Cheerleading Squad Adds Six Members

On Tuesday, September 27, cheerleading tryouts were held and the squad has added six new members. Among those on the squad this year is sophomore Pis Potapog, who has written a book which will be To Be Published.

Junior varsity cheerleaders will cheer at the soccer game and at all the JV basketball games. Six girls were chosen to serve on the squad. They are sophomores Beth Dunn, Lorraine Trimmer, Isabel Saggini and freshmen Barbara Blohsed, Bettyd Gerday and Marge Moffett.

Dr. Helen Wacker of the Physical Education Department is the advisor to the cheerleaders, and she has served as judges to determine the new members of the squad.

Dr. Seymour H. Fersh, an assistant professor in the Sociology and Anthropology Department, has written a book which will be published by the Public Affairs Press of Washington, D. C. and should be released around election time.

Diary of Anne Frank Chosen By Players

Diary of Anne Frank, a play by Frances Goodrich and Albert Hackett, has been chosen by Players Club as the winner of the annual student competition. In 1960 this play, which is based on the famous book, was awarded the Pulitzer Prize and the Drama Critic Award. On Broadway, Joseph Schildkraut and Susan Strasberg played the leading roles.

The play was successfully made into a movie with Millicent Perkin of Fairview, New Jersey in the leading role. Actress Shirley Winters won an Oscar for her portrayal of the character Miss Van Daan.

The story concerns a Jewish family hiding in an attic in Nazi-occupied Amsterdam during the Second World War. It tells the story of Ann, a thirteen-year-old, and how she adjusted to a life of this kind. The play covers two years period, showing the tensions and fears of the characters involved.

The set for this play, an intricate one, consists of three rooms and an attic.

Raubinger Inspiring . . . .

"Don't let your minds calcify on this question of teaching." With these words Dr. Frederick M. Raubinger delivered his message to the student body of MSC at the Annual Fall Convocation last Tuesday.

Dr. Raubinger's message to us was most appropriate because it dealt with the practical aspects of the teaching profession, rather than the concepts of theory. He deplored the use of our school for ritualism and examination, stressing instead the "flowering of the individual himself." He made us realize that as teachers we should recognize individual differences. He cited the case of a Russian woman who had been denied the privilege of teaching because during practice teaching she had demonstrated an interest in the needs of her students.

"I come as a friend of yours." Indeed this was true, for Dr. Raubinger's message was to us as valuable as any course in teacher training.

Vast Improvement

Through the efforts of a special faculty-student committee, two new cafeterias have been set up last year, a new cafeteria system has been put into effect. There is one advantage and one disadvantage of this new system, and students have noticed both.

First, the advantage. There is no doubt about it that the cafeteria system is better. Ever since school opened we have heard many compliments and few complaints about the new system.

Second, the disadvantage. Eating space is greatly curtailed. Students, particularly commuters eating in the cafeteria must spend at least ten minutes of their lunch hour looking for a place to eat. Then they must spend another ten minutes waiting on the lunch line.

We commend everyone concerned for the changes which have been made, and urge them to continue their efforts to improve the food system at MSC.

Education In Politics

A week ago Monday millions of Americans viewed the first Kennedy-Nixon debate. Among the several topics discussed was the question of teaching methods. His remarks were most appropriate for answering that question is up to each and every one of us. Should one vote? A definite answer can't be given here; the right to vote is an individual one and it only remains for us to accept it.

The English text of Faust will also be available, and the programs will carry a synops

Student Forum

QUESTION: Recently Mr. Khrushchev was invited to visit the campus of Rutgers University. Several students believe himself to be a man of 'properly conditioned' individual and cultural background before the student body. What would your views be if such an invitation was extended to Mr. K, by the student body at Montclair State College?

John Trenelli

I would be interested in hearing Mr. K talk to us in general for two specific reasons. First, I would like to reason why a student body should be denied the chance of observing a historical figure of this sort. Second, it would be quite an experience for Montclair students to study firsthand the methods of one of the world's greatest statesmen. I'm also interested in his views, and his views on how the world he represents is today. I'm sure admission to Dante's Inferno is used in many ways, and the way he spends his time there is up to Dante. But a visit to him would be a good idea.

Bank

The student bank, located in Life Hall near the entrance to the auditorium, has been in service whereby students may cash checks for their own personal use. A student may obtain this privilege by speaking to the bank teller which opens his account until then. The bank has reduced its part-time per your bank teller to check you up to cash checks for

Bank hours are from 11:30 to 12:30 and 1:00 to 3:30, unless otherwise posted.
Sophos Schedule Wapanalanne Trip

Seven sophomore majors participated in an outing of outdoor education activities at the State School Conservation at Stokes Forest. The program has developed from increasing emphasis on the wide range of natural resources and the teaching of conservation in the public schools. Prospective teachers need a broad understanding of the concepts of outdoor education and its relationship to the total curriculum, stated program coordinator John Redd of the Physical Education Department.

The sophomore groups scheduled to participate during the fall semester are as follows: October 11-14, science and home economics majors; October 19-22, arts and music majors; November 16, junior and senior social studies majors; November 26-December 2, junior social studies and English majors. The schedule for the second semester will include English, science, art and social studies, language, mathematics and home economics.

The program is an introduction to conservation, outdoor education, scientific camping, and environmental awareness. It is a practical way to include the living situation, meaningful recreation periods and personal growth, as well as the opportunity to be outdoors during the morning and afternoon. These activities will provide sophomores the chance to explore subject areas which will be stressed.

Citizenship Conference Sees Newest Citizens

"This conference, which is attended by the people, for the people...," said President Frankston during his address in the Montclair National Citizenship Conference, held at the hotel in Washington, D.C. from September 16 to September 20.

One hundred young people from ten countries representing world and regional matters, were seated at the conference. The topics which were debated were ideas.

In the fall of 1958 Dr. Carl E. Frankston of the Industrial Arts Department was selected by the United States State Department to serve as a technical advisor to the Beneficial Occupations Council in Thailand.

The U.S. Government through its International Cooperative Administration established the Beneficial Occupations Council in Thailand. Under this program normal teachers are trained and encouraged to teach jungle and electric power is being supplied to rural areas where industries will use the power for mechanization.

It is important to the United States to remain friends with the people of Thailand. Dr. Frankston has said that the people of Thailand are extremely friendly towards the United States and that communists are given a fair hearing on the airwaves and on the spot. Apparently, Thailand has an atmosphere which is not strictly an administrator and the spokesman or a naturalized American citizen, Secretary Austin, who represents the department of Justice. Also, there were representatives from the Montclair School Board, the National Broadcasting Corporation, the National Education Association, the American Federation of Labor, the American Management Association, and the American Hotel Association.

The optimism about the appointment of Dr. Gerry Edwards as the new coach and Sal Cemiglia was manifested in reality. George C. Jenkins thinks of both coaches and Sal Cemiglio's conversion.

One of the unhappy results of the off-season was the absence of Jerrel Golembeski, Jerry, playing left inside, scored four goals. Dan Buzzard at right wing accounted for the other goal. Paterson scored the first tally of the game. Then Montclair scored to take two goals in the second period, one in the third and the final goal in the fourth quarter. The only dark spot on the day's action was the injury to Captain A. Hector. A. Hector, playing center-forward, dislocated his shoulder.

Within four days of its first victory, the Montclair soccer team scored another, seconding up its second and even more impressive victory. Paterson played Jerrel Golembeski. Jerry scoring two goals. A. Hector, playing center-forward, scored two goals. Ed Bemis, left wing scored the first of the goals, and Jerry scored his second goal on a neat pass from Jim Sokoloski, last year's captain.

A 1-0 victory over Paterson was the result of a defensive showing by Mike Innelli and three goals scored by Patience Jenkins.

One of the reasons behind Montclair State's hopes for an undefeated football team is a certain guy named Pat Luciano. Even though Pat isn't able to put on the field he is with the team in spirit. Pat's athletic record here at Montclair has been marred by two broken legs.

With these unfortunate incidents Pat is considered by his teammates to be a full member of the team.

Pat graduated from Madison High School in 1956. While at Madison he made first team All-State in basketball for two years. He also made the All-Morris County football team. To show his versatility in sports Pat was selected captain of the football, basketball and baseball teams in his senior years. He also made the honor roll for two years.

Before coming to Montclair Pat attended Miami University where he played freshman basketball. He then went to Penn State in his junior year. He was awarded a scholarship and seemed to display potential.

At the rate he is going his star may be on the horizon. Pat is considered by those who know. It was felt that Pat was potential Little All-American material. A fellow who has his skill. A gentleman both in athletics and off the field. His is one of the tragedies of this season.

So what are the implications of this happening for the history records for Montclair in 1960? He has missed not only the first two games, but could not dissolve the tight defense which will prevent him from playing football. For the remainder of the season in a row. Pat has shown great potential to football and an off-the-record comment had been heard that he was considered a man who should know. It was felt that Pat was potential Little All-American material. A fellow who has his skill. A gentleman both in athletics and off the field. His is one of the tragedies of this season.

Cross Country Outlook

This year's cross-country team, like the men's cross-country team, is one of the most promising teams in Montclair. It is the opinion of the coach that this year's team is the best in Montclair's history.
