MSC Students Face
New Union-Fee Hike
Will Jump from $20 to $45 by Fall '71

By Kathy Kayne
Staff Reporter

As new buildings go up, so do their prices. Therefore, when the new student union building goes up so will the student activities fee.

By fall 1971, when the planned student union building is scheduled to open, students at MSC will be faced with another increase in their tuition bill. The hike, which was approved by the administration in December and by the SGA on Jan. 6, will increase the present $20 fee to $45 for fulltime students and $22.50 for parttime students. The Board of Higher Education approved the raise last Jan. 16.

Jon O. McKnight, director of Life Hall, remarked that the increase in the students activities fee will pay off the mortgage on the building. "The income generated within the building pays for the year to year operation and replacement of equipment," he commented.

"Construction is anticipated to begin by this April," said McKnight. The building will be air-conditioned and will house eight bowling alleys, a billiard room, publication offices, a ballroom, bookstore, snack bar and be complete with background music.

McKnight explained that all angles were considered before increasing the activity fee. There are only two types of buildings that the state will not subsidize: dormitories (which account for last year's dorm fee increase), and student union buildings (which will account for next year's increase).

The only three revenue resources left were industry, alumni and federal grants. The college applied for a federal grant but was turned down. Various industries were also approached for funds, but offered no support and teachers colleges do not provide the wealthy alumni needed to subsidize a project of this kind, McKnight remarked.

FATE OF EMPIRES
Gov. William T. Cahill in his inauguration speech called for "new methods" and innovations in New Jersey education. The 46th governor stated that the "fate of empires" depends upon the education of youth. See story on page 8.

PROBLEMS, ANYONE?

Long lines formed outside C-304 last week as registration workers tried to correct computer goofs and change student programs to fit student preference.
Monday, February 2.
RIDDLING EXHIBIT, Montclair State College Sprague library foyer thru Feb. 15. Mon.-Thurs. 8 a.m.-10 p.m.; Fri. 8 a.m.-5:15 p.m.

MID-BLOCK ART ASSOCIATION, Montclair State College Sprague library foyer thru Feb. 11. See times above.

40 RUSSIAN PAINTINGS, Rutgers University, Art Gallery, Coxe Hall, New Brunswick. Mon.-Sat. 9:30-4:30 p.m.; Sun. 1:30-4:30 p.m.

THE IMMEDIATE RESPONSE, Drawings and watercolors, Montclair Art Museum, 35 Mountain A ve. Tues.-Sat. 10-5 p.m.; Sun. 2-5:30 p.m.

Tuesday February 3.
HROUGH THE GUNSMOKE, starring Imogene Coca, King Donovan. Playhouse on the Mall, Paramus thru Feb. 15. Tues.-Sat. 8 p.m.-3:30 p.m.; Thurs. 2 p.m.; Sat. 5:30 & 9 p.m.; Sun. 7:30 p.m.

YOUR DAUGHTER, MY SON, starring Vivian Vance, Dody Goodman and Walter Toronto. Theatre House, Millburn thru Feb. 22. Tues.-Fri. 8-3:30 p.m.; Wed. 2 p.m.; Sat. 6 & 9:30 p.m.; Sun. 7:30 p.m.

Wednesday February 4.
THE MAGICIANS, film by Imargo Berman. Montclair State College, Memorial auditorium. 3:35 p.m.

Thursday February 5.
I'M IN THE MOOD. Mel Torme, Elia Kazan, Louis Armstrong, and Benny Goodman. Cultural and Performing Arts Center show thru Feb. 6. Tues., 8:30 p.m.

Saturday February 7.
BILLY CORBY, with Carmen Macrae and Lionel Hampton. Felt Forum at Madison Square Garden, 8th avenue at 31st street. New York City. 8 p.m.

February 8-February 14.
SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 7.
THE FIFTH DIMENSION. At Philharmonic Hall, 208 W. 76th St., New York City. 8 p.m.; Fri. 8-5 p.m.; Sat. 8-4:30 p.m.; Sun. 6-10 p.m.

ANTHONY DI BONA VENTURA, pianist. With the Metropolitan Opera Orchestra. Miller Cooper, soprano; Ward Moore, conductor. Thurs., 8 p.m.; Fri. 8-5 p.m.; Sat. 8-4:30 p.m.; Sun. 6-10 p.m.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 3.
A GIRL COULD GET LUCKY. Starring Imogene Coca, King Donovan. Playhouse on the Mall, Paramus thru Feb. 15. Tues.-Sat. 8 p.m.-3:30 p.m.; Thurs. 2 p.m.; Sat. 5:30 & 9 p.m.; Sun. 7:30 p.m.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 5.
THE IMMEDIATE RESPONSE, Drawings and watercolors, Montclair Art Museum, 35 Mountain Ave. Tues.-Sat. 10-5 p.m.; Sun. 2-5:30 p.m.

FEBRUARY 8-FEBRUARY 14.
FRIDAY FEBRUARY 6.
ANTHONY DI BONA VENTURA, pianist. With the Metropolitan Opera Orchestra. Miller Cooper, soprano; Ward Moore, conductor. Thurs., 7:30 p.m.; Fri. 8-5 p.m.; Sat. 8-4:30 p.m.; Sun. 6-10 p.m.

Saturday February 7.
YOUR DAUGHTER, MY SON. Starring Vivian Vance, Dody Goodman and Walter Toronto. Theatre House, Millburn thru Feb. 22. Tues.-Fri. 8-3:30 p.m.; Wed. 2 p.m.; Sat. 6 & 9:30 p.m.; Sun. 7:30 p.m.

Monday, February 2.
Partridge put it, "worked his way up the ladder." During his tenure at New York University and his PhD. in Educational Psychology, Partridge recalled, "The campus hadn't had a single student union, let alone one that was the size of our main campus."

"I really love this college and I'm proud of its growth," continued Partridge, as he sat beside his wife in the Development Fund meeting in College Hall. It was a bone-chilling January afternoon, and the tall, 63-year-old past president of MSC had kindly taken the time to meet there for an interview, after a busy day that included teaching in Bloomingfield and visiting a hospitalized friend. With his dark suit, gray mustache and thick gray hair flecked with white, Partridge appeared quite distinguished — his hair flecked with white. Partridge reminisced about his years at MSC as though they were chatting with an old friend who had shared their experiences.

His eyes twinkling with amusement, Partridge recalled some of the incidents which occurred during his presidency from 1951 to 1963. "The most memorable event that I can recall is the passing of the first bond issue," he recalled. The "campus hadn't had a sense of community," he said, "I wanted to bring people together and create a sense of belonging." His cordial manner immediately put one at ease and both he and Mrs. Partridge reminisced about his years at MSC as though they were chatting with an old friend who had shared their experiences.

"I really love this college and I'm proud of its growth," continued Partridge, as he sat beside his wife in the Development Fund meeting in College Hall. It was a bone-chilling January afternoon, and the tall, 63-year-old past president of MSC had kindly taken the time to meet there for an interview, after a busy day that included teaching in Bloomingfield and visiting a hospitalized friend. With his dark suit, gray mustache and thick gray hair flecked with white, Partridge appeared quite distinguished — his hair flecked with white. Partridge reminisced about his years at MSC as though they were chatting with an old friend who had shared their experiences.

His eyes twinkling with amusement, Partridge recalled some of the incidents which occurred during his presidency from 1951 to 1963. "The most memorable event that I can recall is the passing of the first bond issue," he recalled. The "campus hadn't had a sense of community," he said, "I wanted to bring people together and create a sense of belonging." His cordial manner immediately put one at ease and both he and Mrs. Partridge reminisced about his years at MSC as though they were chatting with an old friend who had shared their experiences.

His eyes twinkling with amusement, Partridge recalled some of the incidents which occurred during his presidency from 1951 to 1963. "The most memorable event that I can recall is the passing of the first bond issue," he recalled. The "campus hadn't had a sense of community," he said, "I wanted to bring people together and create a sense of belonging." His cordial manner immediately put one at ease and both he and Mrs. Partridge reminisced about his years at MSC as though they were chatting with an old friend who had shared their experiences.

His eyes twinkling with amusement, Partridge recalled some of the incidents which occurred during his presidency from 1951 to 1963. "The most memorable event that I can recall is the passing of the first bond issue," he recalled. The "campus hadn't had a sense of community," he said, "I wanted to bring people together and create a sense of belonging." His cordial manner immediately put one at ease and both he and Mrs. Partridge reminisced about his years at MSC as though they were chatting with an old friend who had shared their experiences.
They Plan for the Future — The Year 2000

Just 30 years from today we'll be 33 days into a new century. The changes that took place in civilization as we know it—from Feb. 2, 1970 to Feb. 2, 2000—seems incomprehensible now. But based on current statistical data and projections, analysts are able to report volumes of technological advances in store for us by 2000.

In scientific prediction making is Herman Kahn, a stocky 47-year-old physicist—mathematician from Croton, N.Y., along with his associate Anthony J. Wiener, run an organization called Hudson Institute (also known as the "think tank") in Croton for the purpose of doing research on the future. One of Hudson Institute's clients is the Defense Department and numerous private businesses make use of "think tank" services, according to the organization's administrative assistant Gail Potter.

LONG-RANGE RESEARCH

Miss Potter said that the main intention of "think tank" is to make long-range research reports on public policy issues. The going rate for some of these reports comes close to $5000. And, at times, some companies pay their financial resources to get a long-range outlook of business and industry in the coming decades. "We've just finished a survey on the future of commerce in 1975 for a series of clients," Miss Potter stated.

"And," she said, "New York state has commissioned us to do a report of youth and drug addiction in the year 2000."

COMPUTERS REPRODUCING THINGS

Speaking in front of the House Science Committee in Washington last week, Kahn claimed that computers will eventually out-think and, perhaps, rule man. He asserted that computers can "transcend man in thinking, painting, writing and every day—and that included reproducing and improving themselves.

Kahn further stated that by the year 2000, computers will take over the teaching of children, even speaking to them in "an environment, emotionally-friendly voice." Says Kahn: "So far as I know, there's no cultural problem about kids putting to a computer. They like it."

Kahn, by the way, is coauthor of "The Year 2000." A fat 431-page book recently published by Macmillan. In the book's predictions:

• Capability to choose the sex of unborn children.

• Human hibernation for relatively extensive periods of time.

• Control of weather and climate.

• Cheap and widely available war games.

• Reduction in hereditary and congenital defects.

• Artificial rooms for lighting large areas.

• New biological and chemical methods to identify, trace, incapacitate, or annoy people for police and military uses.

• Some control of human thought.

• Individual flying platforms (a flying carpet?)

• Two-way wrist radios or personal "pages." (like Dick Tracey) So get prepared, 2000 is only 30 years away.

Dungan: Students Not Qualified as School Trustees

Says They Would Not Act in Interest of Colleges

By Louise Palmer Staff Reporter

WAYNE — Chanceller of Higher Education Ralph A. Dungan feels that students are not qualified to be college trustees, and that "they would not always act in the best interests of the college."

The statements, made at Paterson State College (PSC) on Jan. 14, were prompted by the current effort at PSC to place a student in the new-activated trustee seat of Mrs. Iris Bluestein, who served on the college's Board of Trustees for two years before her recent death.

Dungan suggested that, in place of a student trustee, an advisory committee could be set up, and that it probably should consist of twenty to thirty students. These students, said Dungan, could elect a spokesman to the board. However, this spokesman would have no voting rights.

His suggestion was answered by Pat Molin, faculty senator and student government member, who said that such a committee was set up last November to investigate the dismissal of five student personnel members. The committee, according to Molin, was sent in circles and finally ignored. Molin said Dungan tried to pacify him by stating that "the college must have had a good reason to dismiss those people."

While the Cahill administration is attempting to pass a bill that will prevent student trustees on the boards of New Jersey state colleges, the board chairman of Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn., William S. Vaughn, has stated that "student board members are the spirit of the times. It's one of those things we should have done long ago."

MSC considers giving students a voice on the Board of Trustees — See story on Page 9.

CONSTRUCTION STAGES: Typical of the various stages of construction is this view of the fourth floor of Partridge Hall. Though occupancy was scheduled for January 1970, construction strikes have been blamed for delaying the building's opening until March 1. It will house classrooms and offices of MSC's humanities department.

March 1 Is Target For Partridge Bow

Cite Wage Strike For Major Delay

Jersey's Student Unions--Some Rival the Taj Mahal

By Linda Monaco Staff Reporter

Union buildings on New Jersey college campuses range from large empty rooms called "lounges" to buildings rivaling the Taj Mahal.

The MSC student union building is scheduled to be completed in September 1972. The building, to be located between Partridge and Mallory halls, will contain bowling alleys, student activity offices, minioffices for small organizations, ballroom, snack bar and lounges.

Rutgers, New Brunswick has been called the Taj Mahal of student unions. For the $15 per semester, students use the game rooms, bowling alleys, large snack bar, serving cafeteria style, student organization offices and the separate but attached wing for graduate students. Rutgers, New Brunswick students began paying the fee in 1963 and the fee has accumulated until the building opened.

Essex County Community College, Newark, houses their student union on the eighth floor of an old remodeled bank. Wooden partitions divide the publication offices from the main floor and the lounge tends to resemble a picnic ground after all the people have left. Largeness seems to be its only asset.

Students at Newark College of Engineering enjoy a student union with two large lounges, two small lounges, a snack bar, game room, a cafeteria and offices for student organizations. NCE students pay a fee that will be raised in December 1970 from $25 to $35.

Until recently, students at Trenton State College were served by two student union buildings. Now only HUB remains as a result of a recent fire. Both Paterson State College, Wayne, and Newkirk State College, Union, also have student unions.
A Refusal to Kill

Glen was a friend of mine. We grew up together, and played the myriad games children play. But when I was in high school, Glen’s family moved and we drifted apart, seeing each other only occasionally. After high school we went our separate ways, and for two years I heard little about the boy I had grown up with.

It was a cool fall day when I heard first the news about Glen. A phone call from my parents began the last chapter in our friendship. Glen was dead, he had been killed in Vietnam.

The leaves were turning brown as I rode the bus home from Montclair. The country, in its season, was changing; dying, it occurred to me, as I entered that room, even though people milled about and spoke to each other in hushed whispers of sympathy and regret.

STILL SMILING

I saw no one, except the body of the youth who lay in the coffin, his Marine uniform snug and neat. His lips still smiled, as they always did in youth, and only the pallor of death betrayed the fact that he was not alive. A million thoughts and memories filled my head—of games and toys, of laughter, and serious conversations. I felt like crying.

Glen’s mother greeted me as I walked away from that all too real sight. I held out my hands and took her. She grasped them tight and smiled.

"I’m glad you could come, Frank. Glen would have wished you here." I didn’t dare speak, for I wasn’t sure if I could without breaking down and damming all creation for this horrid, inevitable moment. I merely nodded and averted the pain I felt and drew away from the spot.

"HE WASN’T SUPPOSED TO DIE.

Glen had been undecided after high school, she told me. He enlisted because he felt it was the thing he had to do. When his orders arrived for him to go to Vietnam, he confided to her that he wasn’t sure, that he didn’t understand it at all. But, he went.

He nearly completed his tour of duty there with the Marines. It was just two weeks before the fatal ambush which took his life, that he wrote home.

He had seen the faces of freedom in that country, his imagination still scarred with many years of war, faces that smiled when GI’s rebuilt homes the Viet Cong destroyed, or fed hungry bellies after the VC had stolen their grain, faces that said thank you when a GI medic would save the life of a child.

He had no doubt about what was wrong, for Glen had seen it face-to-face and he knew that there was a purpose in all that fighting. He knew things he saw made him glad he was there.

HELPING PEOPLE

Glen, only twenty when he died, had seen enough for a lifetime. He told his parents that for the first time he felt as if he was doing something really important—he was helping a people to remain free.

With all the noise and division in this country, it’s often difficult to see things as they are. Vietnam is indeed hell. But, the fires of the worse hell have often produced a trend which, though things that remained firm and unshamed. My friend died in what he believed to be a holy and necessary cause. He died, knowing that as long as men will not only enslave, but will not enshroud him as a free man. Yet, he lives. He lives in the hearts of men, and is an instrumental in saving in that bitter country and fighting things that are.
A Philosophy of News

There is a feeling in our over-civilized world that the press is a relic of a bygone era and the thing to do is get capulized news from the nearest television set or radio. Some people are inclined to say newspapers are no longer relevant and have outlived their usefulness.

Statistics and hearsay can be used and construed to point out that the American press caters to the nation's power-elite, and still other critics claim they have no time to read a newspaper because it is too cumbersome.

A Gallup poll released two weeks ago comes close to the reasoning of the American public at large: 45% of the people interviewed (1531 persons) claim that the press is one-sided.

No-Confidence

These feelings are indeed justified. One leading American daily claims it is so powerful that its editorials form the backbone of federal foreign policy. Another large newspaper gently persuades its readers to see things their way by the mere presentation of news. In fact, New Jersey newspapers could have alerted its readers to current state corruption scandals if it hadn’t for vested interests, according to one crime expert.

What all this builds up to is a no-confidence vote for the American press by the American public. But Vice-President Spiro Agnew was not too far from the truth when he asked the mass presentation of news. In fact, New Jersey newspapers could have alerted its readers to current state corruption scandals if it hadn’t for vested interests, according to one crime expert.

Changes Due

Vote for the Montclarion

No-Confidence

The MONTCLARION, as a community newspaper, is not in a position to look at Agnew and laugh. We believe a good newspaper must be willing to pay for it. As it is now, we’re getting a really cheap education. Tony Battaglino, senior, physical education major: I would favor the $45 fee, just because I’m a graduating senior. It would benefit the students that are coming in.

Joyce Rozek, senior, fine arts major: I think that the fee should be raised, if they need the money for the building.

What all this builds up to is a no-confidence vote for the American press by the American public. But Vice-President Spiro Agnew was not too far from the truth when he asked the mass presentation of news. In fact, New Jersey newspapers could have alerted its readers to current state corruption scandals if it hadn’t for vested interests, according to one crime expert.

No-Confidence

These feelings are indeed justified. One leading American daily claims it is so powerful that its editorials form the backbone of federal foreign policy. Another large newspaper gently persuades its readers to see things their way by the mere presentation of news. In fact, New Jersey newspapers could have alerted its readers to current state corruption scandals if it hadn’t for vested interests, according to one crime expert.

What all this builds up to is a no-confidence vote for the American press by the American public. But Vice-President Spiro Agnew was not too far from the truth when he asked the mass presentation of news. In fact, New Jersey newspapers could have alerted its readers to current state corruption scandals if it hadn’t for vested interests, according to one crime expert.

Vote for the Montclarion

No-Confidence

The MONTCLARION, as a community newspaper, is not in a position to look at Agnew and laugh. We believe a good newspaper must be willing to pay for it. As it is now, we’re getting a really cheap education. Tony Battaglino, senior, physical education major: I would favor the $45 fee, just because I’m a graduating senior. It would benefit the students that are coming in.

Joyce Rozek, senior, fine arts major: I think that the fee should be raised, if they need the money for the building.

What all this builds up to is a no-confidence vote for the American press by the American public. But Vice-President Spiro Agnew was not too far from the truth when he asked the mass presentation of news. In fact, New Jersey newspapers could have alerted its readers to current state corruption scandals if it hadn’t for vested interests, according to one crime expert.

No-Confidence

These feelings are indeed justified. One leading American daily claims it is so powerful that its editorials form the backbone of federal foreign policy. Another large newspaper gently persuades its readers to see things their way by the mere presentation of news. In fact, New Jersey newspapers could have alerted its readers to current state corruption scandals if it hadn’t for vested interests, according to one crime expert.

What all this builds up to is a no-confidence vote for the American press by the American public. But Vice-President Spiro Agnew was not too far from the truth when he asked the mass presentation of news. In fact, New Jersey newspapers could have alerted its readers to current state corruption scandals if it hadn’t for vested interests, according to one crime expert.
NEW LIGHT: Half a hexagon of switches throws new light on the subject. Setting the pre-sets is Mike Smanko.

PERSONALITY CHANGE: A curly-headed Greg Doucette in the midst of transformation to the role of Coulmier thru the aid of Midge Guerrera.

PHILADELPHIA - "We were there to do a thing together." And on a weekend trip to Philadelphia, 24 Players did that thing as they competed in the region 12 semi-finals for the American Educational Theatre Association (AETA) award with their performance of Marat/Sade.

Jim Johnson, who plays Marat, continued to say that being in Philadelphia made the Montclair State College group "more up, more alive" and that there was "more excitement" away from the stage they know so well.

On the weekend of Jan. 17 and 18, both the MSC Players and Temple University presented "Luv," Tomlinson College presented "The Yuck Factor," the Philadelphia University presented "the Yuck Factor," and the Philadelphia USO performed "I Am a Little Girl from the Opera." And although there was excitement off the stage, there was also excitement on the stage as they prepared for both the AETA award and the Philadelphia USO.
THE KEYBOARD: In rehearsal on Saturday are: Director Marceline Decker, Greg Anderson, and Pat Carrubba.

and Their Thing Together

and The Arena of Lycoming College, Williamsport, PA, who presented Murray Schлагel's "Luv," used the facilities of the Tomlinson theater at Temple University here.

Overnighting at the Center City UMCA-USO, Johnson noted that "the Y was a bummer." Even tho the "rooms smelled of chicken soup," and "the USO fed us—a little bit of pizza with a lot of oregano," no one lost enthusiasm for the upcoming performance.

And even tho the elevator operators wouldn't let the males off on the floors reserved for females, there remained the stairs for both male and female use.

Altho the Players cast arrived at Temple Saturday afternoon, the technical crews had arrived almost 24 hours earlier to begin reconstructing Marat's stage dressings. The cast also dressed—lin a coed dressing room.

Although results of January's competition will not be announced until mid-February, Players could make the next stop for Marat/Sade Washington, D.C.

Saturday night's performance was followed by a 25-minute critique session of the AETA judges and the Marat cast. "It seemed more like two hours," said one MSC observer. However, the judges were more curious than critical about certain aspects of the Marat/Sade production.

ROLE SWITCH: After the final curtain, Wendy Simon sheds her Charlotte Corday role and is congratulated in the arms of Scott Watson.

FRAMED: Dr. L. Howard Fox is framed by a piece of Players paraphernalia.

They Strike at ECC

"ONE WAY": The feelings of the strikers at Essex County College seem like those of the street sign at top... "One Way." Their one way of solving the problems at ECC include a two-week boycott, demanding the resignation of ECC President Ellis F. White, and total amnesty for all concerned with the People's Council, the group that started the strike. At press time, the students and faculty were still on strike, even though their original demand of the abandonment of the plans for the Verona annex was agreed to by the administration. See page 9 for story.
TRENTON — Stating that the “fate of empires depends on the education of youth,” William T. Cahill, 46th governor of New Jersey, called for “new techniques in teaching, new ideas and new leadership dedicated to new levels of excellence.”

In his inaugural speech on the steps of the planetarium here, Jan. 20, Cahill put some of the blame into inadquate education in the present system saying that it “often forces exceptional teachers out of the classroom and into administrative positions and too often out of the field of education altogether.”

As the bitter wind of the icy Delaware whipped through the crowd, Cahill went on to say that he has urged the education departments to project a master blueprint for the upgrading of our system with emphasis on connecting the “quality gap” in the urban centers. He added that “we cannot afford to fail our young and our future.”

Speaking on law enforcement, Cahill said: “There will be no executive compromise, neither of principle nor policy, not with the Legislature, the judiciary or with the administrative departments. For where criminals go unpunished for breaking the law, good citizens are penalized in their obedience to it.” The governor added that the commitment of his administration is to “search out and destroy the corrupters and corrupted wherever they exist in the 21 counties of New Jersey.”

Congestion on the state’s highways, the plight of the commuter and the cost of highways in dollars and lives were the problems in transportation. Cahill said, “They can, in most instances, only be solved by federal, state or multistate efforts.”

Other problem areas of state government that Cahill pointed were the “antiquated penal system,” shortage of beds for the retarded child, the sick and the elderly. Widespread use of narcotics and the pollution and erosion of the washers alarmed the 57-year-old governor.

NO STATEMENT
ON S-256

TRENTON — While newly-elected Gov. William T. Cahill is, according to Press Secretary Thomas Flynn, “extremely interested in improving the quality of education,” he has made no public statement concerning S-256.

Passed during the Hughes administration, the bill deals with the granting of a measure of financial local autonomy for the state colleges in such areas as building and equipment.

In the Oct. 29 issue of the MONTCLARION, Cahill is reported to have applauded the 1968 $202.5-million bond issue and the enactment of measures granting fiscal autonomy to the state colleges. According to Flynn, Cahill is not as yet thoroughly familiar with the specifics of the bill. He did suggest, however, that the Governor would grant “generally the state colleges have the right to spend the money the way they see fit but should be answerable to someone since they are using state money.”

Cahill Calls for Education Advances

Wants Youth Support in N.J.

Quaremba: Wants Campaign Support from Youth.

The 32-year-old Quaremba said: “I hope to attract the same kind of popular support that Sen. Eugene McCarthy received in the past presidential primary.”

He intends to have a low-cost campaign without the “Tinsel and glitter offered by other candidates” and has announced that he will not accept donations of more than $50 per person. Quaremba added: “It is time that the voters have a chance to elect a man who is entirely free of obligation to big money backers.”

Quaremba was graduated from Princeton University in 1956, majored in chemistry, and received his law degree from the University of Michigan in 1966. He served in the United States Navy aboard the U.S.S. Kitty Hawk from 1960-62, and retains the rank of Lieutenant in the United States Naval Reserve. Quaremba practices law with the New York City firm of Shearn & Sterling, but has been granted a leave of absence to pursue the Republican nomination.

If you're tired of using two or more separate solutions to take care of your contact lenses, we have the solution. It's Lensine the all-purpose lens solution for complete contact lens care—preparing, cleaning, and soaking. Just a drop or two of Lensine before you insert your contacts coats and lubricates the lens surface, making it smoother and non-irritating. Cleaning your contacts with Lensine retards the buildup of foreign deposits on the lenses.

Lensine is sterile, self-sanitizing, and antiseptic making it ideal for storage of your lenses between wearing periods. And you get a removable storage case on the bottom of every bottle, a feature making it ideal for travel.

Lensine exclusive for proper lens hygiene. It has been demonstrated that improper storage between wearings may result in the growth of bacteria on the lenses. This is a sure cause of eye irritation and could seriously endanger vision.

Lensine cannot grow in Lensine. Caring for contact lenses can be as convenient as wearing them with Lensine, from the Murine Company, Inc.

Dorm Victory

Girls For Sale

Bringing results, BRING RESULTS!!

Friday and Saturday, the curfew hour on these nites will be 10:30 a.m.

But, in order to use this system, female residents must first obtain parental permission. Men at MSC have no such regulation. A notice distributed to the coeds stated “these polices place emphasis on the maturity of the resident.”

Are your contact lenses more work than they're worth?

If you're tired of using two or more separate solutions to take care of your contact lenses, we have the solution. It's Lensine the all-purpose lens solution for complete contact lens care—preparing, cleaning, and soaking. Just a drop or two of Lensine before you insert your contacts coats and lubricates the lens surface, making it smoother and non-irritating. Cleaning your contacts with Lensine retards the buildup of foreign deposits on the lenses.

Lensine is sterile, self-sanitizing, and antiseptic making it ideal for storage of your lenses between wearing periods. And you get a removable storage case on the bottom of every bottle, a feature making it ideal for travel.

Lensine exclusive for proper lens hygiene. It has been demonstrated that improper storage between wearings may result in the growth of bacteria on the lenses. This is a sure cause of eye irritation and could seriously endanger vision.

Girls For Sale

Come buy yourself a beautiful girl to be your slave for the day.

Bidding starts at 1 p.m., Sat., afternoon, Feb. 7, at the Berkeley School, 22 Prospect St., East Orange.
PLASTICS RESEARCH LEADS TO PUBLICATION

A plastic process has been developed by Richard Rembis and John Turner. It promises to make arts majors, those whose professor feels will prove more convenient and practical than current methods.

The process, which is a new idea, was developed by Rembis and Turner in their plastics technology course last fall, and the students continued their research and methods of publishing the process during the summer.

It was published in a recent special report on "Teaching Equal Power for Students"

Social Science School Discusses Governance

All faculty and students in the School of Social and Behavioral Sciences will have a chance to vote on the governance procedures for the school's_conference this Wednesday, Feb. 4 at 3:30 p.m. in Memorial auditorium.

The proposal for the Congress includes sections on equal membership for faculty and students, voting rights of representatives, terms of office, and the powers of the Congress.

FINE ARTS BUILDING ARTS WORK AREAS OPEN TILL MIDNIGHT

Beginning today, studios and work areas in the fine arts building will be open until midnight on weeknights. This is a result of an experimental basis throughout the spring semester.

"It has to be creative at 7 a.m.," stated William McCrack, assistant professor of fine arts. "If students were asked to work at their own time at that speed, their individual development should improve.

The students will be elected at large for one year, one faculty and one student will be chosen senato from each department for a two-year term.

Elections will be held Wed., Feb. 25 from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. The senate will be governed provisionally until May 1, 1970 by the constitution proposed by the Central Planning Committee.

MAGAZINE FEATURES STORY BY MSC STUDENT

Wayne Nord, MSC psychology major, has written an article in a recent issue of Today's Education, the journal of the National Education Association. Nord, who wrote on the college companion program at Overbrook hospital, Cedar Grove, consulted with Dr. John Seymour, assistant professor of psychology, during the writing.

The postcard carries a color photograph of Vernachia working with three students in the studio and will be sent to leading architects, artists and art schools around the United States.

VERNACHIA IN PRINT

Wayne Nord, MSC psychology major, has written an article in a recent issue of Today's Education, the journal of the National Education Association. Nord, who wrote on the college companion program at Overbrook hospital, Cedar Grove, consulted with Dr. John Seymour, assistant professor of psychology, during the writing.

The postcard carries a color photograph of Vernachia working with three students in the studio and will be sent to leading architects, artists and art schools around the United States.

MSC Could Seat Students on Board

By Mary Jean Strycharz, Staff Reporter

The Montclair State College Board of Trustees is considering giving a place among the trustees to a student or an alumnus of MSC. If the request is passed by the current board, Montclair would join Newark State College and Glassboro State College, who have given a student and an alumnus, respectively, among their trustees.

If the Board of Trustees accepts the request, an alumnus among their membership they must then decide on the terms and conditions of his position.

At present there is no vacancy on the board. However, if a student is appointed in the future, it will probably be in his junior year, according to James W. Cottingham, administrative assistant, allowing for a two-year term as a student and a four-year period as an alumnus.

Appointment to the board would have to be made by the present board with approval of the governor of the state (Dungan earlier indicated that he did not favor a student as a member of the board. See page 3.)

William Price, a 26-year-old graduate and former student government president of Newark State College, was appointed to that state board of Trustees as a full voting member for a full six-year term.

At Glassboro State, SGA Vice-President Bruce DeSimone is permitted to participate in all extersive sessions of the Board of Trustees, although he is not a voting member.
MORE THAN A BAND: Rhinoceros, a rock group that is more than a band—they are a show—will be appearing on campus for Winter Weekend, Sat., Feb. 7, 8 p.m., along with comedian David Frye, an impersonator with a face seemingly made of rubber and an equally elastic voice.

The Met opens to mixed reviews

By Neil T. Nicastro
Staff reviewer
NEW YORK — After a three-month delay caused by labor disputes, the Metropolitan Opera finally opened on Dec. 29 with “Aida.” Its repertoire has been confirmed mainy to standard operas to give time for the preparation of more difficult fare.

“Madame Butterfly” on Jan. 5, was a routine affair with Nicholas di Virgilio making his debut as Pinkerton. Di Virgilio displayed attractive stage deportment and a thin, inadequate tenor voice. As butterfly, Martina Arroyo poured out velvety sound but was hindered by her bulky frame in presenting the delicate Oriental portrayal butterfly calls for.

NOTE OF DISTINCTION
Renata Tebaldi brought a note of distinction to the Met Jan. 7. Her regal bearing and carefully detailed conception of the role of Cavaradossi of Sandor Konya, supplied a show — will be appearing on campus for Winter Weekend, Sat., Feb. 7, 8 p.m., along with comedian David Frye, an impersonator with a face seemingly made of rubber and an equally elastic voice.

Ed Beach features jazz artists on radio

By Russ Layne
Staff reviewer
NEW YORK — Probably one of the most conscientious, knowledgeable, and articulate jazz disc-jockeys on radio can be found on WVRV (106.7 fm), the nonprofit radio station of Riverside Church in New York City. His name is Ed Beach and he broadcasts from 7 a.m. to 9 a.m., every weekday morning with the same show repeated daily at 5:30 p.m. He also does a four-hour stint on Saturday nights at 8 p.m. ARTIST FEATURES

Beach features one artist a day. He discusses the artist’s biography, the group he has played with and most importantly, the records on which the artist presents his most important contributions. He gives a complete discography, including the sidemen on every cut he plays.

BY MAURICE J. MORAN JR.
Staff reviewer
MILLBURN — “We are attempting to bring some of the finest entertainment in theater to our small New Jersey community.”

With those words, Frank Carrington, producer of Millburn’s Papermill Playhouse, initiated the first season of the 70’s. The presentation was Arthur Miller’s “The Prince,” one of the finest pieces of theater anywhere.

Papermill

Good entertainment at good prices

“BEST OF BROADWAY”

The Papermill is but one of the many road theaters where former theater successes can be brought to the people. For those citizens of New Jersey who cannot afford the $12 it takes to see a good show on Broadway, it is a comfort to know that in Millburn one can catch the “Best of Broadway,” so to speak, at one-third the cost.

And productions hardly suffer on the Papermill stage. In the year or two that this reporter has been reviewing the stage events there, it has been rare to find a truly bad show.

The costs and directing have been mostly well done. “The Price” was not an exception. The current production is the semi-successful Broadway show “My Daughter, Your Son” starring Vivian Vance, ex-partner of the “I Love Lucy” show.

During the run of this production, Ed Beach has featured jazz artists on his radio show. The featured artists include Oscar Peterson, a show featuring jazz artists on radio.

By Maurice J. Moran Jr.
Staff reviewer
MILLBURN — “We are attempting to bring some of the finest entertainment in theater to our small New Jersey community.”

With those words, Frank Carrington, producer of Millburn’s Papermill Playhouse, initiated the first season of the 70’s. The presentation was Arthur Miller’s “The Prince,” one of the finest pieces of theater anywhere.

Papermill

Good entertainment at good prices

“BEST OF BROADWAY”

The Papermill is but one of the many road theaters where former theater successes can be brought to the people. For those citizens of New Jersey who cannot afford the $12 it takes to see a good show on Broadway, it is a comfort to know that in Millburn one can catch the “Best of Broadway,” so to speak, at one-third the cost.

And productions hardly suffer on the Papermill stage. In the year or two that this reporter has been reviewing the stage events there, it has been rare to find a truly bad show.

The costs and directing have been mostly well done. “The Price” was not an exception. The current production is the semi-successful Broadway show “My Daughter, Your Son” starring Vivian Vance, ex-partner of the “I Love Lucy” show.
Some office jobs are more interesting than others.

In the old days if a man wanted to be an executive and craved adventure too, he could skipper a clipper ship. Today... the clippers are gone... but the supersonics are here. And that's maybe a million bucks worth of plane. And when you fly it the responsibility's all yours.

If you'd like to mull that over every time you bank or roll at 1,400+ mph, try for Officer Training School after you graduate from college. Also, remember the nice idea of yourself, an Air Force pilot, captain of all you command, getting to visit foreign ports like the clipper captain of yore.

A Air Force officer's life is a great life!

UNITED STATES AIR FORCE

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>NAME</th>
<th>PLEASE PRINT</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>COLLEGE</td>
<td>PLEASE PRINT</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

ADDRESS

-CITY - STATE - ZIP

I UNDERSTAND THERE IS NO OBLIGATION.

Staff Photo by Carol Sakowitz.

---

Wrestlers Top LIU, 28-17

BROOKLYN. — Montclair State's varsity wrestling team compensated for their Jan. 7 loss to NYU (28-8) by downing Long Island University, 28-17.

Credit for MSC's Jan. 10 victory goes to Indians John Bellavia, George McGuire and freshman Milt Rehain, who pinned their opponents.

Rehain pinned LIU's Lou Gerardi in the 142-pound class in 3:31. Sophomore McGuire (177) combined for MSC's eight points when the Indians were massacred by NYU. Guarino topped Guy Moran, 4-2, and Nuzzo pinned John Hohmann in 6:04.

Bellavia, George McGuire and Sophomore McGuire (177) combined for MSC's eight points when the Indians were massacred by NYU. Guarino topped Guy Moran, 4-2, and Nuzzo pinned John Hohmann in 6:04.

7-Year Jinx Ends for MSC Gymnasts

'They Work Well Under Pressure,' Coach Says

The gymnastic team of Montclair State College has smashed a seven-year jinx by squeaking past the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy, 128.75-126.65.

Coach Terry Orlick praised the performances of Bill Balogh, Neil Jensen and Russ Spencer during the meet.

Spencer scored an 8.95 in the long horse and placed third on the parallel bars with a 6.95.

The meet was extremely close until Jensen's two firsts, a 7.9 on the p-bars and an 8.2 on the high bars provided an edge over USMM.

Balogh, who scored second in the floor exercises with a 7.2, added a total of 39.15 points to the final score.

The USMM, now 3-2, had previously beaten the Indian gymnasts by eight points.

MSC outperformed against Ithaca College and defeated it 131.4-91.85.

Balogh became MSC's first all-around to place in all six events while competing against Ithaca. He scored two firsts three thirds and a fourth in the meet. In an earlier meet, MSC defeated the U.S. Coast Guard 124.4-91.85.

Balogh captured three firsts in this meet and scored a total of 43.3.

— Sakowitz.
January was unbelievably cold in Montclair with temperatures reaching as low as 10 degrees. Not to mention the fact that February is usually the coldest month of the year.

Nevertheless, the winter sports teams maintained their sizzling start, sparked by the hoopsters. Under the guidance of Coach Ollie Gelston, the basketball Indians were amased a perfect 14-0 record and the Kiwanis Championship to date. Raked the toughest foe, the University of Delaware fell victim to the Montclair machine by a point.

The overtime win over Jersey City State and the double over East Stroudsburg State were also squeakers. They blew everyone else off the court.

The team is led by Captain Bob Sienkiewicz. The big forward mapped a good start of the season but he’s been strong under the boards, is al so consistent. Jenkins has more outstanding sophomores on hand.

One of the top defenders and deadly shooters is Tod McDougall, son of the famous Yankee infielder, Gil. The fine defensive job he did on Monmouth's John Gelston was instrumental in the Kiwanis final win. Now in his second year at Montclair State he has led the attack as well as the defense.

A sophomore who has been adopted by the fans as their favorite is Phil Baccarella. The team’s top scorer can usually be found on the court shooting off-balance but somehow the ball always seems to go in.

The Kiwanis Championship is usually the coldest month of the year.

By Mike Galos

The meeting of two conference foes was in the final of the Kiwanis Tournament. Now in his second year at Montclair State he has led the attack as well as the defense.

Injuries have crippled the swashbucklers’ initial part of the season. However, as the season record. Fencing saber, Rodgers and MacKay won their three meets. Breyer, in his first meet of the season, won two of his three bouts. Marchigano kept his unblemished record intact by blanking his three opponents.

The meeting of two conference foes was in the final of the Kiwanis Tournament. Now in his second year at Montclair State he has led the attack as well as the defense.

The meeting of two conference foes was in the final of the Kiwanis Tournament. Now in his second year at Montclair State he has led the attack as well as the defense.

The meeting of two conference foes was in the final of the Kiwanis Tournament. Now in his second year at Montclair State he has led the attack as well as the defense.