Union Members Protest Over Finley Construction

SGA Refunds Nicki Minaj Tickets

In response to the Nicki Minaj scam that has held the attention of students over the past week, the SGA gave out ticket refunds on Friday and Monday in the Student Center.

On Friday, a sign was posted on a window of the CSI office door that read: “Nicki Minaj Ticket refunds are in SC104- Must have your ID, ALL tickets and receipts to get full refund.”

Refunds required the ticket holder to show their tickets, student ID and receipts in order to receive their money.

At times, the process took a few moments. In some cases, students were delayed in the CSI office. Alyse James, the guest of an MSU student, waited with her friend who bought a ticket for her. But without her friend to show her ID card, she could not receive a refund. It was a “huge inconvenience,” James said. “They are not willing to work with you.” She felt that neither the SGA nor CSI were cooperative.

The line of students demanding refunds snaked out into the hallway outside the CSI office door.

However, not every student is angry with the entire mess of the Nicki Minaj homecoming concert. Chelsea Mineur, a freshman, said she had “fun camping out” for her tickets.
On Sept. 20: Officers responded to room 228 of Calicia Hall on a report of criminal mischief. It was discovered that the door window was broken. There were no items reported stolen and this case will remain under investigation.

On Sept. 22: A student reported the theft of her laptop computer from Bohn Hall. There were no signs of forced entry. This case is under investigation.

On Sept. 23: A student reported the theft of her cell phone from the Student Center Computer Lab. Witnesses stated the phone was left unattended and an unidentified male picked it up and left the area.

On Sept. 24: Non-student Thomas Carlock was arrested and charged with underage consumption of alcohol while in Bohn Hall. He will appear in Clifton Municipal Court.

On Sept. 24: A student reported the theft of his laptop computer valued at $2,000 from his unlocked room in Bohn Hall.

On Sept. 24: A student reported that on Sept. 23, her cell phone and MSU Red Hawk Card were stolen after she left it unattended for a brief period of time while in the Student Center Computer Lab.

On Sept. 26: A Red Hawk Diner employee reported the theft of her jacket valued at $200. This jacket is described as a black motorcycle jacket with many zippers and buttons.

On Sept. 27: A student reported the theft of her wallet which was lost in CarParc Diem. While contacting her bank to report a debit card missing, the bank informed her someone has made fraudulent purchases on the card. This case is under investigation.

Anyone who has information regarding these incidents is urged to call the police station from any campus phone at T-I-P-S (8477). All calls are strictly confidential.

SGA Notes

The next SGA meeting will be next Wednesday, Oct. 6.

S A G A  N O T E S

The Montclarion is a freely distributed newspaper providing one copy per person. Additional copies are $0.25.

Corrections

In issue 2, in the film theft article, the date the film theft was reported is marked as June 10, but it was reported on June 15. We apologize for the error.

ADVERTISING

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Size</th>
<th>Measurements</th>
<th>$/N</th>
<th>Color</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Off Campus</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Eight-page</td>
<td>5.25x5.75</td>
<td>$50</td>
<td>#000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Quarter-page</td>
<td>5.25x10.4</td>
<td>$100</td>
<td>#000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Half-page</td>
<td>10.75x10.4</td>
<td>$200</td>
<td>#000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Full-page</td>
<td>10.75x21</td>
<td>$295</td>
<td>#000</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Business &amp; Organizations</th>
<th>University Offices &amp; SGA Organizations</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Eight-page</td>
<td>Quarter-page</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5.25x5.75</td>
<td>5.25x10.4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>$45</td>
<td>$130</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>80</td>
<td>340</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>340</td>
<td>170</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

TO ORDER: The deadline for all advertising is Monday at 5:00 pm of the week of publication. No advertising after the deadline will be accepted. The Montclarion reserves all rights, including the right to refuse advertising. The Montclarion is not responsible for any misprints. Advertisements are subject to approval by the Montclarion and the Montclair State University. All advertising must be non-promotional. Claims for errors will not be made. Claims for non-delivery will not be entertained.
We are hoping to get another hip-hop artist. But we do not want to say any artists’ names yet. We do not want to make any promises and disappoint the students again.”

Christopher Goscinski
SGA President

“The students are expected to feel irate from this incident, but we are confident this will not affect a decline of future ticket selling,” Goscinski said. He recommends that students “hold onto their tickets to avoid wanting on line for another concert.”

According to Goscinski, the refunds are running “smoothly.” Partial ticket returns are allowed. All returns can be made in the Student Center room 104.

“I am happy the SGA is allowing students to return our money but it still doesn’t take back the suffering of the students who missed class and looked so forward to the concert,” said Nicole Scoloveno, a senior.

Goscinski does not recommend camping overnight on the quad for future ticket sales.

In case you missed out on the Nicki Minaj scam story, check it out on our website: www.themontclarion.org

No Act Confirmed, Refunds Continue

We are hoping to get another hip-hop artist,” said SGA president Christopher Goscinski. “But we do not want to say any artists’ names yet. We do not want to make any promises and disappoint the students again. We would rather have no concert than a no-name band perform at the school.”

“Any contract that is not our own will be reviewed by the University administration to prevent any mishap,” said Jared Shababb, vice president of the SGA.

Students may receive a complete refund on their purchase as long as they show their receipt, student ID and ticket stub.

“The students are expected to feel irate from this incident, but we are confident this will not affect a decline of future ticket selling,” Goscinski said. He recommends that students “hold onto their tickets to avoid wanting on line for another concert.”

According to Goscinski, the refunds are running “smoothly.” Partial ticket returns are allowed. All returns can be made in the Student Center room 104.

“I am happy the SGA is allowing students to return our money but it still doesn’t take back the suffering of the students who missed class and looked so forward to the concert,” said Nicole Scoloveno, a senior.

Goscinski does not recommend camping overnight on the quad for future ticket sales.

In case you missed out on the Nicki Minaj scam story, check it out on our website: www.themontclarion.org
Continued From Page 1

"Build better, build safer, build union."

Joe Rizzo

Unam worker for Local 592

for Local 592. According to the many people there, they all follow this saying as strictly as possible.

All of the men and women of Local 592 gathered outside of the Normal Ave. entrance at 6 a.m. said Taversa. She actually helped organize the protest.

Her motivation for the protest came from the fact that many of her co-workers were being homeless and getting laid off. She was also bothered because many of them live in the immediate area of Montclair State University.

Rich Kane, also a union worker for Local 592, stated that about 180 men are out of jobs. This is exactly why Local 592 protested. Their workers are from the area as well, many of them residents of Essex County.

"We have just as much right to see everything, make sure everything runs smoothly and regulates safety on the job," Kane said.

Taversa just wanted to know why her co-workers, and herself, were being pushed to the curb. Her co-workers are just as skilled, if not more, as the non-union workers. "So what is the issue?" Taversa asked.

"Build better, build safer, build union," Rizzo stated. This is the motto also accompanying the union workers in the protest were two jumbo size blown-up rats. Phil Arenn, a union worker for Local 592, stated that the rats is used to demonstrate the union’s unhappiness.

"Rats are used in almost every union protest," Arenn stated.

"The protest was resolved after a day. Local 592 received a phone call after the first day of protesting to say that Grinnell Recycling was removed from the job. The general contractor now plans on hiring union workers instead.

"The contractors did do the right thing. We didn’t want to cause a distraction, but sometimes you have to," Rizzo stated.

Paula Maliandi, executive director of University Communications, sent out a public message to people regarding the protest. In it she explained that Century 21 Construction was chosen to work on Finley Hall after a "fair and open competitive public bidding process."

Grinnell Recycling is one of Century 21 Construction’s subcontractors. Whatever agreement the two companies have, the university is not included in it.

Maliandi also stated, “The University will continue to expect and require that Century 21 Construction and all of its subcontractors pay workers in accordance with the prevailing wage and perform their work at Finley Hall in a timely, safe and responsible manner in full compliance with all applicable laws, regulations and the University’s General Terms and Conditions for construction projects.”

As of tomorrow, union workers should be on the job.

The Montclarion Wins Three Journalism Awards

The Montclarion and its staff won three awards in the 2009-2010 New Jersey Collegiate Newspaper Contest sponsored by the NJPA (New Jersey Press Association).

With 315 entries from 13 college newspapers around the state, The Montclarion was recognized in three out of the 14 total categories for last year’s publications under former Editor-in-Chief Kristie Cattafi (now a graduate of MSU). The entries were judged by 15 professional editors from NJPA member newspapers.

In the award for General Excellence, The Montclarion placed second. This award is judged on the overall look of the coverage, writing quality, copy editing, style use and layout of the paper. Judges also take into account the “look and feel” of the publication as well as its local appeal, effectiveness and readability.

Also accompanying the union workers in the protest were two jumbo size blown-up rats. Phil Arenn, a union worker for Local 592, stated that the rats is used to demonstrate the union’s unhappiness.

"Rats are used in almost every union protest," Arenn stated.

"The protest was resolved after a day. Local 592 received a phone call after the first day of protesting to say that Grinnell Recycling was removed from the job. The general contractor now plans on hiring union workers instead.

"The contractors did do the right thing. We didn’t want to cause a distraction, but sometimes you have to," Rizzo stated.

Paula Maliandi, executive director of University Communications, sent out a public message to people regarding the protest. In it she explained that Century 21 Construction was chosen to work on Finley Hall after a "fair and open competitive public bidding process."

Grinnell Recycling is one of Century 21 Construction’s subcontractors. Whatever agreement the two companies have, the university is not included in it.

Maliandi also stated, “The University will continue to expect and require that Century 21 Construction and all of its subcontractors pay workers in accordance with the prevailing wage and perform their work at Finley Hall in a timely, safe and responsible manner in full compliance with all applicable laws, regulations and the University’s General Terms and Conditions for construction projects.”

As of tomorrow, union workers should be on the job.

The Montclarion Wins Three Journalism Awards

The Montclarion and its staff won three awards in the 2009-2010 New Jersey Collegiate Newspaper Contest sponsored by the NJPA (New Jersey Press Association).

With 315 entries from 13 college newspapers around the state, The Montclarion was recognized in three out of the 14 total categories for last year’s publications under former Editor-in-Chief Kristie Cattafi (now a graduate of MSU). The entries were judged by 15 professional editors from NJPA member newspapers.

In the award for General Excellence, The Montclarion placed second. This award is judged on the overall look of the coverage, writing quality, copy editing, style use and layout of the paper. Judges also take into account the “look and feel” of the publication as well as its local appeal, effectiveness and readability.

Former Arts & Entertainment Editor Emily Golloub received a first place prize in the 2009-2010 New Jersey Collegiate Newspaper Contest sponsored by the NJPA (New Jersey Press Association). The entry was an article entitled “A Glimpse into the Life of Scott Gordley” and “10 Years in the Making: Mont Clarion Art Museum Launches Ceramic Exhibits”. Judging for this award was based on technical knowledge, writing quality and local appeal to college students.

Current Chief Copy Editor Catherine Winters was awarded second place in the columns/opinion writing category. Winters submitted her article entitled “Medical Marijuana: Keep an Open Mind.” This category was judged on the quality of writing, depth of thought, courage, public service and persuasive ability.

All of the articles mentioned above can be seen online at www.themontclarion.org by typing the names of the authors in the search bar on the top right.

Congratulations to the individual winners Emily Golloub and Catherine Winters, and The Montclarion staff for their recognition.

Interested in writing for the news section?

Email Nicole Simonetti: msunews@gmail.com

To see the actual demolition of Finley Hall, visit our website to watch the video.

www.themontclarion.org

The beginning of the project that was started by Grinnell Recycling.
The Heights

Each suite will hold three to four residents and house 1,978 students. The traditional style dorms will be renovated and the buildings will be connected via a knuckle. “We’re very excited for the buildings to be built,” said Karen Pennington, vice president of Student Development and Campus Life. “I believe it will have a positive increase on student life.”

“We think of the campus as one location.” The traditional style dorms will be updated to be built, said Karen Pennington. “We’re very excited for the buildings to be built,” said Pennington. “We want to allow students to live on campus. This allows us to change the nature of the campus. It will help live up the campus. There are more options for the students to live in one location.”

“It’s a great idea because the dorms are a problem with people,” said English major Lauren Crisculo. “The idea of the design sounds great.”

Voting is currently online for names of individuals. Up to eight selections may be made, with the option for a write-in. The 19 names are people from New Jersey. Five names are also selected. The final selection may be made, which explains why the dorms are going up so quickly. “A lot has gone up rather quickly,” said Pennington. “It’s tremendous and fun to watch. Every day I walk in and say, ‘that wasn’t here yesterday.’”

“It doesn’t seem to be moving along very fast,” said English major Meghan Brauchitch. “For a commuter, it’s a real hassle to get into CarParc Diem. All the dirt and trucks from the construction cause intense traffic.”

“The facilities are much more state of the art,” said Pennington. “It’s too costly to fix older buildings.”

The Heights is designed for freshmen and sophomore, although every one is eligible to live there.

Once the Heights is finished, students will not have to live in the hotel or triples. The buildings are quickly being constructed where parking lots 23 and 24 used to be. The buildings are quickly being constructed where parking lots 23 and 24 used to be.
The Montclarion MSUFeature@gmail.com

FEATURE

Seminar Students Honored by Kristallnacht Survivor Visit

Amanda Balli
FEATURE EDITOR

The night of Nov. 9, 1938 will live in history forever. Kristallnacht, the night of plundering, fires and arrests was a terrible nightmare for German-Jewish people. Hitler's S.S. black shirts knew what they were doing, upholding peaceful, Jewish life in Germany. For some MSU seminar students, a first-hand account from survivor Fay Goglia, 88, was extra special.

The first-time speaker addressed the loss of a dozen students about Kristallnacht, also known as “The Night of Broken Glass.” The intimate talk sparked interest in her life story as well as the events leading up to and following Kristallnacht.

“I can only tell what I experienced,” Goglia said. Accompanied by her daughter Mary Goglia-Vitaletti, Goglia remembered specific details about the Hitler rant that brought tears to students' eyes. Life in Germany before Kristallnacht was harsh. “The country was beautiful and the people were very intelligent, but things changed when Hitler came into power.”

Germans prayed to Hitler as if he was a god. There were posters of Crystal.” She remembered hearing a voice say, “Don't bend down. You're going to get shot!” So she bent down to help him, she heard the trains, Goglia remembers that “mothers [had to] leave their tiny children,” and no one knew their fates. The children were then sent to camps, also known as hostels, where Jewish families adopted the newly orphaned children. “[We] wore tags like cattle,” Goglia said with a chuckle. Children were supposed to be treated as if they were part of the family, but Goglia wasn't as lucky. She was adopted by a family who treated her like a servant who wasn't able to eat at the table with them.

Goglia and her brother were adopted by different families and went on to learn different trades. However, they remained close. These adoptive families lived close to each other and they frequently saw each other. Soon after, Goglia married an American GI and immigrated to the U.S. in 1946. She was on the first war-bride ship and was featured on the March of Time newreel with her 2-year-old son. It was shown throughout the U.S. in 1946. She was on the first war-bride ship and was featured on the “March of Time” newreel with her 2-year-old son. It was shown in movie theaters. Her heartwarming story ended with a moral: “You never know what comes tomorrow.” We should make the best out of the days that we have.

For more pictures and video of Fay Goglia’s visit, our website: www.themontclarion.org
Eating On the Go: Make Your Own “Fast Food” Ahead of Time

Quick Facts:
1. Carry water with you all day
2. Pack dried fruits and veggie sticks
3. String cheese and nuts make good snacks
4. Buy some fall and winter fruits
5. Eat dark chocolate in moderation

---

James Carpentier, Staff Writer

With the new school year in full swing, MSU students, faculty and campus staff may still be adjusting to the flow of daily activities. Unfortunately, nutrition sometimes takes a back seat and the old adages, “you are what you eat,” certainly holds true. In other words, smart food and beverage choices may indeed make you “smarter” in class, on the job or on the athletic field as far as boosting brain power, mental focus and alertness are concerned.

Another dietary axiom, “an apple a day keeps the doctor away,” certainly holds true. In other words, smart food and beverage choices will keep colds and the flu at bay. So get yourself some old-fashioned brown lunch bags for the weeks ahead and a box of handy little foldable sandwich bags — and when you get some time on weekends, for example, start making your own “fast food.” Unless you have food allergies, heed these nutritional guidelines:

• Carry that water bottle all day. Water is your number one beverage and energy, among water’s many assets. Look for something to satisfy your sweet tooth? Instead of a sugary soda, cookies or cake, have a few pieces of dark chocolate each day. Scientists have found that it’s good for your heart. But don’t go overboard, as chocolate is high in calories as well.

• Take advantage of buying fall and winter fruits such as apples and pears. You can store them well at room temperature to give them a longer shelf life than summer fruits such as peaches.

• Looking for something to satisfy your sweet tooth? Instead of a sugary soda, cookies or cake, have a few pieces of dark chocolate each day. Scientists have found that it’s good for your heart. But don’t go overboard, as chocolate is high in calories as well.

• Take advantage of buying fall and winter fruits such as apples and pears. You can store them well at room temperature to give them a longer shelf life than summer fruits such as peaches.

• For bone health. Nuts and seeds have essential dietary fats and vitamin E. Take advantage of buying fall and winter fruits such as apples and pears. You can store them well at room temperature to give them a longer shelf life than summer fruits such as peaches.

• For bone health. Nuts and seeds have essential dietary fats and vitamin E. Take advantage of buying fall and winter fruits such as apples and pears. You can store them well at room temperature to give them a longer shelf life than summer fruits such as peaches.

• For bone health. Nuts and seeds have essential dietary fats and vitamin E. Take advantage of buying fall and winter fruits such as apples and pears. You can store them well at room temperature to give them a longer shelf life than summer fruits such as peaches.

• For bone health. Nuts and seeds have essential dietary fats and vitamin E. Take advantage of buying fall and winter fruits such as apples and pears. You can store them well at room temperature to give them a longer shelf life than summer fruits such as peaches.

• For bone health. Nuts and seeds have essential dietary fats and vitamin E. Take advantage of buying fall and winter fruits such as apples and pears. You can store them well at room temperature to give them a longer shelf life than summer fruits such as peaches.

• For bone health. Nuts and seeds have essential dietary fats and vitamin E. Take advantage of buying fall and winter fruits such as apples and pears. You can store them well at room temperature to give them a longer shelf life than summer fruits such as peaches.

• For bone health. Nuts and seeds have essential dietary fats and vitamin E. Take advantage of buying fall and winter fruits such as apples and pears. You can store them well at room temperature to give them a longer shelf life than summer fruits such as peaches.

• For bone health. Nuts and seeds have essential dietary fats and vitamin E. Take advantage of buying fall and winter fruits such as apples and pears. You can store them well at room temperature to give them a longer shelf life than summer fruits such as peaches.

• For bone health. Nuts and seeds have essential dietary fats and vitamin E. Take advantage of buying fall and winter fruits such as apples and pears. You can store them well at room temperature to give them a longer shelf life than summer fruits such as peaches.

• For bone health. Nuts and seeds have essential dietary fats and vitamin E. Take advantage of buying fall and winter fruits such as apples and pears. You can store them well at room temperature to give them a longer shelf life than summer fruits such as peaches.

• For bone health. Nuts and seeds have essential dietary fats and vitamin E. Take advantage of buying fall and winter fruits such as apples and pears. You can store them well at room temperature to give them a longer shelf life than summer fruits such as peaches.

• For bone health. Nuts and seeds have essential dietary fats and vitamin E. Take advantage of buying fall and winter fruits such as apples and pears. You can store them well at room temperature to give them a longer shelf life than summer fruits such as peaches.

• For bone health. Nuts and seeds have essential dietary fats and vitamin E. Take advantage of buying fall and winter fruits such as apples and pears. You can store them well at room temperature to give them a longer shelf life than summer fruits such as peaches.

• For bone health. Nuts and seeds have essential dietary fats and vitamin E. Take advantage of buying fall and winter fruits such as apples and pears. You can store them well at room temperature to give them a longer shelf life than summer fruits such as peaches.
Well, let me begin answering this question by saying that no college is a perfect place. Some colleges have lower tuition but do not have nice facilities. Other colleges have top-notch programs and campuses, but crazy high tuition. With that being said, Montclair State is a good school for the money. However, there are a few things that absolutely drive me nuts at this school.

The one major point that kills me about Montclair State is the housing situation at the Village. I have been a resident student for four years and have lived in Bohn Hall, the Clove Road Apartments and the Village. And believe it or not, I actually thought that living in the preconstruction Clove Road Apartments was better than living in the Village. Whenever at my apartment, I somehow always get yelled at for making too much noise, even when “making noise” is playing a video game or watching TV. There are actually too many rules at the dorms here and it seems like at the Village it’s same.

When at my Village apartment, I made sure I got ready too many rules at the dorms here and it seems like at the Village it’s same. Actually thought that living in the preconstruction Clove Road Apartments was better than living in the Village. Whenever at my apartment, I somehow always get yelled at for making too much noise, even when “making noise” is playing a video game or watching TV. There are actually too many rules at the dorms here and it seems like at the Village it’s same. Actually thought that living in the preconstruction Clove Road Apartments was better than living in the Village. Whenever at my apartment, I somehow always get yelled at for making too much noise, even when “making noise” is playing a video game or watching TV. There are actually too many rules at the dorms here and it seems like at the Village it’s same. Actually thought that living in the preconstruction Clove Road Apartments was better than living in the Village. Whenever at my apartment, I somehow always get yelled at for making too much noise, even when “making noise” is playing a video game or watching TV. There are actually too many rules at the dorms here and it seems like at the Village it’s same. Actually thought that living in the preconstruction Clove Road Apartments was better than living in the Village. Whenever at my apartment, I somehow always get yelled at for making too much noise, even when “making noise” is playing a video game or watching TV. There are actually too many rules at the dorms here and it seems like at the Village it’s same. Actually thought that living in the preconstruction Clove Road Apartments was better than living in the Village. Whenever at my apartment, I somehow always get yelled at for making too much noise, even when “making noise” is playing a video game or watching TV. There are actually too many rules at the dorms here and it seems like at the Village it’s same. Actually thought that living in the preconstruction Clove Road Apartments was better than living in the Village. Whenever at my apartment, I somehow always get yelled at for making too much noise, even when “making noise” is playing a video game or watching TV. There are actually too many rules at the dorms here and it seems like at the Village it’s same. Actually thought that living in the preconstruction Clove Road Apartments was better than living in the Village. Whenever at my apartment, I somehow always get yelled at for making too much noise, even when “making noise” is playing a video game or watching TV. There are actually too many rules at the dorms here and it seems like at the Village it’s same. Actually thought that living in the preconstruction Clove Road Apartments was better than living in the Village. Whenever at my apartment, I somehow always get yelled at for making too much noise, even when “making noise” is playing a video game or watching TV. There are actually too many rules at the dorms here and it seems like at the Village it’s same. Actually thought that living in the preconstruction Clove Road Apartments was better than living in the Village. Whenever at my apartment, I somehow always get yelled at for making too much noise, even when “making noise” is playing a video game or watching TV. There are actually too many rules at the dorms here and it seems like at the Village it’s same. Actually thought that living in the preconstruction Clove Road Apartments was better than living in the Village. Whenever at my apartment, I somehow always get yelled at for making too much noise, even when “making noise” is playing a video game or watching TV. There are actually too many rules at the dorms here and it seems like at the Village it’s same. Actually thought that living in the preconstruction Clove Road Apartments was better than living in the Village. Whenever at my apartment, I somehow always get yelled at for making too much noise, even when “making noise” is playing a video game or watching TV. There are actually too many rules at the dorms here and it seems like at the Village it’s same. Actually thought that living in the preconstruction Clove Road Apartments was better than living in the Village. Whenever at my apartment, I somehow always get yelled at for making too much noise, even when “making noise” is playing a video game or watching TV. There are actually too many rules at the dorms here and it seems like at the Village it’s same. Actually thought that living in the preconstruction Clove Road Apartments was better than living in the Village. Whenever at my apartment, I somehow always get yelled at for making too much noise, even when “making noise” is playing a video game or watching TV. There are actually too many rules at the dorms here and it seems like at the Village it’s same. Actually thought that living in the preconstruction Clove Road Apartments was better than living in the Village. Whenever at my apartment, I somehow always get yelled at for making too much noise, even when “making noise” is playing a video game or watching TV. There are actually too many rules at the dorms here and it seems like at the Village it’s same. Actually thought that living in the preconstruction Clove Road Apartments was better than living in the Village. Whenever at my apartment, I somehow always get yelled at for making too much noise, even when “making noise” is playing a video game or watching TV. There are actually too many rules at the dorms here and it seems like at the Village it’s same. Actually thought that living in the preconstruction Clove Road Apartments was better than living in the Village. Whenever at my apartment, I somehow always get yelled at for making too much noise, even when “making noise” is playing a video game or watching TV. There are actually too many rules at the dorms here and it seems like at the Village it’s same. Actually thought that living in the preconstruction Clove Road Apartments was better than living in the Village. Whenever at my apartment, I somehow always get yelled at for making too much noise, even when “making noise” is playing a video game or watching TV. There are actually too many rules at the dorms here and it seems like at the Village it’s same. Actually thought that living in the preconstruction Clove Rod...
WINTER SESSION
www.montclair.edu/winter

December 21, 2010-January 14, 2011
Schedule available on WESS, October, 2010.*

Web registration begins:

• November 8 for Montclair State Students • November 17 for Visiting Students

Winter Session registration ends December 15

All coursework begins December 21, 2010

• Online and Hybrid courses offered
• Enroll in up to 4 credits this winter
• December 21 – Assignments and readings will be posted on Blackboard for all courses
• December 25-January 1 – Campus closed
• January 3 – In-person meetings begin for hybrid courses
• January 14 – Last day of classes

Check your Montclair State e-mail regularly for important information from your professor.

Visit WESS for course schedule and details*

Winter 2011 Tuition and Fees

Undergraduate:

NJ Resident: 1st credit: $334.12 Ea. Add'l credit: $244.12
Non-resident:
Returning: 1st credit: $559.57 Ea. Add'l credit: $469.57
New*: 1st credit: $611.75 Ea. Add'l credit: $521.75

*Rate applies to all non-resident undergraduates enrolled for the first time at Montclair State, Fall 2007 or later. Contact Bursar’s office for details.

Graduate:

NJ Resident: 1st credit: $591.34 Ea. Add'l credit: $501.34
Non-resident: 1st credit: $863.88 Ea. Add'l credit: $773.88

Payment Plan Available
For additional rates and fee schedules, visit montclair.edu/bursar
Student loans may also be available.

Summer Sessions, Winter Session, and Special Programs
E-mail: winter@montclair.edu • Voice: 973-655-4352 • Fax: 973-655-7851

†The University reserves the right to cancel courses, change faculty and/or room assignments, modify its calendar, and make adjustments to the course schedule and the availability of the Web registration system.

Above are approximate tuition and fees for Winter Session 2011. Tuition and fees are subject to change without prior notice.
Welcome back MSU students to another firm-filled workout with dumbbells! This week is all about the obliques and how you can tone them for the upcoming Halloween season. I’ll show you how to look sassy and classy in your costumes with no more love-handles in sight!

Workout:

Step 1 – Side Dunks: Stand with your knees slightly bent and place both your dumbbells in your left hand. Now, you are going to gently tilt your body to the left at a 45-degree angle and bring it back up, creating a dunking motion. You want to keep good posture while doing these. If having both weights in one hand is too hard, start out with one and work your way up to two. Repeat this dunking motion on your right side and do two sets of 15 reps.

Step 2 – Side Crunch: Stand with your legs apart and each hand on a dumbbell. Place your left hand on your hip and bring your right arm up over your head. As you bring your arm back down, bend and bring your right knee up to your chest. As you release your right leg down, raise your right arm back over your head. Repeat this 15 times and switch sides. Do two sets and make sure you squeeze your oblique and contract when you are in the elbow to knee position.

Stretch:

Step 3 – Ballet Stretch with Pulse: This will loosen your oblique muscles, as well as maintain a moderate burn. Stand with legs apart and stretch your left arm over your head and the right on your hip like in step two. Hold this pose for five seconds, then with your raised arm, do a pulse to the right, stretching the arm further over your head. This helps to lengthen the body as well as create a burn. Do 20 gentle pulses and switch arms.

Step 4 – Ballet Stretch: This is the same as the last stretch except you will hold the pose with no pulsing. Stretch with your arm as far as possible and hold for 20 seconds on each side. This will really give the muscles a good cool-down and time to relax.

Well that’s all for this week’s segment and I hope you consistently do this workout because it really will help with that problem area. You can watch the full video on themontclarion.org and see you all next week!
If you are interested in drawing a cartoon for publication in The Montclarion, please contact msuproduction@gmail.com to get your drawings featured in the Toons section.

The Adventures of A.J. and J-Rock

By: Aaron Marte
The Exorcist is coming to Montclair State University

Father Vincent Lampert, is one of less than two dozen Priests in the United States who have been trained, and given the faculties from the Catholic Church to serve as an Exorcist.

Fr. Lampert was appointed the official Exorcist for the Archdiocese of Indianapolis in 2005 and received formal training under the Head Exorcist in Rome in 2006.

Father Lampert will deliver the FIRST ANNUAL ARCHBISHOP JOHN J. MYERS LECTURE SERIES, sponsored by the NEWMAN CATHOLIC CAMPUS MINISTRY at MONTCLAIR STATE UNIVERSITY on the Catholic Church’s understanding of exorcism, demonic activity, and the like. The event, “The Real Exorcist,” is open to the public and a Q&A session will follow the formal portion of Father’s presentation on October 13, 2010 – 7:30 Pm.

Montclair State University
University Hall Conference Center (7th Floor)

NEWMAN CATHOLIC CAMPUS MINISTRY
A Class II Organization of the Montclair State University SGA
Trust Not in Technology

Hannah Schefia | The Montclarion

It is strange to think that at the very beginning of our lives computer technology was an infant itself. As the years passed, we grew up alongside booming technological advances. With sympathetic nostalgia, we can easily recall the days of dial-up and cable connections. We can safely consider ourselves the technology generation. But with every title comes a new set of responsibilities.

The Internet alone is bursting with possibilities and, in recent years, a new sense of accountability. Gone are the days of reckless abandonment. Everyone should now be closely monitored. Although no one should be no such thing as privacy.

The role that technology plays in our everyday lives places our contemplation to the forefront of conversation. Personal lives are ruined far too easily by a well-placed tweet. When future generations look back on our tweets, we want to be known as the girl (or boy) that slept around or betrayed their best friend. A few months ago The New York Times posted an article explaining that Tweets will now be part of the congressional library. Technology is not fleet- ing, and as the vase passes it will only grow larger and more powerful. Will our most basic right to privacy disappear in the ouch of improvements? Only time will tell.

LW

“The personal life of every individual is based on secrecy, and perhaps it is partly for that reason that civilized man is so nervous anxious that personal privacy should be respected.”

-Anton Chekhov
No. I am not jealous, but if someone beats me out to a position, let them at least be nice. All I want is a little “how are you.” I understand that these employers may have a busy day. Perhaps I overphoned the fact that they have to sleep the night before. Perhaps their hour has just given them a hard time because they know the task in the register wrong. Perhaps they have just gotten out of a relationship. But did they ever think that I am purchasing this new dress because I am trying to salvage my own relationship.

Texas is not written in evolution. However, this is not a universal belief and it is highly centered in religion, which is against the fundamental idea of separation of church and state. Furthermore, there is very little scientific evidence supporting creationism the way it is typically presented. However, it must be said that evolution, as we know it, is not an indisputable fact, it is simply the least and most documented theory that science has and therefore supports.

There will be supporters and detractors from creationism, but it can easily be argued by teachers who feel uncomfortable discussing it, or whose school boards don’t allow it. The more influential changes that Texas has made are in the social studies curricula. Here the Texas politicians are claiming the books are much too biased towards the left, and they are attempting to correct this by making them biased towards the right. History is written by the winner, but the Texas are including many disputed facts, such as the fact that the U.S. government was in fact infiltrated by communists, which, of course, make the actions of Joseph McCarthy justified.

The scars are still debating whether the Texas papers (the source of this supposed information) are correct in this opposition. The Texas reformers also put the words of Jackson Davis’s immigration speech next to those of Abraham Lincoln and attempt to ignore Thomas Jefferson’s role in both the founding of the United States and the revolutions abroad of the 18th and 19th centuries. But of course, this is Texas’s idea, and Texas votes on the reformer. The plan is to have 48 states have begun fighting for a nationwide curriculum to be used in Texas and across its tracks with their influences on textbooks across the nation.

Besides looking tabs on the local curricula, I suggest backing this nationwide push.

Katie Winters, an English major, is in her first year as Chief Copy Editor for The Montclarion.

Katie Winters
Copy editor

Inherit the Wind, Texas is not written in evolution. However, this is not a universal belief and it is highly centered in religion, which is against the fundamental idea of separation of church and state. Furthermore, there is very little scientific evidence supporting creationism the way it is typically presented. However, it must be said that evolution, as we know it, is not an indisputable fact, it is simply the least and most documented theory that science has and therefore supports.

There will be supporters and detractors from creationism, but it can easily be argued by teachers who feel uncomfortable discussing it, or whose school boards don’t allow it. The more influential changes that Texas has made are in the social studies curricula. Here the Texas politicians are claiming the books are much too biased towards the left, and they are attempting to correct this by making them biased towards the right. History is written by the winner, but the Texas are including many disputed facts, such as the fact that the U.S. government was in fact infiltrated by communists, which, of course, make the actions of Joseph McCarthy justified.

The scars are still debating whether the Texas papers (the source of this supposed information) are correct in this opposition. The Texas reformers also put the words of Jackson Davis’s immigration speech next to those of Abraham Lincoln and attempt to ignore Thomas Jefferson’s role in both the founding of the United States and the revolutions abroad of the 18th and 19th centuries. But of course, this is Texas’s idea, and Texas votes on the reformer. The plan is to have 48 states have begun fighting for a nationwide curriculum to be used in Texas and across its tracks with their influences on textbooks across the nation.

Besides looking tabs on the local curricula, I suggest backing this nationwide push.

Katie Winters, an English major, is in her first year as Chief Copy Editor for The Montclarion.
Jet Lag Premiers at Kasser Theater
As Exhaustino as an Eight Hour Flight

Stefanie Sears
Staff Writer

The sounds of a bustling airport greet you upon entering Kasser Theater. This is the beginning of The Builders Association’s Diller Scofidio and Renfro’s production of Jet Lag, which premiered at Kasser Sept. 23. The sounds set the mood in the auditorium before the play even starts.

“Jet Lag is based on two actual personalities in recent history whose lives were meshed in complications of time and space brought on by contemporary technologies,” reads the program. The program, thankfully, gives explanations to the storylines, though it urges you to not read them until after you watch the play. Trying to figure out what is going on adds to the experience; though it is also possible to exit the theater with your very own jet lag while attempting to do so.

Jet Lag has two completely separate parts. The play opens up with the story of a man named Roger Dearborn, played by David Pence, who is documenting his fake sea voyage around the world. Dearborn has entered a competition to sail around the world. He is trying to figure out what is going on and add to the experience. Though it is also possible to exit the theater with your very own jet lag while attempting to do so.

Jet Lag has two completely separate parts. The play opens up with the story of a man named Roger Dearborn, played by David Pence, who is documenting his fake sea voyage around the world. Dearborn has entered a competition to sail around the world. He is trying to figure out what is going on and add to the experience. Though it is also possible to exit the theater with your very own jet lag while attempting to do so.

Jet Lag has two completely separate parts. The play opens up with the story of a man named Roger Dearborn, played by David Pence, who is documenting his fake sea voyage around the world. Dearborn has entered a competition to sail around the world. He is trying to figure out what is going on and add to the experience. Though it is also possible to exit the theater with your very own jet lag while attempting to do so.

Jet Lag has two completely separate parts. The play opens up with the story of a man named Roger Dearborn, played by David Pence, who is documenting his fake sea voyage around the world. Dearborn has entered a competition to sail around the world. He is trying to figure out what is going on and add to the experience. Though it is also possible to exit the theater with your very own jet lag while attempting to do so.

Jet Lag has two completely separate parts. The play opens up with the story of a man named Roger Dearborn, played by David Pence, who is documenting his fake sea voyage around the world. Dearborn has entered a competition to sail around the world. He is trying to figure out what is going on and add to the experience. Though it is also possible to exit the theater with your very own jet lag while attempting to do so.

Jet Lag has two completely separate parts. The play opens up with the story of a man named Roger Dearborn, played by David Pence, who is documenting his fake sea voyage around the world. Dearborn has entered a competition to sail around the world. He is trying to figure out what is going on and add to the experience. Though it is also possible to exit the theater with your very own jet lag while attempting to do so.

Jet Lag has two completely separate parts. The play opens up with the story of a man named Roger Dearborn, played by David Pence, who is documenting his fake sea voyage around the world. Dearborn has entered a competition to sail around the world. He is trying to figure out what is going on and add to the experience. Though it is also possible to exit the theater with your very own jet lag while attempting to do so.

Jet Lag has two completely separate parts. The play opens up with the story of a man named Roger Dearborn, played by David Pence, who is documenting his fake sea voyage around the world. Dearborn has entered a competition to sail around the world. He is trying to figure out what is going on and add to the experience. Though it is also possible to exit the theater with your very own jet lag while attempting to do so.

Jet Lag has two completely separate parts. The play opens up with the story of a man named Roger Dearborn, played by David Pence, who is documenting his fake sea voyage around the world. Dearborn has entered a competition to sail around the world. He is trying to figure out what is going on and add to the experience. Though it is also possible to exit the theater with your very own jet lag while attempting to do so.

Jet Lag has two completely separate parts. The play opens up with the story of a man named Roger Dearborn, played by David Pence, who is documenting his fake sea voyage around the world. Dearborn has entered a competition to sail around the world. He is trying to figure out what is going on and add to the experience. Though it is also possible to exit the theater with your very own jet lag while attempting to do so.

Jet Lag has two completely separate parts. The play opens up with the story of a man named Roger Dearborn, played by David Pence, who is documenting his fake sea voyage around the world. Dearborn has entered a competition to sail around the world. He is trying to figure out what is going on and add to the experience. Though it is also possible to exit the theater with your very own jet lag while attempting to do so.

Jet Lag has two completely separate parts. The play opens up with the story of a man named Roger Dearborn, played by David Pence, who is documenting his fake sea voyage around the world. Dearborn has entered a competition to sail around the world. He is trying to figure out what is going on and add to the experience. Though it is also possible to exit the theater with your very own jet lag while attempting to do so.

Jet Lag has two completely separate parts. The play opens up with the story of a man named Roger Dearborn, played by David Pence, who is documenting his fake sea voyage around the world. Dearborn has entered a competition to sail around the world. He is trying to figure out what is going on and add to the experience. Though it is also possible to exit the theater with your very own jet lag while attempting to do so.

Jet Lag has two completely separate parts. The play opens up with the story of a man named Roger Dearborn, played by David Pence, who is documenting his fake sea voyage around the world. Dearborn has entered a competition to sail around the world. He is trying to figure out what is going on and add to the experience. Though it is also possible to exit the theater with your very own jet lag while attempting to do so.

Jet Lag has two completely separate parts. The play opens up with the story of a man named Roger Dearborn, played by David Pence, who is documenting his fake sea voyage around the world. Dearborn has entered a competition to sail around the world. He is trying to figure out what is going on and add to the experience. Though it is also possible to exit the theater with your very own jet lag while attempting to do so.

Jet Lag has two completely separate parts. The play opens up with the story of a man named Roger Dearborn, played by David Pence, who is documenting his fake sea voyage around the world. Dearborn has entered a competition to sail around the world. He is trying to figure out what is going on and add to the experience. Though it is also possible to exit the theater with your very own jet lag while attempting to do so.

Jet Lag has two completely separate parts. The play opens up with the story of a man named Roger Dearborn, played by David Pence, who is documenting his fake sea voyage around the world. Dearborn has entered a competition to sail around the world. He is trying to figure out what is going on and add to the experience. Though it is also possible to exit the theater with your very own jet lag while attempting to do so.

Jet Lag has two completely separate parts. The play opens up with the story of a man named Roger Dearborn, played by David Pence, who is documenting his fake sea voyage around the world. Dearborn has entered a competition to sail around the world. He is trying to figure out what is going on and add to the experience. Though it is also possible to exit the theater with your very own jet lag while attempting to do so.

Jet Lag has two completely separate parts. The play opens up with the story of a man named Roger Dearborn, played by David Pence, who is documenting his fake sea voyage around the world. Dearborn has entered a competition to sail around the world. He is trying to figure out what is going on and add to the experience. Though it is also possible to exit the theater with your very own jet lag while attempting to do so.

Jet Lag has two completely separate parts. The play opens up with the story of a man named Roger Dearborn, played by David Pence, who is documenting his fake sea voyage around the world. Dearborn has entered a competition to sail around the world. He is trying to figure out what is going on and add to the experience. Though it is also possible to exit the theater with your very own jet lag while attempting to do so.

Jet Lag has two completely separate parts. The play opens up with the story of a man named Roger Dearborn, played by David Pence, who is documenting his fake sea voyage around the world. Dearborn has entered a competition to sail around the world. He is trying to figure out what is going on and add to the experience. Though it is also possible to exit the theater with your very own jet lag while attempting to do so.

Jet Lag has two completely separate parts. The play opens up with the story of a man named Roger Dearborn, played by David Pence, who is documenting his fake sea voyage around the world. Dearborn has entered a competition to sail around the world. He is trying to figure out what is going on and add to the experience. Though it is also possible to exit the theater with your very own jet lag while attempting to do so.
Mark’s New Music Roundup

James Franco Stars in Howl
Provides Solid Attempt to Recreate Ginsberg’s Legend

John Legend, hip hop’s most talented vocalist, teams up with The Roots, the genre’s most talented band, to provide an album full of covers of classic soul/funk songs, with the exception of the final song “Shine,” which is an original. Make Up Is a great album that effortlessly combines the best elements of hip hop and R&B. The combination of Legend and The Roots provides such flawless music that you’ll be hoping they collaborate much more in the future, for the sake of everything hip hop and R&B.

Eric Clapton still has it. He returns with a slyly looking haircut and the same classic rock and roll that listeners have come to expect. Although not fully on par with his earlier work, Clapton provides unique experience that can only be performed by one of rock’s legends. While crossing boundaries of various genres such as New Orleans jazz, blues and country, Clapton has released an album that is at times hard to keep up with, and at other times lively and gripping.

Eric Clapton still has it. He returns with a slyly looking haircut and the same classic rock and roll that listeners have come to expect. Although not fully on par with his earlier work, Clapton provides unique experience that can only be performed by one of rock’s legends. While crossing boundaries of various genres such as New Orleans jazz, blues and country, Clapton has released an album that is at times hard to keep up with, and at other times lively and gripping.

The animation during Howl is powerfully detailed, but seems out of place. The illustrations are occasionally obtrusive, as they should be, but feel too similar to a more colorful portrayal of Tim Burton’s work. They also provide only one depiction for a poem which could have various interpretations. The court scenes create an interesting discussion of what should be considered literary relevance, but they could have been placed better. In fact, they only made a memorable presence towards the end of the film, after the viewer begins to forget their significance.

The remaining scenes of Howl are composed of Ginsberg’s writing and speaking, with large glasses and a slightly concaved old Jew face. However, you’ll most likely be hard-pressed to find anyone who could fit the role better. Ginsberg would be enjoyable to watch by itself.

The animation during Howl is powerfully detailed, but seems out of place. The illustrations are occasionally obtrusive, as they should be, but feel too similar to a more colorful portrayal of Tim Burton’s work. They also provide only one depiction for a poem which could have various interpretations. The court scenes create an interesting discussion of what should be considered literary relevance, but they could have been placed better. In fact, they only made a memorable presence towards the end of the film, after the viewer begins to forget their significance.

Mark Gould
Arts & Entertainment Editor

James Franco stars in Howl, a film based on the famous Allen Ginsberg poem, as well as the court proceedings following its alleged obscenity. Although mostly well done, no film is safe from the standards set by Ginsberg and his fellow Beat writers. Physically, Franco looks as if he is just playing himself, with large glasses and a slightly concaved old Jew face. However, he’s most likely to be hard-pressed to find anyone who could fit the role better.

The remaining scenes of Howl are composed of Ginsberg’s writing and speaking, with large glasses and a slightly concaved old Jew face. However, you’ll most likely be hard-pressed to find anyone who could fit the role better. Ginsberg would be enjoyable to watch by itself.

The animation during Howl is powerfully detailed, but seems out of place. The illustrations are occasionally obtrusive, as they should be, but feel too similar to a more colorful portrayal of Tim Burton’s work. They also provide only one depiction for a poem which could have various interpretations. The court scenes create an interesting discussion of what should be considered literary relevance, but they could have been placed better. In fact, they only made a memorable presence towards the end of the film, after the viewer begins to forget their significance.

The remaining scenes of Howl are composed of Ginsberg’s writing and speaking, with large glasses and a slightly concaved old Jew face. However, you’ll most likely be hard-pressed to find anyone who could fit the role better. Ginsberg would be enjoyable to watch by itself.

The animation during Howl is powerfully detailed, but seems out of place. The illustrations are occasionally obtrusive, as they should be, but feel too similar to a more colorful portrayal of Tim Burton’s work. They also provide only one depiction for a poem which could have various interpretations. The court scenes create an interesting discussion of what should be considered literary relevance, but they could have been placed better. In fact, they only made a memorable presence towards the end of the film, after the viewer begins to forget their significance.

The remaining scenes of Howl are composed of Ginsberg’s writing and speaking, with large glasses and a slightly concaved old Jew face. However, you’ll most likely be hard-pressed to find anyone who could fit the role better. Ginsberg would be enjoyable to watch by itself.

The animation during Howl is powerfully detailed, but seems out of place. The illustrations are occasionally obtrusive, as they should be, but feel too similar to a more colorful portrayal of Tim Burton’s work. They also provide only one depiction for a poem which could have various interpretations. The court scenes create an interesting discussion of what should be considered literary relevance, but they could have been placed better. In fact, they only made a memorable presence towards the end of the film, after the viewer begins to forget their significance.

The remaining scenes of Howl are composed of Ginsberg’s writing and speaking, with large glasses and a slightly concaved old Jew face. However, you’ll most likely be hard-pressed to find anyone who could fit the role better. Ginsberg would be enjoyable to watch by itself.
I’m Still Here is a documentary that follows the life of Oscar-nominated actor Joaquin Phoenix, as he retires from acting and embarks on a new career in hip-hop. Phoenix originally decided to retire from acting in 2008, which is where the documentary starts off, after a brief scene of Joaquin from his childhood.

There has been much debate over whether or not I’m Still Here is a total hoax or if Joaquin Phoenix was just acting for the camera. Questions were raised about the involvement of director Casey Affleck, Phoenix’s brother-in-law, in this project.

After seeing the documentary for myself, I firmly believe that over 80 percent of it is scripted. It was peculiar how Affleck could have had the camera on Phoenix during certain scenes. With near perfect documentary timing, Phoenix is shown having sex, snorting cocaine and having an emotional meltdown. It is hard to imagine that Affleck would have been in those exact places at the right times without the film being scripted.

Affleck wants his audience to believe that he was allowed to film “real” footage while Phoenix and his buddies were doing drugs and having sex with random girls. It was also just confirmed that David Letterman and Sean “P. Diddy” Combs were in on the hoax themselves. While I’m very upset that this documentary is fake I am still impressed that Affleck managed to get Letterman and Combs to play a role in what is now being referred to as a “mockumentary.”

Joaquin grew a disgusting beard, let his hair grow long and decided to make terrible hip-hop music. Is the audience supposed to believe that Phoenix is going up a successful acting career for this? By the end of the documentary, Phoenix is in a financial hole and even admits his hip-hop music is horrible. This leads me to believe that Phoenix is too smart to have made such a stupid move in the first place.

While this film might have been a total waste of time to others, and deserved to retire from acting in 2008, which is where the documentary starts off, after a brief scene of Joaquin from his childhood.

There has been much debate over whether or not I’m Still Here is a total hoax or if Joaquin Phoenix was just acting for the camera. Questions were raised about the involvement of director Casey Affleck, Phoenix’s brother-in-law, in this project.

After seeing the documentary for myself, I firmly believe that over 80 percent of it is scripted. It was peculiar how Affleck could have had the camera on Phoenix during certain scenes. With near perfect documentary timing, Phoenix is shown having sex, snorting cocaine and having an emotional meltdown. It is hard to imagine that Affleck would have been in those exact places at the right times without the film being scripted.

Affleck wants his audience to believe that he was allowed to film “real” footage while Phoenix and his buddies were doing drugs and having sex with random girls. It was also just confirmed that David Letterman and Sean “P. Diddy” Combs were in on the hoax themselves. While I’m very upset that this documentary is fake I am still impressed that Affleck managed to get Letterman and Combs to play a role in what is now being referred to as a “mockumentary.”

Joaquin grew a disgusting beard, let his hair grow long and decided to make terrible hip-hop music. Is the audience supposed to believe that Phoenix is going up a successful acting career for this? By the end of the documentary, Phoenix is in a financial hole and even admits his hip-hop music is horrible. This leads me to believe that Phoenix is too smart to have made such a stupid move in the first place.

While this film might have been a total waste of time to others, and despite the fact that it is fake, I still enjoyed it to a certain extent. Phoenix took a risk doing this film, and faced a huge amount of public criticism, but he managed to pull off a very good performance. You could almost believe this documentary is real, based on the emotional roller coaster Phoenix is going through. I actually admire Phoenix’s performance, which makes me even more upset that the public has criticized this fake documentary. Overall, if you decide to see I’m Not Here, please take the route that I did, and don’t try to pinpoint what is so fake about it, but try to admire the effort that Phoenix put into his role in this film.

New Television Worth Watching:
The Buried Life

Season two of The Buried Life, aka “MTV finally gets something right,” returns for a second season, as four friends try to tackle the question, “What do you want to do before you die?”

The Buried Life troupe delivering a baby, attempting to play basketball with President Obama and appearing on the Oprah Winfrey Show. Although they don’t always succeed in their objectives, it’s still captivating to watch people actually try to do something with their lives, instead of letting things drift past them.

This upcoming season will contain the silly yet serious exploits of the group, including some unique quests among the strangers they help out. These quests include helping two strangers make a motorbike journey across Florida to bury their father’s ashes, building a skate park for a community that has lost four teenagers to tragedy and helping a struggling rock band get signed to a record label.

Season two of The Buried Life airs Monday nights at 10:30 p.m. If you’re smart, it’ll be the best, and only, thing on MTV you’ll watch all season.

Ken Maret Staff Writer

To watch the trailer for I’m Still Here visit www.themontclarion.org

Ken’s Grade: 3 out of 5 Stars

Joaquin Phoenix appears in a scene from the documentary. Photo courtesy of www.hypetrack.com

Joaquin Phoenix Stirs up Controversy with New Film

I’m Still Here Creates A “Mockumentary”

I’m Very Upset That This Documentary Is Fake

Nobody dreams of having multiple sclerosis.

Some dreams are universal. Hitting a ball over the Green Monster, entering the World Series with a Grand Slam in the bottom of the ninth inning. Finding out that you have MS isn’t one of them.

Multiple sclerosis is a devastating disease of the central nervous system where the body’s immune system attacks the myelin insulation surrounding the nerves. It strikes in the prime of life—also changing lives forever.

The National MS Society funds more research and provides more services for people with MS than any MS organization in the world. But we can’t do it alone.

To help make the dream of ending MS come true, visit us online at www.networkingforamossociety.com or call 1-800-621-3151.

Mark Gould Arts & Entertainment Editor

The Buried Life, aka “MTV finally gets something right,” returns for a second season, as four friends try to tackle the question, “What do you want to do before you die?”

If the premise of the show was simple—watch four white boys achieve all of their goals, it would have drifted past them.

Past episodes have showcased The Buried Life troupe delivering a baby, attempting to play basketball with President Obama and appearing on the Oprah Winfrey Show. Although Care to see how the newspaper is put together every week?

Check out the Behind The Scenes at The Montclarion blog.

Under the blogs tab at themontclarion.org.

This Week: An Interview with News Editor Nicole Simonetti.

Help Wanted
*PART TIME MANAGER
ASSISTANT* New Brunswick & Fairfield Locations. 815Hr Monday- Friday. Apply directly to Job Link: https://www.select2perform.com/default?action=url&key=ede39256565f99 or email resume to mmalinsk@fastenal.com

Services for Sale
PIANO LESSONS!!!
BEGINNER TO INTERMEDIATE.
INSTRUCTOR WITH OVER 10 YEARS EXPERIENCE AND A PIANO. VERY REASONABLE RATES. CALL OR E-MAIL KATHERINE FOR DETAILS 201-694-9872. katmilsop@yahoo.com.

Advertise With Us!
Contact Kevin at montclarionads@gmail.com
Women’s Soccer Wins First NJAC Game

Wacker’s Hat Trick Helps Red Hawks to Victory over Rutgers-Newark yesterday.

Freshman Allison Wacker drives to the net to score one of her three goals during the Red Hawk’s 7-2 win over Rutgers-Newark yesterday.

Deanna Benjamin
Staw Writer

The Montclair Red Hawks sent the Rutgers-Newark Scarlet Raiders back home before the end of the first period, beating the Raiders 7-2 yesterday. The Red Hawks struck early and often in the game. As the fans were just getting comfortable, a goal was scored only nine seconds into the game. Sophomore Rachel Snyzyn kicked the ball from the knee of senior Katie Minervini and Minervini who took the shot from the top of the box. It was Wacker’s third goal of the season and seconds short of the fastest goal in Division III history.

It wasn’t long after, that senior Jackie Zayac lifted a pass to Wacker where she took an open shot on goal to the right post. The Red Hawks received a chance to increase the lead four minutes later, but senior Katie Minervini’s penalty kick went over the crossbar. Before ten minutes of the game went through, the Red Hawks were up by two. Sophomore Alyssa Batiste put up 37 attacks and 12 digs in the Red Hawk’s loss to Brooklyn College on Saturday.

Saint Peter’s Volleyball team lost on Saturday 3-2 against the 6-1 Brooklyn Bulldogs, bringing MSU’s record to 2-16. After five long and hard-fought sets, the final match we all agreed that our main focus was going to be aiming for open spots on the court and not to do anything fancy.

At this point everyone watching was excited to see the outcome of the game. Though the Red Hawks showed the fans a good game, they were unable to overcome the last set leaving the Bulldogs the win. After each set, the girls learned about what went wrong, and looked to progress later on in the season. The next match will be on the road against Rowan on Thursday night at 7 p.m.

Volleyball Loses Five Set Battle Against Brooklyn

Sophomore Alyssa Batiste put up 37 attacks and 12 digs in the Red Hawk’s loss to Brooklyn College on Saturday.

Sophomore Alyssa Batiste put up 37 attacks and 12 digs in the Red Hawk’s loss to Brooklyn College on Saturday.

Deanna Benjamin
Staw Writer

After five long and hard-fought sets, Montclair’s Volleyball team lost on Saturday 3-2 against the 6-1 Brooklyn Bulldogs, bringing MSU’s record to 2-16. During the first set Montclair worked together and were very organized. Both teams set up for each other’s spikes and did not let anything hit the floor. They were set up for a 2-1 upset. As the second set began and Montclair kept their energy up, it was the end of the first, the Bulldogs started getting scared. With the score at 14-14, Montclair, the Bulldog captain kept telling her team-mates, “We can’t let this happen.” After a brief time out, the Bulldogs came out and scored seven consecutive points making the score 21-14.

When Brooklyn scored those seven consecutive points, our team felt that we need to pick up our game if we want to win,” sophomore Bella Milestein said. “When something like that happens and we are in a rut, we tell ourselves to play and not give up. Their energy throughout the game stayed high. Raider Vanessa Rivera brought the ball up and took a hard shot on Red Hawks’ goalie Marisa Zarone. Zarone tried grabbing the ball and it bounced off of her chest. Raider Thalia Sanchez was there at the right time as she kicked the ball right next to the Red Hawks’ goalie. The Red Hawks brushed off the goal as five minutes later they returned with yet another goal. Freshman Jenna Carroll and senior Nicole Aveloz dibbled up the field to see Freshman Amanda Pope open on the end. Carroll lifted the ball towards Pope and headed the ball into the goal.

This left the Red Hawks with an advantage of 2-0. Moments later Wacker brought the ball from the 30 with just one attacker between her and the goalie. She crossed the ball to where Minervini was waiting. Minervini received the pass and did not wait to take a direct kick into the goal. The Red Hawks stayed focused as they continued this predictable game.

“We had to play through the entire game,” Snyzyn said. “We did not have the mentality that we won the game already.” As the game was just about to end Wacker took a shot from 35 yards while the keeper was out of the net on a challenge play. Wacker received her hat trick for the game with 1:32 remaining. The game ended with a win for the Red Hawks at 7-2.

Montclair is back in action on Saturday, Oct. 2 at 3 p.m. with a conference match at Rutgers-Camden. The Red Hawks next home game will be on Wednesday, Oct. 13 against Raritan at 7 p.m.
The two most desired awards in Major League Baseball, the Cy Young and Most Valuable Player, are going to be announced at the end of the regular season. Baseball players compete and play to receive the honor. It’s an individual award meant to be given to the most dominant pitcher for the season, not for the entire team or for any individual player regardless of their team. The Cy Young award is no different. It will be given to the most dominant pitcher for the season, not the one that gets his team into the playoffs.

The team that makes the post season, or at least show a valiant run towards the post season, get the benefit of the doubt. They’ve taken their team somewhere and showed that their worth is not only on the field from a personal standpoint but with their entire team as well. But, again, this award isn’t awarded for having the entire team as well. But, again, this award isn’t handed out for having the best team, it’s to admire and reward an individual’s accomplishments. The World Series is the reward for good teamwork and for the overall best team, keep those rewards and arguments separate.

However, the Red Hawks came out firing in the second half. Montclair extended the lead to 2-0 with his fifth goal, 3:00 into the period. After giving up a goal from TCNJ junior Luigi Montella that trimmed past the net, Montclair struck back over six minutes later 18 yards out on the right side for his second goal of the game to put the Red Hawks ahead 3-1. The team wasn’t done yet though as Mike Pytlar added to the lead less than 14 minutes later 18 yards out into the right corner as Sean Rudden also scored his first goal of the season during the Red Hawks’ win. Mike Rudden also scored his first goal of the season during the Red Hawks’ win.

Rutgers-Camden, a team for which the Red Hawks are mentally preparing. "Our main focus is to stay motivated and hungry for the task ahead," said Montclair. "It will be a hard fought match against a great Rutgers team and we’re looking forward to coming out with another win."

"Saturday’s game should be a good contest," said Rudden. "Everyone is pretty well rested and we are looking forward to the opportunity."

"Rutgers-Camden is a very strong team," said coach Sentowski. "We will prepare like we always do, with focus, attention to details and a passion for winning." Kickoff for the game begins at 1:00 p.m. at MSU Soccer Park.

STUDY ABROAD for LESS than a SEMESTER at Montclair State University*

Apply Now!

EDGANG

Institute of Administration and Management $3,000
(First 3 completed applications)

MICAFA: Universités de Paris $3,000
(First 17 completed applications)

FRANCE

Certified Esthetician & Stylist
Threading & Waxing Specialists

BEAUTY SALON

SPECIALS

Eyebrow Threading
No Appt. Necessary For Eyebrow Threading

KERATIN TREATMENT $100 UP

3 ON 1 WAXING BIKINI
AND FULL LEGS

FREE HAIRCUT WITH FULL HEAD HIGHLIGHTS

For additional coupons please visit our website at:
www.arbeauty salon.com

STUDY ABROAD for LESS than a SEMESTER at
Montclair State University*

Qualifying Programs

AUSTRALIA

Queensland University of Technology $3,000
(First 10 completed applications)

Royal Melbourne Institute of Technology $2,000
(First 10 completed applications)

Victoria University $3,000
(First 4 completed applications)

Macquarie University $5,500
(First 1 completed application)

UNITED KINGDOM

University of Wolverhampton $3,000
(First 5 completed applications)

$4 WAXING BIKINI
AND FULL LEGS

Beautiful hair, full body waxing

No Appt. Necessary For Eyebrow Threading

KERATIN TREATMENT $100 UP

3 ON 1 WAXING BIKINI
AND FULL LEGS

FREE HAIRCUT WITH FULL HEAD HIGHLIGHTS

For additional coupons please visit our website at:
www.arbeauty salon.com

$4 WAXING BIKINI
AND FULL LEGS

Beautiful hair, full body waxing

No Appt. Necessary For Eyebrow Threading

KERATIN TREATMENT $100 UP

3 ON 1 WAXING BIKINI
AND FULL LEGS

FREE HAIRCUT WITH FULL HEAD HIGHLIGHTS

For additional coupons please visit our website at:
www.arbeauty salon.com

1-866-373-8508

16-37 River Road, Fair Lawn

3OFF

The Montclarion • September 30, 2010

Jill Keats

The Montclarion
The Red Hawks of Montclair State and the Mustangs of Morrisville State are on completely opposite poles of the NJAC. After Saturday’s football conference match-up, you can guess who is on top.

MSU’s NJAC winning streak continues as they remain undefeated with a 42-6 massacre of the now 0-3 Mustangs on their own field. The Red Hawk offense was nearly flawless as they found success both through the air and on the ground. Their six touchdowns were split evenly between the passing game and the running game with three each.

Morrisville State’s offense was not quite as fortunate, but when you face the top defense in the NJAC, that isn’t much of a surprise. The stalwart Red Hawk defense held the Mustangs to four first downs and 104 total yards, including an underwhelming 5 yards rushing for the day.

MSU’s defense has been key in its quality running backs since the beginning of the 2010 season. Saturday’s blowout continued this newly developed tradition with 143 of the team’s 398 total yards contributed by the running game, and three different running backs scoring a touchdown.

Senior captain Chris D’Andrea led the pack with 61 yards rushing on 23 carries. Standout freshman A.J. Scoppa continues to make a name for himself with 43 yards rushing on only seven carries. Scoppa was not the only freshman to show his skills Saturday. With an injury suffered by Matt Jimenez during the 26-7 win over Rowan, freshmen Domenick Coiro was given an opportunity to take over where the senior left off, and he didn’t disappoint. On seven carries, Coiro ran for 28 yards and scored his first touchdown of the season.

Junior quarterback Tom Fischer had his best game of the season against the Mustangs. Fischer completed 76 percent of his 26 attempts for 199 yards and an impressive three touchdowns. One of those touchdowns went to his new favorite target, junior wide receiver Byron Lewin, who finished the game with nine catches for 80 yards receiving. This marks Lewin’s second straight game with at least eight receptions and 80 yards.

In addition to the 104 yards allowed by the Red Hawks, Morrisville State also committed two turnovers, one coming from an interception by junior defensive back Chad Faulcon and a fumble recovery by special-teams player Tahron Green. The Mustang backfield found zero daylight against MSU’s front seven as their leading rusher only managed to finish the game with nine yards. Linebackers Dan Avino and Ed Kirschbaum led the charge with seven and six tackles, respectively. Kirschbaum recorded one tackle for a loss of yardage.

The undefeated Red Hawks will be looking for their twelfth straight NJAC victory at rival Kean University under the Friday night lights at 7 p.m.
SCHEDULE OF EVENTS

October 4
• Homecoming BBQ
• Homecoming King and Queen Talent Show
• Office Decoration and Residence Hall Banner Contest

October 5
• Inflatables
• Outdoor Movie: Iron Man 2

October 6
• International Student Organization Food Festival
• Pre-Softball Game BBQ
• Softball Game/Pep Rally: Faculty, Staff, and Students
• King and Queen Finalist Announcement
• Coffeehouse

October 7
• Smoothies and Novelties
• Montclair State Iron Chef Competition
• Montclair State vs. Rutgers-Newark Volleyball Game
• Casino Night

October 8
• Coffee Bar
• Floatbuilding
• Airbrushing
• Banner Contest Judging
• Montclair State vs. New Paltz Field Hockey Game
• Kaleidoscope
• Homefest!

Homecoming and Family Day 2010
A whole day of fun
Saturday, October 9

• Midnight Breakfast
• Marine Corp Flight Orientation
• Carnival
  Carnival booths and novelty items such as face painting, hair wrapping, caricaturist, photo booth, and inflatables. Local vendors will be on site as well.
• Vinyasa Power Yoga
• Mini-University
• BBQ
• Campus/Construction Tours
• Homecoming Parade/Performance
• Montclair State vs. City College of New York Men’s Soccer Game
• Tailgate
• Ice Skating
• Montclair State vs. The College of New Jersey Football Game
  Halftime: Drums of Thunder and Recognition of Class of 1960/Coach Edwards
  King/Queen and Parade Winners Announced
• Dinner from Home
• Hype Night
• Kaleidoscope

Free parking on campus all day

See all the details at montclair.edu/homecoming
Programs subject to change without notice

Suggested by the Montclarion • September 30, 2010

Local merchants are offering discounts October 9-15. See list of participating sponsors online at montclair.edu/homecoming.

1 Normal Avenue, Montclair, NJ • 973-655-4000 • montclair.edu/homecoming

2010 Homecoming & Family Day
Montclair State University
2010

Fantasy Football Start ‘Em/Sit ‘Em: Week Four

START ‘EM

QB – DONOVAN McNABB – McNabb heads into Philadelphia this weekend to play his former team. Eagles fans have never appreciated McNabb’s talent. They booed him on draft day, questioned his work ethic, and never appreciated McNabb’s talent. They should be looking forward to McNabb playing some of his best football against his former team. Eagles fans have been booing him on draft day, questioned his work ethic, and never appreciated McNabb’s talent. They should be looking forward to McNabb playing some of his best football against his former team.

WR – GREG JENNINGS/DONALD DRIVER — Every Green Bay wide receiver is a good play this week versus one of the league’s worst pass defenses. The Lions’ secondary seems to get torched every week for giant chunks of yards by opposing wide receivers, so expect Aaron Rodgers’ to target those guys persistently throughout the game.

SIT ‘EM

QB – ALEX SMITH – Smith and the Chiefs have some offensive frustration in Oakland. They should not change for him.

WR – KENNY BRITT – Britt faces off against arguably the best shutdown corner in the league this week in Champ Bailey. None of the Titans’ receivers have put up any significant numbers over the first three weeks and while Britt is being shadowed by Bailey this week, that should not change for him.

WR – Arian Foster – Foster should be able to put together 100+ yards and a score this week as Houston comes off a tough loss to Dallas, and looks to unleash their frustration in Oakland.

RB – RAY BICE – New story, same story. Pittsburgh is a top fantasy defense thus far. The Steelers are holding opposing offenses running backs to under 50 yards total offense this year. I know that you are never supposed to bench your studs but if you have another option this week, you should consider using him.

RB – Arian Foster – Foster to pad his superb stats this week against the Oakland Raiders. Foster should be able to put together 100+ yards and a score this week as Houston comes off a tough loss to Dallas, and looks to unleash their frustration in Oakland.

GAME OF THE WEEK

The Red Hawks look to maintain their unbeaten NJAC record in Saturday’s battle with the Scarlet Raptors.
Field Hockey Falls to Misericordia

The MSU Field Hockey team frequently escabe at penalty corners. Numerous plays this season have seen senior Donna Hagedorn kick the ball out to Jessica Murphy off the corner. Murphy would unload a booming shot that would be deflected by a forward and into the cage.

On Wednesday, however, penalty corners were the death of the Red Hawks, as they failed to score on seven of them. Their opponent, the Misericordia Cougars, scored the game’s only goal on one of their own, resulting in a 1-0 loss to the Cougars last night. Senior defender Rebekah Keller drives the ball into Misericordia territory during the Red Hawks’ 1-0 loss to the Cougars last night.

For Montclair State, the loss was their first road victory of the season. The team’s first road victory of the season was Sept. 16, 2009 against Stevens. “For next game, we just have to work on making plays on the ball and putting it in the back of the cage,” Melissa Flaherty said.

The second half saw both teams miss on offensive opportunities. As the period dragged on, the game became a give-and-go affair, with both teams content to let the other take the initiative. When the Red Hawks did make a play, it seemed like Misericordia goalie Grace Riker was there to get in the way. Her six saves were enough to keep the Cougars in the game.

Entering the second half with a goal up is not an easy thing to do,” said sophomore goalkeeper Anthony Rogic. The other team usually comes out blazing in the second looking for the equalizer. The Red Hawks went into halftime one up and before they knew it, the ball was in the net.

Senior midfielder Dan Mendoza led the way for the Red Hawks, scoring a pair of goals in the game to give the Red Hawks a win in the MAC. “My plan was to play calm and collected,” said Mendoza. “The team and I were confident going into the game and so far we feel that we’ve been playing well.”

Both teams got off to a slow start in the first half. TCNJ outshot Montclair State 4-1 in the first half, but the Red Hawks took a 1-0 lead in the 49th minute when junior defender Mike Rudden knocked in a cross from the right side past Jon Christiansen for his first score of the year. The score would remain 1-0 at the half as the Red Hawks went into halftime knowing they needed to show more intensity and confidence to pull ahead and win the game.

Red Hawk freshman Dan Mendoza scored twice in MSU’s 5-1 win over the TCNJ Lions on Saturday afternoon.

Field Hockey Falls to Misericordia