Game Over For Video Games

Tricia Gonzalez
Staff Writer

Recently, there has been a buzz in the video games industry with word on a study by a psychologist, Dr. Lynka Tanaka, that has been making the rounds. The study suggests that video games, especially those that involve violence, may be responsible for the rise in youth violence.

The study was conducted by a group of psychologists who set out to examine the effects of violent video games on adolescent behavior. They found that exposure to violent video games was associated with increases in aggressive behavior and decreased empathy and moral reasoning.

The results of the study have prompted calls for stricter regulation of video games, particularly those deemed “violent.” However, the video game industry has strongly opposed such measures, claiming that video games are art forms that offer players a unique form of expression and creativity.

Still, the study has raised important questions about the role of video games in shaping our culture and society. As technology continues to advance, we must be vigilant in ensuring that the medium we consume does not undermine our values and our well-being.

The hit man would then torture Sgourdos with plans until he gave up his secrets. He was executed.

When state troopers searched his home after the arrest, they found two handguns, a shotgun, and a semi-automatic rifle, six cell phones, and a laptop. The police said they were looking to see if there were any other weapons.

Police believe that this was Sgourdos’ sub attempt plan at carrying out a murder. During his conversation with the in- tended hit, he informed them of his sexual harassment to police.

Deluise said he wasn’t sure why the incident occurred but believed it was due to the window being unlocked and during off-hours the atmosphere and women were as friendly as well coming. He would have never guessed that this was actually going on.

Internet Entrepreneur Advertises the Future

On April 15, 17, the School of Communication and Media presented a Webinar speaker Steven Rosenbaum, a producer, author and entrepreneur who created the MTV show Unfiltered, which aired in the 1990s. He also founded Magnafy, a website that allows people to sort through video and media content into websites with social networking features.

Rosenbaum spoke to a group of students about the idea of digital curation. He argued that because of the growing amount of information and media created daily through the Internet, the importance of information and media curation will also continually rise. The information and media that has caused the amount of information produced daily to rise exponentially in the last few years.

He also argued that it is becoming increasingly harder to find what is really valuable. This is why, this reason, we will have to find new ways to sort through information. Rosenbaum suggested that a new kind of filter will have to be created to manage this information.

Rosenbaum states that those curators must be human. Unlike computers, curators and algorithms are unable to account for the enormous amount of variability that exists when deciding what kind of information to present. Only people can decide what other people will like.

Rosenbaum went as far as to say that in the future, curators will become more important than creators. From the rise of accessibility of video and just pure sharing through websites such as Instagram, a lot of everyone will have the potential to be a curator. However, since it is impossible for a person to go through so much information themselves, the curator decides what media is more valuable and what media should have his additional and what people see and do not see.

“If you were to make it your life’s work to watch every single video posted on YouTube in a single day, you would be spending the next eight years of your life watching videos,” said Rosenbaum, emphasizing the vast quantities of data created daily.

Rosenbaum referred to Google Glass, which is essentially a wearable computer that will allow users to be connected to the Internet at all times. People will be able to watch events at all times and this will minimize the already daunting amount of privacy in the world. This points to a future where there will be an impossibly large amount of information flowing through the Internet.

In conclusion, Rosenbaum hoped to inspire students to take steps forward to help develop a future moderated by curators. He talked about the explosive amounts of information that are present today and the amount of time it will take people to process it, leaving the audience to wonder how the future will be.

Thirteen packages were delivered, with Tektrack being the improved notification system that was used for the project. The Tektrack system allowed students to receive the package at their dorm or residence hall if picked up on time and was prone to data entry errors.

Another major advantage of Tektrack is the improved notification system. An email is then sent directly from a desktop scanner and is recorded. An email is then sent directly to a desktop scanner and is recorded.

There were countless packages where students would receive a late notice on a delivery of their package or wouldn’t receive a notification at all. According to Dr. Timothy Carey, the Associate Vice President of Business Services, “The old system required a lot of manual input which was time-consuming, which was time-consuming, which was time-consuming, which was time-consuming.”

The errors that were being made became a great concern for the Tektrack team and was prone to data entry errors. Not only were the errors, students should have access to a package sent to their dorm room, but the students to confidently rely on the notification system for their package deliveries.

Pops of Red

Jessica Czarnogursky
FEATURE EDITOR

With the semester winding down, it’s easy to get worked up over final papers, the stress of exams and neglect everything but your basic black t-shirt and jeans. An easy way to keep stress at a minimum and your fashion at a maximum is to add pops of color to a simple outfit, and there’s nothing bolder than red.

Red is becoming increasingly popular, as a pop of red in your lips, nails or clothes is a simple way to make a bold statement. Whether you find a coral red or a fire-engine red more suited to your taste, keep in mind these simple ways to add red to your daily routine will ensure stress-free fashion for the rest of the season and semester.

Shoes: Just because you can’t afford the red-soled Louboutines doesn’t mean you can’t add the same style to your everyday wardrobe. Red shoes are perhaps the most versatile whether you realize it or not. Not only can they add instant lift to simple jeans and a t-shirt, but they can add class to a business or date outfit too. Whether pump or flat, the shoe is a must have.

Pants: Whether you wear a skinny jean to complement a pair of converse or a tailored pair of pants to make a stellar first impression at your summer internship, adding a pair of red pants is a great way to get noticed and stay on top of fashion.

Jean Jacket: Jean jackets are a growing must have, so why not step above the norm by stepping up the color scheme? A jean jacket in a coral hue makes for a better statement than just another blue jean jacket.

Jeans: For those days when the wind on campus is too much or you just need a quick pick-me-up, a headband or simple belt is the way to go. Wear a skinny red belt either classically through your belt loops or as a way to break up a boxy blouse or dress. Add a fun patterned or solid red headband to your hair for an effortless but put-together look. Adding the pop of color will make your entire outfit look more thought-out and polished than you had time for.

Dress: ‘Tis the season for dresses of every shape and style. Whether solid or patterned, a dress with red flair is a perfect pop to an otherwise ordinary outfit.

Lips and nails: For a polished look, try painting your nails red for a week or add lipstick to your daily routine. Ensure the colors are appropriate for your skin tone and remember every color in moderation.

Greek or American? Which Whey to Go

Alexis Fissinger
Staff Writer

If you have not tasted it already, you have certainly heard about this healthy trend. Greek yogurt is currently one of the fastest growing food products on the shelves. Every dairy brand is jumping on board to create not just their very own variety of Greek yogurts, but also kid-friendly, bite-size and frozen Greek treats. However, all types of yogurt contain healthy nutrients such as calcium, potassium, vitamin D, complete protein, B vitamins and healthy bacteria. So why is everyone crazy about the Greek?

What is the difference?

There are strained more than regular yogurts, which gets rid of much of the excess liquid known as whey. This straining results in a more concentrated, creamy prod-

Gardening
A Stress Reducing Guide to Food and Relaxation

Dana Baardsen
Staff Writer

There’s no doubt growing a garden may seem like a daunting task for many college students, but the benefits of starting one are undeniable. By actively getting your hands dirty, the mind, gardening can be extremely healthy.

There’s one college student who has made time to nurture her garden. Her name is Samantha Ciani. A native of the Garden State, she is an inspiring gardener and dancer who executes her ability to care for her plants extremely well.

Explore Samsanciland, an abundant oasis of green, which would make any organ-

Samantha’s garden is full of nourishment and “free therapy.”

A native of the Garden State, she is an inspiring gardener and dancer who executes her ability to care for her plants extremely well.

1. Find serenity: Planting and gardening elevates the levels of “happier hormones” in our bodies and decreases feelings of stress and anxiety.

2. Get your blood flowing: Maintaining a garden is actually a relaxing yet effective form of exercise. Burning those extra calories is definitiely a plus.

3. Indulge in the right food:

Gardening creates more protein than the current recommendation of .8 g per pound of body weight.

For those who have a hard time consuming enough protein in their diet, housing Greek over regular yogurt is a healthier way to increase intake.

Keep in mind that regular and low-fat yogurt can still contain much more fat and saturated fat than non-Greek yogurt. Extra sugar can also be added to those fan-

Tips from a Greek yogurt fanatic:

I personally love Greek yogurt, the creamy texture makes me feel like I am eating a real treat. However, I stick to the non-fat, plain flavor. With about a third of the sugar and less calories than all of the flavored Greek yogurts, the plain flavor is the healthiest option.

Greek yogurt can also substitute sour cream and mayonnaise in any recipe for a much healthier dish.

No, there is more protein, but most Americans easily consume more protein than the current recommendation of .8 g per pound of body weight.

Should you make the switch?

There is a valid reason for Greek yogurt’s high price, and it is not just because of the popularity of this product. The filtration of the yogurt’s liquid means that more milk has to be used to make one serving of yogurt.

Greek yogurt is therefore more jam-packed with nutrients than a spoonful of non-Greek yogurt. Stick with the store brand and you will likely pay a fraction of the price of popular name brands.

Explore Samsanciland, an abundant oasis of green, which would make any organic gardener waggle their toes. Though the name sounds mind-blowing, Samsanciland is more than just a pretty garden. It’s a source of nourishment and “free therapy” for its owner. Not only does she use the plants grown in her garden for food, but she also makes her own essential oils at home.

Ciani is definitely unique, and her gardening research supports the benefits of growing a garden at home.

Here are five reasons you should start growing your own garden.

1. Find serenity: Planting and gardening elevates the levels of “happier hormones” in our bodies and decreases feelings of stress and anxiety.

2. Get your blood flowing: Maintaining a garden is actually a relaxing yet effective form of exercise. Burning those extra calories is definiti-

4. Strengthen your connection to nature: Working with floral, fruit, herbal and vegetable

5. Find success and satisfaction: Wouldn’t it feel nice to know that your table centernels actually came from something you planted, grew and harvested?

Charity during Greek Week
Sisters of Sigma Delta Tau donate to Three Worthy Causes

Erin Pedrini and Kelly Potts

Thoughts

Child abuse and Fragile X Syndrome were the main charities the Gamma Xi Chapter of Sigma Delta Tau supported during Montclair State’s annual Greek Week. The Sisters hosted their 13th annual Tricky Tray on April 14 to raise money and awareness for these worthy causes in addition to continuing aid for the Jersey Shore.

When funding the fundraiser to make the most impact, the sisters decided to host the event at the Bellwood Banquet Hall in Toowa, allowing for over 350 people to attend and help raise money.

Sigma Delta Tau also invited the president of Prevent Child abuse in America (PCAA) James Hmurovich, to come and speak to the guests about the organization.

For the Tricky Tray, the Sisters donated over 170 gift baskets as well as gift cards and grand prize baskets. Businesses around New Jersey helped as well, generously donating baskets and gift cards for the event.

The annual Tricky Tray is the sorority’s biggest fundraising event this year. The Sisters were able to raise $11,700, doubling from last year. Of all the proceeds, the money will go toward Sigma Delta Tau’s three main charities.

In addition, with the help of the ticket sales, the Sisters raised over $800 that will be donated to the Bosters the Shores Foundation.

Danielle Iannetta, Vice President of Sigma Delta Tau, stated, “It is people like President Hmurovich who inspire us to do as much as possible back to the foundation and to help make a difference in children’s lives.”

Iannetta also stated that the soreness was planned to have a good that they have sponsored for the past few years with his family, Ben Weiss, who has Fragile X. He said, “With the help of these special guests, as well as our family and friends, we were able to raise a such a successful amount.”

Sigma Delta Tau alumna Dana Modena said, “Attending Tricky Tray is something we all look forward to this year. Our attendance was higher than last year and there were special guests Ben and the PCAA family and friends, as well as our fund-raising special guests Ben and the PCAA special guests Ben and the PCAA.”

Iannetta said, “As we continue to grow, we can only aim to change and help make our world a better place for children and for all people.”

Sigma Delta Tau alumna Daniela Lanzetta said, “The Sisters with President Hmurovich will and will become through the new Sisters.”

Former President Cayla Beltrame stated, “Swing and a Hit! Tricky Tray grew into such a big and successful event on the last year and a half that the Sisters were pleased to have a guest that they have sponsored for the past few years with his family, Ben Weiss, who has Fragile X.”

Iannetta added, “We are so proud of what Tricky Tray has accomplished, and we will continue to have special guests come and speak to the Sisters about the organization.

On the other hand, if you’ve planned something for a full relationship, eight months should be done. By then, you should have already created a strong enough bond that will make going on a vacation an experience unlike any other.

However, as stated earlier, it depends on your maturity and level of understanding. If there is any bad blood or unresolved issues, it must be settled or brought to attention before going away. Spending hours with somebody is one thing, but spending days or weeks is something else entirely.

If any conflict arises, there’s no need to worry. Eventually, you will have to face it head-on. Going away before you’re ready is a sure-fire way to hurt and potentially ruin your relationship.

Vacation is just as much of a once-in-a-lifetime event. If you are ready, you will never underestimate the value of such a vacation. It is an event that even a small economy can afford.

Now that every year, you will have to face it head-on. Going away before you’re ready is a sure-fire way to hurt and potentially ruin your relationship.

Vacation is just as much of a once-in-a-lifetime event. If you are ready, you will never underestimate the value of such a vacation. It is an event that even a small economy can afford.

Now that every year, you will have to face it head-on. Going away before you’re ready is a sure-fire way to hurt and potentially ruin your relationship.

ARIES March 21 - April 19
This is a great time to finally speak to that special someone you’ve been longing to know. Overcoming your shyness may be difficult at first, but once the ice is broken — that’s when things will go smoothly.

TAURUS April 20 - May 20
Be cautious when sharing secrets with people, especially since you are the kind of person who practically shares their whole life with others. Before you spill, really think whether this person is trustworthy.

GEMINI May 21 - June 20
Forget YOLO, and instead go by the classic, “A penny saved is a penny earned.” Money is already a “must” in the world and is perhaps an even larger one in the college world. Rather than spending your money on things you know you won’t need, save your money for a bigger purchase — one that will actually benefit you.

CANCER June 21 - July 22
You will be surprised at how one little change to your appearance could make an impact on others. This subtle change will not only have you feeling better, but it shows others what you’re capable of.

LEO July 23 - August 22
These past weeks have been leaving you wanting to be taken seriously. With that said, let others see the more capable, authoritative side of your personality. Be careful not to lose your sense of humor in the process. You can still be in charge without being known as “bossy boots.”

VIRGO August 23 - September 22
This week you will feel as though you have more energy than usual. It may even prompt you to get a head start on some tough work that you’ve been putting off. Take advantage of this muse and get that hard work out of the way.

LIBRA September 23 - October 22
Real friends are those who tell you what you need to hear, not what you want to hear. Although flattery may be an ego-booster, always ask your most honest friends and relatives for their feedback. Their critiques will only serve to make your work stronger.

SCORPIO October 23 - November 21
Although your judgments on some things are spot-on, it can be very easy to come off as imposing or arrogant. Step into another’s shoes before you condemn them for a misstep. You might be shaky on your feet if you had to walk that path yourself.

SAGITTARIUS November 22 - December 21
A little encouragement goes a long way today. It’s time to drop the macho act and feel the love. Believe in or not, the smallest kind gesture, such as opening the door for someone or giving advice could make one’s day.

CAPRICORN December 22 - January 19
You don’t have to win everyone over in order to consolidate your status in a group. There will always be those who love and those who hate. Instead, devote your time to those you feel the strongest connection with. Show them some love today and your buzz will quickly spread like wildfire to others.

AQUARIUS January 20 - February 18
These past weeks, you have come to the realization that you are working harder but not smarter. While it may be great to plan your goals for the future, remember that you are still in the present. When you stop reaching for something that’s too far, that’s when you will discover something great that has been in front of you all along.

PISCES February 19 - March 20
When it comes to being noticed, it is always the squeaky wheel that gets the grease. Having said that, you might have to throw a small fit to get your point across and to show just how important the issue really is. Be shrewd when using this approach, you don’t want to gain a bad rep as a cry baby.
Should violent video games be banned in public places?

Mary Montiglio Freshman Fashion Studies

I really don’t think that gun violence has anything to do with video games. I think people should just know better.
I don’t think they need to be banned.”

Casey Coleman Junior Broadcasting

I don’t think violent video games should be banned. I think more education on the repercussions of violent behavior should be brought up, but I don’t think violent video games necessarily warrant violent behavior.

Arturo Rodriguez Sophomore English Education

I don’t think that “violent video games should be banned,” because pretending that a problem that actually does exist in the world isn’t real. If you can’t play the video games, it’s like saying you can’t allow kids to be exposed to things that are actually happening.
Maybe, instead of banning them, a more preventative and proactive approach should be taken. So this. This is happening in the world, and here’s the video -thing of what’s real and what’s not.”

Angela Castillo Sophomore Psychology

“I don’t think you should ban games because games don’t cause people violence. Clearly, it’s something psychological that goes on with them that leads them to be violent.
It’s not the game’s fault itself.”

George Juzdan Senior Accounting

I feel that they should be viewed in public places because it is up to the parents discussion whether they want their children growing up playing violent video games. I know that growing up as a child, that wasn’t my parents’ first option as a game choice for me. As I got older, I made my own decisions. I was able to go and purchase my own violent video games if I had chosen them. (God of War is a great game.) I think the guidance of parents and even society should give people the right mind of not being affected mentally by these video games.”

Jo Landau Senior Women and Gender Studies

I keep going back and discussion on this topic. I can never really decide who seems less insensitive because it seems like we come down to the point where becomes an us versus them attack. It’s like, “You’re a gamer, you’re up to this,” or otherwise. “You’re a non-gamer because of the games you play.” I don’t play violent video games. I don’t really approve of them, but I’m not going to impose my choices on others.”

H

There seems to be some flawed logic in the ban because there is no sustantial evidence that there is an increased chance in violence if children are exposed to violent video games. She is presenting a ban on something with no factual basis on the matter. Plus, we have the right to have and play video games out in public. There isn’t anything in her jurisdiction she can do.

What will happen next? Will police officers strip-search people for 3DS or PS3s? It’s another obstacle-ban that shouldn’t be passed.

Most of us here are 18 or older and are allowed to purchase any violent video games we’d like. The ban will be restricting our rights. Even if it’s over something that might seem ridiculous or juvenile, it is still a violation of our simple rights. That’s like putting restrictions on 21-year-olds that want to purchase a drink at a bar. There will be a way around the law. Implementing a ban is always be a way around the law, parents will ultimately want their children to play and make the choice to ban an inappropriate video game. Though we cannot speak on behalf of everyone, we believe that we should have the right to play video games when we want.
A lot of adults and children alike enjoy video
- the game is for us to relax and let out our frustration. It’s better for them to take their aggression out while playing a video game than doing something, isn’t it? Give me video games or give me death.

The donation comes from long-time art collector, Nicholas Kristof, Americana, and Pulitzer Prize Winner, this time to designate State Republicans: Exposition is a reminder that ATF needs access to original documents of State Republicans for blocking appoint- ments, and thereby, apparently, we do not have to be absolved of any type of fur- ther criticism, right? Regarding the Westboro Baptist Church, a fundamentalist group from Topeka, Kansas that openly states that they hate the military, its members were at Boston to try and make up for what all three of those twits have in common? They all have a Grandstanding desire to create a card of sorts, and I’m afraid to say, truth in them at the absolute best. This type of information floating around the Internet is often false, and can lead to the denial of the general public. Even news stories include a link for their own online sign, such as a Bastille Day festival being held on the same day as the student march. However, the next day was the third Sunday of July, and this is why they usually called Bastille Day.

Some people choose science over that not even an hour after the bombing occurred, the WBC immediately condemned the bombing and was thankful it happened. The WBC said that the same reaction after the horrific shooting in Newtown, saying that it is all that innocent children and mothers and father are still in critical condition.

In the face of the bombing, there have been over 1000 people showing their support for the WBC and expressing their anger over faith, making the decision to look at everything in a completely different way. And contain scant elements of competition among people. It is my belief that we must do more now than ever. I believe that it is time to finally callousness to the people and their concerns.

women all around the world screamed after reading a recent article published by The Associated Press. The article was about war, politics or even that Chanel had discarded his favorite fragrance. Instead, it was actor Ryan Gosling’s retirement from acting. That is where the Drive actor is now. People don’t want a break from him; they want more of him. In fact, people can’t wait to see him in the Derek Cianfrance directed indie drama, The Place Beyond the Pines.

The film is the story of Luke Glanton, Gosling’s character. He is a stuntman at a local traveling circus when he finds out that his ex-girlfriend had his child, a son. He quits his job and moves closer to his son, a child. He doesn’t want his son to end up like him. He wants his son, his new baby boy, to have a better life. He wants to make a better life for himself in a very difficult situation. He doesn’t want her son to end up like him, like his father, a thief.

The film was released at the Toronto Film Festival earlier this year and received high praise. Reviews of the film have said it’s Bradley Cooper’s best work, in addition to already having great success in Toronto. Critics have said that Cooper and Ryan Gosling’s chemistry is a true testament to how great and incredible Ryan Gosling is and how he should continue to share his gift of acting and entertaining. No one wants him to take a break from acting. No one wants to see his face so often on the big screen. He should continue acting and show that he is capable of picking dynamic and heart-warming characters that are immensely complex and show off Gosling’s talents.

The Place Beyond the Pines is a masterpiece and a film that should not go unseen.

In last season’s finale, near the end of the story arc, we see Betty standing at the threshold of Don’s office. The space is occupied by two doors — one to the right and one to the left. The doors divide the room, creating a sense of symmetry and balance. The threshold itself is a focal point, drawing the viewer’s attention to the entrance and exit of the office. It represents the boundary between different spaces and time periods, symbolizing the transition and movement within the narrative.

The doors serve as a metaphor for the confusion and uncertainty faced by the characters. They represent the challenges and opportunities that arise when new elements are introduced into the storyline. The doors are constantly open and closed, signifying the ever-changing nature of the characters’ lives.

In the context of Mad Men, the doors also symbolize the transition from one phase of the show to another. The series finale marked the end of the era, with many characters facing significant changes and decisions. The doors, therefore, serve as a visual representation of the show’s conclusion and the impact it had on the characters and their relationships.

The scene in which Don is shown opening and closing the doors is a powerful visual representation of the show’s themes. It highlights the contrast between the past and present, the struggle for identity, and the constant evolution of the characters and their world.

In conclusion, the threshold of Don’s office is a symbolic element that plays a crucial role in the show’s narrative. It serves as a visual representation of the characters’ journeys and the evolution of the series as a whole.
Basketball has to be one of the most physically grueling sports, game in and game out. It’s seldom that a player does not suffer some type of injury throughout the grueling 82-game schedule. If you haven’t already heard, Kobe Bryant went down with a torn left Achilles tendon. This couldn’t have come at a worse time, because if the Los Angeles Lakers lose their last game of the season and the Utah Jazz win theirs, they might not make the playoffs. They are especially in danger of losing because that game is against the Houston Rockets, who have a better chance of securing their spot in the playoffs.

The Rockets are currently the 7th seed in the West and would fare much better against the 2nd seeded San Antonio Spurs than potentially dropping to the 8th seed and having to face Kevin Durant’s Oklahoma City Thunder. Additionally, the Rockets lead the league in points per game, with an average 106. The Jazz have an easier task on their hands because they might not make the playoffs. If the Los Angeles Lakers lose their last game of the season, and the Utah Jazz wins theirs, if the Los Angeles Lakers lose their last game of the season, and the Utah Jazz wins theirs, the Jazz have an easier task on their hands because they might not make the playoffs. If the Los Angeles Lakers lose their last game of the season, and the Utah Jazz wins theirs, their best season in 16 years, and without Rajon Rondo, they have no business beating the Knicks this time around.

Despite Anthony enduring these nagging injuries, he was able to not only lead the NBA in scoring but carried his New York Knicks towards their best season in 16 years with a 2nd seed in the Eastern Conference. He assured the media that in regard to his shoulder, “It’s sore, just from the contact. I’ll be fine. It’s nothing for me to worry about,” Anthony said in the New York Post. The Knicks also received a major spark with the potential Sixth Man of the Year in J.R. Smith. Smith isn’t afraid to put up a shot at literally any point during the game. With the likes of him and Carmelo, the Knicks made more three-point shots than any team in sports history, tracking all the way back to the three-point line’s debut in the 1979-80 season.

They will take on their rival, the 7th seeded Boston Celtics. If you’re a Knicks fan, this is the matchup that you have been waiting for. The Celtics have been a .500 team all season, and without Rajon Rondo, they have no business beating the Knicks this time around.

The Brooklyn Nets’ new home at the Barclays Center has translated into their first playoff appearance since 2006. Their season started off a bit rocky after the firing of Avery Johnson. However, his replacement, assistant coach P.J. Carlesimo has the franchise’s best start as a coach with a record of 14-18.

The Nets are predominantly healthy. However, I’m going to regretfully go out on a limb and say that the Knicks and Clip- pers will somehow meet up in this year’s finals. I wouldn’t mind seeing Billy Crystal and Spike Lee jabbering at each other while seeing other celebs like Billy Crystal and Spike Lee jabbering at each other while seeing other celebs like Billy Crystal and Spike Lee jabbering at each other while seeing other celebs like Billy Crystal and Spike Lee jabbering at each other while seeing other celebs like Billy Crystal and Spike Lee jabbering at each other while seeing other celebs like Billy Crystal and Spike Lee jabbering at each other....

MSU scores 20 in doubleheader

On April 14 at Yogi Berra Stadium, Campus Recre- ration Center and Joe Cahill Field, the Montclair State University baseball team continued its dominance in the District II Central Divi- sion by defeating Monmouth University in a doubleheader for the second straight season.

Hard work and natu- ral synergy resulted in 20 runs scored between the two games, providing further testament to the team’s capability of becom- ing a competitor during the next several years.

The team is a part of Club Sports at the Depart- ment of Campus Recreation, run by the Student Recre- ation Center on campus. Reg- arding the scores, the team had an overall positive outlook regarding how they played.

Joe Cahill, a Navy vet- eran, sophomores and one of two head coaches, recalled, “They really played well. Everybody contributed and worked together. They all played in- tense, fast and smart baseball. We had a rough time last week when we lost to Northeastern two games in a row. We are usually still having a successful sea- son.”

The team is unde- feated in their conference and plan on doing that same way. Unfortunately, the end of the season will hardly be a walk-in-the-park, seeing as they will play both New York University and Hofstra in consecutive weekends.

Regarding the end of their regular season, Cahill said, “Hofstra won all of last year, so I think they are going to be really tough. At the same time, we don’t want to look past NYU.”

This opinion was shared by most of the players interviewed, including third baseman and junior Nick Brasile. “Hofstra is the bet- ter team out of the two,” said Brasile. “As long as we contin- ue playing and look forward, I think we can handle them.”

Brasile had a double play during one of the games to close out an especially im- pressive inning, absolving the error that he had in the prior play. As one of the key play- ers and hitters for the team, Brasile said, “We are meshing better. We practice a lot more because people are able to show up consistently. There’s a lot of passion among us.”

The final scores were 7-4.1 and 14-5.1. MSU has a doubleheader against NYU on March 20.

Red Hawks Lose Three Straight

On April 11, the Mont- clair State Red Hawks travelled to Mahwah to take on the Ramapo College Roadrunners. The outcome of this game was a 1-0 lead. In the second inning, the Hawks lost the second game, 2-0 lead. In the second inning, the Osprey bats came alive, scoring two runs in the fifth, one in the sixth, and then added three in the seventh inning.

In the fourth, MSU came back to take the lead 2-1 when Stephen Nappe tripled to right field. Going into the eighth inning, MSU had a 1-2 lead, but Scott Patlau tied the game with a two-run single.

In the ninth inning, both teams had chances to end it, but neither team could get a runner across home plate. Jonathan Tierrezegua pitched 7 1/3 innings for MSU, allowing four runs (two earned) and nine hits. The lefty struck out seven and walked one.

On April 13, the Red Hawks were swept in a New Jersey ABCA tournament in Mahwah, losing a doubleheader against the Richard Stockton College Os- preys.

The final score of the first game was 6-3 and 7-4. In the first game, the Red Hawks saw them- selves in good shape until a key error into the third inning on a RBI double by Stephen Nappe and a sacrifice fly by Anderson Brasile. “As long as we contin- nue playing and look forward, I think we can handle them.”
