Red Hawks Give Back

Students donate blood to a good cause in time for the holidays.

Jaya Gagliucci

In collaboration with the Center for Student Involvement as well as the Biology club, the Volunteer Resource Center held its second Blood Drive of the fall semester on Monday, Nov. 10.

“It’s the time of year when we all think about our blessings and loved ones; planning for their special holiday gathering and gift-giving,” the Volunteer Resource Center wrote on the school’s website. “It is also the time of year when blood donations are most needed.”

Photo courtesy of Cindy Stygeman.

MSU Celebrates Diversity on Campus

Students at a cultural dance workshop.

Natalie Smith

From Connecting Across Cultures to Veterans Appreciation, the 10th annual Diversity Week has encompassed more clubs and organizations than ever before. Esmeals Abreu-Hornbostel and Maurice Sparks launched Diversity Week 10 years ago to create a place for people to learn about different backgrounds and cultures and how they can coincide together. It was a collaboration of the Office of Equity and Diversity and the College of the Arts that still exists today.

Photo courtesy of Mike Peters.

Honor our Veterans

Campus community recognizes its service members

Veteran and Military Resources members raise their flag on Veteran’s Day.

Jaya Gagliucci

In honor of those in the campus community—current- and previously serving in the nation’s armed services, Montclair State held its sixth annual Veteran and Military Resources event on Monday, Nov. 10.

“It’s the time of year when we all think about our blessings and loved ones; planning for their special holiday gathering and gift-giving,” the Volunteer Resource Center wrote on the school’s website. “It is also the time of year when blood donations are most needed.”

“They serve and sacrifice, not just for our freedom, but for our happiness,” the Volunteer Resource Center wrote on the school’s website. “It is also the time of year when blood donations are most needed.”

Photo courtesy of Mike Peters.

Japanese Aesthetics’ Comes to MSU

Awjei Rahmani

On Friday, Nov. 7, the Global Education Center and College of the Arts presented the works of 21 Master’s and Ph.D. students from Japan’s Tokyo University of the Arts. The exhibition was part of the “KARESHAII Project” led by Japan’s Ministry of Foreign Affairs and the Japan Foundation to promote cultural exchange between Japan and the United States.

At the beginning of the presentation, two of the students briefly talked about the history of the Tokyo University of the Arts. The university was created in 1887 and considered the only national art school in Japan. The fine arts school and the national art school in Japan.

Photo courtesy of Mike Peters.

Student Voice of Montclair State University Since 1928

The Montclarion

Hawk statue.

Brass Band performs on Black Friday

The Brass Band performs on Black Friday. In honor of those in the campus community—current- and previously serving in the nation’s armed services, Montclair State held its sixth annual Veteran and Military Resources event on Monday, Nov. 10.

It was the time of year when we all think about our blessings and loved ones; planning for their special holiday gathering and gift-giving,” the Volunteer Resource Center wrote on the school’s website. “It is also the time of year when blood donations are most needed.”

Photo courtesy of Mike Peters.

Diversity on Campus

Nicholas Era | The Montclarion

“We wanted to celebrate Afro-Caribbean culture and music and celebrate cultural diversity. We wanted to look at things that people don’t really think about. It started with an event called Bumba, which had art, dance, and theater pieces all through the month and it went beautifully. That’s when we realized that we wanted people to be able to come to Montclair and experience the world.”

According to Esmeals Abreu-Hornbostel, 10 years ago, Diversity Week had nine or 10 events in total. This year, Diversity has expanded and now encompasses more clubs and organizations than ever before.

Photo courtesy of Mike Peters.

‘The Theory of Everything’

Entertainment, p. 16

Vladimir Putin has always been the poster boy of the world’s big, bad, scary analogy. I don’t think he’s a bad guy, but his analogies have always been a little off the mark between reality and reality.

Photo courtesy of Mike Peters.

Red Hawk Roundup

Sports, p. 17

Check in on how the Red Hawks are doing in various athletics.
The Montclarion is a publication of Montclair University. Inc. published weekly except during examinations, summer and winter sessions. The Montclarion is funded by student fees distributed by Montclair State University and incoming advertising revenue. The views expressed in the Opinion section, with the exception of the Main Editorial, do not necessarily reflect the views of The Montclarion.

The first issue of The Montclarion, then named The Pelican, was published on Nov. 28, 1928.

CORRECTIONS

The Montclarion willingly corrects its factual errors. If you think there is a mistake in a story, please call Editor-in-Chief Catherine at ext. 5230.

Wishes Come True at MSU
MSU Wishmakers chartered by the SGA

Pelican Police Report

Tuesday, Nov. 4
Sprague Library: Non-student Eric Perez, 28, of Nutley, N.J. was arrested and charged with theft for his actions. Andreae is scheduled to appear in Little Falls Municipal Court.

Wednesday, Nov. 5
Inglel Chicago Village: A student reported an incident of harassment and from another non-student. The reporting assistant declined to pursue charges at this time.

Thursday, Nov. 6
Fremont Dining Hall: A student reported an incident of harassment an exotic dancer from another non-student. The reporting assistant declined to pursue charges at this time.

Friday, Nov. 7
Children’s Center: A student reported an incident of harassment and from another non-student. The reporting assistant declined to pursue charges at this time.

Saturday, Nov. 8
Young’s Drive: Non-student David Mikkelson, 19, of Vorhees, N.J. was arrested and charged for distribution of marijuana, possession of marijuana, possession of cocaine in a motor vehicle, wrong on a one way and failure to exhibit driver’s license after a motor vehicle stop. Mikkelson is scheduled to appear in Little Falls Municipal Court.

Sunday, Nov. 8
Bohn Hall: A student reported an incident of harassment an exotic dancer from another non-student. The reporting assistant declined to pursue charges at this time.

Anyone who has information regarding these incidents is urged to call the police station at (973) 655-5227.

All calls are strictly confidential.

Everyone has a wish, but not everyone lives to see it come true. In 2012, Make-A-Wish (MAW) has granted over 300,000 wishes, and 2,900 of those wishes were granted to children born in New Jersey. Make-A-Wish is the world’s largest wish-granting organization, and since it was founded in 1980, has granted over 400,000 wishes to children with life-threatening medical conditions worldwide.

A wish comes true when a child can have all the fun in the world in a child’s life. Officially char- 2ized on Wednesday, Nov. 6, MSU Wishmakers set their sights on this goal by “bring- ing together like-minded individuals to get involved with their campus communi- ty to make a difference,” ac- coring to the organization’s president, Jessica Twal. The Wishmakers are asso- ciated with the Make-A-Wish Foundation. This is the first time Wishmakers will be ac- tive on campus. The foun- dation’s purpose is to grant “wishes” to children diag- nased with life-threatening medical conditions through donations and organized ef- forts; these stories are seen as a way to help chil- dren mentally and physically in their struggle to fight their illnesses.

On average, every 38 min- utes, Make-A-Wish grants a wish to a child in need, giv- ing them hope towards a better tomorrow. Recently, MSU Wishmakers will now receive funds to help their ef- forts become possible and to ultimately help children reach their goals to help them children.

With the money that is raised, Adaptable Wishes is made possible. In this experience, donors are given the oppor- tunity to “demonstrate how [a donor’s] generosity helped a child come true.”

The first issue of The Montclarion, then named The Pelican, was published on Nov. 28, 1928.
music school comprises the university and offers courses for undergraduate, graduated and doctoral degrees. The fine arts department offers courses in areas such as painting, printing, sculpture, crafts, design, architecture, intermedia art and art history. The music school offers vocal, instrumental, compositional and computer music, conducting, musicology, traditional Japanese music, film production, musicology, traditional instrumental music, conducting, vocal music, composition, intermedia art and art history.

Aesthetics: Seeing Beauty Around Us

Continued from page 1

Students from Japan’s Ktpu University of the Arts presented a lecture on Japanese aesthetics.

American one.

In collaboration with the Center for Student Involvement, the Diversity, Inclusion and Philanthropy Center, the week-long rec-cognition continued with Operation Gratitude, featuring Veterans’ Day card writing. This year, the event expanded to identify or currently identify with a member of the armed forces, students were encour-ged to draft messages to three military members, whether near or far. Letters will reach the troops in the midst of holidays and homesickness, a good remedy for combating these states. In addition, the observance of Veterans Day continued with an exclusive talk featuring special guest speaker Rob Max. As a veteran of both Gulf Wars, Mr. Max shared his story of both the Battle of Bulge and the time spent in a Nazi Labor Camp. Hosted by the George Segal Foundation in partnership with the Holocaust Council of Greater New York and in mem-

In addition to the observance of Veterans Day continued with its recognition at its finest, the event acted as a resource fair where those interested in pursuing an education at Montclair State could gather information on how to contact those more knowledgeable in the area.

Throughout the entire, all U.S. veterans and service members were encouraged to take advantage of the opportunity to visit Montclair State’s extensive academic programs, career services, financial aid, counseling and graduate levels. In ad-

In December, those individuals recieved one-on-one counseling to discuss their educational background, goals and specific eligibility for financing those potential academic options through the G.J. Bill. The night was met with success and functioned as the main component in recognizing those who served.

Tomorrow afternoon, the week-long recognition will come to an end with Yoga for Veterans. Sponsored by Heal Health Promotion and the Recreation Center, the event is designed to offer a relaxing and peaceful environment to those veterans and service members who have 20-30 periods of stress or hardship in their lives.

Through the celebration wraps up at this final event, the appreciation and recogni-

What’s up with the SGA?

Get the inside scoop on the weekly meetings

Natalie Smyth
Staff Writer

• GlamourCats was successfully chartered as a class III organization under the SGA.

• Management Club was successfully chartered under the SGA.

• The 1008 Magazine’s chartor as a class IV organization of the SGA was not considered.

Kim Silva-Martinez
Contributing Writer

The Board of Trustees awarded a $225,000 contract for the construction of a banner statue depicting MSU’s mascot, the Red Hawk.

Hazen Blount, chair of the Audit, Finance and Investment Committee, made the announcement at the Oct. 30 meeting. Hazol Sculpture Studio of Toms River, N.J., which specializes in collegiate statues, won the bid. On Oct. 1, the committee voted that it is very traditional to have a mascot statue,” said Dr. Karen Pennington, Vice President of Student Life and Campus Development at Montclair State. “A Red Hawk statue will serve as a rallying point for the campus and as a symbol of pride in our campus life.”

The Student Government Association approved funding for the statue in January of this year; it would contribute $10,000 to the project. “[The funding] was broken up into two different sec-cions; so there was one bill for $40,000,” said SGA President Kristen Han.

“We have a separate fund; it’s money that was set aside to do things on campus, so we used that money for our campaign,” she said.

Vice Mascoti, Senior Life

Project Manager of Design at Hanlon Sculpture Studio, MSR’s Museum was brought to us and will provide the balance with a capital fund. The university will also pay for the statue’s maintenance.

MSU Federation of Teachers Local 1904 President Richard Wolfsen also spoke at the Trustees meeting.

I questioned the statue’s funding. “I hope there was a direction or development effort for pay for this or that it was a class gift. It is coming from our general funds—tuition dol-ars that could have gone to lower house courses or more faculty.” He questioned when the Board asked how the statue would be, for the cost of nearly a “quarter-mil-dion dollars,” Blount assured him.

The statue’s purpose is to “inspire pride, celebrate the accomplishments of student athletes and to educate visitors about the rich history of Montclair State athletes,” according to the bid document dated April 3, 2013. Mascoti assured that the statue will be approximately 10 to 12 feet tall, excluding the foundation. All but the completion of Construction should begin during the summer and be completed by Sept. 1, 2015, in time for the start of the upcoming fall semester. It will be located to the left of the Panier Athletic Center entrance.

Montclair State adopted the Red Hawk mascot in 1999, marking its 25th anniversary this year. The masc-rot is based on the red-tailed hawk, which is indigenous to New Jersey and can be recognized by its virel red tail.

Dr. Pennington compared the Red Hawk statue to other university mascots.

“Visible symbols of who we are and what we represent are an important part of any community,” said Pennington. These differens symbols are, like the costumes of the Wise Men or monuments like Mount Rushmore in South Dakota.

Individuals entering the campus will be greeted by the Red Hawk as a symbol of the campus community.

“His story of both the Battle of Bulge and the time spent in a Nazi Labor Camp. Hosted by the George Segal Foundation in partnership with the Holocaust Council of Greater New York and in memory of Veterans’ Day words were definitely important in giving a voice to their delivery.

In addition to the observance of Veterans Day continued with an exclusive talk featuring special guest speaker Rob Max. As a veteran of both Gulf Wars, Mr. Max shared his story of both the Battle of Bulge and the time spent in a Nazi Labor Camp. Hosted by the George Segal Foundation in partnership with the Holocaust Council of Greater New York and in memory of Veterans’ Day words were definitely important in giving a voice to their delivery.

In addition to the observance of Veterans Day continued with an exclusive talk featuring special guest speaker Rob Max. As a veteran of both Gulf Wars, Mr. Max shared his story of both the Battle of Bulge and the time spent in a Nazi Labor Camp. Hosted by the George Segal Foundation in partnership with the Holocaust Council of Greater New York and in memory of Veterans’ Day words were definitely important in giving a voice to their delivery.

In addition to the observance of Veterans Day continued with an exclusive talk featuring special guest speaker Rob Max. As a veteran of both Gulf Wars, Mr. Max shared his story of both the Battle of Bulge and the time spent in a Nazi Labor Camp. Hosted by the George Segal Foundation in partnership with the Holocaust Council of Greater New York and in memory of Veterans’ Day words were definitely important in giving a voice to their delivery.

In addition to the observance of Veterans Day continued with an exclusive talk featuring special guest speaker Rob Max. As a veteran of both Gulf Wars, Mr. Max shared his story of both the Battle of Bulge and the time spent in a Nazi Labor Camp. Hosted by the George Segal Foundation in partnership with the Holocaust Council of Greater New York and in memory of Veterans’ Day words were definitely important in giving a voice to their delivery.

In addition to the observance of Veterans Day continued with an exclusive talk featuring special guest speaker Rob Max. As a veteran of both Gulf Wars, Mr. Max shared his story of both the Battle of Bulge and the time spent in a Nazi Labor Camp. Hosted by the George Segal Foundation in partnership with the Holocaust Council of Greater New York and in memory of Veterans’ Day words were definitely important in giving a voice to their delivery.

In addition to the observance of Veterans Day continued with an exclusive talk featuring special guest speaker Rob Max. As a veteran of both Gulf Wars, Mr. Max shared his story of both the Battle of Bulge and the time spent in a Nazi Labor Camp. Hosted by the George Segal Foundation in partnership with the Holocaust Council of Greater New York and in memory of Veterans’ Day words were definitely important in giving a voice to their delivery.
Leadership: Developing Skills for Life
Continued from page 1

Dr. Grippaldi stated, continuing her part in coordinating the program. "We're here to now take it to the next level and have it be a successful start-up program for educational organizations," said Abreu-Hornbostel. "It's a master's degree program that will provide them with the knowledge and skills needed to take on leadership positions within higher education organizations."

Since its official approval just last week, about 20 information requests as well as several applications for the Spring 2015 semester have already been received by the Department of Counseling and Educational Leadership. For anyone desiring to learn more about the MA program in Educational Leadership with a concentration in Higher Education, an information session will be held on Wednesday, Nov. 19 at 6 p.m. in the University Hall Conference Center.

"We like to look at intersections; maybe I am a Muslim woman and artist or maybe I'm an athlete who wants to raise awareness of global environmental issues. It's about intersectionality and giving students a broader scope of what being a global citizen is like here at Montclair State," said Abreu-Hornbostel. The LGBTQ Center hosted a Veteran Appreciation event in the lobby of the Student Center to support veterans who had to hide their identity or suffered any discrimination based on their sexual orientation. C.J. Malva, a senior and member of LGBTQ, said that Montclair State is so aware and respectful of all different cultures and orientations.

"I know freshmen who decided to come to Montclair State because we had a LG-IFQ center," said Malva. "It's really important for students to have a place to go where they can be who they are, regardless of their sexual orientation."

Malva said that the enormous amount of diversity here has made students a lot more accepting of other people's differences and has even helped him become more accepting of himself. "That's what diversity is all about: awareness and accepting others. This week was just another reminder of how far we've come, but also how far we have to go."

"We don't just talk about ethical or religious differences," claimed Guevara. "It's about your identity. What identity is most prominent in your life? It doesn't have to be anything specifically and that's what makes diversity so great."

Diversity Week is filled with educational lectures, art exhibits and musical theatre, all of which can open your eyes to a new way of life. As it continues to grow, students like Malva will continue to raise awareness of issues surrounding diversity and above all hope to create a more accepting society.

"What we wanted to achieve was an opportunity for people to look at diversity in a broader way," said Abreu-Hornbostel. "It goes beyond race, class and gender. Are you in Greek life? Are you an athlete, artist or musician? Are you an activist? How do you contribute to this world? We want to include what is often not heard or seen."

In other words, Diversity Week is for all students, no matter where you're from or what your personal identity is.

Diversity: Campus Shows its True Colors
Continued from page 1

There are over 50 events taking place this week plus the 2014 Rescue in Budapest Series, which is a set of lectures, films and special events throughout the semester.

"We like to look at intersections; maybe I am a Muslim woman and artist or maybe I'm an athlete who wants to raise awareness of global environmental issues. It’s about intersectionality and giving students a broader scope of what being a global citizen is here at Montclair State," said Abreu-Hornbostel. The LGBTQ Center hosted a Veteran Appreciation event in the lobby of the Student Center to support veterans who had to hide their identity or suffered any discrimination based on their sexual orientation. C.J. Malva, a senior and member of LGBTQ, said that Montclair State is so aware and respectful of all different cultures and orientations.

"I know freshmen who decided to come to Montclair State because we had a LG-IFQ center," said Malva. "It’s really important for students to have a place to go where they can be who they are, regardless of their sexual orientation."

Malva said that the enormous amount of diversity here has made students a lot more accepting of other people’s differences and has even helped him become more accepting of himself. “That’s what diversity is all about: awareness and accepting others. This week was just another reminder of how far we’ve come, but also how far we have to go."

Some events are included in Diversity Week that is also scheduled independently of this event. Claudia Guevara, a graduate student in the counseling program, co- facilitates connecting across cultures weekly.

“We don’t just talk about ethical or religious differences,” claimed Guevara. “It’s about your identity. What identity is most prominent in your life? It doesn’t have to be anything specifically and that’s what makes diversity so great.”

Diversity Week is filled with educational lectures, art exhibits and musical theatre, all of which can open your eyes to a new way of life. As it continues to grow, students like Malva will continue to raise awareness of issues surrounding diversity and above all hope to create a more accepting society.

“What we wanted to achieve was an opportunity for people to look at diversity in a broader way,” said Abreu-Hornbostel. “It goes beyond race, class and gender. Are you in Greek life? Are you an athlete, artist or musician? Are you an activist? How do you contribute to this world? We want to include what is often not heard or seen.”

In other words, Diversity Week is for all students, no matter where you’re from or what your personal identity is.

"We like to look at intersections; maybe I am a Muslim woman and artist or maybe I'm an athlete who wants to raise awareness of global environmental issues. It’s about intersectionality and giving students a broader scope of what being a global citizen is here at Montclair State," said Abreu-Hornbostel. The LGBTQ Center hosted a Veteran Appreciation event in the lobby of the Student Center to support veterans who had to hide their identity or suffered any discrimination based on their sexual orientation. C.J. Malva, a senior and member of LGBTQ, said that Montclair State is so aware and respectful of all different cultures and orientations.

"I know freshmen who decided to come to Montclair State because we had a LG-IFQ center," said Malva. "It’s really important for students to have a place to go where they can be who they are, regardless of their sexual orientation."

Malva said that the enormous amount of diversity here has made students a lot more accepting of other people’s differences and has even helped him become more accepting of himself. “That’s what diversity is all about: awareness and accepting others. This week was just another reminder of how far we’ve come, but also how far we have to go."

Some events are included in Diversity Week that is also scheduled independently of this event. Claudia Guevara, a graduate student in the counseling program, co-facilitates connecting across cultures weekly.

“We don’t just talk about ethical or religious differences,” claimed Guevara. “It’s about your identity. What identity is most prominent in your life? It doesn’t have to be anything specifically and that’s what makes diversity so great.”

Diversity Week is filled with educational lectures, art exhibits and musical theatre, all of which can open your eyes to a new way of life. As it continues to grow, students like Malva will continue to raise awareness of issues surrounding diversity and above all hope to create a more accepting society.

“What we wanted to achieve was an opportunity for people to look at diversity in a broader way,” said Abreu-Hornbostel. “It goes beyond race, class and gender. Are you in Greek life? Are you an athlete, artist or musician? Are you an activist? How do you contribute to this world? We want to include what is often not heard or seen.”

In other words, Diversity Week is for all students, no matter where you’re from or what your personal identity is.

Diversity: Campus Shows its True Colors
Continued from page 1

There are over 50 events taking place this week plus the 2014 Rescue in Budapest Series, which is a set of lectures, films and special events throughout the semester.

"We like to look at intersections; maybe I am a Muslim woman and artist or maybe I'm an athlete who wants to raise awareness of global environmental issues. It’s about intersectionality and giving students a broader scope of what being a global citizen is here at Montclair State," said Abreu-Hornbostel. The LGBTQ Center hosted a Veteran Appreciation event in the lobby of the Student Center to support veterans who had to hide their identity or suffered any discrimination based on their sexual orientation. C.J. Malva, a senior and member of LGBTQ, said that Montclair State is so aware and respectful of all different cultures and orientations.

"I know freshmen who decided to come to Montclair State because we had a LG-IFQ center," said Malva. "It’s really important for students to have a place to go where they can be who they are, regardless of their sexual orientation."

Malva said that the enormous amount of diversity here has made students a lot more accepting of other people’s differences and has even helped him become more accepting of himself. “That’s what diversity is all about: awareness and accepting others. This week was just another reminder of how far we’ve come, but also how far we have to go."

Some events are included in Diversity Week that is also scheduled independently of this event. Claudia Guevara, a graduate student in the counseling program, co-facilitates connecting across cultures weekly.

“We don’t just talk about ethical or religious differences,” claimed Guevara. “It’s about your identity. What identity is most prominent in your life? It doesn’t have to be anything specifically and that’s what makes diversity so great.”

Diversity Week is filled with educational lectures, art exhibits and musical theatre, all of which can open your eyes to a new way of life. As it continues to grow, students like Malva will continue to raise awareness of issues surrounding diversity and above all hope to create a more accepting society.

“What we wanted to achieve was an opportunity for people to look at diversity in a broader way,” said Abreu-Hornbostel. “It goes beyond race, class and gender. Are you in Greek life? Are you an athlete, artist or musician? Are you an activist? How do you contribute to this world? We want to include what is often not heard or seen.”

In other words, Diversity Week is for all students, no matter where you’re from or what your personal identity is.

Diversity: Campus Shows its True Colors
Continued from page 1

There are over 50 events taking place this week plus the 2014 Rescue in Budapest Series, which is a set of lectures, films and special events throughout the semester.

"We like to look at intersections; maybe I am a Muslim woman and artist or maybe I'm an athlete who wants to raise awareness of global environmental issues. It’s about intersectionality and giving students a broader scope of what being a global citizen is here at Montclair State," said Abreu-Hornbostel. The LGBTQ Center hosted a Veteran Appreciation event in the lobby of the Student Center to support veterans who had to hide their identity or suffered any discrimination based on their sexual orientation. C.J. Malva, a senior and member of LGBTQ, said that Montclair State is so aware and respectful of all different cultures and orientations.

"I know freshmen who decided to come to Montclair State because we had a LG-IFQ center," said Malva. "It’s really important for students to have a place to go where they can be who they are, regardless of their sexual orientation."

Malva said that the enormous amount of diversity here has made students a lot more accepting of other people’s differences and has even helped him become more accepting of himself. “That’s what diversity is all about: awareness and accepting others. This week was just another reminder of how far we’ve come, but also how far we have to go."

Some events are included in Diversity Week that is also scheduled independently of this event. Claudia Guevara, a graduate student in the counseling program, co-facilitates connecting across cultures weekly.

“We don’t just talk about ethical or religious differences,” claimed Guevara. “It’s about your identity. What identity is most prominent in your life? It doesn’t have to be anything specifically and that’s what makes diversity so great.”

Diversity Week is filled with educational lectures, art exhibits and musical theatre, all of which can open your eyes to a new way of life. As it continues to grow, students like Malva will continue to raise awareness of issues surrounding diversity and above all hope to create a more accepting society.

“What we wanted to achieve was an opportunity for people to look at diversity in a broader way,” said Abreu-Hornbostel. “It goes beyond race, class and gender. Are you in Greek life? Are you an athlete, artist or musician? Are you an activist? How do you contribute to this world? We want to include what is often not heard or seen.”

In other words, Diversity Week is for all students, no matter where you’re from or what your personal identity is.
Peak Performances

Department of Theatre and Dance
John J. Cali School of Music

PENNY OPERA

BOOK AND LYRICS BY
BERTOLT BRECHT
MUSIC BY KURT WEILL
DIRECTED AND STAGED BY MARK HARDY
MUSICAL DIRECTION AND SUPERVISION BY GREGORY J. DLUGOS

Nov. 13 & 14 - 7:30 p.m., Nov. 15 - 2:00 p.m. & 8:00 p.m., Nov. 16 - 2:00 p.m.
Alexander Kasser Theater

Department of Theatre and Dance

Works-A-Foot

Nov. 19, 20 & 21 - 7:30 p.m., Nov. 22 - 8:00 p.m.
Nov. 23 - 2:00 p.m.
Memorial Auditorium

All Seats $15

973-655-5112 | www.peakperfs.org
Convenient parking in the Red Hawk Deck
This charge for MJU students applies. Discounts at the Performing Arts Center box office with valid ID.
Photo: Montclair State University/Allee Petersen
Stay Fashionable and Cozy this Fall
Find out what students are wearing to show their fashion while staying warm

Jessica Mahmoud
Staff Writer

As the weather gets colder, you might be reluctant to step on campus in your adorable skirts and dresses. No one wants to be cold in class or while walking across campus. Luckily, I’ve found plenty of examples of ways to stay warm while showing off your dresses and skirts.

No one wants to be cold in the colder months. Layering a long-sleeve top over a sleeveless dress is a fashionable solution to keep your arms warm. As sweater weather begins, cardigans are showing up, too. Try using them to layer over dresses like this. The matching scarf is the best accessory to an outfit like this. Adding solid tights will definitely keep your legs warm and don’t take away from the style on top. Finally, boots are the go-to shoe.

Layering a jacket over a turtleneck won’t ruin the look, as keeping it open will also show the vest underneath. The little accessories worn here like the thrush purse and statement necklace top off the look.

Jessica Mahmoud

Staff Writer

• November 13, 2014 • The Montclarion

Tattoos?: “I like so many different artists; I don’t know who I love. I’ll say Regina Spektor and her song “Us.” It’s from the 500 Days of Summer soundtrack.”

How’d you spend the weekend?
“I worked at Stop & Shop and did homework.”

What’s your favorite band or artist and what’s your favorite song of theirs?
“I like so many different artists, I don’t know who I love. I found one of their songs in a fan-made trailer for Looking For Alaska.”

How did you spend Halloween night?
“I dressed up as Velma with my friends and Darth Vader here around campus!”

Favorite movie and why?
“500 Days of Summer soundtrack.”

Dress, cardigan, leggings: TJ Maxx.
Scar: gift.
Ring: grandmother’s.
Boots: Converse.
How did you spend the weekend?
“I worked at Stop & Shop and did homework.”

Dress: H&M.
Jacket: TJ Maxx.
Boots: Doc Martens.
How’d you spend the weekend?
“I worked at Stop & Shop and did homework.”

Dress: H&M.
Cardigan: Forever 21.
Tights: Payless.
Shoes: Payless.
How did you spend Halloween night?
“I played video games with my friends. I dressed up as Volma with my friends and Darth Vader here around campus.”

Dress: H&M.
Veat: Tilly’s.
Shirt: Tilly’s.
Purse: thrift.
What’s your favorite band or artist and what’s your favorite song of theirs?
“I like so many different artists, I don’t know who I love. I’ll say Regina Spektor and her song “Us.” It’s from the 500 Days of Summer soundtrack.”

For more pictures like these, check out my blog on Instagram and Facebook @montclair_state_style!

Skirt: Tilly’s.
Purse: thrift.

Layered shirt, jacket, shoes and bag: TJ Maxx.
Favorite movie and why?
“I don’t really know. Probably The Breakfast Club because I always laugh even though I’ve seen it so many times.”

Dress: H&M.
Jacket: Amazon.
Shoes: Amazon.
How did you spend the weekend?
“I worked at Stop & Shop and did homework.”

Dress, cardigan, leggings: TJ Maxx.
Necklace: down the shore.
Ring: gift.
Bracelet on right arm: An olive festival.
Bracelet on left arm: Hot Topic.
Favorite movie and why?
“The song ‘Is There Somebody Who Could Watch You’ by The 1975. I found one of their songs in a fan-made trailer for Looking for Alaska.”

Even though it’s getting colder, there is no need to kick your dresses and skirts to the curb. There are easy ways to transition them to fall and even winter. I hope this gave you some ideas and I hope to see how you style yours around campus!

For more pictures like these, check out my blog on Instagram and Facebook @montclair_state_style!

Layered shirt, jacket, shoes and bag: TJ Maxx.
Favorite movie and why?
“I don’t really know. Probably The Breakfast Club because I always laugh even though I’ve seen it so many times.”

Layered shirt, jacket, shoes and bag: TJ Maxx.
Favorite movie and why?
“I don’t really know. Probably The Breakfast Club because I always laugh even though I’ve seen it so many times.”

Dress, cardigan, leggings: TJ Maxx.
Necklace: down the shore.
Ring: gift.
Bracelet on right arm: An olive festival.
Bracelet on left arm: Hot Topic.
Favorite movie and why?
“The song ‘Is There Somebody Who Could Watch You’ by The 1975. I found one of their songs in a fan-made trailer for Looking For Alaska.”

Even though it’s getting colder, there is no need to kick your dresses and skirts to the curb. There are easy ways to transition them to fall and even winter. I hope this gave you some ideas and I hope to see how you style yours around campus!

For more pictures like these, check out my blog on Instagram and Facebook @montclair_state_style!

Layered shirt, jacket, shoes and bag: TJ Maxx.
Favorite movie and why?
“I don’t really know. Probably The Breakfast Club because I always laugh even though I’ve seen it so many times.”

Layered shirt, jacket, shoes and bag: TJ Maxx.
Favorite movie and why?
“I don’t really know. Probably The Breakfast Club because I always laugh even though I’ve seen it so many times.”
What’s The Deal?

When do you think it’s acceptable to send nudes to your significant other?

HE SAID

It is entirely acceptable to send naked photos of yourself to your significant other. It is a bond of trust between you and them. If they choose to send you naked pictures of themselves for you to see, then why not enjoy them? There, however, is a problem I see that can arise when sending and receiving nudes do they stay in the hands of the person who was intended to receive them? In today’s day and age with Internet security being compromised daily, one should think twice about sending nudes to and fro. Many guys seem to be very apathetic to the situation regarding nudes, as they find that most often a girl is reluctant to show them. What guys don’t seem to understand is that if your significant other is sending you nudes, they should only be for you. No one else should be in on that and for guys to go around sharing nudes is not only a breach of privacy but a breach of trust. Guys need to understand that if a girl is sending you nudes, it’s because you’ve reached a level where she is comfortable with you having them. That doesn’t mean she wants you to be out showing them to other people. However, what seems to be happening more and more is that many guys feel it is acceptable to show off and brag about their partner’s nudes. It has also had an impact on the girls who might have sent nudes, but because of the way nude culture is, girls are hesitant to share their nudes.

Essentially, what this argument has boiled down to is that guys spoil the nudes they get too freely. They are ruining it for the girls by sharing their nudes with the world. The message all guys need to get through their head is that nudes should remain private and shouldn’t be released under any circumstances. Recent news with the leaked celebrity photos leading to jail time only furthers the point. Stop spreading nudes around and keep them to yourself. The rest of the population will thank you in secret.

SHE SAID

When it is acceptable to send naked photos of your- self to your significant other? Never! Let’s face it: in an age where you can literally track one’s day-to-day activities by browsing through their Tweets and Facebook status- es, one can say that privacy has become as obsolete as flip phones and dial-up Internet. From fearing that hackers might somehow uncover your Dropbox to spying on one’s Orleans-activity, there are a myriad of reasons why you should not send naked photos of yourself, often referred to as “nudes,” to your anyone— no matter how close you are with them. The first reason is obvious, not all relation- ships are built to last. More specifically, what will become of the nude photos that you sent your lover if you were to break up or even have a diagn- osis? Who is to say that your ex-lover could turn your own photos against you following a nasty breakup? Even if this is not the case and you are confident that your partner is an honest and respectful person, there is always the possibility that your nudes may fall into the wrong hands. Of course, there are cases where we feel like we must give our loved one a “special” gift. In the case of a long- distance relationship or one that has just lost its spark, the best way of sending nudes would entail the old-fashioned way of sharing photos, as in taking them with a camera, getting them developed and printed, sending it to your be- loved by hand or by mail and then deleting the initial file with your photo in it. Such a method is obviously not 100 percent foolproof but, in addi- tion to it being more private, it is much more intimate and personal than sending via phone or messenger. While we may be young and feel like we are at our peak right now, we must be realistic and prudent and therefore think about the long-term conse- quences of our actions. Your ex who sharing could ruin your job prospects for to- morrow. No one is safe from the haunting aftermath that sending may bring. Not A-list celebrities, not powerful polit- icians and definitely not you. If your significant other is compelling you to send them/ her naked photos of yourself, despite any concerns you may have towards this mat- ter, then your partner does not really love you, as he/ she cannot appreciate the kinds of things that transcend a cheap snapshot. After all, your character, your ethos and the connection that you share with your significant other are what brought you two together in the first place, right? If your partner fails to acknowledge these important elements and disregards your sentiments, then maybe it’s time for you to reconsider your relation- ship.
As the weather gets colder, it becomes easier and easier to come up with excuses to skip your workout. Staying fit and healthy is a full-time job and does not take a break in the fall and winter. Try to fight these excuses and take advantage of the Student Recreation Center. Many students will go home for winter break, so try to use the gym as much as you can now. Here are some common excuses and what you should do to combat them and stay healthy.

“Too cold to run outside.”
If you are a runner, the cold weather is very discouraging. Instead of skipping your run, think of the cold as rejuvenating. The cold will definitely motivate you to run faster in order to get warmer and will give you a huge sense of accomplishment. Just wear pants and one or two layers on top and you should be good to go well into the winter.

“Bathing suit season is months away; I don’t need to work out now.”
Most people tend to head to the gym about a month or so before they plan to wear a bathing suit or break out their winter clothes. This is not the solution; getting a fit and healthy body takes months of work and dedication. In fact, summer bodies are made in the winter. When working out now, think of how far you will be by the time spring comes around.

“Too busy and stressed to go to the gym.”
Everyone can make time to work out and stay active if it is truly something they care about. When you are the most busy and stressed, it is probably when you need the gym the most. Exercise is an excellent stress reliever and can help you get out some frustration you have about school, work or anything else going on in your life. This does not mean you have to clock in two hours at the gym every day; anything is better than nothing and even a 20-minute workout can help boost your mood.

Kimberly Asman
Staff Writer

Want to be part of something greater?
Write for feature!

Fashion writer wanted

Contact msufeature@gmail.com
Help Wanted

Babysitter wanted 24-32 hours a week to manage 3 kids, 12:30-5 p.m. Mon, Wed, Thurs. Looking for a “take charge” person with previous experience. Non-smoker, fluent in English. Driving not necessary. Call Melissa 973-707-7088 or email Mlisdona@yahoo.com

P/T After School Nanny wanted for 3 children ages 7, 7, & 12. Mon-Fri 3:30-6:30 p.m. Requires driving kids to activities, help with homework, light cooking for kids dinner & light cleaning/organizing. Call Helen 973-656-6304 or 973-748-0876 or email helen.appelbaum@gmail.com

PT Childcare for 9 yr old girl. Mon, Tues, Wed, - 3 to 7 p.m. Child has some learning disabilities, so a Special Ed student would be great, but not necessary. $12.00/hr. Call Patti 201-248-0599 or email patti11@hotmail.com

PT Montclair cook, cashier, food runner & driver wanted. Ruthie’s BBQ & Smokehouse. Hosted by Organization of Students

PT After School Driver/Minder for cheerful 6th grade boy. 3-4 hours, 2-5 days per wk. flexible! Drive to lessons & practice, oversee homework. M/F encouraged to call Elizabeth at 917-576-6220 or email EdWilver@verizon.net

After school nanny wanted for 2 children 5 days a week in Montclair. Clean driving record a must, as driving kids to activities is required. Also homework help & light cooking / cleaning. Call Wendy at 201-206-2851.

P/T & P/T-Little Angels School House Chatham, NJ is looking for Energetic individuals. Duties include implementing lesson plans & assisting with meals, snack/dinner/ potty training. Contact Judy -761-8083 or rumunna11@littleangelschoolhouse.com. Contact Melissa - 973-788-8868 or email Mlisdona@yahoo.com

PT Montclair afterschool “Driver” needed for two kids ages 13 & 11. Flexible hours. Minimum weekly fee. Call Bea 973-619-6560 or email Binkowsk2@yahoo.com

PT Experienced, energetic, reliable babysitter wanted for our 7 year old son in Nutley. Occasional afternoons / weekends. $15.00 per hour. Contact Linda at Linda1234@yahoo.com or call 973-508-8868 (Leave a message).

Learning to Fish: Landing the Position You Want in the Troubled Waters of Today’s Job Market

Hosted By: Blanton Hall Council

Help Wanted

P/T Available - Responsible Babysitter wanted for friendly Maplewood family - 2 children 12 & 16. Tuesdays & Thursdays (Wed,possible) from 2:45 to 7:00 p.m. Driving to activities (both kids) and supervising homework for 12 year old. Must have valid driver’s license & be clean. Also available for a sweet golden retriever, so comfort with dogs is also a must. Email Liz at lmplwd@gmail.com Please include references.

P/T After School Driver/Minder for cheerful 6th grade boy. 3-4 hours, 2-5 days per week. Flexible! Drive to lessons & practice, oversee homework. M/F encouraged to call Elizabeth at 917-576-6220 or email EdWilver@verizon.net

After school nanny wanted for 2 children 5 days a week in Montclair. Clean driving record a must, as driving kids to activities is required. Also homework help & light cooking / cleaning. Call Wendy at 201-206-2851.

PT After-School sitter in Fair Lawn to drive kids 7/12/16 to activities, supervise playdates & homework for the youngest. Flexible Hours! Must like dogs & cats. Email jasaviing@yahoo.com

PT After School Childcare needed Mon-Fri, 3:50-6:30 pm for 9 &11 year olds in Mountain Lakes. Prepare snack and dinner & help with homework. Must Drive. Contact Jane at 901-457-4999 or Jamphemouston@gmail.com

For Sale

Vanity with Cushioned Chair & Matching Mirror, asking for $380.00. Contact 201-401-2017.

For Rent

Private Room w/ Bath for Female Near Campus off Valley Road in Cliff ton. Available immediately. $550.00 per month. Call Joan 973-279-7294.

Upcoming Events

Beauty Pageant With before goods and a DJ

Tuesday, Nov. 18

6 p.m.-8:30 p.m.

Blanton Hall Atrium

Hosted By: Blanton Hall Council

46th Annual OSAU Harvest Ball

Wednesday, Nov. 19

7:30 p.m.-10:00 p.m.

Student Center Ballrooms A & B

Hosted By: Organization of Students for African Unity

Contact: msu.osau@gmail.com

Montclair after-school “Driver” needed for two kids ages 11 & 11. Flexible hours. Minimum weekly fee. Call Bea 973-619-6560 or email Binkowsk2@yahoo.com

PT Experienced, energetic, reliable babysitter wanted for our 7 year old son in Nutley. Occasional afternoons / weekends. $15.00 per hour. Contact Linda at Linda1234@yahoo.com or call 973-508-8868 (Leave a message).

Learning to Fish: Landing the Position You Want in the Troubled Waters of Today’s Job Market

Thursday, Nov. 20 at 4 p.m.

UN 1020

Hosted by: Financial Management & Economics Society (PFES) Hear from Donna Chlopak as she discusses the job search as related to your interests. She will review where to look for opportunities and how to evaluate them. She will also discuss resumes, cover letters, and the interview process.

Dance Marathon for the Children’s Specialized Hospital

Saturday, Dec. 6 from noon to 12 a.m.

Student Center Ballrooms

Participate, or donate and have a fundraising goal of $62. Hosted By: Montclair Miracles Contact montclairmiracles@gmail.com

Have an event coming up? Let us know!

Email MSUPRODUCTION@GMAIL.COM

The Montclarion • November 13, 2014 • PAGE 9
And now time for something different... Sudoku!

```
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>9</th>
<th>3</th>
<th>7</th>
<th>5</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>5</td>
<td>8</td>
<td>2</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td></td>
<td>8</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3</td>
<td>8</td>
<td>1</td>
<td>9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td></td>
<td>4</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5</td>
<td>1</td>
<td>9</td>
<td>7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>4</td>
<td>3</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
```
It’s mid-Novem-ber, the leaves are still changing colors and falling from trees, the temperature has yet to drop to its black and blustery status and autumn is still in the air. Yet, according to CBS, two women in Beaumont, Calif. are already planning for a holly-jolly holiday season, lining up for the Black Friday sales which have not even been announced. Although this is an extreme case, many others will be lining up on Thanksgiving night and the early hours of Black Friday in order to shop for the best deals. As the years have gone on, we have seen businesses open- ing earlier and earlier on Black Friday, tak- ing advantage of re- tail workers who have to wake up extremely early in order to get to work on time and set up the store. The major retailer Kmart is opening its doors at 6 a.m. on Thanksgiv- ing, according to Huffing- ton Post, and it will remain open for 42 hours straight. For most, if not all retail businesses, Black Friday is the most important sales day of the year, so we understand that companies early to open their doors early to make the biggest profit pos- sible. We also recognize that we live in a capitalist coun- try, making the flow of money essential to the maintenance of our economy. Yet, forcing poorly-paid employees with no health benefits to work ridiculous long and incon- veniently timed shifts does not seem to be in the spirit of bringing “peace on earth” and goodwill will toward men.”

Many students who at- tend Montclair State Uni- versity work in retail, and for those students, the Thanksgiving break, which is usually meant for con- gregation and relaxation, will instead be filled with stress- ful hours of work. The hur- rien of Black Friday may be even larger for students who work in Bergen County or any other county with blue laws. Those laws limit busi- ness operation on Sundays, so businesses will be packing on extra hours on Thursday, Friday and Saturday in order to compensate for lost time on Sunday. Yet, Black Friday is only one day in a jollish holiday season. Already, students have complained of increases in their weekly work hours and also in their company’s hours of operation. Many stu- dents find themselves with a packed schedule of classes and work shifts during the week, only to work eight to nine hours each day of the week in preparation for the surplus of shopping that accompanies the holiday sea- son. This may mean hir- ing a few extra seasonal em- ployees, but that is what it takes to keep student work- ers happy and healthy, then it seems a small price to pay to keep the most wonderful time of the year wonderful for everyone involved.

What has been your experience as a worker on Black Friday?

Andrea Arenes
Undeclared Freshman
“It was really hectic. I was tired because I closed that day. The store was a mess, I got yelled at, and on top of that, the fitting rooms were really messy. All in all, it just was really bad.”

Mouna Ben
Romdhane Undeclared Freshman
“It was my first day. I had a shift from, I believe, one to eight and I got by. They put me everywhere and I had never done any- thing, I learned everything that day from cash register to fitting rooms. I had to donate blood after that but couldn’t be- cause I was stressed out. Black Friday was one of the worst days for me. Never again.”

Daniel Borja
English Junior
“This will be my first year work- ing on Black Fri- day. At my previous job, we were usually closed on that particular day, but I start- ed working at Walgreens six months ago and am scheduled to work Black Friday morning at 5 a.m. That means I have to get there at 10 a.m. on which Friday makes me lo- sus because Walgreens is a convenience store. I do not understand what the 40 percent off will be on; Butterfingers and shampoo? I feel like some businesses take advantage of it as can promote and sell inventory that they normally do not.”

Michelle Delarzos
Nutrition Junior
“It gets busy and it is very tiring.”

Emily Garcia
Family and Child Studies Sophomore
“It is definitely crazy madness at the restaurant. I work at a restau- rant at the mall as well, everyone, after they’re done shopping or before their go shopping, come in acting all crazy and orders as much food as possible. It’s defi- nitely madness.”

Josh Ni
Business Administration Sophomore
“I work at a restau- rant as a waiter every single time, [on the night of Thanksgiving], we usu- ally have a lot of customers during the evening, but by 9 p.m., the restaurant is empty because everyone is getting ready for Black Friday. Everyone puts all their work in for the whole afternoon and eve- ning so that they have the whole night to go Black Friday shopping for the cheap- est thing.”

Emma Sidey
Business Molecular Biology Senior
“It’s absolutely horrid and very annoying because people are very rude and they don’t understand that you’re a human being, too.”

Selling Your Soul on Black Friday

First graduate program for higher education at Montclair State

Thumbs Up

Red Hawk Yogurt
Red Hawk Pride Society

Thumbs Down

Workers dangling off One World Trade Center
Mexican government cover-up of gang crimes against students

Parodies of street harassment videos
Bon Voyage to the Gap Year

There may be a better way to travel the world than taking a year off.

---

Something More Priceless than Education: Teachers Influence

Undervalued educators make the biggest difference in a child’s life

---

I like to drive with the open window. I mean, before you know it you’re going to spend $100 in gas anyway, right?

--Tom Magliozzi (1937-2014)
“In America, the President reigns for four years, but Journalism governs forever.” – Oscar Wilde

WRITERS WANTED FOR: NEWS
FEATURE ENTERTAINMENT
OPINION SPORTS

Come Help Us Out!

Room 113 Student Center Annex
in Upper Montclair, NJ 07043

Phone 973.655.5230
Fax 973.655.7804
E-mail MontEditor@gmail.com
The band started with two members, but while touring the country, three were added. It is an instrumentals make up for it. The name of the tour. The lyrics are super romantic but the cool vibe, but in a romantic, less annoying way.

This song has awesome instruments behind it. The lyrics are super romantic but the cool instruments make up for it. The name of the band was inspired by a theme in nerd culture, especially when cosplaying. This version is clearly a joke, but maybe this nerdy version caused some of those geeky guys who think it’s okay to call a random stranger a babe because they exist in nerd culture, especially when cosplaying. This version is clearly a joke, but maybe this nerdy version caused some of those geeky guys who think it’s okay to call a random stranger a babe because they exist in nerd culture, especially when cosplaying. This version is clearly a joke, but maybe this nerdy version caused some of those geeky guys who think it’s okay to call a random stranger a babe because they exist in nerd culture, especially when cosplaying. This version is clearly a joke, but maybe this nerdy version caused some of those geeky guys who think it’s okay to call a random stranger a babe because they exist in nerd culture, especially when cosplaying. This version is clearly a joke, but maybe this nerdy version caused some of those geeky guys who think it’s okay to call a random stranger a babe because they exist in nerd culture, especially when cosplaying. This version is clearly a joke, but maybe this nerdy version caused some of those geeky guys who think it’s okay to call a random stranger a babe because they exist in nerd culture, especially when cosplaying. This version is clearly a joke, but maybe this nerdy version caused some of those geeky guys who think it’s okay to call a random stranger a babe because they exist in nerd culture, especially when cosplaying. This version is clearly a joke, but maybe this nerdy version caused some of those geeky guys who think it’s okay to call a random stranger a babe because they exist in nerd culture, especially when cosplaying. This version is clearly a joke, but maybe this nerdy version caused some of those geeky guys who think it’s okay to call a random stranger a babe because they exist in nerd culture, especially when cosplaying. This version is clearly a joke, but maybe this nerdy version caused some of those geeky guys who think it’s okay to call a random stranger a babe because they exist in nerd culture, especially when cosplaying. This version is clearly a joke, but maybe this nerdy version caused some of those geeky guys who think it’s okay to call a random stranger a babe because they exist in nerd culture, especially when cosplaying. This version is clearly a joke, but maybe this nerdy version caused some of those geeky guys who think it’s okay to call a random stranger a babe because they exist in nerd culture, especially when cosplaying. This version is clearly a joke, but maybe this nerdy version caused some of those geeky guys who think it’s okay to call a random stranger a babe because they exist in nerd culture, especially when cosplaying. This version is clearly a joke, but maybe this nerdy version caused some of those geeky guys who think it’s okay to call a random stranger a bab
"If Pixar keeps up with this recent mentality they’ve had of churning out cash-grab sequels, they won’t have a friend in me."

On Nov. 6, the Walt Disney Company CEO, Bob Iger, announced that Disney and Pixar were planning on making the fourth installment of the Toy Story franchise, with a current release date set for June 16, 2017, seven years after the release of Toy Story 3. John Lasseter, the director of the first two Toy Story films, is set to direct and co-write the film. Lasseter will be penning the scripts with Andrew Stanton (WALL-E, Finding Nemo, Pete Docter (Monsters Inc., Up), Lee Unkrich (Toy Story 2, Hannah Jones and Will McCormack.

Unexpectedly, this sudden decision has been generating buzz all across the web, with opinions on the new sequel being split down the middle. Some people are excited that they’re getting a new adventure with their favorite toys, while others are upset with Disney for conjouring an unnecessary continuance of the story. The sequel has come onto the latter end of this social-media parade, as Toy Story 4 feels like a needless attempt to milk more money out of this beloved franchise.

You can argue that Toy Story 2 and Toy Story 3 were made for the sole purpose of keeping the franchise alive, but these sequels were still considered to be like abandonment, loss, everlasting friendships and the inevitability of time catching up with us all. The ending of the third movie was a perfect way to end the entire story, with Andy’s relationship with the toys coming to a bittersweet end and the toys starting life anew with a young girl named Bonnie.

Aside from the fact that Toy Story 4 will likely be a pointless extension of a story that was already done, why would Pixar even feel the need to go into further depth by dumbing every-thing down with more simplistic story lines that could only appeal to little kids.

The sequels managed to go into further depth by foci- sing on more adult themes like abandonment, loss, everlasting friendships and the inevitability of time catching up with us all. The ending of the story back to where it was in the first movie could lead to one of two results: either the new movies will just rehash the same overarching storyline and character arcs we had in the original trilogy, or the new movies will shake things up by dumbing everything down with more simplistic story lines that could only appeal to little kids.

With the proof of Cars, it’s the same way I feel about Pixar making a sequel to Finding Nemo; what’s the point of continuing a story that doesn’t need to be continued?

On top of that, Pixar has proven in the last decade that animated movies based on original ideas can be just as successful (if not more so) than major franchise animate-d films. Every Pixar movie since 2003 has managed to make over $400 million world-wide and only three of the nine films they’ve released since then have been sequels (Toy Story 2, Cars 2, Monsters University).

Plus, when you look at just how successful Disney Animation Studios has been with original animated movies like Wreck-It Ralph and Frozen, it’s evident that the key to suc cess isn’t making more sequels and prequels and remakes but it is all about making a good movie that furthers its compelling characters, lots of creativity and good storytelling. That should be the model of all the major animation studios and it was the model of Pixar for over a decade until Disney’s hand started to turn Pixar’s newer movies into products that feel like they’re made by a committee rather than by people.

Even though I keep asking why Disney is continuing on with the Toy Story franchise, it would be naivety of me to ask why Disney is continuing on with the Toy Story franchise. If Pixar keeps up with this recent mentality they’ve had of churning out cash-grab sequels, they won’t have a friend in me.
The Theory of Everything is a biopic about the human capability to achieve greatness in the face of disabling obstacles. The movie depicts the marriage between Stephen Hawking and Jane Wilde. Hawking is a British theoretical physicist who, despite having Lou Gehrig’s disease, managed to have a relatively normal life. The person who is responsible for making this happen for him is Wilde, his wife.

Hawking and Wilde met as graduate students at Cambridge University. When he was first diagnosed, he initially tried to stay away from Wilde, but she was standing in his dormitory one day and confronted him. With all the courage and conviction she could muster, she told him that they could get through this together.

At Hawking’s parents’ house, he had questioned Wilde’s ability and patience to make the marriage work. She replied, “I love you. I don’t think, that I don’t look like a terribly strong person, but I love him and he loves me; we are going to fight this illness together.”

For Hawking’s sake, Wilde makes a lot of sacrifices. She couldn’t finish her degree in European Literature because she simply couldn’t find the time with taking care of the children and her husband. Wilde was slowly falling out of love with Hawking. She was the one giving all the attention and she wasn’t getting much of it in return. When her mother confronted her to join a weekly church choir, she developed a romantic relationship with the choir teacher Jonathan. There was now a lot at stake. She and Hawking had three children and she couldn’t handle the pressures of their families right now, as they saw all expecting that Jonathan is her lover. Wilde was making a conscious decision that they can’t be together right now, another sacrifice and contribution to support her relatively normal life.

Edith Redmayne, who plays Stephen Hawking, gave an extraordinary performance even though he didn’t have a lot of lines in the movie. For most of the movie, due to his illness, he was stuck in one pose. The only way to express emotion on his own was through his eyes and eyebrows.

During a press conference promoting the movie, screenwriter Anthony McCarten mentioned that as Hawking was able to speak less and less, Redmayne’s tools as an actor became limited. He couldn’t use one of the most important tools an actor possesses: his voice.

Felicity Jones played the role of Jane Wilde convincingly. For someone whose husband has Lou Gehrig’s disease, she showed her desperation and helplessness clearly and at times incompetently.

She didn’t want people to see that her unconventional life was getting to her. The only thing that bothered me was her makeup throughout the movie. As time went on, her clothes and hairstyle became more sophisticated, but her face didn’t change at all.

During the same press conference, Jones said that because of Hawking’s limited use of dialogue, the question never was to “who had the power at what point.” In some respects, their relationship is similar to a “normal” marriage. Communication is to the utmost importance in a relationship. The unwillingness to say to the other person what it was they really want exists in many relationships. But is the question of power based on who made the most sacrifices for the relationship?

For example, after Jonathan came over for dinner for the first time and Jane closed the door after him, she said something along the lines of “What did you think of him?” Hawking just turned around in his wheelchair and went to his room. Isn’t he supposed to be happy for her since she sacrificed her youth, education, and career for him?

Although the movie did not focus on what made Hawking famous, which only physics buffs would understand, it still deserves to be praised. The point of this movie was not to tell us about physics; it was meant to show that disabling obstacles can be overcome if you are dedicated to constantly defy them. It’s a movie about the human capability to achieve the seemingly impossible.

If you are looking for a source of motivation to believe in your abilities, you should definitely go see The Theory of Everything.

“If you are looking for a source of motivation to believe in your abilities, you should definitely go see The Theory of Everything.”

Now playing in select theaters, coming to all theaters Nov. 14.

The Montclarion

Awije Bahrami
Entertainment Editor

The Montclarion

Asdrubali
Director and screenwriter of Theory at a college press conference

THEORY OF EVERYTHING review by Awije Bahrami

Photo Courtesy of Focus Features

Photo Courtesy of Focus Features

Boren Scholarship Information Session

Thursday, November 20th at 1:00 pm
Schmitt Hall, Room 104

Hannah Grossblatt, from the Institute of International Education, will be speaking with interested students about the David L. Boren Scholarships. Boren Awards provide a unique funding opportunity for U.S. students to study languages in world regions critical to U.S. interests (including Africa, Asia, Central & Eastern Europe, Eurasia, Latin America, and the Middle East).

The countries of Western Europe, Canada, Australia, and New Zealand are excluded. Boren Scholars are awarded up to $20,000 for an academic year. Additional information on preferred geographic regions, languages, fields of study and application procedures can be found at www.borenawards.org.

Co-sponsored by Global Education Center and Department of Modern Languages and Literatures

Come Help Us Out!
Inside the six-yard box, conference finals on a 3-2 goal semifinals, sent his side to the first leg of the conference 2-0 win against D.C. United in Bulls’ goal. Luyindula, who indula netted the only Red advanced to the Eastern Confer- New York Red Bulls have ad- D.C. United on Nov. 8, the Despite their 2-1 loss to Despite their 2:1 loss to D.C. United on Nov. 8, the Red Bulls, the women’s team suffered the same fate as the men, but their record now stands at 2-4 for the season. The men’s team moved to 1-5-0 on the sea- son with a win over Drexel University, but also with losses to St. Peter’s Uni- versity and Manhattan College. The women’s team suffered the same fate as the men, but their record now stands at 2-4 for the season. The Red Bulls conceded a second goal in the This loss robbed the team of an upright NAAC Championship win and an automatic bid to the NCAA tournamen- t. They are now in a three-way tie for first in the conference with Mor- risville State and Rowan. The Red Bulls will travel to Keen Uni- versity on Nov. 15. A win will give them a chance at an NCAA playoff bid. The Revolution were second in the Eastern Confer- ence at the end of the regular season. With 55 points, they finished four points below United and five points above the Red Bulls. The Red Bulls have never defeated D.C. United in a playoff match at RFK stadi- um. For the first time in MLS history, they have eliminated United from the playoffs. A trip to the finals will surely boost attendance in a big way and could even boost soccer’s popu- larity in the area.

The Conference Will Be on the Line
New York Red Bulls qualify for the Eastern Conference Finals

BILLS v. DOLPHINS
Vikings v. Bears
Texans v. Browns
Falcons v. Panthers
Bengals v. Saints
Bucs v. Redskins
Broncos v. Rams
49ers v. Giants

SEAHAWKS v. CHIEFS
Raiders v. Chargers
Lions v. Cardinals
Eagles v. Packers
Patriots v. Colts
Steelers v. Titans

Asst. Sports Editor

NFL Week 11 Predictions

In this week’s reg- ional roundup, the New York Jets pulled off a huge win against the Pittsburgh Steelers at MetLife Stadi- um. The Jets still find themselves picking up the pieces to what has been an incredibly dis- appointing season. The Giants lost in Seattle, like most thought they would and are looking at their playoff hopes vanishing. It is almost an insurmountable climb to the playoffs at this point and it is one climb they probably won’t get to complete.
COME HELP US OUT

The Montclarion

Room 113 Student Center Annex in Upper Montclair, NJ 07043

Phone 973.655.5230
Fax 973.655.7804
E-mail Montclarionsports@gmail.com
Professional Standings

MLS

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>2014 MLS Cup Playoffs</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Eastern Conference Finals</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>N.E. Revolution</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>New England Revolution (0)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Buffalo (2)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Los Angeles (3)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>AFC East</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>New England (0)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Buffalo (2)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Miami (2)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LA Galaxy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Seattle Sounders</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1st Leg - @ LA - 11/23</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2nd Leg - @ N.E. - 11/29</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

NFL

| NFC East |
| 1. Philadelphia (0) | 0 GB |
| 2. Dallas (0.5) |
| 3. New York Giants (4) |
| 4. Washington (4) |
| NFC Wild Card |
| 1. Dallas (0) |
| 2. Seattle (0.5) |
| 2. Green Bay (0.5) |
| 4. San Francisco (1.5) |
| AFC East |
| 1. New England (0) | 0 GB |
| 2. Buffalo (2) |
| 2. Miami (2) |
| 4. New York Jets (6) |
| AFC Wild Card |
| 1. Kansas City (0) |
| 2. Cincinnati (0.5) |
| 2. Pittsburgh (0.5) |
| 2. Baltimore (0.5) |

NHL

| Metropolitan Division |
| 1. Pittsburgh (21 pts) | 0 GB |
| 2. New York Islanders (20 pts) |
| 3. Washington (17 pts) |
| 4. Philadelphia (16 pts) |
| 4. New York Rangers (16 pts) |
| 4. Boston (16 pts) |
| 4. Toronto (16 pts) |
| 4. New Jersey Devils (16 pts) |
| 4. Florida (9 pts) |
| 5. Montreal (14 pts) |
| 5. Montréal (14 pts) |
| 5. Carolina (13 pts) |
| 5. New York Rangers (13 pts) |
| 5. New Jersey Devils (13 pts) |
| 5. New York Islanders (13 pts) |

Ligue 1 (France)

| Upper Table |
| 1. Marseille (28 pts) | 0 GB |
| 2. Paris SG (27 pts) |
| 3. Lyon (26 pts) |
| 4. Toulouse (24 pts) |
| 5. Montpellier (23 pts) |
| 6. St. Etienne (22 pts) |
| 7. Monaco (21 pts) |
| 8. Bordeaux (20 pts) |
| 9. Metz (19 pts) |
| 9. Nantes (19 pts) |

NBA

| Eastern Conference |
| 1. Toronto (0) | 0 GB |
| 2. Chicago (1) |
| 3. Miami (1.5) |
| 3. Washington (1.5) |
| 3. Philadelphia (1.5) |
| 3. Brooklyn (2) |
| 4. Milwaukee (3) |
| 4. Boston (3) |
| 4. Portland (3) |
| 4. Cleveland (3) |
| 4. Charlotte (4) |

Who’s Hot This Week

Current Stats Goals - 6

Points Per Game - 0.85

Gina Policastro
Goalkeeper - Women’s Soccer
Chosen as NJAC Defensive Player of the Week for the second time this season, Policastro was instrumental in the NJAC Finals with huge saves, including penalty kicks.

Maxx Wurzburger
Midfielder - Men’s Soccer
Wurzburger is the third Red Hawk to win NJAC Offensive Player of the Week after recording one goal and two assists during their championship run in the NJAC Tournament.

Game of the Week

Women’s Soccer Nov. 15 vs. Lesley MSU Soccer Park 5 p.m.

The Red Hawks will take on Lesley University in the First Round of the 2014 NCAA Division III Tournament. After the Montclair State game concludes, Swarthmore and Connecticut College will face off to set up Sunday’s Second Round matchup at MSU Soccer Park at 5 p.m. The winner of the Second Round game will move on to the Sectional Tournament.

For updates on these matchups, check montclairathletics.com for the results.

Who’s Hot This Week

Current Stats Goals Against - 5

Shots Faced - 110

Shutouts - 14

Maxx Wurzburger
Midfielder - Men’s Soccer
Wurzburger is the third Red Hawk to win NJAC Offensive Player of the Week after recording one goal and two assists during their championship run in the NJAC Tournament.

Gina Policastro
Goalkeeper - Women’s Soccer
Chosen as NJAC Defensive Player of the Week for the second time this season, Policastro was instrumental in the NJAC Finals with huge saves, including penalty kicks.

Game of the Week

Women’s Soccer Nov. 15 vs. Lesley MSU Soccer Park 5 p.m.

The Red Hawks will take on Lesley University in the First Round of the 2014 NCAA Division III Tournament. After the Montclair State game concludes, Swarthmore and Connecticut College will face off to set up Sunday’s Second Round matchup at MSU Soccer Park at 5 p.m. The winner of the Second Round game will move on to the Sectional Tournament.

For updates on these matchups, check montclairathletics.com for the results.
In front of a crowd recorded at 577 at MSU Soccer Park (a small soccer complex) and about 360 more spectators lining the Red Hawk bench, the Montclair State men’s soccer team defeated 2013 NCAA Division III runner-up Rutgers-Camden in the New Jersey Athletic Conference Final, 1-0.

With the win, Montclair State clinched an automatic bid to the NCAA Division III Tournament. They will take on the Stevens Institute of Technology for the first round of the tournament.

Montclair State outshot TCNJ 24-7 and kept it all started with a beautiful goal from Mike Olla. Olla made a great second-chance effort as the ball refused to go in, but the play gave the Red Hawks an early 1-0 lead in the 20th minute. Just before the 40th minute began, Jake Scafone ripped a low shot that surprised everyone from the goalkeeper to the defenders and even the fans, as his shot moved past at the bottom left-hand corner to push the lead to 2-0.

The first half saw a lot of physical play on a frigid night in Montclair and tensions were starting to build between both teams.

Montclair State remained focused coming out of the half and pushed the lead to 3-0 in the 47th minute with Lucas Torel’s 14th goal of the season. A free kick that was officially listed at about 40 yards was kicked in perfectly. Torel headed it in for the goal. After this goal, RU-Camden started to feel a sense of urgency and they had all of the possession, but the Montclair State defense held tough.

The Scarlet Raptors would get one back, however, with Giuseppe DeLucia’s first goal of the season in the 70th minute. A beautiful passing display led to a rocket of a shot from DeLucia; there was nothing that keeper Michael Gonzalez could do about it.

RU-Camden continued to push as the game became more physical, but Montclair State ultimately held on for the win.

The NJAC title is the 10th for Montclair State’s men’s soccer program, their first since 2001.

The Scarlet Raptors dropped their eighth game of the season. Rutgers-Camden also had a five-game unbeaten streak snapped with this loss, being the first since Montclair State beat them on Oct. 18 at MSU Soccer Park.

Get ready to cheer on the Red Hawks as they travel to Virginia for the first round of the NCAA Tournament.