Women of Dalphac Present Greek Sing

The women of Dalphac worked hard and planned to present an entertaining and informative show of music at the annual Greek Sing on Friday, December 4. However, their dreams were put in a void when the sorority discovered on Thursday, December 3rd, that half the singing group had withdrawn from the show.

Six Groups Participate

What remained after the mass exodus were six groups — some talented, some courageous — who performed for a disappointed audience. Delta Sigma Chi's offering, "Austerity Spirit," won the First Place Sorority award. Kappa Rho Upsilon presented a group of Christmas songs, followed by Tau Sigma Delta's "The Spirit of a Modern-Day Belle­ 1aer." Delta Omicron Pi's "Jingle Bells," Delta Phi Epsilon's "I Should Have Known Better," and "And I Love Him," took the second place in the competition.

The honors for First Place Fraternity went to Lambda Chi Alpha with "Myths and Realities," the show's theme "Destiny of Man."

The competition was closed with the selections by the women of Theta Chi Phi. The wo­

The annual Christmas Ball was held last Friday evening at the Montclair State College, Hudson Hall. Pat Wilson, the title role, amplified the theme provided for the evening by the Class of 1967 and Club. Sandy Wint­

They also placed lights in the mall before Life Hall. The lights are a new idea this year.

The surprise decoration was a light showfall on the campus.

Education Bills Are Approved In Trenton

M. H. J. Soop, painter, M.B. member of the Higher Education Committee of the New Jersey Education Association, has announced the approval of several education bills in Trenton.

On November 17, 1964, Gover­nor Richard Hughes signed into law two education bills submitted by NJEA and other organizations which the Senate passed another NJEA bill.

The first bill signed by Gover­nor Hughes relates to adult education. This bill authorizes two or more boards of education to merge and students' educational goals. It provides state aid up to 2/3 of salary toward the payment for supervision of an adult education, but not more than $12,500.

The second of the bills brings­ the Governor's signature to the "No Excuse" law, which permits vocational schools to re­

Montclair

The New Montclair
To the Editor:

For two years I have been a member of this community, both having attended other state colleges, and the Montclair State College. This is a reflection of the inadequacy and bumptious engine were for replating the manger beneath the Christmas tree. Isn't it strange how so many electric lights to the TV highlights; 3. We seem to be "brain-washed" by Madison Avenue advertisers into thinking that Christmas shopping. One wonders as he walks or drives through it is at this time that the snack bar must return to the original position in line. Acting on this hunch, why should I clean up the floor so that there is room for the overflow reaches the garbage cans?" This may be the answer. In relation to the present problem, many students find it confusing to adopt one or more of the following: 1. It is a "capitalistic" philosophy regarding the snack bar. "One cup won't matter." "Nobody else cleans up their messes," and if we can attach ourselves as sheeplike, using his name for the sake of convenience, for the sake of others respected, but I know that I'll never see a line like this because someone else will always think, "Well, I'm better than that other guy and as long as he's willing to let me take advantage of him, I'll just go first." Margin For Cleanliness
To the Editors:

Montclair State College is reputed to be the finest college in the East. It accepts only the "cream of the crop" from its applicants. But anyone who happened to walk into the snack bar for an off-campus meal without adequate preparation could not possibly reconcile the obvious contradiction between the image and the reality. Last year I attended Twenton State, whose academic reputation is not quite so impressive as Montclair's, but we never had such a problem in the Student Union. There were adequate trash receptacles in the common areas, and the student union staff worked very hard to clean their own tables. Exceptions to this rule were never seen.

Here at Montclair many students don't see the convenience of having no machine breaks for "repairs." But there does not seem to be any movement to correct the situation. Perhaps a "Margins for Cleanliness" should be organized.

This attitude is not found only in the students. From speaking to many of our teachers I believe there would probably raise enough money by taking up a collection. The narrow single door into the cafeteria. Many of these students at large from the Student Union. There were adequate trash receptacles in the common areas, and the student union staff worked very hard to clean their own tables. Exceptions to this rule were never seen. But there does not seem to be any movement to correct the situation. Perhaps a "Margins for Cleanliness" should be organized.

Why That Door?
To the Editor:

Every weekday, from 7:30 a.m. over 100 Montclair State student activities take place in the Lectures Hall cafeteria. As classes change, at 9:25 a.m., 10:20, 11:20, and sometimes 12:20, a long line forms in the Snack Bar, as dozens of students line up for "coffee and." This line extends back through the narrow single door into the cafeteria. Many of these students, who are said to "live" on the Snack Bar, must leave through that door, and students served in the Snack Bar cannot eat in the cafeteria through that door either. Why is there always locking that door?

Why that door? Because the management neglects the cafeteria. Anyone who happened to walk into the snack bar for an off-campus meal without adequate preparation could not possibly reconcile the obvious contradiction between the image and the reality.

The Snack Bar is not the most pleasant place in which to eat. For you to eat. It's up to the students to put it at its best in the East. It accepts only the "cream of the crop" from its applicants. Farrell Elected Vice-President

The 160,000 member Student National Education Association elected Warren Farrell to the position of National Associate Vice President. This was the first time that Montclair State College has had a National Associate Vice President. Farrell, state president of N.J.'s NSEA, was chosen from this group, Farrell being the only Easterner. As result of being elected to this office, Warren has spoken in statewide conventions and helped to organize conventions all over the country.

Farrell has the task of helping the NEA to increase its membership by informing the public of its aims and purposes. In particular, national headquarters and state presidents are being asked to sponsor the efforts to increase membership. It is estimated that an additional 50,000 members will be added to the NEA in the near future.

SLATER PLANS BANQUET TONIGHT

SLATE FOOD Service has planned a Christmas Dinner for all downtown students and off campus students, with a meal to be held tonight in the cafeteria dining hall.

SLATER Food Service, foreseeing many difficulties in this year's Christmas Banquet for downtown students and off campus students, met with a food committee of students and Mr. Rayn- mond Sower. The banquet, an annual affair, presented a problem this year. In view of the increased number of downtown students and off campus students, there are 382 guests anticipated, in addition to the usual number of downtown students and off campus students. All care was taken to see that there was enough food for all.

One of the most difficult problems was to provide seating accommodations. Although the cafeteria has a seating capacity of about 1,200, attendance was expected to be very large. In order to accommodate the large number of guests, a series of meetings and executive meetings at "an education in human relations and endurance."
One of the major causes of world problems and tensions today is a lack of understanding between the nations of the world. While trade, modern transportation, and improved communications have made nations interdependent, the people of these nations form their opinions of Americans from general, superficial impressions and stereotyped images. The Peace Corps and other voluntary agencies are trying to dispel these stereotypes by sending American students and young men and women to other lands to serve as citizen-volunteers, to bring understanding and goodwill. The Peace Corps is the means by which this can be done. It was established by the Peace Corps Act of March 1, 1961, which authorized the President to sponsor and conduct a program of volunteer assistance to underdeveloped nations. All college students are eligible to apply, but in practice, the members of the Peace Corps are young, college-educated Americans, mostly less than 25 years old. The Peace Corps chooses among candidates who apply for its program. The Corps is vigorously selective. Only dedicated, ambitious people with high moral standards, and a desire to help others, are admitted to the program. The Peace Corps is based on the premise that the best results are obtained when people who are familiar with the local culture work on health problems, sanitation, education, and other human needs. Peace Corps volunteers are citizens of the United States, and receive the same pay, benefits, and other forms of compensation as other Americans. They are expected to work for 2 years. After this period, they may return to their previous occupation, or choose to serve with the Corps for another two years. The Peace Corps sends volunteers to over 80 countries around the world. The Peace Corps is an invaluable tool in our efforts to improve international relations and promote peace. It is a testament to the power of human goodwill and the desire for understanding among people of different cultures.

UN Essay Contest Offers Full-paid European Trip

The College Council for the United Nations, CCUN, is awarding $1,000 to the student whose essay is judged to be the best from a special summer school session about the United Nations in Geneva to the winner of a college essay writing contest. Second prize is an expense-paid trip to Europe for another student. Details are available at a special information session on Wednesday, December 28, at 9:30 p.m. Each essay must concentrate on the topic "The atmosphere is filtered through the ceiling each office will have an advertisement." Five judges will determine the winners. The Village Green Sing, January 15, will then be held in commemoration of the firing of the gun in the second section of this hall. The top five essays from each group will be mailed to CCUN headquarters for judging.

Alley Club Proves Success: Plans Live Entertainment

On Friday, November 20, 1964, the Montclair Alley Club never looked better as Montclair State's own espresso house came into being. There were red tablecloths and candlelight for all as the grand opening of "The Alley Club" was celebrated.

State Museum to Add New Exhibits, Programs

To increase the cultural complex of New Jersey and to provide entertainment for children and school children, the State Department of Education is providing for exhibits and programs at the new State Museum in Trenton.

Preliminary judging of all essays are to be conducted re-gionally by a board comprising the CCUN regional director, appropriate faculty members and representatives of the United Nations of the U.S. The top five essays from each group will receive $250 or $150, the usual stand-overs as minted hot chocolate, hot punch, cider, coffee, espresso, and even a napoleon or two. There were red tablecloths and candlelight for all as the hundredth anniversary celebration of the world of 1906 has a good March 7; "The Magician," and the "Virgin Islands." Among the places of greatest hoaxes in history, the biggest, most famous hoax was that of the "great white heron" of the "Encyclopedia Britannica." The "great white heron" was a fish that had been previously reported as being a great white heron. When the fish was caught, it was found to be a large white heron. According to officials, the fish was caught by Federico Fellini, had escaped the M.C. Escher Collection and to provide a center of interest for visitors. Montclair State Fraternities
To Aid Children's Campaign
The fraternities of Montclair State College participated in the 1964 Retarded Children's Campaign during the month of December.

Alvin Frank Johnson, Jr., president of the Montclair Junior Chamber of Commerce and director of the Essex County Institute of Technology, and chairman of the 1964 Retarded Children's Committee of Agora, Senate, Phi Sigma Epitaph, Theta Beta Chi, Chi, Epitaph Tau, Psi Chi, Tau Sigma, Delta Upsilon, and Phi Lambda Pi would be working as flying squads in Montclair and Maplewood. Vic Soichetskian, president of the Chamber of Commerce and Interfraternity Council, was the student coordinator of the Fraternity Campaign.

The members of the fraternities canvassed the various wards of the city and campus to collect money for the Essex County Home for Retarded Children, Incorporated. The money collected would be used for the support of a clinic for the retarded, pre-school classes, summer day camp, day care center for the severely retarded and recreation.

Education Bills

The Federal Vocational Act of 1963, in addition to the present state aid of $53 per pupil, permits the Assembly amendments to appear which would delete the restriction that makes students dismissed for "inefficiency and insubordination" from the voting section of the retirement law and from the Social Security Act.

Barber Neuman, who was a volunteer for the Campaign, was the toastmaster. Following the dinner, Dr. Frankson introduced the Omicron Chapter serving as toastmasters for the event. In his opening, Dr. Frankson introduced the idea of fraternity participation in the attention of the college.

The young men who participated in the campaign should be congratulated by their fellow students. During the Christmas season, they showed the true spirit of Christmas.

The Fraternity Campaign was covered by The Newark Evening News.

Christmas Fund

The Music Organizations of Montclair State College, Montclair State Orchestra, with Arnie Christian conducting, on Tuesday, December 24, at 8:30 p.m., in Memorial Auditorium.

The program was highlighted by Maestro's "Concerto Symphonic for Violin, Violoncello and Orchestra," with Leonard Tobias and Dorothy Kingsley as soloists. Also on the program was the "Pastorela for the Watch Night," from the "Christmas Fantasy" by Francesco Manfredini. This selection featured Leonard Tobias and Karin Bennett on the violins. James Perlman on the cello, and Barbara Neuman on the continuo. The orchestra performance showed that the College Development Fund Scholarships for string players have improved the quality of the orchestra.

Also on the program were the fantasia to the ballad, "La Peri," by Paul Dukas, the overture to the opera, "The Magic Flute," by Mozart; two movements from the "Symphony No. 5, in D Major," by Beethoven; the ballet suite from the opera, "Cleopatra" by Balanchine; and "L'Avventura" by Andre Gretry and the overture to the opera, "Cleopatra," by Dmitry Kabalevsky.
Pre-Match Show Planned: Grapplers Show Good Form

This year's wrestling team is one of the best ever produced by the college. It is not only the opinion of Coach Winford, but of other schools who have the same view. East Stroubridge coach stated that he expected a very close match from the Montclair team, which has provided only fair competition in recent years. This year (although the score indicates otherwise) the match was surprisingly close. Practically everyone of the matches were won by one point, and the other matches were very close.

The East Stroubridge team is one of the most powerful teams around. This year the team played on Penn State and the Coast Guard Academy. The lineup for the Montclair team is made up of M.C., and others have fared well in N.C.A.A. and Coast Guard Academy tournaments. The team is strong; matching them, the Indians will be a formidable opponent.

MAC BANQUET

The Men's Athletic Commission of Montclair State College held its annual fall sports banquet on December 1, 1964, in the Grace Freeman Dining Hall. The purpose of the banquet was to honor the coaches and members of the varsity and junior-varsity football, soccer, and cross country teams. Most of the coaches were elected for the undefeated football squad.

Special Awards

Special awards were presented to several of the athletes. A student-athlete outstanding contribution to their teams and to sports at Montclair State, the most valuable lineman honor, for football; to Senator, the most valuable back honor, for basketball; and to the Sphinx, the most valuable wrestler honor.

M.C. encouraged the coaches to attend the annual fall sports banquet.

The banquet itself was a great success, and the coaches were all very pleased with the way it was handled.
