New parking plan drives overnight students to lot 28

By Christina Zielinski & Justin Velecci
News Editor & Editor-in-Chief

Effective at 7 a.m. this morning, all resident and overnight parking will be restricted to lot 28, adjacent to Clove Road Apartments. The plan to redesign MSU's existing parking policy was drafted by Dr. Karen Pennington, Vice President for Student Development and Campus Life, and Dr. Patricia Hewitt, Vice President of Business and Finance, and approved in late July by the Executive Council.

In addition to all residents being restricted to using lot 28, all off-campus guests and commuters in need of overnight parking will also be mandated to lot 28.

The new parking arrangement has been designed to improve campus safety, said Phil Calitre, Director of University Police and Security.

"By parking [the residents] in one area, we can provide more concentrated security coverage," Calitre said.

Calitre also claimed that University Police and Security were "very positive and very enthused" at working with DMS Security.

A schedule of the shuttle buses' arrivals and departures to and from lot 28 will be released to students "within a week or so," said Pennington. The estimated time for a shuttle to make its rounds from the Student Center to lot 28, according to an August trial run, is 16 minutes.

"The intention was to run the shuttle buses every five to seven minutes," said Pennington. "That's not going to happen.

In addition to running five buses during the day, and fewer at night, van services will be provided during late-night hours.

"If the 15 passenger van service is inadequate then we will go back to the buses," said Pennington.

A POSSIBLE PARKING SOLUTION: Beginning this morning, 24-hour shuttle service will be provided to all students who are required to park in lot 28. The guard booths will be operated by recently-contracted DMS Security.

Beginning this semester, residence hall Desk Assistants are now required to work 24-hour shifts, as a result of the cancellation of USA Security's contract. In place of the former security system, a $70,000 card swipe system has been installed, according to Dr. Melinda O'Brien, Director of Residence Life.

Desk Assistant salaries increased from $5.25 to $6 an hour this semester as an incentive to work the 24-hour shifts.

The beginning of 24-hour DA security has been met with a string of staff resignations and many DA's are concerned for their safety as well as the effect the late-night shifts will have on their performance in school.

Bohn Hall desk assistant, Kim Loca, sophomore said that early morning workers might choose sleep over academics.

"If they have an 8:00 class, they might as well have left it at home. It would have been closer.

Another issue facing administrators presented with the new parking plan is inclement weather and its effect on the campus parking lots.

"There are approximately 800-1000 cars that are parked on campus overnight. This makes it difficult for snow removal when we have cars sporadically parked in the lots," Calitre said.

Students concerned about safety issues or complaints regarding the new parking plan can contact University Police and Security at 655-5222.

Hurricane floods NJ beaches

By Jack Kaskey
Press of Atlantic City Staff Writer

Hurricane-whipped seas battered southern New Jersey beaches Tuesday, causing some beach erosion and bay flooding even as forecasters said conditions will get worse before they get better.

The high winds and rugged surf were the result of Hurricane Dennis, which slowed to a crawl off the North Carolina coast Tuesday, its path in the coming days uncertain.

Even with Dennis 300 miles south of Atlantic City, it was close enough Tuesday to send 8- to 10-foot-high footbreakers crashing onto Cape May County beaches.

Offshore, the hurricane was churning up 12 to 20 foot waves off Cape May County and 6 to 15 foot seas along the rest of the coast.

“We’re getting hit pretty hard,” said Lou Ferrante, chief of Long Beach Township Beach Patrol. “But I can’t tell how bad the beach erosion is until it all dies down.”

Dennis isn’t expected to fade until early this weekend. If it makes landfall, its most likely path would take it over North Carolina, with a remote chance of it coming over southern New Jersey.

Forecasters at the National Weather Service predict a 44 percent chance of Dennis coming within 65 miles of Cape Hatteras, N.C., through Friday Night. The weather service said the chance of the hurricane coming within 65 miles of Atlantic City is 9 percent, most likely Thursday night.

Even with the hurricane lurking nearby, there were some sunny skies Tuesday. Many beaches remained open, with bathers limited to walking ankle-deep in the surf.

That was the case in Atlantic City, where unusually high water forced lifeguard equipment at some beaches onto the Boardwalk.

As in most beach communities Tuesday, Dennis’ fierce waves were slowly eroding the Atlantic City beach, although it is difficult to assess the extent of the damage until the water recedes, said Bob Levy, chief of emergency services.

Please check for the police report next week.

Please check for the police report next week.

In October 1985, 63 “Class One” offenses were reported to Campus Police, including seven assaults, seven burglaries, 38 larcenies, and 11 motor vehicle thefts, marking the month as having the highest crime rate in Montclair State history.

The number of offenses was up from 55 offenses in September, and had increased threefold from figures taken only two years before, according to Lt. Michael Postaski.

“Our force is doing a 200 percent job considering the fact that our responsibilities have increased dramatically,” said Chief Jayne Levy of Campus Police.

In 1984, Montclair State had the second highest crime rate among 13 colleges listed in the University and College Offense Data (UCOD). The highest crime rate in the UCOD belonged to Rutgers University in New Brunswick.

Though the primary campus safety issue at the time was auto theft, for which Montclair State had the highest rate among New Jersey state colleges from 1981 - 1983, of particular interest was a robbery that took place on September 29, 1985.

A 5:31 p.m., a female Clove Road resident walking through lot 28 was the victim of a robbery. She was approached by a man who grabbed her purse and then fled only after threatening her if she reported the incident.

Though the crime rate would reach its peak in 1985, Campus Police asked, in the November 8, 1984 edition of The Montclarion, that, to help lower the frequency of on-campus crimes, students should be mindful of personal property and their surroundings.

“We can’t patrol everywhere on campus,” said Rich. “We need people to be our eyes and ears by reporting everything suspicious.”

Campus Police asked resident students to call 655-7616 “as much as possible,” according to Rich, due to the high number of crimes that took place in campus parking lots.

Class of 2003 maintains high admission standards

Though larger, the average SAT score and class rank of this year’s freshman class equal those of last year.

By Christine Zielinski
News Editor

Freshmen admissions have increased 20 percent since last year. The 1,350 students in the class of 2003 come from about a 40-mile radius, and there are more out of state students this year than last, said Alan Buechler, Director of Admissions.

“The average combined SAT score is 1100...and the average class rank is in the top quarter,” Buechler said. These numbers equal last year’s freshmen class, which contained approximately 1100 students.

It was unusual for the numbers of freshmen to increase and still maintain the quality of previous years, Buechler said.

The higher number is largely due to the admissions ambassadors, improved campus activities, and off-campus recruitment efforts in areas such as eastern Pa. and N.Y., Buechler said.

“Ambassadors are a critical part of our recruitment program,” Buechler said. “The activities also seem to really be beefed up, and that attracts students.”

“Moving in was not as stressful as people think it is,” a freshman chemistry major said. “I didn’t have to wait for an elevator at all [in Freeman].”

“Bohn Hall’s elevators broke down three times yesterday, and I’m in a triple. Enough said,” another freshman resident said.

“They’re very bright, warm, goal-oriented, and excited about being here,” Miranda DeStefano, a junior admissions ambassador said.

Last year, the SAT scores were higher than the average of the previous year, but half of the 6200 students who applied were not accepted.

Residence Life employees prepare to replace USA Security on late-night shifts

The number of DA's who have resigned in the last week have caused several buildings to experience staff shortages.

Five Freeman/Russ Hall DA's quit at the beginning of the Residence Life training session last week, cutting the staff from 21 to 16. The present staff of 16 will be covering shifts at both Freeman and Russ Halls because there are not enough DA's to cover each building.

The crew covering desks at Webster and Stone are shorthanded as well, DA Tyasha Mitchell, a junior, said.

Mitchell and other students working on short-handed staffs are stressed at the prospect of keeping the desk manned around the clock.

O'Brien said that students are not required to work the new shifts and employees should consult their supervisors if they are having difficulty managing their school schedules.

O'Brien informed employees that she had 15 years experience with the card swipe system and 24-hour DA security.

"It worked very well...the staff was not jeopardized," O'Brien said.

Some of the swipe-card units have been malfunctioning, but extra police have been monitoring the halls to compensate for the breakdown, O'Brien said.

Silent alarms were also installed under each residence hall desk in case of emergencies. The silent alarms, if triggered, will contact University Police and Security officials.

Students will do a better job guarding the halls than the private security agency, USA Security, did last year, O'Brien said.

"The quality of work that [USA Security] did didn't affect the quality of life at their homes," O'Brien said.

While Freeman/Russ Hall Desk Assistant Andy Bott, sophomore, agreed with the cancellation of contract, he said that campus police should guard the desk.

"I can understand why they did it because the security last year was horrible," Bott said.

The MSU Board of Trustees is scheduled to inspect the new security systems in all residence halls on Sept. 9.

Putting the Pieces Together through New Student Orientation

By Lisa Gribbin
Assistant Feature Editor

As the upperclassmen at MSU were winding down their spring semester, counting the minutes until summer, the incoming freshmen were getting flyers in the mail about orientation, a mandatory 1-night, 2-day event for all new students.

The theme for this year's program was "Putting the Pieces Together." Revolving around this theme were puzzle pieces of MSU components and how to fit them together.

New Student Experience, located in Morehead Hall, sponsored new student orientation. Dr. Felicia McGinty, the director of New Student Experience, and first-year counselors Ken Wolpin, Laura Pascal, Monica Irizarry, and June Giardina were in charge of various areas of programming.

Orientation Workshop Leaders (OWLS) were hired to work with the students on a more personal level. Each new student was assigned an OWL as a mentor for learning about MSU on a more down-to-earth level.

The two Super OWLS for this year's orientation staff were Karyn Deming and Carolyn Velchik. The OWLS were as follows: Curt Banicki, Diedra Charles, Olashinde Fasehun, Rachel Fisher, Ryan Hodglin, Jess Leidy, Susie Magro, Jenn McMurry, Angela Mirante, Nore Ojogun, Nancy Protusienia, Phil Strohmeyer, Tracy Tretu, Dayna Winiarski, and Al Zetterstrom.

Opinions about the OWLS varied. One freshman, Christina Spatz, thought that "all of the OWLS had a positive attitude which helped create a comfortable atmosphere at an awkward time."

Andrea Desham, a transfer student, believed differently. "I thought we would meet more people through the OWLS. There could have been more ice-breakers." "Some of the OWLS acted like they did not want to be there, while others got involved and made orientation interesting," stated Derek Macchia, a freshman student.

This program took place over a day and a half and taught about the basics and beyond of college life. Speakers from the various departments on campus, including Financial Aid, Athletic, and Residence Life, held seminars in which they addressed questions and concerns.

The main event of the program was registration. On the first evening students were given the ability to check open classes on computers in the Student Center. The next morning students went for advising and then hurried down to Student Center Annex 411 where they were able to call in to register.

A student expo, run by Chuck Feiner, Director of Student Activities, gave organizations a chance to get their name out and try to gain freshmen involvement within their club. New students were also given free items such as t-shirts, cups, pens, bumper stickers, and informational folders.

At nighttime, the social lights were glowing with a DJ and a dance party held out in the Student Center quad with free pizza and drinks. Afterwards, the new students were obligated to return to Bohn Hall where they stayed overnight. A curfew was in effect, although many opted for no sleep at all. Linda Iferika felt the overnight stay was "like high school because of the 2 am curfew. It was a big sleepover party."

Bill Gray, a freshman, agreed, stating, "I was irate over the curfew. It did not make sense that I could not just be free to walk around and see the school."

This program did not only cater to freshmen. There was a parent track held for those parents wishing to participate. There was also a non-mandatory orientation for transfer students allowing them the chance to go on a campus tour, gain their alpha accounts and get their ID cards.

Welcome Week closed the summer programming for the new students. The theme was "Putting your best foot forward." It was a three-day agenda consisting of activities such as information sessions, caricature artists, and a time for new students to reunite with their OWLS.

A department expo was held which gave students a chance to ask last minute questions and pick up some free resources like planners. An expo held by Food Services was also placed in the Blanton/Bohn Hall quad displaying various freebies such as cookies, key chains, juice and For Him/Her boxes.

The orientation as a whole gained positive feedback. Laura Pascal, a first-year counselor, thought that "orientation provided an opportunity to reduce fears and anxiety. It also gave new students a chance to interact with the counselors and the OWLS to overcome the unknown." Justin Waddell, a freshman student, thought that "if you allowed yourself to have fun and learn from the programming it was rewarding."

Others believed that the program was just too much. Linda Iferika stated that, "overall, I did get the message, but they tried a little too hard. I think they wasted a little bit of money. We could have done the program in a day."
Getting back into the swing
Tips for a smooth transition into the Fall 1999 semester

By Carolyn Velchik
Feature Editor

As you are lying in your bed at night are you beginning to think about what your first class is going to be like or are you trying to redecorate your new room in your mind for the 100th time?

If you are daydreaming about your significant other or anything else, STOP! Getting back into the swing should be first priority. If you are unsure of how to get back in gear or just plain forgot, here are some reminders for success.

• Cut back on partying, however if you do go out at night make sure that you do not have to get up early for class.
• Buy new school supplies so you'll be ready to do all your homework.
• Write down all your professors' phone numbers in your phone book so if you have to miss class, you'll have them handy. Your teachers will admire your responsible behavior for actually calling them.
• Try to sit towards the front of the class so you can hear clearly and take notes better and maybe even participate once or twice! Raise your hand and ask questions!
• As soon as you get the class syllabus, write down all important due dates in a planner so you can attempt to hand in all projects on time.
• Residents: buy a new pair of sneakers!! You might need them for that long walk back from lot 28.
• If you need to use the computer labs, either go early or late, trying to go midday might be a crowded experience.
• Try not to procrastinate... start things ahead of time so you don't stress out the night before your midterm or your two month long project is due.
• Get internet for your room now. Do not wait. The line is growing as you read this article. Get on the ResNet website and fill out the application.
• Keep in mind that YOU have a voice. You may not believe that a student voice is much, but it can make all the difference. Do not be afraid to stand up for what you believe is ridiculous or unfair.

And finally, have fun and have a great semester!

A  look at this summer's hottest hits and fattest flops

Michael Finnerty
Arts Editor

When dealing with the silver screen, there are famous blockbusters, major flops, and everything imaginable in between. This summer was no exception. With special thanks to a good friend of mine, who just happened to work in a movie theatre this summer, I had the opportunity to catch most of the summer releases. Here are some of the best and worst films of the summer of 1999.

Let's begin at the beginning, with the largest movie of the summer and quite possibly in the history of film making, Star Wars: Episode I The Phantom Menace. The one true blockbuster of the summer, Star Wars Episode I broke box office records and the Star Wars saga has continued to entertain and amaze people for over three generations. And it’s not very difficult to see why. The taunting previews, the aura of Star Wars, the hype, the characters; all of these elements combined to make this film a phenomenon.

But even that can be called into question. The Phantom Menace was no exception. With incredible fight scenes, interesting characters, and sex taking center stage, this was one of the summer’s most thrilling films. Just seeing a portion of what this child must have gone through is enough to send shivers down almost anyone’s spine. Though nothing could touch Star Wars this summer, this movie, with a bit of suspense and quite a surprising ending, had what it took to beat out even The Blair Witch Project (to be covered in next week’s issue).

One week after the release of American Pie came an artistic masterpiece in Stanley Kubrick’s Eyes Wide Shut. Though many people complained it was long, slow, and pointless, it was quite intriguing. The mystery of the entire movie and the fact that it was slow to unravel made it all the more interesting. Especially enjoyable, and even more likely to be a large party scene that Dr. Bill Harford (Tom Cruise) makes his way into. With rituals and sex taking place between people disguised in masks, the artistic quality as well as the eerie feeling evoked in this scene were incredible. Though the plot could have been a little stronger, Kubrick’s film ultimately still had what it took during the final moments.

Come August came adventure. The superhero comedy Mystery Men, starring William H. Macy, Ben Stiller, Jeneane Garofalo, Ben Stiller, Paul Reubens, and Geoffrey Rush, put a new welcomed twist on old superhero stories. With strange superpowers, such as gas emissions and ultraviolet slinging, these mystery men are probably the most bizarre group of superheroes the world will ever see. Based on the comic book Dark Horse, this definitely held the comedy on the screen. Given the choice, it’s definitely worth seeing.

The one true blockbuster of the summer, The Sixth Sense. A phenomenal movie about a child (Hailey Joel Osmanti) who is able to see and communicate with dead people, and his doctor (Bruce Willis) who helps him confront and comfort these spirits, The Sixth Sense might have been one of the summer’s most chilling films. Just seeing a portion of what this child must have gone through is enough to send shivers down almost anyone’s spine. Though nothing could touch Star Wars this summer, this movie, with a bit of suspense and quite a surprising ending, had what it took to beat out even The Blair Witch Project (to be covered in next week’s issue).

In mid-August, Steve Martin laid a lot on the line with his first solo written film since 1991, Bowfinger. Starring himself as a desperate movie-maker trying to get another film produced, he hires a nerdy guy, Jeff, with no acting or movie experience to be his star all because Jeff looks like celebrity Kit Ramsey (both parts played by Eddie Murphy). Bowfinger followed Martin’s theatrical success as the playwright of Picasso at the Lapin Agile and proved that over twenty years after the hysterical The Jerk, he still has what it takes to keep the audiences laughing. With Steve Martin along side Eddie Murphy for the first time in film history, Bowfinger cannot be missed, even if just for history’s sake.

Two weeks before the summer ended, Teaching Mrs. Tingle, the newest film by Kevin Williamson, was released. Williamson out-did himself on this one, creating a movie ten times worse than The Faculty, which was just a rip-off of many old alien invasion films. Bland, uneventful, and uninteresting, Teaching Mrs. Tingle should do just as well as other summer blockbusters and flops such as Instinct and Deep Blue Sea. The title was changed from the original Killing Mrs. Tingle, but rather than killing the title, they should have killed the movie. A predictable, unappealing plot teamed with foul acting created Williamson’s worst work. Starring Katie Holmes and Helen Mirren, Teaching Mrs. Tingle only taught people how to sleep better in a movie theatre.

With the last week of summer came the last movies, including The 13th Warrior, starring Antonio Banderas. Based on a Michael Crichton novel (Eaters of the Dead), The 13th Warrior is wonderful. With incredible fight scenes, interesting scene transitions, touches of suspense, and a very strong storyline, Crichton has finally had a hand in his first good screen adaptation since Jurassic Park, achieving both co-writing and co-directing credits. It was also a pleasant surprise that Antonio Banderas was not the only shining hero of the movie, but rather an interesting character that worked with a team instead of standing alone. Crichton fans should not miss this one.

With all of the laughter, all of the tears, the moments I was at the edge of my seat, and the movie that kept me asleep, I will admit that I was more entertained than not, which is the job of the business. Job well done.
The Eye in the Sky: Traffic Reports with Chelsea Sobel

By Tiffany Klabin Palisi
Staff Writer

Chelsea Sobel walked into Starbucks Coffee in Upper Montclair and everyone stopped and stared. Not so much because of her lofty position as Good Day New York’s traffic reporter or because of her stunning good looks, but because she has “it,” a charisma that is ever present. Chelsea Sobel is New York’s hippest traffic reporter, juggling three traffic gigs. She spends each weekday morning at Fox 5’s Good Day New York and splits her afternoons between “Z100” (100.3 FM) and “Jammin’ 105” (105.1 FM). Basically, if you need to get somewhere in a hurry, Chelsea will be the one to get you there.

It is hard to imagine how a young woman like Chelsea could land such a sought after position in the biggest media market in the country, New York City. She took the roundabout route, graduating from Dowling College with a degree in Social Sciences and then working for her father’s company, “I made a tape, a really, really bad traffic tape. I listened to somebody on the radio, I taped them. I copied down their stories and funny moments, and even brought along pictures of her friends, family, and her two Jack Russell terriers. “I just try to be myself,” admits Sobel who is awed by the fact that she is fast becoming a household name. “It fascinates me when you say to me, you know, people know who you are. I have no idea because four years ago I was not doing anything with my life.”

Things are quite different now. Each morning, when we tune-in to her traffic report, we see Chelsea’s smiling face and incorporate it into our day. It is good to know that her warm, approachable attitude is part of her personality and not just something that she exudes in front of the camera. Listening to her give traffic updates on the radio is like listening to a friend. In a business as competitive as reporting, I wondered how Sobel maintains her upbeat character. “I really, really love it! I love what I do,” informs Sobel. “You don’t want to be in it for the glory. If you’re going to be in this career, you’ve got to be in it because you want to do it, and that’s it.”

Sobel is not all work and no play, although you might wonder where she finds the time to be together, Chelsea replied. “I still have the tape. I sent the tape out and I still have the tape.” She sent the tape out and God only knows how I got a job at Metro Traffic - and I’ve just been there ever since.” Despite her success, she remains down to earth and friendly. She shared personal stories and funny moments, and even brought along pictures of her friends, family, and her two Jack Russell terriers. “I just try to be myself,” admits Sobel who is awed by the fact that she is fast becoming a household name. “It fascinates me when you say to me, you know, people know who you are. I have no idea because four years ago I was not doing anything with my life.” Things are quite different now. Each morning, when we tune-in to her traffic report, we see Chelsea’s smiling face and incorporate it into our day. It is good to know that her warm, approachable attitude is part of her personality and not just something that she exudes in front of the camera. Listening to her give traffic updates on the radio is like listening to a friend. In a business as competitive as reporting, I wondered how Sobel maintains her upbeat character. “I really, really love it! I love what I do,” informs Sobel. “You don’t want to be in it for the glory. If you’re going to be in this career, you’ve got to be in it because you want to do it, and that’s it.”

Sobel is not all work and no play, although you might wonder where she finds the time for a personal life. On September 25th, Chelsea is marrying Montclair State University’s own Jim Smith. Smith graduated from MSU after majoring in Communications and now flies a chopper for Metro Traffic, where the two met. “We have a great relationship! We’re buds!” she exclaims with excitement. When she speaks of their relationship, her eyes light up and her smile brightens. She was excited to visit her fiancé’s alma mater and actually requested a tour of campus. When asked when they find the time to be together, Chelsea replied, “Monday through Friday, I only see him one hour a day, that’s it! Our schedules are so different. And then we spend the entire weekend together and we love it,” says Sobel.

To many, including me, Chelsea seems to be at the top of her game. She is looking forward to moving into news reporting, and admits, “I want to go through the process - I want to do investigative news reporting, then I want to anchor, then I’ll like to anchor a network, then I want to do a morning show.”

Curious about the road ahead, I asked her to look into her crystal ball and tell me what she sees. “I am never, never satisfied. As soon as I got the Z100 gig, then Fox, it was like, a month later I was thinking, when can I do news?” Apparently, her future will only get brighter. “I’m always thinking of the next level,” affirms Sobel.

I inquired what kind of advice this young, up-and-coming reporter had for those of us wishing to pursue a career in communications. “Always be positive,” she explains. “Call people, follow up with them, bug them.” Still, faced with many obstacles, things can get very difficult. Sobel reminds us it’s all in our hands. “It’s like that Nike commercial, just do it! Forget about all your fears and just go forward and if you fail, you fail. But it’s like, you have to keep getting up and doing it. If you don’t believe in yourself, you’re definitely not gonna make it,” she prompts, “so you have to believe in yourself.” Coming from Chelsea Sobel, that is advice I’m willing to take.

OPINION

The Voice of Montclair State

Are you happy with the changes that you found around campus since the end of last semester?

"I'm happy to see that the administration is making changes they feel will benefit the campus, whether they [the changes] do or not."

Bill Guardino, SGA Director of Services

"They could have made these changes during the year so the students would have had a say."

Emi Tsunuma, Mathematics Education

"Nobody knew it [the changes] was going on. It was a big surprise and it's been chaotic around here."

Will Devone, Psychology

"It's upsetting about the parking. We had to wait a half hour for a bus. It should be changed."

Eva Cirilo, Undeclared

"Maybe if there had been a survey done about this it wouldn't be so bad. Parking is worse and very unsafe, especially for women. The administration] know that the bus doesn't come around every 15 minutes. It's more like every 30 minutes."

Makeda Bredy, Marketing

MAIN EDITORIAL

Restricted Parking Leaves Students Concerned For Their Safety

It’s not unreasonable to assume that the most noticeable change since last semester is the residential parking restriction to lot 28. Okay, so maybe students also noticed the not so fresh, or at least not so eye friendly, coat of paint that was slapped on the walls of the Blanton Café or the new so-called security system installed in the residence halls. But the thought of the almost mile and a half hike to lot 28 causes more worries than the color of the walls we have to stare at when we eat.

For most students, the first thought that comes to mind when hearing of the parking situation is, “I have to park where?” Let’s face it, if you’re a resident, the thought of trekking down to Clove Road in the rain, ice, and snow, or waiting for the most unreliable shuttle buses sounds less than appealing. Everyone is already dreading the waiting (and waiting, and waiting…) or the hiking.

What about Safety? If you think about it, the only thing that sounds worse than taking so long to get to your car is getting there and finding it vandalized. All right, there are worse things to think about. What happens when, upon returning from work at 1 o’clock in the morning, the bus never seems to come and you decide to take that long walk down the dimly lit Clove Road and…

You fill in the blank.

Why is it that the University is not as passionate about our safety as they should be? Perhaps it’s because when the faculty and staff leave their offices they’re only a hop, skip and a jump away from their cars. At most, they have to walk to the other side of the faculty lot. How unsafe.

What do you think happens when the same people who came up with this “solution” get home? I’m sure that they don’t have to park a mile and a half away from their front door. It’s funny that they feel it is all right that the students who call MSU their home for nine months out of the year should.

Not only is the new system unfair and unsafe, it’s down right confusing. Can someone please tell us how to go about getting our guests “pre-approved” to park? It’s bad enough that we pay $35.00, the same price as commuters, to park off campus. Now our guests are being forced to join in on the chaos. Watch out for the signs posted in the on-campus lots that contain specific parking hours yet also read “24 hour parking.” 24 hours for who? Obviously not the residents.

No matter what reasons the university found valid to create a restriction on parking, it’s hard to imagine that there is something so major that outweighs the well-being and general safety of the people who are the core contributors to campus life.

The Montclarion's Strength as a Voice for All Students

As I was standing in lot 28 at around 1 a.m. on Tuesday morning, trying to cling to the arrival and departure times of shuttle buses and the walking times between my residence hall and the new parking area, I thought to myself, "Resident parking is a huge concern for the safety of its own students. I knew that the Montclarion would be the voice for these students, and I felt confident that the Montclarion would make the right decision and write an editorial on this issue.

But wait! The administration has another "solution" to this problem - forcing all resident students to park in Clove Road Lot 28 over night, so that they can offer security to students who are falling asleep on campus. This new plan is a blatant attempt to force students to take on the burden of campus safety.

I want to take a look around campus and see what those that make the decisions realize that there are more than 10,000 individuals that this institution as it is, and in turn, have a say in how that institution is open and operated.

I would ask that each and every student who has concerns about the lot 28 parking plan, 24-hour security, and the police escorts and the like contact only representatives in University Police and Security, like Karen Pennington, but also the Montclarion.

Only by airing your concerns, and legitimately voicing your opinions and perspectives, can those that make the decisions know where you stand. And, with out that voice, we are nothing more than a parking de­cision, a check for tuition or room and board, a name in a phone directory, an ID number registering for one more $150 annual C-13 - THE MONTCLARION

The Race for a Space: Examining MSU's Parking Dilemma

Kevin P. HANCOCK

The students who live on-campus are the majority of the students who actually get involved at MSU. They are the ones who actually give this campus some life, and join organizations like the SGA, and fraternities and sororities, the ones who actually give this campus some life, and join organizations like the SGA, and fraternities and sororities, and legitimately voicing your opinions and perspectives, can those that make the decisions know where you stand.

cision, a check for tuition or room and board, a name in a phone directory, an ID number registering for one more $150 annual fee.
I want to wish new and returning students a warm welcome to Montclair State University for the 1999-2000 academic year. For new students, expect the first few weeks to be a little confusing and hectic. That’s normal. Ask as many questions as are required to get the answers you need, and remember that your First Year Counselor is there for you. If the system is not working for you for some reason, you can always seek out the Dean of Students, Dr. Helen Matsou-Ayres.

For returning students, I hope you will enjoy the improvements to the campus environment that have been put in place for this fall.

Your student leadership has been very effective and diligent in communicating some of the concerns of students and in working with the administration to make changes.

For example, in response to student requests, library hours have been extended this fall. The library is now open on weekdays from 8 AM to 11:45 PM (8 PM on Friday). Weekend hours are 9 AM to 5 PM on Saturday and noon to 9 PM on Sunday.

Shuttle bus service has been increased, with buses running every 17 minutes to and from Lot 28 24 hours a day, including weekends. The Lot 28 bus will make stops convenient for residential students at Blanton Hall, Clave Road Apartments, the Freeman/ Rios Hall area, and the Student Center. A complete schedule can be obtained from any shuttle bus driver.

The Student Center has been equipped with new lounge furniture and other amenities throughout the building, new carpeting and paint.

Provisions have been made for 24-hour Annex access for student organizations. A new $2 Friday-Saturday-Sunday Night Movies series will be available in Dickinson Hall featuring recent releases.

For evening students, the Tutorial Services Office has added evening hours for the convenience of students who generally are not on campus during the day. This addition is just the first of several changes designed to provide evening students with access to more services.

Students in the residence halls should notice significantly improved conditions. A major effort was undertaken this summer to clean, paint and repair the residence halls and to provide some new room and lounge furniture. Card access entry systems for all residence halls were also provided to increase security.

Finally, I would like to urge you to take responsibility for your education and for the quality of your life on campus. The entire university structure is here to provide you with the resources you need to have a successful educational, cultural and social year. We will all do the best we can to make the institution’s resources available to you, but you have to be ready to meet us half way.

Seek out the assistance you need. Talk to your fellow students and your elected student officers. Talk to your professors and advisers. Talk to department chairs and deans; talk to vice presidents or talk to me.

Don’t forget to do new things. Go to the theater and music performances on campus. Go to an athletic event and cheer on the Red Hawks. Join a club. Gather a few friends and take the 20 minute bus ride from campus into New York City.

And when you see me around campus, please stop and introduce yourself. I am not too busy to meet you. You are the reason I am here!

Best wishes for a fine semester.

Prevention of an unplanned pregnancy is one of the significant health priorities—prevention of infection with the HIV/AIDS virus; prevention of an unplanned pregnancy or assisting you in planning a healthy one; and, early identification of problems with psychoactive substances (alcohol, tobacco, and other drugs).

Your personal decisions about each of these priorities will have a large measure affect your ability to enjoy a healthy, happy and productive life.

It is my hope that you have felt cared for and cared about in your interactions with me and my colleagues at the Health and Wellness Center, the Counseling and Psychological Services (CAPS) and our new Emergency Medical Services (EMS).

Most rewarding has been the opportunity to come to know and care about so many of you. It is a special gift to me to be able to join you in the adventure of your life while you are a student at MSU.

I am so honored to have been one who could bare witness to your challenges, your pain and your personal growth over these years. I am proud to have been a member of your community. I leave you to go to the exciting challenge of putting together another wellness model at William Paterson University.

Since we didn’t get a chance to say good-bye in person, I’d love to do so at least in a phone call or e-mail. My phone number at the Health and Wellness Center at WPUS (973) 720-2360 and my e-mail address is ellson@wpunj.edu.

I hope you’ll have a great new-millennium academic year and wish you health, happiness and great success.

And the lot 28 complaints begin...

"I, for one, am very unhappy about this and truly do not feel safe. This comes from knowing that I have to park so far away from campus and depend on the shuttles that never come to get back to my dorm at 1:00 in the morning after working all day. I hope that the school rethink this decision and changes it soon before something bad happens that forces them to rethink the current situation."

10 Simple Ways To Spice Up Your Sex Life

By Chris Finegan

Note to self: Remember to buy a wiz cream for giant wart on ass.

The following column contains adult topics and may not be suitable for some readers. Discretion is advised. There. You've been warned. Now you can't see me, you bastards.

Have you ever said to yourself, “My sex life isn’t what I’d like it to be”? Well, whether you believe it or not, you aren’t alone. So if your answer is yes, read on. If your answer is no, I’m sure you’d read on anyway just for kicks. Pervert.

Number One - Is that a spiral cut you have there? Or a lack of sobriety. This is called “cheap酒.” This is not News. It’s not a newsworthy. We at HUMOUR™ are sub­stantially interested in the assigned readings. So let’s follow along, because who knows? I might talk about sex if my mind wander.

Number Two - You want me to do WHAT? The Bully Pulpit? You’re sick! Let me explain who I am and what I’m doing here for the benefit of those who have never read my column before. My name is Finz, and I’m an editor here at The Montclarion. (If you’ve never been an editor before, I strongly suggest you try it. They’ll let you print damn near anything if you just find the right publication.) Every now and again, an idea pops into my head. Usually, I burst out laughing, say, “I’ve gotta write that down,” and go on my merry way. Some­times I do it is type as fast as (OW!) furious as I can because (OW!) the other editors have me surrounded (OW!) and they’re whipping me. They keep (OW!) yelling, “Faster! Funnier! You call that HUMOUR™, you lowly toad?” They keep (OW!) yelling, “Faster! Funnier! You call that HUMOUR™, you lowly toad?” (OW! That really hurts! Don’t let me get some Bactine?) I’m (OW!) warning you right now that if (OW!) what you’re read­ing doesn’t wet your pinicicle, you should (OW!) probably stop right now. It’s going to get worse.

Number Six - What’s that god awful smell? Is that YOU? Some of you are probably wondering where I get all these strange ideas for columns, horoscopes, and advertise­ments. It’s not something I’m eating, drinking, smoking, snorting, injecting, or absorbing. I can tell you that much. I’ve changed my diet and habits several times, and I’m still this weird. No, I wasn’t the (OW!) baby one of their tires, because (OW!) the other editors have me surrounded (OW!) and they’re whipping me. I have fond, rosy memories of daring him to eat it. I have fond, rosy memories of daring him to eat it and telling him it tasted just like Play-Doh. Suckler. I also was not dropped on my head as an infant. I asked my father about that once. As he gripped the chair with white knuckles, eyes bugged out, sweat pouring down his body, and a violent twitch, he said, “NO! Of course not! I love you, son! You are as sure as hell not to eat like a basketball player. You’re smart.”

I think you’re actu­ally interested in the assigned readings. So (OW!) let’s follow along, because who knows? I might talk about sex if my mind wanders.

I saw this in the Sports Section of The Sunday Star Ledger one fine morning. I suppose I could be gravely mistaken about this, but somehow, “Mother’s Day” does not conjure up images of Mom in a thong. This DOES, however, prove that someone out there is more clueless than I am. I find that comforting.

guar are recommended. Using a butane lighter, set Sasquatch's chest on fire. He should shoot right up, run around screaming, and roll aggressively on the floor. This is a bit painful, so if your hairy man is not into weird stuff, he probably won't be very aroused. Still, you must admit that this way, at least he isn't sitting in front of the TV watching football and ignoring you.

Number Eight - What do you mean you don't know where "that" video is? Where was it? Oh, yes...I was going to point out the benefits of writing for HUMOUR™. For example, you are not bounded by time, the way News, Sports, Features, and Art usually are. I'm sitting here writing this in the middle of July. JULY! You see, you don't have to wait for something to happen and try to relate it to the American Public. At HUMOUR™ we don't care if you wrote it in class. My advice, though, is don't get caught. And don't fail. The last thing I need is to be blamed because you put two and two together and got six. Use your damn fingers next time!

Number Nine - Why does your dog keep looking at me like that? Another plus is that you can take the world's most bizarre pictures and they are never out of the ordinary for here. For example, where else do you think you can get away with a quarter-page picture of a man getting kicked in the goodie-ies? Okay, maybe Sports, but you'd better have a good reason for doing so. Here the pictures don't have to make sense or even conform to the article's message. Here's a picture of me as a cowboy. Beside me is the saloon girl I picked up that night. (Don't tell my girlfriend or I'll be in real trouble!) If you can figure out what that has to do with the article, let me know. I just took it because I could. Try that, News!

Number Ten - I am NOT inviting my roommate in here! Let's see, I told you it wasn't going to be about sex. I explained my eccentricity. I told you about my "beer-tap-in-the-shower" idea. Oh, yeah. Last but not least is my pitch. I'm positive that some of you out there are way funnier than I am. If you think you are, email me. The worst I can do is say, "I'm sorry, but it's just not what we're looking for!" Well, no, the WORST I could say is something like, "AARRRGHHH! I HAVE PROOF THAT THERE IS NO GOD! I CAN FEEL MY SOUL DRAINING FROM MY BODY!" But I wouldn't do that. I'm not really a bad guy. And you might be bigger than me.

So try these tips and have a happier, spicier sex life. Just remember to be careful because if you aren't, see these days can give you a fatal affliction. Like a kid.

THE END OF A SUCCESSFUL SEASON: Zinn scrambles for a three-yard gain during the second quarter of the Montclair-Trenton match. Despite an outstanding effort, the Montclair State Teachers College Red Devils were stopped in their tracks by Trenton’s defense and lost their second game of the eight-game season. The Pelican sports writing staff, led by Sports Editor Herbert Lipsitz, called the 1934 Red Devils “the greatest team to represent Montclair State Teachers College on the gridiron” to date, despite the team’s final loss.

Baseball makes 18th consecutive NCAA tournament appearance; Track & Field's Wheeler and Brenner gain All-American awards

Montclair State's Spring Sports Wrap-up

Baseball (28-18)
Head Coach: Norm Schoenig

MSU’s baseball team had a slow start this year at 8-10, but ended well, going 20-8 to make the New Jersey Athletic Conference playoffs and NCAA Mid-Atlantic Regional playoffs.

This marked the 18th consecutive year that the Red Hawks participated in the NCAA tournament. It was also the team’s 21st appearance in the tournament’s 23 years.

MSU ended the season as the NJAC runner-up and placed third in the six-team regional held at Yogi Berra Stadium.

The Red Hawks played with wooden bats for the first time since 1972, which resulted in national recognition of Head Coach Norm Schoenig as a spokesperson for the movement to ban aluminum bats from college baseball.

Senior pitcher Chris Keelin became the first pitcher in 10 years to be named an All-American and was drafted in the 16th round by the Philadelphia Phillies.

Softball (37-18)
Head Coach: Anita Kubicka

MSU’s softball team finished the season just one win shy of the record for the most wins.

The Red Hawks had a spectacular year but were two wins shy of making the college softball series.

MSU ended their season as the New Jersey Athletic Conference runner-up, losing in the championship game, and finishing third at the NCAA Atlantic Regional playoffs.

Individual achievements include two softball All-Americans in senior catcher Jamie Lascik and junior infielder Tara Woz.

Lascik also set the single-season batting average record at .562, and was named the NJAC and ECAC Softball Player of the Year.

Women’s Lacrosse (5-8)
Head Coach: Dawn Strunk

The MSU women’s lacrosse team continued to experience difficulty in the second year of its return after a 10-year hiatus.

The team added new players and a new coach. The Red Hawks went 1-6 to start the season, but ended the year on a better note, finishing fourth of its last six games.

Men’s Lacrosse (5-9)
Head Coach: Doug Abafia

After starting 3-2, the MSU men’s lacrosse team had a double overtime loss to Richard Stockton and never seemed to recover, winning two of its last nine games. The Red Hawks did accomplish a rare goal in early April when they shutout Centenary College 18-0.

Men’s Tennis (6-5)
Head Coach: Anthony Shortt

MSU’s men’s tennis started off slowly but came out surging in the end to have its first winning record under four-year Head Coach Anthony Shortt.

The Red Hawks had a five-game winning streak in the middle of the season, and finished the year with a 9-0 win over SUNY New Paltz. MSU also finished first in the Manhattanville-Valliant Open and finished third in the NJAC Championship Tournament, which Montclair State hosted for the third consecutive year.

Men’s and Women’s Track and Field Head Coach: Bennie Benson

MSU track and field had a spectacular season, as the team continued to increase its size and had many individual achievements. Junior Ed Wheeler participated in the NCAA national meet in Ohio in his first year under Head Coach Bennie Benson.

Sophomore Janice Brenner accompanied Wheeler at the national championships, earning athletic and academic All-American awards for her performances on and off the field.

For the second consecutive year, Montclair State University has seen one of its baseball players selected on the first day of the Major League Baseball draft.

Right-handed pitcher Chris Keelin was selected in the 16th round by the Philadelphia Phillies. He also became the first All-American pitcher at MSU since 1989.

For the second consecutive year, Montclair State University has seen one of its baseball players selected on the first day of the Major League Baseball draft.

Right-handed pitcher Chris Keelin was selected in the 16th round by the Philadelphia Phillies. Last year, first baseman Shawn McCorkle was picked in the seventh round by the Seattle Mariners.

The 6-2, 190 pound native of Vernon, NJ, finished his two-year career at MSU with a 16-4 record and had a nationally-ranked ERA this season of 1.32.

He also had a total of 189 strikeouts in 165 career innings as a Red Hawk. Keelin’s 113 strikeouts this year was the third highest single season total in the history of Montclair State.

He also became the first All-American pitcher at MSU since 1989.

Keelin is the first pitcher to be drafted out of Montclair since T.J. Costello, who was selected in the 22nd round in the 1995 season.

Righty Keith Glueber, drafted in 1994 by the Cincinnati Reds, is currently playing for the “Reds”AAA affiliate as part of the team’s 40-man roster.

Montclair State's head baseball coach, Norm Schoenig, spoke highly of Keelin and his dedication to hard work.

“Chris was 120 percent better this year than last, and worked extremely hard to become the pitcher he is today. Now he has a chance to show his stuff at the next level, and I’m very happy for him and his family.”

MSU racks up six selections for ECAC All-Star softball team; Lascik named Player of Year

By Tess Sterling
Sports Editor

For the fourth consecutive year, the New Jersey Athletic Conference did well in selections as players from the ten NJAC schools collected 11 of the 13 spots on this year’s team.

The last year’s team, which was selected by head coaches and Sports Information Directors, NJAC schools placed 10 of 12 players on the squad.

Montclair State lead all teams in selections with six, while The College of New Jersey and Rowan University had two selections each.

The 1999 New Jersey Athletic Conference Champion, William Paterson University, had one selection, while Hunter College and Drew University had the two non-NJAC selections on this year’s team.

MSU’s senior catcher Jamie Lascik was named the 1999 ECAC Metro New Jersey Softball Player of the Year, in addition to her NJAC Player of the Year award.

Lascik set an MSU single-season record with a batting average of .562. She also racked up 49 RBIs, 18 doubles, five triples, and three home runs.

She is a first-team All-American catcher, but this was her first season playing backstop.

Lascik had hits in 44 of 44 New Red Hawks’ 47 games this year as the MSU ended their season.
