Kuhnen Receives Doctorate From New York University

After finishing her thesis on "The effectiveness of Field Trips in Teaching Sociology," Miss Kuhnen, a junior sociology major, decided to obtain her doctorate in Sociology at New York University. She is working with Professor A. J. Reiss, a well-known sociologist and author of "Urban Society." The thesis is divided into two parts. Part I is an experimental statistical study. In this section, a group of 300 students was divided into two equal groups. One group received a lecture on the effects of mass media advertising, while the other group was not exposed to any advertising. The results showed that the group exposed to advertising was more likely to purchase the product advertised. Part II of the thesis is a sociological study comparing the effects of advertising on the behavior of different socioeconomic groups. The results indicate that advertising has a greater influence on lower-income groups than on higher-income groups.

TNYA Joins Fight For Higher Salaries

"New York State college is fighting a losing battle to attract and retain qualified teachers," said Dr. Richard Willing, president of the New York State Education Department. "We must take immediate action to improve the salaries of our teachers, especially in the sciences and mathematics, in order to prevent a mass exodus of qualified teachers from the state."

Newark State Upholds Repeal

The faculty of Newark State College in Union has gone on record as unanimously supporting the repeal of the disclaimer affidavit provision of the National Student Association and the New Jersey State Teachers Association. The faculty found no fault with the loyalty oath, requirements, under which an applicant for a loan simply declares his allegiance to the United States of America in positive terms. The disclaimer affidavit, on the other hand, inquires of the student about his political views and beliefs. The faculty recommended the repeal of the disclaimer affidavit, on the ground that the affidavit is vague and unnecessary, that the affidavit is vague and unconstitutional, and that it is unfair in that it singles out the New Jersey college student as a person whose loyalty is in doubt.

Lost

A student's wallet, containing a silver watch and a gold ring, was lost in the cafeteria during lunch hour. The wallet contained 20 dollars in cash, a U.S. Passport, and a New York State driver's license. The wallet was last seen by the student at 1:00 p.m. The student is offering a reward of 100 dollars for the return of the wallet, and will contact the police department.

Congratulations!

We extend our congratulations and best wishes to Mrs. Margaret B. Sibley and Mrs. Charles O. of East Orange, New Jersey, for the arrival of their new baby, a boy, on February 25.

Edwards Named Football Coach

Today, Dr. E. DeAlton Partridge, president of Montclair State College, announced the appointment of Mr. Charles J. Edwards as head football coach. Mr. Edwards, a graduate of Brooklyn College with a master's and a doctorate in physical education from Columbia, has served as assistant football coach for one season in Philadelphia, and is this spring he will be head track coach at Montclair replacing Dr. Richard Willing, who is on leave in California coaching an Olympic team.

The new coach has taught in Long Island and New York City schools, at Rice Institute, Houston, Texas; and taught and was head coach at Plattsburg High School and Madison High School, Brooklyn, New York.

Mr. Edwards is married and has two daughters, ages 5 and 7.

He feels that "Montclair State has a tradition of 1960's football, if we work hard, we are going to work hard."

Applicants to Take Exams on Monday

Monday, February 29, 1960, marks the day which will be a turning point in the lives of many students. The College Board of Admissions, headed by Dr. George W. Hill, announced today that the entrance exams for the college will be held on Monday.

The exams are a requirement for students who wish to enter Montclair State College. The exams are divided into two sections: the verbal section, which tests the student's ability to read and write, and the quantitative section, which tests the student's ability to solve problems.

The exams are open to all students, and there is no charge for taking them. Students who do not pass the exams will be given the opportunity to retake them.

The exams will be held in the Life Hall auditorium, and the results will be available the following week.

Art Exhibited In Life Hall

An exhibition of the work done by the sophomore fine arts majors, who are painting classes in progress, will be held in the Life Hall auditorium. The exhibition will be open to the public from February 24 until March 1. The exhibition will feature paintings, drawings, and sculptures by the students. The students have been working on this exhibition for the past month, and they are looking forward to sharing their work with the public.

The exhibition is sponsored by the Montclair State College Art Department, and is open to the public without charge.

Are These Our Students?

There is a small group of students, about eight in number, who sit in the snack bar every morning from eight to eighteen, who certainly don't belong at Montclair State College.

These students, whom I shall have to call males, because certainly they aren't men, asked a group of juniors if they were using a particular table. The juniors said yes. Thereupon, the group of eight grabbed the table and took it for their own use.

The conduct of these students was absolutely outrageous. Even small children know how to act better. People such as these do not belong in a college, much less in a teacher-training institution.

You students concerned know who you are. It is a shame that such people as you are attending our college while many other deserving people cannot get in. We are ashamed to admit that you are members of our student body.

Changes

Last week a completely new type of Montclarion was published. We have been asked by many people why we have changed the newspaper.

There are several reasons for this change. First, and perhaps most important, this type of newspaper is cheaper. We changed the newspaper.

Second, newsprint is more advantageous than glossy paper.

Third, we have cut the flag (banner with the name Montclarion) down to three columns so that we may move it around the page. This gives us greater flexibility in arranging our stories.

We have limited our headlines to two styles so that the paper will have a more uniform look.

We Answer Your Questions

Recently, many members of the Montclarion staff have been plagued with such comments as, "Why don't you review the textbooks?" or "Why didn't you do a study on that (mentioning some minor event)?" or "You print nothing I don't know!"

After talking with several of these people, we have discovered that they do not realize the amount of work which is involved in the publication of a college newspaper.

Once the news items of the week have been gathered and we have decided which are the more important items, the copy must be prepared. This means that it must be typed and copy read. It is amazing how unwillig so many people are to devote an hour or half hour of their time to typing for the newspaper! The editors on the staff must spend Monday and Wednesday evenings working on the newspaper. This is in addition to the many hours they spend gathering news, speaking to people on campus about stories, arranging interviews, etc.

Not to be discounted is the work done by the reporters, typists, copy readers and members of the photography and circulation staff.

We sincerely invite anyone interested in seeing the work we do to visit us in the Student Publications Office on Wednesday or Monday evenings.

Question: Do you think there is a lack of school spirit and enthusiasm within the Junior Class? If so, why?

(Asked only of Juniors, Class of '61)

Ronald A. Nolan

I definitely think there is a lack of school spirit and enthusiasm within the Junior Class. I also think the fault does not entirely lie within the class. Perhaps if there were bigger and better events to attract their attention there would be more participation. Instead of having a large number of meaningless events, limit it to a selected few for the majority. I am sure that if a person came to a special event which they enjoyed they would be looking forward to the next one.

Judith Braggan

Yes, I definitely do feel there is a lack of school spirit in the Junior Class. But, I don't think it can be limited to just one class. It would be lack of school spirit at Montclair.

When students arrive here as freshmen, they learn very rapidly that it is gauche to have any school spirit. The upperclassmen give this feeling to the freshmen and so it becomes a vicious circle. It seems that most of the students here are just marking time until they can get out. The Junior Class does have a problem, but I don't feel that we will be able to solve it ourselves. Maybe if Montclair was run on a more collegiate level, this feeling would permeate the students, and eventually school spirit would result.

Barbara Smith
physical education

Yes, I do think so, although it has improved with the help of the Junior Indians which has acted as a unifying and stimulating factor. I think this lack of school spirit and lack of knowledge of what is going on is the fault of the Junior as an individual. To improve our class spirit, etc., we must, as individuals, wake up, learn what is going on within the class, and become actively interested in participating. Our Junior Class leaders can't alone improve school spirit—we must help them by helping ourselves.

Phyllis Spagnola
math

Yes, but the lack of school spirit and enthusiasm is not limited to the Junior Class. It extends over most of the student body. A more active participation on the part of the students could increase school spirit immensely.

Patricia Oshl
physical education

Definitely, but I don't think it is only the Junior Class. I feel that it is the entire school as seen by the turn out at various school functions. I think the main reason for Junior Class lack of spirit is because it is too hard to get such a large number together at one time.

Nancy Kraumper
physical education

Yes, but not only the Junior Class. The students of Montclair are as a whole lack the spirit and enthusiasm they should have. You can't expect miracles from a commuters' college.

Beter McAmbler
secretarial studies

The lack of class spirit among the Juniors is certainly obvious, however, I know it is not the fault of their instructors. This number of four people have tried and tried again to stimulate interest in the class but for some reason they continually fail. This problem has been apparent for some time now—it's no one's fault but our own and we're the ones who are losing because of it.

Indian Runners Romp

As with many great things that pass away, the graduation this June will be missed by many. Here is a list of those who have gone beyond. Four years ago there came to the Montclair State College campus a young man—slightly gray at the temple, due to the shock involved in his picture taken too many times with cheap flash equipment, found only in Korda. Since his arrival our "great one" will be felt not only by State but will be missed by every team that has had the privilege of having his picture taken with the Class of 1960.

Bill Monahan

Monclair State's physical education majors are now very hard at work preparing for their annual spring sports meet. One of the hardest workers in the athletic department is Bill, and if this hard work can be seen when he pitches, you will know about him. He is one of the finest pitchers in the high bar.

Bill Monahan is a part of the Passaic County College baseball team, coming to Montclair by way of St. Michael's High School in Union City and Huey's "Passaic Tigers." Outside of school Bill is very active in his church in Union City. He also instructs gymnastics at the Passaic Turnverein.

Bill does not stop with gymnastics. During the summer he is a member of the Hudson County Gymnastics Club and the Swiss Turnverein in Union City. He also instructs tennis at the Passaic Turnverein.

Bill is a very well-rounded individual and a great help to Mr. Geza Volpe with 12 points and John Hogan poured 25 points through the nets.

The Crows eked out a victory over Montclair 64-59 in a tense, hotly contested season high.

The Indians responded in fine fashion by making up for a pre-season performance of the evening of 28 points each. The Rams knocked off the Lions 62-53 in another close contest. Bob Topar and Weinstein for individual victories, this was the fifth loss of the season for the Lions and expectations of winning a state title are out of the question. Paul Weinstein pulled 21 rebounds and scored 14 points. Topar, also a senior, played well off the boards and scored 14 points. Paul Weinstein added further to the team's high rebounds by scoring 22 points in the second half. The total score by 10 points. Sophomore Bill Monahan had an outstanding effort in netting a total of 15 points.

On Saturday evening the cagers tunneled over their way to Queen's College in New York City. Many of the members of the Montclair team had read the writing on the wall, and the Indians responded in fine fashion. The Indians had been the stalwarts of the mat team on March 1 at 7:30 in the on a raucous crowd of 3,832. One hour later the winning team went on to win the state title.

Chuck Welch and Bob Mizerek have been the stalwarts of the mat team all year. However, they have come here to compete with the best of the best in the country. They have a great quartet against the Indians. Welch and Bob are six yards of individual MOSC's runners journeyed to Philadelphia to compete in the mile and two-mile events. On February 12, at the famed Philadelphia Inquirer Games. Competitors included the likes of Al Lake, Elmur, La Salle, Delaware State, Virginia State, North Carolina, Penn, and Buffalo State. Montclair gained four points from the mile and 10 points from the two-mile, completely surprising his opponent, and the referee in their section against Howard, and Buffalo State, Montclair gained five points in 55 seconds, driving Bob Stiller 22 straight to the lead in the mile. Al Hector then picked off the mile lead and ran the final 200 yards in 22.00 for the first event entered in one class and 21.80 in another, each additional event entered in the same class.

The Montclair matmen walloped Union City, 16-2, and without Phil and Tony, with a couple of girls following this handiwork, hotly contested between the Celtics and the Crows.

The Indians responded in fine fashion by making up for a previous performance of the evening of 28 points each in this contest.

Tension during an individual's performance can cause the most devastating negative factor in performance. Therefore, the mental aspect of the situation is between the shoulder blades, in the jaw and in the calves. Tension originating in these areas can cause the entire upper and lower body to be tight and can cause an athlete to tire quicker and become less effective. Montclair's mile relay team was victorious as they defeated Providence. The hand-off was successful at 2:20.00 for the first place to Jim Sokolowski, who won in this its inaugural year.

Montclair High School in Morristown, Union County, is the home of the Montclair Turnverein. This Saturday, the Indian relay team will travel to the Garden for the Indian relay championship. Pennsylvania's Chesney State College led the nation in track and field success last year by Coach Hank Schmidt's charges with 64-51. In beating their adversary, Penn State, the Big Ten leader, the 4×400 relay team won the parade with 31 points. Nick Pietti and Paul Weisenborn added 15 points to the board by winning the 1-mile run.
