Sexual harassment policies changed

Revisions eliminate the 180-day time limit for filing complaints

By Christine Quigley
Assistant News Editor

MSU’s sexual harassment policies were revised recently due to changes needed in the reporting process and investigative procedures, said school officials.

The changes eliminated a 180-day time limit in which a person can write a complaint. There is now no time limit, yet it is strongly recommended that a student file immediately, said Milton.

The procedures also switched from a hearing committee process to an investigative process, in which an EO/AA officer investigates a complaint following an investigative model, said Milton.

Also, the written report is now sent directly to the President of MSU, said Milton. In the past, the report first went through the Dean.

Another change, which hopes to ease the complaint process, is where the complaints are filed.

"The complaints are only filed in the EO/AA office now," said Milton. This eliminates the confusion of filing in several different places on campus.

"When filing, the complainant must specify the type of sexual harassment. There are two types. Quid Pro Quo requires that the harasser be in a position of authority, such as a teacher/student or employer/employee situation. The second, Hostile Environment, can occur when anyone on campus sexually harasses another person. Complainants have the choice of either filing a formal or informal complaint. The informal complaint attempts to resolve the situation between those directly involved before any legal actions take place. Both parties sign an agreement if the situation is resolved."

"If this is not effective, they may file a formal complaint. An informal complaint is not a prerequisite for a formal complaint. When a formal complaint is filed, forms specifying details of the incident and those involved must specify the type of sexual harassment. There are two types. Quid Pro Quo requires that the harasser be in a position of authority, such as a teacher/student or employer/employee situation. The second, Hostile Environment, can occur when anyone on campus sexually harasses another person. Complainants have the choice of either filing a formal or informal complaint. The informal complaint attempts to resolve the situation between those directly involved before any legal actions take place. Both parties sign an agreement if the situation is resolved."

SEE HARASSMENT ON P. 3

Yogi Berra Museum slated to open Dec. 1

By Maureen Samedy
Staff Writer

The long awaited Yogi Berra Museum will be opened to the public on Dec. 1 according to museum officials.

The establishment was founded by the group FRIENDS OF YOGI, Inc., and is devoted to paying homage to the life and career of the Baseball Hall of Fame. The museum is located on the MSU campus, adjacent to the Yogi Berra Stadium.

Although both structures carry the name of the former baseball player, they are two separately owned establishments, and the Yogi Berra Museum is a non-profit institution.

"This museum is an independent, not for profit entity," stated Rose Cali, president of FRIENDS OF YOGI, Inc. It was Cali’s sentiment that it would better serve the public to know the man behind whom the stadium was named after.

"He is a non-celebrity celebrity."

Yogi Berra

"If you build a facility and name it after someone, you have to have something of reference to house his memorabilia. People could come to the museum and see what he’s about. Then, his name has context," Cali stated.

Cali has known Berra for over twenty years now and feels that this museum will better venerate his legacy.

"He is a non-celebrity celebrity."

SEE MUSEUM ON P. 3

Yogi Berra Museum

Staff Writer

The long awaited Yogi Berra Museum will be opened to the public on Dec. 1 according to museum officials.

The establishment was founded by the group FRIENDS OF YOGI, Inc., and is devoted to paying homage to the life and career of the Baseball Hall of Fame. The museum is located on the MSU campus, adjacent to the Yogi Berra Stadium.

Although both structures carry the name of the former baseball player, they are two separately owned establishments, and the Yogi Berra Museum is a non-profit institution.

"This museum is an independent, not for profit entity," stated Rose Cali, president of FRIENDS OF YOGI, Inc. It was Cali’s sentiment that it would better serve the public to know the man behind whom the stadium was named after.

"He is a non-celebrity celebrity."
What’s to come in THE MONTCLARION

Professor writes book on animal behavior

Dr. Roland Siler has recently written a book concerning animal behavior. Find out about his two dogs, Jackie and Julia, and if a human can understand what an animal is thinking.

NIAC is first league in the country to ban aluminum bats

The New Jersey Athletic Conference recently voted to ban all aluminum bats from its games. The governing body cites faulty film from his bullets as major reason.

Jersey City teachers back on strike

JERSEY CITY (AP) — Negotiations between Jersey City teachers and the school district broke down yesterday morning, sending the teachers back onto the picket line for a third day.

Members of the Jersey City Education Association and district officials met Sunday night for a negotiating session in a Weehawken motel. The session continued until 3:15 a.m., but little progress was made, union officials said.

“On the main issues we care about...there was no progress, to the point where I’m very, very dugusted with the opposite side,” said JECA President Tom Favia.

PSE&G fails to talk to customers

High winds. Crashing poles. The storm that rushed through New Jersey on Labor Day was bad. Yesterday, PSE&G took heat for the silence that followed.

The state’s largest utility, regulators say in a report released yesterday, needs to “immediately improve the way it communicates with customers and emergency officials after storm-related power outages.

Essentially, we think the utility was overwhelmed by the storm,” James Giuliano, director of the New Jersey Board of Public Utilities’ Division of Service Evaluation, said during a meeting at the BPU’s Newark headquarters yesterday. “Literally and figuratively, many people were left in the dark.”

The report faults Public Service Electric & Gas Co. for not accurately informing people about when power would be restored.

Local News

Jersey City teachers back on strike

Jersey City (AP) — Negotiations between Jersey City teachers and the school district broke down yesterday morning, sending the teachers back onto the picket line for a third day.

Members of the Jersey City Education Association and district officials met Sunday night for a negotiating session in a Weehawken motel. The session continued until 3:15 a.m., but little progress was made, union officials said.

“On the main issues we care about...there was no progress, to the point where I’m very, very digusted with the opposite side,” said JECA President Tom Favia.

PSE&G fails to talk to customers

High winds. Crashing poles. The storm that rushed through New Jersey on Labor Day was bad. Yesterday, PSE&G took heat for the silence that followed.

The state’s largest utility, regulators say in a report released yesterday, needs to “immediately improve the way it communicates with customers and emergency officials after storm-related power outages.

Essentially, we think the utility was overwhelmed by the storm,” James Giuliano, director of the New Jersey Board of Public Utilities’ Division of Service Evaluation, said during a meeting at the BPU’s Newark headquarters yesterday. “Literally and figuratively, many people were left in the dark.”

The report faults Public Service Electric & Gas Co. for not accurately informing people about when power would be restored.

Local News

Jersey City teachers back on strike

Jersey City (AP) — Negotiations between Jersey City teachers and the school district broke down yesterday morning, sending the teachers back onto the picket line for a third day.

Members of the Jersey City Education Association and district officials met Sunday night for a negotiating session in a Weehawken motel. The session continued until 3:15 a.m., but little progress was made, union officials said.

“On the main issues we care about...there was no progress, to the point where I’m very, very digusted with the opposite side,” said JECA President Tom Favia.

PSE&G fails to talk to customers

High winds. Crashing poles. The storm that rushed through New Jersey on Labor Day was bad. Yesterday, PSE&G took heat for the silence that followed.

The state’s largest utility, regulators say in a report released yesterday, needs to “immediately improve the way it communicates with customers and emergency officials after storm-related power outages.

Essentially, we think the utility was overwhelmed by the storm,” James Giuliano, director of the New Jersey Board of Public Utilities’ Division of Service Evaluation, said during a meeting at the BPU’s Newark headquarters yesterday. “Literally and figuratively, many people were left in the dark.”

The report faults Public Service Electric & Gas Co. for not accurately informing people about when power would be restored.
Museum

CONTINUED FROM P. 1

Museum hosts conferences before opening

Sports is business: Dr. Joan Mahoney, a management professor, addresses the audience last Wednesday in the Yogi Berra Museum. Professor of Recreation and Leisure Studies Dr. Jack Samules (right) and Craig French, Esq. take notes before fielding questions.

Internet

CONTINUED FROM P. 1

Free internet access paid by the university great offer this is and sign up.

“I think it’s a good idea to give out the Erols accounts. It is great for people who were weary of the cost of the Internet, and it will give people incentive to try it out. And because it’s free it will attract people to the Internet,” said Adam Pinter, 18, Theater Major.

The Information Technology department seems to think the same way.

“We are prepared to give out an account to every student who attends the university,” said Burford.

Just why is the university so eager to get everyone connected to the Internet? Burford says that the initial idea came from Mr. Schuckel, Vice President of Budget Planning and Information Technology.

“He’s very keen on the students being able to use advanced technology to enhance their learning, which is why we’ve expanded and improved the Help Desk, which is available to students who need help troubleshooting on their computers. Erols is a part of an overall incentive to use advanced technology for better communication within all parts of the university,” said Burford.

Although Erols is completely free, Information Technology wants to make sure the students know about the requirements before signing up for an account.

“Students will need to have a CD ROM drive on their home computers and at least Windows 95 for a PC, and the compatible for a Macintosh,” says Burford.

The Erols CD is good for both PCs and Macs, and it provides the user with Netscape Navigator, Virus Scan, a user ID name and password. Instructions are also given to have things focusing on gender equity,” said Cali. In addition to viewing mementos of Berra, spectators will also have the opportunity to purchase some as well. This is because within the museum, there will be a store called LTD enterprises, named after Berra’s three sons, Tim, Larry, and Dale. When asked what he thought of the new museum, Berra’s son Tim seemed quite pleased.

“It’s beautiful. I think it’s a nice tribute to my father. People can also pick up momentos and gifts that they want.”

One of the major events that will take place in the museum shortly after its grand opening is the live broadcast of sports radio station WFAN on Dec. 15. Hosts Mike and the Mad Dog will be at the museum, and the invitation is extended to everyone.
Turkey and pie: tips about healthy holiday eating

By Lisa Gribben

With the holidays approaching, many of us forgo healthy eating habits to indulge in the foods of the season. Large family style dinners where piles of mashed potatoes drenched in butter and apple pies laced with whipped cream taunt us with their appeal. Glazed hams and mounds of stuffing await our arrival. The scent of freshly baked cookies and cakes tempts us now more than ever. If you are already feeling your pants becoming tighter, don’t panic. There are some tips to help you enjoy the foods of the season without gaining the five pounds that most Americans seem to accumulate from Thanksgiving to New Year’s.

According to Tara Monico, a dietetic intern and graduate student of the Human Ecology Department, there are many ways to avoid overeating during the holiday season. An important tip is to always eat before arriving at a family dinner or party. Have something light but filling so you are not ravenous by the time dinner is served. Although they seem harmless, have something light but filling so you are not ravenous by the time dinner is served. Although they seem harmless, things like roasted nuts, sour cream dip, and cheese can really add up. Snacks like these can quickly add up to more than you think and likely could blow your calorie budget for the day! I know I’ve been caught eating a few too many cheese straws while talking to my family.

From families reuniting to shopping on Black Friday: a suggestion guide on how to survive Turkey Day

By Laura Lifshitz

Thanksgiving is the time more than avoid ing your year old cousin who likes to wear your undergarments on his head. It’s more than avoiding the dis gusting smell of fresh-killed turkey your brother-in-law just shot off the dude ranch. It’s more than hell when you mom and dad make you wear one of the only two pairs of pants you have in your closet. It’s more than hell when you mom and dad make you wear one of the only two pairs of pants you have in your closet. Thanksgiving is the time when the entire family is gathered together to eat a platter of food you’ve never heard of.

“...if the holiday makes you depressed watch South Park and drink a beer...

-Laura Lifshitz

Food drive reminds us what Thanksgiving is all about

By Kristen Anderson

Giving of food or giving of anything can make a person feel amazing inside. That little warm fuzzy feeling of knowing you unselisnelfly helped somebody can grow and grow inside of you just like the Grinch’s heart. In the spirit of such giving, a campus wide food drive was conducted in a collaborated effort by the Campus Ministry Counsel and MEND (Meeting Emergency Need on a daily ba sic). Food drive stations were set up in four locations: the Student Center, Blanton Hall, Bohn Hall, and Freeman Hall to collect donations to be sent to such places as soup kitchens and churches. Although when I spoke to him he wasn’t sure if Father Al (who supervised the event) estimated that around two thousand pounds of food would be donated in total. Besides giving the food to local charities, Father Al also stated that in light of what happened he hoped they could send some to South America in order to help the many suffering people there. The goal of the food drive was not only to collect food for needy people but to also unite students together through participation and through the Thanksgiving spirit (if you will). The S.G.A, Greeks, and whatever student association wanted to join was more than welcomed and encouraged to participate.

On Monday, Nov. 23 the food collected was blessed in a ceremony which took place at 12:15 p.m. in Student Center Ballroom A. Father Al explained that the blessing combined with Thanksgiving to help make people realize they are all part of the same family. A message we often need to hear to remind us all that we really aren’t that different from the strange person living across the hall.

As a whole, what is Thanksgiving itself all about, and don’t say turkey and mom’s homemade mashed potatoes. It’s about giving thanks for what we have. However, the food drive was surely about much more than simply giving to those less fortunate, it was about a lot more. We often take for granted that what we have and separate ourselves from people we deem as different or unlike us. Having a food drive draws people together in an effort to help others and as corny as it sounds, reminds us that we all live on this planet so we need to learn how to work together.
The journalists surrounded him.

applause died down, the photographers and wire walkers. He didn't use a long pole for watching, Philippe started crossing over the page of newspapers all over the world.

ever done before. He decided he would walk home. That way your parents are less likely conflicts and stress this holiday season.

Here are some tips to consider:

5. If you do not feel comfortable going home for the holidays, find a friend who is willing to adopt you or make your own special plans. IT IS IMPORTANT THAT YOU CREATE SOME KIND OF PLAN FOR YOURSELF to avoid feeling really lonely and isolated. Offering to volunteer at shelters and with other charitable organizations can be a gratifying way to spend your holiday.

You can never go home again. Now that you are in college, going home for the holidays may provide new challenges. You may also find that you have developed a new appreciation for your family. Whether you are excited, or dread the idea of going home, take time for yourself, get rest, relaxation, and make the holidays a safe and relaxing time. If you have holiday conflicts you would like to talk about contact Psychologist Services at 973-655-5211 or come in during Drop-In Hours 10 - 1 p.m. daily.

The photographers took picture after picture and the writers asked question after question. After the last question, Philippe pointed to a journalist and said, "I have all the confidence in the world in you. I believe you can do it." He didn't use a long pole for balance. He used a wheelbarrow filled with 200 pounds of bricks.

Slowly, but masterfully, he crossed the Falls. When he reached the other side, he received a huge standing ovation. As the applause died down, the photographers and the journalists surrounded him.

To hear Dr. Gilbert's daily motivational messages, call Success Hotline (973) 743-4069.
The Finance Corner

By Rob Spiotti
Staff Writer

First of all, I would like to introduce myself. My name is Rob Spiotti and I am studying finance and marketing. I hope I can use this opportunity to teach new ideas to you, the readers as well as learning new concepts myself.

Last week was a prosperous time for the Dow Jones which rose over 200 points. This Monday was also a big day showing gains of over 200 points. This rally has been partially lead by the NASDAQ which has shown huge gains, primarily from internet stocks. Some of the largest gains have been from America Online and Yahoo which have lead this boom of internet stocks.

There have also been many mergers being considered. The largest is Tyco considering to target AMP for an estimated 11.3 billion dollars. Additionally America Online is looking at Netscape which would combine the biggest online server with the most used browser. The estimate for America Online to pay is 4.21 billion in stock for Netscape.

In this portion I am going to state some frequently used financial/investment terms and give a useful definition. Dow Jones—This refers to a collection of 30 stocks of very large blue chip companies. It is used as an indicator of the general market. This as of closing Monday was at 9374 points. Stock—Simply a portion of a company. You are offering financial backing to a company and in return you receive a portion of the company. Mutual Fund—This is generally a collection of stocks and bonds that an investor can buy a portion of. For example a fund may have over a hundred stocks within it so if you purchase a fund you are receiving a small portion of many companies. There are many types of funds depending on your goals. Some offer high risk and high profit possibilities while others offer low risk and marginal returns. I would like to add that with all investments risk is a factor and you can lose money so consider this prior to any investments.

CONTINUED FROM P. 4

Health

your consumption of alcohol to a minimum to stay healthy this holiday season. Okay, so you have all the helpful tips in mind and plan to use them. What happens when you arrive at Grandma’s and she begins to load your plate? There is a safe way to turn down food without sending any family members the impression that you despise their cooking. Perhaps you can say something ahead of time, so that you don’t need to announce to the table that you’re watching your weight. Remember that peer pressure will be in effect, and people will try to coerce you to eat as much as you want, for it’s a special time of year. You can contact your health-care provider for information on how to control your eating habits during this stressful time of year. The Health and Wellness Center in Blanton Hall is also offering individual consultation for healthy holiday eating. You can contact the center by calling x4361 for more information.

Even though the holidays are filled with occasions that entice you to overeat, it is possible to enjoy the foods you love while keeping weight gain to a minimum. If you do happen to eat too much on Thanksgiving or Christmas, don’t fret. Try to incorporate some exercise into your regimen to help combat weight gain. Splurge on a great outfit to wear to a party or dinner to perhaps prevent you from overindulging. Happy holidays!
A piece of the Middle East
Arabic Students Organization holds party which brings the campus community together in a celebration of diversity
By Summer Nazzal

On Thursday, Nov. 19, the Arabic Organization held their first event of the semester. As a new organization holding a Class III charter, they wanted to introduce themselves to the entire MSU campus. By holding a Middle Eastern party, they hoped to attract many students. The party proved to be very successful for they had a huge turnout.

With the help of the members of the association, they were able to organize this event to appeal to those of Middle-Eastern background and those who share other cultures. Not only did they provide a variety of Middle-Eastern delicacies, but they also provided a professional DJ.

"...the purpose of introducing the club to campus was successful." - Summer Nazzal

The party was held in the Ratt from 8 p.m. to 12 a.m., and judging by the smiles on everyone's faces and the sounds of laughter throughout the room, the purpose of introducing the club to the campus was successful. With this effort they were able to bridge the barrier between the organization and campus life. This experience allowed many to share in an event where a spread of Middle-Eastern culture was present, and it brought out a new understanding of what the Arabic Student Organization will bring to MSU in the future. And hopefully the organization will be able to provide many more events to permeate the essence of Middle-Eastern culture for the "function of culture is to teach you new ways of dealing with a new world." - Brian Eno

The Montclarion would like to wish everyone a Happy Thanksgiving!
Meet Grimm Joe Black

Meet Joe Black tells the story of William Parrish, played by Sir Anthony Hopkins, a media baron tycoon. His possessions and his romantic and materialistic household are suddenly disrupted by the unforeseen arrival of an enigmatic young man. This, however, is only the Black (played by Brad Pitt) who is actually the embodiment of Death. The Grim Reaper incarnation's purpose is to take Parrish's life, but his imminent purpose has taken an ironic twist. Joe Black (played by Brad Pitt) who is actually the embodiment of Death. The Grim Reaper incarnation's purpose is to take Parrish's life, but his imminent purpose has taken an ironic twist.

Meet Joe Black

Joe Black is the story of William Parrish, played by Sir Anthony Hopkins, a media baron tycoon. His possessions and his romantic and materialistic household are suddenly disrupted by the unforeseen arrival of an enigmatic young man. This, however, is only the Black (played by Brad Pitt) who is actually the embodiment of Death. The Grim Reaper incarnation's purpose is to take Parrish's life, but his imminent purpose has taken an ironic twist.

Meet Joe Black

Joe Black is the story of William Parrish, played by Sir Anthony Hopkins, a media baron tycoon. His possessions and his romantic and materialistic household are suddenly disrupted by the unforeseen arrival of an enigmatic young man. This, however, is only the Black (played by Brad Pitt) who is actually the embodiment of Death. The Grim Reaper incarnation's purpose is to take Parrish's life, but his imminent purpose has taken an ironic twist.

Meet Joe Black

Joe Black is the story of William Parrish, played by Sir Anthony Hopkins, a media baron tycoon. His possessions and his romantic and materialistic household are suddenly disrupted by the unforeseen arrival of an enigmatic young man. This, however, is only the Black (played by Brad Pitt) who is actually the embodiment of Death. The Grim Reaper incarnation's purpose is to take Parrish's life, but his imminent purpose has taken an ironic twist.

Meet Joe Black

Joe Black is the story of William Parrish, played by Sir Anthony Hopkins, a media baron tycoon. His possessions and his romantic and materialistic household are suddenly disrupted by the unforeseen arrival of an enigmatic young man. This, however, is only the Black (played by Brad Pitt) who is actually the embodiment of Death. The Grim Reaper incarnation's purpose is to take Parrish's life, but his imminent purpose has taken an ironic twist.

Meet Joe Black

Joe Black is the story of William Parrish, played by Sir Anthony Hopkins, a media baron tycoon. His possessions and his romantic and materialistic household are suddenly disrupted by the unforeseen arrival of an enigmatic young man. This, however, is only the Black (played by Brad Pitt) who is actually the embodiment of Death. The Grim Reaper incarnation's purpose is to take Parrish's life, but his imminent purpose has taken an ironic twist.

Meet Joe Black

Joe Black is the story of William Parrish, played by Sir Anthony Hopkins, a media baron tycoon. His possessions and his romantic and materialistic household are suddenly disrupted by the unforeseen arrival of an enigmatic young man. This, however, is only the Black (played by Brad Pitt) who is actually the embodiment of Death. The Grim Reaper incarnation's purpose is to take Parrish's life, but his imminent purpose has taken an ironic twist.

Meet Joe Black

Joe Black is the story of William Parrish, played by Sir Anthony Hopkins, a media baron tycoon. His possessions and his romantic and materialistic household are suddenly disrupted by the unforeseen arrival of an enigmatic young man. This, however, is only the Black (played by Brad Pitt) who is actually the embodiment of Death. The Grim Reaper incarnation's purpose is to take Parrish's life, but his imminent purpose has taken an ironic twist.

Meet Joe Black

Joe Black is the story of William Parrish, played by Sir Anthony Hopkins, a media baron tycoon. His possessions and his romantic and materialistic household are suddenly disrupted by the unforeseen arrival of an enigmatic young man. This, however, is only the Black (played by Brad Pitt) who is actually the embodiment of Death. The Grim Reaper incarnation's purpose is to take Parrish's life, but his imminent purpose has taken an ironic twist.

Meet Joe Black

Joe Black is the story of William Parrish, played by Sir Anthony Hopkins, a media baron tycoon. His possessions and his romantic and materialistic household are suddenly disrupted by the unforeseen arrival of an enigmatic young man. This, however, is only the Black (played by Brad Pitt) who is actually the embodiment of Death. The Grim Reaper incarnation's purpose is to take Parrish's life, but his imminent purpose has taken an ironic twist.

Meet Joe Black

Joe Black is the story of William Parrish, played by Sir Anthony Hopkins, a media baron tycoon. His possessions and his romantic and materialistic household are suddenly disrupted by the unforeseen arrival of an enigmatic young man. This, however, is only the Black (played by Brad Pitt) who is actually the embodiment of Death. The Grim Reaper incarnation's purpose is to take Parrish's life, but his imminent purpose has taken an ironic twist.

Meet Joe Black

Joe Black is the story of William Parrish, played by Sir Anthony Hopkins, a media baron tycoon. His possessions and his romantic and materialistic household are suddenly disrupted by the unforeseen arrival of an enigmatic young man. This, however, is only the Black (played by Brad Pitt) who is actually the embodiment of Death. The Grim Reaper incarnation's purpose is to take Parrish's life, but his imminent purpose has taken an ironic twist.

Meet Joe Black

Joe Black is the story of William Parrish, played by Sir Anthony Hopkins, a media baron tycoon. His possessions and his romantic and materialistic household are suddenly disrupted by the unforeseen arrival of an enigmatic young man. This, however, is only the Black (played by Brad Pitt) who is actually the embodiment of Death. The Grim Reaper incarnation's purpose is to take Parrish's life, but his imminent purpose has taken an ironic twist.

Meet Joe Black

Joe Black is the story of William Parrish, played by Sir Anthony Hopkins, a media baron tycoon. His possessions and his romantic and materialistic household are suddenly disrupted by the unforeseen arrival of an enigmatic young man. This, however, is only the Black (played by Brad Pitt) who is actually the embodiment of Death. The Grim Reaper incarnation's purpose is to take Parrish's life, but his imminent purpose has taken an ironic twist.

Meet Joe Black

Joe Black is the story of William Parrish, played by Sir Anthony Hopkins, a media baron tycoon. His possessions and his romantic and materialistic household are suddenly disrupted by the unforeseen arrival of an enigmatic young man. This, however, is only the Black (played by Brad Pitt) who is actually the embodiment of Death. The Grim Reaper incarnation's purpose is to take Parrish's life, but his imminent purpose has taken an ironic twist.

Meet Joe Black

Joe Black is the story of William Parrish, played by Sir Anthony Hopkins, a media baron tycoon. His possessions and his romantic and materialistic household are suddenly disrupted by the unforeseen arrival of an enigmatic young man. This, however, is only the Black (played by Brad Pitt) who is actually the embodiment of Death. The Grim Reaper incarnation's purpose is to take Parrish's life, but his imminent purpose has taken an ironic twist.

Meet Joe Black

Joe Black is the story of William Parrish, played by Sir Anthony Hopkins, a media baron tycoon. His possessions and his romantic and materialistic household are suddenly disrupted by the unforeseen arrival of an enigmatic young man. This, however, is only the Black (played by Brad Pitt) who is actually the embodiment of Death. The Grim Reaper incarnation's purpose is to take Parrish's life, but his imminent purpose has taken an ironic twist.

Meet Joe Black

Joe Black is the story of William Parrish, played by Sir Anthony Hopkins, a media baron tycoon. His possessions and his romantic and materialistic household are suddenly disrupted by the unforeseen arrival of an enigmatic young man. This, however, is only the Black (played by Brad Pitt) who is actually the embodiment of Death. The Grim Reaper incarnation's purpose is to take Parrish's life, but his imminent purpose has taken an ironic twist.

Meet Joe Black

Joe Black is the story of William Parrish, played by Sir Anthony Hopkins, a media baron tycoon. His possessions and his romantic and materialistic household are suddenly disrupted by the unforeseen arrival of an enigmatic young man. This, however, is only the Black (played by Brad Pitt) who is actually the embodiment of Death. The Grim Reaper incarnation's purpose is to take Parrish's life, but his imminent purpose has taken an ironic twist.

Meet Joe Black

Joe Black is the story of William Parrish, played by Sir Anthony Hopkins, a media baron tycoon. His possessions and his romantic and materialistic household are suddenly disrupted by the unforeseen arrival of an enigmatic young man. This, however, is only the Black (played by Brad Pitt) who is actually the embodiment of Death. The Grim Reaper incarnation's purpose is to take Parrish's life, but his imminent purpose has taken an ironic twist.

Meet Joe Black

Joe Black is the story of William Parrish, played by Sir Anthony Hopkins, a media baron tycoon. His possessions and his romantic and materialistic household are suddenly disrupted by the unforeseen arrival of an enigmatic young man. This, however, is only the Black (played by Brad Pitt) who is actually the embodiment of Death. The Grim Reaper incarnation's purpose is to take Parrish's life, but his imminent purpose has taken an ironic twist.

Meet Joe Black

Joe Black is the story of William Parrish, played by Sir Anthony Hopkins, a media baron tycoon. His possessions and his romantic and materialistic household are suddenly disrupted by the unforeseen arrival of an enigmatic young man. This, however, is only the Black (played by Brad Pitt) who is actually the embodiment of Death. The Grim Reaper incarnation's purpose is to take Parrish's life, but his imminent purpose has taken an ironic twist.

Meet Joe Black

Joe Black is the story of William Parrish, played by Sir Anthony Hopkins, a media baron tycoon. His possessions and his romantic and materialistic household are suddenly disrupted by the unforeseen arrival of an enigmatic young man. This, however, is only the Black (played by Brad Pitt) who is actually the embodiment of Death. The Grim Reaper incarnation's purpose is to take Parrish's life, but his imminent purpose has taken an ironic twist.

Meet Joe Black

Joe Black is the story of William Parrish, played by Sir Anthony Hopkins, a media baron tycoon. His possessions and his romantic and materialistic household are suddenly disrupted by the unforeseen arrival of an enigmatic young man. This, however, is only the Black (played by Brad Pitt) who is actually the embodiment of Death. The Grim Reaper incarnation's purpose is to take Parrish's life, but his imminent purpose has taken an ironic twist.

Meet Joe Black

Joe Black is the story of William Parrish, played by Sir Anthony Hopkins, a media baron tycoon. His possessions and his romantic and materialistic household are suddenly disrupted by the unforeseen arrival of an enigmatic young man. This, however, is only the Black (played by Brad Pitt) who is actually the embodiment of Death. The Grim Reaper incarnation's purpose is to take Parrish's life, but his imminent purpose has taken an ironic twist.
By Timothy M. Casey

Photography Editor

U2 released a new album compiling their greatest hits from the eighties. With a band as widely popular as U2, nobody could possibly agree to the song selection for such an album, but this record highlights the best work of one of the most successful bands in the decade. U2, The Best of 1980-1990 features tracks, spanning four studio albums produced in the eighties. The one new track, “Sweetest Thing” is included even though it was previously released as a single. “Sweetest Thing” was a B-side from The Joshua Tree. Also included as part of a double-album package is a compilation of 15 B-sides from singles released over the same time period.

U2 was formed twenty years ago in Dublin, Ireland when drummer Larry Mullen pinned an ad to the bulletin board at Mount Temple High School. Since then, U2 has sold more than 75 million albums.

An instant classic: Best of U2 1980-1990

The original band members, Bono, The Edge, Adam Clayton, and Larry Mullen have remained intact over the two decades since their founding.

“I Will Follow” is the only track from Boy, U2’s first album with Island Records, to be included on the compilation CD. “New Year’s Day” and “Sunday Bloody Sunday” represented War, U2’s third album, produced in 1983.

U2 was named Rolling Stone’s “Band of the Year” in 1983 following the release of Under A Blood Red Sky, a live document of the group’s landmark performance at Colorado Red Rocks Amphitheater.

“Pride (In the Name of Love),” “Bad,” and “The Unforgettable Fire” come from The Unforgettable Fire, U2’s fourth studio album. “Pride” was the biggest hit for U2 in the United States and United Kingdom to that point.

Following the release of The Unforgettable Fire, U2 went on an extended tour that included performances at Live Aid in 1985 before headlining Amnesty International’s Conspiracy of Hope Tour in 1986.

The following year, U2 was called “Rock’s Hottest Ticket” on the cover of Time magazine, following the release of their fifth studio album, The Joshua Tree. With sold-out tours and a B-side called “I Still Haven’t Found What I’m Looking For” and “Where the Streets Have No Name” was the Best Of album. The Joshua Tree won the distinction of the fastest selling UK album ever by going platinum within its first two hours on sale and reached number 1 in 22 countries with worldwide sales of 15 million copies. In 1987, U2 was awarded with Grammys for Album of the Year and Rock Performance. “Sweetest Thing” was originally recorded with The Joshua Tree album, but was released as a B-side to a single. It was included on the new Best Of album, giving the public a new release to go along with the album. “Sweetest Thing” shows a different side of U2, acting sily and romantic at the same time. U2 filmed a new video in Dublin to promote their new album.

U2 closed the eighties with Rattle and Hum, a Hollywood-funded film chronicling The Joshua Tree tour, accompanied by a soundtrack of live tracks and new studio material in 1988. The Best Of album features “ Desire,” “When Love Comes To Town,” “Angel Of Harlem” and “All I Want” “You” from Rattle and Hum.

The B-side disc, available for a limited time, includes cover versions of The RIGHteous Brother’s “Everlasting Love” and “Unchained Melody.” This CD is one for all fans to buy for their collection. There is no other way to get this collection of music, including “Three Sunrises,” “Love Comes Tumbling,” “Halleluia Here She Comes” and “Silver and Gold” to name a few highlights.

This CD provides a history of the growth U2 made out of the mainstream and progress they made while gaining worldwide acceptance.

With a doubt, U2 was one of the most accomplished bands of the eighties, this CD is only a taste of the talent that brought them to be one of the biggest bands ever. Their distinctive sound and brilliant lyrics have inspired fans and musicians alike while they have continued to grow as a band.

U2, The Best Of 1980-1990 is a must-have for any rock music fan. This CD is not meant to be an obituary of an over-the-hill band. U2 will be releasing another greatest hit album that will include tracks from Achtung Baby, Zooropa and Pop in the near future and have begun work on their eleventh album in Dublin.

Psycore’s debut mesmerizes

By Victoria Tengelics

Psycore makes their debut with Your Problem. tracks like one of their first singles, “Medi­cination.” It starts out fast and hard as he almost screams the lyrics and then in the middle of the track it slows down as he de­ductively rasps the rest of the song.

“Fullblood Freak” tells why they play their music, which is basically for the audience and the band plans to be around for awhile and would like to use every medium available to get their music out as explained by frontman Markus Jaan: “Our next step is to buy our own camera equipment. Then we’ll have the sound and visuals to do what we want. We’ll see the whole Psycore pack­age as an art piece. Recording, the internet - the whole thing. The more we can do ourselves, the better.”

Psycore is not like all other hardcore bands. They have a unique sound all their own. Your Problem is a CD worth checking out.

The Montclarion, Wednesday, November 25, 1998 - The Montclair High School, Old Bridge, NJ

A ghostly quality that is best-exhibited on songs like “The Edge’s or Adam Clayton’s. They accomplished their goal. The whole point of the album was to do something new and different and have you slamming as the band vocalizes their angst.

Psycore is the creation of schoolmates Markus Jaan (voice), Hans Baumgartner (bass), Hans-Wiholm (drums) and Carlos Speulveda (guitar). Psycore began working on “Your Problem” three days after their formation in Gothenburg, Sweden in 1996. Speulveda (guitar). Psycore began working on “Your Problem” three days after their formation in Gothenburg, Sweden in 1996. The whole point of the album was to do it their way without outside influences so they started recording before they were even signed by V2 Records. According to vocalist Markus Jaan, “We realized that it was time to do things our own way. The album is called ‘Your Problem’ because we’d made our own terms without caring what any one else thought. We decided that if we were going to make an exceptional disc we had to make the record ourselves before even try­ing to make a record contract.”

They accomplished their goal. The CD varies in levels of rage. Some songs start out slow and gloomy and then explode into a harder, more riveting beat. Because they are with each other in a punk scene, old school hip hop and film soundtracks as their influences, their music is a combination of styles and sounds. Their use of talking instead of singing lends to the over­all mood created by their music, which is basically for the audience and the band plans to be around for awhile and would like to use every medium available to get their music out as explained by frontman Markus Jaan: “Our next step is to buy our own camera equipment. Then we’ll have the sound and visuals to do what we want. We’ll see the whole Psycore pack­age as an art piece. Recording, the internet - the whole thing. The more we can do ourselves, the better.”
What organization do you feel should occupy the current home of the Drop-In Center and why? "EMS is a brand new service and as part of its grant will have a building built for its use in 2 years. Why move the Drop-In Center from its home where it has conducted 27 years of service to students and the community just for a temporary purpose? Besides, EMS wrote a joint proposal with the Drop-In Center stating that it is not necessary to kick the Drop-In Center staff out of its home because they would rather have another space in the basement of the Student Center, which is still waiting administration approval."

Jessica Perocian, Psychology

"In a time of need, I had no place to go and no one I could talk to for help. I saw an advertisement for the Drop In Center, which offers Peer Counseling. At first I was reluctant to go but, as the problem worsened, I decided to stop in. It was very relaxed and the girl I was talking to made me feel relaxed and it was easier to talk about my problem. She referred me to a service on-campus so I could deal with my problem. Today I am living happier and healthier. I would hate to see the Drop-In Center lose its current facilities and move to a location that does not suit its needs."

Robert Galarowicz, No major given.

Question of the Week:

Do you feel that your residence hall has adequate laundry facilities?

LET YOUR VOICE BE HEARD!

Call 655-7616 or e-mail Velluccii@alpha.montclair.edu to respond.

OPINION

The Voice of Montclair State

The Never-Ending Headache of Annex Construction

"Is it because we're college students that we don't deserve the same rights as citizens?" asked Cheryl-Lyn Brazaitis, a Webster Hall resident, in the Nov. 19 edition of The Montclarion. Similar sentiments can be heard across campus. What began as a massive eyesore behind Richardson Hall, a mound of dirt and machinery which provided the campus with countless power outages and entertaining Montclarion headlines through the Spring '98 semester, has evolved into a full-fledged distraction in the last week, as noise pollution complaints and references to discarded local ordinances are frequently heard through the halls of Webster and Stone Halls. Now, irate students have started pointing to a sign outside of the Annex construction site, one claiming that the pathway between the Student Center and the Annex would only be closed for the "next two weeks," asking when the disruption will end. Well... what did we expect?

When administrators first unveiled plans for the Math and Sciences Annex, and students caught a brief glimpse at blueprints showing what the final product of this multimillion-dollar project would look like, there was no doubt that the presence of the construction would be quite known. But, in an effort to get the job done as effectively as possible, have constructions plans and production gone astray?

Besides incessant complaints of noise and students being forced to take a long walk around the Student Center to get to their classes, questions of campus energy are again raised.

Recently, it was announced that the power would be shut off across the entire campus during the Thanksgiving recess, on Friday, Nov. 27. While most residents would claim that this would be the best time to cut the power, as residence halls close on Wednesday, Nov. 25 at 6 p.m., many forget one factor: Russ Hall. The residents of Russ Hall, who are permitted to remain on campus during breaks, will be left without electricity for 12 hours. We're sure that their holiday break will be filled with nothing but appreciation for the fine power across campus, and the re-routing of an immense amount of student traffic are all frustration: one attacked at every turn until its doors open and students can be the judges of whether it was worth it all along.

The Montclarion Mailbox Policy

- All letters must be typed.
- Letters exceeding 500 words will not be considered for publication.
- A maximum of 500 words will be printed unless they include the author's name, major, social security number and phone number or e-mail address.
- Only one letter by an author will be printed each month.
- Submission deadline: Monday, 10:00 p.m.
- Letters may be submitted through e-mail to Velluccii@alpha.montclair.edu or sent to The Montclarion - Attn: Opinion Page Editor, Montclair State University, 113 Student Center Annex, Upper Montclair, NJ 07043.
The Basis for Evaluating Religion and the Foundations of Faith

Jim Davison

T

he following is a quote that I have heard. I do not know who to attribute it to, but it seems to me to ring true: “Religion has never been needed to justify love, but no greater tool has ever been devised to justify hate.”

Think about this. There are hundreds of religions throughout the world, all claiming to have what they believe to be the truth about our existence on this planet, and almost all are willing to fight to protect it.

Research any religion and, at one time or another, one will find that they have either persecuted others or have been persecuted themselves for what they believe. Some have done both.

Jewish people have been suffering almost since the genesis of their faith. Christianity began with a crucifixion and then, for centuries, remained in poor standing, with devout believers in Jesus periodically being used as food and then, for centuries, remained in poor standing, with devout believers in Jesus periodically being used as food.

The US Department of Labor’s “Public Health on International Child Labor” stated that Mary, the owner of Lord and Taylor, pays Thai families, “held captive under threat of rape or murder,” fifty cents an hour. Maybe you noticed the “Made in America” labels on Lord and Taylor clothing.

“The Thai workers are immigrant families who live in Southern California, and some Chinese workers live in Brooklyn and Manhattan. Child labor and sweatshops are not only international problems, but local concerns as well. Denying sweatshops or attributing them to “other cultures” are not excuses because in the United States, children as young as nine made slaves to greedy business interests. As long as child exploitation is secret and we fail to inquire about the conditions in which workers make clothing, children are established game pieces in corporate greed. As long as we continue to buy the products, child slave labor will continue in sweatshops.

The reason universities have concerns is that child labor yields thousands of popular products, including baseball caps bearing the label “Made In China” and certain name brands like Lord and Taylor from their school stores.

The US Department of Labor’s “Public Health on International Child Labor” stated that May, the owner of Lord and Taylor, pays Thai families, “held captive under the threat of rape or murder,” fifty cents an hour. Maybe you noticed the “Made in America” labels on Lord and Taylor clothing.

“The Thai workers are immigrant families who live in Southern California, and some Chinese workers live in Brooklyn and Manhattan. Child labor and sweatshops are not only international problems, but local concerns as well. Denying sweatshops or attributing them to “other cultures” are not excuses because in the United States, children as young as nine made slaves to greedy business interests. As long as child exploitation is secret and we fail to inquire about the conditions in which workers make clothing, children are established game pieces in corporate greed. As long as we continue to buy the products, child slave labor will continue in sweatshops.

The reason universities have concerns is that child labor yields thousands of popular products, including baseball caps bearing the label “Made In China” and certain name brands like Lord and Taylor from their school stores.

The majority of B&J&B’s employees are teenage girls who report that they only receive approximately forty dollars for fifty-six hours of work.

In the spirit of American business, corporations will rob, murder, rape and lie to make money.

Check the label and place it back on the shelf. Phil Ochs, a folk singer, stated “Even though you can’t expect to defeat the absurdity of the world, you must make the attempt.” Based on that individuals cannot stop child labor and sweatshops alone, colleges have begun forming organizations like the United Students Against Sweatshops to protect the rights of children in factories.

Harry Wu, a survivor from the Chinese labor camp Laogai, stated in a letter to Duke University that “Universities would aid the work of my foundation and thousands of other human rights groups.” Sweatshop Watch has on an address on the Internet where people can e-mail their sentiments on child labor to the companies who depend on it.

In the spirit of American business, corporations will rob, murder, rape and lie to make money.

Nothing of this is meant to say that all religions are bad and that all believers are bad. It is based on what knowledge I have of religions, I know of few whose very basic core doctrines advocate hate and violence. As this is the case, is it possible there is a valid belief and the others are wrong? This forgets what is necessary to make any idea valid. What makes a belief or an idea valid is that it can be proven with logical evidence that others, if reasonable and in possession of the same information, will agree with what you stand for.

Religion has never been needed to justify hate, but no greater tool has ever been devised to justify hate.

It occurs to me now that some who are reading this may be thinking to themselves something along the lines of, “But I neither hate nor dislike or even think anyone strange for their religion.” But think: How would you react to a person who told you he or she was a Wiccan witch or believed he was a reincarnation of Jesus? Look around the world. Everything has a specific reason for being, a specific function. Everything in our world has a reason why it is here.

None of this is meant to say that all religions are bad and that all believers are bad. It is based on what knowledge I have of religions, I know of few whose very basic core doctrines advocate hate and violence. As this is the case, is it possible there is a valid belief and the others are wrong? This forgets what is necessary to make any idea valid. What makes a belief or an idea valid is that it can be proven with logical evidence that others, if reasonable and in possession of the same information, will agree with what you stand for.

Religion has never been needed to justify hate, but no greater tool has ever been devised to justify hate.

It occurs to me now that some who are reading this may be thinking to themselves something along the lines of, “But I neither hate nor dislike or even think anyone strange for their religion.” But think: How would you react to a person who told you he or she was a Wiccan witch or believed he was a reincarnation of Jesus? Look around the world. Everything has a specific reason for being, a specific function. Everything in our world has a reason why it is here.

None of this is meant to say that all religions are bad and that all believers are bad. It is based on what knowledge I have of religions, I know of few whose very basic core doctrines advocate hate and violence. As this is the case, is it possible there is a valid belief and the others are wrong? This forgets what is necessary to make any idea valid. What makes a belief or an idea valid is that it can be proven with logical evidence that others, if reasonable and in possession of the same information, will agree with what you stand for.
have you ever wondered what our university’s en trance on Normal Avenue looked like in 1908 or who walked through the corridors of College Hall when Harry Chapin was this school’s Principal? Have you ever wanted to see news clippings for the groundbreaking ceremonies for Moorehead Hall, look at the first residents of Chapin Hall, read the first edition of the school newspaper? Ever wanted to find out what the roots of this place look like? The good news is that you can. The bad news is that you might not be able to for long.

The Sprague Library Archives Room, a tiny office not even the size of a dorm room located in the corner of the library’s Reference section is where you can find all of these little shreds of information, as well as much more,
and it is in an absolute and inexcusable state of ill repair.
The room itself is full of cabinets, some labeled, some not,
and white photographs of the interior of College Hall, of
and 30’s full of photographs of an ancient campus, black and white photographs of the interior of College Hall, of Finley Halls, student catalogues from the 1910’s and 20’s through slides documenting the construction of Mallory and waktu was this school’s Principal? Have you ever wanted to see news clippings for the groundbreaking
ceremonies for Moorehead Hall, look at the first residents of Chapin Hall, read the first edition of the school newspaper? Ever wanted to find out what the roots of this place look like? The good news is that you can. The bad news is that you might not be able to for long.

The Sprague Library Archives Room, a tiny office not even the size of a dorm room located in the corner of the library’s Reference section is where you can find all of these little shreds of information, as well as much more,
and it is in an absolute and inexcusable state of ill repair.
The room itself is full of cabinets, some labeled, some not,
and white photographs of the interior of College Hall, of
and 30’s full of photographs of an ancient campus, black and white photographs of the interior of College Hall, of Finley Halls, student catalogues from the 1910’s and 20’s
through slides documenting the construction of Mallory and

The Sprague Library Archives Room, a tiny office not even the size of a dorm room located in the corner of the library’s Reference section is where you can find all of these little shreds of information, as well as much more,
and it is in an absolute and inexcusable state of ill repair.
The room itself is full of cabinets, some labeled, some not,
and white photographs of the interior of College Hall, of
and 30’s full of photographs of an ancient campus, black and white photographs of the interior of College Hall, of Finley Halls, student catalogues from the 1910’s and 20’s
through slides documenting the construction of Mallory and

The Sprague Library Archives Room, a tiny office not even the size of a dorm room located in the corner of the library’s Reference section is where you can find all of these little shreds of information, as well as much more,
and it is in an absolute and inexcusable state of ill repair.
The room itself is full of cabinets, some labeled, some not,
and white photographs of the interior of College Hall, of
and 30’s full of photographs of an ancient campus, black and white photographs of the interior of College Hall, of Finley Halls, student catalogues from the 1910’s and 20’s
through slides documenting the construction of Mallory and

The Sprague Library Archives Room, a tiny office not even the size of a dorm room located in the corner of the library’s Reference section is where you can find all of these little shreds of information, as well as much more,
and it is in an absolute and inexcusable state of ill repair.
The room itself is full of cabinets, some labeled, some not,
and white photographs of the interior of College Hall, of
and 30’s full of photographs of an ancient campus, black and white photographs of the interior of College Hall, of Finley Halls, student catalogues from the 1910’s and 20’s
through slides documenting the construction of Mallory and

Got Poison?
It Doesn't Do A Body Good: The Dangers of Drinking Milk

B eing that we have people who try to step on my lips, use their beliefs to argue facts and choose not to do in-depth research but, instead, to go corporate America books for research and then respond with animosity and weak ignorant unfactual arguments, I studied a multiple amount of books, spoke to doctors, and made sure that what I am saying is nothing but the facts. This week I decided to do something a bit different from your usual reading that I do care for in being outside of the campus, and that is the main reason why I only speak the truth.

Get Milk? A slogan which has captured our hearts, literally. A slogan that’s on billboards and is flooded all over television. Milk, a product that is a part of our everyday life. You use it for cereal, coffee, and cookies, not to mention all the other dairy products like cheese, cream cheese, cottage cheese, cake and cheese cream and ice cream.

The majority of people in the world don’t even know facts about anything they eat. Ignorance is not only deadly to the mind but also to the body.

I am writing to tell you that milk does not do your body good! Dairy products (milk, cheese, ice cream, etc.) cause diabetes, osteoporosis, leukemia, tuberculosis, bovine immunodeficiency virus, allergies, arthritis, kidney stones, mood swings, depression, hemorrholigloss, irritability and mucus production. In fact, a yearly consumption of dairy products is equal to the cholesterol contained in 19,000 slices of bacon.

Pasteurization is only good for preventing typhoid germs and germs of tuberculosis. They protect themselves from boiling, antibiotics and germicides by forming spores. After the process, milk cools, the conditions become more suitable for growth, and the bacteria returns back to its original state. Pasteurization is only good for preventing milk from spoiling quicker. Ever wonder why milk gets that disgusting odor, gets full of microorganisms, and bacteria after a week or two in the refrigerator?

Pasteurized milk caused 12 deaths in San Francisco in 1928. In 1926, there were 5,002 cases of typhoid fever in Montreal, Canada and 533 deaths. Homogenizing milk is done to prevent formation of a cream layer in whole milk. Look at the word closely: “homo-genes.” Look up the word paratuberculosis, which cows are getting intestinal disorders from and which is a heat resistant mycobacterium.

Humans that drink cow’s milk catch this intestinal disorder. Cow’s milk is made for cows and not humans! When a cow has a calf, the milk it produces nourishes the calf which may grow to 800 lbs or more because of the large amounts of casein. Cow’s milk builds up the body structure of a calf to attain a weight of 1,000 to 2,000 lbs of maturity.

Cow’s milk is intended to double the calf’s weight in 6-8 weeks, whereas a child is required to double its weight. Thus cow’s milk was never intended for humans. If you’re that much of a friend for milk, drink soybean and rice milk. Both taste better, have more vitamins, minerals and proteins than cow’s milk, and are low in fat.

As adults you lose the ability to digest cow’s milk thus producing stomach pains, gas bloating, and diarrhea. This is called lactose intolerance. So why drink milk if your body has to work ever so much just to digest one glass of it. Ninety percent of African Americans are lactose intolerant. So what’s the solution? Hire African Americans like Spike Lee, Tyra Banks, Patrick Ewing, and Naomi Campbell to wear “milk mustaches.”

Pasteurization myth. Pasteurization does not work!
The need for cow’s milk as a necessary part of the human diet is purely and simply advertisement propaganda with no foundations in fact. A generation ago cows were fed grass. Now, they’re fed bone and blood meals, pumped with thousands of antibiotics and chemicals which are squeezed out of the utters and sold at your local supermarket and cafe.

Breast cancer and child leukemia is growing everyday. Why? Because of milk! Don’t believe me, check it out. Since 1979, the average person drank 149 lbs of whole milk and 79 lbs of lowfat milk. In the present, the numbers have reversed to 75 lbs of whole and 124 lbs of lowfat milk drunk a year. When you take the fat out you have a higher proportion of protein (casein). Proteins in milk are what cause allergies. Asthma doubled since 1979 statistics.

So, where’s the help? The Food and Drug Administration? The American Heart Association? Any organization that donates $60,000 gets the A.H.A. logo on their product. Just look at Fruit Loops! Since when are Fruit Loops good for your heart? When you drink milk you’re digesting cow’s gut and hormones. All humans are eating Elmer’s glue if they are drinking milk. All humans are drinking animal fat, cholesterol and bacteria. That’s something to think about at the Thanksgiving dinner table.

Lost in the digital age: Insufficient student computer labs

In recent months I have failed to comprehend how a prestigious institution such as Montclair State University can provide its large student body with such a tiny number of computers.

My stay here has been marked by mixed feelings and my pursuit of a higher education requires me to propose ideas to hopefully solve this problem.

According to the Fall 1997 Enrollment figures, the enrollment of students at MSU was 12,757. Now, allow me to share with you the total number of computers on campus. There are 11 computer labs on campus with a combined total of approximately 178 computers. I’m no mathematician but this implies that the ratio of students to computers is 71 to 1.

It’s frustrating to have to wait for as long as 30 minutes to type a paper. I’m a resident of Clove Road Apartments where no computer labs are offered to students residing there.

In my opinion, I believe that adding a small computer lab in the office of Clove Road Apartments would greatly assist students such as myself.

In addition, it would also please me to see a large computer lab in the new annex being built behind Richardson Hall. Though I am not aware whether this is in the process of being done or not, I remain optimistic that, if provided, it will ease the hassles of utilizing the computer labs.

I would be a liar if I said all computer labs are always full to their capacity. However, having to type a research paper on a Macintosh or a Compaq computer also makes a difference because it is difficult or impossible to retrieve information saved on a Macintosh from a Compaq computer.

Unfortunately, at the moment my economic status prevents me from purchasing a new computer. Nevertheless, I am currently saving my pennies in hopes to be able to purchase one in the spring semester. As for now, I can only persuade those at the administrative level to empathize with me though I am also fully aware of the difficulty and time that it takes to create change.

Domingo Estrada, No major given

Opinion columns in The Montclarion: A violation of MSU tolerance policies

At the beginning of November, I submitted a letter to the editor to The Montclarion concerning four articles, two by William Gibbs, one by Jose Guzman, and one by Justin Buffer, that had appeared over the last year in the Editorial section of the newspaper. I charged that, according to school policy as outlined in the “Statement On Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action, Sexual Harassment And Tolerance,” The Montclarion, had been negligent in printing these articles, that the printing of these articles was a violation of MSU policy.

“...The Montclarion refused to publish my letter on the grounds that at about 900 words it was too long. Their editorial ‘policy’ concerning letters to the editor, they said, was clearly stated in the Editorial section of the newspaper to be no more than 500 words per letter. However, even after I pointed out that they had broken that policy earlier in the semester, they refused to print my letter. I then, upon further investigation, that The Montclarion had changed its editorial policy concerning letters to the editor after I submitted my original letter.”

This semester, until Oct. 22, Volume 78, Issue No. 8, the “policy” stated “Letters should be no more than 500 words.” Starting Nov. 12, Volume 78, Issue No. 10, the policy stated “Letters exceeding 500 words will not be considered for publication.”

It cannot help but feel, in light of this information, that The Montclarion is refusing to publish letters because it was highly critical of the editors of The Montclarion, and not because it was too long, as they stated. This letter, however, is well within the 500 words in length. Copies of my original letter may be obtained by e-mailing tolerance_msu@hotmail.com. This is a special account, created only for the purpose of giving out copies of my original letter.

I charged that... The Montclarion had been negligent in printing these articles, that the printing of these articles was a violation of MSU policy...
I'm back from hell now. Did you miss me, honey?

By Chris Finegan

He is happy. Beer is good.

It's me, Fins. I'm back from Hell. I'll explain--at least to a second or two right now, I need a drink. WOW, THIS STUFF'S GOT A LOT OF PROOF! I feel better now. That all of us who believe in Hell have a set of preconceived notions of what it's supposed to be like. Some of us think that the poet Dante was right on the money and others believe it's something like being trapped in a locked room with a malaria-crazed Christopher Walken. Well, I've been to Eta, and contrary to what I originally presumed, it is not at all like the DMV.

Don't get me wrong, I can say without any reservations that it sucked down there. No, I mean it really SUCKS! It's even more horrible than an Oprah-show. Still, I've learned a valuable lesson. No matter what my readers may think of me, I'm just not going to allow full frontal nudity in my column anymore. So, that's all.

They planted me in a "Clockwork Orange" viewing chair and subjected me to what was supposed to be a Brady Bunch marathon.

The Montclarion

---

The stories my mom told me; or, Why I'm so messed up

By Ed Flannery

Bringing Humor Editor

When I was a child, my mom used to tell me all sorts of great stories. Well, my mom thought they were great, I hated them with a passion. She used to say anything and everything possible to scare me into behaving properly. She even used this mental cruelty. I, on the other hand, believe that it's exactly what makes me the hip, cultured, smooth operator with the ability to lead our society into the next century. I'm kind of a modern day Abe Lincoln without the top hat.

In any case, I'm not going to share with you some of the anecdotes that my dear mother imparted to me when I was growing up. Pay attention because I think this will help you greatly if you ever become a parent or if you become the guard at a war prison.

When I was six, I tried to climb over the fence that surrounds my grandmother's yard. Before I could get to the top of the fence, which features a chicken-wire top, bars, my mom ran over and snagged me off the fence. She proceeded to tell me the story of my older brother, Freddy. It is important to point out that I am the oldest child in my family and simply hearing my mom say, "Don't you want to be more like your older sister?" does more than enough to get my attention. Apparently, before I was born Freddy was your normal adventurous five-year-old. Mom said that one day he tried to climb grandma's fence, but he slipped and dismembered himself on the sharp top of the fence. My mom said she didn't find out for hours and by the time she got there, the crows had picked most of his flesh off off. I guess they wanted to possibly go to sleep. Mom, in her infinite wisdom decided to tell me that Santa Claus came to a stack of cups. "Beer Pong!" he said as a Santana reel back. I don't know what got him so worked up. I was leaping to my feet and saying, "Nobody beats up Fins except me!" My mom, in her infinite wisdom decided to tell me that Santa Claus came to a stack of cups. "Beer Pong!" he said as a Santana reel back. I don't know what got him so worked up. I was leaping to my feet and saying, "Nobody beats up Fins except me!" My mom, in her infinite wisdom decided to tell me that Santa Claus came to a stack of cups. "Beer Pong!" he said as a Santana reel back. I don't know what got him so worked up.
into me that night, but I smacked the devil. Big time. I couldn't miss. But still, there must be no drinking games in Hell, because Satan turned out to have zero tolerance. After two rounds, he collapsed. Six of the most voluptuous women I've ever seen were there to catch him, and they whisked him back to Hell before he embraced himself even more. "Lightweight," I heard Tim say.

Hell: It's not just for breakfast anymore.

---

Wordfind

ON THE COVER OF TIME IN 1997

NNKFDAVXTVOMHJM
HNFCAYWUSCEGRPS
NLIJHFDBOBITZEB
XVTLRQOSJOIERTS
LMKIFBMWOFHVADA
BIZYWTVTRDCPQDG
ONEHILLARYEMPNL
KIHFDCLNVLAIEZ
XWVURELEYIFSTLU
SANAIDTRPKOTLO
NOSPMISNECASREV

Find the listed words in the diagram. They run in all directions, forward, backward, up, down and diagonally.

---

Appleton
Brad Pitt
Cosby
Diana
Dr. Weil
Ellen
Hilary
Jobs

---

The Horoscope Never Dies

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)

Don't let your perverted cousin make Thanksgiving dinner. Let someone else stuff the turkey and cream the onions.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19)

Loved ones will shine with a quick coat of semi-gloss. Your stars broke into the House of Libra while Libra was away and made off with a blender and $512 cash. Run far away.

Aquarius (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18)

You will watch a pornographic film with your significant other's parents. You will learn much from this experience and draw upon it many times in the future.

---

The Montclarion

- Rules! All Hail Leo!

---

Leo (July 23 to Aug. 22)

You will win the lottery, have lots of sex, get the body you want by eating Haagen-Dazs, and replace an impacted Bill Clinton. LEO RULES! ALL HAIL LEO!

Virgo (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22)

Follow your heart and do your senior thesis on a comparative study between chunky and creamy peanut butter. Creamy wins, hands down. Your professor gives you an A and America thanks you.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)

You will call The Montclairian office and threaten everyone with bloody, violent death, especially Fins. His column sucks. He deserves it, the bastard.

---

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)

You are stars in the House of Pancakes for the early-bird special, but they get kick from the under-cooked bacon and spend the rest of the day puking. Buy a beer funnel for Grandma. Her birthday's right around the corner.
HUMOU'R®

Dilbert®
by Scott Adams

I'M FEELING MUCH HEALTHIER SINCE I STRAPPEO ALL OF THESE MAGNETS TO MY BODY.

THAT'S FASCINATING. YOU SHOULD SHOW THEM TO WALLY. IT WOULD HAVE A BIG IMPACT ON HIM.

I'VE BEEN ADDICTED TO WAGGING.

IRONICALLY, THE BEST WAY TO BECOME AN EXPERT IN SOMETHING CALLED "KNOWLEDGE MANAGEMENT" IS TO LEVERAGE OUR KEY LEARNINGS.

WE MUST DEVELOP KNOWLEDGE OPTIMIZATION INITIATIVES TO LEVERAGE OUR KEY LEARNINGS.

NOW TURN YOUR EAR CLOCKWISE TO GET YOUR TONGUE BACK IN.

WHO LET THE DOGS OUT?

J O B C O N S E L D I N G

WELL NEED TO DISGUISE THE FACT THAT YOU'RE A MORON.

THEN WE NEED TO PULL THE DCF AND GET THE HELL OUT THE DOG ASAP.

ARE YOU OUR NEW CEO OR A BABBLED IDIOT WHO JUST HAPPENED TO Wander BY?

WHICH ONE PAYS MORE?

THE MYSTERY DEEPENS.

CHIEF FINANCIAL OFFICER

I NEED ONE-SENTENCE DESCRIPTIONS OF EACH OF YOUR PROJECTS.

YOU'RE PLANNING TO MAKE CRITICAL BUDGET DECISIONS BASED ON THAT?

WOW. FIVE PAGES WITHOUT USING A PERIOD.

THANK GOD FOR SEMI-COLONS.

This is Kate Moss. This is her profile.

YOU CAN HELP HER AND OTHERS LIKE HER.

Did you know that every day, thousands of supermodels go hungry? Right here in America, under our noses. Did you also know that for just pennies a day, you could sponsor a supermodel? It's true. For only 99 cents a day, your love will buy her a Big Mac. For $1.98 per day, you can buy her two slices of pepperoni pizza. And five dollars will get her ten pounds of milk chocolate. Every month, you'll receive a hand-written letter from your supermodel, along with the progress she makes. Won't you please help them gain weight? God knows they need it.

SAVE THE SUPERMODELS.

Paid for by Chris Finegan and Ed Flannery. Send donations to:

The Two Jerks c/o The Montclarion
113 Student Center Annex
Upper Montclair, NJ 07043

answers

ON THE COVER OF TIME IN 1997
HELP WANTED

Photo Lab/Retail Store looking for part-time help. Will Train. Apply in person. Magicolor Photo, 227 Bellevue Ave., Upper Montclair, NJ, (973) 744-5311

If you have some creativity and like the world of fashion, nationally known bridal designer needs full or part time help in her studio in Montclair. Call (973) 655-1239. After 6pm (973) 237-0794

Cruise Ship Employment - Workers earn up to $2,000+/month (w/tips & benefits) World Travel! Land-Tour jobs up to $5,000-7,000/summer. Ask us how! (517) 336-4235 Ext. c50962

Spring Break ’99 It’s Party Time - Jamaica and Mexico from $399 Florida from $99. On-Campus Reps needed! Lowest Prices, guaranteed hotels Call 1-800-648-4849 or visit us at ststravel.com.

CHILD CARE WANTED

Babysitters needed! Several moms in Upper Montclair looking for responsible women to babysit on a regular basis (days & hours flexible) Good Pay! Please call 744-2656

Seeking Student of child-related study to play with one-year old boy in our Montclair area home while I work. Days/hours flex. No feeding/changing required. Call (973) 239-3871

Live in/out. Free room/board, plus cash in exchange for p/t childcare, 10-16 hours per week OR live-out! Paid vacation and other perks. Must drive, have 3 verifiable references. Call 746-0698

SERVICES

Holidays got you blue? Anxious stressed depressed over school, family, relationships? Therapy can help. Sliding scale, insurance accepted. Upper Montclair location. Contact Melinda Morton Illington LCSW at 509-7392

FOR SALE

Mac Performa 450, excellent condition. Includes mother board, monitor, HP printer, modem, plus multifunctional wordprocessing, spreadsheet, database, drawing and internet software. Best offer takes it away! Call (973) 299-3871. Won’t last.

FOR RENT

Quiet, responsible female roommates wanted to share 4 bedroom, 2 bath apartment beginning Jan. 1999. $375/month. Utilities included. Ten minutes from campus. Molly (973) 809-1809

---

THE INSTITUTE FOR REPRODUCTIVE MEDICINE AND SCIENCE OF SAINT BARNABAS

As an Egg Donor, you can help a couple be what they’ve always dreamed of being... a family.

The Institute for Reproductive Medicine and Science of Saint Barnabas Medical Center is seeking egg donors. There are many infertile couples whose only dream is to have a family. That’s why we’re reaching out to you — women of all ethnic backgrounds, between the ages of 21 and 32, who are willing to donate eggs. You will be carefully screened both medically and psychologically to ensure your optimum health. Our donation program adheres to the highest ethical standards, and your participation will be confidential.

After you have completed an egg donor cycle, you will be compensated $5,000. To qualify, you must have medical insurance and be able to provide your own transportation to and from the hospital.

Residents of New York can have screening and daily monitoring tests performed locally by a physician practice which is associated with the Institute.

For more information on being an egg donor, please call 1-800-824-3123

---

CLASSIFIEDS

To learn how you can help, call the National Committee to Prevent Child Abuse today.

NOW YOU CAN HELP STOP CHILD ABUSE BEFORE IT EVER STARTS.

For only $10 you can reach out to the 13,000 students of Montclair State University. Call The Montclarion advertising department at 655-5237 to find out how you can take out a classified ad today.
Wrestling starts season off on a good note with win

By Betsy C. Montanez
Staff Writer

The MSU wrestling team hosted its inaugural Redhawk Wrestling tournament this past Saturday in Panzer Gym. The Redhawks dominated the tournament by having six first place finishers and three place winners. The Redhawks placed first with a team score of 194. Finishing second was Ursinus, PA with a team score of 157.

At the 125 lbs. semi-final match MSU's own Joe Biegal met fellow teammate Jess Monzo. After a hard fought decision of 6-5, Biegal moved into the finals sending Monzo into the consolation were he finished third with a major decision of 19-5. Biegal took his first place win with a 9-5 decision.

Dominic DeLlagatta (157 lbs.) started his run for first place with a full time of 27 seconds in his first match and 2:38 in the semi-finals. Unfortunately he couldn't continue his pin streak because his opponent gave him an injury default win in the final match.

The finals brought many exciting but close matches for MSU fans. P.J. Rapps (174 lbs.) started his season by pinning his first two opponents and went on to take first place with a close 4-3 decision in the finals. Team captain Barrett Ceroveto also edged his way to a first place finish with a 3-2 decision after pinning his way into the finals. Senior Todd Going took first by edging out a 10-9 decision in the 197 lbs. weight class.

The Ernie Finizio Most Outstanding Wrestler was awarded to team captain Florian Ghinea. He placed first in the 141 lbs. weight class after he pinned his first two opponents and went on to take first place with a close 4-3 decision in the finals.

The following position is available at Floyd Hall Arena:

ARENA ASSISTANTS

Duties: Customer service, receptionist, cashier, custodial, and data entry. Employee will work with customers through the main office, concession area and skate rental department.

Days/hours: Flexible, to include nights, weekends and holidays, minimum of 15-20 hours a week required.

Interested applicants please call (973) 746-7744 (ask for Kevin McCormack)
Big fish in little pond takes the reigns for MSU Basketball
By Plus Eisenhard III
Staff Writer
Coach Ted Fiore is the new men’s basketball coach. Coach Fiore comes to Montclair State with thirty years of coaching experience, and replaces interim coach Darryl Jacobs to become Montclair’s 13th head coach in its history. Fiore started coaching at the high school level, then went on to the collegiate level where he coached for Saint Peters College in Jersey City. Fiore has also had the joy of being head scout for the Toronto Raptors, and was also an analyst for the MSG network and Comcast.

Why would someone who has enjoyed much success in both the NBA and the major college level take a job at a Division III school?

“I realized after years of being away from coaching I wanted to return after the opportunity came up to coach at Montclair. I didn’t need the glamour of the NBA or a Division I-A school,” said Fiore. “When you speak about men’s college basketball in New Jersey you don’t get very far without the name of Ted Fiore coming up. He is one of the most respected coaches in the country, and we are extremely delighted to have him join our staff,” said acting director of athletics, Holly Gera.

The starting lineup for Fiore’s young team consists of one senior, two juniors, two sophomores, and a freshman. Anthony Peoples, who led the conference last year in rebounding, averaged 10.6 points per game. Peoples’ quickness, pure shooting touch, physical strength and soft shooting touch will lead the squad. Peeples’ quickness, pure jumping ability to have him join our staff,” said acting director of athletics, Holly Gera.

The starting lineup for Fiore’s young team consists of one senior, two juniors, two sophomores, and a freshman. Anthony Peoples, who led the conference last year in rebounding, averaged 10.6 points per game. Peoples’ quickness, pure jumping ability, physical strength and soft shooting touch has made him an All-American candidate coming into his second season as a Red Hawk.

Men’s Basketball Head Coach Ted Fiore.

Filling the two wing positions will be juniors Scott Clark and Michael Bolt, with both possessing the ability to put the ball in the hoop. Handling the point guard duties this year will be sophomore Jerrel Malleno Mayo, a product of Livingston High, dished out 140 assists last season. Freshmen Malenko Barrick will fill the other starting forward slot.

“Coming off the bench will be James Bradley, Carl Thompson, Tom Fischer, Tk Nukjuno, Gerhardt Sanchez, and Harold James.

“All I want is that the team individually and collectively maximize themselves,” said Coach Fiore. “I don’t know much about the team since we’ve known each other for only three weeks and I don’t know much about this league but all I want is for my team to give it their all.”

North Jersey FCU
Offers You
Easy & Low Cost Financing
Montclair State University students & Employees can take advantage of any or all of the benefits available here at North Jersey Federal Credit Union.

- Free checking
- Great rate Share Savings Account
- Free Low rate Credit Cards*
- MAC ATM Card
- New & Used Car Loans
- New car buying services
- Telephone Account Proceeding (TAP)
- Financial Counseling/Planning
- Disney Discount Card
- Plus Much more
- non-use fee

Unlike traditional banks, we offer better service at the lowest possible cost. North Jersey Federal Credit Union is the answer to all of your financial needs.

As a student or employee here at Montclair State University, you and your family are eligible for the benefits and services of North Jersey Federal Credit Union. If you are interested in saving money call the Credit Union at 973-785-9200, just ask for Jackie Sturm @ x. 382 to get more details on how to become a member and take advantage of our valuable services.

Visit our web site at: www.njfcu.org or E-mail us at info@njfcu.org

Saturday, November 28
*Women’s Basketball vs. Kean University, 2 p.m.
*Men’s Basketball @ Carnegie Mellon Tournament
Wrestling @ Kutztown Invitational, PA
Men’s Hockey vs. Williams College, 3:30 p.m.

Sunday, November 29
Men’s Basketball @ Carnegie Mellon Tournament

Monday, November 30
Women’s Basketball vs. St. John’s University, 7 p.m.

Wednesday, December 2
*Women’s Basketball vs. Rutgers Camden, 6 p.m.
*Men’s Basketball vs. Rutgers Camden, 8 p.m.
ECAC Championships too little too late to salvage season

By Paul Lewiarski
Staff Writer

Once again, the defense of MSU stepped up behind a below average offensive effort to win the ECAC Championship. It was Keith Isza who had a game winning interception besides registering 11 tackles on the day. Isza was also named the MVP for the ECAC. MSU won the game 15-7 to end its below average season 8-3. Below average because this team should be in the NCAA playoffs and every senior and assistant coach on the MSU team knows it but because of a sour offense and a lack luster freshman quarter back, an 8-3 MSU could not compete with the better teams. Granted this is MSU's most successful season in the past five years, but will MSU ever be a great football team under the guidance of Coach Rick Giancola?

After all, this is a man who has made very critical decisions regarding this team within the past weeks. One, the offense is very poor in the sense that they do not have a passing game. Jason DeVirgilio did not post any consistent passing numbers all year. Yeah, he can hand the ball off to the offensive backs but can usually pass for 50 yards in a single drive in a critical game? I haven't seen it! It is worth mentioning that DeVirgilio has passed for 1370 yards for the year, but quarter backs on other playoff teams have passed for two to three times more than he has. It's great that he works hard and tries but talent and hard work is what wins championships not just hard working. The running game is the only offense that MSU seems to possess. I'm sorry, but there isn't a team in the Division III NCAA playoffs right now that has just won with only a running game. All the great teams possess running and passing games and coaches that know the difference.

Why does Coach Giancola feel differently? With Coach Giancola's 101-51-2(162) overall record and 62-23-7(729) and with 16 years of coaching experience, one would think that these types of flaws in judgment would stop, in fact they haven't. The fact remains that there isn't a single player on this team who has the courage to bring these issues to the surface. The MSU team would be better off if the players started voicing their concerns openly to the media rather than following the status quo like a bunch of sheep falling off a cliff. The team and the organization would be better off for it.

This is the second time that MSU has won the ECAC Championship. The last one came in 1993. MSU beat Dickinson College that year. The 8-3 record is the best that the team has registered since 1989. MSU headed into the locker room.

SEE FOOTBALL, ON P. 16

Men's Ice Hockey annihilates Seton Hall University

Game stopped at 12-2 due to Metropolitan League dignity rule

By Kara L. Richardson
Managing Editor

The only injury from Saturday night's game against Seton Hall was a sore wrist for the score keeper.

The 5-4 overall Red Hawks came into South Mountain Arena on a mission to lift the team one game closer to above .500. They succeeded, and how. The game had to be stopped with 11:29 remaining in the third period because MSU was winning 12-2. In the Metropolitan League, a dignity rule is in effect that does not allow a team to win by more than 10 points.

Anthony Rossillo began the scoring action at 9:16 in the first period. The powerhouse player was unassisted.

"Rossillo is a very gifted and talented player. He’s flashy and knows how to score goals," Coach Matthew Maniscalco said.

Trevor O’Donnell, who leads the team in penalty minutes dumped the second goal unassisted.

Less than a minute later, Seton Hall answered with a goal from Lucas, assisted by Enrico. The period ended with the belief that the game was going to be a close one. After a short break, it was determined that Montclair State had the upper hand in the match. The second period scoring frenzy began with John Baumgartner. The newbie on the team is carving his way into the record books and into the team play. Baumgartner tipped the puck assisted by Destefiano and Arena.

Rossillo scored his second goal only four seconds later.

The last Seton Hall goal was scored by the combination of Anderson and Barra.

MSU's own "legion of doom" Erik Caggiano, Rossillo and Mike Reavely knocked in a fifth goal for the team.

"Reavely and Rossillo complement each other’s style of play. Caggiano has made major strides this season and he’s not even at full till yet," Maniscalco said.

A beautiful wrap around by Sophomore Steve Green sealed Seton Hall’s chances for a come back. It pushed the Red Hawks to 6-2.

Rossillo broke through the Pirate defense again with a pass from O’Donnell. No hats were thrown on the ice since much of the crowd was unaware of the stats since the PA system was not in use.

"Three minutes later, Caggiano shot an unassisted bullet to make the game 8-2. Caggiano ended the period with two goals and two assists.

A brawl in front of the Seton Hall goal gave both the Red Hawks and the Pirates matching 4 minute matching roughing penalties. The three on three situation was a challenge for the Red Hawks. Although tired at first, Darren Kester logged another goal in for the Red Hawks.

The third period scoring action started with Nick Castrub's first and only goal of the night. The goal was assisted by Jody Devito, her first MSU career assist.

The Reavely, Caggiano, Rossillo line struck again when it reached 12-2 at 5:11.

The first career goal for Jody Devito stopped the third period short. The puck was tipped in off a reflection off of Nick Lawlor.

"I got to see how some of the players who haven’t had a lot of ice time perform. Matt Calderone had an outstanding game," Maniscalco said.

Kia Ko-Chicken switched with Peter Perkowski in goal for the short lived third period for the Red Hawks.

Hopefully this 12-2 victory will give the Red Hawks the confidence to carry through against William Patterson on Saturday. The puck drops at 3:30 at Floyd Hall Arena.

"William Patterson will be out for blood," Maniscalco said. The Red Hawks beat William Patterson twice in preseason scrimmages. "I hope we take it to the next level."