New parking plan drives overnight students to lot 28

By Christine Zielinski & Justin Vellucci
News Editor & Editor-In-Chief

Effective at 7 a.m. this morning, all resident and overnight parking will be restricted to lot 28, adjacent to Clove Road Apartments. The plan to redesign MSU’s existing parking policy was drafted by Dr. Karen Pennington, Vice President for Student Development and Campus Life, and Dr. Patricia Hewitt, Vice President of Business and Finance, and approved in late July by the Executive Council.

In addition to all residents being restricted to using lot 28, all off-campus guests and commuters in need of overnight parking will also be mandated to lot 28.

The new parking arrangement has been designed to improve campus safety, said Phil Calitre, Director of University Police and Security.

“By parking [the residents] in one area, we can provide more concentrated security coverage,” Calitre said.

Beside extended police coverage, residents will be provided with 24-hour shuttle bus and van service. A private security contractor, DMS Security, will also be guarding lot 28, security booths at all entrances, the Student Center Annex, and the Clove Rd. and Quinn Rd. security booths.

A contract was established with DMS after MSU’s previous security contractor, USA Security, proved problematic. “We’ve utilized every possible parking arrangement,” said Hewitt.

“A possible parking solution? Beginning this morning, 24-hour shuttle service will be provided to all students who require to park in lot 28. The guard booths will be operated by recently-contracted DMS Security.”

The key to this being successful is reliable shuttle service.

Desk Assistants secure dorms through the night

By Nick Chun
Staff Writer

Beginning this semester, residence hall Desk Assistants are now required to work 24-hour shifts, as a result of the cancellation of USA Security’s contract. In place of the former security system, a $70,000 card swipe system has been installed, according to Dr. Melinda O’Brien, Director of Residence Life.

Desk Assistant salaries increased from $5.25 to $6 an hour this semester as an incentive to work the 24-hour shifts.

The beginning of 24-hour DA security has been met with a string of staff resignations and many DA’s are concerned for their safety as well as the effect the late-night shifts will have on their performance in school.

Bohn Hall desk assistant, Kim Luca, sophomore said that early morning workers might choose sleep over academics.

“If they have an 8:00 class, they might not go to that,” Luca said.
Hurricane floods NJ beaches

By Jack Kaskey
Press of Atlantic City Staff Writer

Hurricane-whipped seas battered southern New Jersey beaches Tuesday, causing some beach erosion and bay flooding even as forecasters said conditions would get worse before they get better.

The high winds and rugged surf were the result of Hurricane Dennis, which slowed to a crawl off the North Carolina coast Tuesday, its path in the coming days uncertain.

Even with Dennis 300 miles south of Atlantic City, it was close enough Tuesday to send 5- to 10-foot-high breakers crashing onto Cape May County beaches.

Offshore, the hurricane was churning up 12 to 20 foot waves off Cape May County and 6 to 15 foot seas along the rest of the coast. "We're getting hit pretty hard," said Lou Ferrante, chief of Long Beach Township Beach Patrol. "But I can't tell how bad the beach erosion is until it all dies down." Dennis isn't expected to fade until early this weekend. If it makes landfall, its most likely path would take it over North Carolina, with a remote chance of it coming over southern New Jersey. Forecasters at the National Weather Service predict a 44 percent chance of Dennis coming within 65 miles of Cape Hatteras, N.C., through Friday night. The weather service said the chance of the hurricane coming within 65 miles of Atlantic City is 9 percent, most likely Thursday night.

Even with the hurricane lurking nearby, there were some sunny skies Tuesday. Many beaches remained open, with bathers limited to walking ankle-deep in the surf. That was the case in Atlantic City, where unusually high water forced lifeguard equipment at some beaches onto the Boardwalk. As in most beach communities Tuesday, Dennis' force waves were slowly eroding the Atlantic City beach, although it is difficult to assess the extent of the damage until the water recedes, said Bob Levy, chief of emergency services.

Officials were expecting beach erosion to increase if Dennis stalls too long.

The ocean has already reclaimed 100,000 cubic yards of sand that was spread on the Avalon beach between 9th and 10th streets this spring at a cost of roughly $700,000, said Harry deButts, Public Works director.

"Considering the wave action we are taking, I'm not surprised," deButts said.

In Cape May Point, Mayor Malcolm Fraizer estimated the Cape Avenue beach lost a foot of sand depth. The tide may bring the beach back, but if Dennis persists, the sand could be lost forever, Fraizer said.

Many of the barrier islands experienced flooding on the back bays Tuesday. Flooding is expected to be worse over the next couple days.

Many motorists, apparently oblivious to the damaging effects of salt water on trees, seen roaring through flooded stretches of Ocean Drive in Sea Isle City.

Class of 2003 maintains high admission standards

Though larger, the average SAT score and class rank of this year’s freshman class equal those of last year.

By Christine Zielinski
News Editor

Freshmen admissions have increased 20 percent since last year. The 1,350 students in the class of 2003 come from about a 40 mile radius, and there are more out of state students this year than last, said Alan Buechler, Director of Admissions.

“The average combined SAT score is 1100...and the average class rank is in the top quarter,” Buechler said. These numbers equal last year’s freshmen class, which contained approximately 1100 students.

It was unusual for the numbers of freshmen to increase and still maintain the quality of previous years, Buechler said.

The higher number is largely due to the admissions ambassadors, improved campus activities, and off-campus recruitment efforts in areas such as eastern Pa. and N.Y., Buechler said.

“Ambassadors are a critical part of our recruitment program,” Buechler said. “The activities also seem to really be beefed up, and that attracts students.”

“Moving in was not as stressful as people think it is,” a freshman chemistry major said. “I didn’t have to wait for an elevator at all [in Freeman].”

“Bohn Hall’s elevators broke down three times yesterday, and I’m in a triple. Enough said,” another freshman resident said.

“They’re very bright, warm, goal-oriented, and excited about being here,” Miranda DeStefano, a junior admissions ambassador said.

Last year, the SAT scores were higher than the average of the previous year, but half of the 6200 students who applied were not accepted.

The number of DA’s who have re-signed in the last week have caused several buildings to experience staff shortages.

Five Freeman/Russ Hall DA’s quit at the beginning of the Residence Life training session last week, cutting the staff from 21 to 16. The present staff of 16 will be covering shifts at both Freeman and Russ Halls because there are not enough DA’s to cover each building.

The crew covering desks at Webster and Stone are short-handed as well, DA Tynesha Mitchell, a junior, said.

Mitchell and other students working on short-handed staffs are stressed at the prospect of keeping the desk manned around the clock.

O’Brien said that students are not required to work the new shifts and employees should consult their supervisors if they are having difficulty managing their school schedules.

O’Brien informed employees that she had 15 years experience with the card swipe system and 24-hour DA security.

"It worked very well...the staff was not jeopardized," O’Brien said.

Some of the swipe-card units have been malfunctioning, but extra police have been monitoring the halls to compensate for the breakdown, O’Brien said.

Silent alarms were also installed under each residence hall desk in case of emergencies. The silent alarms, if triggered, will contact University Police and Security officials.

Students will do a better job guarding the halls than the private security agency, USA Security, did last year, O’Brien said.

"The quality of work that [USA Security] did didn’t affect the quality of life at their homes," O’Brien said.

While Freeman/Russ Hall Desk Assistant Andy Bott, sophomore, agreed with the cancellation of contract, he said that campus police should guard the desk.

"I can understand why they did it because the security last year was horrible," Bott said.

The MSU Board of Trustees is scheduled to inspect the new security systems in all residence halls on Sept. 9.

Putting the Pieces Together through New Student Orientation

By Lisa Gribbin

A s the upperclassmen at MSU were winding down their spring semester, counting the minutes until summer, the incoming freshmen were getting flyers in the mail about orientation, a mandatory 1 night, 2 day event for all new students.

The theme for this year's program was “Putting the Pieces Together.” Revolving around this theme were puzzle pieces of MSU components and how to fit them together.

New Student Experience, located in Morehead Hall, sponsored new student orientation. Dr. Felicia McGinty, the director of New Student Experience, and first year counselors Ken Wolpin, Laura Pascal, Monica Frizzary and June Giardina were in charge of various areas of programming.

Orientation Workshop Leaders (OWLS) were hired to work with the students on a more personal level. Each new student was assigned an OWL as a mentor for learning about MSU on a more down to earth level.

The two Super OWLS for this year's orientation staff were Karyn Deming and Carolyn Velchki. The OWLS were as follows: Curt Bannicki, Diedra Charles, Olashinde Fasehun, Rachel Fisher, Ryan Hodgins, Jess Leia, Susie Magro, Jenn McMenemy, Angela Miranda, Nore Ojogun, Nancy Protunena, Phil Strohmeyer, Tracy Tretu, Dayna Wisniewski and Al Zetterstrom.

Opinions about the OWLS were varied. One freshman, Christina Spatz, thought that “all of the OWLS had a positive attitude which helped create a comfortable atmosphere at an awkward time.”

Andrea Densham, a transfer student, believed differently. “I thought we would meet more people through the OWLS. There could have been more icebreakers.”

“Some of the OWLS acted like they did not want to be there, while others got involved and made orientation interesting,” stated Derek Macchia, a freshman student.

This program took place over a day and a half and taught about the basics and beyond of college life. Speakers from the various departments on campus, including Financial Aid, Athletic, and Residence Life, held seminars in which they addressed questions and concerns.

The main event of the program was registration. On the first evening students were given the ability to check open classes on computers in the Student Center lab. The next morning students went for advising and then hurried down to Student Center Annex 411 where they were able to call in to register.

A student expo, run by Chuck Feiner, Director of Student Activities, gave organizations a chance to get their name out and try to gain freshmen involvement within their club. New students were also given free items such as t-shirts, cups, pens, bumper stickers and informational folders.

During Welcome Week, Bobby Schaller takes a risk by sitting atop the dunk tank, patiently awaiting a fall into cold water.

At nighttime, the social lights were glaring with a DJ and a dance party held out in the Student Center quad with free pizza and drinks. Afterwards, the new students were obligated to return to Bohn Hall where they stayed overnight. A curfew was in effect, although many opted for no sleep at all.

Linda Ifrika felt the overnight stay was “like high school because of the 2 am curfew. It was a big sleepover party.”

Bill Gray, a freshman, agreed, stating, “I was irate over the curfew. It did not make sense that I could not just be free to walk around and see the school.”

This program did not only cater to freshmen. There was a parent track held for those parents wishing to participate. There was also a non-mandatory orientation for transfer students allowing them the chance to go on a campus tour, gain their alpha accounts and get their ID cards.

Welcome Week closed the summer programming for the new students. The theme was “Putting your best foot forward.” It was a three day agenda consisting of activities such as information sessions, caricature artists and a time for new student to reunite with their OWLS.

A department expo was held which gave students a chance to ask last minute questions and pick up some free resources like planners. An expo held by Food Services was also placed in the Blanton/Bohn Hall quad displaying various freebies such as cookies, key chains, juice and For Him/Her boxes.

The orientation as a whole gained positive feedback. Laura Pascal, a first year counselor, thought that “orientation provided an opportunity to reduce fears and anxiety. It also gave new students a chance to interact with the counselors and the OWLS to overcome the unknown.”

Justin Waddell, a freshman student, thought that “if you allowed yourself to have fun and learn from the programming it was rewarding.”

Others believed that the program was just too much. Linda Ifrika stated that, “overall, I did get the message, but they tried a little too hard. I think they wanted a whole lot of money. We could have done the program in a day.”
Getting back into the swing
Tips for a smooth transition into the Fall 1999 semester

By Carolyn Velchik
Feature Editor

As you are lying in your bed at night are you beginning to think about what your first class is going to be like or are you trying to redecorate your new room in your mind for the 100th time? If you are daydreaming about your significant other or anything else, STOP! Getting back into the swing should be first priority. If you are unsure of how to get back in gear or just plain forgot, here are some reminders for success.

• Cut back on partying, however if you do go out at night make sure that you do not have to get up early for class.
• Buy new school supplies so you'll be ready to do all your homework.
• Write down all your professors’ phone numbers in your phone book so if you have to miss class, you’ll have them handy. Your teachers will admire your responsible behavior for actually calling them.
• Try to sit towards the front of the class so you can hear clearly and take notes better and maybe even participate once or twice! Raise your hand and ask questions!
• As soon as you get the class syllabus, write down all important due dates in a planner so you can attempt to hand in all projects on time.
• Residents: buy a new pair of sneakers!! You might need them for that long walk back from lot 28.
• If you need to use the computer labs, either go early or late, trying to go midday might be a crowded experience.
• Try not to procrastinate... start things ahead of time so you don't stress out the night before your midterm or your two month long project is due.
• Get involved in campus life in order to learn new things and make new friends. Check out the Campus Calendar starting next week and look for fliers decorating the campus. Remember, there is something for everyone.
• Check with friends before buying books to see if they might have a textbook that you need. You might be able to convince the to give you fifty percent off. Hey, its more than book buy back!
• Go and visit an advisor. It can be your major advisor, an undeclared advisor or your first year counselor. Talk to them about classes and how things are moving along.
• Do not start to miss class now. Once you start, it becomes an unwanted habit. Keep in mind that it starts in groups. Do not be influenced to follow the crowd.
• If you do not have an e-mail account, get one. You can visit any lab on campus and a lab assistant with help you. Also, do not forget to pick up your student ID and your parking decal.
• Desk Assistants: Rest Up!! You have a long late night road ahead of you.
• Drop classes now!! If you do not like a class, get rid of it. Do not wait until you have paid fully for a class that you can no longer get your money back on because you missed the deadline.
• Always look for the best buy. Whether or not you have to buy books, an Ethernet card or pencils, always consider where your cheapest discount will be. Keep in mind that you are a poor college student! Do not overspend.
• Get internet for your room now. Do not wait. The line is growing as you read this article. Get on the ResNet website and fill out the application.
• Keep in mind that YOU have a voice. You may not believe that a student voice is much, but it can make all the difference. Do not be afraid to stand up for what you believe is ridiculous or unfair.

And finally, have fun and have a great semester!

A look at this summer's hottest hits and fattest flops

When dealing with the silver screen, there are famous blockbusters, major flops, and everything imaginable in between. This summer was no exception.

With special thanks to a good friend of mine, who just happened to work in a movie theatre this summer, I had the opportunity to catch most of the summer releases. Here are some of the best and worst films of the summer of 1999.

Let's begin at the beginning, with the largest movie of the summer and quite possibly in the history of film making, Star Wars: Episode I The Phantom Menace. The one true blockbuster of the summer, Star Wars Episode I Bracke box office records and the Star Wars saga has continued to entertain and amaze people for over three generations. And it's not very difficult to see why. The taunting previews, the aura of the world will ever see. Based on the comic book Dark Horse, this definitely held the comedy on the screen. Given the choice, it's definitely worth seeing.

That same week saw the release of The Sixth Sense. A phenomenal movie about a child (Hailey Ojam Osmert) who is able to see and communicate with dead people, and his doctor (Bruce Willis) who helps him confront and comfort these spirits. The Sixth Sense might have been one of the summer's most chilling films. Just seeing a portion of what this child must have gone through is enough to send shivers down almost anyone's spine. Though nothing could teach Star Wars this summer, this movie, with a bit of suspense and quite a surprising ending, had what it took to beat out even The Blair Witch Project (to be covered in next week's issue).

In mid-August, Steve Martin laid a lot on the line with his first solo written film since 1991, Bowfinger. Starring himself as a despicable movie-maker trying to get another film made, he hires a nerdy guy, Jiff, with no acting or movie experience to be his star all becase Jiff looks like celebrity Kit Ramsey (both parts played by Eddie Murphy). Bowfinger followed Martin's theatrical success as the playwright of Picasso at the Lapin Agile and proved that over twenty years after the hysterical The Jerk, he still has what it takes to keep the audiences laughing. With Steve Martin along side Eddie Murphy for the first time in film history, Bowfinger cannot be missed, even if just for history's sake.

Two weeks before the summer ended, Teaching Mrs. Tingle, the newest film by Kevin Williamson, was released. Williamson out-did himself on this one, creating a movie ten times worse than The Faculty, which was just a rip-off of many old alien invasion films. Bland, uneventful, and uninteresting, Teaching Mrs. Tingle should do just as well as other summer flops such as Instant and Deep Blue Sea. The title was changed from the original Killing Mrs. Tingle, but rather than kill the title, they should have killed the movie. A predictably, unpulsating plot teamed with foul acting created Williamson's worst work. Starring Kate Holmes and Helen Mirren, Teaching Mrs. Tingle only taught people how to sleep better in a movie theatre.

With the last week of summer came the last movies, including The 13th Warrior, starring Antonio Banderas. Based on a Michael Crichton novel (Eaters of the Dead), The 13th Warrior is wonderful. With incredible film effects, interesting scene transitions, touches of suspense, and a very strong storyline, Crichton has finally had a hand in his first good screen adaptation since Jurassic Park, achieving both co-writing and co-directing credits. It was also a pleasant surprise that Antonio Banderas was not the only shining hero of the movie, but rather an interesting character that worked with a team instead of standing alone. Crichton fans should not miss this one.

With all of the laughter, all of the tears, the moments I was at the edge of my seat, and the moments I was asleep, I will admit that I was more entertained than not, which is the job of the business. Job well done.
The Eye in the Sky: Traffic Reports with Chelsea Sobel

By Tiffany Klabin Palisi
Staff Writer

Chelsea Sobel walked into Starbucks Coffee in Upper Montclair and everyone stopped and stared. Not so much because of her lofty position as Good Day New York's traffic reporter or because of her stunning good looks, but because she has "it," a charisma that is ever present. Chelsea Sobel is New York's hippest traffic reporter, juggling three traffic gigs. She spends each weekday morning at Fox 5's Good Day New York and splits her afternoons between "Z100" (100.3 FM) and "Jammin" 105" (105.1 FM). Basically, if you need to get somewhere in a hurry, Chelsea will be the one to get you there.

It is hard to imagine how a young woman like Chelsea could land such a sought after position in the biggest media market in the country, New York City. She took the roundabout route, graduating from Dowling College with a degree in Social Sciences and then working for her father's company. "My dad is a hard worker and he always worked selflessly for us," asserts Chelsea.

Yet still, she knew she wanted more. Sobel studied communications and now flies a chopper for Metro Networks. "I fell into this, I really did," reports Chelsea. "A lot of radio stations won't give you an internship unless you're in college." Good thing she got that internship, because it led her to a position at Metro Networks, where she is currently employed, and landed her the morning show on WJHR (through Metro), which she stayed with for two years.

Chelsea seems to know her field and how Sobel maintains her upbeat character. "I really, really love it! I love what I do," informs Sobel. "You don't want to be in it for the glory. If you're going to be in this career, you've got to be in it because you want to do it, and that's it." Sobel is not all work and no play, although you might wonder where she finds the time to be together, Chelsea replied. "I'm always thinking of the road ahead, I asked her to look into her crystal ball and tell me what she sees. "I am never, never satisfied. As soon as I got the 100.3 gig, then Fox, it was like, a month later I was thinking, when can I do news?" Apparently, her future will not be limited to her current position, informing Sobel, "You don't want to be in investigative news reporting, then I want to anchor, then I'd like to anchor a network, then I want to do a morning show." Curious about the road ahead, I asked Chelsea to talk about her life at Starbucks.

The Voice of Montclair State

Are you happy with the changes that you found around campus since the end of last semester?

"I'm happy to see that the administration is making changes they feel will benefit the campus, whether they [the changes] do or not."
Bill Guardino, SGA Director of Services

"They could have made these changes during the year so the students would have had a say."
Emi Tsumura, Mathematics Education

"Nobody knew it [the changes] was going on. It was a big surprise and it's been chaotic around here."
Will Devone, Psychology

"It's upsetting about the parking. We had to wait a half hour for a bus. It should be changed."
Eva Cirilo, Undeclared

"Maybe if there had been a survey done about this it wouldn't be so bad. Parking is worse and very unsafe, especially for women. The administration know that the bus doesn't come around every 15 minutes. It's more like every 30 minutes."
Makeda Breedy, Marketing

Restricted Parking Leaves Students Concerned For Their Safety

It's not unreasonable to assume that the most noticeable change since last semester is the residential parking restriction to lot 28. Okay, so maybe students also noticed the not so fresh, or at least not so eye friendly, coat of paint that was slapped on the walls of the Blanton Café or the new so-called security system installed in the residence halls. But the thought of the almost mile and a half hike to lot 28 causes more worries than the color of the walls we have to stare at when we eat.

For most students, the first thought that comes to mind when hearing of the parking situation is, "I have to park where?". Let's face it, if you're a resident, the thought of trekking down to Clove Road in the rain, ice, and snow, or waiting for the most unreliable shuttle buses sounds less than appealing. Everyone is already dreading the waiting (and waiting, and waiting...). The hiking.

What about Safety? If you think about it, the only thing that sounds worse than taking so long to get to your car is getting there and finding it vandalized. All right, there are worse things to think about. What happens when, upon returning from work at 1o'clock in the morning, the bus never seems to come and you decide to take that long walk down the dimly lit Clove Road and...

You fill in the blank.

Why is it that the University is not as passionate about our safety as they should be? Perhaps it's because when the faculty and staff leave their offices they're only a hop, skip and a jump away from their cars. At most, they have to walk to the other side of the faculty lot. How unsafe.

What do you think happens when the same people who come up with this "solution" get home? I'm sure that they don't have to park a mile and a half away from their front door. It's funny that they feel it is all right that the students who call MSU their home for nine months out of the year should.

Not only is the new system unfair and unsafe, it's down right confusing. Can someone please tell us how to go about getting our guests "pre-approved" to park? It's bad enough that we pay $35.00, the same price as commuters, to park off campus. Now our guests are being forced to join in on the chaos. Watch out for the signs posted in the on-campus lots that contain specific parking hours yet also read "24 hour parking". Obviously not the residents.

No matter what reasons the university found valid to create a restriction on parking, it's hard to imagine that there is something so major that outweighs the well-being and general safety of the people who are the core contributors to campus life.

The Montclairian's Strength as a Voice for All Students

Justin VELLUCCHI

Editor-in-Chief

The wonderful and notable part of this editorial, however, is that the front page contained a survey to be filled out by students and faculty and sent back to Montclair, in order to get the parking problem brought to the attention of the "campus bigwigs who make the decisions," as Pendley called them. Surveys like this were common in Montclair's past and speak volumes about the newspaper's capacity not only to gather information but to provide an open forum for student issues.

Let's wander back to September 2, 1999. Lot 28 and the replacement of USA Security guards with 24-hour coverage by student Desk Assistant, shuttle bus service and reminders of Clove Road Apartment residents among other things, have been ongoing since Spring 1999, a campus-wide issue. Student and faculty being questioned whether their safety is more important than a repaved parking spot, whether students are capable of making a difference, even in the administration's mind.

I would ask that each and every student Sit down and say to yourself, "Why did they do this?" Does this school care about me or my safety at all?"

But wait! The administration has another "solution" to the problem - forcing all resident students to park in Clove Road Lot 28 over night. The administration will put up the old guard towers and solve the old problems, and have our on-campus students in danger - continuing MSU's history of dumping on its resident students. There are a million reasons to be worried about student safety, but the number one reason should be horrifying to any person who is not blind to the facts. It is mind-numbing to think that the administration would have such a lack of concern for the safety of its own students that it would force them to park at the Clove Road parking lot and face the possibility of walking to their residence halls.

Resident students do not spend their entire lives on campus. They work, they go out to eat. They go out to visit friends and family, and this means that many of them will be returning to campus at all hours of the night. The distance from that parking lot, to Freeman and Ross Hall is approximately a mile to a mile and a half. To walk it takes 20 minutes. At 3 a.m. it will feel like 20 hours. But wait! The administration has another "solution" for this problem. Shuttle service will now be 24-hours, and you will show up with increased frequency so students won't have to walk. Also, new emergency phones will be put in at lot 28, some will even have 24-hour security guard at the booth near the entrance of the lot, ensuring your safety! It must be so nice for them to sit behind their desks and speak of how great everything will work, and how safe everyone will be so that they don't have to experience it.

While the administration has its delusions of grandeur about their new safety measures, the students of this university who actually have to live here, and not "The Voice of a Select Few," I hope that the student newspaper and more of its resident students. They work. They go out to eat. They go out to have to walk. Also, new emergency phones will be put in approximately a mile to a mile and a half. To walk it takes cold, a check for tuition or room and board, a name in a building directory, and an ID number registering for parking. We, as individuals and as students, must take our responsibility to voice our selves - a sentiment that I believe, sometimes, only in this, that we hold our true strengths and our ability to affect any degree of change.
President Cole welcomes students back to MSU

I want to wish new and returning students a warm welcome to Montclair State University for the 1999-2000 academic year. For new students, expect the first few weeks to be a little confusing and hectic. That’s normal. Ask as many questions as you need to get the answers you need, and remember that your First Year Counselor is there for you if the system is not working for you for some reason, you can always seek out the Dean of Student Services, Dr. Helen Matsumow-Ayres.

For returning students, I hope you will enjoy the improvements to the campus environment that have been put in place for this fall. Your student leadership has been very effective and diligent in communicating some of the concerns of students and in working with the administration to make changes.

For example, in response to student requests, library hours have been extended this fall. The library is now open on weekdays from 8 AM to 11:45 PM (8 PM on Friday). Weekend hours are 9 AM to 5 PM on Saturday and noon to 9 PM on Sunday.

Shuttle bus service has been increased, with buses running every 17 minutes to and from Lot 28 24 hours a day, including weekends. The Lot 28 bus will make stops convenient for residential students at Blanton Hall, Clove Road Apartments, the Freeman/Root Hall area, and the Student Center. A complete schedule can be obtained from any shuttle bus driver.
The Student Center has been equipped with new lounge furniture and other amenities throughout the building, new carpeting and paint.

Provisions have been made for 24-hour Annex access for student organizations. A new $2.5 million building, the Annex, has been designed to provide evening students with access to more services.

In wellness care, we have tried to focus your attention on three significant health priorities—prevention of infection with the HIV/AIDS virus; prevention of an unplanned pregnancy or assisting you in planning a healthy one; and, early identification of problems with psychoactive substances (alcohol, tobacco, and other drugs).

Your personal decisions about each of these priorities will have a large measure affect your ability to enjoy a healthy, happy and productive life.

It is my hope that you have felt cared for and cared about in your interactions with me and my colleagues at the Health and Wellness Center, the Counseling and Psychological Services (CAPS) and our new Emergency Medical Services (EMS). Most rewarding has been the opportunity to come to know and care about so many of you. It is a special gift to me to have been able to join you in the adventure of your life while you are a student at MSU.

I am so honored to have been one who could have witnessed to your challenges, your pain and your personal growth as you have been a member of your community. I leave you to go to the exciting challenge of putting together another wellness model at William Paterson University. Since we didn’t get a chance to say goodbye in person, I’d love to do so at least in a phone call or e-mail. My phone number at the Health and Wellness Center at WP/US 1973) 720-2360 and my e-mail address is ellsonn@wpunj.edu.

I hope you’ll have a great new-millennium academic year and I wish you health, happiness and great success.

President Cole

And the lot 28 complaints begin...

To Whom It May Concern:

I am probably one of a thousand people writing about this new rule that Montclair has come up with in an effort to make parking for commuters more efficient. I am a resident on campus and I have to say that this new rule is both unfair and unsafe for those of us who live on campus. Although I am only a sophomore, I have still had a year to experience the parking problems.

I think that making all residents park in the Clove Road Apartment parking lot is an unfair decision on the part of the school. After all that happened last year, do they honestly think that by saying they will have more security and 24 hour shuttle buses every single day will be safe? I understand that they are concerned that the commuters are late for school due to parking problems, but it is not right to do this to the residents who pay almost double the tuition costs to live on campus.

We (campus residents) do not get all the best spots. We too have to fight for a parking space somewhere closer to school rather than downtown. I hope you’ll give your petition a hearing.

10 Simple Ways To Spice Up Your Sex Life

By Chris Finegan

All hail Yogi Berra, King of Mountclair State University.

Have you ever said to yourself, “My sex life isn’t what I’d like it to be”? Well, whether you believe it or not, you aren’t alone. So if your answer is yes, read on. If your answer is no, I’m sure you’d read on anyway - just for kicks. Pervert.

You’ve been warned. Now you can’t sue me, you bastards.

I saw this in the Sports Section of The Sunday Star Ledger one fine morning. I suppose I could be gravely mistaken about this, but somehow, “Mother’s Day” does not conjure up images of Mom in a thong. This DOES, however, prove that someone out there is more clueless than I am. I find that comforting.

By: Mr. PANHEAD

The Horoscope Never Lies

VIRGO (Aug 23 to Sep 22) - Let out this Labor Day weekend. ‘Tis a deep, rich time. You look great, but you hear too much noise. The two weeks, your skin is so dry that you’d look like a beet.

LIBRA (Sep 23 to Oct 22) - You’ll be struck before an orange square with 80° in the left time. Rinse them off the road. ‘Tis so hot, this is a lemon, greater Horoscope. Surf out one of their times. They’re that it’s a long time.

SCORPIO (Oct 23 to Nov 21) - The position of the stars indicates that you will get your penis kicked. Oops, I think I read that wrong. ‘You’ll either get your penis kicked or see the bating. ‘These stars can be damn hard to read.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov 22 to Dec 21) - You are in for a big surprise when you wake up with silicone breast implants. ‘Mostly smells for the nonmale, Robinson life of a person size.

CAPRICORN (Dec 22 to Jan 19) - There is turmoil in your future. ‘Your companions push your buttons down the stairs when you are sleeping. ‘You wake up just in time to meet a terrifying deadline before you smack into a wall.

AQUarius (Jan 20 to Feb 18) - ‘Way more clueless than I am. I find that comforting.

PISCES (Feb 19 to Mar 20) - You are comfortable with the buddy who has the glass. ‘You peer into the glass with others. ‘Go to the road of the Student Center and show AIII your butt.

The following column contains adult topics and may not be suitable for some readers. Discretion is advised. There, you’ve been warned. Now you can’t see me, you bastards.

I’ve got the good life as the rest of the campas. No to a asked for it!

I would say, “Well, that’s a start,” but the point is, I’m firmly planted behind the counter for the next academic year, and I’m just writing with or without your support. If you don’t like it, sorry, but there isn’t much I can do. You’ve got a lot more control than I have. You’ve got the uncaniny ability to skip completely over my section. All I can do is type as fast and (OW!) furious as I can because (OW!) the other editors have surrounded (OW!) and they’re whipping me. They keep (OW!) yelling, “Faster! Faster!” You call that HUMOUR? (OW!) you slowly toad (OW! That really hurts!) Don’t I at least get some Bactine? (I’m (OW!) warning you now right if that (OW!) what your reading doesn’t wet your noodle, you should (OW!) probably stop right now. It’s going to get worse.

Number Six - What’s that god awful smell? Is that you!? Some of you are probably wondering where I get all these strange ideas for columns, horoscopes, and advertisements. It’s not something I’m eating, drinking, smoking, snorting, injecting, or absorbing. I can tell you that much. I’ve changed my diet and habits several times, and I’m still this weird. No, I wasn’t the kid in the back of the classroom eating paste. I was the person who got you to see me? I (OW!) get your answer is no, I’m sure you’ll read on. If your answer is yes, I’m sure you’d read on anyway - just for kicks. Pervert.

Number One - Is that a spiral cut ham or are you just happy to see me? I suppose I should level with you. This column isn’t about sex or drugs or a lack of sobriety. This is called “cheap humour” (Well, anyway, I am.)

We’re a bunch of clods with no social skills (Well, anyway, I am.) Everyone is going to get the joke or even think it’s funny. Maybe you don’t think I’m funny at all. For all I know, you aren’t even reading this. Under normal circumstances, I would say, “Well, that’s a start,” but the point is, I’m firmly planted behind the counter for the next academic year, and I’m just writing with or without your support. Number Two - You want me to do WHAT? That filthy! You’re sick! I don’t think you’re great, but you hear too much noise. The two weeks, your skin is so dry that you’d look like a beet.

Number Three - I didn’t think it was supposed to be that color. It looks orange. I’ve got the good life as the rest of the campas. No to a asked for it!

Number Four - You say you’ll look better later. I like beer very much. Like beer very much. Brandy, 80-proof rum, and e.o.- old man a scotch, kid.” So, obviously, that can’t be the reason either.

I’m lucky that I have my own column that I write and I’ll continue to do it. You’ve got the uncaniny ability to skip completely over my section. All I can do is type as fast and (OW!) furious as I can because (OW!) the other editors have surrounded (OW!) and they’re whipping me. They keep (OW!) yelling, “Faster! Faster!” You call that HUMOUR? (I’m (OW!) warning you now right if that (OW!) what your reading doesn’t wet your noodle, you should (OW!) probably stop right now. It’s going to get worse.

Number Five - Okay, stop. Where did that midget come from? Obviously, everyone is going to get the joke or even think it’s funny. Maybe you don’t think I’m funny at all. For all I know, you aren’t even reading this. Under normal circumstances, I would say, “Well, that’s a start,” but the point is, I’m firmly planted behind the counter for the next academic year, and I’m just writing with or without your support. Number Seven - 1 don’t think you’re that much hair there. Most men have at least some chest hair. Some are wild and woolly and have a chest so big that they can’t be the reason either. As he gripped the chair with white knuckles, eyes bugged out, sweat pouring down his chest. Brandy, 80-proof rum, and e.o.- old man a scotch, kid.” So, obviously, that can’t be the reason either.

number ten - i am not inviting my roommate in here! let's see, i told you it wasn't going to be about sex. i explained my eccentricity. i told you about my 'beer-tap-in-the-shower' idea. oh, yeah. last but not least is my tip! i'm positive that some of you out there are way funnier than i am. if you think you are, email me. the worst i can do is say, "i'm sorry, but it's just not what we're looking for." well, no, the worst i could say is something like, "aaarrrggghh! i have prove that there is no god! i can feel my soul draining from my body!" but i wouldn't do that. i'm not really a bad guy. and you might be bigger than me.

so try these tips and have a happier, spicier sex life. just remember to be careful because if you aren't, see these days can give you a fatal affliction. like a kid.

THE END OF A SUCCESSFUL SEASON: Zinn scrambles for a three-yard gain during the second quarter of the Montclair-Trenton match. Despite an outstanding effort, the Montclair State Teacher's College Red Devils were stopped in their tracks by Trenton's defense and lost their second game of the eight-game season. The Pelican sports writing staff, led by Sports Editor Herbert Lipsitz, called the 1934 Red Devils "the greatest team to represent Montclair State Teachers College on the gridiron" to date, despite the team's final loss.

Baseball makes 18th consecutive NCAA tournament appearance; Track & Field's Wheeler and Brenner gain All-American awards

By Tess Sterling
Sports Editor

Baseball (28-18)
Head Coach: Norm Schoenig

Montclair State University has seen one of its baseball players selected on the first day of the Major League Baseball draft.

Right-handed pitcher Chris Keelin was selected in the 16th round by the Philadelphia Phillies.

Keelin is the first pitcher to be named an All-American and was drafted in the 16th round by the Philadelphia Phillies.

Softball (37-18)
Head Coach: Anita Kubicka

MSU's softball team finished the season just one win shy of the record for the most wins.

The Red Hawks had a spectacular year but were two wins shy of making the college softball series.

MSU ended their season as the New Jersey Athletic Conference runner-up, losing in the championship game, and finishing third at the NCAA Atlantic Regional playoffs.

Individual achievements include two softball All-Americans in senior catcher Jamie Lascik and junior infielder Tara Woz.

Lascik set the single-season batting average record at .562, and was named the NJAC and ECAC Softball Player of the Year.

Women's Lacrosse (5-8)
Head Coach: Dawn Strunk

The MSU women's lacrosse team continued to experience difficulty in the second year of its return after a 10-year hiatus.

The team added new players and a new coach. The Red Hawks went 1-6 to start the season, but ended the year on a better note winning four of its last six games.

Men's Lacrosse (5-9)
Head Coach: Doug Ahlstrom

After starting 3-2, the MSU men's lacrosse team had a double overtime loss to Richard Stockton and never seemed to recover, winning two of its last nine games. The Red Hawks did accomplish a rare goal in early April when they shutout Centenary College 18-0.

Men's Tennis (6-5)
Head Coach: Anthony Shortt

MSU's men's tennis started off slowly but came out swinging in the end to have its first winning record under four-year Head Coach Anthony Shortt.

The Red Hawks had a five-game winning streak in the middle of the season, and finished the year with a 5-0 win over SUNY New Paltz. MSU also finished first in the Manhattanville Valiant Open and finished third in the NJAC Championship Tournament, which Montclair State hosted for the third consecutive year.

Men's and Women's Track and Field Head Coach: Bennie Benson

MSU track and field had a spectacular season, as the team continued to increase its size and had many individual achievements. Junior Ed Wheeler participated in the NCAA national meet in Ohio in his first year under Head Coach Bennie Benson.

Sophomore Janice Brenner accompanied Wheeler at the national championships, earning athletic and academic All-American awards for her performances on and off the field.

Red Hawk Pitcher drafted by Philadelphia in 16th round

Keelin is first MSU All-American since '89

By Tess Sterling
Sports Editor

For the second consecutive year, Montclair State University has seen one of its baseball players selected on the first day of the Major League Baseball draft.

Right-handed pitcher Chris Keelin was selected in the 16th round by the Philadelphia Phillies. Last year, first baseman Shawn McCorkle was picked in the seventh round by the Philadelphia Phillies.

Keelin is first MSU All-American since '89.

Montclair State's head baseball coach, Norm Schoenig, spoke highly of Keelin and his dedication to hard work.

"Chris was 120 percent better this year than last, and worked extremely hard to become the pitcher he is today. Now he has a chance to show his stuff at the next level, and I'm very happy for him and his family."
