The Montclarion, October 04, 2012

The Montclarion

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.montclair.edu/montclarion

Recommended Citation
https://digitalcommons.montclair.edu/montclarion/964

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the Student Newspapers at Montclair State University Digital Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Montclarion by an authorized administrator of Montclair State University Digital Commons. For more information, please contact digitalcommons@montclair.edu.
THE MONTCLARION

The Student Voice of Montclair State University Since 1928

On the web at: www.theMontclarion.org

Vol. 92

Issue 5

October 4, 2012

Weekend WEATHER

FRI: 10/5- 79°

SAT: 10/6- 70°

SUN: 10/7-61°

---

Students Hungry for Change

Catherine Baxter

One of the biggest changes students saw this year was the new food options on campus. With the renovation of Freeman Dining Hall, the new crepe bar in the Rath and a new sushi vendor in the Student Center Cafeteria, students have many new choices from Sodexo Dining Services.

Currently, three kiosks are located in the dining hall, and students are able to order fresh food throughout the day. The new addition of a large screen now shows how much longer students can expect to wait for their food.

---

Come Out to Support Coming Out Week

Brittany Ungano

The Montclarion | Stephanie Raskin

National Coming Out Day is Oct. 11 and next week Montclair State will once again be hosting Coming Out Week.

“As of today, we have well over 2,000 residential students who have registered to vote in our local districts,” Mario Rapetti, Associate Director of Residential Education, said. “As with any election, we want to make sure that every vote counts. College students are a prime population that can be overlooked when they live away from home and we want to make sure their vote is in on Election Day.”

Registration efforts include speeches from the SGA to their legislature stressing the importance of making sure students know about voter registration drives around campus. Organizations have held table hours in hopes of registering students. Additionally, the SGA and staff from Residential Education have gone door to door to register students.

Students are able to write Messages of Hope to raise encouragement for members of the LGBT Community.

---

Campus Wide Initiative to Rock the Vote

Lindsay Rassmann

Montclair State has been taking the initiative to get the 4,500 resident students on campus registered to vote. Heavily involved in the registration process is the Student Government Association, Residential Education, Femvolution and LASO.

Members of the campus community delivered over 2,000 voter registration forms to county offices in Essex and Passaic counties yesterday.

Over the past few weeks, Montclair State has been taking the initiative to get the 4,500 resident students on campus registered to vote. Heavily involved in the registration process is the Student Government Association, Residential Education, Femvolution and LASO.

“Members of the campus community delivered over 2,000 voter registration forms to county offices in Essex and Passaic counties yesterday.”

One of the biggest changes students saw was the complete renovation of the Freeman Dining Hall. Along with an entire new interior, students can now order fresh food throughout the day.

Currently, three kiosks are located in the dining hall, and students are able to order fresh food throughout the day. The new addition of a large screen now shows how much longer students can expect to wait for their food.

---

How Safe Were We in 2011?

feature

National Domestic Violence Awareness Month

Celebrating the Legacy of Italian Voyages

Coming Out and Cutting Out Women’s Soccer Still Going Strong with 4-0 NJAC Record

---

INSIDE

news

How Safe Were We in 2011?

feature

National Domestic Violence Awareness Month

Celebrating the Legacy of Italian Voyages

opinion

Coming Out and Cutting Out Women’s Soccer Still Going Strong with 4-0 NJAC Record

sports

Women’s Soccer Still Going Strong with 4-0 NJAC Record
On Sept. 26: A female student reported her vehicle being keyed after having a verbal argument with another driver over a parking spot in Lot 23. This matter is under investigation.

On Sept. 27: An act of criminal mischief was reported in the NJ Transit Garage. A pay station on the fourth floor was damaged. This matter is under investigation.

On Sept. 28: A male student reported an act of criminal mischief to his vehicle parked in Lot 60. Someone tried removing the front tire of his vehicle. This matter is under investigation.

On Oct. 1: Jonathan Krzysik, 19, of Clifton, was arrested and charged with criminal mischief in Lot 17. He is scheduled to appear in Little Falls Municipal Court.

On Oct. 2: An act of criminal mischief was reported inside of Mallory Hall. Graffiti was discovered inside the bathrooms. This matter is under investigation.

On Oct. 2: A female student reported a known male entering her apartment in Williams Hall. The victim declined to pursue charges in this matter.

On Oct. 2: A female student reported an act of criminal mischief to her parked vehicle inside of Car Parc Diem. Her driver’s side window was broken. This matter is under investigation.

Anyone who has information regarding these incidents is urged to call the police station from any campus phone at T-I-P-S (8477). All calls are strictly confidential.

The Montclarion

A weekly newspaper providing one copy per person. Additional copies are $0.25.

Corrections

In the article from last week, "SGA Speaks Out Against War," the SGA legislator at Large is Mark Ludas, not Mark Rudas.

The Montclarion willingly corrects its factual errors. If you think we’ve made a mistake in a story, please call Editor-in-Chief Lori at ext. 5230.
Students in Blanton Hall are now under investigation, as threatening notes with the internet sensation “Slenderman” threatening to rape students appeared on the 5th floor of the building.

Slenderman is a character from your nightmares. An extremely tall, masculine figure wearing a suit with nothing but a white, featureless face lurks behind trees and in the backgrounds of photos. Originally a joke on the Something Awful forum, Slenderman quickly spread all over social media sites. A user posted a Photoshop contest to see who could insert Slenderman into the serum of pictures of various celebrities and movie stars. For a short while, this was an incredibly popular meme and we member have an obligation to not only the law but the Code of Student Conduct.

Though the message was not addressed on the 5th floor at the time it was found, officers believed that the message could be malicious in nature, it also broke the student conduct code but being it wasn’t approved to be posted.

A few residents of the floor were questioned about the situation, as well as any people who had Slenderman-related pictures posted in their rooms. As of now, no leads have been found, but the matter is still being investigated. Any student or staff member who believes the message was still disturbing to them is encouraged to alert the University Police Department at x5222.

Free speech is an extraordinarily important right and we need to get our fellow community members to talk about their feelings, stress, anxiety or whatever is holding them down. According to the student email sent out by CSI, “This is a way for students to release their stress, thoughts, challenges and feelings anonymously on a Post It.”

“I think this is a fantastic idea,” said Mary Bethon, a commuter student. “Sometimes, you just have that one thing sitting on your chest that you just can’t tell anyone else. It’s such a little thing, but at the same time it’s also empowering.”

Although students can submit anything they would like, it must be appropriate. Not all Post It notes will be posted on the windows in the Annex.

However, this project is also about injecting awareness of the negative things people talk about being depressed or struggling in classes, and I realize I’m not alone.”

Students with questions about the event can reach out to the Center for Student Involvement, located in SC 104.
Candelight vigil to be held in honor of lives lost in Afghan War

Oct. 5th marks the 11th anniversary of our presence in Afghanistan, and though few consider the “Forgotten War,” it’s been over a decade and we still see no signs of failure. Regardless of how shielded we may be, being that the war is indeed overseas, one way or another we are all affected. As sheltered as we are, citizens should feel the need to be aware of how our country’s involvement in Afghanistan affect everyone here at home. The fact is, this war cannot even be considered an official war.

As sheltered as we are, being that the war is indeed overseas, one way or another we are all affected. As sheltered as we are, citizens should feel the need to be aware of how our country’s involvement in Afghanistan affect everyone here at home. The fact is, this war cannot even be considered an official war.

If we think back to the follow-up actions after the attack on the U.S. on Sept. 11th, 2001, we never saw an official declaration. Our involvement in Afghanistan has turned into one of the most controversial topics U.S. citizens could ever find themselves discussing. In 2001, the United States and its allies launched “Operation Enduring Freedom,” What fueled and continues to fuel our current presence in the Middle East is our goal to disassemble Al-Qaeda and its radical members. Allied with the current Islamic Emirate of Afghanistan, which was overthrown by the Taliban in 1996, the U.S. hoped to stop Al-Qaeda and extremism alike.

The U.S. State Department estimates at least 919,967 casualties since the start of patrols in both Afghanistan and Iraq. Over 12,000 Afghans and approximately 2,000 U.S. civilians and military personnel have lost their lives. A USfar in Afghanistan alone.

At this point, the Obama administration has taken a more different approach than what President George W. Bush had first in mind. Either than try to “win” the war, President Obama puts an emphasis on simply ending it.

President Obama and his administration seek what they are calling a “leave Afghan in good terms” approach than what President Bush had first in mind. Rather than try to “win” the war, President Obama puts an emphasis on simply ending it.

The event will take place on the Student Center Quad at 8:30 p.m. and is open to the public. Students and members of our community will gather towards the front of the Quad, near the stage, and listen to their fellow peers speak about the war and the vigil itself. They will then follow up with a lighting of candles and experience a moment of silence as everyone gathers around. Ludas and Stone hope to have at least 140 candles lit, each one representing 100 Afghan civilian and military casualties.

The event was planned with the support of the Students for Democratic Society.

“I hope students can take away from this experience the feeling and awareness of what it truly means to be engaged in a long-term war in a distant land,” Ludas says.

Ludas continues to relay a new perspective of how the war is affecting our country.

“Above and beyond the financial costs, it is easy for us to forget that lives are being lost on a day to day basis, and that through protecting our American freedom is of great importance; the government can take advantage in its initiatives regarding war on other nations at the expense of our men and women in uniform,” said Ludas.

“It’s good to see young people be a part of commemorating the war and our troops’ efforts,” said Michelle Celestin, student and veteran. “It’s always a great thing to see people be aware of worldwide issues.”

The renovations were considered great by students at first. The quality was great, the food was fast and tasty delicious. However, as time has gone on, the quality has depleted a bit and the wait sometimes becomes unbearable.

Occasionally, the kitchen will get backed up with orders during key times of the day, usually during dinner. This tends to lead to an extremely long wait time before students receive their food, making getting a bite to eat before class a bit of a hassle.

“The quality has definitely taken a hit,” said Kevin Young, resident of Freeman Hall. “However, it hasn’t gotten to a point where it’s not enjoyable. It also kind of eliminated the wait time a bit, since less people are coming here now. I also like how we have the option to make our own sandwiches now.”

Some students seem to be under standing of the wait.

“Though everyone says that Freeman has become more of a hassle, I believe they just need time to master the new system before it becomes MSU’s number one food attraction,” said Andrew Pignataro, Director of Auxiliary Services. “The three new ordering kiosks are in place and the order monitor was installed. The kitchen staff is preparing the food faster than ever. As with all good things, the food is worth waiting for. Students are loving the made to order items. Let’s not forget, the items at Sam’s are fresh and made to order too.”

Aside from Freeman Hall, the rest of the changes to dining seem to be a huge hit.

Even though Dining Services is receiving mixed reviews about the new dining hall, they are still listening to students’ opinions and making adjustments as needed.

“Freeman is getting better and better each day,” said Andrew Pignataro, Director of Auxiliary Services. “The three new ordering kiosks are in place and the order monitor was installed. The kitchen staff is preparing the food faster than ever. As with all good things, the food is worth waiting for. Students are loving the made to order items. Let’s not forget, the items at Sam’s are fresh and made to order too.”

Students love the new crepe and dessert bar in the Rath, if you have not tried the s’more crepe yet, you should head over there right now.

Even the new sushi vendor in the cafeteria is getting great feedback, although at first students missed the old bar in the Rath.

Plans for The Plaza at Blanton are moving along as well.

“It is my goal to have the Sub Connection and Marketplace open on Oct. 13th,” said Pignataro. “The GFOC will be right behind with an opening goal of 10/29. And last but not least, the goal date for Dunkin Donuts is 11/12.”

Students are encouraged to provide feedback regularly, and not just if they are displeased. Students can email Dining Services at: diningservices@mail.montclair.edu.
Safety First: Crime Rates on Campus

Catherine Baxter
New Editor

In accordance with the Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act, colleges are required to report their annual crime and fire rates.

The information from 2011 was made available to students in an email on Oct. 1, 2012. In the email, President Susan Cole stated, “The safety program at Montclair State University is a community effort for the general benefit of students, faculty, staff and visitors. We are partners in creating an environment that is safe and promotes learning, social interaction and leisure activities.”

“A university community, like a residential community, reflects the society at large. As in other places, crime does occur on university campuses. Montclair State University has taken many steps to create a secure campus. This brochure contains important information on crime prevention and is intended to increase your safety awareness.”

“Let us work together to increase awareness and deter crime in order to maintain a secure campus.”

The information available includes fire statistics, crime rates and safety programs available to students on campus.

The following information listed comes directly from the websites given, which can be found online on the University Police or Fire Safety websites.

For more information, contact University Police at x5222 or Fire Safety Director Robert Ferrara at x5401.

* All other types of crime received a rate of 0 for 2011, including: murder, manslaughter, non-negligent manslaughter, arson, weapons possession and hate crimes.

VOTER REGISTRATION & VOTING FOR COLLEGE STUDENTS

College students can register to vote in New Jersey by following the standard application process: every prospective voter must submit a voter registration application.

You can register to vote if:
• You are a United States citizen
• You will be 18 years of age by the next election
• You will be a resident of the State and county 30 days before the election
• You are NOT currently serving a sentence, probation or parole

If you are in college, you have the option to register from your college address or your parent’s address. There are good reasons for registering and voting at either residence, but keep in mind, the final choice is yours.

The registration deadline to vote is 21* days prior to Election Day. You will receive a sample ballot about 1 week before the election that will indicate where your polling place is.

*Voter Registration closes on October 16, 2012. If you have any questions please call Government Relations or Residential Education Services.
Starting Monday, Oct. 8, the SGA and its executive branch SLAM will be organizing the an- nual Homecoming week. On Friday, Oct. 12, SLAM is host- ing a foam party. There will be food, drink, and prizes. DJ Spectrum will be featured at this event.

Ticket sales start today. Oct. 4 in the Student Center Annex at 8 a.m., with the lineup starting at 4 a.m. and tickets must be purchased in advance. After this presale, tickets will be sold in the SGA office through Bet- ty DeRose, the office administrator. The tickets cost $10 for MSU stu- dents and $20 for non-MSU guests.

The foam party will be located in the NJ Transit Deck. Lot 60 will be closed to traffic. There are no re- funds for the event.

Students must have a ticket to attend this event, and tickets must be purchased in advance. After this presale, tickets will be sold in the SGA office through Betty DeRose, the office administrator. The tickets cost $10 for MSU students and $20 for non-MSU guests.

Michelle Pisarri, press secretary for the SGA and an organizer for the SLAM event said,”We did the same thing last year; this year we have ‘Diva Jeopardy’ which will be co-sponsored by the LGBT Center. ‘Diva Jeopardy’ sounds fun,” said Daniella Rodrigues. ‘It’s how you get through those hard times that builds character and really how you get through it makes all the difference,” Perez said.

Many students are excited to show their support during coming out week.

“I am a big LGBT supporter,” said student Monica Adams. “My best friend is gay and I don’t ever wish him unequal rights because of it. I’ve even helped volunteer at Garden State Equality, who works towards more gay rights.”

“I did not know it was National Coming Out Day,” said student Kasey Simone. “I am a supporter of our LGBT community. Everyone should have the right to be them- selves.”

For students who have any ques- tions or concerns, or just need a place to talk, the LGBTQ Center is located in the Student Center Annex in the Center for Student In- volvement.

On Wednesday, the LGBT Center and Players are co-sponsoring an exciting event called ‘Diva Jeopard- dy;’ This version will be specifically related to all things diva, including female music artists. It’s how you get through those hard times that builds character and really how you get through it makes all the difference,” Perez said.

“Diva Jeopardy sounds fun,” said Daniella Rodrigues. “It’s how you get through those hard times that builds character and really how you get through it makes all the difference,” Perez said.

Many students are excited to show their support during coming out week.

I am a big LGBT supporter,” said student Monica Adams. “My best friend is gay and I don’t ever wish him unequal rights because of it. I’ve even helped volunteer at Garden State Equality, who works towards more gay rights.”

“I did not know it was National Coming Out Day,” said student Kasey Simone. “I am a supporter of our LGBT community. Everyone should have the right to be them- selves.”

For students who have any ques- tions or concerns, or just need a place to talk, the LGBTQ Center is located in the Student Center Annex in the Center for Student In- volvement.
What's Trending?

Scarf This Up

Scarves are a fashion staple for fall. They can jazz up an outfit, be used to protect your hair from the rain or provide a little added warmth. Out and about on campus I found a variety of scarves in different colors and textures. I'd have to say my favorite scarfs have tassel details along the edges. There are so many ways to wear a scarf, as I saw walking around campus. However, I want to give you three step-by-step ways you can wear this trend.

1. My first style is specifically for scarfs that are longer in length. Through my experiences, wearing a longer scarf draped over your neck can get in the way and can look a little sloppy. So, my quick fix is simply making each side of the scarf equal and then taking the ends and tying them into a knot! It's easy and convenient.

2. My second style is better for when it gets really cold outside. This works for any sized scarf. First, you want to fold the scarf in half, creating two equal sides. The scarf is now half of its original size. One side is the ends of the scarf and the other side is the fold. Next, hang the scarf over your neck while keeping the scarf still folded in half. Again, the one side of the scarf that is now hung over your neck has just the ends of the scarf while the other side is the folded part of the scarf. Next, just pull the ends of the scarf through the folded part. This style works well when you’re wearing a bulky jacket.

3. My third style is for a medium-sized scarf. Hang the scarf over your neck. Make sure each end of the scarf is even. This is my easiest style. Take one side and tie a knot on the one side and do the same for the other. This style takes a regular scarf into a more thought out style.

Follow for your daily dose of fashion @MSU_Fashion.
Making it big in any industry today takes more than just guts and talent. It takes brains, brains and more than just a little determination. Looking around this campus, it’s easy to see the budding talent of our future generation. Look a little deeper though, and you’ll find talent that’s already started to bloom.

Meet Rasaki Adewumni, a junior here at Montclair and owner of his own clothing line/brand called West A Lifestyle. Through a brief interview with Rasaki, it’s easy to see that he has a passion and a dream, and he won’t stop until it’s fulfilled.

Q. What inspired you to start your clothing line?
A. I always dreamed of creating my own line, especially since I grew up during the era where artists like P.Diddy and Jay-Z had their own lines called Sean John and Roc-A-Wear respectively. I looked up to those guys. Then one day I decided to turn my dreams into reality with some friends.

Q. What about some background? How did this all begin?
A. The idea of actually creating the clothing company started in the late summer of 2008. I was on the PATH train coming from New York when two friends and I realized that we shared the same interest of creating a clothing company. We decided that we should actually work on the idea and make it come to fruition. We called the company “West A Lifestyle” only because we were all from West Africa.

That same night, I went home and created a blog for West A Lifestyle (WALS) that would showcase our art and lifestyle. After months of blogging, designing and gaining a huge fanbase, the first West A Lifestyle product was released in November 2009.

Q. How do you get yourself known to the public?
A. During this digital age, the internet and social media has served as a great tool to get the company known to the public. I also use promotional items like buttons and stickers to promote the company.

Q. Any fashion icons/inspirations for your collection?
A. My biggest inspiration for my collection is life in general. There’s so much to life that can inspire me, on any given day, to go and work hard on improving my collection. My fashion inspiration is Pharrell Williams. I like how his line, Billionaire Boys Club, is usually very simple and high-quality. If you look at my collection you will notice the simplicity and how I value quality over quantity.

Q. Ultimate dream for your line?
A. My ultimate dream is to expand beyond clothing. I would love to branch out into different creative projects. If I never release another clothing item but am able to create bigger and better things, I’ll be 100 percent satisfied.

Q. Any publicity since your start?
A. Yes, the clothing has been featured in several fashion shows, on several websites/blogs and we’ve also had a radio interview live on air.

Q. Any fashion icons/inspirations for your collection?
A. My biggest inspiration for my collection is life in general. There’s so much to life that can inspire me, on any given day, to go and work hard on improving my collection. My fashion inspiration is Pharrell Williams. I like how his line, Billionaire Boys Club, is usually very simple and high-quality. If you look at my collection you will notice the simplicity and how I value quality over quantity.

Q. What inspired you to start your clothing line?
A. I always dreamed of creating my own line, especially since I grew up during the era where artists like P.Diddy and Jay-Z had their own lines called Sean John and Roc-A-Wear respectively. I looked up to those guys. Then one day I decided to turn my dreams into reality with some friends.

For more information check out: http://shop.westalifestyle.com/ http://westalifestyle.com/

WESTALIFESTYLE

“IT'S NOT A BRAND, IT'S A LIFESTYLE.”

Creator Rasaki Adewumni
Lessons from Meat Loaf on Love and Life

Meat Loaf belts “Though it’s cold and lonely in the deep dark night/I can see paradise by the dashboard light” in "Paradise by the Dashboard Light." Perhaps you know this song, but have you ever really thought about it? The song teaches lessons about life, love, and immediate gratification. To refresh your memory, the song goes back-and-forth between the points of view of a high school man and woman that are about to have their first sexual encounter. The woman is enjoying herself but reluctant about sliding “home,” as this whole situation is. The man, however, is alight with excitement. He asks the man if he loves her and he will be with her forever, and the man is reluctant to answer, with “paradise” just around the bend. Ultimately he says, “Yes,” and vows to a life of misery. From this song, there are two central lessons:

1. Sleep on it

“Let me sleep on it/I’ll give you an answer in the morning” Meat Loaf sings slyly, postponing the answer to his girlfriend’s question to when he can better assess the situation. Taken out of context, this teaches a valuable lesson. For instance, let’s say someone has just returned from an amazing trip abroad to Zimbabwe. He met a woman there and found his passion in Zimbabwean economics. But before putting a down payment on a Zimbabwean house, he should probably prepare a bowl of soup and nap off his jet lag. People tend to assess their wants based on what makes them feel good in that moment. But after a few days, positive feelings often wear-off and plans may become outdated. Don’t make commitment decisions that you will often regret. Let time clear your mind and let that time be enough to clear your mind.

2. You Can’t Do Things Backwards

There is also a lesson to be learned from the female in the song. “Do you love me?/Will you love me forever?/Do you need me? Will you never leave me?” the woman prods. The man is at her mercy, because she is willing to stop the action if she doesn’t get an answer. But pillow talk is cheap. Perspectives can be different between two partners, and what is viewed as an extension of love by one partner (a la: the man in the song is viewed as just plain sex by another (the man). Sex will not spark love, and the woman in the song seems to be holding sex over the man’s head to secure his love. Likewise, having children won’t secure love. Buying someone things won’t secure love. The only thing that will secure love is love. Just listen to the song, during which they are both miserable, “waiting till the end of time” so they will not be attached anymore. Two 17-year-olds making a decision that affects the rest of their lives based on a distorted view of love, some endorphins and a stiff penis, makes no sense. Let love happen naturally.

Helicopter Parenting

Do your parents call you on your cell phone to wake you up for class, or tell you to call them for a particular reason? Do they talk to your professors for you? If so, the cell phone is the world’s largest umbilical cord. Your parents have good intentions, but they may not have the right ones.

In other words, it may be time to cut the cord.

This type of parent-child relationship may sound bizarre to most of us. We know that a normal adult probably would be less satisfied with their situation in life should they not be exercising their ability to make their own decisions such as those mentioned above. One may ask why this obviously unhappy child is not setting boundaries. Maybe it’s not the child’s fault. After all, they have to brave through college first in order to become financially independent. According to a USA Today article released last week entitled “Do helicopter parents help or harm the kids?” They can be a positive—if they don’t overdo it. Some parents hover over their children and fail to value their children’s own decision-making processes. Unsurprisingly, this may cause their 18-31 year-old children to experience psychological damage such as anxiety and depression. These parents believe that in order to “love” their children, they must worry or at least appear to worry, sometimes to the point where they disrupt their children’s lives. Little do they know that this kind of “obsessive loving” may backfire. The child may become dependent on them forever and for every minor thing, which is exasperating for anybody.

Children of helicopter parents, at first glance, seem highly driven because their parents forced them into every challenging and extra-curricular activity. What’s interesting is that a study done of university students showed that students who had helicopter parents were actually less engaged in school. And, of course, if the parents see their children less engaged, the parents try harder to make them work harder. I’m beginning to wonder if some of my fellow classmates are actually suffering from this affliction. Sitting in the back rows of a lecture hall is an anomaly for me, but I sat there one day because I had arrived late. And there, I found another world—many of my neighbors didn’t seem to have a clue why they were in that room. I could be wrong, but there they were—equally taping away on Facebook, doing some fall online shopping, playing games, watching movies starring Matthew McConaughey, checking out restaurants, etc. Meanwhile, I’m amused when thinking how ironic this whole situation is—the professor is going on for two hours about baseless arguments... Haven’t we skipped up for this elaborate four year payment plan to actually learn something? These students may as well have stuck a sign on their forehead that read “My academic advisor told me this class was required.” To me, it’s like that girl in the YouTube video who waited on line for hours in front of the store to get the new iPhone, but didn’t know any of the new features it had.

I’m not trying to debase anyone. I was among them during one of my semesters as an undergrad. Maturity levels take into account for this behavior; some students just aren’t ready for the responsibilities of college life. Also, the class may not be interesting enough for them but, honestly, that’s not anyone’s problem but their own.

Meanwhile, the rest of the world remains perplexed. If someone asked my college student why they were in college, what would you expect them to say? “I want to study blank so I can become a blank or something like.” “I don’t know. My parents made me come.” I implore my dear readers to investigate: how long is your umbilical cord?
You know October is here when all the talk on campus is of Homecoming and dreaded midterms. However, something else is happening. It is National Domestic Violence Awareness Month, also known as Intimate Partner Violence. For me, it has been my mission since leaving my abusive marriage, to inform, educate and empower folks who are being abused or know someone in such a relationship. To let you and them know, you are not alone and help is out there. This year, I created a Facebook page to serve this purpose: www.facebook.com/DomesticViolenceAffectsEvery1.

You may ask what domestic violence is. People often believe domestic violence is usually an isolated one-time incident that affects only poor and uneducated people, where abusers are only men who are also alcohol abusers and that it is the fault of the women for staying in these relationships. The myths are far from true. Because of the way domestic violence laws were originally written, victims were females and batterers were males. Make no mistake: women can be the abuser and men the abused. It also occurs in same-sex relationships, as well as where there are people living with disabilities in intimate relations. There is a great website that is filled with national and worldwide resources at: www.safe4all.org.

Getting help means acknowledging there is a problem. Assistance can be found in the United States by calling 1-800-799-SAFE (7233) or 1-800-787-3244 (TTY) for referrals for help in a given area. In New Jersey, one can call 1-800-572-SAFE (SAFE). There is also information on the internet, but be careful, as web browsing on a computer you and your abuser share can be tracked. If you find yourself in this situation, find another computer to use, such as one belonging to a trusted friend or at the library. This holds true for your cell phone, too. Delete phone numbers or assign false names in the contact list.

Once you are ready to take the steps to leave the abusive situation, you need a plan. The safety plan below comes from the National Coalition Against Domestic Violence. (NCADV)

During the planning stages of leaving, there is help available. The Coalition also suggests, “You should take important papers and documents with you to enable you to apply for benefits or take legal action. Important papers you should take include social security cards and birth certificates for you and your children, your marriage license, leases or deeds in your name or both yours and your partner’s names, your checkbook, your charge cards, bank statements and charge account statements, insurance policies, proof of income for you and your spouse (pay stubs or W-2’s) and any documentation of past incidents of abuse (photos, police reports, medical records, etc.).”

If you find yourself looking for help here on campus, visit the Women’s Center in Student Center Room 421. Speak with the director, Esmeralda Abreu-Hornbostel.

This semester, the Center is conducting a series of conversations on this issue, such as Cycle Breakers. This is a conversation group aimed to combat domestic violence and discuss thoughts and feelings on this issue. It is held on Tuesdays from 2 to 3 p.m. in Student Center Room 421. Additionally, the newly formed Women’s and Gender Studies Club will be hosting an event on Oct. 16 from 2:30 to 5:00 in UN 1039. There will be a screening of the film Crime After Crime, followed by a discussion, and a presentation by yours truly. Sometimes we watch the loved ones who we suspect are experiencing domestic violence from afar and we wish and beg them to get out, but it is not always that easy, especially when there are children involved or their immigration status is dependent on the spouse or partner. However, there are steps you can take while encouraging empowering friends and loved ones in this difficult and emotional situation. Be supportive of whether they wish to stay or not, but if they are willing, help them develop a safety plan, sit with them as they call the hotline and offer to do Internet research. Most of all, though, remember it is their decision to make, not yours.

If you have left the relationship:
- Change your phone number and screen calls.
- Save and document all contacts, messages, injuries or other incidents involving the abuser.
- Change locks if the abuser has a key.
- Avoid staying alone.
- Plan how to get away if confronted by an abusive partner.
- If you have to meet your partner, do so in a public place.
- Vary your routine.
- Notify school and work contacts.
- Call a shelter for battered women.

If you are still in the relationship:
- Think of a safe place to go if an argument occurs – avoid rooms with no exits (bathroom) or rooms with weapons (kitchen).
- Think about and make a list of safe people to contact.
- Keep change with you at all times.
- Memorize all important numbers.
- Establish a “code word” or “sign” so that family, friends, teachers or co-workers know when to call for help.
- Think about what you will say to your partner if he or she becomes violent.
NOW HIRING: Assistant Production Editor for THE MONTCLARION!

Looks great on any resume, and gives you the opportunity for hands-on experience in a business environment.

Stop by our office in SC Annex Room 133 or email msuproduction@gmail.com for details!

The Montclarion

msuproduction@gmail.com

Advertise with The Montclarion!

Email montclarionadsales@gmail.com for more information and details.

Part Info
Getting
Part Idea
Sharing

USA.gov is your official source for federal, state and local government information. You’ll find answers to questions on everything from Social Security and government auctions to product recalls and travel advisories. And it’s also the place to share ideas with your government, or simply let us know what you think. To make your total government connection, visit USA.gov.

Part INFO
PLUS
Part IDEA
SHARING

Equals total government connecting.

Want to advertise or promote your business? Are you looking to hire or have rooms for rent?

Advertise with The Montclarion!

Email montclarionadsales@gmail.com for more information and details.

NOW HIRING:

Assistant Production Editor for THE MONTCLARION!

The "It's Only Another Beer"
Black and Tan
8 oz. pilsner lager
8 oz. stout lager
1 frosty mug
1 icy road
1 pick-up truck
1 10-hour day
1 tired worker
A few rounds with the guys

Mix ingredients.
Add 1 totaled vehicle.

Never underestimate "just a few." Buzzed driving is drunk driving.

The Montclarion

msuproduction@gmail.com

Advertise with The Montclarion!

Email montclarionadsales@gmail.com for more information and details.

NOW HIRING:

Assistant Production Editor for THE MONTCLARION!

The "It's Only Another Beer"
Black and Tan
8 oz. pilsner lager
8 oz. stout lager
1 frosty mug
1 icy road
1 pick-up truck
1 10-hour day
1 tired worker
A few rounds with the guys

Mix ingredients.
Add 1 totaled vehicle.

Never underestimate "just a few." Buzzed driving is drunk driving.

The Montclarion

msuproduction@gmail.com

Advertise with The Montclarion!

Email montclarionadsales@gmail.com for more information and details.

NOW HIRING:

Assistant Production Editor for THE MONTCLARION!

The "It's Only Another Beer"
Black and Tan
8 oz. pilsner lager
8 oz. stout lager
1 frosty mug
1 icy road
1 pick-up truck
1 10-hour day
1 tired worker
A few rounds with the guys

Mix ingredients.
Add 1 totaled vehicle.

Never underestimate "just a few." Buzzed driving is drunk driving.

The Montclarion

msuproduction@gmail.com

Advertise with The Montclarion!

Email montclarionadsales@gmail.com for more information and details.

NOW HIRING:

Assistant Production Editor for THE MONTCLARION!

The "It's Only Another Beer"
Black and Tan
8 oz. pilsner lager
8 oz. stout lager
1 frosty mug
1 icy road
1 pick-up truck
1 10-hour day
1 tired worker
A few rounds with the guys

Mix ingredients.
Add 1 totaled vehicle.

Never underestimate "just a few." Buzzed driving is drunk driving.

The Montclarion

msuproduction@gmail.com

Advertise with The Montclarion!

Email montclarionadsales@gmail.com for more information and details.
TOONS & GAMES

THE MONTCLAIRON

THE RED HAWK, PALS BY ASHLEY MANKA

Rocky gave me some good tips on campus safety.

Yeah, and I showed me the blue light system.

Also, keeping the campus police’s number on my cell.

Did you know about this with Rocky before?

Oh, boy! Not my style more!

ACCESSIBLE EDUCATION

VROOOOM!

Try to make your way to class while avoiding the construction equipment!

Start

Finish

Gendered TV by Courtney van Saders

What are you doing? What are you doing?

What are you doing? What are you doing?

Kill him. Clegane, puny b— wuss.

Well, I will be leaving now.

SCHER

WATER
Coming Out and Cutting Out

Veronica Furman
Anthropology / Humanities

"It’s not even a matter of right because businesses have the right to do whatever they want in terms of advertising, but that doesn’t mean they should do whatever they want. I think, for instance, what IKEA did in the catalogues sent to Saudi Arabia is presumptuous and steeped in their own ideas of ethnocentrism and racism, and they should not be making these assumptions."

Jason Wahlers
Junior
General Humanities

"I think it’s up to countries cause they have more of a right to dictate what their people get to see."

Fatima Wallizadeh
Freshman
Undeclared

"Business, because I feel like, I don’t know, I think it has more to do with the business than the country."

Kevin Cabrera
Freshman
History

"I think the businesses should send it over as it comes and they do whatever they want, because businesses say, this is how we’re going to do it, but, you know, if you feel religiously, politically or just however your values are and ethics, to edit it, then go right for it."

Who has the right to edit advertisements, the business or the country?

Students Speak
I’ve always been underwhelmed with the customer service around campus, but recent events could cause some citizens (or lack thereof) in the dining facilities to have me lose whatever hope I was holding on to.

But first: if we as individuals, or just thinkers, or lack thereof, in the dining facilities have managed to lose whatever hope I was holding on to.

The government, or just thinking development. Whether it is miseducation comes to politics. The youth demographic (ages 18-4,500 students living on campus, started a new initiative this year to assist students in the residence halls have corresponding Community As-cance is being registered to vote, and it is imperative that we make this our respective votes. Those of us who are 18 and older, be voting at.

This initiative is not only a groundbreaking feat for the uni-
voting. If you have personal reasons as to why anyone should not be voting on Nov. 6th. There are a few people around campus who have kept my faith in humanity, and I appreciate their efforts in tryning to do the right thing.

There are a few people around campus who have kept my faith in humanity, and I appreciate their efforts in trying to do the right thing.

The polls have been pretty close so far, there is no telling what the outcome may be come November.

The United States has prided itself on its declarations of freedom since the birth of our country, we really are the future. Hopefully, our new U.S. President by the initiative by MSU will start political conversations amongst students and realize our potential and encourage citizens to follow suit. With the convenience of the poll locations and drop-off times, this is no real excuse as to why anyone should not be voting on Nov. 6th.

If you have personal reasons as to why anyone should not be voting, that is understandable, but if you have no reason, then one day you will just be lazy, you cannot complain when things do not go your way.

Time is running out to register to vote, so don’t procrastinate and get it done, and on Nov. 6th, make sure you get it done.

Regardless of the politics or the candidates who have run for office.

Legal Issues with Bodily Tissues

What really happens to what you leave behind at the doctor’s

Whether its Sam’s Place or the Student Center, there’s no avoiding the snarky service that defines the customer service around campus. It seems universities are in conveniencing the dining staff by my patroymanship. The “silent exchanges” with every person involved in my meal process.

People are more focused on the day-to-day activities and issues that are over and this generation has to start stepping up. The first step to making a difference is being registered to vote, and Montana State has made it more convenient than ever. Residential Education and the corresponding Community Assinates in the residence halls have started a new initiative this year to encourage students to vote. Being that we have upwards of 4,500 students living on campus, MSU has made it very convenient to vote right here on campus. The Department of Residential Services is registering students on campus using their dorm/ apartment addresses so that students will be able to vote using the polling stations planned to come on campus—in Machuga Hights, Dibble Hall, Fire Hall and Sina-

This initiative is not only a groundbreaking feat for the uni-

The polls have been pretty close so far, there is no telling what the outcome may be come November.

The youth demographic (ages 18-
4,500 students living on campus, started a new initiative this year to assist students in the residence halls have correspon-
cance is being registered to vote, and it is imperative that we make this our respective votes. Those of us who are 18 and older, be voting at.

This initiative is not only a groundbreaking feat for the uni-
voting. If you have personal reasons as to why anyone should not be voting on Nov. 6th. There are a few people around campus who have kept my faith in humanity, and I appreciate their efforts in trying to do the right thing.

There are a few people around campus who have kept my faith in humanity, and I appreciate their efforts in trying to do the right thing.

The polls have been pretty close so far, there is no telling what the outcome may be come November.

The youth demographic (ages 18-
4,500 students living on campus, started a new initiative this year to assist students in the residence halls have corresponding Community As-cance is being registered to vote, and it is imperative that we make this our respective votes. Those of us who are 18 and older, be voting at.

This initiative is not only a groundbreaking feat for the uni-
voting. If you have personal reasons as to why anyone should not be voting on Nov. 6th. There are a few people around campus who have kept my faith in humanity, and I appreciate their efforts in trying to do the right thing.

There are a few people around campus who have kept my faith in humanity, and I appreciate their efforts in trying to do the right thing.

The youth demographic (ages 18-
4,500 students living on campus, started a new initiative this year to assist students in the residence halls have corresponding Community As-cance is being registered to vote, and it is imperative that we make this our respective votes. Those of us who are 18 and older, be voting at.

This initiative is not only a groundbreaking feat for the uni-

The polls have been pretty close so far, there is no telling what the outcome may be come November.

The youth demographic (ages 18-
4,500 students living on campus, started a new initiative this year to assist students in the residence halls have corresponding Community As-cance is being registered to vote, and it is imperative that we make this our respective votes. Those of us who are 18 and older, be voting at.

This initiative is not only a groundbreaking feat for the uni-
voting. If you have personal reasons as to why anyone should not be voting on Nov. 6th. There are a few people around campus who have kept my faith in humanity, and I appreciate their efforts in trying to do the right thing.

There are a few people around campus who have kept my faith in humanity, and I appreciate their efforts in trying to do the right thing.

The polls have been pretty close so far, there is no telling what the outcome may be come November.

The youth demographic (ages 18-
4,500 students living on campus, started a new initiative this year to assist students in the residence halls have corresponding Community As-cance is being registered to vote, and it is imperative that we make this our respective votes. Those of us who are 18 and older, be voting at.

This initiative is not only a groundbreaking feat for the uni-
voting. If you have personal reasons as to why anyone should not be voting on Nov. 6th. There are a few people around campus who have kept my faith in humanity, and I appreciate their efforts in trying to do the right thing.

There are a few people around campus who have kept my faith in humanity, and I appreciate their efforts in trying to do the right thing.

The polls have been pretty close so far, there is no telling what the outcome may be come November.

The youth demographic (ages 18-
4,500 students living on campus, started a new initiative this year to assist students in the residence halls have corresponding Community As-cance is being registered to vote, and it is imperative that we make this our respective votes. Those of us who are 18 and older, be voting at.

This initiative is not only a groundbreaking feat for the uni-
voting. If you have personal reasons as to why anyone should not be voting on Nov. 6th. There are a few people around campus who have kept my faith in humanity, and I appreciate their efforts in trying to do the right thing.

There are a few people around campus who have kept my faith in humanity, and I appreciate their efforts in trying to do the right thing.
Though electronic music has been doing homework, the indescribable feeling you get as an electronic song climaxes, and the bass drops, will have your heart racing. Electronic music has become extremely popular worldwide, ranging from disco music, house music, techno, dubstep and trance. This past May, Electric Daisy Carnival came to the east coast for the first time.

The festival originally began in Las Vegas, circling the globe to Puerto Rico, Florida, Nevada, Colorado, Texas and finally in 2012, it reached New York. Uniting thousands of fans from all over the world to experience the greatest music high of all time, the festival had four stages, 80 artists performing and had multiple rides. To end the night, there were live firework shows, which added to the electric vibe.

The three day, 12-hour festival was filled with diversity and pure ecstasy watching their favorite artists perform.

Electronic music has been a historic and time-tested activity standing the beginnings of such talented people help convey the beauty of music. Though electronic music has become very popular in the United States, there is no bigger music festival than Tomorrowland, which takes place every summer in Belgium. 180,000 ravers from all over the globe come to support and celebrate the beauty of music. Tomorrowland’s themes vary in order to create an illusion of being in a fantasy world. The fairy tale décor creates a neon coloredreamland that ranges in color, Candy Land and lots of lighting, which takes months to build. The top EDM artists of 2012 include Skrillex, Deadmau5, Swedish House Mafia, Armin, Tiesto and Rusko perform.

Whether you’re at the gym, traveling in a car, at a music festival or simply doing homework, the indescribable feeling you get as an electronic song climaxes, and the bass drops, will have your heart racing. Electronic music has become extremely popular worldwide, ranging from disco music, house music, techno, dubstep and trance. This past May, Electric Daisy Carnival came to the east coast for the first time.

The festival originally began in Las Vegas, circling the globe to Puerto Rico, Florida, Nevada, Colorado, Texas and finally in 2012, it reached New York. Uniting thousands of fans from all over the world to experience the greatest music high of all time, the festival had four stages, 80 artists performing and had multiple rides. To end the night, there were live firework shows, which added to the electric vibe.

The three day, 12-hour festival was filled with diversity and pure bliss. The amount of preparation each artist put into their set was apparent. To end Summer 2012 with an electrifying bang, Electric Zoo took place on Randall’s Island in New York. The music festival had over 90,000 fans raving all day and all night. The east coast EDM lovers experienced one of the greatest summers by far. Though electronic music has become very popular in the United States, there is no bigger music festival than Tomorrowland, which takes place every summer in Belgium. 180,000 ravers from all over the globe come to support and celebrate the beauty of music. Tomorrowland’s themes vary in order to create an illusion of being in a fantasy world. The fairy tale décor creates a neon coloredreamland that ranges in color, Candy Land and lots of lighting, which takes months to build. The top EDM artists of 2012 include Skrillex, Deadmau5, Swedish House Mafia, Armin, Tiesto and Rusko perform.
HOT COCOA PLAYLIST
Songs That Make You All Warm Inside

1. “Lady” by Twerk
   Rashard Bradshaw: Arts & Entertainment Editor

2. “At Last” by Etta James
   Lori Wieczorek: Editor in Chief

3. “I’m Not In Love” by 10cc
   Nick Taylor: Copy Editor

4. “Hot Chocolate” by Tom Hanks
   Nick Verhagen: Sports Editor

5. “Pyro” by Kings of Leon
   Jessica Czarnogursky: Feature Editor

6. “Little Bit” by Lykke Li
   Vicky Leta: Editorial Cartoonist

7. “Missed Calls” by Mac Miller
   Carley Hussain: Production Editor

8. “Motorcycle Drive By” by Third Eye Blind
   Lindsay Rassmann: Managing Editor

Show us your ID
We’ll show you 20% off

Faculty and alumni are welcome, too.
Music Corner

5 Best New Albums of 2012

Mumford & Sons: Babel

Three years ago, Mumford & Sons stunned listeners with their debut album “Sigh No More,” which went double platinum and skyrocketed to success. In this sophomore LP, fans will not be disappointed, instead, they’ll be pleased to hear a smoother, more refined band even better than the first time people heard them. The band is more confident in their playing style and keep true to the qualities that made them successful the first time around. Billboard.com describes the album as “...not the wheel reinvented; it’s the Billboards of 2012.” Mumford & Sons have been waiting for something fresh since their previous release in early March 2011 titled “Lazers.” For some fans, this album may signify his comeback from a rather weak performance on “Lazers,” but for others it may mean the end of the musical career (if you believe what he says on his Twitter account). Nonetheless, Fiasco produces 16 tracks on this album and does so with extreme emotion and honest lyrics. Listeners may not be able to compare this album to the first, “Food & Liquor,” but part two produces enough talent and sing-along tunes to earn a three-star rating from Rolling Stone. Since his first album release in 2005, Joel Zimmerman (better known to his fans as “Deadmau5”) has broken into the mainstream music scene as one of the most prominent electronic dance music (EDM) artists in the industry right now.

Green Day: ¡Uno!

As Green Day’s latest studio release “The 2nd Law” is the perfect combination of sounds on one album. With endless comparisons to Queen, Radiohead, U2 and even Skrillex, Muse has taken their niche as progressive rock and expanded it to experiment with different sounds and appeal to greater audiences. Since their debut album, “Showbiz,” in 1999, Muse has climbed the ladder of success, earning a Grammy for Best Rock Album of the Year in 2009 for their album “Resistance” and becoming a major force in their genre. This album displays a band that is experienced and confident that is capable of any future fan. The album may not be as serious and hard-hitting as some of Green Day’s previous albums, but it does succeed in transporting the listener back to a younger Green Day whose classic sound still remains cool and fun. (Some prominent songs on this album are “Let Yourself Go” and “Oh Love.”)

Lupe Fiasco: Food & Liquor II: The Great American Rap Album Pt. I

Although Fiasco’s latest album is full of societal criticisms and political judgements, many of his fans have been waiting for something fresh since his previous release in early March 2011 titled “Lazers.” For some fans, this album may signify his comeback from a rather weak performance on “Lazers,” but for others it may mean the end of the musical career (if you believe what he says on his Twitter account). Nonetheless, Fiasco produces 16 tracks on this album and does so with extreme emotion and honest lyrics. Listeners may not be able to compare this album to the first, “Food & Liquor,” but part two produces enough talent and sing-along tunes to earn a three-star rating from Rolling Stone.

Muse: The 2nd Law

As Muse’s sixth studio release “The 2nd Law” is the perfect combination of sounds on one album. With endless comparisons to Queen, Radiohead, U2 and even Skrillex, Muse has taken their niche as progressive rock and expanded it to experiment with different sounds and appeal to greater audiences. Since their debut album, “Showbiz,” in 1999, Muse has climbed the ladder of success, earning a Grammy for Best Rock Album of the Year in 2009 for their album “Resistance” and becoming a major force in their genre. This album displays a band that is experienced and confident that is capable of any future fan.

Deadmau5: Album Title Goes Here

Because of artists like Skrillex and Deadmau5, EDM has become very popular in the club/music scene and has been embraced by thousands of fans all over the country. With this latest album release, Deadmau5 collaborates with artists like Imogen Heap, Cypress Hill and My Chemical Romance frontman Gerard Way to create an album that reminds fans why his music is successful. This album features some radio friendly songs along with distinct sounds from his collaborators on the album, yet he stays true to the hard hitting beats real EDM fans are hoping for.

Information Session:
Study Abroad at the Milan Conservatory

Pleae join us for an information session about studying abroad at the Conservatorio di Milano (Milan Conservatory) in Italy. The session will include a presentation by two pianists from the Conservatory, Cristina Frosini and Massimiliano Baglio, the Director of Study Abroad at Montclair State, Professor David Witten of the Cal School, and two MIU students who have returned from their study abroad at the Conservatory.

Find out how you can spend a semester or a year studying in beautiful Milan. Open to all Cal School of Music Students.

Room 330, Chapin Hall
Monday, October 8th, 3:00pm
For details: http://www.montclair.edu/globalab/studyabroad
WORLD PREMIERE - A PEAK PRODUCTION

Dog Days

An Apocalyptic Opera

Composed by David T. Little  Libretto by Royce Vavrek
Based on the short story “Dog Days” by Judy Budnitz
Directed by Robert Woodruff  Musical Direction by Alan Pierson

Sept. 29 - Oct. 7

Opera Unleashed!

James Bobick (baritone), Marnie Breckenridge (soprano), Cherry Duke (mezzo-soprano), Michael Marcolle (tenor), Peter Tantsits (tenor), and Lauren Worsham (soprano); featuring chamber ensemble Newspeak and John Kelly

Set and Video Design by Jim Findlay Lighting Design by Matt Frey Costume Design by Vita Tzykun

Dog Days is produced by Peak Performances at Montclair State (NJ) in association with Beth Morrison Projects.

973-655-5112 | www.peakperfs.org | Every Seat $15

Undergraduate students at MSU receive one ticket at no additional charge to every event through the Performing Arts Fee with their valid student ID.
Rock for Charity!
Highlights from Global Citizen Festival 2012

In between each memorable set, a different charity or pillar of the overall cause was represented. One such charity movement that held a presence at the festival was the Half the Sky Movement, specifically targeted at ending oppression of women and girls worldwide.

Photos courtesy of 1.bp.blogspot.com

Charity, in any form, is one of those parts of life that are humbling and inspiring, giving even the smallest person a chance at making a huge difference. Taking part in a charity benefit concert targeted at ending global poverty now that can be almost over inspiring. On Sept. 29, over 60,000 people gathered on Central Park’s Great Lawn to raise awareness to one of the largest overlooked crises in our world is going through.

To partake in this in a lifetime opportunity, eager and enthusiastic world-changers and band enthusiasts logged on to globalcitizen.org to sign petitions, read articles, and ultimately earn points to be entered into a lottery drawing. Global Festival 2012 featured bands K’naan, Band of Horses, the Black Keys, the Foo Fighters, and Neil Young featuring Crazy Horse all playing for change. Each band volunteered their time and their charity to the venue in conjunction with multiple celebrities - including Olivia Wilde and Katie Couric - and charity organizations to raise awareness about global poverty.

Black Keys

Veteran of the stage Dave Grohl, front man of the Foo Fighters, opened the set with the all appropriate “Times Like These,” giving a nod to the causes, but also to the band themselves. Though his statement has been interpreted more than a presidential debate, its safe to say the Foo Fighters are mentally taking a break, not breaking up. Never failing to connect with the crowd, and both their loyal and newer fans, the mix of songs such as “Wasting Light,” “Arlandria” and “Walk” with the classic “Best of You” and “My Hero” made the Foo Fighters steal the show. As attendee Nick Verhagen said, “I’ve never felt like I was actually screaming like a teenage girl when the Foo Fighters were on. It was incredible. I was so engaged, the crowd, the city) is something I will never forget.” Closing their set with a 继, the crowd was brought to new heights.

As far as the concert aspect goes, no band disappointed any set of fans, both new and old. Opening the event was artist K’naan, a native of Somalia who brought a tribal-rock mix to the event, humbling the crowd and bringing them back to exactly why they were there. Reconnecting with his most famous song “Wavin’ Flag,” K’naan-appropriately closed his powerful set, presenting at the concert, the five hour event appropriately closed his powerful set, presenting at the concert, the five hour event.

The Montclarion • October 4, 2012

Follow me on Twitter!
@TheMontclarion

Photos courtesy of fanpop.com

With the crowd vibrant and enthusiastic world-changers, and Neil Young featuring Crazy Horse all playing for change.

With the crowd vibrant and enthusiastic world-changers, and Neil Young featuring Crazy Horse all playing for change.

Black Keys

Veteran of the stage Dave Grohl, front man of the Foo Fighters, opened the set with the all appropriate “Times Like These,” giving a nod to the causes, but also to the band themselves. Though his statement has been interpreted more than a presidential debate, its safe to say the Foo Fighters are mentally taking a break, not breaking up. Never failing to connect with the crowd, and both their loyal and newer fans, the mix of songs such as “Wasting Light,” “Arlandria” and “Walk” with the classic “Best of You” and “My Hero” made the Foo Fighters steal the show. As attendee Nick Verhagen said, “I’ve never felt like I was actually screaming like a teenage girl when the Foo Fighters were on. It was incredible. I was so engaged, the crowd, the city) is something I will never forget.” Closing their set with a 继, the crowd was brought to new heights.

As far as the concert aspect goes, no band disappointed any set of fans, both new and old. Opening the event was artist K’naan, a native of Somalia who brought a tribal-rock mix to the event, humbling the crowd and bringing them back to exactly why they were there. Reconnecting with his most famous song “Wavin’ Flag,” K’naan-appropriately closed his powerful set, presenting at the concert, the five hour event appropriately closed his powerful set, presenting at the concert, the five hour event.

The Montclarion • October 4, 2012

Follow me on Twitter!
@TheMontclarion

Photos courtesy of fanpop.com

With the crowd vibrant and enthusiastic world-changers, and Neil Young featuring Crazy Horse all playing for change.

With the crowd vibrant and enthusiastic world-changers, and Neil Young featuring Crazy Horse all playing for change.

Black Keys

Veteran of the stage Dave Grohl, front man of the Foo Fighters, opened the set with the all appropriate “Times Like These,” giving a nod to the causes, but also to the band themselves. Though his statement has been interpreted more than a presidential debate, its safe to say the Foo Fighters are mentally taking a break, not breaking up. Never failing to connect with the crowd, and both their loyal and newer fans, the mix of songs such as “Wasting Light,” “Arlandria” and “Walk” with the classic “Best of You” and “My Hero” made the Foo Fighters steal the show. As attendee Nick Verhagen said, “I’ve never felt like I was actually screaming like a teenage girl when the Foo Fighters were on. It was incredible. I was so engaged, the crowd, the city) is something I will never forget.” Closing their set with a 继, the crowd was brought to new heights.

As far as the concert aspect goes, no band disappointed any set of fans, both new and old. Opening the event was artist K’naan, a native of Somalia who brought a tribal-rock mix to the event, humbling the crowd and bringing them back to exactly why they were there. Reconnecting with his most famous song “Wavin’ Flag,” K’naan-appropriately closed his powerful set, presenting at the concert, the five hour event appropriately closed his powerful set, presenting at the concert, the five hour event.

The Montclarion • October 4, 2012

Follow me on Twitter!
@TheMontclarion

Photos courtesy of fanpop.com

With the crowd vibrant and enthusiastic world-changers, and Neil Young featuring Crazy Horse all playing for change.

With the crowd vibrant and enthusiastic world-changers, and Neil Young featuring Crazy Horse all playing for change.

Black Keys

Veteran of the stage Dave Grohl, front man of the Foo Fighters, opened the set with the all appropriate “Times Like These,” giving a nod to the causes, but also to the band themselves. Though his statement has been interpreted more than a presidential debate, its safe to say the Foo Fighters are mentally taking a break, not breaking up. Never failing to connect with the crowd, and both their loyal and newer fans, the mix of songs such as “Wasting Light,” “Arlandria” and “Walk” with the classic “Best of You” and “My Hero” made the Foo Fighters steal the show. As attendee Nick Verhagen said, “I’ve never felt like I was actually screaming like a teenage girl when the Foo Fighters were on. It was incredible. I was so engaged, the crowd, the city) is something I will never forget.” Closing their set with a 继, the crowd was brought to new heights.

As far as the concert aspect goes, no band disappointed any set of fans, both new and old. Opening the event was artist K’naan, a native of Somalia who brought a tribal-rock mix to the event, humbling the crowd and bringing them back to exactly why they were there. Reconnecting with his most famous song “Wavin’ Flag,” K’naan-appropriately closed his powerful set, presenting at the concert, the five hour event appropriately closed his powerful set, presenting at the concert, the five hour event.

The Montclarion • October 4, 2012

Follow me on Twitter!
@TheMontclarion

Photos courtesy of fanpop.com

With the crowd vibrant and enthusiastic world-changers, and Neil Young featuring Crazy Horse all playing for change.

With the crowd vibrant and enthusiastic world-changers, and Neil Young featuring Crazy Horse all playing for change.

Black Keys

Veteran of the stage Dave Grohl, front man of the Foo Fighters, opened the set with the all appropriate “Times Like These,” giving a nod to the causes, but also to the band themselves. Though his statement has been interpreted more than a presidential debate, its safe to say the Foo Fighters are mentally taking a break, not breaking up. Never failing to connect with the crowd, and both their loyal and newer fans, the mix of songs such as “Wasting Light,” “Arlandria” and “Walk” with the classic “Best of You” and “My Hero” made the Foo Fighters steal the show. As attendee Nick Verhagen said, “I’ve never felt like I was actually screaming like a teenage girl when the Foo Fighters were on. It was incredible. I was so engaged, the crowd, the city) is something I will never forget.” Closing their set with a 继, the crowd was brought to new heights.

As far as the concert aspect goes, no band disappointed any set of fans, both new and old. Opening the event was artist K’naan, a native of Somalia who brought a tribal-rock mix to the event, humbling the crowd and bringing them back to exactly why they were there. Reconnecting with his most famous song “Wavin’ Flag,” K’naan-appropriately closed his powerful set, presenting at the concert, the five hour event appropriately closed his powerful set, presenting at the concert, the five hour event.

The Montclarion • October 4, 2012

Follow me on Twitter!
@TheMontclarion

Photos courtesy of fanpop.com

With the crowd vibrant and enthusiastic world-changers, and Neil Young featuring Crazy Horse all playing for change.

With the crowd vibrant and enthusiastic world-changers, and Neil Young featuring Crazy Horse all playing for change.

Black Keys

Veteran of the stage Dave Grohl, front man of the Foo Fighters, opened the set with the all appropriate “Times Like These,” giving a nod to the causes, but also to the band themselves. Though his statement has been interpreted more than a presidential debate, its safe to say the Foo Fighters are mentally taking a break, not breaking up. Never failing to connect with the crowd, and both their loyal and newer fans, the mix of songs such as “Wasting Light,” “Arlandria” and “Walk” with the classic “Best of You” and “My Hero” made the Foo Fighters steal the show. As attendee Nick Verhagen said, “I’ve never felt like I was actually screaming like a teenage girl when the Foo Fighters were on. It was incredible. I was so engaged, the crowd, the city) is something I will never forget.” Closing their set with a 继, the crowd was brought to new heights.

As far as the concert aspect goes, no band disappointed any set of fans, both new and old. Opening the event was artist K’naan, a native of Somalia who brought a tribal-rock mix to the event, humbling the crowd and bringing them back to exactly why they were there. Reconnecting with his most famous song “Wavin’ Flag,” K’naan-appropriately closed his powerful set, presenting at the concert, the five hour event appropriately closed his powerful set, presenting at the concert, the five hour event.

The Montclarion • October 4, 2012

Follow me on Twitter!
@TheMontclarion

Photos courtesy of fanpop.com

With the crowd vibrant and enthusiastic world-changers, and Neil Young featuring Crazy Horse all playing for change.

With the crowd vibrant and enthusiastic world-changers, and Neil Young featuring Crazy Horse all playing for change.
The MSU women’s soccer team continued their dominant season by improving to 10-0-1 and a perfect 5-0 on the road this past Saturday with a 3-0 win over Rutgers-Camden. The Red Hawks, who have won eight straight games, now have an impressive 4-0 record in the NJAC with the victory, while Rutgers-Camden dropped to 2-8-1, 0-4-1 in the league. Montclair State is now number 18 in national polls and now owns a 14-0-1 record in its all-time series against the Scarlet Raptors.

Sophomore forward Francesca Gibson got the scoring started with her team leading ninth goal, coming early off a cross from the right side by junior midfielder Jessica Kiniery in the 3rd minute. That goal also contributed to Gibson’s fourth game winner. Gibson also added to her game-winning performance with an assist on a goal late in the second half. Freshman Stefanie Gomes provided some insurance to their lead with two late goals. Gomes headed in a cross by Gibson in the 79th minute for her seventh goal of the year. She added her second goal and eighth in total with under a minute remaining after sophomore back Jessica Bonjione chipped a ball into the box near the goal line for an assist. MSU looked dominant outshooting Rutgers-Camden 32-1. Despite an 11-1 advantage in shots in the opening half and a 4-0 lead in corner kicks, the game remained just 1-0 at the break. Rutgers-Camden junior goalkeeper Leighanna Milby finished with a school-record 17 saves, showing that MSU’s offense threatened early, and threatened often. Their defense looked to be dominant and in sync, as Rutgers-Camden only managed to record one total shot. Sophomore goalkeeper Gina Policastro did not have to make a save, earning her seventh shutout.

Team Leaders

Offense
- Francesca Gibson - 9 goals, 4 assists, 22 points, 57 shots
- Stefanie Gomes - 8 goals, 3 assists, 19 points, 22 shots

Defense
- Gina Policastro - 24 saves, 7 shutouts, 3 goals allowed, .889 save %

Upcoming Games

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Game</th>
<th>Date</th>
<th>Time</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>10/6 @ Rowan</td>
<td>1 p.m.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>10/10 vs. Kean</td>
<td>12 p.m.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>10/13 @ NJCU</td>
<td>1 p.m.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>10/15 @ Eastern</td>
<td>1 p.m.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>10/20 vs. Stockton</td>
<td>6 p.m.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The Red Hawks have had no trouble at all this season. With an 11-0-1 record (4-0 NJAC) the Red Hawks only non-win was a 2OT tie to Muhlenburg. Along with a great week on the field, Gomes also received some notoriety off the right side by junior midfielder Jessica Kiniery in the 3rd minute. That goal also contributed to Gibson’s fourth game winner. Gibson also added to her game-winning performance with an assist on a goal late in the second half. Freshman Stefanie Gomes provided some insurance to their lead with two late goals. Gomes headed in a cross by Gibson in the 79th minute for her seventh goal of the year. She added her second goal and eighth in total with under a minute remaining after sophomore back Jessica Bonjione chipped a ball into the box near the goal line for an assist. MSU looked dominant outshooting Rutgers-Camden 32-1. Despite an 11-1 advantage in shots in the opening half and a 4-0 lead in corner kicks, the game remained just 1-0 at the break. Rutgers-Camden junior goalkeeper Leighanna Milby finished with a school-record 17 saves, showing that MSU’s offense threatened early, and threatened often. Their defense looked to be dominant and in sync, as Rutgers-Camden only managed to record one total shot. Sophomore goalkeeper Gina Policastro did not have to make a save, earning her seventh shutout.

The Margaret and Herman Sokol Science Lecture

To Eat or Not to Eat: Leptin and the Biologic Basis of Obesity

During the past 20 years, there has been a dramatic increase in obesity in the United States and rates remain high. More than one-third of US adults (35.7 percent) and approximately 17 percent (or 12.5 million) of children and adolescents aged 2-19 years are obese.

Is obesity a disease caused by genetics, biological factors, or illnesses or is it a result of a person’s chosen lifestyle, eating habits and environment?

Speaker:

Jeffrey Friedman, MD, PhD—Marilyn M. Simpson Professor and Head of the Laboratory of Molecular Genetics at Rockefeller University, investigator at the Howard Hughes Medical Institute, 2005 winner of the Gairdner Foundation International Award and the Passano Foundation Award, 2009 winner of the Shaw Prize and Keio Medical Science Prize, and 2010 winner of the Albert Lasker Award for Basic Medical Research (both with Douglas L. Coleman).

Tickets, available at the Kasser Theater, are FREE to the Montclair State Community and $10 for others. For more information call 973-655-5352 or email brundas@mail.montclair.edu
Red Hawks Show Signs of Steady Descent
Despite 2-3 record, MSU tied for second in NJAC at 2-1

The Montclair State Red Hawks football team suffered its first conference loss of the season on the road against the SUNY Cortland Red Dragons. The Red Hawks were held to just 190 yards of total offense, as they would hold on for the win. The Red Hawk defense held strong in the opening half, and were only able to force three-and-outs five times in the opening half, and were only allowed inside enemy territory twice. The Red Hawk defense held strong in the second half, but 20 points would prove to be enough for the Red Dragons, as they would hold on for the win.

The Red Hawks still have a chance at winning the NJAC as long as they keep winning their conference games. They have their work cut out for them with the Rowan Professors as their next opponent.
The Blue Knights kept fighting to try and turn the lead over to a score of 23-17 in favor of MSU. Kimberly Butrico served up an ace followed by a kill from Dana McKeon to give MSU a 25-22 victory. The decisive third set was almost a mirror image of the first two sets, with MSU controlling play and never really giving the Blue Knights much of a chance. They won the set 25-13 and the match 3-0.

The Blue Knights built on their second set momentum and would go on to win the set 25-13, 25-21 for a second straight sweep. They are now 1-3 in NJAC matches.

This past week, the Montclair State Women’s Field Hockey team pushed their winning streak to eight games by taking care of business against Susquehanna University and SUNY Cortland. The Lady Red Hawks are now ranked number 10 in the National Field Hockey Coaches Association Poll. MSU Field Hockey’s overall record is 10-1 and inside the New Jersey Hockey Conference, the Lady Red Hawks are a perfect 3-0.

On Wednesday, Sept. 26th, the MSU Field Hockey squad played host to Susquehanna University. The Lady Red Hawks were determined from start to finish and won 5-0 over the Lady Crusaders. Senior midfielder Frances Schafer put in the only goal of the tightly contested first half at the 11:44 mark.

When the second half opened, the MSU Field Hockey put the pedal to the metal scoring four more goals. Frances Schafer knocked in MSU’s second goal of the game just three minutes into the half to put the Lady Red Hawks up 2-0. Freshman forward Maura Johnstone found the back of the net at the 66-minute mark, the fifteenth shutout of her career. She is also ranked second in goals against (0.75) and fifth in saves (45). This upcoming week, the MSU Women’s Field Hockey team travels to Stevens Institute of Technology in Hoboken, NJ on Wednesday, Oct. 3rd to face off with the Lady Ducks at 8:00 p.m. This Saturday, Oct. 6th, the Lady Red Hawks take a trip down south to Ewing, NJ to take on the TCNJ Lady Lions at 7:00 p.m.
Who's Hot This Week

Lucas Terci
Midfielder — Soccer
Terci played a huge role in the Red Hawks, improving their record to 11-1, thanks to his two goals and three assists in their three games last week. His highlight goal came 21 seconds into overtime when he scored the winning goal against Rutgers-Camden.

Megan Bosland
Goalkeeper — Field Hockey
Bosland tied the school record for wins as she helped lead the Red Hawks to two victories last week for their current 10-1 record. Bosland was named NJAC Defensive Player of the Week for the second straight week, recording two shutouts and nine saves last week.

Game of the Week

Football
vs. Rowan
October 6, 1:00 p.m.

The Red Hawks will host the Profs in hopes of avoiding a 2-2 NJAC record. A win will give the Red Hawks a 3-3 record.

For updates, check out:
www.montclairathletics.com
and @TheMontclarion on Twitter

Football
Men's Soccer
NJAC    Overall
MSU                       4 - 1           8 - 1
W. Paterson       3 - 1 - 1           7 - 1
RU-Camden           3 - 2            5- 3
Kean                       3 - 2      4 - 3 - 1
NJCU                      2 - 2           4 - 4
RU-Newark            2 - 3           6 - 4
Ramapo                  2 - 3           6 - 4
Stockton                 2 - 3           5 - 4
Rowan               1 - 2 - 1           4 - 6
TCNJ                      1 - 4           4 - 4

Field Hockey
NJAC
TCNJ                3 - 0           9 - 0
MSU                 3 - 0         10 - 1
Rowan             1 - 1           8 - 3
Ramapo           1 - 1           3 - 4
W. Paterson     1 - 2           2 - 9
Stockton          0 - 2            2 - 8
Kean                0 - 3           5 - 7

Volleyball

Women's Soccer
NJAC
Kean                   4 - 0 - 1      9 - 1 - 1
MSU                        4 - 0     11 - 0 - 1
TCNJ                       4 - 1           9 - 1
Rowan                     3 - 1           6 - 2
Stockton             2 - 1 - 1       8 - 2 - 2
W. Paterson             2 - 3       5 - 5 - 2
NJCU                       1 - 3       4 - 6 - 2
Ramapo                   1 - 4            4 - 5
RU-Camden       0 - 4 - 1       3 - 8 - 1
RU-Newark      0 - 4 - 1      1 - 10 - 1

This Week
10/6 vs. Rowan
10/10 vs. Kean

Last Week
9/29 MSU 3, RU-Camden 0
10/2 MSU 2, Stevens 1
Believe it or not, we’re already a quarter into the NFL season. Now that the original reserves are finally back, officiating games, we can solely focus on football. That being said, let’s dive into the performances of each team is performing up to expectations.

32.) Cleveland Browns (0-4): They actually gave the Ravens a run for their money in last Thursday night’s game in Baltimore, coming back. Trent Richardson looks like he’s going to be a star, however, running back in this league for years to come. The only other thing this team can look forward to is that their best corner back Joe Hayden will be completing his four-game suspension. This due to violating the NFL’s drug policy.

31.) Oakland Raiders (1-3): Since 2006, the Raiders have had five different head coaches. The franchise has been unstable for some time now. Their rowdy fans base is the only thing that has stayed loyal to their team.

30.) Tennessee Titans (1-3): The Titans have the league’s worst scoring differential by being outscored by 70 points in their first four games. Quarterback Jake Locker hasn’t lived up to his 1st round selection in 2011. Quarterback Matt Cassel has only rung up 45 rushing yards in his first three games. He finally woke up on Sunday, rushing for 141 yards against a tough Texans defense.

29.) Miami Dolphins (1-3): They nearly pulled off the upset over in Arizona this past weekend, so far this year’s HBO Hard Knocks team has given their all under new head coach Joe Philbin. Rookie QB Ryan Tannehill is showing he can potentially lead this squad to win, but they have to learn how to finish their games.

28.) Jacksonsvile Jaguars (1-3): QB Blaine Gabbart looks to be a little more comfortable in his second sea- son, but it still isn’t enough to rejuvenate this franchise. Rookie wide receiver Justin Blackmon has yet to live up to his hype, but at least RB Maurice Jones-Drew ended his holdout to play this season.

27.) New York Jets (2-2): While their campaign’s last season, the expectations for QB Cam Newton and this team is through the roof. He finally woke up on Sunday, rushing for 141 yards against a tough Texans defense.

26.) New Orleans (0-4): Despite the Saints starting off thus far. The way this team, needs serious help in their secondary.

25.) Arizona Cardinals (4-0): They look like their rebuilding mode. After one of the finest rookie cam- paigns last season, the expecta- tions for QB Cam Newton and this team is through the roof.

24.) Buffalo Bills (2-2): At one point, they were up 21-7 against New Eng- land on Sunday. However, they were down 52 points against 3 wins. Buffalo had no idea how to play in spite of his brother’s tragic death. Once this team’s last year’s Defense Player of the Year LB Torey Suggs back, this think might be the best team in the NFL.

23.) Detroit Lions (1-3): This guy seems to have all the makings of becoming an efficient QB in this league. Another positive is RB Adrian Peterson who is getting back up to speed from a remarkably quickACL recovery due to last season.

22.) Minnesota Vikings (3-1): A head scratcher in last year’s draft was the first round selection of QB Christian Ponder. This guy seems to have all the makings of becoming an efficient QB in this league. Another positive is RB Adrian Peterson who is getting back up to speed from a remarkably quickACL recovery due to last season.

21.) Dallas Cowboys (2-2): Tony Romo threw for 3 interceptions dur- ing Monday night’s game against the Bears. If they play the way they did in Troy Polamalu an extra week to get healthy again. With these two back and RB Rashard Mendenhall, Pitts- burgh could easily climb up the pow- er rankings within a couple of weeks.

20.) Tennessee Titans (1-3): They have only hooked up for one TD this season. Another interesting story is that RB Ryan Mathews has returned from injury, but they need to prove that they can beat the elite teams in the league to gain some more credentials.

19.) Chicago Bears (3-1): The Bears have one of the best defenses in the NFL. If Jay Cutler and Brian Hoyer can get each other, this team could make a serious run into the playoffs.

18.) Seattle Seahawks (2-2): They paid QB Matt Flynn for almost 89 million a year to have him sit backup to rookie QB Russell Wilson. They have a great defense, and a hard nose RB in Marsh- allwn’s shy, but their loss to St. Louis could be detrimental going forward.

17.) Washington Redskins (2-2): Rob- ert Griffin III leads all QBs in fantasy points. He is the real deal, but unfortu- nately for Washington they lost Pro Bowl linebacker Brian Orakpo for the season. Another interesting story has been 6th round drafted RB Alfred Morris, who got off to a fantastic start.

16.) St. Louis Rams (2-2): Head coach Jeff Fisher is starting to bring this franchise to a contender in the future. With these two back and RB Rashard Mendenhall, Pitts- burgh could easily climb up the pow- er rankings within a couple of weeks.

15.) Denver Broncos (2-2): Peyton Manning is looking very sharp so far this season. He and the team start get- ting comfortable as a unit, they could be one of the best teams in the AFC.

14.) Pittsburgh Steelers (1-2): The Giants haven’t had a win since its been their de- fense that’s taken the league by storm.

13.) Green Bay Packers (2-2): Their defense could be more consis- tent, but this team has an of- fensive squad that can easily lead them to another division title.

12.) Arizona Cardinals (4-0): They are easily the biggest surprise in the NFL this year. They had QB controversy going into this season, but the Cardi- nos are by far their most dominant.

11.) Pittsburgh Steelers (1-2): They near- ly pulled off the upset over in Ari- zona this past weekend, so far this year’s HBO Hard Knocks team has given their all under new head coach Joe Philbin. Rookie QB Ryan Tannehill is showing he can potentially lead this squad to win, but they have to learn how to finish their games.

10.) Chicago Bears (3-1): The Bears have one of the best defenses in the NFL. If Jay Cutler and Brian Hoyer can get each other, this team could make a serious run into the playoffs.

9.) Cincinnati Bengals (3-1): WR A.J. Green has gotten off to as good of a start that one could imagine in their first 20 games in the NFL. WR Andy Dalton has also transis- tioned extremely well into the NFL. Head coach Marvin Lewis has ac- tually had the third longest act- ing coaching tenure in the league.

8.) Philadelphia Eagles (3-1): The Eagles still haven’t seam’d it all together with such a talented squad on paper. They’ve definitely been lucky, but their performance this season has been by far their most dominant.

7.) Green Bay Packers (2-2): They probably should be 3-1, due to the botched call that took place in Se- attle. Aaron Rodgers is getting back into his own and that could be scary for the rest of the league.

6.) New England Patriots (2-2): Their defense could be more con- sistent, but this team has an of- fensive squad that can easily lead them to another division title.

5.) Arizona Cardinals (4-0): They are easily the biggest surprise in the NFL this year. They had QB controversy going into this season, but the Cardi- nos are by far their most dominant.

4.) Baltimore Ravens (3-1): WR Tor- y Smith has inspired his team by playing in spite of his brother’s tragic death. Once this team’s last year’s Defense Player of the Year LB Torey Suggs back, this think might be the best team in the NFL.

3.) Atlanta Falcons (4-0): They near- ly lost at home against Carolina this past week, but a win’s a win and it looks like QB Matt Ryan is slowly but surely taking that next step in be- ing one of the top QBs in the league.

2.) San Francisco 49ers (5-1): Their loss in Minnesota took them by sur- prise, but this might be the most complete team in the NFL. Head coach Jim Harbaugh has his team believe in themselves and it’s completely changed the way that this team plays, consider the move that had they were two seasons ago.

1.) Houston Texans (4-0): Sorry Dal- las, but Houston is not only the best team in Texas, but also the best in the NFL. Anything short in making it to the AFC Championship will make this year disappointing, depending on if their key players stay healthy.

There we have it, folks. It will be interesting to see which teams can bounce back from a slow start and which fall behind due to starts that are too good to be true.