Christmas Dance Features Elgarts

The Les and Larry Elgart Orchestra will be featured on the dance floor to bring some Christmas cheer to everyone Friday evening, December 7, at the Westmont Country Club, from 9:00 p.m. to 1:00 a.m.

The sons of a concert pianist, both started their music careers on the piano. Larry, the younger brother, eventually switched to the flute, clarinet, and the alto saxophone, and when he hit 18, he was invited to attend Charlie Spivak’s orchestra. Larry, as well as his brother, Les, has been playing in top orchestras ever since.

The brothers are among some of America’s greatest dance orchestras. Among the favorites are Harry James, Benny Goodman, Tommy Dorsey, Charlie Spivak, Woody Herman and many others.

The Elgarts were hand-bopping from one name band to another during the thirties and forties. Losing interest in band-hopping, the brothers formed a band of their own in 1943. The hand-bopped three years later despite its artistic successes.

The brothers had high ideals for a band they desired, but finally in 1953 the Elgarts had what they wanted, a band with a sound, a direction, and an ambition. A band they had solicited to create a group of gifted musicians, composed and capable of fine ensemble work. The result was an all-star orchestra recently voted as America’s best selling band album in the industry.

The band captured every dance band popularity poll and was producing more best-selling albums than any other group. No new orchestra in years had received so much enthusiasm and immediate responses from all segments of the dance public. Larry and Les have made such popular albums as “Sophisticated Swing.” Over the years, the Elgarts were known for being the best-selling dance band album in the industry.

Tickets will go on sale November 21st, at Lambs. A special sale of $5.00 a couple to the first 200 students.

PENNOVisits Italy:Finds People Friendly

by Doreen Pennino

This summer I had the privilege of traveling to Italy. I made this trip through the Inter-American Travel Co. This is so because, unlike an ordinary tourist who simply comes to the country to live with and get to know the Italian culture, I was able to learn their language and customs while taking part in their daily life. When someone hears of Italy, it is only natural for him to picture the glamour and excitement of Rome, Florence or Naples and to imagine how wonderful it would be to live there. But since the Experiment takes the liberty of placing its members, my group was sent almost as far south as one can possibly go in Italy— to Reggio, Calabria, which is at the very tip of the boot of Italy and only an hour from Stilt.

The Experiment has probably heard about the poverty and underdevelopment of southern Italy; in fact, some of the northern Italians do not even consider the people south of Naples as Italians. From my experiences, I guess that some poverty is found in certain parts of the south, but there is something far more important to me. There is warmth and friendliness among these people which I feel cannot be found anywhere else.

The people with which I lived was wonderful in me and made me feel that I had known them all my life. Overnight I acquired a new family, my own "fami­lial", however, and the ones I shall talk about the different customs to our respective countries while drinking wine in true Italian style. It is a fact that wine is plentiful. In Italy, one morning I even found an actual glass of wine for breakfast. This was an exception, though.

After two weeks in Reggio, two and one-half weeks in various American and Italian cities, we returned to Rome, Florence and Naples for two and one-half weeks. During this period, we became typical tourists. We visited the various museums, saw the Colosseum, and threw coins in the Fountain of Trevi. In addition, we attended a concert in the Roman Forum and saw a major Italian opera in each city we visited. This part of the program was a particularly broadening experience, because I found myself looking forward to returning to Reggio.

Upon my return, I reasoned my former activities and continued in this manner for another two weeks. Then I left Reggio and moved northwards, as close to this by time as my countrymen back in the States. After our group split, and we all went our own individual ways for independent activities, we went to the country for several days and then rejoined the other Experimenters in Paris for our flight home.

The Experiment in Inter-American Living is open to every student who wishes to travel in this fashion. Only those not have to be president of the SGA, nor even a member of every club on campus in order to take part. Selection is made primarily on the student's abilities and interest to a different cultural pattern.

When I was applied as a juror, I wrote directly to the Experiment in Inter-American, Varmout. Although I did not consider the people there a number of scholarships offered by the Experiment for various reasons. If anyone is interested in talking with me (via the bulletin board) about the cost, etc. of the Experiment, I am very glad to discuss the Experiment with them.

There are no number of reasons a student can travel in Europe and the Experiment is only one of them. Each person will expect and look for something different, but I am convinced that the Experiment is the only way to really get to know more than a tourist's view of a particular country.

When a child in a TV commercial stumps into the kitchen talking about how much better he feels people behind him, we are told by our doctors. He sounds some sort of cleaning agent. The Englishman signs his name, the Frenchman savors the wine while the Italian pulls a face and lugging behind in a aisle slipping, beer glasses, and wine in a revel in that dubious mixture of peanut butter jelly and bread. Ah, sweet peanut butter, the rare image you conjure up...a low-cost housing project for married students.

The Englishman signs his name, the Frenchman savors the wine while he watches the drinkers, lagging behind in an aisle slipping, beer glasses, and wine in a revel in that dubious mixture of peanut butter jelly and bread. Ah, sweet peanut butter, the rare image you conjure up...a low-cost housing project for married students. We crouched around the glowing embers...we chomped our peanut butter and jelly sandwich flashes through his mind...compelling that he goes out to the kitchen and gets a sandwich—no it isn't no Bacon and Lettuce sandwich either.

But I digress. The Student Council met, discussed the door­mat for eight or ten hours, and then referred it to a committee. There were some who scoffed then and said nothing would ever be heard of the doormat again, but they reckoned without Invictus Milles.

Invictus Milles, chairman of the doormat committee, was a man of action—lighthearted and keen and naturally, a natural leader. Since he said naturally. Because, dear friends, active men and women don't have time to brood and ruminate about their cigarettes. They need to be. They must have perfect confidence that each time they light up they will get the same gratifying flavor, the same habit-forming filter, the same bright color, the same special Sigafoos cigarette. In brief, dear friends, they need to be sure it's Marlboro—or they smoke no tobacco at all.

Well sir, Invictus Milles chaired his doormat committee with such vigor and dispatch that when the Student Council met only one week later, he was able to rise and deliver the following recommendation:

1. That the college build new sobets: of botany, hydraulic engineering, tropical medicine, Indo-Germanic languages and military.

2. That the college drop football, put a roof on the stadium, and turn it into a low-cost housing project for married students.

3. That the college raise faculty salaries by $500 per year on the average.

4. That the college send its students to the United States.

5. That the question of a doormat for the students union be referred to a subcommittee.

So let us hear no more defeatist talk about the committee system. It can be made to work!
Montclair State College completed its football season on a victorious note by defeating Field Upper Montclair, before 1,051 fans Saturday at Jerry Edwards' Indians drove Ship­penburg State 21-13.

The win was Montclair's eighth in eight games and matched the six record team for school's honor. In 1960 the Tribe won eight in a row.
