MSU’s football and basketball teams.

We provided a Resume Center for the Career Services Department and a video for their Coop­erative Education Department.

We have hired more than 100 Cooperative Education students in the last ten years and many of them are still at UPS. Not only do we contribute to Montclair State Uni­versity, but to educational institutions all over the United States. UPS believes in helping students reach their educa­tional goals and encourages their employees to take col­lege credits toward a degree program.

United Parcel Service has always advertised in The Montclarion. In addition, I am sure helps toward the expenses of running a newspaper.

I not only work at UPS, I am a graduate of Montclair State University and a former Cooperative Education stu­dent. I suggest that Mike Dixon does a little more research when writing articles about a company that offers students tremendous opportunities.

Carol A. Fitzpatrick ’89
United Parcel Service
THURSDAY, NOV. 19  11 PM START

Semi-Beings
STRETCH
BANANA
FISH ZERO

THURSDAY, DEC. 3  11 PM START

Mister Mistletoe
Terrorifying Experience
(Ex-Guided By Voices)

THURSDAY, DEC. 10  11 PM START

UNDEAD
(ex-Muffins)
Flatus
Brick Bats

THURSDAY, DEC. 17  11 PM START

The Drag
Illness

EVERY WEDNESDAY

GIRLS: FREE ADMISSION
50 cent Drafts, $2.00 Sol, $2.00 Jager
SUPERSONIC SOUND! SUBTERRANEAN GROOVES!

EVERY THURSDAY

LIVE SHOWS!
& $2.00 IMPORT PINTS

FRIDAYS & SATURDAYS

FREE ADMISSION
$1.00 Bar Drinks & Coors Drafts Till 11:00 pm
DJ Spins the Smart Dance Mix

OPEN WEDNESDAY - SATURDAY TILL 3 AM

"Only 10 Minutes From School!"

Directions from campus: Rt. 3 East to Passaic Ave.
Nutley/Passaic exit, go right off ramp, go three traffic lights & make a left, (Van Houten Ave.) Go to first traffic light, make a inght onto Broadway. Loop in on right.

323 BROADWAY PASSAIC PARK, NJ 973-365-0807

manny's
horoscope
november

sceptics (flint) stress independence, originally don't follow the order. Loose action produces big goose. Virgo, figures proceedingly in blowy.

registration (moon) you feel secure's start of all op, permanently seeking out and establishing new goals. Kowtow skepticism (moon) you are some of the best of the best to you in this society. Taurus: you have a single moment of awareness you have been looking for. Cancer: you are a single
moment of awareness you have been looking for. Cancer: you are in a moment of awareness you have been looking for. Cancer: you are a single
moment of awareness you have been looking for. Cancer: you are in a moment of awareness you have been looking for. Cancer: you are a single
moment of awareness you have been looking for.

power (moon) you and your own thoughts about believing yourself. don't let pride or ego cloud your vision and truth.

emotions (moon): huge satisfaction avoid going back to your old habits. you have spread your wings and start.

marked (mercury) when you call you just don't make up your mind and start.

tina (saturn) you have all the answers, but don't let anyone get to you.

rains (moon): to the future is bright, you are in a moment that you can't turn down.

plscas: (slim)
stuck, stick to your guns, highlight versatility and branch out.

your big break is just around the bend

arias: (halmlich)
a huge transformation
awaits you. don't rush it. time will dictate metamorphosis, when opportunity arises, spread your wings and soar.

taurus: (prlncass dot)
others may call
you a pest, but don't give up. big things come in small packages, keep the faith, and you'll earn your wings.

enemies will be bugging you this month, keep appetite and aggression in check, overeating will come back to haunt you like the plague.

A
flaw in chemistry,
not character.

For more information call 1-800-717-3111.

NATIONAL ALLIANCE FOR RESEARCH
ON SCHIZOPHRENIA AND DEPRESSION
New study says white culture has gone down the crapper

By Ed Flannery
Hardly Humor Editor

This week, the Society for Diversity and Equality revealed a decade long study detailing the decline of White culture and civilization. The study, which is now available in paperback for $5.95 ($7.95 Canadian) gives a logical look at how Americans of European descent have unequivocally let their artistic and overall society sink deep into a pit of depression from which there is no feasible recovery.

“We’re not trying to say that White culture is inferior to other cultures present in American society,” said Society President Anthony Carvel, “We just feel that an in-depth study that would really make people realize how we’ve degenerated to a point where it has actually become an embarrassment to the United States in front of the rest of the civilized world. On second thought, it is pretty damn inferior.”

One of the most prominent factors in the decline of status for White culture involves the music industry. While African-American artists such as the Fugees and Whitney Houston continue to redefine their art, music and overall society, white culture has become a load of crap.

“Asian-American artists such as the Figues and Whitney Houston continue to redefine the boundaries of art in the music world, and Whitney Houston continue to redefine African-American artists such as the Fugees,” commented Griffith, “But they seem so proud to do it, and that is what really hurts. Some of these dumb shows even release official soundtracks. Why do whites feel the need to brag about their utter lack of taste?”

It is important to note that 85% of the members of the Society for Diversity and Equality are in fact, white. That goes a long way to support the theoretical crash and burn of white culture when even whites themselves admit they are a load of crap.

Once we saw [Vanilla Ice] back out there with a new CD...it was truly the nail in the coffin for white culture. — Anthony Carvel

How the Various Cultures Compare

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th></th>
<th></th>
<th></th>
<th></th>
<th></th>
<th></th>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

---

Skinny kid single-handedly wins NBA Championships

By Chris Finegan
MUCH Funnier Than Ed

He didn’t have a sneaker endorsement. He never played professional basketball in his life. He didn’t even have a regulation ball - it was a mini-ball he stole from a sports bar. But last night, Timothy M. Casey set basketball records. He became the leading scorer, rebounder, free-throw shooter, and MVP of the NBA Finals. He promptly declared himself “Champion Of The Whole Universe Times Infinity.”

Game four saw Casey win 316-0, eclipsing the previous high score of 293-0 set in game two. He lit up the court with a flurry of photogenic shots, including a one-handed half court shot, a backwoods and between his legs shot, and one with his shirt pulled up over his head. Casey was so confident of his victory tonight that he even showed up to the game loaded. The only effect he had on the game was when he hit his head on the board and knocked himself unconscious. Play resumed three minutes later when Casey regained his senses.

When asked why the NBA would sanction such a decidedly unprofessional game, a spokesperson, who denied to give a name said, “Why not? He showed up and he seemed so sincere, which is more than I can say for Dennis Rodman.”

Casey reportedly arrived ready to play ball, or at least “make out with the cheerleaders” as he put it. A Casey representative later stated that his client had only the purest intentions in mind. “Boning them all at half court” was his way of conveying his excitement.

In the strike-shortened season, many were apprehensive about if and how basketball on the whole would suffer. A sense of optimism was more than prevalent, assuming that the game would survive. “Basically, some goofball ran around the court while drunk and chucked the ball at the rim as hard as he could. Hell, it was more exciting than a Grizzlies/Raptors game,” added the NBA commissioner, David Stern.

Casey, who hit 434 of 2,736 baskets, was not much for words at the end of game four. As he showered himself with beer, he screamed at the top of his lungs “I AM SO GODDAMNED TRASHED RIGHT NOW! THIS RULES!” Well said, Tim Casey, well said indeed. Enjoy your championship and try not to embarrass yourself too much at your victory party.
The Devil went down to MSU

The Citizens For A More Caring, Loving Humor Section have preempted Mr. Finegan’s featured column this week. His offering mocked such wholesome topics as Barney the Dinosaur, the 1950s, the music of Tony Orlando and Dawn, and the American Presidency. He also made some lewd references to Buffy The Vampire Slayer, and while none of The Citizens have ever seen the show, per se, we know it to be brimming with filth if it has captured the interest of Mr. Finegan. We were highly offended last week when he submitted his column from a secret hiding spot, so we tracked him down using hunting dogs and hired guns. For his crimes against humanity, we took it upon ourselves to send him straight to Hell. The Humor section only condones lemon-scented, pine-fresh family goodness. And while The Citizens are NOT in any way affiliated with the kingdom of darkness, we have Satan’s personal guarantee that this episode of Finegan’s Wake will not offend the delicate ears of you, our cherished readers. We sincerely apologize for anything that dirty miscreant did to you lovely people.

The Citizens For A More Caring, Loving Humor Section

And now, Satan.

Mephistopheles here. Some of you may not realize this, but it can get awful boring in Hell. The weather has not changed since Genesis. It is still hot, hazy, and humid with a chance of hydrochloric acid showers and another record high today. Nothing new is happening; the place still smells of sulfur, the cafeteria still serves only boiled cabbage, and The Brady Bunch is still our favorite show. It had been quite some time since I filled in and offered advice for Dear Abby (I told “Mixed-Up In Montana” to kill his co-workers), so when the opportunity arose to once again reach out and touch the American public, I leapt. I got off my throne of sharp spikes, took off my crown of dung, and brushed the maggots off my suit. Daddy’s coming home.

I found myself on a college campus, which, to me, is hardly a surprise. I had my hand in running a few institutions myself guarantee that this episode of Finegan’s Wake will not offend the delicate ears of you, our cherished readers. We sincerely apologize for anything that dirty miscreant did to you lovely people.

I’m Satan. Would I lie?

Some living celebrities have ties to me as well. Martha Stewart is a member of the 666 club, and I don’t believe an explanation is at all necessary. Marilyn Manson, the other hand, is another matter. Hell, just like any other club with benefits, has its share of wannabes, and Marilyn is one of them. I created him as a joke and sent him to earth to do my bidding, but I was fooling around. I never expected the world to take him seriously. Look at him, would you please? Down here, he would be the guy at the corner of the bar that the construction workers flock around. As is the demons give him wedgies and slap “Kick Me” signs on his back every chance they get. He isn’t even worthy to undergo an operation and become one of my bitches. I was dreading what I would do when he comes down here permanently because I was running out of time and ideas when Fins helped me out. I was reading Finegan’s Wake a couple of weeks ago where he suggested that Marilyn host his own children’s television show. I have his time slot all lined up, and he will go on between Fantasy Island and Cooking With Jeffrey Dahmer. He’s going to play to an audience of spoiled brats for all eternity. Thanks, Fins! I’ll give you a sip of Guinness in a thousand years! Ha, ha, only kidding.

All you college students reading this, THERE IS BEER DOWN HERE! Well, it’s light beer, and you’ve probably had it before without realizing that we take pride in brewing it. We distribute it under a major label all across North America and there’s so damn much of it that we sell it dirt cheap and still come out ahead. We have a whole river of it flowing by the Hitler Monument and the Bottomless Pit of Excrement, and every night is Drunken Kegger Night. The down side? You think you’ve had bad experiences drinking? Imagine waking up naked next to a nude Josef Stalin with Emperor Nero dancing the Watusi in combat boots on your forehead. That’s bad! Now I could be a good guy and tell you our well-guarded secret brewing recipe and process for Hell Beer, but the demons would become cross with me. Oh, I’ll tell! Why not? College students drink anything packaged as beer anyway, and all you health-conscious alcoholics need something to drink, too. Here it is:

STEP ONE: Get smashed on some quality beer, ie Guinness, Bass Ale, etc.

STEP TWO: Urinate into a bottle. And you’ve got light beer! That’s all there is to it! Drink hearty.

For those of you who actually care aboutFins’ well being, we’ll take a break and await more news from the Devil’s domain.

They say the Devil is a bad Motherf... SHUT YOUR MOUTH!

I’m just talking about the King of the Damned. We can dig it.

TOGA. Big friggin’ deal. Fins hates it when he can’t get wasted. Thanks, Citizens.

FINEGAN’S WAKE, EPISODE NINE

SPECIAL GUEST COLUMNIST

FINES' WAKE A couple of weeks ago where he suggested that Marilyn host his own children's television show. I have his time slot all lined up, and he will go on between Fantasy Island and Cooking With Jeffrey Dahmer. He's going to play to an audience of spoiled brats for all eternity. Thanks, Fins! I'll give you a sip of Guinness in a thousand years! Ha, ha, only kidding.

All you college students reading this, THERE IS BEER DOWN HERE! Well, it's light beer, and you've probably had it before without realizing that we take pride in brewing it. We distribute it under a major label all across North America and there's so damn much of it that we sell it dirt cheap and still come out ahead. We have a whole river of it flowing by the Hitler Monument and the Bottomless Pit of Excrement, and every night is Drunken Kegger Night. The down side? You think you've had bad experiences drinking? Imagine waking up naked next to a nude Josef Stalin with Emperor Nero dancing the Watusi in combat boots on your forehead. That's bad! Now I could be a good guy and tell you our well-guarded secret brewing recipe and process for Hell Beer, but the demons would become cross with me. Oh, I'll tell! Why not? College students drink anything packaged as beer anyway, and all you health-conscious alcoholics need something to drink, too. Here it is:

STEP ONE: Get smashed on some quality beer, ie Guinness, Bass Ale, etc.

STEP TWO: Urinate into a bottle. And you've got light beer! That's all there is to it! Drink hearty.

For those of you who actually care about Fins' well being, we'll take a break and await more news from the Devil's domain.

They say the Devil is a bad Motherf... SHUT YOUR MOUTH!

I'm just talking about the King of the Damned. We can dig it.

TOGA. Big friggin' deal. Fins hates it when he can't get wasted. Thanks, Citizens.

FINEGAN'S WAKE

SPECIAL GUEST COLUMNIST

FINES' WAKE A couple of weeks ago where he suggested that Marilyn host his own children's television show. I have his time slot all lined up, and he will go on between Fantasy Island and Cooking With Jeffrey Dahmer. He's going to play to an audience of spoiled brats for all eternity. Thanks, Fins! I'll give you a sip of Guinness in a thousand years! Ha, ha, only kidding.

All you college students reading this, THERE IS BEER DOWN HERE! Well, it's light beer, and you've probably had it before without realizing that we take pride in brewing it. We distribute it under a major label all across North America and there's so damn much of it that we sell it dirt cheap and still come out ahead. We have a whole river of it flowing by the Hitler Monument and the Bottomless Pit of Excrement, and every night is Drunken Kegger Night. The down side? You think you've had bad experiences drinking? Imagine waking up naked next to a nude Josef Stalin with Emperor Nero dancing the Watusi in combat boots on your forehead. That's bad! Now I could be a good guy and tell you our well-guarded secret brewing recipe and process for Hell Beer, but the demons would become cross with me. Oh, I'll tell! Why not? College students drink anything packaged as beer anyway, and all you health-conscious alcoholics need something to drink, too. Here it is:

STEP ONE: Get smashed on some quality beer, ie Guinness, Bass Ale, etc.

STEP TWO: Urinate into a bottle. And you've got light beer! That's all there is to it! Drink hearty.

For those of you who actually care about Fins' well being, we'll take a break and await more news from the Devil's domain.

They say the Devil is a bad Motherf... SHUT YOUR MOUTH!

I'm just talking about the King of the Damned. We can dig it.
Hey, glad you showed up for the thrilling conclusion of the Devil, Starring Chris Finigan and the Prince of Darkness.

and check in on him right now. Let me pull up his file. Okay, file name, file...

give me just a minute, okay? We've got Macintosh computers down here and this normally takes a while. Now where's that icon? Hmmm. No! No! Dammit! No, not again! Aarrghhh! That's the fifth time in... Oh, crap. I'm sorry, folks, but the system just crashed for the fifth time in the past hour. It's going to be a while before I can figure out where Fins is right now. The last time I checked he was at a rowdy tea party and everyone could drink him. Where he is right now is anybody's guess. I'm going to reboot the system. Hang on...

It crashed again! $%*^&@ system crashed again! I hate it down here sometimes. You know what, I'm going to renegotiate my contract with the local demon unions. I don't care what Jimmy Hoffa wants; I can't run this business with these computers. The demons are going to have to wait for their full dental and 401k plans until Bill Gates gets down here and brings his wonderful operating system with him. What I wouldn't give for Windows 95 right now.

Okay, listen. As far as I can tell right now, the system is going to be down for quite some time. I'm making it a priority to find Fins and make sure he gets the treatment he deserves, but until then, I'll have to relinquish control of this column. I just hope he didn't wander into the Never Ending Game Of Palace. He's really into wasting time and cheap thrills, and nothing cheers him up like a good card game. Wait! There he is! Jean-Paul Sartre is lecturing soon! Simpson diarrhea for a month. See you all soon!

We, The Citizens For A More Caring, Loving Humor Section, hope you have enjoyed this quality, wholesome, family offering. Please feel free to clip out this section of the Montclarion and mail it to your relatives and friends. Have them photocopy it and mail it to their relatives and friends. Spread our word. Do our bidding. We are The Citizens. YOU WILL WORSHIP US! Oops. We meant to say, "Thank you and enjoy!"

The Horoscope Never Lies

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)

Don't go to any classes this week. It's just not worth it. Besides, somebody there likes you, especially your teacher.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)

You will desperately want to see that new Texas Chainsaw Massacre movie, but you must resist the decadent temptation.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19)

You are an incredibly beautiful human being and you bring sunshine wherever you go. Are you happy now? Quit rubbing it in.

Aquarius (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18)

You will try to eat an ice-cream cone way to fast and you will get terrible brain freeze. That's what you get for eating ice cream in November, moron.

Pisces (Feb. 19 to March 20)

If you think you're hot stuff right now don't you. Well let me tell you, things are gonna change in a big way. Get ready for some major league disappointment, you pathetic little poke.

Aries (March 21 to April 19)

Beer is an acceptable escape from reality, but only when consumed quickly in extremely large quantities.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20)

Don't cheat on your exams because it will give you hives.

Gemini (May 21 to June 20)

Drink lots of beer with Aries. Don't you dare sell-out and be one of those godless wine-drinking Frenchies.

Cancer (June 21 to July 22)

You have a major career move in future. Quit your job and watch " Saved By The Bell" re-runs all weekend.

Leo (July 23 to August 22)

I know things seem bleak right now, but if you hang in there you are bound to get some eventually.

Virgo (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22)

Every one has a crazy little voice in side of his or her head that tells that person to do weird things, but that is no excuse for your behavior. Keep your private parts to yourself, please!

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)

You will call The Montclarion office and volunteer to write the horoscopes because they are not funny and the author, Ed Flannery, is nothing more than a balding monkey with gigantic teeth.

A Trip to the Dentist

KOLIEBYV$QNKHEB
YWTROLTLSJGDLEBY
WTURPESNKLGDDB
ZXNVSEQORINOMKI
LANACTOORINCQGE
CAYSTHWDLWASQP
YNBLHSILOPJJHFE
CAEGDIRBYXVCUS
QPRNMCFSERTUNED
KJHXFECBSMUGZYX
VUTROYTICPOML

Find the listed words in the diagram. They run in all directions: forward, backward, up, down and diagonally.

Across
Acesso
Assistant
Bridge
Cap

Caddy
Chair
Crown
Cull

Filling
Gold
Gum
Polish

Root canal
Teeth
X-ray

By Mr. Panhead
Dilbert®
by Scott Adams

Some day I'd like to see your office.

Imagine the most beautiful place on Earth.

Okay. I've got it. Now imagine you can never go there because you work in a box.

It's so exciting to visit my son's cubicle.

I worked hard to put you through college. Now I'll see the results of my investment.

When you dumped more work on Wally, did he moan? Or did he scream? It sounded like this... "Ahh, ahh, ahh!"

The shots will be delivered by wealthy stockholders. You're probably thinking of the flu prevention shots.

At least I won't get the flu, right?

At least I won't say, "It's not about sex. It's about lunch."

At least I won't say, "It's not about sex, it's about lunch."

At least I won't say, "It's not about sex, it's about lunch."

The company is giving free flu shots. Wally.

No one likes being hunted down and shot with flu darts, wally.

The company is giving free flu shots. Wally.

I own stock. It's in my 401K account. I'm not supposed to tell you, but none of this is really real.

I had to make some optimistic assumptions to meet the revenue target. Then do we use his technology to design our new product? No, we kill him and sell the autopsy video.

Marijuana will make you all burnt out, tired and it will give you the munchies. Speed will make you frantic, jittery and you will probably pee all over yourself.

BEER, on the other hand, is a wonderful chemical that will only enhance you physically and intellectually while it elevates your social skills. Drink tons of BEER.

And now a message from the Society for a Drug Free MSU.

STEROLDSWILL MAKE YOU GRUMPY, VIOLENT AND BURNT OUT, ON THE OTHER HAND, IS A WONDERFUL CHEMICAL THAT WILL ONLY ENHANCE YOU PHYSICALLY AND INTELLECTUALLY WHILE IT ELVATES YOUR SOCIAL SKILLS. DRINK TONS OF BEER.

Sterolswill make you all burnt out, tired and it will give you the munchies. Speed will make you frantic, jittery and you will probably pee all over yourself.

BEER, on the other hand, is a wonderful chemical that will only enhance you physically and intellectually while it elevates your social skills. Drink tons of BEER.

And now a message from the Society for a Drug Free MSU.
 Help Wanted **

Positions Available Immediately
Christmas Help - No exp.
Required! Flexible hrs. Walking distance from MSU. Bartlett's Green House and Florist, 14 Grove Street, Clifton (973)471-6480

Photo Lab/ Retail Store looking for part-time help. Will Train. Apply in person. Magicolor Photo, 227 Bellevue Ave., Upper Montclair, NJ (973)744-5311

Retail aquarium store. 2 minutes from campus. Great for science majors! Work with fresh + marine fish & invertebrates, water testing and sales. (973)365-0200

Need driver from Paterson, NJ to Boston, MA on November 25 or 26 and returning to Paterson on November 27. Travel costs are reimbursable. Pay negotiable. (617)492-8366.

Cruise Ship Employment - Workers earn up to $2,000/month (wittups & benefits) World Travel Land-Tour jobs up to $5,000-7,000/summer. Ask us how! (617)396-4255 Ext. c50962

Spring Break 99 It's Party Time - Jamaica and Mexico from $599. Florida from $99, On-Campus Reps needed! Lowest Prices, guaranteed hotels. Call 1-800-648-1849 or visit us at striptravel.com

SPRING BREAK Florida, Texas, Cancun, Mexico, Jamaica, etc. All Popular Spots. Browse www.cqt.com and call 800-327-6013. Best hotels, prices and parties. Reps, organizations, and promoters wanted.

Absolute Spring Break. Organize a small group and travel free or earn $$$.. Hottest Destinations! Lowest Meals and Drinks! Florida, Jamaica, etc. All destinations. Call 509-7804

 Child Care Wanted **

Babysitters needed! Several moms in Upper Montclair looking for responsible women to babysit on a regular basis (days & hours flexible)

Good Pay! Please call 744-2656

Part-time caregiver for two kids. Work from home mother in Upper Montclair.

Monday-Friday afternoons.

References/child care education/ experience preferred. Leave message and info (918)543-4836

Babysitter Wanted. Glen Ridge

Adorable 1 yr old girl 3-6 weekdays.

Mom in home. 566-0449

AFTER SCHOOL CHILD CARE - Energetic babysitter wanted for Monday and Wednesday afternoons, 2:30 - 6:30. Very close to campus. Must have own car. Call 275-2391 before 5pm or 744-7698 after 7pm

Responsible, fun person wanted 3-4 days per week, 3-7pm. to take care of two boys, ages 5 & 7. Elementary education or science/engineering background helpful. Extra hours available during school breaks and summer. Please call 748-2815

Seeking Student of child-related study to play with one-year old boy in our Montclair area home while I work. Days/hours flex. No feeding/charging required. (973)239-3871

P/T CHILDCARE - Patient, gentle, mature person wanted for 25 hrs/wk or child care for 2 & 5 yr old. Live RENT FREE in ptv. Suite in Montclair home, $125 per wk. Ideal for P/T grad student. Must drive. N/S flex. Schedule. (973)746-3463

Female - free room & board in exchange for baby sitting 3-5:30 Monday-Friday. No housework. Room wired for cable & phone. Private bath. References required. (973)656-3962

Babysitter Needed: Full-time mom in Watchung Plaza area needs dependable occasional babysitter for ages 1.4 and 7. One morning and one afternoon and weekend evenings. Call 509-7804

Experienced, loving babysitter wanted for 2 boys ages 3 & 5. Thursdays 12-5pm and alternate Saturdays 4-10pm. References required. Call 744-7576

Daddy's Helper needed for 6 year autistic girl. Saturday and Sundays. Call 744-7397

Experienced, loving temporary full-time babysitter (one month) December 10th to January 12th for 7 year old boy and 2 year old girl. Driver necessary. (973)605-1132

 Services **

Holidays got you blue? Anxious stressed depressed over school, family, relationships? Therapy can help. Sliding scale, insurance accepted. Upper Montclair location. Contact Melinda Morton Illington LCSW at 509-7392

 For Sale **

Mac Performa 450, excellent condition. Includes mother board, monitor, HP printer, modem, plus multifunctional wordprocessing, spreadsheet, database, drawing and internet software. Best offer takes it away! (973)239-3871. Won't last.

Free CD folders, T-shirts, Prepaid Phone Cards. Earn $1,000 part-time on campus. Just call 1-800-932-0528 X64
Red Hawks are fire on ice

By Kara L. Richardson
Managing Editor

After six games, the MSU Men’s Ice Hockey team is becoming a solid force in the Metropolitan Collegiate Hockey Conference. Sunday’s 6-5 victory over Fordham pushed the team’s record to 4-5 overall. The team was winning 5-2 entering the third period, but let up three goals in a matter of five minutes. Baumgartner snapped in his first goal of the season, sparking the team’s enthusiasm which eventually took the game.

Coach Matthew Maniscalco marks the team’s first win against CCM on Sunday Nov. 1 as the turning point for the Red Hawks. The win was the first also for Maniscalco’s collegiate coaching career, just a day after 10-2 the crushing loss to Wagner.

“We just had to go out there and do our work together as a line and getting used to our line up,” Forward Nick Casbar said. The two games that will finish out the season are both against William Paterson University. The Red Hawks has already covered two hat tricks so far this season. He has also been a versatile player for the Red Hawks, moving back and forth from defense to offense whenever needed.

“Maniscalco believes his team is strong. The Red Hawks defense is building as players are stepping up to the physical Metropolitan Collegiate Conference. Brooks is logging in the most ice time for the team. He has been ably assisted by Goalkeeeper Peter Perkowski said, “No one believed that we could compete in this league. Every game we are more enthused to prove them wrong.”

The Red Hawks will close the season with three crucial games that could push the team over .500 in the league. Saturday’s game against Seton Hall is at South Mountain Arena in West Orange. Maniscalco hopes that MSU students will make the trip to support the Red Hawks.

“We don’t play the team’s reputation, we play the team,” Forward Nick Casbar said. “We just have to go out there and do our jobs.”

The team’s enthusiasm which eventually took the game will help you save, invest or keep up to date on your current financial pitfalls.

NORTH JERSEY FEDERAL’S CREDIT UNION CORNER
BUDGETING TIPS FOR THE 90’S

Living on a budget doesn’t necessarily mean having less - it can mean doing more with what you have. Here are some suggestions to help you design your own budget and avoid financial pitfalls.

• Use your Share Drafts (Checking) Account register or carbon copies to determine your expenses. Once you have this information, you’ll be able to zero in on trouble spots and adjust your spending habits.

• Set a savings goal. The cost of a vacation, new car or other major purchases will help you determine your goal. Put enough money aside each pay period to meet your goal in a reasonable time period. If you’ve just paid off a loan, let your loan payment amount accumulate in your shares. Chances are, you won’t miss the money, but it will add up fast.

• Budget for entertainment. If your plan doesn’t make room for some fun, you may have trouble sticking with it.

• Keep your personal debt-to-income ratio under 20% of take-home pay for installment credit. When you include rent or mortgage payments, the ration should be no more than 40% of your net pay.

• If you have trouble making monthly rent or mortgage payments, try putting aside half of the payment amount each payday if you are paid bi-weekly, or one-quarter if you are paid weekly.

• Save money by spending it. The funds you invest in continuing education can lead to a higher paying job. Money spent on home improvements can increase the value of your home. Buying a new, fuel-efficient car can help you save on gas and major repairs.

Remember the first step in planning for your future is to budget now. Once you determine your expenses, you can make decisions that will help you save, invest or keep up to date on your current payments.
Coming next week:

MSU Fall Sports male and female athletes of the season

Chesney looks back on men's soccer season

Continued from P. 24

fell to 14-3-3 after losing in the first round of the NCAA to Rowan University. Chesney felt that his team deserved to win, but they were a bit unlucky. He also added that he and his players felt confident about the tournament and were looking forward to moving on, and that the game was “probably the most disappointing loss in the years.” Although the referee did a distasteful job, which included handing out four red cards and seven yellow cards in a conference game, Chesney didn’t think his calls cost them the game. He didn’t feel that he did a great job, but on the other hand, his calls didn’t affect the outcome of the game either.

Although Chesney will be losing several key players such as Pollard, Pohlman, Roche, and senior teammate Dibello, his outlook for next season is very optimistic. He hopes that the players who are leaving will impact some form of desire in the young players to return and subsequently leave their mark. Chesney also looks forward to recruiting new players to complement his talented team.

One segment in the game which continually stalled was disturbing. Chesney felt that his team deserved to win, but they were a bit unlucky. He also added that he and his players felt confident about the tournament and were looking forward to moving on, and that the game was “probably the most disappointing loss in the years.” Although the referee did a distasteful job, which included handing out four red cards and seven yellow cards in a conference game, Chesney didn’t think his calls cost them the game. He didn’t feel that he

Defense Fails in First and Offense Failing in Second

Make Fora Losing Combination in Regular Season Finale

By Betsy C. Montanez

Staff Writer

This Saturday marks the opening day for MSU’s wrestling team. The Red Hawk offense had been better off not even showing up. However, this lack of production was not entirely the player’s fault. It wouldn’t take a genius to see the difference in the quality of the offensive schemes of MSU and Rowan. Where MSU is methodical and lacks creativity, the Profs are feisty.

The Red Hawk offense on only two occasions in the entire game resembled a productive unit, once in the second when Lewis scored on a five-yard run. Besides that, the Red Hawk offense would have been better off not even showing up. However, this lack of production was not entirely the player’s fault. It wouldn’t take a genius to see the difference in the quality of the offensive schemes of MSU and Rowan. Where MSU]

Continued from P. 24

fell to 14-3-3 after losing in the first round of the NCAA to Rowan University. Chesney felt that his team deserved to win, but they were a bit unlucky. He also added that he and his players felt confident about the tournament and were looking forward to moving on, and that the game was “probably the most disappointing loss in the years.” Although the referee did a distasteful job, which included handing out four red cards and seven yellow cards in a conference game, Chesney didn’t think his calls cost them the game. He didn’t feel that he

This week's **

RED HAWK ACTION

Saturday, November 21

Wrestling, Red Hawk Invitational 10:00 a.m.

Women’s Basketball, Tip-off Tournament @ Franklin & Marshall

Men’s Ice Hockey vs. Seton Hall (South Mountain Arena) 8:15 p.m.

Monday, November 23

M&W Swimming vs. Adelphi, NY 7:00 p.m.

Tuesday, November 24

Women’s Basketball @ Rowan* 6:00 p.m.

Men’s Basketball @ Rowan* 8:00 p.m.

M&W Swimming vs. NYU 5:00 p.m.

MSU hopes to pin down wins

By Betsy C. Montanez

Staff Writer

Division III champion Sophomore Floriana Ghinea (141 lbs.) and NCAA All-American Senior Barrett Cerecus (HW) leading the way to what will be a long, but productive season. After placing 2nd at the Metropol­litan last year, Junior wrestler PJ Rapps will move up a weight class and wrestle at 174 lbs. Senior transfer Todd Goings (197lbs.) and Freshman Jason Landi (165 lbs.) look to make an immediate impact this year. Wrestling begins at 10:00 a.m. in Panzer gym.

Controlling P. 24

Jason LAMPA

“I kept him in and let him ride out. For some reason he didn’t have it that day, but to take out a superstar in such a big game would have been better off not even showing up. However, this lack of production was not entirely the player’s fault. It wouldn’t take a genius to see the difference in the quality of the offensive schemes of MSU and Rowan. Where MSU is methodical and lacks creativity, the Profs are feisty.”

did a great job, but on the other hand, his calls didn’t affect the outcome of the game either.

Although Chesney will be losing several key players such as Pollard, Pohlman, Roche, and senior teammate Dibello, his outlook for next season is very optimistic. He hopes that the players who are leaving will impact some form of desire in the young players to return and subsequently leave their mark. Chesney also looks forward to recruiting new players to complement his talented team.

If DeVigilirio had even an average arm the ball would have made it into the arms of Dorsey.

Continually stalled was disturbing. Giancola’s refusal to change quarterbacks when it was obvious to everyone but him that the team wasn’t going to win with DeVigilirio at the controls was actually sad to watch. One of MSU assistant coach, after watching another DeVigilirio pass fall five yards short of the nearest receiver, voiced his discontent at Giancola’s decision to go with the freshmen. He was bewildered with the head coach’s unwillingness to make a switch. Was it so difficult to put in someone else for one drive?

The top ten for me came with three minutes left in the game when the Red Hawks were down by 10 with three minutes left to go and Giancola decided to throw in the towel. This two minutes two drives later, the game was over. Giancola decided it was time to replace DeVigilirio and have quarterback Ed Collins come in. Collins never got a chance because the Red Hawks fumbled the ensuing punt and Rowan recovered the ball at the MSU 8 yard line. It is my feeling that Giancola was going to pull Collins in the game because he knew that there was no hope of winning and the only time that Collins deserved to play was when the game was no longer in question.

In a season, which MSU had their best chance since 1993 to make a run in the NCAA tournament, they will be ending their season on Saturday in a less meaningful E.A.C. Championship game vs. Widener. Giancola, though winning five NJAC championships in his career at MSU, hasn’t won one since 1989. There is no doubt that Giancola’s winning percentage is extremely impressive and his accomplishment of winning over 100 games is equally so, however, Giancola doesn’t seem to be able to get his team’s in recent years to win the big games. Giancola is a good coach, but his lack of ability produce a productive offense will keep him from ever being a great one.

M&W Swimming

Women’s Basketball @ Rowan* 6:00 p.m.

Men’s Basketball @ Rowan* 8:00 p.m.

M&W Swimming vs. NYU 5:00 p.m.
Hawks lose season closer, still qualify for ECAC championship

By Paul Lewiars

Staff Writer

MSU lost 27-17 in its regular season closing game before 2,747. MSU finishes the season 7-3, NJAC 3-2.

"It was MSU who untracked first when they converted a fumble on Rowan's first possession into a field goal score. Sophomore kicker Vic Mesce who kicked a 50-yard field goal, which also tied an MSU record that was first set by MSU's Scott Rubinti and Anthony Colasordo. Mesce also started as defensive back in the game. Ed Gray (linebacker) caused the fumble when he hit Rowan's quarterback Gus Ornstein before he could complete the hand-off to the running back."

On Rowan's next play, Rowan scored straight from the line of scrimmage when junior tailback Justin Wright went untouched on a 64-yard burst down the left sideline. The extra point was good.

The afternoon for MSU was like that."

"I feel that we left it all on the field, ran all possible plays, the personnel was perfect, everything was great, it just didn't happen today, they played better on this given day," said Yessis.

The passing game for MSU was in question heading into the game with Rowan. It is true that MSU is simply and purely a running team and on some drives the running game worked and on others it didn't. The passing game however was a great improvement over previous games. Jason DeVirgilio passed with extreme tenacity and furious fervor in his eyes.

"I believe that my team met all their expectations and exceeded those outside the team. These expectations include a certain dedication on and off the field and a commitment to be successful. "Marlon Pollard is the best quarterback on the team, he's our quarterback for a reason, we feel that he can go in there and get the job done, he made some really great plays." Keith who will end his college football career when the season ends added, "I went out a winner, I helped turn the MSU program around, the progression has gotten better, I feel very happy that I helped turn this thing around."

Although, Keith and some other seniors will have one more chance to show their stuff when they play one more game this Saturday in the ECAC Championship against Widener College in Pennsylvania. The Red Hawks were invited with their solid 7-3 record to participate in the ECAC Championship a day after their loss to Rowan. Coach Giancola summed up the ECAC Championship against Widener as a very important game for the team.

Giancola said, "The goal for us is to try to win this football game for our seniors, the last opportunity they get to play, the last opportunity that they'll have as MSU football players, it was a bitter loss on Saturday and I would like to have them leave the program with a better memory."

Chesney reflects on successful year, despite bitter loss

By Tess Sterling

Assistant Sports Editor

It was difficult for the former All-American to watch, as his team time and time again was unable to capitalize in the most important game of the season. The disappointment of losing in the first round of the NCAA Tournament was still quite evident in the face of Head Men's soccer coach Bob Chesney on Tuesday, trying his best to remain positive in what he called, "The most disappointing loss of my coaching career."

Chesney played his college ball here at Montclair, and graduated in 1990 with a BS in Marketing. He then stayed on and completed his MA in Sports Administration in 1992.

Chesney has been the head coach here at MSU for the past eight years, where he has an overall record of 103-49-10, and a 1998 record of 14-3-3.

Looking back, Coach Chesney believes that his team met all their expectations and exceeded those outside the team. These expectations include a certain dedication on and off the field and a commitment to be successful. "Marlon Pollard was excellent all season, he was the top guy in and out of the game," Chesney said of his top player, senior midfielder Marlon Pollard, who made first team all-conference. Other key veteran players Chesney noted were junior back Chris Cifrodello, who made valuable contributions in key games, and senior midfielder Scott Pohman who had his best season ever.

According to Chesney, his recruiting class was the best he'd had in eight years with excellent players like freshman forward Atila Yusuf, freshman goalkeeper Alex Luna, freshman back Barry Roche and freshman back George Mendora.

The MSU Men's Soccer team finished their regular season with an impressive record of 14-2-3, but...