Admiral Pirie graduated from Annapolis in 1926. After sea duty which took him throughout most of the world, Vice Admiral Pirie became chief of staff and aide to the commander of the United States naval forces in the Eastern Atlantic and Mediterranean in 1952. In May 1958 he was made Deputy Chief of Naval Operations for Air. He has earned the Silver Star, Bronze Star and two Legion of Merit medals.

IRC Book Drive

This semester the International Relations Club is sponsoring its annual Books for Asian Students drive. The purpose of the drive is to collect books to send to teachers' colleges in Asia. Anyone who is willing to give books for this cause will have an opportunity to do so between October 25 and November 5. A box will be placed in the library annex where people may leave their books. If there are any questions, contact Harvey Schmelter, chairman of the drive.

Attend Faculty Show

Two years ago the faculty presented a show which turned out to be one of the best programs presented that year at MSC.

This year the faculty will again present a show. Titled, Say Nothing Loudly, it is a satire on the national elections.

Busy as they are with classes, committee meetings, speaking engagements and otherwise, members of the faculty have found time to work on a show. They themselves have done everything connected with the show, including the writing of the script. Anyone who has ever worked on a theatrical production knows the amount of work which is involved, and therefore can appreciate the effort which the faculty has put into this undertaking.

We sincerely urge the student body, their friends and relatives to attend what promises to be an enjoyable evening's entertainment on either Friday or Saturday night.

Snack Bar Comment

For two weeks the Snack Bar has been open on a trial basis on Saturdays from 8:30 to 11:30 a. m., and on Mondays and Wednesdays from 8:30 to 10:00 p. m. The number of students using the Snack Bar during these hours appears to be increasing. We compliment the Saga Food Service for making the facilities of the Snack Bar available to students for longer periods of time.

We would like, however, to see the Snack Bar opened for one other period of time, namely, Friday afternoons from two thirty until at least four o'clock. Frequently, on a Friday afternoon, we hear students say, "Let's go for a cup of coffee." Then, their dismay is apparent as they find the Snack Bar closed. Friday is the only afternoon when most students have a chance to relax and talk with friends whom they have not seen all week.

We urge the Saga Food Service to open the Snack Bar on Friday afternoons, at least for a trial basis, if not permanently.

Senior Class Spirit

For the past three years the present Senior Class has been accused of having no class spirit. If attendance at class functions was the criterion used as a basis for this statement, then the accusations were justly founded.

This year, however, there is an apparent change in the attitude of the Senior Class. Two class meetings have been held thus far, at which the respective attendances were 42 and 22. Last year if more than ten members attended it was a crowd.

Students were asked to help on the Senior Class float for Homecoming; many volunteered and gave their support.

In addition, many students have been more than willing to carry back minutes of the last meeting to their respective educational classes.

We hope that the spirit displayed thus far will continue, so that in June we may say that senior year was a record year for spirit and enthusiasm exhibited by the Class of 1961.

The story concerns the efforts of a young man to become a politician by attending a political college.

The play is being directed by Mr. Karl Moll, assisted by Dr. Hazel Wacker, music director. Dr. Ralph Walter is the production director, and Miss Patricia Sparrow is the dance director.

Proceeds from the Faculty Show will be used for the College Development Fund. Tickets are $1 each and may be purchased daily in the Graduate Office and the Education Department.

Chit Chat: In a recent experiment conducted by a pledge for Lambda Chi Delta, it was found that it would take 11,692,800 cigarettes laid end to end and side by side to fill the parking lot between Life Hall and the men's dorm . . . Rumor has it that now that Psi Chi has completed its initiation period, Agora will finally agree to hold a smoker and pledge them . . . Phi Lambda Pi's songs for the Greek Sing will be "Blue Moon," "Moon over Miami," and "Full Moon and Empty Arms." It's symbolic . . . What is a copy of Esquire doing in the Home Ec Department? Dream on little girls . . . While the Senior Class float did not win a prize, it nevertheless represented an achievement for the class. Although a few good workers put a lot of work into it, a lot of people put in a few hours to help build it. If there was more cooperation like this from the class we would be able to get a lot more done without any one or two people killing themselves to do it . . . Just what phase of nature have the Sophomores been studying at Camp Wapalanne? . . . So you think you can write Chit Chat better than I can? Well, maybe you're right . . . The students are requested not to throw their empty beer cans on the campus. If you can't be sober at least be neat . . . Do you feel unloved? Do people stare and point at you when you go down the street? Does your mother refer to you as "it"? Do you lose friends and influence enemies? Do people tie your shoes together, then laugh when you fall down? Do you spend a lot of time at the zoo because the monkeys are the only ones who understand you? Do girls run screaming when you try to talk to them? Do they really? Well, have you ever thought of quitting Agora?

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

We need the students' help and cooperation with a problem in the cafeteria that doesn't concern the food that is served nor the dirty dishes left after meals.

It's a matter of courtesy. Some very impatient students have been insisting on cutting in on the lines at meal times. (This concerns both commuter and dorm students.) This practice is unfair to the students who have waited a long time; it is discourteous, and if anyone ever tries to cut in, please have the guts to tell him "no!"

Thank you,
Flo Turnquist,
Food Committee

Dear Editor:

The Alumni Association wishes to thank each student who worked to make the Homecoming Day Parade such a wonderful success. The floats were excellent and the many plans of the Booster Committee to make the alumni feel welcome were sincerely appreciated.

Such cooperation between student body and alumni makes school spirit and loyalty to our College a tangible asset on the campus. Very best wishes for future Homecoming days.

Alumni Executive Secretary

ISC Relates Activities, Plans Formal Cotillion

by Virginia Farese and Angie Andico

We of the Intersorority Council were very pleased when asked to write an article for the Montclarion relating the structure, function and activities of the council. It gives us the opportunity to clear up many of the misconceptions we are sure many of you have concerning the council. As many of you know, the sororities on campus decided to form the council on their own when the plans for having an Inter-Sorority-Fraternity Council failed. We were mainly concerned with the disorganization of rushing on campus. Since the college is growing so rapidly, rushing would be mass confusion if a mediation board was not established.

The council consist of 22 members, the president and one representative from each sorority. Each sorority is allowed one vote. All sororities on campus must belong to the Intersorority Council.

Council's Purposes

The purposes of the council are (1) to unite the sororities into a single unit acting for the welfare of Montclair State College; (2) to foster better relations between school, its faculty and member organizations; (3) to act as a non-partisan mediation board in all disputes arising between sororities; (4) to establish rushing formalities and to see that these are adhered to by all sororities. The fourth purpose listed is probably the one in which most of you are interested at present. According to the ISC constitution, all sororities must have their teas during two three-week periods, one during first semester for upperclassmen, and the second semester tea for freshmen and upperclassmen. The rushing period this semester is from October 17 to November 4. This alleviates the problem of two sororities having their teas on the same night.

All Bids Posted

Each sorority must post its bids on the Wednesday following the rushing period. This gives girls the opportunity to attend all the teas to which they are invited, and it also enables them to choose the sorority they prefer if they receive more than one bid. Replies must be posted the following Monday and pledging begins one week later. The length of the pledge period is left to the discretion of each sorority.

ISC Holds Court

Violations of the rulings, policies or amendments shall be reviewed by an ISC court, composed of the president of each organization, excluding the organization under consideration. Representatives of the organization under consideration must be present at the time of review to plead their case. A unanimous vote of the court is necessary for a conviction and penalty. If found guilty, the organization will be dealt with in the following manner:

- (1) First Offense: The sorority will be restricted from campus activities for a two-month period following the court's decision.
- (2) Second Offense: The sorority will be restricted from campus activities for one semester, following the court's decision.
- (3) Third Offense: A sorority may not accept pledges or new members into its organization for the two successive semesters following the court's decisions.
- (4) Fourth Offense: The council will recommend revocation of the organization's charter for two successive semesters.

Our first social endeavor will be the "ISC-Cotillion" to be held in February or March, off campus. Each girl in the eleven sororities on campus will be invited. This affair will be strictly formal. That means tux, boys. The purpose of the cotillion is to present the new members of each sorority.

Twirlers Perform On Football Field, Hold Daily Workouts Behind Scenes

The Montclair State College Twirlers

The shrill of the whistle, the roll of the drum and the twirlers are on their way down the field! Their vibrant uniforms and snappy strut catch your eye as these attractive gals pass in review. Second only to an undefeated football team, nothing pleases a student body so much as to see its twirlers and marching band put on an excellent show. The theme for twirling this season is "Let's make 'em proud of us!"

Twirlers Rehearse

As any Montclair twirler will tell you, it takes more than twirling ability, marching know-how and a good figure to be a member of our squad. Being a twirler means seven hours a week of group practice, plus individual practice when needed. It means extra exercise, extra sleep and more push on the studies to keep the marks up. Participation in twirling means training your mind to adjust quickly to changes. Routines are changed from day to day and sometimes just ten minutes before the twirlers go on the field.

With enthusiasm and financial backing from the Student Government Association, new uniforms were purchased. This gave the initial spirit to the group. Then, with the help of Dr. Hazel Wacker and the added assistance of Dr. Ward Moore and the marching band, more practices were arranged and interest grew. And the interest is still growing. More than thirty girls were interested in try-outs this year. Georgi Molanaro, Joyce Airey and Cathy Shaw were the three lucky girls chosen from this group.

Six Members

Meet your twirlers: These are the six young ladies you see on the field. Representing the Junior Class: Susan Kroll, sergeant of the squad and a home economics major; for the Sophomore Class, Bernadette MacInerney, an English major; Linda Pasi from the Fine Arts Department; Joanne Yannucci, a business major, and Rosann Santora, a home economics major and also captain of the squad.

This year twirling will not stop with football—look for the twirlers in the future—but come out to the game next Saturday. The twirlers enjoy seeing you; and boys, you will enjoy seeing the twirlers!

A Double, Triple Feature Or Quintuple Exposure

Said one confused professor when these attractive freshman triplets accosted him, "You three girls are the twins, aren't you?" The whole campus has been turned on its ear this year by the appearance of a set of triplets and their cousins, the twins. The girls in triplicate are Barbara, Pat and Gloria Mikrut, while the duplicates are June and Jane Mikrut.

In high school the mistaken identity problem was not five-fold as it is here since the cousins did not attend the same schools. It has been a constant case of "Who's Who" since school has started, but the girls treat it with smiling good nature. Jane, who rooms with her sister in Chapin Hall, tells about one of the dorm mothers who was suffering from a case of quintuple exposure; said she, "Jane, how did you happen to get nicknames like Barbara, Pat and Gloria?"

The triplets room together off campus in the "house of seven girls." All five were active in their high school governments and Pat and Barbara have just been elected Freshman Class secretary and treasurer, respectively. On October 18 the triplets celebrated their eighteenth birthdays. The twins are six months older.

Yearbook Photogs Capture Situations

by Janet Brunoski

Any yearbook photographer who dares to venture forth into MSC territory should come equipped with three basic pieces of apparatus: a camera, a roll of film and a glass of water. The first two are for taking pictures; the third is for taking aspirin. This year, in fact, such helpful items as a hog-caller or a radar system would have come in handy for gathering the various groups to be photographed. Even handier, though, would have been some semblance of order.

Heading a list of grievances of the photographer would be the fact that many of the picture appointments coincided neatly with various classes. Since only more spirited students managed to be excused for these pictures, the tormented man of the Camera was confronted by sparse groups comprising an assortment of fugitives and wanderers. Strange faces were noticed in many of the shots.

To the photographer's infinite joy, the fire drill signal sounded just as he was arranging the members of La Tertulia Espanol on the terrace outside the Snack Bar. This coincidence served a double purpose. Not only did it scatter and lose a good proportion of the club, but it also provided a distracting audience of students who had evacuated the building.

After the episode, and after various fraternities and sororities had been sorted out, posed and immortalized on film, our photographer was beginning to wear a lean and hungry look. "Why do those kids have to keep blinking their eyes? What is that coke doing in the middle of the lounge floor? Another member lost? And after all those resolutions about swearing..."

Smiles came hard. There were a variety of facial expressions ranging from Cheshire Cat grimaces to inscrutable stoicism. Senate grinned beautifully, but the Quarterly staff remained austere until someone wittily remarked that smiles ill-fitted devotees of The Arts. It was late in the day when the photographer discovered that saying "whiskey" had it all over the traditional "cheese."

Forget that aspirin; make it a tranquilizer.

Thucydians Discuss 'National Purpose'

(This is the first in a series of articles on the purposes and organization of the Thucydian Society.)

"Do we have a national purpose?" was the crucial problem brought up by James Powell at the first meeting of the Thucydian Society.

Many comments were presented with reference to views of such prominent men as Adlai Stevenson, Billy Graham, David Sarnoff, Max Lerner, Richard Nixon and John Kennedy. Thucydians and candidates drew parallels of contemporary problems with past ideologies of American thought. In some instances the discussion veered to "man," his first conflicts with nature, the family, the neighboring tribes, the origin of states, with a final culmination in national and world relations and policy.

This was in essence the topic of discussion for the evening. As has been the case in past meetings, no unanimous conclusions were dominant. However, the Thucydians feel that America does not have a singular "purpose;" and secondly, that when America does arrive at a defined national purpose, it will encompass not only our nation, but it will be an international, a universal purpose.

Fencing Coach Foils Verbally, Literally

by Roxie Busch

Should you cross foils, either verbally or literally, with Mrs. Cathy Taylor, the chances are that you would emerge on the short end in both encounters. The energetic new coach of the fencing team and fencing club is not only a proven master with the fencing foil, but a past master of the snappy, humorous retort.

A former English major and speech minor at Montclair State, Mrs. Taylor now finds herself coaching the team of which she, as an undergraduate, was the mainstay in her own college years. A 1954 graduate, Mrs. Taylor, nee Cathy Kopp, held the title of 1953 Inter-collegiate Fencing Champion.

Still an active fencer, Mrs. Taylor has retained her amateur standing and reached the pre-Olympic Quarter-Finals of the Nationals. She also fences regularly at Salle Santelli, one of the foremost schools in American fencing circles.

Though a full time seventh grade teacher at Lincoln Junior High School, Kearny, "Coach" Taylor meets with the fencing team and fencing club on Tuesday and Thursday nights from 7 to 9 p. m.

Pleased with the large turnout of Montclair girls for the activity, Mrs. Taylor stressed that "fencing is a combination of work and confidence" and expressed her hope to improve last year's record.

SMOKE SIGNALS

by Wes Rehberg

The fall season of athletics is now well under way. As autumn matures we witness many, many things that are not seen everywhere on this globe.

We see the autumn painted tree, the whispering leaf dipping toward the earth before it finally rests and becomes a part of nature's cycle.

We catch our breath as the wind quickens and brings a coolness with it to remind us that autumn is in flux and will eventually become winter.

In our little segment of this world we see the vibrant quickness of summer slowly settle itself down; relaxing, quieting. There are a few involuntary shivers as we visualize shorter and colder days in view.

Now and then the summer rebels and delivers a golden day, a day which illuminates the great autumn scene, which warms the slow chilling and carries a warmth to our hearts.

We are reminded of pumpkins, turkeys and mince pies. We visualize stuffing, gravy, witches, hobgoblins, jack-o-lanterns and black cats.

Occasionally winter warns us with a few flaky messengers.

The invigoration of the season catches us up and lifts us to go forward and carry on our personal aims.

The football player welcomes the chill. The cross-country bucks the wind and the coolness but is invigorated by this challenge. The soccer player notices the sting of the coolness the weather brings in every impact with the ball.

The gymnast begins his strong and agile movements. The basketball player tenders his blisters and sharpens his eye. The wrestler exercises and begins some fundamental reeducation of his skills. The indoor trackman convinces himself that the winter will not be so cold and that the biting cold air that sears his lungs is developing him further and further.

As autumn ends and winter approaches, many will be practicing in the warmth of many gyms and some in the cold of the out-of-doors, but their purposes will be similar. They will, in spite of our cold friend, adapt themselves everywhere to this great challenge, and perform and live and conquer this external force we cannot control.

What a challenge winter must have brought not too long ago.

Corrections

Several proofreader errors were in the last issue. The corrections are listed below.

In the Kappa Delta Pi story Glenn Mahler was incorrectly listed as Mary Mahler.

In the Homecoming story honorable mention goes first to Theta Chi Rho and secondly to the Industrial Arts Guild.

On the sports page the names of "Scotty" Johnson and Richard Trenery are under the wrong pictures. They should be reversed.

Andy Durburow

"The Flea," "The Crusher," "Dub" are but a few of the names that Andy Durburow has picked up since his arrival at MSC.

This arrival evolved in a rather round-about manner. After high school graduation Andy attended Baldwin-Wallace College in Berea, Ohio. It was not long before he realized that this college was not where he wanted to be and he transferred to the former Panzer College. He was only to move again as a result of the Montclair-Panzer merger.

It has been said that the "goodness" of the heart matches the size of the individual. Andy is an endorsement of this idea, and true or not, the easy-going, unselfish attitude of the "Flea" is known throughout the Physical Education Department. There is one exception to this: every Saturday for one hour or more the "Flea" becomes the "Crusher." As a member of Montclair's football team his already outstanding contribution is best shown by the amount of respect he commands from the other members of the team.

It is certain that there are quite a few members of the Trenton team who could be added to the list of respectful admirers.

Manny Scrofani

"Well, listen," one of the biggest reasons for Montclair State's great season is a certain end, Manny Scrofani.

Manny is a senior business education major and physical education minor. He is well qualified for his role on the latest edition of the Indian football team. He attended Seton Hall Prep where he made the All-Parochial State team in 1956 and 1957. He was also active on the track team and the "Sons of Italy" club.

When Manny entered our hallowed halls in 1957 he immediately became active on the football team where he has been an end on both offense and defense for four years. He is active in Agora where he was elected treasurer in both his junior and senior years. He has also been a reporter for the Montclarion.

In his major Manny has built up quite a reputation as an extremely good typist.

As for this year, Manny is the team's high scorer and has gained over one hundred yards in pass reception in the first four games of the year. His big day was at Central Connecticut where he scored two touchdowns and an extra point, all on passes.

MSC Harriers Win Defeat Glassboro State, 27-30

Traversing the reservoir course twice in the last week the MSC cross-country team kept its record at an even .500 pace, losing to Seton Hall Wednesday and defeating Glassboro State on Saturday, for a record of 3 wins against 3 losses.

Lyle Arnheiter (foreground) and Rich Trenery (background) lead MSC runners in Cheyney contest.

The South Orange Pirates delivered a telling blow to the thin-clads on a rainy, cold day by defeating them 23-36. Lyle Arnheiter placed second for the Indians and Richard Trenery placed fifth.

The course was shortened fifty yards due to the inclement weather and the field was closely bunched at the finish. Rich Trenery actually finished 13 seconds behind Arnheiter, Arnheiter's time recorded at 22:06.

The course was re-established to its usual distance on the brisk autumn day that was evidenced in last Saturday. It was this meet that set the stage for a Montclair "first," as MSC defeated Glassboro 27-30.

Rich Trenery scampered over the four and one-half mile distance in 22:15 and finished in first place for his first personal college cross-country victory. This year's captain has usually finished right behind Lyle Arnheiter during the year and in past years had Jim Sokoloski to contend with.

Bob Reichert placed fourth for the Big Red with Bob Purcell and Guy Bourges trotting in sixth and seventh and Dave Fixler and Jerry Fleischer finishing ninth and tenth.

Big Red Tops Gallaudet Football Team Wins 5th Straight

by Ken Villani

Montclair State extended its unbeaten skein to five straight games Saturday afternoon as it hammered Gallaudet College, 38-7. Despite a large number of costly penalties and fumbles, the Indians gained 352 yards on the ground and in the air to win the most one-sided contest of the season.

Montclair drew first blood toward the end of the first quarter as Bill Goralczyk slammed over the goal from three yards out, capping a march of 64 yards. The extra point attempt by Ronnie Cherkin was partially blocked.

The second unit of the home forces went into play in the second quarter and cracked the Gallaudet defense for 19 points. The Indians uncorked a drive of 56 yards to penetrate the goal line once more, as Jim DiFabio and Gerry Lebankski engineered the thrust. The scoring play came on a 19 yard pass from Lebankski to Frank Davide, and Cherkin made good on his second attempt. The visitors met a stone wall in the Montclair defense and were forced to punt. Rushed by a fast-charging line, Berlowitz of Gallaudet only toed the ball for 21 yards. The Indians moved 23 yards in three plays before Roger Rubinetti ran through a broken field for 18 yards and a Montclair touchdown. On the ensuing kick-off, Diltmann fumbled the return, and Lynn Francis recovered the ball on the Gallaudet 11 yard stripe. Four plays later, halfback John Durski piled up four yards and another six-pointer.

The fifth touchdown for Montclair came during the third quarter. Taking the ball on its own 31-yard line, the Red-and-White ground attack rolled again: Dom Deo twisted through for 15 yards; George Jeck passed to George Jenkins for 10 more; Goralczyk rushed for 13; and Deo dashed past five Gallaudet defenders for a 30-yard jaunt to make the score 31 to 0. The final tally for the home forces came on the first play of the last quarter. Ken Trimmer recovered a fumble on the Montclair 23-yard marker and, powered by the running of Art Easton, Durski and DiFabio, the varsity moved to the two yard-line. DiFabio cracked the line for six points and Larry Sciacchetano booted the conversion to round out the scoring.

Gallaudet broke into the box score on the final play of the game, as Diltman threaded a pass deflected by two Indian safetymen into the hands of Berlowitz for 34 yards. Gilliam plowed through left tackle to add one more.

Booters Dump Glassboro Scotty Johnson Scores 3 Goals

by Dave Ruffman

Montclair State's soccer team snapped back from a week of defeat and illness to a smashing 4-0 victory over Glassboro State. Led by the potential All-American "Scotty" Johnston, the soccer team is once again back in the running for conference honors.

"Scotty," who for the second time this season scored three goals in one game, led the team to its fourth win. Jerry Golembski also scored a goal, bringing his total to eight for the season. Mention should be made of the great offensive playing of Don Bozzone, who was credited with three assists. Great defensive playing by right half-back Tommy Bayer, center half Captain Bob Goodstien, left half Mike Innelli, right fullback Terry Larney, left fullback Tommy Tompson and goalie Ike Rosen held the Glassboro team scoreless. Glassboro was able to get only two shots at the Montclair goal throughout the first half.

Captain Al Hector was back in the line-up at right inside for the first time since his injury in the first game of the season. Ed Kershaw also played a brilliant game at left wing.

Coach Rillo was able once again to substitute freely, and both the first team and the second team saw action in the game. Outstanding members of the second team were Ray Salvagno at right wing and Dave Peterson at inside right.

The team's record stands now at four wins, four losses and one tie. Conference-wise the record is two wins, one loss and one tie.

This Saturday will be the team's only home game this week. It is against Newark College of Engineering, who is unbeaten so far this season. Game time is eleven a. m. The action will take place at Brookdale Park in Montclair.
