Placek Writes Physics Guide

Mr. George F. Placek, who teaches both biology and physics at the College High School, has recently co-authored a new text entitled Study Guides for Algebra, Physics.

The guides, which were written at the request of Dr. R.E. DiLibii, Partridge, chairman of the Division Education Committee of the American Association for Teacher Education, will be used in conjunction with the course which is shown across the nation on Continental Classroom. They consist of skeleton outlines of the programs and serve as a permanent record of the program for the viewer.

Mr. Placek spent nine weeks compiling the guides, which are being sold throughout the United States. At the time he was also negotiating with a Japanese network in an attempt to supply copies for use in conjunction with its presentation of these programs.

German Seminar To Be Presented

"Ein Deutsches Programm," a German language seminar, will be presented by the Foreign Language Department of Montclair State on Thursday afternoon and evening, March 13, 1960. German teachers and students as well as the public and students of a non-German major are invited.

Beginning with registration in the Royer of Memorial Auditorium at 4:45, the audience will be greeted by Dr. Carolyn E. Bock, head of the Foreign Language Department. President E. Alphonse Partridge. At 4:45, after the address, two films will be shown, "The Marriage of Figaro" in German with English subtitles, and "Diary of a Chambermaid" in English with German subtitles.

Also of interest is College High School auditorium, Dr. D. L. Leiss, German professor continued on page 21.

The final event of the evening will be "Reminiscences of a German Summer, 1903," which will include--"Imaginations and Personal Encounters." The group will conclude with a light refreshment of colored slides to be shown by Dr. Paul Glazier, Livingston High School. Both speakers were participants in the German Seminar under the auspices of the German Institute of Education. Teachers of German, Summer, Thursday, March 13, 1960. All are welcome at the event will be in the College High School auditorium at 8:15. A question and answer period will follow.

Meserve To Address Group in North Carolina

"Preparation in Mathematics and Related Matters for High School Teachers" will be the subject of an address to be delivered by Dr. Bruce E. Marlove, chairman of the Mathematics Department of Montclair State College, to the Mathematics Department of the School of Engineering of North Carolina State College, Raleigh, North Carolina.

While he is in North Carolina, Dr. Meserve will also represent the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics at a meeting of the Cooperative Committee of the American Association for the Advancement of Mathematics.

By invitation of the Commissioner of Education of the United States Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Dr. Meserve will attend a working conference on Mathematics in Washington on March 18 and 19. The conference will deal with inservice education of mathematics teachers. Dr. Meserve will lead a group which will consider inservice education in medium size schools. As a group leader, Dr. Meserve will present a paper on the topic which will then be revised by the group. This paper, along with revised papers of other groups, will be published in a bulletin which will be widely distributed among administrators.

The goals of this conference will be to determine recommendations to submit to supervisors and administrators on inservice inservice education programs for mathematics teachers.

Campus Queen Voting Records Eight Finalists

Fifteen sophomore, junior and one senior were selected from among fifty-eight candidates for Campus Queen finalists.

Among the sophomore finalists were Pat Chadwick, home economics major from Fair Lawn; Joan Coppola, business education major from Totowa; Doris Kennedy, business education major from Newark; Beverly Long, fine arts major from Camden and Joan Topor, English major from Orange.

The freshman finalist is Pat WojWaszynski from Perth Amboy.

At the Campus Queen Assembly, Entertainment was provided by the numbers of Phi Lambda Pi.

Each male member of MSC was eligible to vote for his choice at the ballot "box" in the Auditorium. All ballots were counted under the supervision of the faculty members.

Tickets for the Campus Queen Dance will be on sale this week in Life Hall, and can be obtained from any member of the Campus Dance Committee in the lobby of Phi Lambda Pi. There has been a limit set on the number of tickets to be sold. Tickets are 50 cents each.

ChS to Participate in National Contest

Today all the College High School students enrolled in junior and senior mathematics courses will participate in a nationwide mathematics competition which is jointly sponsored by the Mathematical Association of America and the Society of Actuaries.

The first part of the exam is a list of basic mathematical skills associated with eighth grade elementary and advanced algebra, while the second and third parts list the students' ability to successfully meet new situations.

Last year 133 high schools in New Jersey participated in the exam. Combined, there was a total of 4,692 participants, with 147 people from the College High School ranking sixth in the state overall. For the entire country there were over 8,000 participants.
It snowed... and... and...

(Monday morning conversations after Thursday's snowstorm.)

"Say, wasn't it great having no school last Friday?"

"Yeh, man, it would snow again."

"What cha do all day?"

"Ah, I slept until noon, read a few magazines, called Joe, watched TV, had a can of beer. Went back to sleep. How about you?"

"Wanted to sleep but my ole man got me up to shovel the snow."

"Hi kids. Rested after the long weekend?"

"I got some sleep."

"Long weekend? "I had so much homework to do I might as well have been in school." "These darn teachers are trying to kill us."

"What did you have to do?"

"Spent Friday in the Newark Public Library doing research."

"What was your reaction?"

"Gee Mary, if you had started on that term paper when he said to do it."

"So what does that all prove?"

"Say, Bill, what did you think of that snowstorm? It was a whooper, wasn't it?"

"Hi Bill."

"Hi."

"Morning Bill. Having coffee with us?"

"You bet."

"Hi Bill."

Hello.

Greetings.

"Hi."

"Say Bill, what did you think of that snowstorm? It was a whooper, wasn't it?"

"You know, it really set me wondering."

"Wondering?"

"What do you mean?"

"Well, I was thinking how advanced we are as a nation. We have the atom, hydrogen and cobalt bombs, interballistic missiles, atomic submarines. We're supposed to be able to defend the rest of my homework. Well when the Ed Sullivan Show came on I just stopped doing my homework."

"What about your work?"

"The death penalty never has stopped murder or other major crimes. However, there are always those who would commit crimes regardless of the punishment. If there wasn't a death penalty people might assume that after a few years in prison they would be let out on parole or pardoned."

"I got some sleep."

"What cha do all day?"

"Spent Friday in the Newark Public Library doing research."

"What was your reaction?"

"Gee Mary, if you had started on that term paper when he said to do it."

"So what does that all prove?"

"Say, Bill, what did you think of that snowstorm? It was a whooper, wasn't it?"

"Hi Bill."

"Hi."

"Morning Bill. Having coffee with us?"

"Hi Bill."

Hello.

Greetings.

"Hi."

"Say Bill, what did you think of that snowstorm? It was a whooper, wasn't it?"

"You know, it really set me wondering."

"Wondering?"

"What do you mean?"

"Well, I was thinking how advanced we are as a nation. We have the atom, hydrogen and cobalt bombs, interballistic missiles, atomic submarines. We're supposed to be able to defend ourselves against the greatest technological weapons."

"So what does that all prove?"

"Just this, that in spite of our great weapons a simple thing like Nature can come along and cripple us. That snowstorm really stopped our society of the country."

"Gee, you're right."

"Say Bill, are you familiar with any of Ferlanghetty's poetry?"

"I've read a poem or two. Why?"

"He has some lines that go like this: '... and I am waiting for a person of wonder.'"

"Maybe that's the answer."

"What is your reaction?"

"I feel that the abolishment of the death penalty would not be beneficial to our society, because I don't feel that a person should receive the death penalty unless he has premeditated intentions and proceeds to commit murder."

"Larry Ward science major

Yes, I believe this form of punishment is unjust because nowhere else is it given to a group of people the sacred right to take another person's life. Although one person has committed a wrong doing, does the taking of his life make a right? By taking this person's life two wrongs are committed. Yes, abolishing capital punishment.

"Carmelina Maresca

"Spanish major

No. With the fear of death taken away people would be more inclined to commit crimes as they would only face the loss of their freedom. By putting people in prison for life you place the burden of their sustenance upon the society which they have wronged by their actions."

"Fred Nuzzella

English major

Yes. The fact that we have a death penalty means that we do admit there is a sickness in our society. But we do nothing to cure it. The death penalty never has stopped murder or other major crimes, so it is time that we took another approach."

"The Bugville Ball"

"Chosen As Theme"

The combined organizations of the Fine Arts Council and MENC will sponsor the fourth annual "Exuut Arts Ball" on March 18. This year's theme, "The Bugville Ball," is one of the most unusual themes yet chosen for the dance. As usual, this will be a costume dance, with the art majors supplying the decorations and the music majors supplying the music. The decorations are to consist of double-size flowers, all designed to give one a feeling of being in a gigantic garden. The unofficial motto of the dance, "come as a bug," should make the combined costumes and decorations one whirl of riotous color. Early announcement of the theme is to give prospective "bugs" time to decide what to wear and to prepare their costumes. The affair will be held in the cafe at eight o'clock and tickets will be one dollar.

A nationwide student protest, called by the United States Nation­al Student Association against the recent arrest of 100 Nashville, Tennessee, students, turned today into an all-out anti­vicious sit-in movement and its condemnation of the recent Nashville incident has set off a chain of anti-violent ac­tions throughout the country. Protest action began two weeks ago Monday.

The nationwide student protest was called in direct protest of the Nashville arrest and treatment of students by city officials.

Telegram

Telegramers depicting the arrest and expressing sympathy with the sit-in movement have poured into Nashville schools and City Police Commissioner Hoyt. By four o'clock last Mon­day stand-up protests had been planned by the University of Chi­cago and other Chicago schools, Chatham and Lafayette Colleges in New Jersey, Peabody Institute in New York City, Dr. Ernest B. Fincher of the social studies faculty will speak on the topic, and a film from the TV show "Angry Beaver..." will be shown.

BIG TAX NEED

The four state groups are using the Students for Democratic Action to fill your obligations to the citi­zens of this country and the ideals of our republic, which you are called to serve. You have given us much money poured in from Wisconsin students' telegram of protest were sent to the governors of Denver and Los Angeles, and to the Governors of six other states.

Telegramers were also sent on behalf of students in California, Utah, and Michigan regions of the USNSA.

Students involved in standing strikes will carry signs protesting the Nashville arrests and express­ing opposition to the sit-in move­ment.

Student Statement

According to Miss Cuttley, USNSA's student number who has been in close contact with the Washington, a statement has been issued by Diane Nash, stu­dent spokesman for the group, ex­pressing concern in coverage of the Nashville incident. In their statement the students stressed the fact that they were released on their word in the cus­tody of school officials and not, as reported, on $100 bail each. Said Miss Nash, if there had been any ofer, we would have refused. The students had already released several offerings of bail.

Miss Nash also pointed out the failure of the press to make any mention of the many telegrams of support coming to the students, or the telegrams on condemnation coming in Major West and the Police Commission­er.

The Association's telegram to the Nashville incident has been issued by Diane Nash, stu­dent spokesman for the group, cor­roborated by several hundred students against the recent Nash­ville arrests and express­ion of regret for the actions of Nashville police.

The students were also distress­ing, reported Miss Cuttley, for the fact that the students were attacked by white mobs in the Woolworth's store, the police standing outside completely ig­noring the fight, returning later to the store and seizing the weapons of the white mobs who were arrested. Mobs of students who pointed out that none of the students involved in the demonstrations was attacked by either the white mob or the police were arrested on charges of disorderly conduct.
Montclair State College's basketball team came a long way this year and just missed taking a trip to the National Invitational Tournament.

Montclair's team entered the Division I semifinals with a 15-15 record. The team was picked to finish 10th in the Atlantic 10 Conference, but they finished the season with a 20-4 record and a first-place finish in the conference. The team defeated the top-seeded University of Massachusetts-Lowell 65-63 in the semifinals, securing a trip to the national tournament.
