Students celebrate College Radio Day in the WMSC studio.

Kristen Bryfogle
Opinion Editor

Although most of campus was asleep at midnight on Oct. 3, the third floor of Schmit Hall was a large exception. Yelled into the corner of this newly renormalized building is that of the art departments of 90.3 WMSC. Montclair State University’s college radio station.

Its staff celebrated the fourth annual College Radio Day with a 24-hour live broadcast beginning at 12 a.m. this past Friday.

During the event, WMSC aired a variety of specialized programs including interviews with students involved in college radio and an ensemble prohibited with the founder of College Radio Day, Dr. Rob Quickie, the General Manager of William Paterson University’s station, WPPC, WPPR. They also hosted spotlights of campus organizations, CD and ticket giveaways and, of course, music.

The main features of College Radio Day at Montclair State University were WMSC’s live broadcast from the Quad. From 2 p.m. to 5 p.m., listeners could hour representatives of WMSC in the quad join them in stuff with schmit Hall in order to celebrate the creative media-form that is college radio.

This was a great way for all the college radio stations nationwide to come together and be a part of something hip,” explained Shakira Perez, one of the WMSC staff members at the quad broadcast. “I got involved because I always wanted to be a part of radio. It’s a really cool opportunity.

Radio continued on Page 5

Fire Safety Reflects on Clery Act

Catherine Baxter
Editor-in-Chief

With the release of the statistics of the Jenney Clery Act for the year of 2013, it was reported that there was one fire in 2013 in Millcent Firehall within the Village caused by an electrical reason and resulting in no deaths or injuries and 0- 500 of damage.

“At the end of the day, despite our best efforts, it is our students who are ultimately to thank for such low numbers.”

- Jeff Isler, Fire Inspector for Fire Safety

This is in comparison to one fire in 2012 in Count Basie Hall, which happened accidentally and resulted similarly to the fire in 2013. According to Jeff Isler, the Program Assistant for Fire Safety, the federal Jenney Clery Act requires that colleges and universities provide their students with a wealth of information that pertains to the dangers of fire and well being, including inf ormation about fire safety. Some of the Clery Act include the number of fires as well as the causes of those fires, if there were injuries due to the fire that required medical treatment, any deaths associated with the fire and the estimated property damage.

In addition to the statistics for the given year, Fire Safety also reports the fire detection systems in the Clery Act include the number of fires as well as the causes of those fires, if there were injuries due to the fire that required med-cal treatment, any deaths associated with the fire and the estimated property damage.

At Clery continued on Page 5

Laso Raises its Flag

Taliana Crux
Contributing Writer

Every October, Latin Americans all around the country celebrate this month as the official Latin Pride Month. In commemoration, the Latin American Student Organization held their annum flag-raising event on Wednesday, Oct. 1.

The event began at College Hall where members of the organization gathered. They proceeded to each hold up their prospective flags and one of the members then read a monologue about the Student Center.

Once done, Dr. Susan Cole, the university president, spoke and proclaimed this month as Latin Pride Month.

“Montclair State University derives much of its strength from the influences of many cultures and races, and now takes time to celbrate Latino Pride Month and recognize the unique richness and vitality of this diverse culture,” said Dr. Cole at the event. “Poezoma from Latin American and Spanish ancestors have had a profound and positive influence on our country and Latin continued on Page 6

Commuters are Red Hawks Too!

Commuter Appreciation Week celebrates commuters on campus

Deanna Rosa
Contributing Writer

Forget the woes of traffic and parking for a moment; it’s Commuter Appreciation Week! This week is all about showing appreciation for its valued commuter students, who comprise about 75 percent of the university’s total student body and parking for a moment; it’s Commuter Appreciation Week! This week is all about showing appreciation for its valued commuter students, who comprise about 75 percent of the university’s total student body.

On Monday morning, the Student Center Commuter Lounge was brim-
ning with students enjoying free bagels, muffins and coffee to kick off the week. Jamie, a senior business administration major, com-
memorized, “Commuter Appreciation Week! This week is all about commerting with students enjoying free bagels, muffins and coffee to kick off the week. Jamie, a senior business administration major, com-
memorized, “Commuter Appreciation Week! This week is all about commer-
ning with students enjoying free bagels, muffins and coffee to kick off the week. Jamie, a senior business administration major, com-
memorized, “Commuter Appreciation Week! This week is all about commer-
ning with students enjoying free bagels, muffins and coffee to kick off the week. Jamie, a senior business administration major, com-
memorized, “Commuter Appreciation Week! This week is all about commer-
ning with students enjoying free bagels, muffins and coffee to kick off the week. Jamie, a senior business administration major, com-
memorized, “Commuter Appreciation Week! This week is all about commer-
ning with students enjoying free bagels, muffins and coffee to kick off the week. Jamie, a senior business administration major, com-
memorized, “Commuter Appreciation Week! This week is all about commer-
ning with students enjoying free bagels, muffins and coffee to kick off the week. Jamie, a senior business administration major, com-
memorized, “Commuter Appreciation Week! This week is all about commer-
ning with students enjoying free bagels, muffins and coffee to kick off the week. Jamie, a senior business administration major, com-
memorized, “Commuter Appreciation Week! This week is all about commer-
ning with students enjoying free bagels, muffins and coffee to kick off the week. Jamie, a senior business administration major, com-
memorized, “Commuter Appreciation Week! This week is all about commer-
ning with students enjoying free bagels, muffins and coffee to kick off the week. Jamie, a senior business administration major, com-
memorized, “Commuter Appreciation Week! This week is all about commer-
ning with students enjoying free bagels, muffins and coffee to kick off the week. Jamie, a senior business administration major, com-
memorized, “Commuter Appreciation Week! This week is all about commer-
ning with students enjoying free bagels, muffins and coffee to kick off the week. Jamie, a senior business administration major, com-
memorized, “Commuter Appreciation Week! This week is all about commer-
ning with students enjoy-
in News, p. 7

Chili’s is Still Hot

Though it’s been open for weeks, the new addition on behalf of Chartwells is still hopping

Feature, p. 19

Head Over Heels?

This week marks National Coming Out Week, seven days dedicated to LGBTQ pride and awareness across the country.

Entertainment, p. 18

Opinion, p. 13

Making LGBTQ Media PG

This week marks National Coming Out Week, seven days dedicated to LGBTQ pride and awareness across the country.

Novel, ‘Gone Girl,’ Adapted to a Hit Film

Sports, p. 20

Three in a Row for Football

Montclair State traveled to Wightman Field in Wayne, N.J. to take on the William Pater-

n

Anyone who has information regarding these incidents is urged to call the police station at T-I-P-S (8477). All calls are strictly confidential.

Calling All Writers!

News needs your help.

You can be our next Staff Writer!

E-mail us: msunews@gmail.com

The Montclarion is a freely distributed newspaper providing one copy per person. Additional copies are $0.25.

The Montclarion is a publication of Montelican Publishing, Inc. published weekly, except during examinations, summer and winter sessions. The Montclarion is funded by student fees distributed by Montclair State University and incoming advertising revenue. The views expressed in the Opinion section, with the exception of the Main Editorial, do not necessarily reflect the views of The Montclarion.

The first issue of The Montclarion, then named The Pelican, was published on Nov. 28, 1928.

The Montclarion willingly corrects its factual errors. If you think there is a mistake in a story, please call Editor-in-Chief Catherine at ext. 5230.

THE MONTCLARION
Peak Performances

JOHN J. CALI SCHOOL OF MUSIC

Kaleidoscope

Oct. 10 - 7:30 p.m.
Oct. 11 - 8:00 p.m.

All Seats $15

Shanghai Quartet

with guest artist Wu Han, piano
Quintets by Dvořák and Schumann

Oct. 12 – 3:00 p.m.
Interested in law school?
NEW JERSEY'S 32nd ANNUAL LAW SCHOOL
ADMISSIONS DAY

Wednesday, October 22, 2014
1:00 pm-4:00 pm
Panel on the Law Admissions Process 1-2 pm
Law Fair 2-4:00 pm

Free and open to the public.
Montclair State University
Student Center
Ballrooms A, B, and C

Co-Sponsored by

♦ Learn about law school admissions
♦ Speak directly to law school representatives to obtain information on the application process and admission criteria
♦ Receive L.S.A.T. information
♦ Get a head start on the admissions process

Partial List of Schools participating in New Jersey Law Admissions Day:

Albany
Suffolk
Hofstra
 Pace
Baltimore
Drake
Touro
Widener
Fordham
Rutgers-Newark
Georgia State
William and Mary
District of Columbia
SUNY Buffalo
George Mason
Florida Coastal Cardozo
Boston Univ.
McGeorge
Catholic
Roger Williams
Golden Gate
Quinnipiac
Regent
American
Seton Hall
Univ. of San Francisco
New York Law
Western New England
Ave Maria
Case Western Reserve
Washington and Lee
Villanova
Temple
Northeastern
CUNY Law
St. John's
Vermont
Penn State
St. Thomas

Co-Sponsored at Montclair State by:
Political Science & Law Department
Pre-Law Society, Political Science Club
EOF Legal Studies
For further information call (973) 655-4238 or email e-mail.taylormontclair.edu
Fire Safety and the Little Falls Fire Department respond to an alarm

Fire Safety and the Little Falls Fire Department responded to an alarm at the campus center on Oct. 3.

The Little Falls Fire Department received a call for an alarm at the campus center on Oct. 3. The station responded with two personnel and one fire engine. The fire department was able to quickly extinguish the fire and clear the building of all occupants. No injuries were reported.

Assistant Coordinator Margaret Barschow, a junior family studies assistant coordinator, said Issler, “The result: residents are sober enough to wake up if there is a fire alarm, and students can history,” said Issler. “We can partner with the department to provide information to students, including fire extinguisher training and other fire safety measures.”

The week is a time to “get out the word on fire safety,” Issler said. “We partner with the department to provide information to students, including fire extinguisher training and other fire safety measures.”

Fire Safety has been holding the fall fire alarm day for College Radio Day and talking about the free public radio station. They can participate by helping the fire department to provide information to students, including fire extinguisher training and other fire safety measures.”

Fire Safety and the Little Falls Fire Department respond to an alarm

Fire Safety and the Little Falls Fire Department responded to an alarm at the campus center on Oct. 3.

The Little Falls Fire Department received a call for an alarm at the campus center on Oct. 3. The station responded with two personnel and one fire engine. The fire department was able to quickly extinguish the fire and clear the building of all occupants. No injuries were reported.

Assistant Coordinator Margaret Barschow, a junior family studies assistant coordinator, said Issler, “The result: residents are sober enough to wake up if there is a fire alarm, and students can history,” said Issler. “We partner with the department to provide information to students, including fire extinguisher training and other fire safety measures.”

The week is a time to “get out the word on fire safety,” Issler said. “We partner with the department to provide information to students, including fire extinguisher training and other fire safety measures.”

Fire Safety has been holding the fall fire alarm day for College Radio Day and talking about the free public radio station. They can participate by helping the fire department to provide information to students, including fire extinguisher training and other fire safety measures.”

Fire Safety and the Little Falls Fire Department respond to an alarm

Fire Safety and the Little Falls Fire Department responded to an alarm at the campus center on Oct. 3.

The Little Falls Fire Department received a call for an alarm at the campus center on Oct. 3. The station responded with two personnel and one fire engine. The fire department was able to quickly extinguish the fire and clear the building of all occupants. No injuries were reported.

Assistant Coordinator Margaret Barschow, a junior family studies assistant coordinator, said Issler, “The result: residents are sober enough to wake up if there is a fire alarm, and students can history,” said Issler. “We partner with the department to provide information to students, including fire extinguisher training and other fire safety measures.”

The week is a time to “get out the word on fire safety,” Issler said. “We partner with the department to provide information to students, including fire extinguisher training and other fire safety measures.”

Fire Safety has been holding the fall fire alarm day for College Radio Day and talking about the free public radio station. They can participate by helping the fire department to provide information to students, including fire extinguisher training and other fire safety measures.”

Fire Safety and the Little Falls Fire Department respond to an alarm

Fire Safety and the Little Falls Fire Department responded to an alarm at the campus center on Oct. 3.

The Little Falls Fire Department received a call for an alarm at the campus center on Oct. 3. The station responded with two personnel and one fire engine. The fire department was able to quickly extinguish the fire and clear the building of all occupants. No injuries were reported.

Assistant Coordinator Margaret Barschow, a junior family studies assistant coordinator, said Issler, “The result: residents are sober enough to wake up if there is a fire alarm, and students can history,” said Issler. “We partner with the department to provide information to students, including fire extinguisher training and other fire safety measures.”

The week is a time to “get out the word on fire safety,” Issler said. “We partner with the department to provide information to students, including fire extinguisher training and other fire safety measures.”

Fire Safety has been holding the fall fire alarm day for College Radio Day and talking about the free public radio station. They can participate by helping the fire department to provide information to students, including fire extinguisher training and other fire safety measures.”

Fire Safety and the Little Falls Fire Department respond to an alarm

Fire Safety and the Little Falls Fire Department responded to an alarm at the campus center on Oct. 3.

The Little Falls Fire Department received a call for an alarm at the campus center on Oct. 3. The station responded with two personnel and one fire engine. The fire department was able to quickly extinguish the fire and clear the building of all occupants. No injuries were reported.

Assistant Coordinator Margaret Barschow, a junior family studies assistant coordinator, said Issler, “The result: residents are sober enough to wake up if there is a fire alarm, and students can history,” said Issler. “We partner with the department to provide information to students, including fire extinguisher training and other fire safety measures.”

The week is a time to “get out the word on fire safety,” Issler said. “We partner with the department to provide information to students, including fire extinguisher training and other fire safety measures.”

Fire Safety has been holding the fall fire alarm day for College Radio Day and talking about the free public radio station. They can participate by helping the fire department to provide information to students, including fire extinguisher training and other fire safety measures.”

Fire Safety and the Little Falls Fire Department respond to an alarm

Fire Safety and the Little Falls Fire Department responded to an alarm at the campus center on Oct. 3.

The Little Falls Fire Department received a call for an alarm at the campus center on Oct. 3. The station responded with two personnel and one fire engine. The fire department was able to quickly extinguish the fire and clear the building of all occupants. No injuries were reported.

Assistant Coordinator Margaret Barschow, a junior family studies assistant coordinator, said Issler, “The result: residents are sober enough to wake up if there is a fire alarm, and students can history,” said Issler. “We partner with the department to provide information to students, including fire extinguisher training and other fire safety measures.”

The week is a time to “get out the word on fire safety,” Issler said. “We partner with the department to provide information to students, including fire extinguisher training and other fire safety measures.”

Fire Safety has been holding the fall fire alarm day for College Radio Day and talking about the free public radio station. They can participate by helping the fire department to provide information to students, including fire extinguisher training and other fire safety measures.”

Fire Safety and the Little Falls Fire Department respond to an alarm

Fire Safety and the Little Falls Fire Department responded to an alarm at the campus center on Oct. 3.

The Little Falls Fire Department received a call for an alarm at the campus center on Oct. 3. The station responded with two personnel and one fire engine. The fire department was able to quickly extinguish the fire and clear the building of all occupants. No injuries were reported.

Assistant Coordinator Margaret Barschow, a junior family studies assistant coordinator, said Issler, “The result: residents are sober enough to wake up if there is a fire alarm, and students can history,” said Issler. “We partner with the department to provide information to students, including fire extinguisher training and other fire safety measures.”

The week is a time to “get out the word on fire safety,” Issler said. “We partner with the department to provide information to students, including fire extinguisher training and other fire safety measures.”

Fire Safety has been holding the fall fire alarm day for College Radio Day and talking about the free public radio station. They can participate by helping the fire department to provide information to students, including fire extinguisher training and other fire safety measures.”

Fire Safety and the Little Falls Fire Department respond to an alarm

Fire Safety and the Little Falls Fire Department responded to an alarm at the campus center on Oct. 3.

The Little Falls Fire Department received a call for an alarm at the campus center on Oct. 3. The station responded with two personnel and one fire engine. The fire department was able to quickly extinguish the fire and clear the building of all occupants. No injuries were reported.

Assistant Coordinator Margaret Barschow, a junior family studies assistant coordinator, said Issler, “The result: residents are sober enough to wake up if there is a fire alarm, and students can history,” said Issler. “We partner with the department to provide information to students, including fire extinguisher training and other fire safety measures.”

The week is a time to “get out the word on fire safety,” Issler said. “We partner with the department to provide information to students, including fire extinguisher training and other fire safety measures.”

Fire Safety has been holding the fall fire alarm day for College Radio Day and talking about the free public radio station. They can participate by helping the fire department to provide information to students, including fire extinguisher training and other fire safety measures.”

Fire Safety and the Little Falls Fire Department respond to an alarm

Fire Safety and the Little Falls Fire Department responded to an alarm at the campus center on Oct. 3.

The Little Falls Fire Department received a call for an alarm at the campus center on Oct. 3. The station responded with two personnel and one fire engine. The fire department was able to quickly extinguish the fire and clear the building of all occupants. No injuries were reported.

Assistant Coordinator Margaret Barschow, a junior family studies assistant coordinator, said Issler, “The result: residents are sober enough to wake up if there is a fire alarm, and students can history,” said Issler. “We partner with the department to provide information to students, including fire extinguisher training and other fire safety measures.”

The week is a time to “get out the word on fire safety,” Issler said. “We partner with the department to provide information to students, including fire extinguisher training and other fire safety measures.”

Fire Safety has been holding the fall fire alarm day for College Radio Day and talking about the free public radio station. They can participate by helping the fire department to provide information to students, including fire extinguisher training and other fire safety measures.”
Coming Out Week and National Coming Out Day, observed on Oct. 11, is a day wherein anyone in the Latinx, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender, and Non-binary community is encouraged to come out of the closet and to show their pride. The center is a safe place to do so,” said Melody Kenny, a junior English major and the coordinator of the LGBTQ Center.

“I feel that coming out is part of a larger revolution. It becomes easier for people to do so and to identify as queer when more people are coming out. As more people come out, the community grows stronger,” said Kenny.

“Coming Out Week is an amazing week for anyone on campus who identifies as LGBTQ to see how the campus embraces all walks of life,” shared Deanna Darten, a member of the LGBTQ Center.
Chili's is Still Hot

Natalie Taylor | The Montclarion

Chili’s is still hot and happening in The Plaza at Blanton Hall on Montclair State University’s campus.

The buzz about the possibility of a Chili’s restaurant on Montclair State University’s campus began months before it actually opened.

Students were wondering what would replace Guy Fieri on Campus after disappointing reviews. The gossip started during last spring semester and everyone was talking about it.

The wait is finally over. Weeks into the semester, the Chili’s on campus began months more than overwhelming. The staff couldn’t keep up with the orders. The line of hungry students and staff trying to buy food almost reached the side of the building.

“When I first encountered the Chili’s on campus, I saw that there was a long line, so I decided to walk past it and go to Dunkin’ Donuts,” said student Talyah Scott.

According to Dining Services, they have heard the complaints from students regarding the staff working the registers.

“We are continuing training the staff to move the lines quicker. We are finding that the students are enjoying the food quality more than the Guy Fieri restaurant that was there before,” said Lindsey Anderson, Marketing Manager of Dining Services.

The menu is similar to a neighborhood location of the restaurant. Popular items on the menu are the honey chipotle chicken crispers, Santa Fe Chicken Salad and the Southwestern Smokehousehouse Burger. The prices are cheap or expensive, depending who you ask around campus.

The restaurant also offers combos for $6, $7 or $8 dollars for those who want to save money and order two items at once for a low price. Sadly, it only features Molten Lava Cakes and a dessert dish.

Like other locations on campus, you can pay at Chili’s with meal plan swipes, Red Hawk Dollars, Flex Dollars, cash or credit.

“Still, this year provided us with ten not matches, it is rather helpful to have as many people in the registry as possible – to find that individual who does.

Because so many are often not matches, it is rather helpful to have as many people in the registry as possible – to find that individual who does.

If a donor is a match, meaning their cheek swab sample matches that of a patient in need, the donor is called in for a blood test.

“The test, in essence, will further determine whether the donor is a potential donor. If the second test indicates similarities that will lead to a successful bone marrow donation, the process will go forward,” shared Moore.

In this step of the process, there are two paths that can be followed in order to solidify the donation. Most commonly, an individual undergoes a procedure similar to a blood transfusion; the other is completed through the insertion of a needle into a donor’s bone to remove the marrow itself.

“As a teenager, I saw my father donate his bone marrow; we met his recipient and saw how something that required so little effort on his part literally saved someone’s life,” shared Adina Goldfarb, a sophomore computer science major. “I wanted the opportunity to do the same. If I could try to save someone’s life by swabbing my cheek, why wouldn’t I?”

At this past drive, 34 individuals from the Montclair State community joined the Bone Marrow Registry – a decision that could possibly change a life were they to be the match.

“Next week, I wouldn’t like to see even more people join the registry,” said Moore. “Still, this year provided us with ten not matches, it is rather helpful to have as many people in the registry as possible – to find that individual who does.

If a donor is a match, meaning their cheek swab sample matches that of a patient in need, the donor is called in for a blood test.

“The test, in essence, will further determine whether the donor is a potential donor. If the second test indicates similarities that will lead to a successful bone marrow donation, the process will go forward,” shared Moore.

Follow us on Instagram! @themontclarion

Chili’s in Blanton Plaza.
When dealing with the struggle of waking up early for class, sometimes putting on makeup might sound like something totally out of the question. However, if you find a quick and easy-to-wear look, you'll probably be able to fit it into your morning routine. Here are some solutions you should give a try.

1. Foundation
While applying any concealer or foundation can be unnecessary, these types of products will definitely help cover up blemishes or acne. Try a liquid foundation and set it with a powder so your face doesn't look oily. Don't forget to cover your chin so there's no prominent difference in the color of your face and neck area.

2. Eye shadow
This step is definitely optional. You could easily jump right to eyeliner, which will certainly suffice in making your eyes pop. However, eye shadow can be fun once in awhile. I suggest picking up a few eye shadow sticks like this one for quick application in the morning. If you're more into creating intense, smoky eyes, opt for shadow palettes similar to this neutral one.

3. Eyeliner
In my opinion, eyeliner can transform the look of your eyes. It's great because you can control the look of a subtle swipe to a thick cat eye. Felt tip eyeliners are the best and faster than a pencil; however, if you want to line your lower eyelid, you'll need pencil. Lining both your top and bottom line with liner gives a bold look. Give that a try, too.

4. Mascara
Mascara can be your only eye makeup that could make your eyes look bigger than they are, the trick is curling your lashes. Some mascaras are able to curl your lashes for you such as this one pictured; however, an eyelash curler is a cheap at any store and worth it if your lashes aren't naturally curled.

5. Blush
Blush is not something everyone uses, but I personally think it can really highlight your face beautifully. For the fall, opt for a darker color rather than a soft pink. Be sure to make sure you don't add too much or it'll come off as costume-like. Just smile and apply it to the dimples of your cheeks lightly up to your temples.

6. Lips
Typically, I suggest going for a light gloss, especially if you have a lot of eye makeup on. If you choose to go for a lipstick, try a darker color for the fall. I suggest a raspberry or red wine shade. Although I have not tried it yet, I'm thinking about trying matte lipstick, which means it hardens on your lips rather than rubbing off on everything.

Makeup is definitely not mandatory to wear on a regular basis. However, if you find the right look, it can really accent your outfit and your face in a beautiful way. Additionally, this specific look, once you get it down, doesn't take long at all. I hope you try a few of these ideas out next time you have a few minutes left before you head out the door.

MSU has a lot of great fashion!
Check out all the fashionable students on campus:
Follow @montclair_state_university on Instagram and Montclair State Style on Facebook!
One of the new food trends is the “gluten-free” diet. Before you decide whether or not you should be following this diet, you should understand the basics of what gluten is and who actually needs to cut it out of their diet. Gluten is a protein found in some grains, including wheat, barley and rye. This means that it is found in foods such as whole-wheat bread and pasta, along with any other products that contain ingredients derived from these grains.

People who do need to cut gluten out of their diet are those who have celiac disease or non-celiac gluten sensitivity. With celiac disease, gluten causes people’s bodies to experience extremely unpleasant symptoms including nausea and diarrhea. Gluten also damages their small intestines, making it difficult to absorb other nutrients, which may lead to dangerous nutrient deficiencies. Non-celiac gluten sensitivity also results in unpleasant symptoms but does not affect the intestine.

Cutting gluten out of someone’s diet is not as simple as cutting out carbohydrates, a macronutrient that provides our body with the energy we need and something that should not be cut completely. The obvious products that contain gluten are whole-wheat breads or pasta, or those containing barley and rye. Other variations of grains that include gluten are bran and semolina. Processed foods often have wheat, barley, rye or a variation of one of these, so it becomes increasingly important to read ingredients lists on nutrition labels to weed out products that sneak in gluten. Some of these include processed deli meat, beer, certain sauces and dietary supplements. This is just a small sample of foods that contain gluten, showing how big of an undertaking a gluten-free diet is.

Because it is so challenging to go gluten-free, it is important that only people who need to employ this change have to apply to this custom. There has been no scientific proof that cutting out gluten from someone’s diet has any benefits unless that person has celiac disease or non-celiac gluten sensitivity. For these conditions, it is essential to cut gluten out. For someone who does not have one of these, cutting out gluten may accidentally lead to cutting out important nutrients. Whole grains include fiber, B vitamins, selenium, magnesium and iron. They can be found in the aforementioned products of whole-wheat bread and pasta. By eliminating any products with whole grain, people are also taking out the important nutrients that come with whole grain foods, making it harder for them to find those nutrients. If someone thinks they may have celiac disease or experience harsh symptoms due to gluten, a trip to the doctor is essential to determine if gluten causes those symptoms. If not, there is not a good enough reason for someone to cut gluten out of their diet; that would simply make their life more challenging and possibly lead to consuming less important nutrients for no reason.
The Best Local Coffee Houses in Montclair

Jazmine Thompson
Contributing Writer

Greeting each morning with the rich, luxurious aroma of freshly ground coffee beans is a more-than-welcoming thought for many. Now that autumn weather is upon us, the daily trek to the nearest Starbucks in pursuit of a venti pumpkin spiced latte with non-fat milk is probably a practice as common as brushing your teeth. This season, however, try switching up your caffeine routine and allow your local coffee shops some love, too!

Bluestone Coffee Company

Stop in during breakfast and lunch hours for a savory cup of French, Latin American or Indonesian coffee brewed right on the spot! With its peaceful, Sunday-morning feel, Bluestone Coffee Company is a place the whole family can enjoy.

Trend Coffee and Tea House

Trend Coffee and Tea House offers an enchanting, old-world atmosphere. The house special, Trend Coffee, a mix of espresso, honey and banana, is the perfect way to start your morning or end your day. Stop in for live music and pair one of their delectable coffees with a homemade slice of apple pie or tiramisu.

Head Over Heels?

Sometimes, being in a long-term relationship feels as though all remnants of electrifying passion have faded away and all that is left is the colorless comfort of familiarity and routine. While this may very well seem like the unalterable order of things, I am here to tell you that falling in love may be involuntary, but staying in love is a choice. Learn how to not only reignite the spark in your relationship, but also keep it burning by following these 10 steps.

1. Take time to get ready.

   When your relationship first began, there were countless hours spent doing hair, shaving legs, trimming eyebrows and choosing outfits before every single date. Go back to this routine. It is just as important as it was at the beginning of your relationship. If not more so, to remind your partner of what attracts them to you. And while love itself might not be as superficial as to rely on attraction alone, attraction equals spark and a little spark goes a long way.

2. Go on dates.

   As comfortable as you and your partner’s “let’s just stay in” routine might be, make sure you leave time to really connect. In a recent poll by the Huffington Post, more than half of couples stated they don’t inviting each other into the innermost genuine places of yourselves and commonly overlooked forms of romantic nourishment.

3. Be intimate.

   Please do not be misled in believing that intimacy is all about sex. Intimacy comes in many forms and incorporating some of them into your relationship might just give you the chance to form those deep connections with your partner that may have faded. Livingwell.org specifically identifies play intimacy (sharing humor and fun), aesthetic intimacy (sharing experiences of music, art or nature), spiritual intimacy (sharing beliefs) and emotional intimacy (sharing secrets, feelings and dreams) as important and commonly overlooked forms of romantic nourishment.

4. Use touch.

   DePaul University psychologist Matthew Hertenstein demonstrated in a 2009 study that humans possess within them the instinctive ability to sense, receive and interpret emotions and sensations by touching one another, creating a faster, deeper sense of connection. What does this mean? It means that you have the power to not only express your love for your significant other in a manner more powerful than words, but also to reignite their passion for you in return. Make sure to interlace their fingers in yours, to touch the small of their back, to brush the sides of their neck, the shoulders, the nose and the cheek, the forehead, the lips, the chin, the shoulders, the hands. Kiss when you’re happy, when you’re sad, when you’re excited, you’re angry, you’re sleepy, or stressed. Kiss like you mean it, like it was the first time and is the last.

5. Make eye contact.

   Although an exposed sense of vulnerability might be a commonplace reaction upon making eye contact with others, those feelings come as a result of seeing into the deepest parts of the self. In making a habit of maintaining eye contact with your partner, you are both inviting each other into the innermost genuine places of yourselves and connecting through the spirit. When you say the eyes are the windows to the soul, as ta he looks inside the next time you are alone with your partner.

6. Compliment each other.

   Appreciation grows in a long way in a relationship, as Hara Estroff Marano states in Psychology Today, “Compliments are little gifts of love.” Take the time to flatter, admire and praise your partner for the parts of them that you fell in love with in the first place. Not only will you awaken their own feelings of self-love, but you’ll remind your partner just what about your partner used to make you weak in the knees, creating a confident and fiery energy in the relationship.

7. Spend time apart.

   This might sound paradoxical, but often comes to light that the spark in a relationship seems to dim is because we don’t allow ourselves enough time for self-love. Rostablishing separate interests and activities and maintaining separate friendships allows you to re- fresh your disposition and come back to your relationship with new experience to share. A certain amount of separation also allows you to miss your significant other, reminding you how important they truly are in your life.

8. Plan surprises.

   Write your partner a love letter, bake them their favorite dessert, pick up their favorite beer, prepare them breakfast in bed, make them an old fashioned mix tape or sew the hole in that one pair of pants they just can’t seem to throw out. Surprises are fun, creative ways to express how much we love, know and care about a person and (according to neuroscientist Wullfram Shultz) intensify our emotions by 400 percent.

9. Say “I love you.”

   With meaning, intention and time, say “I love you” every single time you feel it.

10. Use touch.

   Sometimes, being in a long-term relationship feels as though all remnants of electrifying passion have faded away and all that is left is the colorless comfort of familiarity and routine. While this may very well seem like the unalterable order of things, I am here to tell you that falling in love may be involuntary, but staying in love is a choice. Learn how to not only reignite the spark in your relationship, but also keep it burning by following these 10 steps.
Help Wanted

Babysitter wanted 24-32 hours a week to manage 5 kids ages 3-7. Driving p.m. Mon, Wed, Thurs. Looking for a “take charge” person with previous experience. Non-smoker, fluent in English. Driving not necessary. Call Melissa 973-707-7088 or email Melissa@montclarion.com

PT/After School Nanny wanted for 3 children ages 7, 7, & 12. Mon-Fri 2:45-7:06 p.m. Requires driving kids to activities, help with homework, light cooking for kids dinner & light cleaning/organizing. Call Helen 917-653-6304 or 973-748-8786 or email helen.appelbaum@gmail.com

PT Childcare for 9 yr old girl, Mon/Tues/Thurs 3-7 p.m. Child has learning disabilities, so a Special Ed student would be great, but not necessary. $12.00/hr. Call Patti 201-248-0599 or email patti115@hotmail.com

Immediate Need for a P/T Nanny for two kids, 5 & 7 in Glen Ridge. M-F, 3:00-6:30 pm. Need a car for driving to activities is required. Also experienced, energetic, reliable babysitter desired. Clean driving record a must, as driving kids to activities (both kids) and supervising homework (for 12 year old). Must have valid driver’s license & clean record. Also have a sweet golden retriever, so comfort with dogs is also a must. Email Liz at limpweird@gmail.com. Please include references.

PT Dependable / Responsible Babysitter needed for Fri/ Sat/ Sun. M-F for 5 kids ages 3-12. Driving necessary. Call Elizabeth at 901-487-4999 or janemhouston@gmail.com

PT After School childcare needed Mon-Fri, 3:00-6:30 pm for 9 & 11 year olds in Mountain Lakes. Prepare snack and dinner & help with homework. Must Drive. Contact Jane at 901-487-4999 or janemhouston@gmail.com

For Sale

Vanity with Cushioned Chair & Mirror, asking for $130.00. Call 201-401-2017.

For Rent

Private Room w/Bath for Female. Near Campus off Valley Road in Clifton. Available immediately. $550.00 per month. Call Joan 973-279-7294.

Upcoming Events

Homecoming Week Begins! Oct. 12 - Oct. 18

Photo Flipbooks | Chips & Dip Monday, Oct. 13 at 11 a.m. Student Center Ballrooms

Sigan Shop | Just Dance (MUGS) Tuesday, Oct. 14 at 12:30 p.m. Student Center Ballrooms

Friday Night Football | Prizes Wednesday, Oct. 15 at 5:00 p.m. Student Center Ballrooms

Photo Dry Erase Boards | Muffins & Granola Bars Thursday, Oct. 16 at 11 a.m. Student Center Ballrooms

Special Edition T-Shirts | Banner Decorating Friday, Oct. 17 at 2 p.m. Student Center Ballrooms

Classifieds

The Montclarion • October 9, 2014 • PAGE 11

Buy now at classifieds@montclair.edu

Help Wanted

PT/After School childcare needed Mon-Fri, 3:00-6:30 pm for 9 & 11 year olds in Mountain Lakes. Prepare snack and dinner & help with homework. Must Drive. Contact Jane at 901-487-4999 or janemhouston@gmail.com

PT/After School childcare needed Mon-Fri, 3:00-6:30 pm for 9 & 11 year olds in Mountain Lakes. Prepare snack and dinner & help with homework. Must Drive. Contact Jane at 901-487-4999 or janemhouston@gmail.com

PT/After School childcare needed Mon-Fri, 3:00-6:30 pm for 9 & 11 year olds in Mountain Lakes. Prepare snack and dinner & help with homework. Must Drive. Contact Jane at 901-487-4999 or janemhouston@gmail.com

PT/After School childcare needed Mon-Fri, 3:00-6:30 pm for 9 & 11 year olds in Mountain Lakes. Prepare snack and dinner & help with homework. Must Drive. Contact Jane at 901-487-4999 or janemhouston@gmail.com

PT/After School childcare needed Mon-Fri, 3:00-6:30 pm for 9 & 11 year olds in Mountain Lakes. Prepare snack and dinner & help with homework. Must Drive. Contact Jane at 901-487-4999 or janemhouston@gmail.com

PT/After School childcare needed Mon-Fri, 3:00-6:30 pm for 9 & 11 year olds in Mountain Lakes. Prepare snack and dinner & help with homework. Must Drive. Contact Jane at 901-487-4999 or janemhouston@gmail.com
LOVE TO DRAW?

Submit your comics/cartoons to The Montclarion at msuproduction@gmail.com
Question of the Week

How do you feel about media being directed toward children featuring LGBTQ characters or themes?

Margene Gutierrez
Sociology

“I feel that it’s a good idea due to the fact that we are a culture blended with a lot of different people, a lot of different cultures, a lot of different views. I’m able to expose children to that at a younger age will allow them to not feel as if it is just different; instead, it will be a norm. Other children, let’s say, are already in the LGBTQ community, as in their parents or their family friends. They are more comfortable with the situation if it happens. It is just a wonderful thing to expose them something so different. Instead of it being a negative thing, it is more of a normal and more positive thing.”

Jared Shepard
Junior
Family and Child Studies

“I really think that nowadays, media gives people opportunities to develop their own beliefs; it could be said in previous years that [the media] had been completely one-sided and didn’t give [the LGBTQ community] a chance. I’m noticing now in TV and movies that for the LGBTQ in general, there are more opportunities presented in a fair way. That’s how I see it, and I believe that more people have more ability now to feel like their beliefs are being shown.”

Zena Alibrahimi
Psychology

“I think it’s an okay thing. It just helps children be open to different kids of people.”

Erick Alexandre
Sophomore
English

“It’s a controversal topic. Some people may say it’s fine; some people may say it’s not. I would say that it’s not okay. Just as any idea you’re putting into the mind of a child, you would still be putting an idea into their heads and they would feel as if that’s going to be a great concern because we all advertise things in a different way and use all planting little ideas into our little children’s minds such as ‘School is great!’ Am I saying I am against it? Yes, I am. I don’t feel as if it is necessary. If, let’s say, it happens, a child would feel a certain way. I’m all for that, but I don’t necessarily think you should plant the idea.”

Making LGBTQ Media PG

One student, Bradley, came out to his classmates when he was 12 and faced severe bullying for his sexuality at the point where his parents chose to homeschool him. The host of Nick News, Linda Ellerbee, expressed that it was important for the program to select LGBTQ children as one of the few topics addressed in the now bi-annual or tri-annual program because even though children may not be sexual, they are often aware of their sexual orientation or gender identity at a young age. For centuries, media has been dominated by heteronormativity. All of the cartoon characters we know and love have had heterosexual love interests if any at all and now are we starting to see the emergence of LGBTQ children’s popular media. Although there have been many books written specifically to help children understand different types of families and the issues children of gay parents face, television has remained relatively dark on the representation of children’s media and LGBTQ media. In the past two years, however, children’s media has been making strides in addressing LGBTQ issues and creating awareness in children about LGBTQ individuals. In 2012, the animated film ParaNorman met the media’s attention because parents were outraged about a comment alluding to a character’s homosexuality. Disney introduced its first gay parents on the sitcom Good Luck Charlie in February, when two guest stars represented a lesbian couple. Now, Nickelodeon is taking the time to produce a news broadcast aimed at children with the goal of raising awareness about LGBTQ issues. This is a big step from past children’s programming, including Cartoon Network’s ownership of Suriel Moon for its homosexual content and the categorization of shows which addressed LGBTQ issues as designated for teens. Shows like Degrassi, which had homosexual characters, were only broadcasted under the TeenNick programming block or on peripheral cable channels. Many believe that LGBTQ culture is not an appropriate topic to introduce to children, but we would argue that raising awareness about the fact that homosexual and transgender people exist and detailing the specific struggles that they face because of their sexual orientation or gender expression is important. Children should be aware of LGBTQ issues because it not only increases their knowledge of human diversity, but also adds an expectation of respect and tolerance of this group. If young children understand the difficulties that their peers and even adult members of the LGBTQ community face, then they will likely be more understanding, sympathetic and tolerant of these individuals’ problems and lifestyles, whatever their opinion is. An increased LGBTQ presence in children’s media could end a lot of bullying by introducing tolerance at a young age and potentially save the lives of countless young people who have taken their own lives because of the harassment they received regarding their sexual orientation. We think that Nick News got it right by raising awareness about LGBTQ children and the bullying that they often face. Though overt topics of sexuality may not be something we want to see floating around the kids’ table, children should be aware that there is a world beyond heteronormativity.

Christian Blaza | The Montclarion

Opinion

Making LGBTQ Media PG

Thumbs Up

Alfonso Ribeiro doing the Carlton on DWTS

Premirtme shows return

Puppies come to campus

Thumbs Down

Saturday morning cartoons cancelled

First American death from Ebola

Morrisey diagnosed with cancer
Mountclair State University students discuss eating disorders at the local and global level

Natalie Smith, a Political Science major, in her second year as a columnist for The Montclarion.org.

HONG KONG DEMANDS DEMOCRACY

Peaceful protests will not get Hong Kong the freedom they desire

The city has more freedom than other Chinese cities and better online access to information. However, the Chinese government wants to change their own political affairs in the city.

In June 1999, during Beijing’s announcement of the so-called "One Country, Two Systems" policy, the Chinese government approved the Sino-British Joint Declaration to stop protests. Protestors demanded more democratic elections and as people refused to leave, the Chinese troops attacked and killed a number of casualties, ending the demonstrations.

The catalyst for Tiananmen Square was the death of dissidents in the United States. You are young and hopeful and think they can change the political affairs in Hong Kong.

Hong Kong didn’t have enough influence to keep such shows alive. We may have animated films and Cartoon Network, but watching characters fight off-all Adult Swim could only be possible in fiction. By then, I already knew watching Nickelodeon on a regular basis, even they had jumped on the live-action train. I know we have shows like Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles but again, not at this school.

I find this to be eerily similar to the transformation of daytime weekday television. There was "All My Children," "One Life to Live," and "As the World Turns." Now we have "Gossip Girl," "The O.C.," and "Ugly Betty." The Angriest Boys you know. The advertisers have moved on, but the networks have not and so have the cartoons and, as a result, not animated cartoons are on the air.

I stopped watching children’s television around age 13. The only reason for it was the change in content; none of the shows I watched werefor children. Whatever I watched could only be possible in fiction. By then, I already knew watching Nickelodeon on a regular basis, even they had jumped on the live-action train. I know we have shows like Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles but again, not at this school.

I found this to be eerily similar to the transformation of daytime weekday television.

HONG KONG DEMANDS DEMOCRACY

Peaceful protests will not get Hong Kong the freedom they desire

As of right now, the protestors are not backing down, even after university officials have sent out emails to their students telling them to go home. The government in Beijing is threatening to release a statement in the People’s Daily that this is an issue for the People’s Republic of China. The Hong Kong government is powerless to make any change if this is to happen. In the meantime, the Hong Kong government needs to gain more sympathy and support from the rest of the streets and must make a difference. There is a guaranteed bloodshed if change is to take place.

As of right now, the protestors are not backing down, even after university officials have sent out emails to their students telling them to go home. The government in Beijing is threatening to release a statement in the People’s Daily that this is an issue for the People’s Republic of China. The Hong Kong government is powerless to make any change if this is to happen. In the meantime, the Hong Kong government needs to gain more sympathy and support from the rest of the streets and must make a difference. There is a guaranteed bloodshed if change is to take place.

As of right now, the protestors are not backing down, even after university officials have sent out emails to their students telling them to go home. The government in Beijing is threatening to release a statement in the People’s Daily that this is an issue for the People’s Republic of China. The Hong Kong government is powerless to make any change if this is to happen. In the meantime, the Hong Kong government needs to gain more sympathy and support from the rest of the streets and must make a difference. There is a guaranteed bloodshed if change is to take place.
WHERE OUR CREDENTIALS SHAPE YOURS

At Montclair State University, our graduate programs are as diverse as the students they benefit. Join us, and meet with our renowned faculty, who expertly bridge theory with real-world expertise. Register today and discover how our success can impact your own.

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL OPEN HOUSE
Sunday, October 26, 2014
12:00 – 3:00 p.m.
University Hall Conference Center

› Meet one-on-one with our acclaimed faculty
› Over 100 graduate programs to choose from › Attend a presentation specific to your program of interest
› Traditional, hybrid and online courses available

REGISTER NOW ONLINE

Montclair State University
montclair.edu/graduate
Ew! (Official Music Video) by Jimmy Fallon feat. will.i.am

Jimmy Fallon just cannot be stopped when it comes to collaborating with some of the hottest music personalities since his May duet with Justin Timberlake for the “History of Rap.” In the “Ew!” music video, Fallon and will.i.am take on the personalities of two middle school girls, drowning in obnoxious neon and gossiping about all the “ew” people around them. Not only is this video as funny as we know and trust Fallon to be, but it also makes glorious digs at how “ew” it is for women to get butt implants (and they are looking at you, Nikki).

Stop-Motion Parkour by CorridorDigital

What’s the only thing possibly cooler than parkour? Digitally enhanced parkour. Great stop-motion videos have become few and far between, so this is my public thank you to the guys of CorridorDigital for making one with a strong plot. From a birds-eye view, you watch one man chase his friend around the park. Flipping over garbage cans and indulging in intense fight scenes is packed into this one-and-half minute video comprised of hundreds upon hundreds of photos transitioning at rapid speed.

Bobo Cat Really Loves Being Vacuumed by Krzysztof Smejilis

I’m not sure which is stranger: the fact that this cat loves to be vacuumed or that this cat’s owner decided to actually vacuum him. Such a simple video has been up for less than two weeks and has already racked up 1,500,000 views. It seems like it has been a while since a noteworthy cat video went viral. Bobo fills that void with flying colors (and paws).

---

What’s Streaming?

Samantha King
Assistant Entertainment Editor

Ew! (Official Music Video) by Jimmy Fallon feat. will.i.am

Jimmy Fallon just cannot be stopped when it comes to collaborating with some of the hottest music personalities since his May duet with Justin Timberlake for the “History of Rap.” In the “Ew!” music video, Fallon and will.i.am take on the personalities of two middle school girls, drowning in obnoxious neon and gossiping about all the “ew” people around them. Not only is this video as funny as we know and trust Fallon to be, but it also makes glorious digs at how “ew” it is for women to get butt implants (and they are looking at you, Nikki).

“You Know What I Mean” by Cults

Cults is a duo of guitarist Brian Oblivion and singer Madeline Follin, formed in New York in 2010, their gained popularity through their Bandcamp page. This song’s jazzy beat will have you snapping your fingers along. It’s a cute song with a slow beat that picks up rhythm here and there. Be sure to give it a listen!

“Oceans” by Coasts

Coasts is made up of five members and their newest single “Oceans” is their anthem; it hit over three million plays on their SoundCloud. With swastikas weather approaching, a few summer themed songs are a perfect addition to your playlist. This is an upbeat song about falling in love, but isn’t cheesy in any way. It’ll definitely bring you back to any summer love memories you may have or the ones you wish you made.

“Left Hand Free” by Alt-J

With their new album out, Alt-J has become very popular recently. This is one of their most popular songs. Their name is actually ∆, the Delta character made by hitting Alt and J on an Apple keyboard. This song is similar to their others with its unique lyrics and alternative vibe.

“The Walker” by Fitz and the Tantrums

A co-ed group of seven consisting of multi-instrumentalists, Fitz and The Tantrums is led by lead vocalist Michael Fitzpatrick. The different instruments they play include tambourine, saxophone, flute, drums, keyboard and base. The band has won multiple awards since their start in 2008. The many instruments behind the vocals make this song very upbeat; it’s perfect for getting ready in the morning.

---

What’s Streaming?

Samantha King
Assistant Entertainment Editor

Ew! (Official Music Video) by Jimmy Fallon feat. will.i.am

Jimmy Fallon just cannot be stopped when it comes to collaborating with some of the hottest music personalities since his May duet with Justin Timberlake for the “History of Rap.” In the “Ew!” music video, Fallon and will.i.am take on the personalities of two middle school girls, drowning in obnoxious neon and gossiping about all the “ew” people around them. Not only is this video as funny as we know and trust Fallon to be, but it also makes glorious digs at how “ew” it is for women to get butt implants (and they are looking at you, Nikki).

Stop-Motion Parkour by CorridorDigital

What’s the only thing possibly cooler than parkour? Digitally enhanced parkour. Great stop-motion videos have become few and far between, so this is my public thank you to the guys of CorridorDigital for making one with a strong plot. From a birds-eye view, you watch one man chase his friend around the park. Flipping over garbage cans and indulging in intense fight scenes is packed into this one-and-half minute video comprised of hundreds upon hundreds of photos transitioning at rapid speed.

Bobo Cat Really Loves Being Vacuumed by Krzysztof Smejilis

I’m not sure which is stranger: the fact that this cat loves to be vacuumed or that this cat’s owner decided to actually vacuum him. Such a simple video has been up for less than two weeks and has already racked up 1,500,000 views. It seems like it has been a while since a noteworthy cat video went viral. Bobo fills that void with flying colors (and paws).
The fourth annual iHeartRadio Music Festival took Las Vegas by storm in late September when 21 of pop music’s biggest stars took to the stages at the MGM Grand Garden Arena to perform. This year’s show was streamed live across the world over Yahoo, as well as Z100 and other iHeartMedia stations.

The first night of the festival kicked off with Taylor Swift, singing the hit songs “We Are Never Ever Getting Back Together,” “22” and “I Knew You Were Trouble.” Swift also premiered a reimagined version of her country hit “Love Story,” signaling her transition into the pop world. She ended her set with an upbeat performance of her new single “Shake it Off.”

Coldplay also played the first night of the festival, pleasing the crowd with five of their biggest hits. One of the songs was the band’s radio-topping single, “Sky Full of Stars.” The band also performed fan-favorites “Viva La Vida,” “Paradise,” “Ink” and “Clocks.”

The second night opened with One Direction. Their set mirrored their top-selling Where We Are Tour. The group opened with “Midnight Memories,” proving that their sound has matured over the past four years. Staying true to their roots, the group also performed their debut single “What Makes You Beautiful” as well as “Little Things,” “Story of My Life” and “Best Song Ever.”

Next was British singer-songwriter Ed Sheeran, who surprised the crowd with a cover of Macklemore’s hit song “Same Love.” Macklemore joined Sheeran, creating one of the most talked-about moments of the night. Sheeran’s set also included his new singles “Don’t” and “Thinking Out Loud,” as well as his hit songs “The A Team” and “Sing.” Impressively, Sheeran was the only artist to perform completely solo, creating harmonies with the use of his famous loop pedal, which he uses for live performances of his music.

“Ed Sheeran’s performance was my favorite of the festival,” recalled junior AnnMarie Caliguire. “He’s such a great performer and his passion for music is so evident when he’s on stage.”

Australian rapper Iggy Azalea was amongst one of the only artists to perform on both the main and village stages at the festival. Azalea performed her breakout hit “Fancy” as well as her summer hit “Black Widow” without the help of Rita Ora. Her songs “Bounce” and “Work” rounded out her 20-minute set. Azalea’s main stage set was especially impressive since she had played the iHeartRadio Village stage just hours before. The Village is a separate but associated event that showcases up-and-coming artists in the industry. Fellow Village artists included country star Kacey Musgraves, “Am I Wrong” singers Nico & Vinz, the Australian band 5 Seconds of Summer and “All About that Bass” singer Meghan Trainor, amongst others.

One relatively new artist that made her way straight to the main stage was 17-year-old “Royals” singer Lorde. The young star’s debut album took the music world by storm in 2013. At the festival, the singer’s unique dance moves made for a memorable performance as she belted out songs like “Tennis Court,” “Team” and “Glory and Gore.”
How would you feel if you came home one day to find it recently invaded and your partner nowhere in site? Furthermore, how would you react if you were the prime suspect to the possible abduction? This is the premise of Gone Girl.

The eagerly anticipated film, adapted from the beloved 2012 novel written by author Gillian Flynn, has finally come to life. David Fincher, who is responsible for directing films including Fight Club and The Social Network, directed this anxiety-driven film. Gone Girl has already made $30 million in its opening weekend. The film stars Ben Affleck as stoic husband Nick Dunne and Rosamund Pike as his missing wife, Amy.

It’s a psychological drama that will take you into the inner workings and deterioration of a marriage. Nick and Amy are married writers living in New York who lose their jobs as a result of the recession and move back to Nick’s home state of Missouri. On the outside, the pair seemingly looks like the most perfect, affectionate couple. However, the film is a chronicle of downward spiral events that take place on the couple’s fiftieth anniversary. Nick comes home to see his furniture upturned, his glass table shattered and no Amy in sight. What surprises the police and the public is him seemingly lacking empathy toward the investigation, which really makes the audience question this man’s motives and actions.

With each episode that airs each week, it doesn’t seem like the final season of Sons of Anarchy. The show usually boasts excitement, twists and turns, but I think it was a little lacking this week with “Some Strange Eruption.” While more things are being set in place, there hasn’t really been that big “thing” that really sets the actions and motivations into high gear. It’s almost halfway through the season, so the question at this point is when will Sons kick into that season finale momentum?

This isn’t to say that there isn’t a sustainable amount of action going on. With this episode especially, characters are beginning to choose their sides in the inevitable war that’s going to arrive on Charming’s front door step. The dramatic irony that is driving this show is getting more painful to watch in a good way; you know Jax is chasing after the wrong end goal and I’m still interested to see how and what he’s going to do when he learns the truth about Tara’s death at the end of Season 6. It also seems that Jax is going to play a huge role in (hopefully) the remainder of the season. I understand patience is a virtue with dramatic television, but the season is almost halfway done.

As with every episode, what makes this show so special is its cast. The focus was mainly shifted on Jax, Nero, Chips and Gemma; this week, the characters were each put in very tough situations (especially the latter). Kurt Sutter, the show-runner of SOA, has been a credited writer for each episode as of so far, so I’m confident that he has a very clear and filling plans to finish out the last season of his show. He’s done it with each season previously, so I don’t think he’s going to stop now.

“Some Strange Eruption” did leave on possibly the most important cliffhanger yet of this season. I’m very much looking forward to next week if they keep the momentum that they had during the last 20 minutes of this episode roll throughout the entire next. I’m confident that they will. Until then, I’m just going to eagerly anticipate the developments that are going to unfold in this season.
Save Energy.
SAVE DATE NIGHT.

Save Energy SAVES YOU MONEY.
ENERGYSAVERS.GOV

STUDY ABROAD
INFORMATION SESSIONS

Every Wednesday at 2:30 pm
Stone Hall, Room 215

Learn more about:
- Programs abroad
- Scholarships and financial aid
- Application process

All are welcome. No RSVP necessary – just walk-in.

Global Education Center
http://www.montclair.edu/global-education/study-abroad/outgoing-students/
Three in a Row for Football
Red Hawks continue dominance over William Paterson

Montclair State traveled to Wightman Field in Wayne, N.J. to take on the William Paterson Pioneers in both teams’ first NJAC game of the season. Both teams came into the contest at 2-1. The game was close throughout and went into half-time overtime. The Red Hawks finally cracked the scoreboard with about 12 and a half minutes to play in the third with a field goal from Mike Borelli. The 23-yard kick finished off a six-play, 46-yard drive for Montclair State. The kick was the first of the sophomore’s career after spending most of last season as a punter.

William Paterson answered back about six minutes later with a 45-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Austin Fellows to Anthony DiMarscio. The Vikings scored a one-possession difference, 12-6.

The energy was high in the opening contest. There was a barrage of goals with a score to 0-0 in the first minute of the game. Both teams came into the contest at 2-1. The game was close throughout and went into half-time overtime. The Red Hawks finally cracked the scoreboard with about 12 and a half minutes to play in the third with a field goal from Mike Borelli. The 23-yard kick finished off a six-play, 46-yard drive for Montclair State. The kick was the first of the sophomore’s career after spending most of last season as a punter.

William Paterson answered back about six minutes later with a 45-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Austin Fellows to Anthony DiMarscio. The Vikings scored a one-possession difference, 12-6.

The Red Hawks will be back in action in Virginia. Photo courtesy of MSU Sports

NFL WEEK 6 PREDICTIONS

In Week Five, the NFL saw a few teams make big statements. The Giants won their third straight and have easily salvaged their season while the Jets are falling apart before our eyes.

The Redskins gave the Seahawks a run for their money, but it ultimately didn’t pan out. The Packers rebounded from the embarrassment on Monday Night Football by blowing out the Bengals on Sunday Night Football. On Thursday Night Football, the Packers demolished the Vikings.

Field Hockey

Continued from Page 24

Johnston found the net for the team’s second goal. At the 15:04 mark, Danielle Butrico put an end to the barrage of goals with a score roughly 60 minutes into the contest. “The energy was high and we were focused on fixing some of the mistakes we made against Middlebury,” said head coach Beth Gottcum. “We knew that goals were not a true reflection of our team and we were focused on getting ready for our upcoming games.”

Struss has been named the NJAC Rookie of the Week for the fourth time this season. She is ninth overall in the NJAC with 24 points scored. Struss is also currently sixth in goals with 10 so far this season.

On Wednesday, Oct. 8, MSU welcomed Fairleigh Dickinson Florham Devils to Sprague Field at 3 p.m. Results were not available at press time.

On Saturday, Oct. 11, the Red Hawks traveled to Ewing, N.J. to match up against The College of New Jersey Lions at 1 p.m. This contest will feature the two heavyweights of field hockey in the NJAC.

The Red Hawks will be back in action in Virginia. Photo courtesy of MSU Sports

Next Game:
Saturday, Oct. 11
Away vs. Southern Virginia

Sports

Three in a Row for Football
Red Hawks continue dominance over William Paterson

Thomas Formoso
Sports Editor

Montclair State traveled to Wightman Field in Wayne, N.J. to take on the William Paterson Pioneers in both teams’ first NJAC game of the season. Both teams came into the contest at 2-1. The game was close throughout and went into half-time overtime. The Red Hawks finally cracked the scoreboard with about 12 and a half minutes to play in the third with a field goal from Mike Borelli. The 23-yard kick finished off a six-play, 46-yard drive for Montclair State. The kick was the first of the sophomore’s career after spending most of last season as a punter.

William Paterson answered back about six minutes later with a 45-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Austin Fellows to Anthony DiMarscio. The Vikings scored a one-possession difference, 12-6.

The energy was high in the opening contest. There was a barrage of goals with a score to 0-0 in the first minute of the game. Both teams came into the contest at 2-1. The game was close throughout and went into half-time overtime. The Red Hawks finally cracked the scoreboard with about 12 and a half minutes to play in the third with a field goal from Mike Borelli. The 23-yard kick finished off a six-play, 46-yard drive for Montclair State. The kick was the first of the sophomore’s career after spending most of last season as a punter.

William Paterson answered back about six minutes later with a 45-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Austin Fellows to Anthony DiMarscio. The Vikings scored a one-possession difference, 12-6.

The Red Hawks will be back in action in Virginia. Photo courtesy of MSU Sports

NFL WEEK 6 PREDICTIONS

In Week Five, the NFL saw a few teams make big statements. The Giants won their third straight and have easily salvaged their season while the Jets are falling apart before our eyes.

The Redskins gave the Seahawks a run for their money, but it ultimately didn’t pan out. The Packers rebounded from the embarrassment on Monday Night Football by blowing out the Bengals on Sunday Night Football. On Thursday Night Football, the Packers demolished the Vikings.

Field Hockey

Continued from Page 24

Johnston found the net for the team’s second goal. At the 15:04 mark, Danielle Butrico put an end to the barrage of goals with a score roughly 60 minutes into the contest. “The energy was high and we were focused on fixing some of the mistakes we made against Middlebury,” said head coach Beth Gottcum. “We knew that goals were not a true reflection of our team and we were focused on getting ready for our upcoming games.”

Struss has been named the NJAC Rookie of the Week for the fourth time this season. She is ninth overall in the NJAC with 24 points scored. Struss is also currently sixth in goals with 10 so far this season.

On Wednesday, Oct. 8, MSU welcomed Fairleigh Dickinson Florham Devils to Sprague Field at 3 p.m. Results were not available at press time.

On Saturday, Oct. 11, the Red Hawks traveled to Ewing, N.J. to match up against The College of New Jersey Lions at 1 p.m. This contest will feature the two heavyweights of field hockey in the NJAC.

The Red Hawks will be back in action in Virginia. Photo courtesy of MSU Sports

Next Game:
Saturday, Oct. 11
Away vs. Southern Virginia

Sports

Three in a Row for Football
Red Hawks continue dominance over William Paterson

Thomas Formoso
Sports Editor

Montclair State traveled to Wightman Field in Wayne, N.J. to take on the William Paterson Pioneers in both teams’ first NJAC game of the season. Both teams came into the contest at 2-1. The game was close throughout and went into half-time overtime. The Red Hawks finally cracked the scoreboard with about 12 and a half minutes to play in the third with a field goal from Mike Borelli. The 23-yard kick finished off a six-play, 46-yard drive for Montclair State. The kick was the first of the sophomore’s career after spending most of last season as a punter.

William Paterson answered back about six minutes later with a 45-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Austin Fellows to Anthony DiMarscio. The Vikings scored a one-possession difference, 12-6.

The energy was high in the opening contest. There was a barrage of goals with a score to 0-0 in the first minute of the game. Both teams came into the contest at 2-1. The game was close throughout and went into half-time overtime. The Red Hawks finally cracked the scoreboard with about 12 and a half minutes to play in the third with a field goal from Mike Borelli. The 23-yard kick finished off a six-play, 46-yard drive for Montclair State. The kick was the first of the sophomore’s career after spending most of last season as a punter.

William Paterson answered back about six minutes later with a 45-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Austin Fellows to Anthony DiMarscio. The Vikings scored a one-possession difference, 12-6.

The Red Hawks will be back in action in Virginia. Photo courtesy of MSU Sports

NFL WEEK 6 PREDICTIONS

In Week Five, the NFL saw a few teams make big statements. The Giants won their third straight and have easily salvaged their season while the Jets are falling apart before our eyes.

The Redskins gave the Seahawks a run for their money, but it ultimately didn’t pan out. The Packers rebounded from the embarrassment on Monday Night Football by blowing out the Bengals on Sunday Night Football. On Thursday Night Football, the Packers demolished the Vikings.

Field Hockey

Continued from Page 24

Johnston found the net for the team’s second goal. At the 15:04 mark, Danielle Butrico put an end to the barrage of goals with a score roughly 60 minutes into the contest. “The energy was high and we were focused on fixing some of the mistakes we made against Middlebury,” said head coach Beth Gottcum. “We knew that goals were not a true reflection of our team and we were focused on getting ready for our upcoming games.”

Struss has been named the NJAC Rookie of the Week for the fourth time this season. She is ninth overall in the NJAC with 24 points scored. Struss is also currently sixth in goals with 10 so far this season.

On Wednesday, Oct. 8, MSU welcomed Fairleigh Dickinson Florham Devils to Sprague Field at 3 p.m. Results were not available at press time.

On Saturday, Oct. 11, the Red Hawks traveled to Ewing, N.J. to match up against The College of New Jersey Lions at 1 p.m. This contest will feature the two heavyweights of field hockey in the NJAC.
NEW LEADERSHIP

JAMES BELFORD
DAMIANO
A life long resident, attorney and former School Board member

- Former Member, Passaic Valley Board of Education
- Member, Little Falls Township Ethics Committee
- Member, Rotary International
- Teacher, DARE/Heroin and Cool Kids Program
- Past Coach, Little Falls Recreation Baseball & Basketball Programs

MARIA MARTINI
CORDONNIER
A 14-year resident, businesswoman and community activist

- Member, Former Police Station Committee
- Member, Little Falls Alliance for a Better Community
- Member, Rotary Club of Passaic County
- Former Senior Vice President of Sales and Merchandising for two major apparel companies

WILLIAM LIESS
A 40-year resident, former School Board member and former Councilman

- Former Little Falls Councilman, 6 years
- Council President, 2 years
- Former Member, Little Falls and Passaic Valley Boards of Education
- Vice President, Little Falls Historical Society
- Retired, Superintendent of Schools, Clifton

They have a plan to clean up the mess & dysfunction in Little Falls Government!

STOP FISCAL IRRESPONSIBILITY
STOP OUT OF CONTROL LEGAL FEES
STOP NEGLECTING OUR INFRASTRUCTURE
STOP AVOIDING FLOODING ISSUES

VOTE ROW "A"
TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 2014

www.LFNewDirectionNow.com
@newdirectionnow | NewDirectionNow | lfnewdirectionnow@gmail.com

NEW DIRECTION
Red Bulls Push Forward

New York hangs on to one of the last playoff spots

Shakonna Edwards
Contributing Writer

The New York Red Bulls fell to fifth place in the Eastern Conference after their 4-0 loss to the Los Angeles Galaxy on Sept. 28. The Red Bulls, who hadn’t lost an MLS game since Aug. 31, are now occupying the final Eastern Conference qualifying spot. After Columbus Crew defeated the Montreal Impact 2-0 on Sept. 27, the Red Bulls moved from fourth to fifth place. In order to leapfrog Columbus Crew and return to fourth place, the Red Bulls, who have 41 points, needed to collect three points in a win against Western Conference LA Galaxy.

However, the Galaxy, at home in the StubHub Center in Carson, Calif., claimed the three points and gave the Red Bulls a shutout. Landon Donovan, vice-captain of the Galaxy and the all-time leading MLS goal scorer, scored once and provided three assists. Goal scorer, scored once and the Red Bulls this season, and another by Eric Alexander.

In the 50th minute, Donovan outplayed Red Bulls’ sweeper Chris Duvall and slid the ball past Robles into the bottom right corner of the goal. Nineteen minutes later, Robles dove to his left but could not deny a goal from Gyasi Zardes, who, with an assist from Donovan, sent the ball into the bottom left corner.

Keane, again with an assist from Donovan, scored the final goal in the 82nd minute. With their win over the Red Bulls, the Galaxy have a 14-game undefeated streak at home; they haven’t lost in the StubHub Center since their season opener in March.

The Galaxy are tied with the Seattle Sounders at 37 points but are second in the West and second in the race for the Supporters’ Shield since they have 16 wins compared to the Sounders’ 14.

The Red Bulls have four games remaining in the MLS regular season, three of which will be played at home in the Red Bull Arena. On Oct. 4, they will host the Houston Dynamo, who are eighth in the Eastern Conference with 36 points. Also on Oct. 4, The LA Galaxy will host Toronto FC, who are one point below the Red Bulls and two points above the Philadelphia Union.

Thierry Henry was the sole goal scorer in the Red Bulls’ 1-0 victory against the Houston Dynamo on Oct. 4.

The New York Red Bulls, who were fifth in the Eastern Conference after their 4-0 loss to LA Galaxy on Sept. 28, are fourth in the East with 44 points, two points behind the reigning MLS champions, Sporting Kansas City.

Henry, who shot a free kick into the bar seven minutes before halftime, made up for his mistake by slotting the ball into the bottom left corner of the Dynamo goal 90 seconds into the second half. The Red Bulls managed to hold onto the lead despite being a man down for the final six minutes of the match.

These minutes after replacing Eric Alexander, Australian midfielder Tim Cahill received a red card for his foul on Oscar Boniek Garcia.

Before their defeat at the Red Bull Arena, Houston, who are eighth in the Eastern Conference with 36 points, had not lost a game since Aug. 31.

This was New York’s third meeting with Houston this season. In their last two meetings, New York scored six goals and conceded two, with Bradley Wright-Phillips scoring five and Henry scoring one.

Wright-Phillips, who has scored 24 goals for the Red Bulls this season, failed to score in the last two matches against Houston, Wright-Phillips saw one attempt hit the bar in the 23rd minute and another attempt go wide ten minutes later.

Wright-Phillips needs four goals to break the record of most regular-season goals set by Roy Lassiter in 1996, the inaugural season of MLS.

The Red Bulls have three games remaining in the regular season and will host Toronto FC on Oct. 11, a match Cahill will miss.

The Dynamo will host D.C. United, the only Eastern Conference team that has qualified for the playoffs, on Oct. 12.

Next Game: vs. Toronto FC Oct. 11
Red Bull Arena

Come Check Out
The Montclarion

Every Thursday Morning at 11:00

On WMSC 90.3 or on live365.com

PHOTOS FROM THE WEEKEND

SPORTS RECAPS &

THEMONTCLARION.ORG
Who’s Hot This Week

Michael Gonzalez
Goalkeeper - Mens Soccer
Gonzalez earned NJAC Defensive Player of the Week after allowing one goal in a pair of overtime victories against William Paterson and TCNJ.

Who’s Hot This Week

Gina Policastro
Goalkeeper - Womens Soccer
Policastro became the all-time winningest goalkeeper in Montclair State history with her 56th win against William Paterson on Oct. 1.

Game of the Week

Mens Soccer
vs. Rowan
Oct. 11, 6 p.m.
MSU Soccer Park

Montclair State puts their undefeated conference record to the test against Rowan, an equally successful NJAC team.

For updates, check out: www.montclairathletics.com.

Red Hawk Round Up

Volleyball
The Lady Red Hawks had only two matches this past week, facing off against Hunter College on Oct. 2 and Rutgers-Camden on Oct. 7.

In a home match against Hunter, Montclair State came back to win in five sets, 25-21, 22-25, 22-25, 25-19 and 15-13. The win saw Montclair State improve their record to 5-1 at home and 15-6 overall.

They then traveled south to take on Rutgers-Camden. They came away with the win over a struggling RU-Camden with sets of 25-21, 25-11 and 25-19. This win improved Montclair State’s record to 3-4 in away matches, 2-2 in NJAC competitions and 16-6 overall.

Montclair State is currently in fifth place in the NJAC standings.

Swimming and Diving

Both mens and womens swimming and diving will start their season on Oct. 9 against Seton Hall. Results could not be obtained before this issue released.

Their next event will be the Homecoming Meet on Oct. 18 at the Panzer Center’s pool.

Mens Soccer
In a pair of NJAC contests against William Paterson and TCNJ, Montclair State pulled out two more wins to bring their winning streak to five.

The 1-0 win over William Paterson finished in overtime. The win in Wayne puts Montclair State at 4-1 on the road this season.

The next contest against TCNJ was played at MSU Soccer Park and it would be another overtime decision. After trailing as late as the 80th minute, the Red Hawks rattled off two goals to win the game in extra time.

The Red Hawks will face off against Manhattanville College and Rowan University in their next two matches.
Turning the Tables on TCNJ
Lady Red Hawks gain revenge for last year’s NJAC Finals loss

A round of penalty kicks was the deciding factor in the NJAC Championship game last season between Montclair State and TCNJ. After battling for a scoreless 120 minutes, TCNJ swiped the NJAC conference crown from MSU, the 2012 defending champions, in a 4-2 penalty shootout on their home field. This past Saturday, Montclair State traveled to Ewing, N.J. looking for vengeance on TCNJ’s turf. The last time MSU’s 10 seniors played in the Lions stadium, they lost as freshmen in the NJAC semi-finals, birthing a rivalry between the teams that has only gotten stronger through the years.

“It’s difficult to be widely known as the top two teams in the NJAC along with both being nationally ranked,” explained senior goalkeeper Gina Policastro of the rivalry. “We’re two teams as far apart as can be and we sure hash it out on the field, always going to be aggressive and competitive.”

A matchup such as this one excites the womens soccer team days before the game even takes place, according to Policastro. She explained that the girls wanted to win their last 10th straight win, as well as over haul last year’s ending. That day was tough on all of us,” she said. “Thinking about that game last year helped fuel our fire.”

The game quickly felt like déjà vu. Both teams fought vigorously for a scoreless first half, with neither team completely breaking through the other’s defense. The Red Hawks shot four times in the first half, while TCNJ had two on goal shooting opportunities that were stopped by Policastro.

The second half followed suit until forwards Francesca Gibson and Martina Landeks sparked Montclair State’s revenge. With only eleven minutes left in the second half, Landeks served what Gibson described as “the perfect ball” into the middle of the box. Gibson struck the ball using the outside of her foot and sent it into the lower right corner of the net.

“The feeling of scoring on our rivals my senior year was just absolutely amazing,” Gibson explained. She added that she knew the game was going to be a challenge, but the team was ready to fight for a win over TCNJ.

The Lions would make sure to keep MSU fighting. They threatened the Red Hawks with a last second shot, which Policastro punched out of the box, not only saving the ball but also saving the win. “I remember just watching the ball go out, looking at the clock wind down from 0:05 and realizing what just happened,” said Policastro. “I actually teared up a little when thinking about the journey from the 2011 game to that point in time.”

After a tense history of back and forth wins, Montclair State came out on top in Saturday’s game with a 1-0 win to avenge last year’s championship. “This win means a lot to our team,” said Gibson. “It was a great feeling to be able to beat them on their home field in regulation time. The tables were turned.”

Montclair State still holds the #1 spot in the NJAC conference, with TCNJ currently coming in third. If things play out as they have in the past, they may see each other for a second time this season in the NJAC Tournament. “I have a feeling we will see them again,” Policastro said. “For us seniors, I don’t think we can imagine playing anyone else in our last NJAC tournament.”

The womens soccer team takes on second seeded Rowan this Saturday, Oct. 11.

Red Hawks Regain Winning Streak
Montclair State plays well ahead of gigantic clash on Saturday

Mike Pappasino
Assistant Sports Editor

The Montclair State University womens field hockey team won two more games this past week to run their overall record to 9-2. The squad is currently 3-0 in the New Jersey Athletic Conference. MSU is currently ranked #11, according to the National Field Hockey Coaches Association’s Division III Poll.

On Oct. 1, the Red Hawks traveled to Hoboken to take on the Stevens Institute of Technology. Montclair State dominated the Ducks in the first half and went on to win the game 5-1. Almost 10 minutes into the match, junior forward and captain Maura Johnston found her rival forward, sophomore Gianina Moglino, with a pass, who then knocked in the first score of the contest.

Less than two minutes later, freshman forward Kathleen Strass connected with Johnn, who needed the second goal of the game. At the 14:54 mark, Strass tallied a second off a deflection thanks to an assist from Moglino. After roughly two more minutes, Strass got her second assist while Johnston scored her second goal. Strass added the finishing touch at the beginning of the second half, scoring at the 37:07 point in the match.

MSU outshot Stevens 31-7 during the game. The Red Hawks had 21 shots on target while the Ducks were held to four. This was the first time in four years that the final score was net 3-1 in favor of Montclair State.

On Oct. 3, MSU took the trip to Wayne to face off with their rival William Paterson. The Red Hawks were too much for the Pioneers and won in convincing fashion, 5-0. A little more than 2:30 into the contest, both Buttroz sisters were involved with Montclair State’s first goal.

Senior defender and captain Joelle Buttroz got the ball to sophomore forward Danielle Buttroz, who notched the first score of the game. About five minutes later, Danielle Buttroz got an assist of her own when

Red Hawk Roundup pg. 23
Who’s Hot, Game of the Week

Red Hawk Football Moves to 3-1 pg. 20
NFL Week Six Predictions