Partridge Receives Wo-He-Lo Award

Dr. B. DeAllan Partridge, president of Montclair State College and director of the national council, made the presentation of the award during the December 6-7 Opera Workshop. The Wo-He-Lo award is given annually to a member of the American Association of Community Colleges who has made outstanding contributions to the field of education.

The award was presented to Dr. Partridge by the New Jersey State Chairman of the Community College Council, Dr. F. J. Rodgers.

Partridge Receives ANNUAL VICTORY DAY AWARD

On November 22, 1960, Myron B. Partridge, President of Montclair State College, presented the Wo-He-Lo Order, highest honor of the organization.

The award was made at the annual meeting of the College. The Wo-He-Lo Order was presented to Dr. Partridge for "the generous and continued support of the College in providing graduate training in the field of education."
Praise

For several years it has been our contention that Players has not fully utilized the potentialities of its facilities. However, this year we cannot say this, for the production of The Diary of Anne Frank is excellent.

Every technical and dramatic aspect possible has been fully employed and the result is a production worthy of merit. True, several minor flaws are present, but they do not mar the overall production.

Our praise to Players, its directors, actors, technical crew and members otherwise concerned for an outstanding production.

Quarterly

Last Thursday the question of Quarterly was discussed in the SGA meeting. One faction wished to eliminate the publication, or at least cut its circulation to one issue per semester instead of the usual two. The other faction wished to keep the circulation at its present level.

We maintain our position of two weeks ago, namely, that Quarterly has a function and a place at Montclair State. If last year's SGA Board was not prudent enough to allocate its funds wisely, that is no reason why Quarterly should suffer next semester.

Reducing Quarterly to one issue per semester will not solve the SGA's financial problems.

Apparently, the real problem which exists lies within the SGA board, not in the budget of Quarterly. The SGA should be round-tabled on its financial problems without limiting the circulation of Quarterly.

individual Action

Currently there is a campaign under way to clean up the cafeteria. A poster contest has been undertaken to draw attention to the campaign and its purpose.

We are glad that the Food Committee is aware of this problem and willing to take positive steps to eliminate it. For these efforts they are to be praised.

However, keeping the cafeteria clean is something which should not require campaigns and poster contests. Something as simple as eating one's dishes after a meal should be as much a part of one's instinctive habits as anything else. People shouldn't have to be reminded to practice cleanliness; it should be innate.

Individual actions on the part of each student would soon eliminate the problem. After all, we aren't supposed to be members of a civilized society.
'Image Builder' Reforms Henry VIII

by Alan Lewis

The Elizabethan monarch has recently received a new play for his portrait as "Image Builder." It is his job to shape the public image of his employers. One might wonder what would have occurred if certain prominent figures of the past had employed such an individual. The following is a telephone conversation between the Duke of York and his agent, the Earl of Righton and his agent:

"Hello, ah hello ... is that you, Hank? How ya doin' kiddo?"

"Hello, ah hello ... ya still workin' for me?"

"Ah, Hank, you can't do that. No, you don't understand, ah, it's that image, that's right, maintain the image. You're getting sick of barbecued porpoises?"

"No, Hank, it's not that tough but you're getting old."

"What? You're thinking of going on a diet?"

"Ha! That's not what I mean. I'm thinking about the kids."

"Ah, Henry the Eighth, is King, and he's bony, and Dry, and that's bony, is Righton, and that's right, and that's right."

"Everything is all right."

"Got it all Hank... Good... That rat ... it sounds like great handicap to his image."

"Good. Here's the doc... Write this down then remember it. Ready Hank ..."

"Ah, Henry the Eighth, is King, and he's bony, and Dry, and that's bony, is Righton, and that's right, and that's right."

The C.W. Post game was the last scheduled event for the football gridiron. One of these was Bob Crawford of Paterson.

"Chick" has been one of Montclair's biggest football players. His film career can be shown in the fact that for the past two years he has been the pass-issuing partner. The potential combination of Jock to Crossley has wreaked havoc on most of the teams.

"We have the opportunity to evaluate the Montclair team after spending a summer in a British hostel after a day's hike we would usually stop at a typical English meal, sit down to a typical English meal, or old ladies delay him for more parking space. If red lights are delayed he also develops. There are more than six is a low impression!"

After the homestay we took our English brother or sister with us. After the lectures we usually broke up into groups of American and British students for discussion. SMOKE SIGNALS

by Wes Roehrer

Since the revival of the modern Olympic Games, in 1896, by Baron Pierre de Coubertin, the world has gone through significant changes.

Today there are millions of athletes worldwide, men, women, and children. Some live in the wealth of the modern world, some live in the struggle of survival.

Some compete for the love of competitive sport, some compete for the love of country, some compete for personal glory, some compete for friendship.

We speak of ideals and we hear of standards. Some athletes compete for glory, others compete for personal satisfaction. Some compete for the love of country, others compete for personal glory. Some compete for the love of music, others compete for personal satisfaction.

One becomes totally fit for life in a democratic society through athletic competition. Teams and followership are developed and enhanced in athletics. It is through athletic competition that we develop our democratic society.

The individual's voice in our society is dependent upon the individual's voice. In an athletic team, we hear the voice of the individual. In a democratic society, we hear the voice of the individual.

One of the great qualities of leadership is the ability to lead. What makes a leader great? What makes a leader great?

The great qualities of leadership and followership are developed and enhanced in athletics. It is no wonder that many of our great leaders in our political, social, and intellectual life are athletes. The great qualities of leadership and followership are developed and enhanced in athletics.

Montclair has only lost the services of three varsity letter winners, Paul Todd, Ed Tracey, and Nick Petrillo. Returning letter men are Mike Weinstock, Hank Szymon Ed Cassavell, "T" Tauriello, George Beck and Frederick Cheshy. Up from the JV, trying to break into the starting line are Mike Lozano, Todd Jenkins, Bob Dziadosz, Nick Cassavell, "T" Tauriello, George Beck and Frederick Cheshy.

The Indian hoopmen took an early load and commanded it throughout the game, at one time leading by 39 points.

Gymnastics In Preparation

Montclair State's strong gymnastic exhibition and exhibition teams are now practicing for the coming season under the direction of Mr. Gerson Gershon.

Three senior men will be on the squad, co-captain Terry Moe, and Bill Mervosh and Al Baumann. The remainder of the varsity squad will include Mike Ianelli, George Fagan, Ron Cerkov, Mike Aron, Jim DeFalah, Frank Sica, Dennis Seldin and trenhmen George Niesman and Robert Wier.

The team schedule seems to favor MSC with fifteen home meets, the first of which will be held on the 29 of November at 8:00 PM.

In all MSC chances look good. We'll hold to our conference states and in the words of Mr. Schmidt, we'll be in the thick of the conference bolls.

The first event of the winter season took place in the Assistant Athletic Department's State and Pioneer College alumni joined us in the winter season on the MSC basketball schedule.

Montclair State College's present Varsity meet the students for the different international meets to test.

You may say that we have the United States, or the O.A.R., or the Board of Athletics, or the O.A.R., or even the student government, or the student body, or the student association, or even the student association.

But we provide "common ground" for all the students. We convert your interest in athletics to not presumptions that are not all answer, but it is part that is all answer.

So the Olympics.

The President, symbolic of democratic ideology, travelled home in his athletic representation. We were not the powerful team in the world but we stood for something far greater than ourselves, when the President was in Hong Kong, as he rode around left field and the second to second for the "move program" he has scheduled for the December assembly.

The Pioneers intercepted a pass on their 31 and moving entirely on eight plays, as Salamone slammed the score at 13 to 6. Montclair capitalized on a break for seven, and five plays to set the score at 19 to 6.
